WHITTIER'S MOCKING-BIRD. A Splendid Songster That Gladdened the Poet's Home for Years. In a bird store over on the west side a lew days ago I was much interested in the efforts made by the proprietor of the aviary to induce a prospective customer to purchase a full-throated mocking-The dubious patron objected that he had heard that birds of that variety never lived for more than five years, that they often died within a much shorter period and that he was unwilling to expend his money on a songster whose voice would be so soon hushed. It was in vain that the shopkeeper argued that the tale of a mocking-bird's years was much longer than was generally supposed, and that the five-year limit was a mere superstitious fiction. The preconceived notion was indestrucstorm, but they told me that when a tible and the anticipated customer left

As I passed on I was reminded of an incident related to me on the occasion couldn't let go if it wanted to without of a visit to the poet Whittier at his rising to a perpendicular. The chicken home at Oak Knoll a little over a year stealers know that and will always push ago. It was the sage of Danver's eighat the chicken before they pull him off tieth birthday, and while he was rethe roost. I reckon that must be so for ceiving a group of literary dignitaries in his cosy parlor I was having a dewalking along the toes close up every lightful chat with his charming little time the leg is raised. I am learning a eighteen-year-old niece, Phebe, in the library.

Phebe's love for the domestic nets is only second to that for her uncle, and

The cat and the bird are in perfect accord, and together with the magnifi-cent Newfoundland, who is always at cent Newfoundland, who is always at Mr. Whittier's side, form, as Phebe says, "a perfectly happy family of three."
"How old is he?" Phebe repeated, when I asked about the bird's age, "O, he is ever so many years ahead of me," with blush and a laugh, and then she told me of a visit paid to Oak Knoll some time hefore by a rather pretentious Rose time before by a rather pretentious Bostime before by a rather pretentious hos-ton gentleman, who had remarked as he entered the library, "Ah, I see you in-dulge in the luxury of a mocking-bird. Well, sir, mark my words, you'll not form to science. And it is a fact that life can be prolonged in this way and I keep him long."

To this sage observation Mr. Whittier replied dryly: "No. indeed, I fear not. He has been in the family for more than twenty-five years now." Whether that bird is still in the land of the living is more than I can tell, but the fact of the possibility of a mockingbird's longevity is to my mind well established, if only on bright-eyed Phebo's authority.—N. Y. Herald. PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-- Some chickens sit all right until they get into a salad .-- Yonkers States.

-He-"I never yet met the woman I I could marry." She—"No, they are hard to please, as a rule."—Life. -- "Doctor, might not a sudden fright bring on my trouble again?" "Very certainly!" "Then, of course, you will be careful to make out your bill accordingly."-Fliegende Blatter. -Mr. Grim (pointedly)-"Did you ever notice what mediocre women all the smart men marry?" Mrs. Grim (also pointedly)-"Yes, that's why we smart omen have to put up with second rate husbands."-Jury, -She had displayed her vocal powers for the benefit of the manager and inquired: "Now, wouldn't you advise me to cultivate my voice?" "Cultivate it?

No; strive to annihilate it."-Washington Post. -"Where did young Browne get his money, papa?" "From his uncle, old Sam Browne. He inherited every thing to his name."-Merchant Traveler. -Criticus-"I contend that 'poets are born not made.'" Clergyman-"Ah, yes! That is always the way with you men of the world. You try to put the blame for every thing on the Lord."- Munsey's Weekly. -Lady de Primrose-"What do you think of the new Duchess?" Mrs. Normanby"-"O, she's a perfect phonograph!" "I don't understand. What do you mean?" "Well, you see, she speaks without thinking."—Leslie's Monthly. -Miss Ann Teek-"O, dear, I want to tell you something. I am going to take painting lessons!" Miss Pert-"Indeed! I think you need them, dear, so as to learn how to put it on properly. One of your cheeks is ever so much redder than the other."-Light. -Mr. Slowcoach-"My dear Fanny, if after an acquaintance of eight years I were to speak to you about love, what would you say?" Fanny (wearily)—"I would say, Mr. Slowcoach, that where there has been so much smoke there ought to be some fire."-Texas Siftings. -Mrs. De Smith-"My dear, I have a little conundrum for you: Why does a woman change her mind oftener than a man?" Mr. De Smith (still reading)- changing oftener than a man's." (Silence.) - Louisville Courier-Journal. -Mr. Jason (with an air of triumph)-"These funny men hold the mirror up to nature very successfully. One can hardly pick up a paper without finding some joke about a man being bullied by his wife. But there is very little said about the other side of the question." Mrs. Jason-"No; that is too common to be funny."-Terre Haute Express. BOILING LAKES.

"Because a woman's mind needs

some of the Wonders of the Northern Sierra Nevadas. About one hundred miles north of Oroville, at the foot of old Lassen. there is a boiling lake covering several acres. The depth of the lake is unknown, but its entire surface constantly boils like a huge kettle. The degree of heat we do not know, but we were there about ten years ago and remember distinctly that it would scald the skin from the fingers in a very few seconds. Our party agrees that it would boil an egg in four minutes. The smell of sulphur pervaded the atmosphere about the lake, and around its borders something like sulphur could be scraped up in handfuls. This lake is near Hot Spring Valley, at the base of Mount Lassen. Between it and the mountain there are, perhaps, a thousand boiling, bubbling hot springs, and in tramping about these springs the soles of a persons' shoes become uncomfortably warm. The North Feather river, at the base of Lassen, in its trickling snows and springs, and in a clear, cold and beautiful stream but a few feet wide, flows through this community of hot springs. Some of these springs bubble up boiling water within a span of the river. Standing in the midst of these springs a peculiar sensation is experienced. At a thousand places the earth emits a vapor of smoke, while under the surface there is a jarring, roaring noise as if hudnreds of steam engines were in operation, and the ominous trembling of the earth produces a feeling of uncertainty.

A short distance south of the Boiling Lake and near Willow Lake, which is beautiful, cold and clear, there are several geysers that shoot up streams of hot water from five to ten feet in diameter and eighteen to twenty feet high. That is a grand and rugged country about Mount Lassan, presenting every variety of natural beauty, and affording unlimited fields of study to the geologist. If it is desired to look into the crater of an extinct volcano, a trip to the summit of Lassen will gratify the The high Sierras of Northern California are little known except to prospectors and trappers of a past age, and their wonders are yet to be described .-Red Bluff (Cal.) People's Cause. A Mother Kangaroo's Bravery.

A very pathetic story comes from Australia describing a kangaroo's daring for the sake of her young. The owner of a country station was sitting one evening on the balcony outside his house, when he was surprised to notice a kangaroo lingering about, alternately approaching and retiring from the house. as though half in doubt and fear what to do. At length she approached the water pails, and, taking a young one from her pouch, held it to the water to drink. While her baby was satisfying its thirst, the mother was quivering all over with excitement, for she was only a few feet from the balcony on which one of her great foes was sitting watching her. The little one having finished drinking, it was replaced in the pouch, and the old kangaroo started off at a rapid pace. When the natural timidity of the kangaroo is taken into account, it will be recognized what astonishing bravery this affectionate mother betrayed. It is a pleasing ending to the story to be able to state that the eye witness was so affected by the scene that from that time forward he could never shoot at a kangaroo. -- Naturalist.

GETTING EVEN.

How a Wife Cured Har Husband or Going Out Nights.

RS. CARTER had only been married a short time, but her husband had go out at nights. One evening she said to him: "You are not going out again to-night, are you, Henry?" "Yes, my dear." "And where are you going, if only going to spend the evening with a few friends. I will take the front door key along so you will not need to get up on my ac-

"Oh, I am

Mrs. Carter sighed. "This is the fifth night you have been away from home this week and left me here alone," said Mrs. Carter, bitterly. "I don't see why people get married at all, if that is the way they do. If I was only an old maid I could at least go to bed and go to sleep. I would not be obliged to lay awake half the night waiting to hear you come stumbling up the stairs. It's really too bad, Henry, too bad."

"Emma, you surprise me," replied the young husband with great dignity. "It is about your own conduct that you should be surprised. How would you like to be treated in such a heartless manner night after night?" said Mrs. Carter.

"If I was a married woman," retorted Mr. Carter, "I should think it very natural that my husband should go where it pleases him best, and if I was displeased at any thing he did I would speak to him in quite a different tone, for you are not adopting the means to make home pleasant for your husband.' "Is there really any way by which home can be made pleasant to a hus-"I suppose there is; but I don't think

I have ever prevented you from going out whenever you felt like it." "That is so, but I never stay out until three o'clock in the morning.'

"You can stay out as late as you please, if you have any good reason for "I wouldn't stay away from home for can't have any idea how tedious it is when you are away!" "Why don't you read? If you don't an involved knot for?" want to read, you can sew shirts. That's what my mother used to do when my any thing in the world. O, Harry, you

"YOU ARE NOT GOING OUT AGAIN TO-NIGHT, ARE YOU?"

father stayed out at night; but I must go. Good night, dear," and off he

From that time on Henry heard no more reproaches about his staying out so late. He went out almost every evening. One day he was brought home in a carriage. He had sprained his ankle. The injury was very severe. The doctor said he would be confined in his house for at least two weeks. At first he suffered severe pains, and his wife did all in her power to relieve his sufferings. She put cold applications to his swollen limb and alleviated his agony by reading to him. He immediately began to improve. While he no longer suffered physical pain he was obliged to remain in his room, as the ankle was too weak to bear his weight Now was the time for Mrs. Carter to carry out a little plan she had matured. One evening she appeared in the room of her husband dressed to go out.

She had a rose in her hair, and had otherwise made herself as attractive as pos sible. "I am going out, dear Henry, to at tend a little social gathering at my sister's. You need not get up for me. You can go to bed. I'll take the door key along and let myself in." "All right," responded Henry cheer fully, gritting his teeth as she closed the "That's a very nice arrangement for a woman to leave her husband at home and go cavorting all over the neighborhood. What shall I do to amuse myself?"

Mrs. Carter did not get home until very late, but her husband did not reproach her. He was too proud for that. Next night she was off again, and so for several consecutive evenings Carter had to sit up, and he found it very tedious. At last she went to a ball. was accompanied by her brother. She arrived at her home simultaneously with the milkman. On opening the door she saw her husband white with rage.

"Madam," he said sternly, "you have been absent all night." "Yes," responded Mrs. Carter, coolly "the ball did not break up until 'the wee small hours anent the twa.""

Mr. Carter was already very much exasperated, but springing that old gag upon him aroused him to a perfect

"Do you know," he said, in a hoarse prowling around every night for a week while I have been confined to the house by myself?"

"Henry, I am very much surprised at your language.' "You are surprised, are you? Do you suppose I am going to stand this any

"If I were a married man," said Mrs. Carter, "I would think it very natural that my wife should go wherever sna already begun to likes it best. If you are displeased, you should address me in a different tone. You should endeavor to make home gers' baggage. pleasant for me." "What!" exclaimed Mr. Carter.

"Make my home agreeable to me," replied Mrs. Carter, "and perhaps I'll stay in more than I do." "But you didn't have a sprained ankle," interposed the astounded hus- away. band. "That is so, but a woman is tied up in the house the whole year around as much as you have been for the last week or so with that sprained ankle." "So you are playing for even?" "Just so. I hated to do it. It almost broke my heart to treat you with such apparent neglect, but I only wanted to tolerably safe to give the preference make you appreciate what I have gone to the hired man who sings at his work.

for my sprained ankle. I was wrong "That is all I want. I will not go out until you are well." "And then when I go out you shall go along with me, as is right and proper." And he kept his word.

ALEX. E. SWEET. ENCOURAGEMENT.

"Well, doctor, I'm still alive, thanks to you. I have taken every blessed drop of your medicine.

"Alive! Well, if I had thought you would still be alive this morning I would have sent more. But I'll do that now. And if I don't see you again, Patrick, good-bye-good luck to you."-Munsey's Weekly.

Easily Accounted For.

Jones and his wife were wandering among the cages in a menagerie. "I say, Jones, dear, what on earth has that anaconda tied himself up into such remember."-Judge.

A Fatal Admission Cringing Spirit (at the golden bars) --I have never been any thing worse than St. Peter-What could be worse? Justice demands that your neighbors be given a chance to get even with you. Away!-Munsey's Weekly. A Big Difference. Wife-I think Turner, our grocer, as joined the church, John. Husband-What leads you to think so, Wife-Why, he used to say his strawerries were so much a quart; now he ays they are so much a box.—The Jury. Ne Sutor Ultra Crepidam.

Lawyer Which-Well, O'Flaherty, have you told me all the facts, without elaboration, exaggeration or equivoca tion? I want to save you if I can. O'Flaherty-Oi have, yer honor Oi've tould how I shot de mon, an' not a wurrud but's as thrue's me affidavy; so ye can put in de lies, sorr, to shoot yer-Ye onnershtan that pairt betther nor I do, onny day .- Puck. Would Have to Walt. Customer (in cheap restaurant)-Waiter, bring me a napkin, please. Waiter-All in use at present, Cap, but ing soup over there will be through with his soon.—Drake's Magazine. Didn't Envy Him. Bobby-There ain't much fun for # fellow in this world after all, is there? Tommy-Plenty of fun, but I could never enjoy it if my mother wore as big a slipper as yours .- Drake's Magazine. MAKING THE FEATHERS FLY.

First Nimrod-Did you see the feathers fly when I fired? Second Nimrod (sarcastically)-Yes, I saw the feathers fly-off on the bird.

The National Failing. Jackson-I'm going to start a new paper, and I think I'll call it the Umbrella.

Merritt-Why? Jackson-Because every body who sees it will take it.

Merritt-Yes people would take it, but they wouldn't pay for it.-West Shore.

Not Quite. In a young ladies' school. Teacher-What are the three prin cipal kinds of poetry? Pupil-The lyric, the dramatic andand-

Teacher-(coming to her assistance)-Come, you know; the epivoice, smashing the water pitcher to Pupil—Oh, certainly; how stroid of smithereens, "that you have been out me! and the epidemia.—Judge. MISCELLANEOUS.

-In 1889, 300 elks were shot in the forests of Norway. Most of them were killed by English sportsmen, who, as Voltaire once intimated, are never happy unless they are killing something. -The baggage of returning European tourists is thoroughly searched at New

-Attention is called to a prophecy brokers, lawyers and club men who are my letters promptly. becoming stout.

-Other things being equal, it will be "Emma, come to my arms. Look out argument. If he knows how, and can whistle a tune decently, the fact is a mitigating circumstance. If he doesn't know a bar of music from a pair of bard I dreamed of you all last night, and I as he goes along, still determined to whistle, he may yet be of some use, as guinea hens are said to be-to scare away the hawks .- Hartford Times.

A Spanish woman's mantilla is held sacred by law, and can not be seized for debt, says the Dry Goods Chronicle. There are three kinds of mantillas which form the toilet of the Spanish lady. The first is composed of white blonde, used only on state occasions, birthdays, bull fights and Easter Monday. The second is black blonde, trimmed with deep lace; and the third, or ordinary wear, is made of black silk trimmed with velvet.

-While the Indians, of Eagle Valley,

Nev., were at a fandango one day recently, they left in camp an aged buck named Teekaboo and his squaw. Teekaboo was quite infirm, so his spouse dug a hole in the ground, put him in up to the neck and filled in the dirt solid She then left for the fandango, first placing a cup of water near the buried buck. He was rescued by some sheepmen after sixty-five hours confinement. -The ways of the itinerant vendor of delicacies of the season are often amusing if trying. Through a suburban street toiled a cart, whose driver yelled 'Watermelons! Nice ripe watermelons!" in the tones of a stentor. Called to a halt by a housekeeper, he confessed that he had nothing but potatoes to sell. "Why did you call watermelons, then?" as the indignant rejoinder. "To at something on his mind that he wants to | tract attention, mum; everybody has po-

-Among the rules of a prominent livery stable, where the animals of many wealthy men are kept, says the New York Sporting World, are the following 'No man will be employed who drinks intoxicating liquors. No man shall speak loud to any of the horses or in the to make allowances. Besides, a man stable where they are. Horses of good can not give up his whole time to senti-blood are nervous, and loud, excited ment. It is different with women. This conversation is felt by every horse who is a fact which you do not seem to have hears it, and keeps them all nervous taken into consideration at all. I shall and uneasy. No man shall use profane have more time after the present week, language in the hearing of horses.'

an old oil-painting which he had lately purchased, found concealed between ing you! the canvas and the back-board, a document to the following effect: "Lucky individual, whoever you are, who reads these lines, act with prudence and fidelity. In a time of calamity I had four thousand thalers in silver in this room. They will be found in the floor under the stove. You are to distribute two thousand thalers among the poor and keep the rest for yourself. May it bring you joy and happiness. Alexander von Rothencek. Written in the year 1752 at Coburg." Where is that money? Echo answers, "Where?"

-"It doesn't pay," remarks the Kennebec Journal, "to be too grasping in this life. Several years ago a Richmond man refused to allow the Maine Central that chap with the heavy mustache eatrailroad to put a foot on what he supposed to be his land. A survey showed that not only the land in dispute, but several rods more, belonged to the company, and when the line fence was built it took off a slice of the citizen's doorstep. A similar case happened in Skowhegan recently. A citizen objected to staging poles being set in his garden to shingle the car house. A survey showed that a generous slice of the garden was the property of the railroad company.' -The Lewiston (Me.) Journal tells of a Maine man who is a Selectman, Assessor and Overseer of the Poor in his town. He is also school agent and highway surveyor in his school and highway district. It is said that the town pays him $1 per day for the board of his mother-in-law, and that he has hired his own daughter for the school teacher. An ex-soldier, he draws a nice sum each farm and speculates some in farm produce and stock. He also owns a building that is the headquarters of a poker club, and he is a leading as well as a successful member thereof. It should be added that he does not teach a class in Sunday-school. -Joseph Duvuette has been in the Michigan prison for thirty-two consecutive years. He was convicted of murder in Sanilac County in 1858 and con-For a number of years (how many he himany thing in the shape of a human being.

Hard to Explain. Pastor-I can't understand why some members of my choir don't sing as well as the others. Friend—It is strange. They all have the same chants.—Detroit Free Press. CLARENCE AND JESSIE.

gressive Love-Letter Writing of the Most Approved Type. NEW EDEN, June 10, 1890. thought of you is a constant source of delight. I never knew what it was to be happy before; but now the whole

Your devoted, faithful lover, CLARENCE.

NEW EDEN, June 12, 1896. SWEETEST: I have just received your letter-the very breath of your presence in it, the delicate perfume of violets; How good of you to write so promptly! in the fence, and creates tune and time am dreaming of you now. The fellows as he goes along, still determined to lough at me for my absent-mindedness. Wuat do I care! I have something better to think of than logarithms and Greek roots. But I must study some, I suppose, or our secret will be suspected So, good-bye for now. I enclose a leaf from the inmost heart of a rose. Kiss it for me, as I have kissed it for you! Forever, your

CLARENCE. NEW EDEN, June 15, 1890. DARLING: You are too unkind. I know that I have missed a day; but examinations are close at hand, and those two weeks, while we were finding our my "nasty old books." That is just like a girl! Why can't your sex have a little mon-sense? But there goes the bell -confound it! Hastily,

CLARENCE. NEW EDEN, June 20, 1890. MY DEAR JESSIE: Why can't you keep your temper? I have not been lecturing you, and I have not neglected you. One charge refutes the other. I simply asked you to have a little charitable commonsense, in view of the hard work that is crowding on me just now. Of course, I am just as fond of you as I ever was; but I can't write love letters and grind mathematics at the same time, and no reasonable girl would expect it. You know that I love you. Why should you insist upon my repeating it every single day

Lovingly, CLARENCE. NEW EDEN, June 25, 1890. My DEAR MISS NORTHCOTE: I am sorry you feel as you do. I thought you truly loved me. Love is always willing to meet sacrifices; love is always ready and will write you at length my views -A tanner in Coburg, while cleaning upon this subject. Then, perhaps, you can consistently claim that I am lectur-

> CLARENCE. NEW EDEN, June 27, 1890. MISS NORTHCOTE - DEAR MADAM: beg to acknowledge receipt by express of the package containing ring, letters, photograph, etc. I return, also by express, like articles of yours in my possession. Kindly acknowledge upon delivery, and oblige, Yours respectfully.

CLARENCE MURCHISON.
—Paul Pastnor, in Puck.

Ever sincerely,

DUELING IN GERMANY. Tragedles That Have Evoked Something

Like Wholesome Retribution.
Two deplorable cases of death by dueling have recently occurred at medical schools in Germany. To one of these attention has already been drawn -that of the "candidatus medicus" of Wurzburg, Paul Fleurer, who fell at the third interchange of pistol shots, after twice holding out the hand of reconcilia-tion to his implacable adversary. What action the local authorities, academic or givic, have taken or mean to take to bring to justice the homicide or the "court of honor" who aided and abetted him, we have yet to learn; but we shall indeed be surprised if the Wurzburg, or, for that matter the German, public rest satisfied with the condemnation of the proceeding delivered by the chief orator, if not the chief mourner, at poor Fleurer's funeral, that he was the victim of an "unfortunate prevailing prejudice." Meanwhile, we are glad to see that a similar tragedy at Freiburg has evoked something like wholesome retribution from a German law court. According to the Algemeine Zeitung, of Munich, the arm and speculates some in farm produce and stock. He also owns a build-solution and speculates some in farm produce and stock. He also owns a build-solution is the Algemeine Zeitung, of Munich, the duel in which the "candidatus medicus" solution is the Algemeine Zeitung, of Munich, the duel in which the "candidatus medicus" solution is the Algemeine Zeitung, of Munich, the duel is the Algemeine quence that the "hero" of the encounter, "the student Bering, has been condemned to two years and three months' imprisonment, while the members of the court of honor have also been sent to jail for a period of six months each."

We hope that similar sentences on the part of the legally constituted tribunals are sacrificed to frivolity. We have no of Germany will put an end to a prac-tice which is virtually satire on their demned to solitary confinement for life.

For anymber of years (how many be himsettle such differences as these so reself can not tell) he was isolated from any thing in the shape of a human being.

settle such differences as these so recently referred to the arbitrament of sword or pistol? The Emperor William He never saw a human face or heard a human voice for long, weary months at a time. His food was brought to him versitles, in which the Fatherland takes mirth which savors of madness. He are the control of the long to long on a time. His food was brought to him on a tin plate and handed through a wicket, but he never caught a glimpse of the convict who waited on him. For thirty-two years the only sight of the than force? Were the results less lasky he ever got was from within the four great walls. He has never stepped outside the gates. No friend or relative has spoken to him in all that period. counters in which law is ignored or defied by its students and in which medi-cine assists—though often too late—in healing the wounds inflicted by its future professors on each other.—London and by three o clock there were nearly loaf of bread."

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

TEMPERANCE REFORM.

Would Accomplish Wonders. could be no saloons; therefore dram had at least a chance for their lives; world is running over with joy. Every drinkers are responsible for all the evil York now for dutiable articles, and the thing speaks to me of you! Since we done by saloons — and more. Every necessity perish, and their families had result has been a large inc. case in the amount of duties collected. In May this where—in dreams, in the sky, in the liquor of any kind as a beverage, no year $10,466 was collected from passentrees, in the flowers. The birds sing matter where, or in what amount, is a your name, and the wind whispers it in | dram drinker, and shares this responsi- and all our strength will be required to -Attention is called to a prophecy which a writer in Harper's Magazine hazarded in the year 1856. This dreamer hazarded that in the year 1856. This dreamer into it. How I long to hear your power; every known indulgence generation, and escape the dangers that predicted that in the year 3000 men voice again, to look into your eyes, to strengthens the sentiment that sustains surround; and if our lives have been would be able to attach an ear tube to a clasp your hand! Believe me, there is and spreads the habit; and its potency full of frivolity and vanity and emptiwire and hear conversations two miles not a moment of the day when your im- for evil is greatest when the example is ness, the jokes and gibes, the mirth and age is not in my thoughts. How shall I set by those who move in the higher folly of a life-time, will be poor preparation for the hour of death, and poor see well-dressed men running or aking. to see well-dressed men running or skip. Do you think of me always, love, as I cise self control. The drink habit is a preparation for the day of judgment. ping the rope in Central Park. Exercise think of you? I know you do! And now fountain of woes for which saloons are is the chief aim of these simple diverfarewell for a few hours. A thousand sions, which are practiced mostly by kisses, sweet! Do not fail to answer all reservoirs may deflect or diminish witheth about seeking whom he may deout stopping the stream, but dry up the vour."-- H. L. Hastings. fountain and reservoirs and distributing pipes become useless, and dams and dikes unnecessary.

A mere return to moral sussion methods will not suffice. The greater part of the time and money heretofore wasted. To illustrate: I once heard a cate structure is correspondingly afinto a chair, inform a committee that he here reaches its height. The tiny vesone drinker. Tens of thousands of language of the physiologist, mal-public meetings have been held functioned. The mind but slowly ral-with none but Temperance people lies from the stupor of the fourth men and women carefully avoid. In cline to come to us, we must go to them. heaven, have male such a gap in my work! You say that I love you less than we should be careful not to repel them by demanding greater sacrifices than are needed.

It is not possible to ascertain who are for or against a reform by guessing. each containing the names of every nearly as possible "solid for total dren often inherit the disease which he abstinence," circulate pledges and has escaped. greater number will probably have to brain is that intermediate state beand other societies, labor unions and of the cerebrum, manifesting itself in especial efforts put forth to make each paroxysms of greater violence. body "solid for total abstinence."
While some workers would take ourse, the names of those who are aleady in favor of Temperance, and those who can be most easily influenced would soon be secured, and, as the novement progressed, many who efused at first would decide to "help nake it unanimous," for, when public entiment in favor of great humanitarian novements becomes aroused, and rganized, its power to persuade, conince and awe is tremendous. As the good work went on, and its results bee rare indeed.

ame manifest, the really human souls that would not be melted by the fergent heat of enkindled humanity would At all times, the "Phalanx" ideahoulder to shoulder, in hollow squares bout the Nation's homes, with every weapon leveled at their defiling and detroying foe-should be kept in mind, and the "Phalanxes" should be composed of "Temperance Volunteers." To succeed, this holy work must comnence in and draw its chief support from the church, which, to that end, must first purge itself. Few ministers have even a faint conception of the numper of tipplers now on their rolls, and, as the world can not be lifted onto a nigher plane than the church prepares, until the wine cellars under the church of God are closed, and the odor of alcohol is banished from its sanctuary. It is admitted that the suggested plan would require a great deal of work; but can the desired results be secured with less? And are they not well worth what and gain a living by trafficking in they would cost? Do we really desire the redemption of the Nation? If so, our set of workers will only have to cultimake the start.—Albert Griffin.

the saloon will continue to flourish

THE MIRTH OF MADNESS.

Foolish Persons Who Sacrifice Sobriety There is a time to laugh, but that time is not all the time, as some people seem to suppose. The appetite for mirth sometimes becomes too strong, special liking for long faces or sour looks, but empty gabble, vain frivolity and stale and foolish jokes are very poor substitutes for sober thought and an earnest life. Men have come to joke at every thing, public or private, sacred or profane, divine or devilish.

who said: "There is a time to laugh," saw the time when he said that "laugh-ter is mad." There is an intoxication of mirth which forbids all serious thought and prevents all serious action; needed besides mockery and revelry. It is stated that when ill-fated Johnstown was inundated by heavy rains, and drinks daily 4 quarts of lager be one thousand men drunk and sailing around the streets so dazed and helpless that they were unable to save themselves, or to care for their families. My Aygen: I am in Paradise! The A Plan Which If Properly Carried Out When at last the dam burst, and "the flood came and took them ail away." If there were no dram drinkers there | the men who were sober and vigilant but the men who were drunk must of no one to protect and assist them. We shall find, in the course of our experience, hours when all our energies "Be sober, be vigilant; behold your ad-

BRAIN DERANGEMENTS. The Terrible Effect of Alcohol on the Reasoning Faculties. Alcohol seems to have a special affinity for the brain. This organ abdevoted to Tempe rance work has been sorbs more than any other, and its deligood man, as he dropped exhaustedly fected. The "vascular enlargement" had been "laboring hard all day for sols become clogged with blood that is the cause," and inquiry developed the unfitted to nourish, because loaded with fact that his time had been spent carbonic acid, and deprived of the 'laboring" with eighteen Temperance usual quantity of the life-giving oxymen, two incorrigible dramsellers and gen.-Hinton. The brain is, in the in attendance, and, consequently no stage, and a sense of dullness and devisible results. It will not do to merely pression remains to show with what offerpledges at meetings which drinking difficulty the fatigued organ recovers its normal condition. So marked is the some way it must be ascertained who effect of the narcotic poison, that some these drinkers are and, when they de- authorities hold that "a once thor oughly-intoxicated brain neverfully becomes what it was before. In time the free use of liquor hardens and thickens the membrane enveloping the nervous matter; the nerve-corpuscles undergo a "fatty degeneration;" the blood-vessels lose their elasticity; Millions of men and women, supposed and the vital fluid, flowing less freely by their Temperance friends to be total through the obstructed channels, fails bstainers, are in fact tipplers. The to afford the old-time nourishment. best, if not the only way to properly The consequent deterioration of the prepare for the needed work, is to divide cities, towns and counties into thought-shows itself in the weakened small districts, and have lists made for mind that we so often notice in a person accustomed to drink, and at last esident over ten years old (just as the lays the foundation of various nervous politician does with the voters of each disorders-epilepsy, paralysis and inprecinct). Then, proclaiming that sanity. The law of heredity here again the purpose is to make each district as asserts itself, and the inebriate's chil-

theck every signer. Many names can | Chief among the consequences of this be procured at public meetings, but the perverted and imperfect nutrition of the be obtained by personal solicitation. tween intoxication and insanity, well separate lists should also be obtained of known as delirium tremens. "It is members of all churches, lodges, characterized by a low, restless activity employes in large establishments, and muttering delirium, with occasional victim almost always apprehends some direful calamity; he imagines his bed selected names for personal visitation, to be covered with loathsome reptiles; thers should go systematically from he sees the walls of his apartment touse to house and shop to shop. Of crowded with foul specters; and he imagines his friends and attendants to be fiends come to drag him down to a fiery abyss beneath."—Carpenter.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

ONE word - "drink"-explains the downfall of a once wealthy Pittsburgher who was admitted to the alms-house last week.

THE Lord Mayor of London recently entertained thirty-seven total abstinence mayors from as many different cities in England.

LET us take care how we speak of those who have fallen on life's field. Help them up-don't heap scorn upon them. We did not see the conflict; we do not know the scars.-The Reformer. I HAVE had twenty-two thousand prisoners through my hands since I have been the governor of this gaol, but, though I have inquired I have not discovered one teetotaller among them. -The Governor of Canterbury Gaol. Ir a family begins to sell liquor it slaughters them like sheep and the family runs out of existence generally in about two generations. If the family buy liquor they become intemperate, dishonest, idle and diseased in some members of the household. INDIAN AGENT SHULER, of the White Earth agency, says: "Fourteen Indians under my charge have been traveling with the Wild West show and have come back worthless vagabonds, whose principal desire is to live in idleness whisky." A GROCER at Reigate, it is said, had a plans must be as broad as the evil that spirit license. He has just invited his we seek to suppress, and, after all, each two sons to enter into partnership with him, but both, being staunch abstainvate their own small field. The most ers, refused, until their father consentdifficult part of the whole business is to ed to give up the license. After holding out for some time he has met their wishes.—Temperance Caterer.

A GIRL of only twelve was committed as "a confirmed drunkard" to an industrial school in San Francisco a few days Her mother stated that the girl ago. would steal, beg or do almost any thing to get liquor, and that she had been drinking for nearly a year. All attempts either to reform her or prevent her getting liquor had been failures, it was stated. Beer Is Not Nutrition

Senator Blair says in The Temperance Movement: "There are used in making one gallon of beer 83.2 ounces of barley of which 70 ounces are lost in 'malting,' in 'mashing,' 'fermenting' and 'fining,' leaving 13.2 ounces of nutritious (?) substance. Consumed by the glass at 5 cents each this would cost 80 cents, or about two-thirds of a day's labor; at 80 cents per bushel for barley the same amont of nutriment in the and there are times when something is form of bread, allowing about 60 per cent. for waste and making, would cost 2 cents. In other words, if a man the people had been driven to the second | will in about 12 months succeed in takfloor, large numbers of men left their ing into his stemach in that form the houses, plundered the saloons of liquor, nutriment contained in a five-pound

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 5) cents per square for each additional inser-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

ndents must enclose full name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith. Reject d communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1890.

Show this paper to your neighbor, if he is not already a subscriber, and in procession from Clinton Hall to ask him to look it over and note its the City Hall to beg the Mayor to merits as a local family journal. The give them work. He would have low rate of subscription puts it with. seen mass meetings composed of in the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news should be without it.

CAN McComas be defeated ? - Cumberland Times.

Hardly, this fall at least.

WE KNOW the weather is hot, and politics can't make much headway with the people now, but our suggestion of last week relative to the organization of tariff clubs throughout the county ought to receive due consideration. There is nothing like thorough organization. So get together friends and prepare for the fight. Don't wait until the nominations are made, but begin now to disseminate Republican ideas and scatter Republican campaign literature and the harvest will take place when the weather gets cooler and depend upon it, the crop will be the largest ever garnered in Garrett filled with notes. Men would use last week. He has a very sore hand boat momentarily ran on to a bar, cess. The little steam tug Wanderer County.

THE solicitude expressed for the

political fortunes of Hon. Louis E, McComas by the Democratic press is very amusing. To judge the situation from their standpoint one would conclude that the better course for Mr. McComas to pursue is to quietly step aside and surrender all claims and pretentions for a renomination. If they think by the methods they have adopted they will remove him from the contest-literally scare him from the race-they have assuredly reckoned without their host. The trouble with the people on the other side is, that in casting about for the right sort of congressional timber, they have not found one who is foolhardy enough to stand up and face McComas, and now their only hope is to make it appear that terrible dissensions exist in our ranks, and if the Free-Trade Tariff of 1846 would possible, to create in this very way have promptly fallen under popular the discord they know only exists in | probation and been doomed to speedy their fertile imagination and was not repeal. But it had a singular history born among the Republicans of the and for a time generally acquiesced old Sixth, and if successful in their in, even attaining in many sections scheme secure the coveted prize. a certain degree of popularity. Never The Republicans of Western Mary- did any other Tariff meet with so land are not the people to turn many or so great aids of an advenagainst their party simply to gratify titious character to sustain it as did the wishes of their political foes. this enactment of 1846. Our war Anybody can see through a mill stone that has a hole in it. So we were lowered, and the consequence say, just keep right on the line you was the disbursement of more than are now pursuing and the result will $100,000,000, in a way that reached be a closer union among the friends all localities and favorably affected of McComas and greater determina- all interests. This was a great sum tion on their part to return him to of money for that period, and for the Congress.

Federal Election bill to the method outlay of the Government. In the of appointing school commissioners middle of this period the Irish famin Maryland, has wonderfully stirred | ine occurred and called for an imup his antagonists, and they insist mense export of breadstuffs at high that when he stated that this right prices. The discovery of gold in had been wrested from the people California the succeeding year, flushand placed in the hands of the judges, ed the channels of business as never he thereby cast a slur at the fairness before, by rapidly enlarging the cirand uprightness of our courts and culation of coin in all parts of the held them up to the execration of country. Before this outpourthe country. Here in Garrett the ing of gold had ceased, the three leaders of the Democracy, not satis- great nations of Europe, as precedfled with the fairness of the courts, ence was reckoned at that time-Engwhose champion they have so sud- land, France and Russia - entered denly become, took the appointment upon the Crimean war. The export of the commissioners away from the of manufactures from England and judges and placed it in the hands of France was checked, the breadstuffs a partisan Governor, who does not of Russia were blockaded and could even deign to give a minority repre- not reach the markets of the world. sentation on the board, but constructs An extraordinary stimulus was thus and fashious it out of simon-pure given to all forms of trade in the Democrats alone.

This one instance of the extremes ventitous aids came in regular sucto which the party in power in this cession and exerted their powerful of fat sheep of M. Mattingly. State has gone simply because it had influence upon the prosperity of the the power ought to be a sufficient an- country. swer to any criticism of the speech of "The withdrawal or termination of Mr. McComas, and show to the peo- these influences, by a treaty of peace last week. ple at large the political sophistry of in Europe and by the surcease of those who have set themselves to gold from California, placed the Tarcompass his downfall by undertaking | iff of 1846 where the real test of its | ing medical treatment. to covertly create dissensions among merits or demerits could be made. his friends.

our brother certainly does not sub- developed and sustained by Protec- day School. up on the morning of the 5th of No- which involved the ruin of thous- School, also the McHenry School.

whelming majority.

From 1846 to 1860.

to answer.

A Free-Trader recently told me How shall I answer such a statement

Tell your Free-Trade friend that if he had been in New York in the fail of 1854 he would have seen men, women and children dying for the want of food. He would have seen every morning 25,000 starving men walking thousands of idle men in the City Hall park, denouncing as treason the sending of a particle of grain out the country. He would have seen soup houses established by loyal women, where thousands daily got free a bowl of soup-their only subsistence for the day. He would have seen thousands of buildings in course of construction stopped for want of money. He would have seen Horace Greeley start for Ohio and Wisconsin to investigate the causes of distress in the West. He would have seen in the morning newspapers, proclamations from the Governors of Sonth Carolina and Misissippi, appealing to the North for bread to keep them from starving. The cry throughout the South "white bread and a dollar a day!" Has white bread ever been a luxury under Protection? In every home throughout the country was sung the song "Hard times come banks hundreds of miles away, so that it would take several days before their checks could be presented. It was a time of inflation, destitution, distress and rampant prostitution, such as only seen in Free-Trade England. This was the period, according to your Free-Trade friend, when the United States enjoyed its greatest prosperity. But perhaps he would like to drop the latter part of this period and talk about the first part only, when the country for a few years did seem wonderfully blessed. The exposition of the causes that led to the apparent prosperity of the first half of that period and the con-than by Mr. Blaine in his reply to Mr. Gladstone. He says: "Under ordinary circumstances with Mexico began just as the duties years 1846, 1847 and 1848 it consider-The reference in his speech on the ably more than doubled the ordinary ditions of our country at its close

could not be given more foreiably

Our esteemed contemporary, the hension and anxiety. Will this Free- of their sick mother in West Vir- profits would be put down by any of our town and tannery. Mountain Democrat, reproduced an Trade Tariff now develop and sus- ginta. article last week from the chief apos- tain the business of the country as F. D. DeWitt, of Johnstown, is was so urgent in insisting upon the now a resident here. tle of this dissension movement, but firmly and securely as it has been superintending the Elder Hill Sunscribe to the statements therein con- tion? The answer was made in 1857 Wm. Callis, of this place, is super- to her destruction. tained. If he does, he too will wake by a widespread financial panic, intending the Flatwoods Sunday Many incidents of the past night [We will be glad to hear from this vember next and find how badly he ands, including proportionately as was misled when he reads the dis- many in the South as in the North, patches announcing the re-election of leaving the country disordered and Louis E. McComas by an over- distressed in all the avenues of trade. The disastrous results of this Tariff ported."—American Economist.

United States. For years these ad-

Accident.

on last Monday. the beit. Drs. Ravenscroft of Acci- ger was anticipated. present writing.

near Accident.

at present.

New Gernany.

The glorious Fourth was gloriously celebrated as it should be in a patriotic and well regulated community. from far and near, were on the people precipitated into the lake.

grounds in good time, and still they continued to come. Horses were until they were all rescued or swam decked with little flags, wagons, ashore. buggies and carts loaded with laughyoung man, gallant and strong, ready search for the dead was kept up all to be useful at the basket or in the night. ring; the coy maiden, with cherries on her lips, the rose and lily on ber cheek and the cunning little bang in work of rescue is being pushed by opportunity to visit the Historic her hair; the wise, grave and cau- parties of military boys who are entious parent, and the "hungry stran- camped up the river. ger," all were there.

address by Rev. Evans.

tickling sensation about my palate heavy, that-well. I'd sooner not.

Then such fun as they had! A big! And such a squeal of delight started to return to Red wing, very as somebody kicked "that limb." ribbon and the bang, the high, stiff ter, but every one hopes the number R. R. collar and the glossy shirt front may not go beyond 100. A good ion. Free lemonade in abundance steamer. Just how many will not send you a few items nevertheless. made everybody happy. This was be known for some time yet, possievident from the fact that there was by for several days. a great smacking of lips-at least near the "ring."

Hoyes. Success to the new Editor. The weather is extremely warm.

Wheat harvest is closed. Fine weather for harvesting the abundant hay crop. Truman Casteel bought a fine lot bought Geo. E. Bishoff's cattle.

from Oakland, where he was receiv. sky was black and that it was evi- Lake Park last Sunday. They re-Geo. E. Bishoff and his sister, Mrs.

A HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

er near Red Wing, Minnesota.

LAKECITY, MINN., July 14 .- Last struck the yessel, and the joke provupon the permanent industries of the night just before dark, a disastrous ed their salvation. country are described in President cyclone bore down upon this com-The following note comes to us Buchanan's well-remembered mes- munity, and in a few moments near- dead last night. One of them was 3; 30 o'clock Sunday, July 13, Death from a contemporary, and we gladly sage, communicated to Congress after by 200 people were killed. What clasped in its mother's arms, while was due to inflamation of the bowels. answer the question in the Economist the panic: 'With unsurpassed plenty appeared to be an ordinary electric the other was found under a pile of He was born in Savannah, Ga., Janthat many others of our readers who in all the elements of national wealth storm was noticed coming up from life preservers. may be asked the same question by our manufacturers have suspended, the west, but in half an hour the their Free-Trade friends can be able our public works are retarded, our whole heavens had been converted private enterprises of different kinds into a lightning-lined black canopy eral Mullen, the militia were put in- to Charleston, S. C. In 1830 he was are abandoned and thousands of use- of death. A little before dark a ter- to service and worked nobly on the commissioned by President Van Buthe United States enjoyed its greatest ful laborers are thrown out of emprosperity from 1846 to 1860, when ployment and reduced to want, This every one indoors. Trees were upback of the point which is known as leal engineers. He went to Washployment and reduced to want.' This every one indoors. Trees were up- back of the point which is known as Ical engineers. He went to Washtestimony as to the result of a Free- rooted, buildings were wrecked and Maiden Rock and is anchored there. ington in 1840 and in 1842 he was in-Trade Tariff is all the more forcible much damage done in the time the The wreck of the steamer occurred structed by the War Department to from the fact that Mr. Buchanan, as storm lasted. In a few minutes the off this point and the very greatly take charge of an expedition for the a member of President Polk's Cabi- news was abroad that an excursi n dismantled wreck lifted over against exploration of the Rocky Mountains. net, had consented to the abandon- boat with 200 people on it was cap- the barge. She lay over on the port He left Washington in May, of the ment of Protection, which in his sized in the middle of Lake Pepin. side and was broken almost into same year, and in four months had earlier career he had earnestly sup. The boat was the steamer Seawing. kindling wood, although enough of carefully explored the South Pass and which came down the lake from Dia- the frame work remained to hold the Wind River Mountains, ascend. mond Bluff, a small place about sev- together and work on. At half past ing their highest point, (since known excursion to the encampment of the child, to which ropes had been at- In January, 1845, Fremont was Eli McMillen finished making hay First Regiment N. G. S. M., which tached, were drawn from the water. given the double brevet of first lieuis being held a mile below this city. The child of John Winters, of Red Frank Glotfelty, second son of The steamer started back on the Wing, and Fred S. Winters, black-Mahlon Glotfelty near McHenry, had homeward trip about 8 o'clock, and smith, were taken out a few mohis arm torn off above the elbow one although there were signs of an ap- ments later. day last week. He was engaged in proaching storm, it was not consid- Corporal B. L. Berry, of St. Paul, didate for the presidency. In the sawing shingles and was caught in ered in any way serious, and no dan-

The Sunday Schools of the M. E. out into the middle of the lake, and

Those on the barge remained there

Up to 2 o'clock this morning fifty-

It was stated this afternoon that

They had religious services, prayer, to keep the water out of the cabin beautiful singing and an appropriate and to keep the people under shelter, Captain Wethern had locked the Dinner? I guess they had. And cabin. If this is true it may explain such a lot of nice, good things! I'd much of the loss of life, although the like to tell, but there is such a strange loss would still have been very

Estimates vary as to the total numwent into the game more primp and number are still in the wreck, and a faultless than when they came out. great many are in the bottom of the In short, it was an enjoyable occas- lake, where the gale first struck the his part in putting out in the take covering. plained that he did not think the mountains for some time. Clinton DeWitt raised his barn danger very great and that he Quite a number of Gormanites and Geo. W. DeWitt has returned People in this neighborhood say the by attending camp-meeting at Mt. dent that a heavy storm was about port a pleasant time. to break. His other excuse is that | C. H. Palmer, artist, now at Deer It was everywhere asked with appre- Cuppett, were called to the bedside the manager of the excursion, whose Park, took a large number of views delay in the departure of the boat, C. W. Ashby, of Davis City, is immediate departure that the Cap- Roads are dry and solid again and tain yielded, and took his boat out teaming is a good business once

Webb, of the Red Wing, and his young lady companion had just jok-A Cyclone Strikes an Excursion Steam- ingly finished fastening life preserv- Gen. J. C. Fremont Expires in New ers to each other when the storm

THE WORK OF RESCUE. enteen miles north of here, on an ten the bodies of a woman and a as Fremont's Peak,) 13,570 feet.

saw the wreck early last night, and first national Republican convention at once hastened to the spot to ren- in Philadelphia, June 17, 1856, he dent and McComas, ir., of Oakland, The boat was crowded to its fullest der such assistance as was possible. was nominated for President of the were called and found that the bone capacity, about 150 men, women and Finding a man standing by a boat of the remaining part of the arm was children from Redwing and Dia- on the shore he asked to be taken ance he advocated free labor and opbroken in two places and the sinews mond Bluff being on board and out into the storm to the overturning posed the extension of slavery. The lacerated, and consequently ampu- about 50 people on a barge which boat. But when refused he threat- national American convention also tated the arm at the shoulder joint. was attached to the side of the ened to kill him unless his orders nominated him for the presidency. The lad is about 15 years old, and is steamer. When about Lake City were obeyed, and with the help of Mr. Buchanan defeated him at the doing as well as could be expected at the boat began to feel the effects of his unwilling assistant saved the general election. Fremont received the storm. But the officers kept on lives of fifteen or sixteen women. votes from eleven States, including Jacob W. Miller, pastor of the their way. The storm increased as Adjutant General Mullen says the the six New England States, New Lutheran church at Little Rock, Ar- the boat continued on her way up man has earned a commission, From York, Onio, Michigan, Iowa and kansas, is at present visiting his par- the lake and in fifteen minutes was early morning a patrol of rowboats ents, Mr. and Mrs. Melchior Miller, at its height, Nearing Central Point, was kept up all over the neighborabout two miles above Lake City, hood of the wreck looking for bodies. popular vote for Fremont was 1,341,-Mr. William Miller, son of Melchior the steamer was at the mercy of the Battery A. of St. Paul, kept up a

Miller, had the needle of a self. waves which were washing over the cannonading during the day trying California, and in 1860 he revisited again no more!" Our banks were binder run through his hand one day boat and all was confusion. The to raise the bodies, but without sucand the barge was cut loose and the tried unsuccessfully to pull the steamer again set adrift in the lake. wreck apart, and then the Ethel A number of those on the barge Howard came up the river and with jumped and swam ashore. As the the valuable assistance of the Luella created Western department. He barge floated again into the deep pulled apart the frame of what had fortified St. Louis. On August 10, water those on the barge saw the been the top of the steamer. The 1861, he proclaimed martial law, arsteamer as it was carried helplessly Lucila then pulled the Sea Wing up rested active secessionists, and susand Reformed churches were the as they were being tossed about on bodies, one woman and two young charged with disloyalty. Since 1864 mainspring in the happily conceived the raging waters, they were horrimen. Alice Palmer, of Trenton and successfully conducted move- fied a moment later to observe the was one of these, but the two men in public affairs. In 1878-81 he was ment. The schools, with friends steamer capsize and its cargo of 150 had not been identified up to 1 Govenor of Arizona. He appeared o'elock.

> Excursions to Historic Battlefields. A series of special excursions to the Battlefields of Cedar Creek, (Middleter, smiles and bursting baskets; the nine bodies had been found, and the town,) Winchester and Harper's Ferry, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic are an-Unidentified bodies to the number nounced for July 23, Aug. 20, Sept. 16. of 62 have been recovered and the and October 16, 1890, affording a rare Ground where the contending hosts > > struggled for victory. Tickets for these excursions will be sold from all ticket stations on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. east of the Ohio River at one fare for the round trip on July 22 and 23, Aug. 19 and 20, Sept. 15 and 16, and Oct. 15 and 16. 1890, valid for return journey ten days including day of sale.

For the accommodation of those desiring to visit the battlefields of ber of dead. There were over 200 on Antietam and Gettysburg, the Baltiswing? Yes, indeed. For little and the steamer and barge when they more and Ohio R. R. Co. will place few remaining behind on account of for the round trip to these points at on sale excursion tickets at one fare The saddest and gladdest play was the storm, although many protested Harper's Ferry and Weyerton, to be ring. Sad? Well. you see, as you against the proposal to steam up the sold July 23 to 31st inclusive, good to steed in the ring dazed with smiles lake in the face of such a gale as was return until Aug. 1st inclusive. Aug. and beauty, a sweet somebody touch- then blowing. Of the whole num- 20 to 28 inclusive good to return uned you gently and then off they ran. ber it is known positively that about til Aug. 29th inclusive. Sept. 16 to 24 Inclusive good to return until JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT Twas sad to part, but then you ran fifty were saved. More may have Sept. 25 inclusive, Oct. 16 to 24 incluafter-you caught them, And oh, escaped, but only this many are sive good to return until Oct. 25th how glad you both are, so glad to known at this time to be safe. That inclusive, for rates and time of trains meet that you both kiss for joy. The would leave 150 victims of the disas- call on or address Agents B. & O.

The weather is dry and hot. News is scarce, and perhaps uninteresting, but, Mr. Editor, I will STATEMENTS, There has been considerable sickness here of late, some quite serious. Captain Wethern, proprietor and James King, who received injuries commander of the Sea Wing, has some time since by a large pulley been blamed for what is alleged to falling on him from the third story have been criminal negligence on of the finishing house, is slowly re-with such a crowd when the sky Old Mr. Endler, living near here, looked so threatening. The cap- died very suddenly Monday evening. tain's wife and two of his three chil- Rev. and Mrs. Geo. H. Nock, of dren lost their lives, and that, in Baltimore, are stopping at the Virconnection with the loss of his yes- ginia House, formerly the Shoreham. sel, have so broken him up that he Mrs. Nock, whose health is not E. Gallentine, of Connellsville, has kept out of sight. He has ex- good, expects to remain here in the thought he saw a break in the clouds. others near here, improved the time and day might be related. James correspondent each week,-ED.

THE "PATHFINDER,"

York City.

Gen. John C. Frement, the first candidate of the Republican party for Two babies were found among the President, died in New York city at uary 21, 1813. After his father's death, which occurred in 1818, his Under command of Adjutant Gen. mother, with her family, removed tenant and captain. In 1855 he settled in New York with his family. He now began to be mentioned as an anti-slayery can-United States. In his letter of accet-Wisconsin. Maryland gaye her eight electoral votes for Mr. Filmore. The 000. In 1858 Fremont returned to

Soon after the beginning of the civil war he was made a major-general of the regular army, and was assigned the command of the newlypended the publication of papers Gen. Fremont, has taken little part in the last national Republican cot . vention at Chicago and created a great deal of enthuslasm. He was made a major-general and placed on the retired list by the present Con-

Gen. Fremont's funeral took place at New York on Wednesday, July, 16, at 10 oclock, from the Protestant Episcopal church.

VEDDING INVITATIONS.

THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at snort notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at re placing your orde where.

NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES.

CIRCULARS, CARDS.

> BILL HEADS stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make

LETTER AND

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

you need anything is ur line. Orders by mai

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE.

LODGE, MEETINGS

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday nights of each month. The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday nightofeach week and Sunday alternoon, SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night.
PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Hall lst and 3d Thursday nights of each month.

GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meet in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

Wednesday is discount day at the Garrett County Bank. Remember Mayers is the sole agent for Huyler's candy.

A new crossing is being laid across Alder street at the Rectory. Camp meeting closed at Mountain Lake Park on Monday night. Naylor & Enos' planing mill is running night and day recently.

Read the advertisement of THE REPUBLICAN Job Office in this issue. Joseph Helbig is repainting Mrs. Totten's residence on Liberty Street. The only place in the city to get Huyler's candy is at Mayers', drug-Chas. Janosky was bitten by a sayage dog in the leg on Monday even

ing. Sole agent for Huyler's choice candies is Mayers. No other store keeps them. A new platform has been laid on Liberty Street in front of Capt. J. M. Jarboe's.

Attend the entertainment given to-night (Friday) by Miss Johnston, the electionist.

Hamill & Little shipped over 1300 pounds of wool to Col. Rigg, of Ter-Alta, on Monday. New platforms have been laid at the Rectory, Lutheran parsonage, and Mrs. Dunlap's. Don't fail to see the Red, White and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis &

Son's. It will pay you. The number of strangers in town is variously estimated at from nine hundred to fifteen hundred. To give space to local news we were compelled to crowd our Wash.

ington letter out this week. We have had some very warm weather this week. The thermometer ranging from 85 to 90 degrees. Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying. The contractors and builders of our city have enough work on hand to keep them busy until late in the fall. handle the Champion Machine at d | call. have a full line of repairs for the New

Mower on hand, DAVIS & SON.

We call the attention of the Mayor | week. and Council to the condition of the platform (?) in front of the Hessen property.

School houses will be built at the following named places in Garrett County this fail: At Huttons, Bowser Ridge, McHenry and Paugh school.

Mrs. Catharine Thompson, aged 88 years rode on horseback to Mt. Lake Park and back to her home, a distance of sixteen miles, on last Sun-

A party from this city and the Oakland Hotel were on a coaching The coach used was from McCauley's Tally-ho stables, Washington, D. C.

We want a correspondent in each town, village and at every cross-road in Garrett County. Send us the news, friends, and it will be published. Have it here not later than Wednesday noon.

As train No. 6. East, was crossing the iron bridge just west of the city, the smoking car gave a lurch and came in contact with the side of the the roof of the car.

On last Saturday Andrew J. Harne, auctioneer, sold for G. S. Hamill, attorney for Michael I. Hofan, mortgagee, 100 acres of land belonging to mont, was in town on last Friday Sarah E. and Geo. Meets, to Andrew and made our office a visit. Mr. F. J. Calflesh, for $726.

H. A. Davis, the popular and gent gentleman. ladies bangs and shampooing.

Don't fail to hear Miss Margaret Johnston, the elocutionist, at the quaintances, Oakland Hotel to-night (Friday.)

sewing machine. HAMILL & LITTLE. PERSONAL POINTERS.

Abroad.

very ill.

in Oakiand. Lawyer Thomas spent Sunday in

Dr. E. H. Bartlett was in Swanton on Wednesday.

on business this week. Rev. T. W. Sines was in our city last Friday on business.

Mr. Rantan, a B. & O. detective was in the city Wednesday.

J. Ed. Kiidow is holding a case in the Kingwood Journal office.

was in Oakland Wednesday.

was seen in our city last Friday. Godfrey Felty, spent Sunday at the home of his parents in Oakland.

Mrs. Boggs and son, of Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. D. E. Offutt, visiting his brother, Rev. C. E.

Oscar Notes cut his hand very seriously Tuesday afternoon on a piece of glass.

Terra Alta, on our streets Tuesday evening. Postmaster F. A. Thayer has been seriously ill for several days, but is now better. Will Hinebaugh, Jr., returned to Hon, R. T. Browning's family on West Liberty street.

Mrs. Mary E. Chisholm, of Gormania, Md., was a pleasant caller at our office last Saturday.

Frank B. Ross, of Portsmouth, Ohio, is visiting his father-in-law, Barney Reynolds, this week.

spent the day at Mt. Lake Park. E. M. Coddington, of Friendsville, was in the city yesterday. While Mrs. W. M. Rider and daughter Virgie, of Kingwood were at Mountain Lake Park camp meeting this Thomas White, of Baltimore who has been visiting his old home for several days, returned to Baltimore Sunday.

Oakland all summer.

Rev. W. J. Sharpe's last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jamesson and son Frank of Piedmont, spent Suntrip to Deer Park Monday night. day in Oakland, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. King Delawder.

H. W. Murdock and wife, of Kingwood, were in Oakland on Saturday and Monday. They spent Sunday at Mt. Lake Park attending camp meeting.

bridge, doing considerable damage to Baltimore Episcopal Methodist, spent day of sale. several days with Col. Veitch and family. He returned to Baltimore Wednesday morning.

Hanson B. Friend, of Alta-

give hot or cold baths at the bath Findlay, Ohio, are now in town, rooms of the Oakland Hotel. He stopping at Mrs. J. C. Dunham's, also makes a specialty of trimming Mr. Vance is an ardent admirer of Goods. our town, and he is always welcomed here by his old friends and ac- stock is still complete.

Miss Johnston is a very popular and their 4th in Oakland. -T. J. Peddi- from 75c. well-known elocutionist of Cincin; cord, of Oakland, was in town on nati, and ought to have a good audi- Tuesday .- Mrs. John A. Peters, of Oakland, called on friends in town FOR SALE,-We have for sale one on Tuesday .- Miss Maude Andersecond-hand Singer sewing machine son, of Oakland, was the guest of also one second-hand Remington Miss Etta Loyenstein last week. — cents per. pound and Arbuckles cof- aries is "Sunday work," and there-Mrs. N. C. Guthrie, of Bloomington, fee at 25 cents per pound go to fore comes within the purview of the at 6 o'clock Tuesday. Md., was yisiting her sister, Mrs. Shartzer's.

E. C. Jones, last week .- J. Ed Kildow, of Oakland, passed through

James M. Nvdegger, a Garrett County boy and a student at St. John's College, has been commended Capt, Jas. A. Hayden will remain by his instructor for his efficiency in military tactics. If a bill now pending in Congress is passed this will give him the opportunity to serve Uncle Sam on the frontier-that is if he wishes to do so.

DEATHS.

Monday, aged 5 months.

LEWIS .- Miss Mary E. Lewis, aged on last Friday, Deceased, whose home was in Washington, came here about six weeks ago to regain her health. Her body was taken to Washington and buried.

GARRETT.-Michael Garrett, Sr., departed this life on Sunday, July, 13, transaction of business. 1890, at 5 p'clock p. m. Deceased was taken ill at 7 o'clock Sunday morning and suffered considerably until his death. The cause of his death was stomach trouble. He lived on his farm, about one mile northeast of Deer Park. He leaves six ters, all grown, and his aged wife to and taken to St. Peters church, where Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hyde returned a requiem mass was said by Rev. R. from Brandonville, W. Va., on Mon- Mattingly, and from thence were borne to the Catholic Cemetery and preciative increase in the past week, lorget the place,-on Railroad street, but we want THE REPUBLICAN to at Felty & Co.'s. be read in every home in Garrett you. We are prepared and will do in Oakland for same. it as cheap as anyone who turns out first-class work.

Strayed.

knowing anything of the above will please communicate with JACOB GNAGEY.

6 28 4t Grantsville, Md.

Last Notice to Debtors, Desiring to close up all accounts due me on account of subscription, advertising or job work, all persons Mrs. Howe, of Rowlesburg, was indebted to me are requested to call fo 7.30 P. M. The Sunday hours are in our city Sunday morning. She and settle at ouce. I desire to at- from 8 until 9 a. m., and from 5.30 to tend to this matter in person, and 6.30 p. m. will place accounts in the hands of an attorney only after failing to obtain a settlement in any other way. We have made arrangements to here Mr. C. made us a very pleasant Friends, do the best you can, and I will do anything in reason in the way of indulgence.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Normal School.

Oakland Division of County Normal should make early application to the Principal. Arrangements have been made to furnish board, &c., at low rates. Expenses need not exceed W. A. Wortman and family, of those formerly paid at Accident, Cambridge, Ohio, arrived in the city | Special advantages will be offered in Sunday night. They will remain in addition to a thorough course in ers Manning of Lonaconing, and County Examiner's requirements. Classes will be formed on request of mon will be preached by Dr. Chap sics or sciences.

J. NEWMAN.

Principal.

Excursions to Baltimore. The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore Lawyer T. J. Peddicord went to from all stations on its lines between at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. A. Dunlap. Kingwood Tuesday on professional Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and business. Mr. P. has an extensive Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday, Dunlap. practice in the courts of Preston Co. Thursday and Saturday of each week valid going on all trains on day of S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. sale and valid returning on all trains until following day inclusive, and every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M., from stations South and West of except the second Sunday of each Harper's Ferry, they will be valid Dr. W. K. Boyle, editor of the returning for three days including Parasols and Sun Umbrellas. We have just opened an elegant them 40 per cent less than they can them after a big fire, Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset.

We can offer the best bargains in Hats, Flowers, and all Millinery

You should come at once while our All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats.

Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced

M. L. SCOTT, Baltimore Store. Oakland, Md.

Befalls the 13 Year-Old Son of Mahlon Glotfelty, of Near McHeury.

them in position. At last accounts the lad was on a fair way to recovery.

on Monday, July 21, 1890, for the

By order of Commander,

H. Low, Adj't. A colored camp meeting will be held in Friendsville, commencing on Sunday July 20, and continuing until Monday, July 28. A splendid children, four sons and two daugh. choir of Jubilee Singers have been engaged to sing and good sermons mourn his loss. His remains were will be delivered by the ministers who will be present. Come and brought to Oakland on Wednesday, who will be present. Come and grounds. This organization is just a mountain breeze.

COMMITTEE.

Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and always find there the best and cheap-Our subscription list shows an ap- the gardens every morning. Don't val.

We make special drives on water melens and cantelepes. Fruits of all We want to do your printing for kinds in season. The cheapest place

FELTY & Co.

The pall-bearers Chas. Tower, Mahlon Hinebaugh, D. E. Offutt, Jr., Harry West, Edward Sharpes and Edward Bartlett.

Postoffice Hours.

daily except Sunday, from 7 A. M. A Grand Pienic

COMMITTEE. 2t

St. Dominic's Church at Hoyes, Garrett Co. Md., will be dedicated on Sanday, August the 10th by Very Brennan of Cumberland. The Serwill begin at 11 o'clock in the morn-

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev, C. E. Clark, Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching Deer Park 101 A. M., by Rev. J.A.

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching

Mr. George L. Wellington, United States sub-treasurer at Baltimore has received notice from Secretary of the Treasury Windom that his commission is ready for him. Mr. Wellingleft for Washington the same night. Alleghany county as follows: Hon.

penal amount of the bond is $150,000, but the bondsmen were required to justify in double that amount, $300,- professional Sunday baseball. The next, decision of Chief Judge James Mc-If you want granulated sugar at 7 who are under contract at stated sal- the shade Tuesday. prohibitory statute.

will continue until their works are straw hats at half price. J. J. Whetstone was called home

The Cranesvitle and McHenry C. & O. R. R., when extended, will near Oakland.

The colored bretheren of Connells ville, accompanied by juvenite singers, will hold a two weeks campmaeting here, beginning about the 20th.

The Sunday-schools of Connellsville, Ohio Pyle and Confluence will hold a pienic here on the 26th.

The Friendsvitle Cornet Band Irven Beals, Director,) will hold a festival here on the afternoon and evening of July 24th. All are cor dially invited to attend. It is hoped there will be a general turnout, as a very good time is expected. The festival will be held under tent, in a grove just out of town. There will be refreshments for all on the young one, having been organized only about three months and has made progress that cannot be excelled by any of its age. They have the interred. His age was about 82 years. Melons at headquarters. You will very highest praise of all who have heard them, and we trust they will est. They receive fresh supplies from have a hearty support in their festi-

Mountain Lake Park.

The West Virginia Republican Central Committee met here Monday at the Allegheny House, Chairman Cowden presiding. Eleven of the thirteen members of the committee were present, as large an attend-The funeral of Geo. E. Merrill ance as there has been in the history fred Lohr's, in Dist. No. 1, on or ial (Presbyterian) church on Friday mittee, were present General Goff, Prof. E. A. Browning is visiting under bit out of each ear. Any one George was a favorite with all. The gressmen Atkinson and Smith. The flowers on the coffin and at the grave | State Convention to name a nominee for Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals was called to meet in Martinsburg, August 20.

> Chairman Cowden resigned on account of the official position he holds. His resignation was accepted in a resolution bearing testimony to his nineteen years of faithful and efficient service as Secretary and Chairman of the Committee. Hon. Augustus Pollack, of Ohio County, was elected to fill the yacancy and made Chairman of the Central and Execuurday, July 26, in McLean Grove, tive Committees. Reports from most Music by the DeWitt string band. of the counties in the State were received, all of them showing a deep grand time is anticipated. Plenty of interest in the party's success. There refreshments on the grounds. Come is a great demand for documents. Teachers who expect to attend the one, come all and have a good time. particularly on the tariff question, and this demand the Committee will > > endeavor to satisfy. Our great camp meeting closed Monday night with the best results that we have ever had. The attendance was much larger than at any

An association was formed here Monday by the Western Pennsylvania people for the purpose of arteachers for evening studies in clasdate their people next year who are so anxious to attend the meetings. A plan is now on foot to help the ministers who have not been able to provide for their entertainment.

> The families are still dropping in for the season.

get here; to send them here and

The stock holders met Tuesday in annual session. Wednesday the community hold their annual election, and plan for the improvements for next year. On next Thursday the English Lutheran Sunday School will be here from Cumberland to have a picnic. On Tuesday, July 22, the W. C. T.

here which promises to be the best session of any preceeding. Mr. C. C. Hart, of Wheeling, and W. A. Campbell, were with us this

U. Inter-State Conference begins

Mrs. J. F. Pullen, of Baltimore. arrived with her family Tuesday eyening to spend the season in the Beall cottage Mr. A. B. Crane was here yester-R. Percy and David Sloan. The day looking after a cottage for the

Mrs. C. B. Buel was here Wednesday arranging for the conference which begins next Tuesday at 3 FREDERICK, MD., July 16 .- The o'clock. The ladies of the Union will State of Maryland can have no more have a lawn fete on Friday evening

Rev. C. W. Baldwin, of Washing-Sherry in the case of Manager Wm, ton, D. C.; Dr. Sumner Stone, of Barnie, of the Baltimore baseball New York; Dr. T. Stone, of Wheel- MONDAY, the 4th of AUGUST. club, for Snuday ball playing, was ing, and Mr. Weaver, of Moundsrendered vesterday. The judge con- ville, were on the grounds Tuesday. cluded that baseball playing by men | The thermometer registered 82 in

The Brick Company are about

Shartzer is selling a fine suit of clothing for $7; Blue Flanell suits ready to begin shipping fire clay and |$4; all summer goods at cost; 200

> in the Post Office at Oakland, Gartley, Miss M.,

Miss Lara A., Mrs. Ed. F., s. Ed. F., Lewis, Thos., Lanterbaug, Barbrey., s., Martin, Eliza., rg, Mrs, S.A. McMagee, Miss F, S., J. R., Magee, Susle, Miss Mary, Pierce, W. H., C., Porter, M. S., nes, J. Winslow., Schmitt, Ewall, Stoetzer, H. G., Persons calling for them will please

F. A. THAVED P. M. Tuesday morning, at Hagerstown, cases in the hands of the Circuit Court for final hearing and decree. It is understood that the Attorney. General will maintain at the hearing on the 12th of August, at Hagerstown, the same views presented to the court last winter, that is that a sale of the canal to the highest bidder is the only mode of dealing fairly with the subject, considering the interest of the State and all other creditors. It is likely that such a solu-

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers'

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS?

APP PRINCA

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU* TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and

My Motto." -Also dealer in-Books Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hocks,

AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varanishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsawhere.

German and English Spoken.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fieri facias saued out of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, being No. 2 Judicials, July Term, 890, at the suit of the Mayor and Common Council of Deer Park vs. Sarah Perry, I did cize, levy upon and take into execution by un actual entry upon the premises on the 26th lay of May, 1890, all the right, title, interest und estate of the said Sarah Perry in and to ots Nos. 2 and 11 in the town of Deer Park, Sarrett County, Maryland, and I hereby give notice that n front of Mrs. Taggart's Hotel in the fown of Oakhand at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of said day I will proceed to sell said east icetate t public auction to the highest bidder, for each to satisfy said east least of the process. E. N. CASTEEL, Sheriff.

ON SATURDAY, THE 2ND DAY

GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD, Scenery Unsurpassed.

> Proprietor. NORMAL SCHOOLS.

JOHN B. DEAKINS.

1890, and continue for a term of ten weeks. The tuition will be 85.00 for 2nd grade bran-ches, and 86.00 for students taking up both ist and 2nd grade branches.

WM. HINEBAUGH, Secretary.

Notes About Our People at Home and town Tuesday .- Terra Alla Times. The venerable Jos. B. Davis is still

Lawyer Sincell was in Cumberland

Rev. Hughes, of Buckhannon, was in this city Wednesday.

Miss Mattie Adair, of Terra Alta, spent Monday in our city.

Hon. John P. Jones, of Terra Alta, Dr. John Daily, of Westernport, Drnggist Henry J. Mayers has been confined to his room this week.

Rev. Thos. Clark, of West Va., is

We noticed Col. John D. Rigg, of County.

Davis, Tucker County, W. Va., on last Sunday.

Rev. J. C. Rexroad and wife, of Aurora, and Mrs. J. A. Bartlett, of Wellsville, Ohio, were visiting at is a very pleasant as well as intelliobliging barber, is now prepared to Hon. Wilson Vance and family, of

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Lakin spent

A HORRIBLE AUCIDENT

On last Thursday evening about 6 built here. elock, Frank Glotfelty, aged 13 years, son of Mahlon Glotfelty, who on Monday on account of the serious lives near McHenry, this county, illness of his wife, but, we are glad to rett county, Md., for week ending met with a horrible accident. As the say, she is better and he has since boy was passing a belt that connected returned. some machinery with the shaft on his father's saw mill his right arm heaviest hay crop we have had for was caught by the belt and com- years. pletely torn off about three inches below the shoulder joint. Dr. Hen- cor espondents are both off. The KING .- Mary, daughter of W. F. ry W. McComas was called and perand Ella King, died in Oakland on formed a very delicate operation. follow the Yough river to a point on He disarticulated the shoulder joint the main line of the B. & O. at or and made flaps from the flesh on the about 65 years, died at Hotel Hagans, bones of the shoulder and stitched boy's side and back, covering the

> Crook Post, No. 35, G. A. R., will meet in special session at their hall

Rail Road St.

From the Mountain range near At- took place from the Garrett Memor- of the committee. Besides the comabout May 20, 1890, five two-year-old last. The church, which is a large A. W. Campbell, John W. Mason, heifers and two 2-year-old steers. An one, was literally filled, showing that A. B. White, C. H. Payne and Conwere very handsome and abundant.

Tre Oakland postoffice is open

Will be held at McHenry, on Sat-Miss Nellie will pick the banjo. A Church Dedication.

Rev. Dr. Chapelle, assisted by Fath. previous year.

until August 5th. Tickets will be every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F.

month. line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell ton Tuesday completed his bond and be bought elsewhere, as we bought His bondsmen are all citizens of Llovd Lowndes, O. C. Gephart, James Clark, Anthony Kean, Wm.

List of letters remaining unclaimed July 12, 1890: Farmers are busy storing away the

Miss Betsy., Rogers,

ay they are advertised.

the State of Maryland, by the attorney-general, acting under the direction of the board of public works. withdrew the appeals in the cases of George S. Brown and others against the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company and others. This leaves the tion of the difficulty is about to be reached.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

Successor to W. D. Nydegger. IF YOU WANT

served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes Buckets, Baskets. Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands. Razors, etc.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

OF AUGUST, 1890.

FERNLEIGH MANOR IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS. Splendid Accommodations.

OFFICE OF THE
BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD., July 9th, 1890.
There will be three Normal Schools in Garrett County this summer, viz: At Oakland, in charge of Prof. J. Newman, Accident, by Prof. Ephralm Lee, and at Grantsville by Prof. E. A. Browning. Said schools to open on

COMPENSATIONS.

The morning comes with bitter winds that Along the street a swirling mass of snow; But evening brings, from low rifts upward rolled

The radiant glory of the sunset's gold. One finds the day with weary labor long, While close at hand he hears an idler's song That leaves an echo, but his work ren To greet new people's rushing down the plains

A sturdy ship, in seas that wildly toss

thern tempests surge the waves across,
Makes desperate battle till the night is done, And finds at morn the long-sought haven won. When autumn's heavy footsteps lingering pass Above the fallen leaves and withered grass, Beneath the rustling garments, trailing slow, The buds of violets to perfection grow.

Swift as the thought that sweeps the star-spent Death's arrow to its work unerring flies and finds that Love, with prescience as fleet, On the chill lips has laid his message sweet.

No wearing toil, no hours of bitter pain, Come to the world unknowing joy or gain; And life, with all its weary waste, will prove The pathway leading to a radiant love. nas S. Collier, in Springfield (Mass.) Re-

HIS WIFE'S FORTUNE.

A Charming Little Romance with a Moral.

"Have you heard the news about Miss Temple, Ned?" said Charley Ashton, as he sauntered leisurely up to the desk which Edward Farnham occupied in Messrs. Smith & Jones' office on Wall

The warm blood colored Ned's cheek in spite of all his struggles to prevent it, and he replied:

"No; I hope no harm." "Well, I should guess it wasn't. Come, put up you books, and as we go up town I'll tell you." "No; I can not leave yet. I have not finished my balance "Oh, pshaw! finish that to-morrow before ten o'clock. I wouldn't work as hard as you for any man living, much less bankers, who think that all a fellow is made for is to work and make money for them. Come along."

"No, I can not go." "Well, then, the tale in short is she's had a big fortune left her, some say

An involuntary sigh escaped Ned, and he rather muttered than spoke: "I'm sorry to hear it."

"Why, what's got into you, you ninny? Sorry? Why, I haven't heard any thing to please me so much in many a day. I always liked the girl, but I'm not philosopher enough to marry for love alone. My doctrine is when poverty comes in at the window love goes out at the door."

"I am afraid I don't agree with you in all things, but I have no time to discuss it now. Miss Temple, in my opinion, would be a fortune to any man did she not possess a cent of money."

"Pshaw! that's old fogy. Love in a cottage! Ha! ha! Well, I liked her cottage! Ha! ha! well, I liked her drop all such foolish ideas."

When poverty comes in at the cottage! Ha! ha! well, I liked her drop all such foolish ideas." enlarged since I heard that news. Never should have thought of any thing but a pleasant acquaintance; guess I'll go in for her now. Good-bye, old fell, and the park that afternoon, but the evendon't hurt yourself working over those

Ned made no reply, but he felt as if he would like to grind beneath his heel one who could speak so irreverently of grace of heart and mind and perfection of form and feature which should make turned to action, and he caught himself stamping his heel on the desk stool with such force as almost to dent a hole in it, and looking up saw Mr. Smith's steady gaze fixed on him. Back to his work he tried to bring his thoughts, but they were not subject to his will, and he found himself in great danger of writing the thoughts passing through his mind. "She is lost to me now. Oh, how I wish it had never happened!" He shut the book, but put away his papers, and with that dreary, lost, far-away kind of look passed unheedingly among the throng on the money mart of the new world.

Charley Ashton lost no time in improving his opportunities, for that night found him seated tete-a-tete with Miss Temple in a cosy little room in Twentyfirst street.

Miss Temple was an orphan, and had for years lived with an aunt-her father's sister. An income of $400 a year had been left her, which at least supplied all absolutely necessary wants. She was not ashamed to assist her aunt about many things some would call menial; and in form and feature, heart and mind, all her acquaintances said, fully sustained the high opinion we have seen Ned Farnham had of her. Ere the evening was over Charley Ashton had succeeded in appearing deeply in love, and not many days passed ere he had proposed and was acpted. Of all her male acquaintances Miss Temple had always preferred the two young men we have mentioned. It was true she had rather leaned to the quiet, steady Mr. Farnham, but of late he had ceased to visit her, while Mr. Ashton's presence had been almost constant. Hence she had persuaded herself that she loved and had accepted

Charley urged a speedy marriage, why, came in a conversation too long for me to detail, wherein it appeared that some of the "boys" on the "street" were fixing up a pool to buy up a certain stock, and our friend Aston wanted some of the $500,000 to put in it. Anna Temple preferred a longer time, urged that time would make them know each other better, especially in the intimate relation they new stood. Charley vowed that he would never change, and he knew that time could never develop any fault

"But," said Miss Temple, "there is another reason, and I think I can be nounce you as a partner in our house. free with you now. I have spent so -Boston Globe. much of my little income, and aunt has no stare money, so that I have no means of defraying the necessary ex-

"But you have the fortune left you by your Australian uncle, and even if you thing my credit is good for .- Puck.

have not received it your agents will certainly make an advance.

"I have no fortune, dear Charley. ome thought it was mine, but the fortune you probably allude to was left to my cousin, Miss Anna Thompson Temole, to whom I introduced you at the Philharmonic." "Ah, it was, indeed! She is a favored

"Report said $500,000, but Cousin Nan has been informed by the agents that there is but $10,000 in money, and the rest in houses and lots in Melbourne, valued at $90,000,"

Miss Anna, you had best have your

The hours of that evening dragged Mr. Charles Ashton's manner became more and more formal. He left, and Anna's warm heart was sad as she he can possibly hold at the same time. thought over the cool manner and cooler parting. No sleep came to her eyes that night.

"Can it be?" she said to herself a thousand times; "and yet it must, for his manner changed almost from my telling him of Nellie's fortune."

The next night and Charlie was not in his usual place, and the next, and still more. About a week afterward a short note informed Miss Temple that, "having lost all his savings in a bad speculation, he could not think of holding her to an engagement which would be out of his power to consummate in years.

To say this did not grieve her would be false, but it required not many days to teach her that she had not loved Charles Ashton as she should the man she was to marry.

Again our two young men met. This time on Broadway. Charley, gayly sauntering along, hailed Ned in his old familiar way

"Well, old boy, off early to-day?" "I've been promoted, and am no obliged to work so late, though I do often; then I think of taking a ride in the park; my head has ached much of late, and I am more nervous than formerly."

"Shouldn't work so hard; don't get any thanks for it. By the by, that fortune of Miss Temple's turns out to be all in my eye.

"How-what's that?" was the eager reply. "Well, a Miss Somebody Temple had about one hundred thousand dollars left her, but it wasn't our pretty little friend." "But I heard you were very attentive

-some said engaged."
"There's no telling what might have been but for that fool of an uncle making a mistake in names. However, it's all over now. You know that I, at least, can't afford to marry a poor woman, no matter if she is a Peri. I know you entertain some sort of foolish notion that love, etc., will do, but it's all bosh. Give me the dimes, my boy.

the lamp-post for all the hearing Ned Farnham did. What he was thinking of we can not say, but he did not go to ing found him in the little parlor, which had been so often graced by Charley's presence. Ere the evening was over he had explained his long absence, told of his better prospects, and had offered her her, who, to his idea, combined every his heart and hand. She asked three say, provided we have the mordant in weeks to consider, he to visit her as often as he pleased. At the end of that > what true love was. Here the story might end, but there is a sequel. Some months after the engagement Mr. Smith tapped Ned on the shoulder and motioned him to the private office. "Going to marry my niece?" said that gentleman.

"I am engaged to Miss Anna Temple sir, and we expect, in a quiet way, to be married one mouth from to-day. But was not aware that she was your niece.' "Neither was I until a few days since. As for your quiet way, understand me, sir-the child of my only sister can be married nowhere else but in my house. Come, now, no flinching. I've heard all about it. But she's poor-poor as Job's turkey; and I've too many children to give her more than a decent wedding." Ned did not understand the expres on on Mr. Smith's face, but felt a lit tle angered, and replied: "I should never have addressed her. and I would release her this moment, if I knew she were an heiress." "No you don't; no you don't. I know you and I know the whole story. You Ned pondered long over this singular conversation, but got no satisfaction from his own thoughts or from Anna. She replied only by a smile and a kiss. Notwithstanding all the urging of her new-found uncle Anna refused to leave her aunt until the time for the wedding. That event came and the ceremony was over. Then Mr. Smith called the young couple into his library, and drawing from his safe a strong box,

said:

"Now, young man, you're tied hard and fast, I'll tell you, you have got an heiress and a rich one, too. A foolish brother of her father, who would go to Australia, took it into his head to die, not long since, and left such a botchedup will, that it has taken over six months to get at the straight of it. We were his agents and kept the matter to ourselves because it was a large sum and might create impostors. We soon disposed of the smaller legacy of $100, 000 to Miss Anna Thompson Temple but the contents of this box, £100,000. in consols, we used more scrutiny in assigning, and in the course of our in vestigations I not only found the right ful owner of our trust, but the child of my only sister. Sir, you are worthy of her and what is of less value, her fortune. The morning papers will an-

Melancholy Days. Bob Easy-Cheer up, Jack. shouldn't borrow trouble. Jack Short-Humph! It's the only

HUNGERING FOR BOOKS.

The Greed of the Man Whose Appetite Reading Has Become Or

I have a picture hanging in my library, a lithograph, of which many of my readers may have seen copies. It represents a gray-baired old book-lover at the top of a long flight of steps. He young lady; and how much does she re- finds himself in clover, so to speak, among rare old editions, books he has onged to look upon and never seen before, rarities, precious old volumes incunabula cradle-books, printed while the art was in its infancy-its glorious infancy, for it was born a giant. The "Ah! well, really, how these things old bookworm is so intoxicated with the do spread. But to our matter; I guess sight and handling of the priceless treasures that he can not bear to put one of the volumes back after he has taker it from the shelf. So there he standsheavily along, and as they lengthened one book open in his hands, a volume under each arm, and one or more be tween his legs-loaded with as many as

Now, that is just the way in which he extreme form of book-hunger shows

itself in the reader whose appotite has ecome over developed. He wants to read so many books that he over-crams himself with the crude materials of knowledge, which becomes knowledge only when the mental digestion has time o assimilate them. I never can go into that famous "corner bookstore" and look over the new books in the row before ne, as I enter the door, without seeing alf a dozen which I want to read, or at east to know something about. I can not empty my purse of its contents, and growd my book shelves with all those volumes. The titles of many of them interest me. I look into one or two. perhaps. I have sometimes picked up a ine or a sentence, in these momentary glances between the uncut leaves of a new book, which I have never forgotten. Asatrivial but bona file example, one day opened a book on duelling. I remember only these words: "Conservons-la, cette node institution." I had never before seen luelling called a noble institution, and I wish I had taken the name of the book. Book-tasting is not necessarily profitless, but it is very stimulating, and nakes one hungry for more than he needs for the nourishment of his thinkng-marrow. To feed this insatiable unger, the abstracts, the reviews, do year was 44,730. their best. But these, again, have grown so numerous and so crowded with matter that it .s harl to find time to naster their contents. We are accustomed, therefore, to bok for analyses of hese periodicals, and at last we have before us a formidable-looking nonthly, The Reviewof Reviews. After the analyses comes the newspaper notice; and there is still room for the epigram, which sometimes makes short work with all that has gone before on the same subject. It is just as well to recognize the fact confining himself to his own language, he could not pretend to keep up with the press. He might as well try to race with a locomotive. The first discipline, therefore, is that of despair. If you could stick to your reading day and night for fifty years, what a learned idiot you would become long before the half-century was over! Well, then, there is no use in gorging one's self with knowledge, and no need of self-reproach because one is content to remain more or less ignorant of many things which interest his fellow-creatures. We get a good deal of knowledge through the atmosphere! we learn a great deal by accidentalhearour own consciousness which makes the wise remark, the significant fact, the up a perfect woman. His thoughts time he was accepted, and Anna learned instructive incident, take hold upon it. After the stage of despair comes the period of consolation. We soon find that we are not so much worse off than most of our neighbors as we supposed. The small numerator divided by an infinite knowledge. - Oliver

> Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic. BACK TO THE SENDER.

nominator of

Around-the-World Letters Will Not Be Forwarded Through the Mails. In some form or another the question is constantly being presented to the Post-Office Department by enterprising citizens who want to gratify their curitake a letter to go around the world in time ago a citizen of Bloomington, Ill., started a letter of this character on its journey, with the request written on the outside that postmasters would please hurry it along. It got as far as San Francisco and the postmaster there. being aware of the clause in the postal regulations-which, by the way, has been there since 1880-prohibiting the carrying in the mails of "postal cards or letters addressed to go around the world," forwarded the letter to this city. The acting superintendent of the foreign mails office, N. M. Brooks, promptly had the letter returned to the sender. and he informed the postmaster at San Francisco, as he has thousands of others since the year 1880, that in consequence of objections raised by the British and Hong Kong post departments, through es this class of correspondence would necessarily pass, it has been found necessary to discontinue forward-ing such mail matter. Under the rules pay was not large enough for the work done to engage in experiments for the gratification of idle curiosity.

Before this regulation was put in Before this regulation trip in about eighty days. - Washington

Net Damages. Railway Clerk-Old man Brown wants sixty dollars for that cow of his we killed up the road four months ago.

Superintendent—Has he got a lawyer? Clerk-No. sir. Superintendent-Send him fifteen, with a compliment on his good sense. That's more than he'd have got any other way .- Puck.

-If you insist on your dressmaker facing your gowns with velvet or velveteen instead of braid, you will lessen your shoemaker's bills and be saved from the purple blemish on the instep caused by the movements of the skirts in walking.-Boston Budget.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-In nearly all Russian factories the employes are required to work thirteen hours per day. -It is estimated that St. Louis manu-ctures more wagons than any city in the country. -The explanation of the peculiar density of thunder clouds is said to lie in the fact that the vapor is partially ondensed into drops by the electrical action.

-Besides being much more expediprocess turns out leather having seventeen per cent. more tensile strength than that tanned by the ordinary pro--Pasteur has told Miss Kate Mars-successful in the treatment of leprosy. are supposed to be displaced, counting of property. three barrels of oil as the equivalent of one ton of coal. that while electricity is an unquestioned was generally acknowledged that a lad street car propulsion, its use instead of do better to enter a store or countingmust be postponed at least until many college the seven important years bemore improvements have been made in electric engineering. the telephone has been invented for the by his non-collegiate competitors, but study of heart and pulmonary sounds. Some of these contained a diaphragm tastes, predilections and points of view, alone, and others had the electrical but ill adapted to success in business. attachment. None of them have so far It was, perhaps, the belief once current fulfilled our expectations. There is room in the disqualification of highly edufor inventive genius in this field. - West- cated young men for business pursuits ern Rural. Phonography is fast becoming one of the standard branches of education in the latter tells us in his "Recollec-Great Britain. From returns made, tions"): though incomplete, it appears that in the first quarter of this year the teachers of phonography had under instruction in the whole of Great Britain 34,-739 males and 3,028 females, making a total of 37,767, while the number under instruction during the whole of last

-In the line of fire proof construction a Philadelphia architect has the honor of introducing the latest novelty. His specifications for a large ten-story apartment house now building in that city call for floors of asphalt with a skirting of strips of wood adjoining the partitions embedded in the asphalt and level with its surface. It is intended to lay the carpets on the asphalt and tack the edges to the wooden strips .-Fire and Water.

-A summary of vessels built during the year 1889 gives a total of 1,286,679 tons for British ports and 46,210 reported from continental yards. Northeastern ports head the British list with 717,699 tons, the Clyde standing second with 335,201 tons, and Belfast next with 79,855 tons. The exports of engines and machinery were the largest ever recorded in the history of British commerce, namely, £15,254,658, against £12,-934,625 in 1888, an increase of £2,322,033. Taking simply steam engines and parts thereof, the Argentine Republic was the largest customer last year, taking £610,296 worth.

A BOSTON EPISODE. The Sad Experience of a Man Who Was

Civil to a Woman. The Rev. E. E. Hale writes in the New England Magazine: This time, Miss Reader, we will not try a spinner; there are no spinners in front of the Vendome. Let us take the more decorous and slower horse-car. And will you tell me. Miss Reader, how the ladies fractional value of the wisest shows a behave whom you meet in horse-cars in Fort Wrangel? There is rather a curious observation made as to the breeding of Boston women. Just read these lines, which I received yesterday from one of the most charming women whom I have the pleasure of knowing: "My experiences with Boston women to whom I have been introduced have been very charming in most cases; but my experiences in shops, cars and streets have several persons have been drowned in been otherwise, and would fill a volume. the Withlacooche river while diving osity by ascertaining how long it would I have been a stranger in New York, San Francisco and Boston, and have the regular mail channels. A short lived in the three cities. In the first his case was a very peculiar one. A two I have asked for information, and offered small courtesies to total strangers-women-with the pleasantest re- an extraordinary bone or tooth was dissults, in no case meeting with discourtesy. But my Boston experience has taught me never to ask a question, or bone and dived for it, but remained at try to help a well-dressed woman, even the bottom. Waiting a few moments when I know her to belong to 'one of and seeing his body at the bottom, grasthe best families.""

I have these lines in my pocket, as you see, and I read them to you because surface. As he came up a huge horn or the last time I was on this line an intertusk was seen sticking out of his head. esting thing happened. A young woman, stopped the car that she might leave it. down town to buy. I saw it fall and It had pierced his brain, causing instant touched her and told her that she had death. The tusk was over four feet dropped her parcel. But, unfortunately, long." I had never been presented to her; we had not danced together at Papanti's, nor were we members of the same club. She, therefore, looked at me with the of the postal union such matter can go around the world for one postage, and these governments concluded that the as if I had struck her in the face, and in this way expressed her indignation that any man should have addressed her who had not the honor of her acquaintance. I am, however, sixty-eight years old, force, however, several around-the-world letters were received at the for-eign mails office which had made the boy does. So I said very pleasantly, "You have dropped your parcel, and it is under your feet." Again she resented the insult with a look-not with a word, observe-and swung out of the car, dragging the parcel after her by her dress. so that it fell in the mud in the street. There the next horse that came along trod upon it, I suppose, and I suppose what is left of it is there now. I am free to say I think it was good enough for her.

Romance and Reality. Stranger-So that man is the village poet? What is he doing now? Resident-He's taking in the beautie of nature. Stranger-Who is that woman at work over there by the house?

Resident—O, that's his wife. She's Express. taking in washing .- Chicago Globe.

COLLEGE TRAINING.

It Is No Longer Inimical to Success is Business Life.

A good deal of discussion has been excited by Mr. Andrew Carnegie's declaration that, so far as his observation, goes, college-bred young men are not apt to succeed in business. Assuming that the purpose of business is to make money, he says that a coilege graduate does not fulfill it so quickly or so surely as one who goes into business immediately upon leaving school. There was a time, no doubt, when no one would tious in its works the electrical tanning have disputed the assertion. The original aim of universities was to fit young men for the church, and up to the beginning of this century, such colleges as Harvard, Yale and Princeton so far conformed to the mediaval conception den, who has been investigating leprosy of their functions, that a majority of in Russia, that he can see no ground of their graduates were intended for the hope of making the inoculation process | ministry and entered upon its duties. Even those who chose the professions -About 5,000 barrels per day of crude of medicine or law were largely impelled petroleum are consumed for fuel in by other than pecuniary motives, and Chicago. In the use of this oil for fuel did not contemplate rivalry with busiabout 500,000 tons of soft coal per annum ness men as regards the accumulation

In the days when a college curriculum was mainly confined to Greek, -Leading authorities seem to agree Latin and the higher mathematics, it success as a substitute for horses in looking forward to a business life would steam locomotives on ordinary railroads room at an early age than to spend at tween fourteen and twenty-one. only would the graduate find it difficult -A stethoscope upon the principle of to make up for the long start acquired he would be handicapped by habits, that led the elder James Gordon Bennett to say to Mr. George W. Childs (as > have rich parents. If you and I had been born hat way, perhaps we wouldn't have amounted

In this country, however, and to a onsiderable extent in England, the purposes and methods of college educaion have undergone a process of re-adadjustment during the present generation. The results of the changes in the aim and the curriculum of universities are not yet so ma nifest as they will be later, but we may already predict with confidence that the Carnegies of the future will have comparatively little ground for pronouncing a college training unsuited to business success. To make clergymen has ceased to be the primary purpose of our chief institutions of learning. They are rather designed to qualify young men for effective exertion in whatever vocation they may choose to enter.

first to effect a general stimulation and discipline of the mental faculties; and, secondly, to supply instruction through elective courses in subjects specially adapted to secure advancement in the particular vocation to which a young man looks forward. The time which formerly a lad must have expended upon Greek, he can now devote to civil engineering or to electricity and chemistry, whose relations to industry are manifold, direct and obvious. Moreover, the spirit of undergraduate life, as might be expected, now that studies are adjusted to post-graduate intentions, has become less academical and more practical. Instead of being, what it used to be, a microcosm sequestered from prosaic bread-earning existence and having scarcely any points of contact with it, the college has become a vestibule of the outdoor world. Universities, in fine, have recognized the necessity of such radical reconstruction of their programmes and processes as shall make education not merely an intellectual gymnastic but a specific and substantial promoter of advancement in any career. - N. Y. Ledger. Remarkable Cause of Death. The Sumterville (Fla.) Times tells a remarkable story in connection with the phosphate excitement. It says that for hidden treasures. "A colored man named Abrams is the last victim, and party was sounding the bottom of the Withlacooche for phosphate, and when covered Abrams would dive down and bring it up. At last he saw a very large pling-hooks were obtained by his comrades and his body was brought to the Upon examination it was found that in a little over-dressed, if you please, diving he had struck head first a huge elephant's tusk that was standing on She dropped the parcel she had been the river's bed in an upright position.

Biddy Creates a Sensation.

A short time ago a family living on State street extension hired a green servant. She was told by her mistress to wash the second-story windows. She had seen the way in which that labor was performed by the neighboring servants, and was all right as far as washing the outside of the windows was concerned. When that part of the job had been finished, it occurred to her that the proper thing was to wash the inside in the same way. What was the surprise and edification of the passers by to see a pair of generously proportioned nether limbs, clad in brilliantly striped hosiery, dangling from the outside of the windoow, with the owner blissfully unconscious of the sensation she was creating. The lady of the house saw the crowd collecting and went out to see what was the matter. Looking upward the queer spectacle met her gaze. and horrified she rushed in Shocked doors and called the domestic to the lower household regions.-Bridgeport (Conn.) Farmer.

-Sometimes 2 man is a hard-working man and then again sometimes he is only a hard workingman .- Terre Haute FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-When one is fatigued and foot-sore rom much walking it is very refreshing bathe the feet in warm water and rub hem with extract of arnica. -Old Homestead.

-It is convenient to have an ironholder attached by a long string to the band of the apron when cooking; it saves burned fingers or scorched aprons, and is always at hand .- Good House-

-If you want a lovely odor in your rooms, break off branches of the Norway spruce and arrange them in a large jug well filled with water. In a few days tender, pale green branches feather out, soft and cool to the touch, and giving the delightful health-giving odor .-

Scientific American. -Pie-plant Sauce, baked: Cut into small pieces after washing and leave the skin on. Lay in an earthen pudding dish, sprinkling lavishly with sugar during the process. Cover and bake in a moderate oven. Cooked this way it requires no water, and is nicer than when stewed in the ordinary way .- The

-Baked Whitefish: Clean the fish, cut it open in the back, remove the back-bone and lay it in a buttered dripping-pan, the skin side down. Season with salt and pepper as for the table, dot it with bits of butter, drop a little lemon juice over it, pour in half a teacupful water at the side, but not over the fish, and bake in a hot oven twenty to thirty minutes according to size .-

Orange Judd Farmer. -Orange Marmalade: Wash and wipe the oranges, peel and put the peeling in a kettle with a little water, boil several hours; cut the oranges and squeeze the juice and pulp in a kettle; drain the water from the peel, and pound it fine, put with the juice, to which add a pound of sugar for every pint of juice; boil one hour, when it should be thick and solid, Put in little cups and cover with paper,

-Ladies' Home Journal. -A Good Dressing for Sandwiches: One-half pound of nice butter, two tablespoonfuls of prepared mustard, two tablespoonfuls of salad oil, a little cayenne, a little salt, the yelk of one eggt rub the butter to a cream; add the other ingredients and mix thoroughly; add the last thing a teaspoonful of lemonjuice, if desired; set away to cool; spread the bread with this dressing and add the ham chopped fine.—Boston Herald. -Quite a handsome and serviceable rug can be easily made by knitting in coarse tapestry wool strips from four to six inches wide, choosing the softer tones of color that will harmonize side by side. Wood browns, old reds, old blues, olives, and ecrus are handsome. Make some strips to go at ends, and some for sides, fitting them so as to form oblongs Overcast or crochet them altogether to form your rug; then finish all around by wide band of dark brown or black astrakhan cloth. One can even atilize in this way astrakhan that has seen ome service as trimming. - Yankee OBJECTS OF EATING, TO How the Body Octains Its Supplies of Warmth and Strength.

We eat for warmth and strength; hence almost all articles of food have both these elements; have carbon to warm, and nitrogen to strengthen, to give power to work. Butter, sugar and oils are almost all carbon. Meats, flesh of all kinds abound in nitrogen. Food which has most nitrogen is most "nutritious." Butter has 83 per cent. of carbon and no nitrogen; an egg has no carbon and 20 per cent, of nitrogen. Milk contains two parts of warmth and one of strength. Bread contains one part of nitrogen and eight of carbon. It is thus seen that in reference to eating, carbon-which is charcoal fuel-and warmth are one and the same thing; while nitrogen-which is in effect saltpetre-gives flesh or muscle, which are one and the same thing in substance with strength. It is seen that most articles of food have more carbon or warmth than nitrogen or strength, showing that it takes more to keep us warm than to keep us strong. A sedentary person requires, in round numbers, about one pound of food a day, while a hard-working man requires two pounds; thus two pounds of food gives out power enough -as steam in an engine gives out power-to raise a man of average weight eleven miles high. But calling the two pounds 5,000 grains, only 300 grains of it are nitrogen, the remainder carbon; that is, sixteen times more of warmth is required than of strength-producing food. One practical result is, that as the world becomes more thickly populated, the necessity increases of economizing food; of adapting it to various needs of the sex, occupation and season. Persons living indoors should not eat more than half as much as those who work hard. Less warming food should be eaten in hot weather than in cold. If we eat an excess of warming food in hot weather we have to work it out the system at a great expenditure of strength; and until it is worked off we feel full and feverish and oppressed; on the other hand, in winter we require an additional quantity of warming food. hence our instincts lead us to eat heartily of pork and buckwheat cakes and butter and molasses, which are almost purely carbon. In warm weather we need cooling food and Providence sends us in profusion the fruits and berries and the green things, which have no carbon at all; and while our appetite for them is ravenous, the very idea of fatty food is nauseating.-Christian at Work. Keeps His Word. Wilson-Philson is a man who keeps his word, whatever else may be said of Bilson-Do you find him so? Wilson-Yes; he borrowed five dollars from me a year ago, and he said he'd never forget my kindness.

Bilson-And he hasn't? Wilson-No; every time he wants to borrow money he comes to me. -Harper's Bazar.

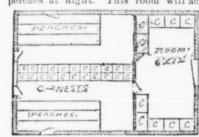

-A Georgia editor leads all the papers on the guessing schomes. It asks its readers to "guess who owes three years" subscription and refuses to pay it in sweet potatoes!"

A PORTABLE HENGERY.

It Is Cheap and Useful-It Is Also Easily Moved About, I have a hennery which for economy of space and capital goes ahead of any thing I ever saw. It is 12x18 feet. A partition runs across it six feet from one end, and from this partition to the other end another partition extends. They are made of slats which run from The manure is mixed with any thing of sloping board sixteen inches wide covers the nests and prevents the fowls from roosting on them. There is also a row of boxes beneath the nests for old lime, ashes, ground bone and oyster shells. The perches are placed under the nests and over a platform. The platform should not be more than six nches below the roost, so that the birds will be induced to occupy the perches at night. This room will accommodate fifty-two fowls. The room at the end may be used for sitters or for a duck-house. A ventilator has been placed in each end and comes to within one foot of the floor. For those who wish to keep a small number of poultry this is the house to build .- C. S. Metciff, in Home and Farm.

Home-Made Rennet.

I have always used home-prepared rennet; but would advise the purchase of liquid rennet extract. A calf's rennet should be turned, emptied of its contents, and slightly rinsed, and then set at about 90 degrees, and enough of the rennet should be added to bring the nitrogen can be made available. cheese in from 20 to 30 minutes. A litamount. If the rennet is good about a farmer who has passed away yet leaves tablespoonful for each five gallons of milk will be right. Stir thoroughly for two or three minutes when it is put in. When the cheese comes, it will look like clabbered milk, and should be carefully sliced with the strip of tin, cutpear in squares half an inch or so in size. Let it stand until the whey begins happen, I desire to inform your many to separate, and the curd settles out of readers who may usefully put the sight; then lift it gently from the bot- method in practice before any royalty tom and cut or break it into pieces not oan be charged them for the use of it. much larger than a thimble, and by . In these days of agricultural deprespouring hot water between the tubs raise the temperature to 100 degrees. Let the curd remain in the whey, stirring it gently occasionally to bring every part of it in contact with the whey, and to aerate it, until it develops a little acidity, and becomes firm enough so that it feels springy to the touch, and squeaks between the teeth; then dip it up and drain the whey off as rapidly as possible. The draining will saving and utilizing other wastes to be hastened by slicing the curd frequently, cutting it in narrow slices each way; then with the hand break it up and gather the corners of the cloth over it, and lay a weight on it; a small board and a stone can be used for the were mostly of wood, with iron shares, purpose. Three or four repetitions of this will reduce the bulk. Now cut it country blacksmiths was in sharpening into half-inch slices and spread them the worn points. In half-civilized counout a few minutes to cool, and it will tries the plows were of various forms, be ready for the press. - Rural New Yorker.

Prof. D. E. Lantz, in the Industrialist, is the idea that a branch which is to be removed should be cutone or two inches from the trunk, leaving a stub. An examination of the stubs two or three years later will reveal a dead place extending deeply into the wood, and doing permanent injury to the tree. On the other hand, a considerable branch may be removed from a thrifty tree, if cut close up to the trunk, and the scar will ent century in this country, was not is once started in a permanent place it ought not to be severely pruned. Durby Fig. 2. The wearing parts, except often a tendency to put out new shoots along the trunk. These must be removed, but they can be easily rubbed off when they first appear. If left there is a tendency of the part above these shoots to die. At least, they lack vigor and make little growth. A common mistake in pruning is to cut the tops out of large trees. The finest trees are those that less made of iron. It was one of this grow in the natural form. Any attempt character, but well finished, that was to make a dwarf of a tree by pruning is exhibited on the occasion referred to by unnatural, and shows want of taste, our correspondent .- Rural New Yorker. horticulturally speaking. Evergreens especially should not have the tops re-

Avoid the neighborhood boar for breeding. One objection to allowing Alfaifa. the brood sows to run out, is the risk they run of getting with pig by a boar not fit for service, and the value of the litter, even with the best of sows, is largely determined by the male.

Under present conditions of feeding there is very little profit in feeding hogs after they weigh 300 pounds.

Johnson Grass.......25
English Blue Grass.......24

KEPPING stock on the pastures year after year will gradually exhaust them. hogs after they weigh 300 pounds.

LIQUID MANURE.

Best Way of Saving and Applying It-The

Brommer Method The Bommer method is not specially intended for the application of liquid manure, but saves it with absorpents made into a compost placed over a pit into which the liquid drains. There is a water-tight cistern made on the surface a foot or so in depth, and this is covered with rails or logs, or an open floor upon which the manure is heaped. the top of the nests to the roof. There a fertilizing character, no matter what are ten nests in each compartment. A it is, so that it will absorb manure and decay and make plant food. The sta-bles are drained, and the drains flow into the cistern. A common wooden pump is fitted in the center by which the liquid is brought up and poured over the heap. The heap receives all the through the heap and is caught in the cistern and dilutes the liquid manure This is a simple affair, but it is a very > from the free nitrogen of the atmosphere, made by Prof. Hellriegel, and corroborated by experiments of Sir. J.

>
> It is of a tuberculous B. Lawes during the last two years. have satisfied him-as far as his exwhich might most usefully be imitated by many other scientific experimenters) permits him to say-that Hellriegel's iews are sound; for by the use of an infusion of soil under certain circumstances he found leguminous plants proured four or five times as much nitrogen as he expected, and that this came from the free nitrogen in the soil, through the actions of certain well rec ognized organisms.

Now, the composting of organic matter with earth or available soil has long been known to produce large quantities of nitrates, as witness the old method of making saltpetre beds for the purpose of procuring this nitrate for the manufacture of gunpowder, a practice much used before the discoveries of the South American nitre deposits. Hence this so-called Bommer method gives much present interest just now. These organisms which exist in the soil must turning from the game. exist also in the atmosphere and be requires a heap of manure to be composted with organic matter, with some available soil as the yeast, so to speak, to start the fermentation, and to moisten the heap with the highly nitrogenous contents, and slightly rinsed, and then filled with salt and thoroughly dried. Then for some days before it is needed, it should be soaked in a quart of strong brine, to which the juice of a lemon brine, to which the juice of a lemon should be added. The milk should be set this nitrifying agency at work, and tation, but one of which unfortunately not be patented by some new discoverer ting both ways, so that the top will ap- who will tax the public for the work of sion, every thing must count to reduce expenses and increase products. Millions of tons of liquid manure go to waste every year, every ton of which might yield twenty to thirty bushels of corn extra, or reduce the area of land cropped in proportion, and so lessen cost of production. All this may be saved most profitably in this way, and the saving of it will develop a habit of work up with it.-Henry Stewart, in Simple and Improved Plows. Before the introduction of cast-iron plows, the implements in common use mostly a sharpened piece of wood, with a rough beam and handle-something Pruning Shade Trees.

A common error in tree-pruning, says like the Moorish plow of the present time, Fig. 1. The "bull plow," largely grow over in a single season. After a tree greatly unlike the one still used in some parts of Europe, and represented ing the first season of growth there is the wooden mold-board, were more or

FIG. 2.

Weight of Seeds. The following table gives the number moved unlesss they are grown in a bedge. The natural shape of a tree is not that seen in a crowded forest, but its shape when growing freely in an isolated register. acre of ground: Lbe. to Bu. Lbs. to Acre. NAME. Lbs
Red clover....
White Dutch Clover ....

DANGER FROM LEPROSY.

It Is a Real One, and Should Be Heeded by Our Government. During a recent vacation visit to the West Indies, which was made for the purpose of completing a critical study of their value as sanitary resorts, the writer was struck with the apparant increase in numbers of lepers in all the islands.

When this impression was confirmed by conversation with the medical officers on duty there and study of their reports, some cause for such increase was looked for, and was found without trouble.

In but two of the group comprising the Windward and Leeward Islands is there any attempt to isolate lepers. Long habit seems to have made residents so familiar with the loathsome appearance of these poor wretches that rain water, and any excess of it sinks they wander about the streets unchecked, demanding alms of native and stranger alike, except that the latter is made miserable by an importunity to which that of Neapolitan lazzaroni is iseful suggestion, and serves a valuable meek politeness.

In their begging they do not hesitate purpose. It is most timely just now in view of the modern discoveries in re-gard to the nitrification of the soil and there is not much risk of contagion in to lay hands on their victims, and if the certain development of nitrates that way there may be some, for the exact manner in which the disease is propa-

It is of a tuberculous type, running its course in an average time of seven Sir J. B. Lawes' reports, just now published, of his tests in 1888 and 1889 We in this country are especially in-We in this country are especially in-terested in this state of affairs, because tremely cautious and conservative of the unrestricted communication be habit of mind (a habit, by the way, tween the islands and New York. There is no reason why a leper in the early stage should not take cabin passage and land without hindrance from the health officers, whose inspection at the New York quarantine is of the most perfune

The only way that occurs to us to pre vent such a calamity is to authorize the American Consuls at the different, islands to inspect passengers before giving a bill of health, with a proper fee for extra work. These officers know all the worst cases of leprosy in their ports that are likely to have money enough to pay their passage to Amepica, and such a quarantine would be effective. The danger is a real one and should Monthly. Desirable Husbands. "I think I'd like to marry a base-ball umpire," she remarked as they were re-heeded.-New England Medical

"You'd be fooled, for, although they brought down by the rain, and it only practically own the business, they don't get such big salaries." "O, it isn't that; but it seems to me people who can put up with so much jawing and abuse ought to make good husbands."-Philadelphia Press. His Happy Estate. "Do you know of so much as one per fectly happy person?" Yes, I know one "Who can it be?" "Jones." "What is the underlying cause of his extreme felicity?"

"He thinks he knows every thing."-Chicago Times. Ir may be all right to exempt editors from jury duty, but it seems as it imaginative reporters were natural talesmen.— Binghampton Republican.

Children Enjoy The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative and if the father our mother be costive or billous the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every fam-ily should have a bottle.

CHARLES LAMB'S humor never shows a taste of bitterness; but, then, Charles had a regular job as book-keeper to fall back upon.—Puck.

J. S. Parker, Fredonia, N. Y., says: "Shall not call on you for the $100 reward, for I believe Hall's Catarrh Cure will cure any case of catarrh. Was very bad." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Don't swear you know a thing is true because you believe it. You wouldn't know you were living if your wife didn't pull your hair sometimes.—Texas Siftings.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada, Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar.

"He a pillar of the church? Why, he's a perfect fraud." "Sort of a pillar-sham."

N. Y. Herald.

To regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, and promote digestion, take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills every night. Try them. TRUTH may be stranger than fiction, but as a rule it isn't half so entertaining.—Bos-ton Traveller. HARD lines-Railroad iron. A "FowL" subject-Poultry.

ALWAYS "rocky"-The cradle. "PARTY ties"-White cravats. An old bank-Newfoundland. Done on "tick"-Telegraphing. A PLACE of note-The mail-box at the cor-

Love your enemy, but don't buy his boy a drum. -Ram's Horn.

An eat compliment—What a good appetite you have!—Texas Siftings. Men who live on working-men's organiza-tions have no time to work.—N. O. Pica-

A MILLION dollars in gold weighs about 3,685 pounds avoirdupois. No wonder sc many editors are round-shouldered.—Ram's

WHEN Richard III. offered to give his kingdom for a horse he might have mean: a horse that would win when he bet on him in the races.—Philadelphia Times. A Georgia paper advises its subscribers that "payments can be made in butter, eggs, corn, potatoes, ragged greenbacks or tobacco stamps—if nicely taken from the boxes."

boxes. A New York man went to sleep and fell from his seat during the progress of a base-ball game. Upon this it was reported that interest in the game had fallen off.— New Orleans Picayune. The sweet girl graduate is the personification of pulchritude, the sublimation of symmetry, the idealization of intelligence, the embodiment of enthusiasm and the typification of tenderness.—Utica Observer.

It has been much discussed whether or not the hoop-snake really exists. That the "hoop snake" does exist is attested by some hundreds of men who know the dif-ference between d. t. and a violet.—Mer chant Traveler.

Pars from indigestion, dyspepsia and too hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills imme-diately after dinner. Don't forget this.

THE difference between a suitor and an office-seeker is that one pays court and the other courts pay.—Washington Post. PIMPLES are inexpressibly mortifying. temedy—Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

THE silent partner is one who keeps his mouth shut while his active partner is spending his money.—N. O. Picayune.

BEST, easiest to use and cheapest. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. By druggists. 25c An Austin shoe-maker is writing a book. There will probably be a great many foot-notes.—Texas Siftings.

"A RACE WITH DEATH!"

Among the nameless heroes, none are nore worthy of martyrdom than he who rode down the valley of the Conemaugh, warning the people ahead of the Johnstown flood. Mounted on a powerful horse, faster and faster went the rider, but the flood was swiftly gaining, until it caught the unlucky horseman and swept on, grinding, crushing, annihila-ting both weak and strong.

In the same way is disease lurking

In the same way is disease lurking near, like unto the sword of Damoeles, ready to fall, without warning, on its victim, who allows his system to become clogged up, and his blood poisoned, and thereby his health endangered. To eradicate these poisons from the system, no matter what their name or nature, and save yourself a spell of malarial, typhoid or bilious fever, or eruptions, swellings, tumors and kindred disfigurements, keep the liver and dred disfigurements, temors and kidneys healthy and vigorous, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's the only plood-purifier sold on trial. Your money is returned if it doesn't do exactly as recommended. A concentrated vegetable extract. Sold by druggists, in large bottles, at $1.00.

at 50 cents per ton for twenty and desirable locations, with railwa facilities, at $100 PER ACR, worth $500, as special inducements t that PITTSEURG, Kan-

KISSING at 7, 17, 70: Photo-gravure, panel size of this picture for 4

Makers of "Bile Roans." St. Louis, Mo.

For Old and Young. Tuti's Liver Pills act as kindly on the child, the delicate female or infirm old age, as upon the vigorous man.

give tone to the weak stomach, bow-els, kidneys and bladder. To these organs their strengthening qualities are wonderful, causing them to per-form their functions as in youth. Sold Everywhere. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

& CO.'S YEAR DOOK

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY. WESTON ENGINE CO., Painted Post, N.Y.

PENSION LAW. Circular showing who are entitled sont FREE. Fee 6 10 if such cessful. Otherwise nothing. Ad's carfulandage & Tallmange. Chienge, Ill., & Washington, D. C.

PENSIONS New LAW CLAIMS.

Apply Mild B. STEVENS & Co.,

Attorneys, 1419 F Street, Washington, D. C.,

BRANOH OFFICES Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago

PATENTS I Invent something and make your FORTUNE! A 46 BOOK OF INSTRUCTIONS FREE. Address W. T. FITZGERALD, WASHINGTON, D. C. SPRAME THIS PAPER every time you write. DO You Live in a House. If so, you want a HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely flexible. Endorsed by Physicians and U. S. Governscot. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Falls Pa.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF

BE UP TO THE MARK

Not to Split! Not to Discolor!

THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BEARS THIS MARK.

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

ARK

THE CHIGAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CLAIR CARS, Collegant Excursions deligated to the control of the cont California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake-City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent.

DOCT, BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES

TON SCALES $60 Beam Box Tare Beam Sond for Terms

SOUTHWEST IOWA. F.

JONES BINGHAMTON N. Y.

"THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST." THRESHERS

SAW MILLS

For Pamphlets

write to

THE AULTMAN A TAYLOR COMPANY,

TAYLOR COMPAN

DROPSY TREATED FREE.
POSITIVELY CURED with Vegetable Remedies.

O Sieeve, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Holders, erms free. FERGUSON BROS., CRESTER, CONN.

ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma CURE address. Will mail TRIAL CURED never falls; still us your collains Brottlers Bridgeo, St. Louis, 80. FREE EDUCATIONAL.

WAUSEON NORMAL A great school for to and thorough instruction. $900 pays expen-0 weeks. S. METZLER, President, WAUSE agraNSF THIS PAFRE every they ou wrise. HOME STUDY. Book keeping, Penmanship, Arra

W. BAKER & CO.'S Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals Sold by Grocers everywhere. W. BAKER & CO. Dorchester, Mass. DEPENDENT PENSION BILL

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878.

PENSIONS! DO YOU WANT

PENSIONS Great PENSION BILL IS PASSED, WIGOW, Mother Franch Fathers are en-

NEW PENSION LAW PENSION W. Shington, D. C. Successfully PROS CUTES CLAIMS.
Late Principal Examine: U.S. Sension Bureau.
Syrs in last war, is adjudicating claims, atty since.

working for us. Persons pre-orred who can furnish a horse and give their whole me to the business. Spare moments may be profitably miltored also. A few vacancies in towns and cities, F. JOHNSON & CO., 1969 Main St., Richmond, Va.

PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & Co., Washington, B. Q. SPNAME THIS PAPER over time you write.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

ored relatives, that this memory R. Wells in Golden Days. training is superb! That was only my third lesson, and my memory bump [feeling it]-Aunt Susan [shiyering] -Jack did came in? I beg your pardon. [Shuts it.] My appalling fact that 2,151,512,360 were Jack-Oh, I forgot to shut the door! memory bump fairly knocked my hat off, it is growing so fast, I shall have to wear a stove-pipe hat to accommodate it. Want to tell you terruption, but I am somewhat ac- strength and glory of our land being quainted with you, and I should like destroyed through their own handito know whether you mailed that work. These "paper cylinders," letter I gave you at noon?

Jack [clapping his hand to his pocket] - Wh.e.e.ew! If I didn't forget all about it! Was it of any importance?

Sister Carrie-Importance! Didn't I tell vou 1 wouldn't have it miss that mail for any thing.

Jack [taking out the letter]-Oh, soul, you needn't get angry, Carrie. I'll take it to the office after supper starts to put in his pocket, but Carrie takes possession of it]. Well, as I was saying, mother, you can't imagine how much I can remember. Listen! | He rises, strikes an attifude and recites] : Hamburg, codfish, soft-soap, Washington, mill race, needle, camel, coming, bull-dog, Milton, Dickens, Dante, cheese, geography, fiddle-

Father-Jack, you young rattlebrain, how much more is there of Jack-There are one hundred and seventy-eight words in all, and I can say them all off, backwards or forwards. How's that for a feat of memory? Geography, fiddle, Calcutta, Shakespeare, turpentine-

Father-It just occurred to me, Jack, that you pass the jeweler's every day, and possibly Mr. Goldsmith sent word by you about my watch? it badly.

Jack-Wh-e-e-ew! I'm sorry, fathree days ago, and I put it in the clock, because he's a jeweler. That's the way, to associate ideas, you know. I thought, whenever I looked at the clock. I would think of that note. But I forgot to look at the clock. [Takes the note sheepishiy out of the clock and hands it to his father.]

Father [sarcastically, as he takes it |-Been training your memory in any other direction. Jack?

Jack [brightening up and not no-States forwards and backward. Hear me! George 'Washington, John Adams, Thomas? Jefferson, James Madison, James Monroe-

Mother-Oh, Jack, while I think of it, you ordered the sugar at the men should meet in this enligtened grocery?

Jack-Dear me! That's too bad! without fail.

public debt of the Udited States in cigarette! 1889 was-

Willy [looking up from his blocks] Jack!

Jack-Don't interrupt!

Jack-Well, there! I declare, New York World, Willy, I'm sorry, but I forgot to ask. dries his tears.]

proved, Jack.

some jumping-jacks, and some-out.

Willy - Shoo! shoo! Whoop! [Flies after.]

noon. Present - Father, Mother | Aunt Susan-And all the clothes Colorado River to this point, near Sister Carrie, Little Willy, Aunt hung out! [Drops her work and the mouth of the Little Colorado

The Cigarette Horror.

Tobacco in any form is injurious. The cigar and the pipe are bad you notice the thermometer as you enough, yet when the eyil effects of the cigarette are are noted, and the manufactured in this country last year, surely it is sufficient, as exclaimed the Chicago News. "to make any nervous person spank his son what I learned to day. I learned and heir on general principles," and should create indignation against Sister Carrie-Jack, excuse the in- men who calmy see the reserve through wich the pernicious nicotine is all drawn into the smoker's mouth, are the bane of boyhood. True, preventives are proposed and placed; but, either the lex is so lax, or the enforcement so feeble, that the production proceeds, the consumption continues, and the boys in multitudes are being dwarfed in body, mind and

Parents, not realizing the importance of this fact, do not give it the attention they should. They wonder at the pale faces or their boys, why they so often complain of headaches why they are weak, irritable, indisposed and stupid; when careful investigation would reveal the truth. Now, boys commence because they think it so fine and manly to imitate those who, atthough full-grown, on this one point at least most positively are not men, since man, from the Sanskirt, means "to think;" and hence, according as one uses this power in eschewing the baneful and cleaving to the beneficiat, so much of the man is he, When, however, the horrible inducements for them to continue are known, the most apathetical father or mother should be awakened. Photographs of "beauties,"albums, cigarette holding canes, in one place, Vassey's Paradise, watch charms, scarf pins, and the It is high time it was done. I need for a certain number of tickets, one like, are offered "free, postage paid," of which is enclosed in each package. ther, but he gave me a note for you their pocket money. But, a far greater reason for alarm has lately been reyealed, A certain gentleman, having made a chemical test of some eigaretts, which sold "twelve for a nickel," discovered that they were impregnated with opium, and further declared this to be a universal rule. Now, is it mysterious that the cigarette is so seductive, and boys began to cherish as a fond pet what is but "prodigious poison?" The base habit is growing, too, and does not meet ticing the sarcasm |-Oh, yes, sir! I the consideration, the strong antagcan give the Presidents of the United onlam, which it deserves. Only a short while since a lady of our city, when two others and myself refused to accompany her husband in his evening participation, expressed utter astonishment that three young age who do not smoke! I fear the noxious custom is being You see, just before I got to the classed by some as an attribute of store Bill Jenkins came along on his manhood. Such mothers may see new bicycle-Safety, and a beauty- their sons broken in brain and brawn, and I was looking at that, and walk- led captive by these bewitching ed right by. I'll get it to-morrow "ushers" through the saloon door to the feet of the fiery demon Alcohol! Mother-Well, we'll have to go But it will be too late then. Let without sugar for tea to-night, I sup- parents watch more critically, and pose [slyly]. Tell us something let anti-tobacco societies be organized more about your memory training. in every Sunday-school to encourage Jace-Well, the brightest thing is the boys to purpose in their hearts about figures. I can remember any not to defile themselves in any mandate you please. I'm going to be- ner with the killing stuff, to totally come an encyclopedia, a biped ency- obstain from it, and, as they have clopedia. Observe! The cotton gin opportunity, to endeavor to induce was invented in 1793. California was others to do the same. Thus will a discovered in 1536. The area of Ala. multitude be saved. To the work. bama is 50,722 square miles. The Now is the time. Down with the

Gen, Daniel E. Sickles, the present Democrat Sheriff of New York, who lost a leg at Gettysburg, used the foi-Willy - But, Jack! can Sammy lowing strong language in his Decora-Brown go fishing with me Saturday? tion Day speech as reported in the

"I am," said he, "unmoved by any Saw his mother, too [Willy begins rancer, asperity of hatred towards to whimper. | Come, now, don't cry, the men we met in the battle. But I and I'll help you dig fish-worms. I'll am an American, I am a Union soldsee Mrs. Brown to-morrow. [Willy | ier and I love the old flag. And I say here and will say everywhere Carrie-How your memory is im- that for the Americans there is but one flag-(tremendous cheers and Jack [proudly] - It's wonderful! cries of 'good, good') -the flag of Lun-Why, I just glanced at a store win- dy's Lane, and Lake Erie, and New dow as I came along, and I think I Orleans; the flag of Scott and Mccon remember everything in that Donough and Perry and Jackson; window! Let's see. There was a big the flag of Lincoln the flag of Handog, and some pocket-knives and cock, the flag of Grant-(great enthusiasm)-the flag of Washington-Father [looking out of the window] (applause)—the only flag deserving -See! see! Cows in the yard! [He of honor from Americans. It is the flings down the paper and rushes only flag which should float over the broad land. It is the flag that represents the right, and in all our charity let us not forget the difference be-Mother-Oh, my geraniums! [Runs | tween right and wrong."

In Marble Canon.

Carrie-Oh, my tennis ground! To give you an idea of the number of the rapids from the head of the River, a distance of about 200 miles, and a rush. Flings books down on Jack [following slowly and sheep- I will say there are just 200 rapids. a table and himself into a chair.] ishly]-Dear me! I must have for- not counting small draws or riffles, Jack-I want to tell you, my hon- gotten to shut the gate !- I'rof. Amos and from Lee's Ferry to this point, a distance of eighty miles, there are just 100 rapids, writes a Denver Republican correspondent. We have run the greater part of this 100 and portaged but few, and over many of them our boats have danced and jumped at the rate of fifteen miles per hour, and over some, by actual measurement, at the rate of twenty miles per hour for half a mile at a time. Standing in the bow of one of the boats as she goes through one of these chutes, with first the bow then the stern jumping into the air as she shoots from wave to wave, with the spray of the breakers dashing over one's head, is something the excitement and fascination of which can only be understood by being ex-

> That part of Marble Canon from Point Retreat for forty miles down to the mouth of the Little Colorado River is far the most beautiful and interesting canon we have yet passed through. At Point Retreat the marble wall stands up perpendicularly 300 feet from the water's edge, while the sandstone above branches back in slopes and cliffs to 2,500 feet high. CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, Just beyond this the canon is narrowest, being but a little over 300 feet wide from wall to wall, while the river in places at this stage of water is not over sixty feet wide. The marble rapidly rises till it stands in perpendicular diffs, 700 to 800 feet high, colored with all the tints of the rainbow, but mostly red. In many places toward the top it is honeycombed with cayes, caverns, arches and grottoes, with here and there a natural bridge left from one crack to another, making a most grotesque and wonderful picture as our little boats glide along that quiet portion of the river so many hundred feet

At the foot of these cliffs in many piaces are fountains of pure sparkling water, gushing out from the rockseveral hundred feet up the walland dropping down among shrubbery, ferns and flowers, some of which, even at this time of the year, The Farmers' were found in bloom. Below this for some distance, are a number of these fountains with large patches of maidenhair ferns clinging to the wall, fifteen to twenty feet above the water, green and fresh as in the month of May, and the sparkling water running down over them they make a most charming picture.

Our weather has been most wonderful through the whole winter. The thermometer has never registered at 6 o'clock in the morning lower than 24 degrees above zero, and in the sun in the middle of the day registered as high as 75 degrees. We have had but one snowstorm down in the canon and one rain. The sun has shone brightly nearly all the time, though for eight days at one time it never shone on us, we being under the shade of the cliffs all the

A Floating Island.

Sadawaga Lake, a large sized pond in Whitingham, Vt., has one of the most remarkable islands in the world within its borders. The island is larger than any farm in the neighborhood, containing over 150 acres. Its peculiarities lie in the fact that it daily shifts its position, being first on the north, then on the south, and again on the east or west borders of the lake, It is known as "The Floating Island," and has kept up its aberrant voyage since time out of memory. It has many trees upon its surface, some of which are 20 to 30 feet in height, besides an immense thicket of cranberry bushes. It is rare that a portion of the island breaks off and sinks to the bottom, and its stability has made it a favorite resort for picnickers and others seeking an outing. Holes have been cut through the crust and fish caught, much after the fashion of catching them through the ice in winter time.

On last Thursday morning at 6: 45 the thermometer at Hyde's jeweiry store registered 44 degrees.

At the meeting of the Knights of Pythias in Milwaukee, Wis., on Thursday of last week, Geo. B. Shaw. of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, was unanimously elected Supreme Chancellor of the world and W. W. Blackwell, of Kentucky, supreme Vice Chan-

If You Have a Trifling Cough

Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cougure. Price 25c. For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic, Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispensible for the indies' toilet

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Rhenmatic Plasters.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President.

G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted. Prompt attention to collections. 112'89.

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all SH SPAVIS Linimes of the SPAVIS of or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes orses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, S, Ring bone, Stiffee, Sprains, all Throats Coughs, etc. Save $50 by

JONAS E. GNAGEY,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL.

Stair Building, and General Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assortment of Cofflus, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, It will be my aim to turn out only first class work at reasonable prices.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890.

If so call upon or write us.

Hardware

Association,

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARF, TIN. WARE, PAINTS, OHS, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGHES, CULTIVATORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. V sole agents and represent the best goods ever offered to the farming comm goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D, M, OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS, BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows.) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will call on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park entaining one hundred acres, fifty acres ontaining one hundred acres, fity acres cleared and in grass, The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT.

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

four years, and testing many other popula varieties, I find that this brand is an hones article, which can be depended upon to be a represented.

A Rare Chance to

Several Tracts of Land h

the Hooppole Road, 3

miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

Secure a Home.

SALE

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

and terms.

FOR

INSTANT RELIEF FOR ALL RHEUEATIC PAINS, SURB CURF for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatica, Sold by druggists everywhere, or by mail, 25 cents. Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

THE GARRET'I' COUNTY BANK

WANTED, MOST LIBERAL TERMS, Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-established and best known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 676t Established 1846.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never falls. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding,

Thanking all who have favored me in the bast, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to nerit their future patronage.

Correspondence solicited.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, outsining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard f 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story

JAS. A. HAYDEN

Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, Oakland, Md.

J. F. LEWIS,

-MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-

TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the

State for the same price. J. F. LEWIS. 23'881y Cranesville, W. Va

MASSEY HALL PREPART ORY SCHOOL,

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins

April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three course teference Library.

For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to

REV. J. NEWMAN,

Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

37 Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

17 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 20 Baltimore Street.

POR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The west End of Wing-and-Wing, at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, Sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses, and carriage house, There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, connected with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. Having decided to make a specialty of sell-ing the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing We will have a car load in a short time of he different grades. Please write for prices a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhee. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle-boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had a short notice, sent by mail or express. Address

ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. *** Place of business—Railroad street, next o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, GUNTRACTORS AND BUILDES

OAKLAND, - MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

These lands are of excellent quality, each fact has a stream of water running through or cattle, and springs of excellent water, and quantity of valuable timber. The Hoop-bole road passes through the lands and the beer Park road quite near them, They adjoin he farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ratph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One four the cash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST -Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 to 25

WM. M. CLEMENTS. Manager.

C. K. LORD, General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE

FOR SALE. I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oakland, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of willivation. The improvements commist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE. Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings Tenant House, part and other out-buildings and a young orchered.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county. JAS. A. HAYDEN,

OUR FAVORITE SINCER rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canvasers' Commissions. Get New Mas-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Scwing Machine Company,

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1890.

NUMBER 23.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing vestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

#3-Special attention given to Investigation of Land Tities, Conveyancing and Collection of Tains, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission.

Office, Nydegger building, Main St. abov.

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 10 6

F. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD Will practice in the Courts of Garrett Count; and the Adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland. of the in the Court House, Inly 3-tf.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY.

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing Deutal Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6226m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. En Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.-17,

H. W. M°COMAS. M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

OAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the peopl of Oakland and vicinity. 5 5 88

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST,

OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and filing the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Dr. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, M

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Heibig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to. 35 y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND.

Of 131% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outcoildings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rebard is on the place. rehard is on the place.

For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

Successful Treatment of Cisease A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY! MICROBE KILLER Lilistic Microbes. Successful Treatment. CURES: Gatarrh, Brenchitis. Consumption, Malaria. Rheumatism. Worderful Tonic and ronundad.

The effector of the Microbe Collect in cases of con-stampton to be sense of crucia desponstrated hat we are just in a community of the constraint of the large part in a community of the constraint of the large of the constraint of the constraint of the ours the bettent is the one to use. Sid only in one gallon stone jugs. Price $3.00, ufficient to last about one could. Cheap; within the reach of all. Physician a 17 years experience in tharge of the office. Send for circular and intermation.

Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Milliant Par NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowle Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 261, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattles to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down. THEOS, B. Hee WITZ

BLACKSMITH

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULLS

We have opened

NEW STOCK YARDS

AT

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any purpose.

Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY.

W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R.,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates, #2- Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

9, '87.

5. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD.

** Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 21, 85.— y.

WANTED. LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y

ARM FOR SALE

COAL& FIRE CLAY. I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acre

I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oak and and Sang Run road, six miles from Oak land, and near the Youghiogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three velus of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 tect and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orenard, and a young orenard just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and !wenty-five acres of valuable timber. Call on or address JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oaktar d, Md.

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS -AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Beiting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or fron; Shafting, Habgers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furntshed on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggles, &c. 622

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Change a Pine Table to Walnut. A Poplar Kitchen Press to Antique Oak. A Cane Rocker to Mahogany. See what can be done with 25C. worth of ASSAULTANCOS ... TRY IT.

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia. th in Drug, Paint and House Furnishing Stores

the body. Remedies for some other derange-ment are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the liver which is the real source of the trouble, and until that is set right there can be no health, strength, or comfort in any part of the system. Mercury, in some form, is a common specific for a sluggish liver; but a far safer and more effective

Ayer's Pills.

For loss of appetite, bilious troubles, constipation, indigestion, and sick headache, these Pills are unsurpassed.

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, experiencing much difficulty in digestion, with severe pains in the lumbar region and other parts of the body. Having tried a variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only temporary relief, about three months ago I began the use of Ayer's Pills, and my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this medicine." the superior merits of this medicine."-

Manoel Jorge Pereira, Porto, Portugal.

"For the cure of headache, Ayer's Cathar-tic Pills are the most effective medicine I ever used."-R. K. James, Dorchester, Mass "When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effec-tive than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. B. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va. I have found in Ayer's Pills, an invaluable remedy for constipation, biliousness, and kindred disorders, peculiar to miasmatic #### localities. Taken in small and frequent doses, these Pills

Act Well on the liver, restoring its natural powers, and aiding it in throwing off malarial poisons.

- C. F. Alston, Quitman, Texas. "Whenever I am troubled with constipation, or suffer from loss of appetite. Aver's Pills set me right again."- A. J. Kiser, Jr., "In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for bil-jousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since." - H. W.

Hersh, Judsonia, Ark. Ayer's Pills,

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90

For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHA.'D CUSTER,

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre-pared to write policies on all kinds of proper-Special inducements and rates given on lwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—hose authorized by law to do business in the state, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Carrett county agents in the state.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all

Opposite Pstent Office, Washington, D. C. SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

C. A. SNOW & CO.,

GEN. CROOK'S CAPTURE.

on the capture of General Geo. tend to General Crook. It was now k and General Kelley at Cum. 3.30 c'clock in the morning, and no ind, Md., in February, 1864, by time was to be lost. nd of Confederates known as Weil's Rangers. This body was of unflinching courage, and led the streets.

Valley of Virginia. their movements, destroying wagon trains, capturing horses, munitions of war, etc., all of which were turned over to the Confederate Government for a consideration, In February, 1864, New Creek was captured by General Rosser, and within thirty miles of Cumberland, Md. One night around the camp had just returned, and in the course lighted candle in the other, stood inof conversation expressed the belief tently looking at him. that the town could be penetrated by a small body of men and Generals Crock and Ke'ley brought safely off. The suggestion instantly took root among those wild boys, and in less fifteen minutes it was determined kendali second in command. It was well known to the rangers that General Crook had just succeed. you as you are," ed General Kelley in the command of that department, and had established his headquarters at the Revere House-at that time kept by Mr. John Daily, of Oakland, and whose daughter is now General Crook's widow-while Gen. Kelley still lingered at the St. Nicholas, a short distance from the Revere. About dusk of a cold February day, with two feet of snow covering command "Forward" was given, their perilous journey. Moving rapidly, they crossed the South branch of the Potomac and reached Knobby Mountain, where they were hospitably entertained by sympathizing the expedition, and every argument was used to induce them to retrace their steps, at which the boys only laughed. After hastily refreshing themselves and horses the command moved silently on until the Potomac was reach. ed, which they torded, every man being wet to the waist by its icy waters. On through the darkness they of which is cleared, and on which are sped, not! knowing twhat! a minute might being forth, for they were sat-Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables isfied they must be in close proximity to the enemy. And neither were they mistaken, for suddenly the sharp command: "Who comes there?" convinced them that they were upon the Union outposts. There was no time for words, and in an instant the unlucky picket post, composed of three men, were captive. The password was now to be had at any cost, but it was not until a bridle rein had been placed around the neck of one of the unhappy pickets that he blurted out, "Bull's Gap." Moving now more cautiously, the Rangers approached; a light in the distance, and again the cry, "Who comes there?" greeted them. came back in a clear, ringing voice. IR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT they dashed into the midst, of about FICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-ess direct, hence can transact patent busi-ss in less time and at LESS COST than ose remote from Washington. and agreed to remain where they were until morning. Matters were surrounded by 10,000 Federal troops. of little importance in this country. The utmost caution was necessary to To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

The utmost caution was necessary to avoid discovery, for a single blunder or a pistol shot would have resulted

Cumberland, Calling Kuykendall THE CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION to him Vandiyer gave his orders. rilling Episode of the Civil War. They were to the effect that when ong the many daring deeds the command reached the St. Nichormed on either side during the las Hotel he was to halt with six or War perhaps none can excel for eight cool men and capture General g conception and successful ex- Kelley, while he himself would at-

"Forward! close up," was the command, and the rangers entered osed of as reckless a set of young from the West side, and crossing rlanders and Virginians as ever Weil's Creek, which flows through sabre. They were commanded the town, they coolly rode through Captain McNell, from whom Baltimore street, passing many derived their name. He was a squads of Union soldiers patrolling men in many a bloody encounter. In a moment the St. Nicholas was was eventually killed in a des. reached, and Kuykendall swung out Conklin said the Henderson men erate fight near Mt. Jackson, in the of line, while Vandiyer passed on to the R-vere. Halting his command, McNeil's rangers carried a free he dismounted and approached the The fight was taken before the comlance and were generally found hov. door and knocked. A sentine open. mittee on credentials, who sustained ering near the Federals, watching ed it cautiously, and in an instant Vandiver's pistol was at his head. son men by a vote of 13 to 8; some Utter one word and you die," was of the counties did not vote on the hissed at the sentinel's ear.

Handing him over to one of his men, Vandiyer seized a light and swiftly sped up the stairway to the istration and condemning the Demoroom occupied by Gen. Crook. The cratic State officials for the laxity of McNeil's Rangers were advanced to door was locked, but a vigorous kick affairs that could permit the treasursent it flying open, and in an instant er's defalcation. Chairman Daniel Vandiver stood by the General's bed- E. Conklin resigned the position as fire two of the boys. John Fay and side. The noise had awakened him, chairman and Mr. Thos. S. Hodson. Sprigg Linn, whose homes were in and he raised himself in a dazed con- of Somerset, elected chairman. Sec-Cumberland, were relating the ad- aition and gazed upon the stalwart retary Henry Lingenfelder having ventures they had encountered in a form of the daring Confederate who, resigned Mr. Hodson was authorized visit to their homes, from which they with a revolver in one hand and a to choose his own secretary. The

"Who are you?" demanded Crook. "I am General Rosser," said Vandiver, "and you are my prisoner."

Still the General never moved. "General Crook," said Vandiver, "it is very cold out, and there are that, the attempt should be made, and Major Joe Vandiver volunteered to lead them, with the dashing Kuyminutes in which to dress yourself;

> The General had now fully awak ened to a realization of the state of affairs, and, springing from his bed hastily threw on his clothes. In less taking into account assistance from than five minutes from the time relatives or friends. Vandiyer had entered the hotel, General Crook was safely seated be such proper and just claims under hind him, and Kuykendall coming this law as may be presented, in np at the moment, after being equally successful in his mission, the

the ground, the command started on and the "evacuation" of Cumberland Turning to General Crook, Vandiver addressed him thus: "General Crook, you are a soldier, and you know full well the desperate naturfriends, who were much surprised of this undertaking, and I want to when they were told the object of caution you that if utter one word to Chauncey Depew gave an incident to do such an act, I will send a bullet | weighty lesson. Said he: through your head." General Kelley was similarly cautioned. proceeded down the tow path, pas- er of Dutch ancestry. He had monsing large bodies of troops in camp' ey enough to take care of me, and I who paid iittle attention to them, knew it; and when he discovered large force was encountered, and the get a dollar from me except through nel. To the command, "Dismount have got to make your own way." and advance" Vandiver exclaimed: "Well I found I hard lot of It-

"I have,no time for that; the rebs nobody had a harder one-and the are advancing from New Creek, and old gentleman stood by and let me we are in a hurry. Bull's Gap," he tussle and fight it out. I bless him called out, and forward the rangers to-night with all my heart and gratidashed.

"Give 'em fits, boys."

in Cumberland, where every thing cursing the men who had succeeded was confusion, and the Rangers had in the world, and woodering by what not proceeded far before they found exceptional luck they had got on; themselves hotly pursued, and a run- but having my way to dig alone, I plied Vandiver. "Dismount, ad- ning fight was kept up for miles with got beyond everything my father vance one, and give the countersign," the rear guard. Romney, twenty. ever Jreamed of; but it was done by seven miles distant, was finally fourteen hours,' or sixteen hours,' or reached, and the daring band of Cen. eighteen hours,' work a day if necesducted for MODERATE ordered his men, "Forward!" and federates were safe, with their distinguished captives within their own by economy.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is were surrounded by a large Confed- singer, of Grantsville, Md. we beg secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address were surrounded by a large Confedsinger, of Grantsville, Md. we beg to assure him that his shaft will reach the coal and he will not have far to the coal and he will not have far to go .- Meyersdale Commercial.

now getting warm, for Vandiyer Andrew Carnegie claims that col- chair, gets up, and goes to his meals, knew full well that he himself was lege graduates have been, as a class, and then goes back again and bot-

If you want granulated sugar at 7 Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where ne will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

Workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, or a pistol shot would have resulted in the destruction of the party.

Workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, or a pistol shot would have resulted in the destruction of the party.

They were now in the suburbs of Shartzer's.

For the Sixth District to be Heid at Oakland August 21st. BALTIMORE, MD . July 17th, 189 ).

The Republican State Central Committee met at noon at Dushane Post Hall. The convention fixed the following dates for Congressional Conventions: First district at Cambridge, September 4th: Fifth at Laurel, August 13th ; Sixth at Oakland, August 21st. The enly other thing before the committee was to determine who were entitled to seats in the committee. The Johnson of Administration wing of the party in Baltimore, or the Henderson or anti-Administration men. Chairman were properly elected and ordered their names to be placed on the roll. the chair by voting for the Hender-question at all. Mr. Wellington introduced a set of resolutions commending the Admin-

and a half.

Pensions under the New Law. Congress having lately passed a general pension law in the interest 1. Of such surviving soldiers of the late war as are now so far disabled as to be incapacitated to earn a live

2. Widows of soldiers (and their children under 16 years of age) who served not less than three months, otherwise I will be compelled to take and were honorably discharged. 3. Dependent parents who have lost sons that served in said war, and who now have no other means of support than their own labor, not

> I propose to prosecute efficiently connection with my professional bus-JACOB BROWN.

Attorney at Law. Hoffman Law Building, S. Liberty street, Cumberland, Md. 224-275 Chauncey Depew's Tussel.

In an address before the Railroad Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association of New York, Hon. betray me, as reductant as I would be from his early life which carries a "The best thing I remember connected with myself is that when I As rapidly as possible without at. graduated from Yale I thought I tracting unusual attention the party would lead a life of scholastic ease. I left the city, expecting every instant thought I would read and write a to hear the hue and cry at their little, take it easy and have a good heels. Reaching Mill Creek, they time. I had a hard headed old fath-Three miles from town a serious that I knew it and intended to act disaster was happily averted by accordingly, t was a cold day for me, Vandiyer's presence of mind, A and he said to me: 'You will never Rangers were challenged by a senti- my will From this time forth you tude I have for that. If he had taken "All right," replied the sentinel, the other course what would I have done? I would have been up in But the alarm had been sounded Peekskill to-night nursing a stoye,

"When you make a dollar, spend seventy-five cents and put the other Prospecting for coal on the river twenty-five cents by. No man can us so that we must either go backward or forward. A man knows more to-day than yesterday or he knows less. A man who bottoms a toms a chair, and then to his meals again in the course of five years with the biggest dunce in the com-

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

A BLAME' FOOL. Blame' fool !- Wall, mebbe so, but, then, he wa'n't all alone, For they's lots o' folks thought death a song wot's found ther life a groan; An' thet's wot happent Joey Thorne, an' ef he They's plenty others left 'ith us upon the ole foot-stool:

5he kem up from the city for to what she called "enjoy The bewtchus rooral scenery, an' let the breeze An' wanton with her ringlets,"-an' a lot o mush like that,

W'ich p'raps soun's gran' an' pikcherskew, but I call—wall, darn flat. But Joe was kind o' dreamy-like, an' all the sort o' bosh, les' sort o' soaked right inter him, an' made him think, b'gosh!

She was a wingless angel, 'ith a voice like golding harps— An' all thet kindo' truck sheffed out by all them

Shaikspere sharps. An' so when they was any drives or walks it happent that, Fool-like, Joe would hang around an' have a little chat:
An' then they'd start together, an' while Joe'ud ach o' water lilies, she'd set on a rock an'

(I think she called it that), and Joe 'ud come aroun' an' talk About the "langrous lily" an' the "rose an' hol-lyhawk,"
"The hummin' o' the drowsy bees," an' "twitterin o' the jay,"

An' "kerliderscope o' nature," and the "dyin orb o' day."

An' so things kep' on jes' this way till summer'd passed, an' Joe
Kem to the house the night afore the day she hed to go, An' when they was alone, he said he'd hev

An' then stopped short and bit his lip, an' tried to shade his eye. I guess the light flared up too bright, an' thet' what make Joe blink;

He allus wuz that nervis like, an' allus had, Some trouble 'bout his eye-sight—but he braced right up an' told—

Well, you know jes' how it is yerself—the story that's so old! An' Carrie-well, she kind o' smiled, an' reache an' tuk his hand, An' spoke about her visit, and tole Joe to un derstand Thet she 'joyed her trip to Rosevale, an' that ef at any day He'à need a friend—but Joe turned 'round, an stared, an' walked away. An' so, one day Joe disrepeared an' lef' a not

A-sayin' ef they missed him, they need on'y Him sleepin' in the water-fer thet he hed customed pond! An' thet's wot happent Joey Thorne, an' ef he They's plenty others left 'ith us upon the ol foot-stool! -K. C. Tapley, in Jury.

HELD BY THE HEEL.

An Awful Night's Adventure on a Railroad Track.

T was a few years ago on a dark summer night that the adventure I am about to relate befell

There had been a tragedy

circumstances of which were cruel that when the particulars were given to the public all was aroused to indignant excitement. At that time I and, in response to a sensational bulletin from our local correspondent at L--, was sent on by the chief to furnish a long special dispatch of the case for the morning edition. I left the city at dusk, and reached my destination seventy miles away, between nine and It is unnecessary to enter into any details of the murder here. Suffice it to say that, after some trouble and more delay, I secured a very successful report, and at eleven o'clock it had begun spinning over the wires. L-was a small country place where the midnight trains did not stop; but before leaving the telegraph office I learned from the operator, who was a genial fellow-do not stare-that by hiring a horse at the village, which was a mile from the station and reached in the daytime by stage, I could be driven to -- Junction, eight miles beyond board the train there, and be in the city at daylight. I determined to act on this suggestion, and after a few further inquiries set off toward the village. The moon had gone down, and thick clouds covered the sky. It was as dark as pitch. Not a leaf stirred. It seemed as though the night were holding its breath, pre-burst of rain. I did not mind the gloom, nowever, and whistled along morrily

The highway ran along the east side of the track for nearly half a mile, as- useless. ending a hill, then descending abrupty to the right, crossing the track at a harp curve, whence it bore off toward the few glimmering lights of the village, situated on a hill half a mile west of he railroad. I walked rapidly along, and descended the hill to cross the track. Hardly had I taken the first step on the plank crossing, when the heel of imber, and I was thrown heavily to he ground.

Although shaken up considerably, I vas not badly hurt, and attempted to rise at once; but my foot was firmly held, and I only partially succeeded in doing so. I now turned my attention to freeing myself from my uncomfortable position, thinking it an easy matter that could be accomplished by a simple turn of the foot. To my consternation I found it absolutely imposossible to draw my foot away, so seurely was it wedged between the rail and plank.

I began to grow excited, and twisted and pulled my foot recklessly and violently until nearly exhausted. There was no result, except that my ankle began to pain me from the rough treatment, and I felt that it was beginning to swell. To escape from this trap, I found I nust take the matter more coolly. By a strong effort at self-command I be ame calm again, and began to consider the best way out of the fix. Consulting my watch, which had an illuminated dial, I found it was twenty minates past eleven. No train would pass till after one, and this was the one l vanted to catch at the Junction. Therefore I need not worry lest I should be run over; I had plenty of time. Ye from the pain in my ankle I feared 1 ould not reach home as early as I had ntended.

I went systematically to work, and ried to pull my foot out of the shoe. ailure. Again and again I endeavcred. Dead failure. My foot was badly swol-

A happy thought flashed through my nind, and I almost shouted with joy. Jubilant at the prospect of deliverance I felt for my pocket-knife. Horrors! it vas gone. But no. Almost miraculously, seemed to me, my hand at that instant touched it lying on the ground, where it had slipped when I fell. With a thankful heart I opened its only

I then cut deeply into the plank where overestimated the strength of the knife, and before I had taken off a slaving, to my infinite dismay and alarm, the blade snapped off short, leaving the useless handle clutched in my grasp. I now became thoroughly desperate. I reproached myself again and again for not having been wise enough to cut off the shoe. But it was too late now, for the broken blade, even if I could have used that, was away down in a crevice where my fingers could not

I called wildly for help.

"Youcan't getout, youcan't getout!" aid a commiserating voice. I started up. Bah! it was only a frog. "Youcan't getout, youcan't youcan't fool, fool!" hooted an owl from the wooded hill behind. And the frog subided. Again and again my agonized voice ent the dark with screams for help.

so horrible and No one came or answered, and at last. hoarse and exhausted, I sank down in despair. All became still again, save for the thrumming of the telegraph wires over-New England head, which to my startled imagination seemed like the sound of spirit voices warning me of doom. For some time I was a reporter on a prominent daily, lay there in a sort of stupor when-"Bo-loom!"

I roused up again. "Bo-loom!" It was striking twelve from the clock in the tower. Then for the first time the full terror of my situation impressed itself fully upon me, and I chilled with fear. Each stroke sounding out with relentless precision seemed to even hasten the time when the fast express would sweep round that curve, rush past and away, and leave me there maimed and bleeding, to die, no doubt, alone Blade. before the dawn. Despair gave me mightier strength han hope, but unguided by reason. Again I put forth almost superhuman efforts to escape. My foot was badly sprained, but I felt no pain. I was rantic with fear, and writhed in the dust like a demented creature.

O! it was dreadful to be held there without any hope of rescue, fancying I leard the horrible crunching of the iron wheels passing over my ankle!

My brain was on fire. I uttered shrick after shriek. Would no one come? Only the echoes answered. A terrible calm came over me, and I burst into a aughter.

I was going mad. I lay prostrate and closed my eyes. A nild and pleasant intoxication seemed o take possession of me, much like them real. In the midst of all was cribable feeling of relief. What an awful nightmare I had had, but it was all ever now; a fearfully realistic dream, of a locomotive. ing on a railway track, my foot held as

I slept thus, it seemed, a long time, drawn sound.

I tried once more to release myself, but my foot was held fast as ever. I was convinced that further effort was So, having laid my body as far as possible from the rails, I abandoned myself to a dogged despair. Again the shrill whistle sounded out ipon the midnight air, this time nearer for the station, and in a hundred seconds would be upon me.

Nearer and nearer flew the train. I ny shoe, by some unlucky chance, sank | dered. The sound of the monster's apof track, the powerful headlight might have revealed me to the engineer, and been the instrument of my *escue. But train, and, if seen at all, it would be too late to stop.

The ground began to tremble. Then a deafening, soul-piercing shriek seemed to freeze my very blood in its tried to raise my hand to my brow, but ould not move it. The strain was terrible. It was agony. It seemed that I must die even before the express dashed upon me.

I LAY PROSTRATE.

Just then, amid the clanging of the bell and the thunder of the train, the plete. Just at that moment the demongreat, Cyclopean eye of the engine shot ull upon ...e, blinding ...e with the glare. My head swam and my senses left me. But I was dimly conscious in the awful din of a hoarse shout, a sucession of brillian "-lighted windows, passing so rapidly as to seem to blend

When I came to my senses I found yself in an express car, recovering myself at the rate of fifty miles an hour. | ing hole in the neck, and exclaimed: it held my heel. But in my eagerness I | One of the train men, whom I at once | water.

Before speaking I looked down at my upstairs. eet. To my surprise they were both quiry as to how badly my foot was hurt | slow, irregular motion. by the train.

At this there was a general smile.

ome in. "When our engineer got a little past L-, he saw a man lying close to the crossing, and thinking he nust be either killed or injured, we ran back the train to pick him up. As to running over you, we couldn't have done youcan't!" croaked the sympathetic that without some inconvenience. You were not on the main line at all, but on I This was depressing. "Fool, fool, your boot in a second or two, took you along with us, and here you are."
I understood at once. I had had all > kindness. duties as usual.

crushed beneath the fast express, I lay the heel.-S. S. Cairns, in Yankee

ORIGIN OF THE WAKE.

English Festivals Which Have Been Held tor Many Centuries. The wake is the popular English religious elements in it.

A "lyke" or "liche wake" is a watch-eastle (Eng.) Chronicla.

SAVED BY ACCIDENT.

The Knife of a Surgeon Brings an Apentered the dingy dissecting hall and drew near the table whereon the corpse lay outstretched, with every line exposed. The body was that of as perfect a fashioned woman as I had ever and more distinct. They were whistling seen in flesh or marble. She was about twenty-five years of age, with a strongly knit frame, and a wealth of auburn hair that fell about the slab in disorder. The heard the singing of the rails, and shud- face was handsome and serene. The hands and feet were delicate; I noticed tightly into the space between rail and proach was swelling from a growl to a that the forefinger of the left hand was mad roar. Had I been on a straight line pricked, and betrayed the hard-worked needlewoman. During the consultation of the chief doctors over her case, when she was yet I was pinned to the track just around a live, at which the students were all sharp curve, a hill between me and the present, I had become convinced that an operation with the knife might have saved her. The head doctors, however, thought otherwise, and as I had no consulting voice in the matter no surgical operation was attempted. I imparted my doubts to the students, who agreed that I should get her body, as I wished to verify by a post-mortem how far wrong I had been in my inference that Heidelberg, announces than we may an operation on the living woman might have been safely performed. The particle teach us to make the fibre of wood a tient lingered on for some time, so long, in fact, that I began to think she would get well again and I defrauded of an interesting pathological case. So matters stood when the janitor gave me that morning the intelligence of her death. Her ailment was a loose, fatty tumor on the side of the neck, which weighed over a pound. I got my truss, donned my black apron and was soon ready. I determined to operate as conscientiously on the dead as I should scalpels and instruments were all well eye-lid, but there was no trace of life in those dull, lustreless orbs. The jaws were fast and the members rigid in death. I inserted the probe and plied the knife with the utmost care, nipping the arteries as they were disclosed, until a dozen or more held the principal vessels of the neck. After working a half-hour or so the ablation was comstrator, always an early bird, entered the hall and walked up to the table where I was busy. He bent over the corpse and scrutinized with great attention the cavity in the neck. Suddenly, as he gazed into the wound, he started back as if he had received a into one sheet c. flame, then-oblivion. galvanic shock. I looked at him in astonishment. He once more bent down, distended to its utmost the gap-

"Why, good God! man, the woman is recognized, was sprinkling my face with alive. Her carotid artery beats. Here, janitor, lend a hand to take this woman

I in turn peered into the wound, and there, though one was minus a shoe and began to pain me. I was soon able to vessel in the neck, which conveys the sit up and give an account of myself, so blood from the aorta to the head, could far as I knew, concluding with an in- be had inside, and it throbbed with a

The woman was in a trance. She was at once put into a warm bed, restora-Speak out," said I, "didn't the train tives were applied, and her neck proprun over me?" "I'll tell you all about orly bandaged. Her life, however, was it," said the conductor, who had just for a time in great danger; but she eventually recovered and left the hos#### pital cured .- N. Y. World. GERMAN PROFESSORS.

They Are Amazingly Profound But Dry as Sahara Desert Sand. The reputation of German scholars

research is proverbial, and no one who is well informed doubts that Germany has more professors who are authorities my excitement and mental suffering for in the different departments of knowl. ing being prevented; and a case in which nothing. There was nothing to do but to put a short face on the matter, and laugh with the rest. I thanked them men are the best teachers, and until a serious impairment of functions.—Arall warmly, you may be sure, for their student has reached an advanced stage kansas Traveler. he will often get better instruction from Then followed many reminiscences of a teacher a shade less proficient and adventures on the rail, some similar to more practical. Some of these profes-what had hefallen me, in which the sors are attractive and elegant lec-Wholesome of Fruits. what had befallen me, in which the sors are attractive and eloquent lecpoor fellows had not got off so easily. I turers, some are quite the reverse, and eached home early in the morning. for a dry, tedious, untintelligible, utter-My sprained ankle laid me by for a ly dispiriting lecture commend me to a are among the most wholesome of foods nonth, after which I took up my daily German professor who speaks fourteen and their nutritive value is very high, Oriental languages and can't tell a hawk affording all the elements necessary to And now when I cross a railway track, from a hand-saw. It is well to speak of life. According to table of relative food I can not help but recall with a shudder that dark, starless night cloistered shades of these ancient uniwhen reason tottered on its throne, versities, but let the student once enter beef. In fact the bananas are much betwhen, with the full expectation of being a dingy, poorly-lighted, chilly room ter for their proportionate elements some winter evening at five o'clock and are perfect while in lean beef there is prostrate and helpless, firmly held by listen to a professor, who for half an excess of the nitrogenous elements its own mother, and the cow fondled the hour, with a mumbling, indistinct articu- which must be carried off as waste pig as if it were her own calf. Neither lation and double-tracked, suspension while there is a lack of the carbonaceous oridge sentences, explains the theory of elements. Travelers in South America abnormal Latin roots of the third con- tell us that the laborers who gather the jugation, and, like Bob Acres, he will gum from the India rubber trees subsist feel his courage oozing out. The Ger- entirely upon bananas. Their routes man students are more thorough than lead them over mountains and deep into equivalent for the ecclesiastical term. American because it lies in their nature vigil. The "wake" or "revel" of a to undertake less and do it better. A thickets, bearing upon their shoulders country parish was of old the day of German is like a locomotive, a powerful the week, and, afterward, the day of machine as long as it is on the track, gates one hundred and fifty pounds. the year, on which the church had been but perfectly helpless when once off, dedicated. On these occasions the popu' while an American will either flounder lation gave themselves up to wholesale back or find another track. Some of the revelry, and the people disported them. Germans are prodigious scholars, and selves in all kinds of games and athletic seem to have laid the whole kingdom of will sustain more people than if devoted Only the echoes answered. A terrible calm came over me, and I burst into a paroxysm of uncontrollable, mirthless the large crowds attracted the legion of the la hawkers and merchants, until the American students are superior. Un-'wake," or dedication festival, degen- less one can read German fluently and erated into a common fair without any understands it when spoken, the first year after coming abroad will have to Kellogg. To remedy some of the more glaring be largely devoted to learning the lanthat produced by morphine. Pleasing evils, Edward I., in 1285, passed a statute guage. The marked superiority of Gerfancies flitted before me, and I thought forbidding them to be held in church many is in the professional departments evils, Edward I., in 1285, passed a statute guage. The marked superiority of Geryards; and in 1448 Henry VI. enacted of law and medicine. With us a young present to my disordered brain an inde- that no display of wares and merchan- man who has not even a decent common dise should be allowed on the great school education, takes two short terms dise should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the great school education, the should be allowed on the should be allowed by the should be allow but only an illusion. And I slept there 1536 by Henry VIII. who appointed that An office boy of equally brilliant acas sweetly as I ever did on my own bed the "wake" should be held in every quirements dusts out a lawyer's office "But my father can not afford that," at home.

Culty, suggested a trip to the Tosemite. day in October, but this was never gen- night law school, and is shortly ad- the doctor replied, "ask him to buy you I slept thus, it seemed, a long time, when I was awakened by a clear, long drawn sound.

I sat up, hardly realizing where I was, and listened. It was the shrill warning and listened. It was the shrill warning and listened a long that this was never generally sense. A doctor or lawyer here has spent several years in elementary and from the doctor replied, "ask him to buy you a pony and a village cart and take a long drive every day." "I am a fraid," said him to buy you a pony and a village cart and take a long drive every day." "I am a fraid," said his patient, "that papa could not afford defensive, but was soon obliged to fight in earnest, and left off after the second the second of the second which should be observed, and though spent several years in elementary and from the doctor replied, "ask him to buy you a pony and a village cart and take a long drive every day." "I am a fraid," said his patient, "that papa could not afford the doctor first acted on the defensive, but was soon obliged to fight in earnest, and left off after the second the custom since the Restoration has schools, four years in college, and from the occasion. "Then take a good long the custom since the Restoration has gradually declined, it still holds good four to five years in professional study. ride in an open horse-car every day," he said; "it will do you just as much good," he has at least had a chance to be, and My friend's daughter is now engaged in ing on a railway track, my foot held as in a vise, waiting to be crushed by the ing of a corpse all night by the detrain whose whistle I now heard echocased person's friends. It is now dismonitory symptoms of a lachrymal out- ing and re-echoing far away among the used except in parts of Ireland. - New- the young professional man in America. -Artur Woodcock, in Chicago Journal | laily.-Boston Post.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY. -The sales of Dresden china at the works in Meissen last year amounted to $475,000, the greatest sum ever realize in a single year.

-To coat tin dishes to withstand the action of chemicals used in developing and toning photos, use a quick-drying asphalt varnish, as that for bicycles. -The highest military authorities have determined to build in the neigh borhood of St. Petersburg a large factory for the use of smokeless powder. -One hundred boys and girls of Wood land, Cal., whose ages range from twelve to nineteen years, have formed a Cooperative Fruit Canning and Drying Union. -It is reported that an effort is being made at Atlanta, Ga., to organize a company with $600,000 capital to establish . newly-invented system of electric mc tive power. -It has lately been shown that if tw-coins are placed on opposites sides of a plate of glass and electrified for two minutes they will leave a perfect image of themselves upon the glass.

-Herr Meyer, in a recent address in source of human food. Wood fibre con-

it is hoped to make starch. -A thermometer valued at ten thousand dollars-the finest in America-is among the instrumental resources of Johns Hopkins university. The graduations on the scale are so fine that a microscope is necessary for reading them. -The latest report states that twentyone observatories are now engaged in the international undertaking of photohave done on the live woman. My graphing the entire heavens. Each observatory will have to take about 700 within reach on the table. I raised an photographs in the zone assigned to it, and it is hoped to finish the work in do well to pound some of the fashionathree or four years > watercourses as a railway motive power. It is proposed that the track shall be laid on an embankment in the middle of He very frequently accepts no fees from the current, and that the locomotives shall have two paddle-wheels dipping into the water and revolved by it. -In his electrical treatment of a wart Dr. Patrzek, of Oppeln, first moistens i with a warm solution of salt, then thrusts both needles through it just art. "Why, no. They accepted my maabove the skin, and gradually turns or the current until pain is felt. Five cells are sufficient battery. In most destroy the wart, which gradually dries up and falls away. -M. de Malarce recently informed the French Academy of Sciences that the use of the metric system had in 1887 be come compulsory in countries having ar aggregate population of 302,000,000 eing an increase obliged to use it in ten years; use wa optional in countries having nearly 97, 000,000 inhabitants; and it was legally admitted and partially applied in countries having an aggregate population of 395,000,000, -An important advance in surgerythe successful substitution of catgut, Galee-"Why not?" "I went to church ivory and bone for defects in bone, muscles and nerve sinews-was illuscongress at Berlin. The inserted material sucks up the juices of the body, establishing the junction of the separated ends without any shortening of the part. Prof. Gluck presented cases in which mobil'ty had been restored to defective fingers—a hitherto impossible feat-by insertions of from two to four a side-track close beside it. We cut off for thoroughness and patient, laborious inches of catgut; a case in which the removal of a tumor from the thigh had left a defective bone, which was remedied by the insertion of ivory, shorten-

> VALUE OF BANANAS. The value of bananas as food is no generally appreciated. Ripe bananas The people in and around Quito live almost entirely upon bananas. It may seem rather surprising, but an acre of land, well utilized in raising bananas, to any other product. Of course the upon their native soil; still, if selected with care, they will be found very wholesome and relishable. - Dr. J. H.

What Papa Could Afford. It not infrequently happens that physicians base their advice to patients, at least in part, upon the latter's financial condition. A case in point. A friend tells me that his daughter consulted a culty, suggested a trip to the Yosemite.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS. -He who fights and runs away, may get shot in the back.—Texas Siftings. -We saw a bald-headed man in the ery last row, but it was at church, not the opera. -Spontaneous combustion is sometimes caused by an accumulation of oiled rags and sometimes by a collection of insurance policies."—Elmira Gazette. -Miss Plaingirl-"I sometimes fear that he doesn't love me; yet he kissed me last night." Miss Prettypert-"Then you may rest assured that he loves you."

-N. Y. Sun. -Mother (of spoiled child)-"I am greatly obliged to you for bringing my little boy back." Organ Grinder—"I fraida he teacha munka bada tricks."-

N. Y. Weekly. -Snooper-"It's no wonder they are always finding microbes, bacteria and such things in France." Simeral — 'Why?" Snooper-"Because France is just the place for Parasites." -The Young Veteran - "Smithers? Smithers is a retired artist." "Retired artist, eh? Why, he is only twenty-eight years old." "That may be; but you dont have to be very old to retire from art .- Puck.

-The scene is a Roman studio: "How sists essentially of cellulose, from which do you know that old fellow is an Amer-"Because he asked the price of ican?" of that Madonna. Any other but an American would have asked who painted it."-Society. -"Judge of my horror, madame, as I yesterday caught my little Otto, aged three, in the act of tearing my newly written poems into fragments." Lady-"What! Can the little fellow read?"-Journal Amusant. -It is not impossible to say many more original things about original sin, and the fashionable preacher would ble sins of fashionable sinners of the -There is talk in France of utilizing present time.-N. O. Picayune. -A.-"A more deserving medical man than our friend Richard does not exist.

his patients!" B .- "You don't say so?" A .- "For he generally settles with the heirs."-Fliegende Blatter. -The academy committee have a grudge against you, haven't they?" asked one disciple of the brush of a brother in rine," "So I saw. If they were well disposed they would have it sent back." -Detective (to country grocer who cases two sittings of five minutes each had been robbed)-"What kind of goods did the burglars take?" Storekeeper-

"No goods; only money. Didn't even touch my cigars." Detective-"Ah, there's a clew. Must have been some body who knows the place."-N. Y. Tribune. -"Did you ever see any thing like fice. "It's Russian, isn't it?" "I don't know what it is: but it looks as if two sections of the alphabet had run into each other and got telescoped."-Washington Post. -Miss Goodley-"I do not think so much of Jack Rounton as I did." Miss with him last night and he volunteered to find the text." "Well, what has that trated by Prof. Gluck at the surgical to do with it?" "O, nothing, except that I can't say that I have much respect for a man who hunts for the Epistle to the Romans in the Old Testament."-N. Y. Sun. -"What must I do to awaken a true appreciation of my work?" asked a poet, speaking to a publisher that has just brought out an edition of Ibsen. "You must write dramas without beginning and without an end-dramas from which the principal characters disappear, without warning, never to be heard of "I have done that," said the again." poet, "and yet no howl is raised over my work. What else must I do?" "You must sit down and wait until you are sixty years old." "But suppose I should not be recognized even after I have attained that age?" "Well, if you are not, you will then know that you are a failure."-Arkansaw Traveller. Cow and Pig Make Friends.

A peculiar case of brute attachment

came under the notice of Miss Freddie Lehman not long since. A little stray pig about as big as a bar of soap, that had become lost from its mother, took up with one of Miss Lehman's milch cows, and the cow and the pig became wonderfully attached to each other. The pig suckled the cow as if she were could be separated from the other, and they seemed perfectly miserable when apart for only a few moments. The little pig foraged for the cow, and would often slip in the stable where the horses. were feeding and, stealing their provender, carry it out to its adopted mother; and the cow would swing to any morsel it knew the pig would like, and carry it to her little foster child. The two formed themselves into a society for mutual protection and aggrandizement, and they prospered and grew fat in their happiness. But a dark day came. Mr. Piggie grew up and got fat, and Miss Lehman sold it to the butcher. The cow immediately began to pine, and lost her appetite. And the cow still continues to mourn her loss, and her eyes wear a peculiar sad and pathetic expression .-Albany News and Advertiser. Her Duel with the Doctor.

An extraordinary duel is reported to have taken place in Vienna. A fewdays ago a girl, aged nineteen, challenged a young doctor, who had offended one of her friends and refused to apologize. He was challenged in the usual. way by two seconds, a student and an officer of reserves, and when he ridiculed the idea the girl threatened to horsewhip him publicly. The challenge was then accepted, and a meeting with seconds and doctors took place in a hired round with a wound in the left side, which was declared not to be dangerous. The girl, a Croatian educated in South America, is said by the seconds to be "treatment," which costs just ten cents place without casting another look at him. - Vienna Tagblatt.

MENT.

If I could read my title clear to castles in the And could secure a baronet, my father's cash to Td bid farewell to carthly woes and wipe my

For what's the use of money if you can't have what it buys? If I could drop my maiden name-the ordinary

And call myself: "My Lady," and could wear a ducal crown, Td never more feel envy, but enjoy that blissful rest That comes alone from owning a coat-of-arms and crest. If I could only change my friends, that everlast ·ing mob.

Of Misters and of Misses, known as Clara, Dick I always would be happy, and no sinful pride evince,

If I could hear my intimates called Baron, Duke or Prince.

If I could lose my nasal twang and Democratic And buy myself the figure of a more patrician I'd never, by my carriage, or by word or look betray betray

The fact that I was born and bred in plain

-Life.

SOCIABILITY.

Sweet Discusses the Subject in an Interesting Way.

Not long since I received a letter with a Texas postmark richly embossed on the envelope. It was from an old-time friend whom I had not seen for many years. While he avoided in promulgating his esoteric cogitations, superficial sentimentalities, or physchological observations too much platitudinous ponderosity, he did not punctuate any better than a mere fly. A portion of his letter reads:

"deer elick ime: thinkin Serusly about comin too new. York but furst; i wanter no air The peaple. soshiabul. Air they gladd, to hev straingurs. cum and stay for, i wud not keer to stay in a toun wheur I was Not, wantid trooly JIM: McSnifter; The question: "Are the New Yorkers over. Besides giving the subject considerable thought myself, I have consulted with a number of Southern gentlemen who have resided in New York for years and obtained their views. which, however, differ widely. Some who lost their watches while mingling with the crowd on a holiday on Broadway were of the opinion that there was Under the circumstances, I have concluded not to express any decided have come under my observation and who may contemplate visiting New York to form their own conclusions.

A SOCIABLE YOUTH.

If, after reading the following reply to McSnifter's inquiry, they see proper to come to New York, and find their there will be no moral or legal obligations on my part to supply them with lairs. This may appear to be cold and unfeeling on my part, but I will not be misunderstood by those who have had any experience in working a New York railroad magnate for a pass.

THE REPLY. James McSnifter, Calaveras Canyon, Texas.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the people of New York being addicted to sociability some of them are more so than others.

When I first came to New York, some years ago, although my boarding-house was not more than twenty minutes walk from the houses Billy Vanderbilt, "Wally" Astor, Jay Gould, et al, none of them called on me for six months. I don't know how much longer they would not have called on me, for I became disgusted and moved out of the neighborhood. I have given them the cold shoulder ever since. At the same time, there were other persons in that vicinity who did not put so many frills. A nice gentleman, who was a letter carrier, used to call every day, and the janitor tried to borrow money from me, so you see there are cases in the Sahara of New York exclusiveness. There was also a bar-keeper in the neighborhood who seemed to be very much of a gentleman. Now that I come to think about it lings.

THREE CONEY ISLAND COONIES.

THE AMERICAN HEIRESS' LA- there are quite a number of very nice people in New York that do not permit a stranger to feel as if he was being neglected. A gentleman, who is de scended from one of the old Knicker bocker families of New York, called on me regularly, about the first of the month. He owned the house in which I had rented a flat. I knew of a gentle man from Texas who was visited every day for a whole week by a landlord who was worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. He took a great deal of interest in the exile from Texas.

I get letters and circulars almost every day from some of the most prominent merchant princes, asking me to call on them before buying elsewhere. There is no stiffness about them. This does not look as if I was being boycotted. It is also a fact that some officials are very sociable with the public money. There seems to be a good deal of cordiality among the people, and it is not confined to our sex. If you go to Coney Island in summer, and come back on the last steamboat, you see much to convince you that haughty resociable?" is not as readily answered as serve is not cultivated to any great exone might suppose before thinking it cess. I never saw people more sociable in my life for the time being. From what I read in the papers here, I infer that some New Yorkers are very sociable with other men's wives. In fact, the population of New York, being composed principally of men and women, is not very different from pec-

A SOCIABLE PAIR.

ple in Texas. There are about ten thousand saloons, more or less-probtoo much sociability in New York. ably more-on Manhattan Island, and, tudging from the tableaux of returning revelers seen on the streets after dark. opinion, but merely state facts that the whisky produces pretty much the same genial brand of conviviality as in Texas.

New York inebriates become confidentially drunk, festoon each other with their arms, and walk on both sides of the street just as they do in less favored localities. Sometimes people are so sociable that there is only one handkerchief between them. Still, Jim, I don't want you to go to the expense of coming to New York and then go back and say that you were not appreciated. The people are not as neighborly as in Texas. They do not prow parched coffee of each other, and usually the nearest neighbors are the most distant, which may sound strange, but is a fact nevertheless.

In Texas, out on the frontier, a man's nearest neighbor on the bald prairie may be five miles distant, and yet those neighbors are very familiar. They know all about each other's affairs, call each other by their Christian names, and swap lies and chewing tobacco.

Now in New York the nearest neighbors are not five miles apart. My nearest neighbor, for instance, is only eightthus enable Mr. McSnifter and others een inches distant. There is nothing but a brick wall between us, and yet we have never spoken to each other. For all I know he may be a boodle alderman. He is probably under the impression that I am a counterfeiter, or something surroundings not what they expected, of the sort. I have never tried to borrow a quarter from him, and he never sees me when we look at each other. We railroad passes to return to their native have been intimate this way for the last two years.

If we were as friendly in proportion to the distance between us as neighbors are in Texas who live five miles apart, how thick we would be! Damon and Pythias would be deadly enemies by

But I must close, James. You can decide for yourself whether the people in New York are sociable enough to suit you. I think you might stand it for a little while. There used to be a great deal of sociability in New York. The old Dutch burghers were in the habit of sitting on their stoops in summer, drinking and smoking, and saying: "Wie gehts" to every body that passed, but they are dead. They, too, have passed. Yours ALEX E. SWEET.

Not Unlike the Hitton Case. Excited Man (entering a lawyer's office)-You're a lawyer, ain't you? Lawyer-Yes, I am a lawyer. What can I do for you? "I want you to sue the New York World for fifty thousand dollars damages, and I want you to set about it right away. I am bound to have vindication.

"What has the New York World done "It has indulged in no end of abuse. It said that I was a Judas Iscariot. "Do you want to sue the World for de faming your character?" "Defaming my character? Not at all. It is the memory of the dead that I want to vindicate. It has slandered Judas Iscariot!"-Texas Siftings.

It Was Different. Old Coupons (in his office)-What an outrage it is to drive the poor old blind newsman out of the Fulton ferry, where he has sold papers for fifty years. Confidential Clerk-That's so. The is positively disgusting. Old Coupons (looking out of the win dow)-There's that lame banana peddler in front of our building again. John (to the office boy), go down and tell the policeman to drive Lim off .- Toxas Sift-

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

VALUE OF HYPNOTISM

Extract from a Lecture by J. H. Kellogs, M. D., of the Battle Creek Sanitarium. It is reported that Dr. Bernheim of Paris is treating inebriates by hypnotism. He claims to be able to create a distaste for liquor by suggesting that it be given up without really hypnotizing the patient. But a suggestion of the is really employed. It is claimed that a suggestion made will remain, but this instance, a young lady had a paralyzed chemical bodies, and to investigate hand which was so lifeless that pins their bearing in relation to each other. told that that hand was perfectly well and it became sensitive to every touch. given upon that hand when her eyes after repeated trials. Dr. Bernheim to make drunkards into sober men, thieves into honest ones, and that lying by hypnotism. He claims it is one of notic state.

who are really good subjects retain suggestions which are made after the hypnotic state has been thrown off. There is nothing mysterious about hypnotism; the time into a sort of vacuity or equifrom any source. It is something like the mind in a tions take no definite direction, while in the hypnotic state they can be definitely guided. It is wholly the peculiar operation of the mind of the subect and not of the mind of the operator. It is not possible for a person to communicate intelligence except through the senses. Prof. Carpenter, one of the most noted mesmerists, confessed this to me a few years ago. The hypnotic state always ends in sleep and the per-ries some idea forward. have schooled persons who ing pins thrust in their flesh and subble emotion. This has an effect upon the imagination of the audience and generally helps to secure two or three persons who are ready subjects to hypnotic influence. In London a mesmerist became bankrupt from lack of patronage and his "horse" sued him for unpaid salary and explained the whole manner of procedure to the court.

Before the discovery of chloroform, hypnotism was sometimes employed during surgical operations, but it was very unreliable, and the patient was as likely to awaken from the hypnotic sieep in the midst of the operation as other #### wise. CAUSES OF POVERTY.

When a Man Drinks His Family Is o the Road to Destitution. Edward Atkinson, the political econonist, on being asked by the New York World on the causes of poverty said, concisely: "Ignorance and incapacity." Chauncey Depew replied as follows:

"There are a good many causes of poverty," he said, after reflecting a moment, "and they are by no means permen whom I have helped, and am help- drunkard.-Ram's Horn. ing continually. They seem to be utterly unable to earn a living for themselves. I never could discover why. Judge Prendergast's court, ad They have had the same advantages same from cigarette smoking. and opportunities as I have had.

"Lack of self-confidence is often the quently no assertiveness, no independence, no pluck and no push. They seem to be afraid to stand up and speak for themselves, and prefer to lean on 90,000 paupers and spends annually for others. Poverty in such cases is inevitable.

"Another cause of poverty very prev alent in this country to-day is that many young men are wanting in decision and fixity of purpose. If they get into a good place at the start they should stick to it, knowing that by perseverance, industry and ability they win promotion in due course as vacancies occur. But they see or hear of some one making a fortune in Wall street or in ranching or mining, and away they go to try their luck. When they lose, as they do in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, that is the end of them: they can never settle down to ordinary ways of earning a living after that and their descent is rapid.

"Rum is the greater cause of poverty; the other causes put together. When a man drinks to excess he lets go of sand men who have been ruined by rum. avarice of these grasping corporations for which he may be unfitted. Poverty often results from such aimlessness. But the lazy man is always a poor man." WHAT ALCOHOL DOES.

Let the Fallacy as to the Necessity of Moderate Drinking Be Removed. "I had once no thought of alcohol exept as food. I thought it warmed us. I thought it gave us strength. I thought it enabled us to endure mental and bodily fatigue. I thought it cheered the sort is of no service unless hypnotism | heart, and lifted up the mind into greater activity. But it so happened that I was asked to study the action of is not true in the majority of cases. For instance, a young lady had a paralyzed chemical bodies, and to investigate could be thrust into it or it could be And so I took alcohol from my shelf in seared with a hot iron and she felt no the laboratory, as I might any other pain. In the hypnotic state she was drug or chemical, and I asked it in the course of experiments extending over a lengthened period: 'What do you do?' She could count the number of taps I asked it: 'Do you warm the animal' body when you are taken into it?' The were closed, but when out from under reply came invariably: 'I do not, except the influence, her hand was just as in a mere surface excitement. Then I dead to sensation as at first and this turn around to it in another direction and ask it: 'Do you give muscular claims not only to cure bodily ills, but strength?' I test it by the most rigid analysis and experiment 1 can adopt, and its reply is: 'I give no muscular and swearing can only also be corrected | strength.'I turn to its effect on the organs of the body and find, that while it expethe best means of moral reform, all dites the heart's action, it reduces tothat is required being to give the sub- nicity; and, in the nervous system, I jects good instruction while in the hyp- find the same reply, that is to say, I Fireside. find the nervous system more quickly But as a matter of fact, hypnotism is warn out under the influence of this not really to be relied upon for either agent than if none were taken at all. I the juice from the pulp, and add to one physical healing or moral reform. In ask it: 'Can you build up any of the tis- quart of pulp half a teacup of rich, the first place it is only now and then sues of the body?' The answer is again person can be completely hypnotized in the negative: 'I build nothing. If I gill of melted butter, salt and pepper to or influenced at all, and in the second | do any thing, I add fatty matter to the place, only a small proportion of those body, but that is a destructive agent, light, and add to the butter which piercing the tissues, destroying their powers and making them less active for the of boiling lard, and drop in one large their work.' Next I turn around to the spoonful at a time, removing as soon as facts of experience. I think: 'Well, as crisp and brown. Serve as you would the subject is not operated upon by the mind of the operator, but the state is will experiment on myself.' I do so. I produced by the workings of his own gave up that which I thought warmed subjected myself to this ordeal, I never work; I never did work with equal faculty-with so much facility; I never difference being that in dreams sugges- I have done during the period that I have abstained altogether. Let this moderate drinking be removed."-B. W. Richardson, M. D., in Temperance.

LIQUOR ADULTERATIONS.

Other Adulterants. The American Analyst reports a dealer in liquor adulterants as saying: Our largest business is in the liquor extracts of Otard and Cognac brandies, themselves to endure the pain of hav- rye, bourbon, applejack, Irish and Scotch whiskies, Santa Cruz, Jamaica mit to other similar tests without visi- and Medford rums, not to speak of the fancy cordials and liquors. To make Old Tom, I take a teaspoonful of French spirits, one of water, three drops of glucose syrup and two drops of the extract. That makes the Old Tom you have drank in a dozen saloons in this city. There are some funny things about this part of the business. Most people like their whisky and brandy aged and free from fusel oil. But there are a great many, especially among manual laborers, who like it fresh and harsh. They want it "to cut as it goes down." supply this demand we sell fusel oil to rectifiers and even retailers. They mix a barrel of whisky, of spirits and one of water with a gallon of fusel oil. That makes a 10-cent rye which beats a torchlight procession. It's cheap, too, and stands an intelligent dealer in only $1 a gallon. That's 20 cents a bottle, and less than I cent a drink on an average. No wonder rum-sellers grow rich and become aldermen or go to Congress.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

A MODERATE drinker is worth a thousand times more to the devil for defeetly clear. There are hundreds of structive purposes than an out-and-out

A CHICAGO college student was recently committed to the insane asylum, in Judge Prendergast's court, adjudged in-

To say: "I can drink or let it alone." is about as wise as to say: "I can drive cause of failure. Many men seem to nails in a lion's tail and get away behave no faith in themselves, conse-fore he can grab me."—Ram's Horn. GEORGE BLAIKLOCK, the London Temperance lecturer who is traveling in this country, says that his city contains > drink about $70,000,000. "TIM DELANEY'S Pump," an old saoon at Worcester, Mass., where beer had been the chief beverage dispensed, has been turned into a Temperance restaurant and coffee house by the local

> I see but this one lesson-no nation, no individual, can thrive so long as it be under the dominion of a besetting sin. It must conquer or bo conquered. It must destroy or be destroyed by it. It must strike at the sources of it or be stricken down by it into the dust -

Canon Farrar. A New Sort of Inebriety.

Dr. Mendel, a noted nerve specialist of Berlin, in pursuit of the origin of a certain form of nervous disease, has it is the cause of more poverty than all hunted down a form of inebriety, not before recognized. He terms it "coffee inebriety," and says it is rapidly increasevery thing. He loses his position and ing in that country, especially among is unable to secure other employment. working-women. He has found large A drunkard can not be trusted with numbers of them who consume more work or responsibility. He and those than a pound each every week. The dependent upon him, if he has a family, become paupers. They have to be insomnia, great depression of spirits, effect is manifest in frequent headaches, helped, first by the neighbors and then trembling of the extremities, irregular by the town. In my own personal ex- action of the heart with all the accomperience I have known about fifty thou- panying distress. These symptoms constantly grow worse and are relieved These causes account for the failure of by increasing quantities of coffee; some men who are willing to work, but are times the tincture is used. Dyspepsia to secure and keep regular em- in aggravated form is usually present, ployment. There is a vast amount of as well as blotches and pimples on the poverty caused by men who would rath- skin. A bruise or slight injury proves er loaf than work. When a man finds the starting point of inflammation, eryhis mission in the world he should re-main constant to it and not leave one and fear of death accompany this form trade or business to engage in another of inebriety in all cases.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Cocoa should never thicken in the cup; if it does it shows the presence of starch of some kind.

Hash Roll: Take a rich biscuit dough, roll into a long sheet and spread it well with butter and finely hashed ham or beef already cooked. Roll up, place in a deep plate and steam nearly three hours. This needs a good brown gravy in serving, and it makes an admirable supper dish.-Western Rural. fills the house when cabbage or other | the Colonel saw the bear dance he made green vegetables are boiling, follow these simple directions: Put your him. His friends called him oil, but he cabbage in a net, and when you have was pig-headed and ob. sate and reboiled it five minutes in the first pot of fused to stay off. He suddenly jumped water, lift it out, drain for a few sec- in on the bear with a yell and a whoop, onds, and place carefully in a second and being new to our ways the beast pot, which you must have full of fast- probably supposed himself attacked. boiling water on the stove. Empty the -Blackberry Tapioca: Wash a cup of tapioca through several waters and cover with cold to stand several hours. Then set over the fire, add a pint of boiling water and let simmer slowly until the tapioca is perfectly clear. Sweeten a quart of blackberries, stir in the tapioca, take from the fire, pour in a dish, stand aside to cool and serve very cold with cream and sugar.-Farm and till tender in the second .- Boston Bud-

-Cucumber Fritters: Peel and grate full grown, tender cucumbers. Press all sweet cream, half a pint of flour, one taste. Beat four eggs separately, very should be very thick. Have ready a ketfried oysters, which they very much resemble.-Ladies' Home Journal. -Did you ever notice a boy whose mind. In persons who are subjects for hypnotism, they bring their minds for ing the whole period in which I have man, talking to him sensibly, putting confidence in him as if he were much librium, ready to receive impressions did more work; I never did more varied older than he is? If you have, you have seen a boy that was very manly even at six or seven years of age. Now all the dream which converts the slamming of did work with such complete sense of difference in the world between a boy a shutter into a clap of thunder, the freedom from anxiety and worry, as and a young animal, in the matter of training or education, is in the boy's susceptibility of a higher degree of edufallacy, then, as to the necessity of cation. Both are pliable when young; both can be readily molded .- N. Y. Wit-

-Curry of Spring Chicken: Cut up a a young chicken; put two ounces of Confession of a Dealer in Fusel Oil and butter in a frying pan, cut a small onion in slices, and add it with the chicken to the butter, and fry a golden brown; take up the chicken, put it in a saucepan with a little water, season with salt and son awakes in just the condition he was line. With French spirits and color as let simmer gently for fifteen minutes, before unless his imagination still car- a basis, I can make you any liquor you then add a teaspoonful of sugar, and the want with our extracts. Here are the juice of a small lemon. Mix a table-Traveling mesmerists have "horses" essences of Old Tom, London Dock, spoonful of curry powder and one of engaged to follow them from place to Swan, Holland, and Schiedam gins, the flour with a little cold water, and add to a circle around "Dr. B. B. Belinger, with boiled rice. - Ladies' Home Journal.

THE KHOJAK TUNNEL

A Wonderful Engineering Feat on an Asiatic Railroad.

An article in the Allababad Pioneer gives some interesting particulars concerning the tunnel that has just been completed through the Khojak, on the railroad from Quetta to Candahar. The Khojak Pass is 7,500 feet above the sea. and about 2,000 feet above the level of the surrounding country. The tunnel pierces the range at right angles, and its course is therefore due east and west, and it enters the hill about 1,000 foot below the crest of the pass. The tunnel is 12,600 feet, or two and a half miles approximataly, and it will carry & double line of rails. For the first half the floor ascends about 1 in 1000, and for the second half of the journey it descends at an incline of 1 in 40. There are two main shafts, one 318 feet and the other 290 feet deep, which were sunk in order to facilitate the construction of the tunnel. The chief obstacle to progress arose from the flooding of the tunnel at more than one point. A large spring was cut and the water flooded the shaft on the Candahar side to the depth of 180 feet.

It took ten weeks to pump out the water, and in the western heading as much as 500 gallons a minute were constantly rushing out of the west mouth. In order to overcome this difficulty a side cutting had to be made. The magnitude of the work is testified to by the banks of shale and rock at the mouths of the tunnel and at the pitheads, which are said to be quite altering the landscape in places. One curious discovery made during the progress of the work, as the result of an investigation into the cause of certain mysterious explosions, was that it was proved that "combustion had arisen inside a case of blasting gelatine."

Mr. Francis and His Island. J. J. Francis, B. C. of Hong Kong, can be, like Defoe's immortal creation, monarch of all he surveys when he lands upon the island of Balambangan, off the coast of North Borneo. The island was conceded to Mr. Francis during a holiday visit which that gentleman paid to Borneo last year, and is described as being close upon fifty miles in circumference, and lying about ten or eleven miles off the extreme northern point of Borneo. It is 150 miles from the port of Sandakan, and has no inhabitants, nor any trace of any. The northern half of the island is a sandy plain, well suited for pasturing cattle or for cocoanut planting. The other side consists of a dense jungle of large trees, something after the style of the dark forest which so impeded Mr. Stanley in his last journey acress Africa. The shore, as is ommon in the tropics, is fringed with mangroves. There is an abundance of of which reaches over 400 feet, and in the valleys is soil evidently very suitable for coffee planting. There are two good harbors. Wild cattle are apparently abundant, and there are three species of deer, and plenty of wild pigs, ut no crocodiles. So far Mr. Francis has formed no definite idea as to what he shall do with Balambangan, but he intends to send a competent man down o examine and report upon the place. -Colonies and India.

THE ARIZONA KICKER. Good Things Taken from a Recent Issue

Among the many good things in the last issue of the Arizona Kicker we extract the following: OUR GAIN - Monday afternoon an Italian with a dancing bear struck the town, and half an hour later Colonel Siderial Thompson, Assistant Register of Deeds, awoke from a snooze he had been enjoying in an arm-chair in the -To avoid the odor which too often | Mighty West billiard parlors. When up his boozy mind to have a wallz with At any rate he set to work with teeth first water away and boil your cabbage and claws, and so used the Colonel up in about three minutes that he died that night. The general verdict of the public is that his loss is our gain. He had within a few weeks anyhow.

SETTLED AT LAST. - As will be noticed elsewhere in the regular court proceedings, the legal trouble between the editor of the Kicker and Prof. McCall has at last been settled and an amicable understanding arrived at. The professor came here about two years ago, and being in hard luck, borrowed our only Sunday shirt and fifty cents in cash, and later on refused to either return the same or recognize our claim. We posted him as a dead beat and he sued us for $50,000. We proved him a bigamist and he fired two shots at us in front of the post-office. We advised lynching, and he was laid up for a month in the attempt to horsewhip us. The professor instituted no less than five suits against us, and on several different occasions planned our assassination.

Day before yesterday, while the professor was laying for us with a shotgan at the post-office, he was run over in a stampade of mules. We were the first to reach him and render aid. He was carried to the Kicker office in an unconscious condition, and it was half an hour before he came to. Mutual friends seized upon the occasion to settle the trouble, and their efforts were successful. We now desire to announce in italic that the professor is an honest, worthy gentleman, possessed of a fine voice and well qualified to teach the divine art of music. On the other hand, he subscribes for the Kicker, paying in advance, of course, and advertises to the extent of $34 per year.

APPLY TO THE CORONER.-Just as our outside pages were going to press Judge Knight called at the Kicker office and invited us to ride out to Lone Tree with him in his horse and buggy, and half an hour later we were there. The boys late of the Royal Colle of London-the only discoverer of a sure cure for consumption." The doctor has been with us about a month, claiming to cure almost every thing on earth, but after his remedies had knocked over half a dozen citizens the boys concluded that it was time for him to drop out. He refused to drop. Hence a committee called and asked him to take a walk. He had taken the walk and stood on a barrel when we caught sight of him. There was a connection between the doctor's neck and a stout limb, and be was making a speech.

The doctor recognized us at once and besought us to explain to the crowd that he was in a hurry to leave the country. He couldn't fly, but he would do the next best thing. Although he had not advertised with us, and he had given all his job-work to our cotemporary, we could not refuse his request. As a personal favor to us the boys, after letting him hang long enough to insure a good case of sore throat, cut him down, gave him a nip of whisky and advised him to go East. He went. The last we saw of him he was making such time as no jack-rabbit in this country can ever hope to equal. Any one having any legal claim on 105 bottles of consumption cure, together with a machine for making pills, two packs of cards and office furniture valued at $3.25, will please apply to our worthy coroner. While Dr. Belinger still lives to the world at large, there is no doubt that he is dead to this community."- Detroit Free Press.

Loss of Appetite. If one has lost his appetite and can not think of any thing that he wants to eat, the best remedy is to stop eating entirely for twenty-four hours and then it is safe to guarantee that he will find his appetite much improved. While fasting he must not neglect copious water drinking to dilute the blood, which has become sluggish. It does not do any harm to go without an occasional meal, for what we eat to-day does us good to-morrow. It requires about fourteen hours for a meal to be fuily digested and absorbed .- Dr. J. H. Kellogg.

In the Divorce Belt. "And where is your little brother, Flossie?

"Divorced?" "Yes; mamma's got him and papa's

"O, we's been divorced."

got me."-N. Y. Sun. -General Lee at one time was very much bored by a Georgia man who had made frequent personal applications for a furlough. One morning the General asked his tormentor if he understood the position of a soldier. The latter said he did. He was ordered to assume it. General Lee then gave the command, "Right about face; forward, march." As he never gave the command "to halt" the Georgian kept on marchfine limestone on the hills, the highest | ing until he got tired. He did not get his furlough.

-- A small boy, anxious to help support his widowed mother, applied for a position as errand-boy in the shop of a fishdealer. "No," said the man: "I want a boy stout enough' to carry a bushel of oysters on his shoulder. You are too small to do that." "Yes," answered small to do that." the boy, "but I can go twice." ready answer carried the day. The boy rot the place, and with it a good start in the world .- Urited Presbyterian.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year ..... six months INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines of the same of the lines on. Special contracts for advertising longer tand three months.

orrespondents must enclose full name and iress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1890.

Show this paper to your neighbor, ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one should be without it.

WE ARE pleased to announce that the Sixth District Republican Congressional Convention will be held in Oakland on Thursday, August 21st, MARYLAND is not a large State territorially, but no health or pleasure-seeker, whether he prefers the pure mountain air, the enchanting Battlefields of Cedar Creek, (Middlevalley or the bracing seashore, need go beyond its limits.

surplus is in sheel. Perhaps it was and October 16, 1890, affording a rare the despatch of the Sun's special cor- opportunity to visit the Historic respondent to that effect, telegraphed Ground where the contending hosts from that spot, which set the West- struggled for victory. ern Union on fire.

THE extension of the Confluence and Oakland Railroad from its present terminus, Manor Lands, to Oak- 1890, valid for return journey ten land is a matter that deeply concerns days including day of sale, every citizen of the county, especially will run.

CARDINAL GIBBONS, in an address of congratulation to the congregation of St. Vincent's Church, uses these return until Aug. 1st inclusive. Aug. words: "When we find the most upright citizens taking no interest in politics, showing no zeal for the good government of the country, we may sive good to return until Oct. 25th expect political stagnation and cor- inclusive, for rates and time of trains ruption. But when the best citizens manifest interest in public affairs, we have good goverment and honest administration of public trusts. It is the duty of every man to take an active personal interest in the welfare of his country and to see that the best citizens are elected to public

WE TAKE the following extract from our neighbor, the Mountain

Democrat, of last week: As it is not probable that anything not eulogistic of the McKinley Tariff Bill will eyer appear in the columns of the Oakland REPUBLICAN, we general public. The despatch referred to is a letter concerning the tariff or any other subject affecting the interests of the people. ules which apply to the resources and industries of Garrett County.

Let us see.

turns to their owners. It protects our lumber industry ditylwith greater remuneration for their labor. It retains the duty upon foreign coal, thus enabling the George's Creek mines to keep open, giving steady employment to the thousands of consumers of the products of our county, and thereby affording a good

With these advantages accruing to our people by reason of the McKinley bill, why should anything derog- have him with us. atory of its provisions appear in the columns of the REPUBLICAN? This journal is being conducted in the interests of the people, and would folks who expect to attend the Acci- the next train to another State, which they not be justified in placing the dent Normal. seal of their condemnation upon us Don't get offended, at these few sticky suit. should we so far forget our trust as items, we will write more the next to advocate anything or any measure time,-[We shall expect a letter] which would result in their economic every week from this correspondent, O. for the month of June was $5,219,- 26,501; Washington, 40,012, total, House of Representatives elected and financial destruction?

A GREAT BLAZE.

The Western Union Building in New York Destroyed.

On Friday night last fire destroyed the Western Union building, New York. The fire originated in the operating room on the third floor and soon after the discovery the building was in a ruined condition.

The Western Union officiais have let no grass grew under their feet since the fire wiped out their big operating room with its 1,600 instruments. Hardly had the fire reached its height before arrangements were being made to take care of their enormous business with as little delay as possible.

It was decided to increase the force in all of the branch offices and to construct temporary headquarters in the old Baltimore and Ohio building, at the corner of Broadway and Canal provided for at the depot of the Cenif he is not stready a subscriber, and tral Railroad of New Jersey, in Jersey City, and at the Pennsylvania Railroad depot.

be taken care of at the latter place. Business with all points on the Erie Railroad will be handled at the Erie who wants to have the County news depot in Jersey City, and that of the and John Mellinger of this place, Hoboken. West Shore Railroad business will be done at Weehawken, and that of the cities on the line of River road at 125th street and the North River.

> Excursions to Historic Battlefields. A series of special excursions to the town,) Winchester and Harper's Ferry, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic are an-THE New York Sun says that the nounced for July 23, Aug. 20, Sept. 16,

> Tickets for these excursions will be sold from all ticket stations on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. east of the Ohio River at one fare for the round trip on July 22 and 23, Aug. 19 and 20, Sept. 15 and 16, and Oct. 15 and 16,

For the accommodation of those Antietam and Gettysburg, the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. Co. will place on sale excursion tickets at one fare Harper's Ferry and Weyerton, to be sold July 23 to 31st inclusive, good to 20 to 28 inclusive good to return until Aug. 29th inclusive. Sept. 16 to 24 Inclusive good to return until Sept. 25 inclusive. Oct. 16 to 24 inclucall on or address Agents B. & O.

Paying the Enumerators.

WASHINGTON, July 21 .- Superintendent Porter to-day began sending out checks in payment of the services of census enumerators. Checks are being sent direct to the enumerators, and are made payable at the sub-treasury in New York. About 500 checks will be sent out daily until the whole number, numbering over 50,000 enumerators, are paid.

A despatch from Annapolis says that "Hiram P. Tasker, as agent for Washington for the benefit of our in conformity with an act of the last Republican readers as well as of the Legislature, has petitioned, through his counsel, Elihu S. Riley, for a writ he wishes to see his many friends purporting to have been written and sent by Mr. Blaine to Senator Hale. Scharf to allow him free access to the Now, dear brother, don't speculate records of the land office. Mr. Tasupon what may or may not appear ker is engaged, under contract with in the columns of THE REPUBLICAN Garrett and Allegany counties, in searching out the titles to the unas-As to the McKinley bill we are al- the Legislature, in view of the fact ber of visitors were present. The weeks. Services next Sunday at most in love with those of its sched- that no State taxes have been paid prominet workers are Mrs. Buell, 3.30 p. m. on the lots for the last half century, Mrs. McClerkin, Secretary; Miss It insures a greater profit to our without owners are to be sold and Tudor, of Baltimore, and a number armers on their wool and therefore the proceeds are to be turued over of others. encourages larger investments in to the State treasury. Mr Tasker sheep, with consequent increased re- has been denied free access to the an earnest and eloquent address petition for mandamus. The first of heartily and frequently applauded. and enhances the value of our forests August has been set by the circuit | Captain North, of Baltimore, was thereby raising the price of our lands. | court of Anne Arundel county for a It secures to our maple sugar pro- hearing of the cause. In Garrett Monday evening, and there is but ducers a bounty upon their commo- Couty alone one fourth of the area of little hope of his recovery. the county is now unassessed and Flatwoods. The weather is dry and hot.

News is scarce, and perhaps uninteresting.

Our farmers are getting along fineand constant market to our farmers. ly with their harvest.

Grantsville.

rom Meyersdale Commercial. Weather warm and dry.

On the decline-the Grantsville speakeasies." Hon. Wm. R. Getty, is convalescing from his recent illness. painting D. J. Brenneman's dwelling expected under existing circumstanhouse.

The young men who had been working at Johnstown and spent their Fourth here have returned to their work again.

Mr. Harvey S. Nicholson paid us a

Hope the long winded cow agitator will soon squeel in the Castleman valley, we have lots of work for him.

Don't disappoint us now. G. W. Broadwater, on the well street. The Southern business was two barns with hay, done some stacking and isn't near done yet making

The borough road supervisor has Associated Press business will also culvert has been built from Mr. Mur. weeks. lenberg's residence across the street. Messrs, Chas. Brown, of Cumberland, Daniel Chisholm of Oakland, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western have been up the Castleman river will be attended to at their depot in prospecting and leasing timber lands and making draughts of some of the timber tracts. It is said that it sufficient timber is found a rail road will the New York Central and Hudson be run up here, and that more than the necessary amount has been found on one tract alone, also that Hon. Lloyd Lowndes of Cumberland, is backing the enterprise. Mr. John Wegman, a respected and the oldest citizen in Grantsville, is still vigorous at the age of 80 years. He still does a great part or perhaps the greater part of cultivating his large garden of about an acre and a half, mostly planted in corn and potatoes which he cultivates With the hoe, and a cleaner and better kept piece of ground is not often met with: he also made a little hav this summer. He originally came from Bre-

Gorman. Farmers are busily engaged har-

Tyler Cosner, of near Mt. Storm.

men and settled here in 1840.

on last Friday met with almost a for the round trip to these points at fatal accident. While mowing, his horses took fright and ran away. throwing him in front of the machine, which ran over him and cut his arm badly.

Dr. E. H. Bartlett was in town-last Friday collecting taxes. Miss Maud Savage, who has been very il! with remittent fever, is convalescing. Miss Sue Beckman is visiting in town. Mr. Trotter, carpenter, is here for the purpose of building a large house for L. L. McCrum. Robert Poland leaves us this week for Eik Garden where he will engage in the merchantile business. A pleasure party consisting of Messrs Hoffman, W. A. Barrett and others visited Stony River last Sunday but failed to give us the interesting events and adventures of the Wonder what will be done about a school here this winter?

D. R. Smith has just arrived but has not stated his object. Of course here.

Mountain Lake Park.

The W. C. T. U. Inter-State Conference began at 9 a, m., Tuesday sessed and untaxed military lots in morning, with Mrs. C. B. Buell, Garrett and Allegany counties, and President, in the chair. Quite a numpassed a law to rebate all the accrued Lydia Newcomb, Mrs. Eugenia F. fees in the lond office. The lots St. John, Ex-Gov. St. John, Mrs.

Dr. Brobst, of Chicago, delivered records of the land office. Hence his Tuesday afternoon, for which he was seriously stricken with apoplexy

The Silver Lake Quartette is giving us stirring music.

Tuesday evening was devoted principally to asking and answering questions, Mr. and Mrs. St. John, Mrs. Buell and Prof. Mead were the principal expounders. They showed quite conclusively that prohibition does prohibit to such an extent that M. L. Fresh has moved back on it is almost absolute in some cases. his father's farm. We are glad to A short time ago in a city in Kansas, moye his residence in the near fua man declared his intention to open ture. Our Sunday School is prospering an original package establishment, with William Callis, Superintendent. but the people gathered in a mass There are several of our young and gave him time enough to take Ashby. he did or he would have gotten a J. A. E.

Miss Carrie Ravenscrft, of near Keyser, is visiting her brother, R. A.

Rayenscroft. Dr. R. A. Ravenscorft is visiting the injured son of Mahlon Glotfelty daily and reports favorable in the Weyman & Kurtz have finished case. He is doing as well as can be

John Hoffman, of Accident, upon whom Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft performed an operation last week, is doing well. Mr Hoffman suffered the most excruciating pain and his recovvisit traveling in the interest of the ery was expected by no one before Commercial. He stopped at the Na. the operation was performed. The particulars of the operation will be given in next week's items.

Grandmother Boyer is getting well again. She expects to be taken out to her son, Solomon, by the last of the week, and will be able to be know "Broadwater farm," has filled moved if she continues getting bet-

Miss Birdie Boyer, daughter of Samuel Boyer, of Oakland has returned again to her home, She had been improving the roads. A new been with her grandparents five

Miss Tillie Menhorn has returned again to Accident. She had been visiting her sister near Salisbury. Miss Cora Thorp, of Connelsville, Boyer, at present. Accident Normal school will begin on the 4th of August. Prof. E. Lee instructor.

is visiting in the family of Mr. Aaron

Deer Park.

Our town has a full quota of sumner visitors

Hon. H. G. Dayis and family, after spending some time at Bedford Springs, Pa., returned to his summer residence here.

Miss Mona Tillson returned from a visit to eastern cities last week. W. R. Davis is visiting his sister Mrs. F. H. Landstreet, of Davis, W.

Hice R. Laughlin is home on the sick list.

Rev. John Taylor was well pound ed by some of the good people of Deer Park, last Thursday evening, and though it may seem strange, the gentleman enjoyed the pounding and felt very grateful to those who administered it.

Miss Matilda Dr Md., is visiting her mother, Mrs. E F. Droege.

Mr. F. B. Lott returned from Bedford Springs, Pa,, last Friday. Mrs. C. Stone, of Grafton, is the guest of Mrs. George Thayer.

The annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Children's Home was held July 21st. Miss A. Leigh Jones, of Richmond, Va., is visiting Miss Mattie Mr. Heaton, of Davis, spent Sunday in Deer Park.

Ad Laughlin was home Monday.

Elder.

We need rain very badly. Farmers are harvesting their hay, The wheat crop is a total failure, Mell Coddington was up to Oak land on business Wednesday.

Snowy Creek Mills.

Snowy Creek Mills are situated at Yough river. The mills are run by water power and saws lumber of all kinds. In connection with the saw intended by David McLauraw, a first-class sawyer.

The country is in a flourishing condition. Sabbath School at the Lauraw school houss every Sabbath at 9.30, tion survey. In place of it the and divine services conducted by amendment increases the amount for

The health of our community is Harvesting is the order of the day. Park and Oakland last Saturday.

Miss Ailie Frantz, who taught the Lauraw school for the past two winters, was the guest of Mrs. Josiah Moon a few days last week. Andrew Nelson, of Oakland, was in our midst last week, buying cattle. J. A. Connell gave us a pleasant call last week.

J. T. Ashby and Wm. A. Lauraw are the contractors to build the bridge across Snowy Creek, James G. Miller, of Valley Point, Preston County, is working for Wm.

A. Lauraw. David McLauraw has purchased a saw mill near Terra Alta, and will

Frank Graham, of Albrightsville. Preston County is working for J. F.

The following is the population of The total net earnings of the B. & 49,009; Garrett, 13,897; Montgomery sion, and in time to have the next Convention a grand success.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 21st, 1890 .-State department to withhold the Great Britain, which the Senate by could include his latest dispatch to will knock the Democratic gerry-Lord Salisbury, the British Foreign minister, and for this reason the correspondence has not yet been sent to the Senate; but it is stated at the State department today that the en. Sunday School was celebrated on tire correspondence will probably go to the Senate this week. A gentle- gramme was bright and well renderman who is familiar with the con- ed. Opened by march of the rchool tents of the last dispatch sent by Mr. Blaine says that it is American all through, and that it rings as clear and bold as did the original Declaration of Independence more than a played the opening march and the century ago, which shows that no mistake was made in placing James Mrs. Offutt. Mrs. E. West, and M. G. Blaine at the head of the State and E. Z. Tower assisted in the singdepartment. England has simply ing. been trying her usual bluff game and it is a great satisfaction to-know worth a-cent." ing board of managers of National Bessie Offutt, Annie Leary, Mamie Soldiers Homes: E. N. Morrill, of and Albert Compton, Gracia Stem-Kansas, for the unexpired term of ple and Willie Grant-none over six J. A. Martin, deceased; A. L. Pear- vears old, Then came the "King's son, of Penn., for the unexpired term | Flowers," by boys and girls. "Give" of J. F. Hartrauft, deceased; L. B. was well recited by Nellie Offutt, Gunckel, of Ohio, for the unexpired and "All for Thee" by Lizzie Compterm of L. A. Harris, deceased; W. ton. "Childrens' Day," by Maggie B. Franklin, of Conn.; J. W. Hyde Martin was very good. Semmes and of Maine; J. C. Black of Illinois and Stewart Hamill each played a musi-S. S. Yoder of Ohio. Senator Plumb cal selection. Nellie Offutt played took occasion while the matter was the German musical selection, under discussion, to say that he "Heimweh," very well. Willie and thought the Homes would be better Daisy Grant each played and sang. managed if members of the board "The Keystone" was well rendered were only allowed to serve one term by the girls, and the building of the of six years.

The members of the Senate com-

of this bill. and Harbor bill, are to be disposed of as rapidly as possible, and if at With you till we Meet Again." any time there is no appropriation bill ready for consideration the tariff way they performed their parts, and bill is to be taken up with the under- the church should be proud of so standing that It is to be laid aside from time to time, until all the appro- was gay with flowers, plants and priation bills are disposed of. This evergreens. On the whole, the evemakes it almost certain that the ning was one to be long remembered formal discussion of the tariff bill will with pleasure. The audience was hardly probable that less than six every seat being filled to overflowing. weeks will be given up to the tariff talk, and the chances are that it will take longer. The committee has not decided anything about the Federal election bill, though most people believe It will be taken up after the tarthe confluence of Snowy Creek and iff bill is d sposed of. There will be another caucus on it this week.

The Senate has decided that the Geological Survey plan of irrigating | the train service and equipment unmill is a grist mill, owned and oper- the arid lands of the west, adopted ated by Wm. A. Lauraw, and super- by the House, was too slow and ex- ed to all trains. settlers out of several millions of trains and rates of fare. Correspond-Sundry Civil bill by striking out the stations on the line: appropriation of $720,000, for irriga-Rev. J. G. Rexroad every four topographic surveys from $200,000, to $300,000, and provides that onehalf of it shall be spent west of the 101st meridian, and provides further that all of the land reserved from on the return journey. entry under the act of 1888 shall be Henry McGinnis, of Preston Coun- thrown open, except where reservoirs ty, was visiting in this community. or canals have already been located Wm. A. Lauraw was at Mt. Lake or selected. This action was taken at the request of the western Senators. Senator Plerce has offered an amendment to the tariff bill which he thinks would bring about recipro- day night: city with the sugar producing countries quicker than anything else. It

> States for the admission of our agricultural products. The House programme for the first half of this week is already mapped by Rev. Geo. H. Nock; organizaout. Today it passed the "Original tion of District. Package" bill, as amended, and took bankrupt law which is to be voted H. Nock, of Baltimore. upon-and it will pass-Wednesday afternoon. Appropriation bills will probably take up the rest of the week. that the Congressional re-apportion- public generally and especially all the Sixth Congressional District: Al- ment under the Eleventh census can Sunday School workers are cordially legnany county 41,362; Frederick, be accomplished at the present ses- invited to come and help make the under it. There will, it is estimated be a decrease in the representation from the South and New England, and quite an iucrease in the Northwest. Where the representation of a State is decreased, all of the members Secretary Blaine telegraphed the from that state would have to be elected as members at large; where Behring Sea correspondence with it is increased only the additional members would have to be elected at resolution recently asked for, until it large. If this can be carried out it mander of Ohio into a "cooked hat,"

Childrens' Day at the Presbyterian Sunday evening, July 20. The prointo the church and up on the stage erected across the end of the church occupied by the pulpit. Miss Maggie Tower presided at the organ and accompaniments to all the hyms,

After a very appropriate prayer by

Mr. S. T .. Jones the school repeated that American interests are tooked the Lord's Prayer in concert and after by a man who "does not bluff then sang "Shall you, Shall I." Next the infant class recited "Little The Senate has selected the follow- People," rendered by Gracie Jones, arch was quite a feature. Next the school sang "Jesus Christ the Savmittee on Elections evidently think jor;" as a solo and chorus, Annie that the Federal Election bill is to be Grant singing the solos and the taken up at this session, as they are school the choruses. Superintendent daily engaged in considering that Grant made a short address, after measure as it passed the House, and which the collection was taken, they have already agreed upon sev- Daisy Grant playing the "Offertory." eral amendments thereto. This is a Then came the beautiful poem, "The fact that it is well to bear in mind King's Lillies," by seven girls, each when attempting to predict the fate one having a lily as an emblem. "Bonnie's Prayer," by little Katie The Republican caucus committee Leary, came next; then "Childrens has agreed upon the order of business Day," by Ethel Thompson. Marion in the Senate for some time to come Leary, Susie Legge, Madge Chisand there is little, if any doubt of holm, Arabella Martin, James Comptheir report being adopted by the ton all took part and did credit to caucus at its next meeting. The ap- the school and themselves. Last propriation bills, including the River came the "Missionary Hen" by Annie Grant. The last hymn, "God be

Every one deserved credit for the many bright children. The church not begin until August, and it is very large and many had to stand, REPORTER.

> An Opportunity to Visit Atlantic City.

> The third select excursion of the season to this great resort is announced for Thursday, July 31st, and all who can do so should not fail to take advantage of the low rates offered. Every facility as offered the tourist, surpassed. Pullman cars are attach-

We show below a list of some of pensive to say nothing of its shutting the principal stations with time of acres of land, so it has amended the ingly low rates will be made from

The tickets are good for ten days from day of sale, with the privilege of a stop-off at Washington, D. C.,

Sunday School Convention.

Order of exercises for District Convention for District No. 1, Garrett County, to be held at Swanton, beginning Saturday night, July 26, 1890, and closing the following Sun-

Saturday night, 8 o'clock-Convention opened by District Secretary, empowers the President to restore A. F. George; Devotional exercises, the present tariff on sugar against conducted by Mr. Wm. Hinebaugh. any nation which refuses to enter into Topic, "The Work," by Mr. W. D. adequate relations with the United Hoye; "The Workers," by Mr. Wm. Hinebaugh; "The Machinery," by Mr. C. M. Miller; "The Material," by Mr. A. F. George : "The Power,"

Sunday morning - 9.30, Sunday up the bill providing for a National School; 10.30, sermon by Rev. G.

Sunday after 100n .- 2.30, childrens' mass meeting.

Sunday night .- 8 o'clock, general mass meeting of Sunday School The Republicans are now confident workers, brief addresses, &c. The

A. F. GEORGE, District Secretary. LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday hights of each month. ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets i SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. tneets in same Hall lst and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hail, Lake View, every Wed-

LOCAL NEWS.

A. D. Naylor's new house is under roof. The B. & O. pay car passed through

Oakland Tuesday. WANTED -A bright, honest boy

at Mayers' Pharmacy. G. M. Mason, at the Oakland Mills. has received a car of Corn. 23 1t*

Sanlit Songs can be bought of J. A. Eulow, at Mt. Lake Park. There will be at least ten dwelling houses erected in Oakland this fall. Chas. Davis has had a handsome bay window erected at his residence. Chas. F. White, of Huttons, shipped twelve car-loads of bark this sea-

A new platform is being laid at F. & C. Felty's new residence on

C. C. Michaels is having his store building repainted. W. F. King is doing the work.

A copious rain fell in Oakland on Wednesday, cooling things off and settling the dust.

the property he recently bought of Wm, Smouse's heirs. A new platform has been laid in front of the old New York store building, on Main Steet. FOR SALE OR RENT.-Hazlewood Cottage. Apply on premises.

23 3t Mrs. E. A. KILBOURNE. Don't fail to see the Red, White and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis &

Son's. It will pay you. James Hinebaugh has a fine new 3-seat canopy-top spring wagon. He purchased it of Davis & Son. The treight yard at Oakland is fillshipment to eastern markets.

rakes should see them before buying.

A broken wheel on a freight train, just west of Terra Alta, delayed passenger train No. 6 over two hours last Saturday.

Dr. E. K. Goldsborough and Major Rathbone, of Washington, were out urday, July 26, in McLean Grove. to Lake Browning this week. They caught 70 fine trout.

The new cars on the Philadelphia Division, B. & O., will be painted blue and bear the coat-of- irms of Maryland on their exterior.

We have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New

Mower on hand. DAVIS & SON. Lost.-On Wednesday, between idence, a sack containing an oiled

FOR SALE.-At the farm of subecriber, Deer Park, old and new Hay, $9 per ton. JOHN W. WILLIAMS. 23 2 of life in the Green Isle.

Michael Maroney has sold twenty acres of land on the east lines of Oak land to Dr. E. K. Goldsborough, of Washington, and Scott Burkham, of New York, for $2,000.

lent Mayor, Owen Hart, our streets returning for three days including and platforms will, in a short time, day of sale. present an appearance that will do credit to any city.

We want a correspondent in each town. village and at every cross-road in Garrett County. Send us the news, friends, and it will be published. Have it here not later than Wednesday noon.

nights this week, although the days addition to a thorough course in were very pleasant. Sunday night County Examiner's requirements. the thermometer registered 45 de- Classes will be formed on request of Miss Theresa Helbig gave a social dance on Monday night at the residence of her father. Eighteen couples were in attendance and all report a the Washington Spring range on due the firm and left for parts un. Saturday. The prize will be a $65 known and this is to give notice that gold medal, donated by the guests of the firm of Hoge & Shank was that the Oakland Hotel, and will be com- day dissolved. peted for by Company B, 2nd Bat. M, N, G.

Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and Melons at headquarters. You will always find there the best and cheap- Notes About Our People at Home and est. They receive fresh supplies from the gardens every morning. Don't forget the place, -on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

Mr. Henry M. Stanley has a first cousin living on Hazel street, Wilkesbarre, Pa. His name is John R. Jones. He is a small shop-keeper and well-to-do. He is the physical image of the great explorer, having the same cast of features.

We make special drives on water melens and cantelopes. Fruits of all kinds in season. The cheapest place in Oakland for same.

FELTY & Co. Rail Road St.

The population of Oakland, as given by the last census is 1,079; Deer Park, 215; Cumberland 12,007; Hagerstown, 10.172; Frostburg, 3,-627; Westernport, 1,553; Lonaconing, 4,595; Barton, 1,850,

Mrs. E. A. Kilbourne sold 30 acres of land adjoining Oakland on the east, to F. B. Conger, ex-postmaster of Washington, for $3,250. It is said there are four persons who will divide the land and build summer res idences on it.

A live coon was captured at the culvert in Oakland Monday night. When caught a steel trap was found hanging to its front leg to which was attached a few feet of chain. His coonship has been feasting on Shartzer's and the Glades Hotel poultry for some time past.

The Sunny Side Sunday School will hold its annual pienie on Thursday, August 7, on the premises of the F. S. Cline is greatly improving Sunny Side school house, Refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the Sunday School. Good speaking during the day. Music by the Oakland Cornet Band. All are cordially > Julius Scherr, Esq., the live mer. chant and enterprising citizen of Eglon, was in town this week. Preston County has no better citizen, nor a livelier and more enterprising busi- day. ness man than friend Scherr .- Kingwood Journal.

Some time since, while a woodsman was engaged in cutting saw-logs felled a tree, in the center of which, tons. ed with bark and lumber awaiting about ten feet from its base, a live frog was found which, when liberated Davis & Son have put in a full from its wooden prison, hopped off line of horse rakes. Parties wishing as lively as though it had not been a prisoner for perhaps twenty-five years. The tree was more than a foot in diameter where the frog was Monday. found.-Kingwood Journal.

A Grand Picnic

Will be held at McHenry, on Sat-Music by the DeWitt string band. Miss Nellie will pick the banjo. A grand time is anticipated. Plenty of refreshments on the grounds. Come one, come all and have a good time. in Oakland soon. 2t COMMITTEE.

Church Dedication.

St. Dominic's Church at Hoyes Garrett Co. Md., will be dedicated on Sanday, August the 10th by Very Rev. Dr. Chapelle, assisted by Fathers Manning of Lonaconing, and the depot and Daniel Chisholm's res. Brennan of Cumberland. The Sermon will be preached by Dr. Chap suit. Reward if left at Townshend's pelle. The dedication of the church will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning. The sermon will be delivered from the balcony of the church.

Excursions to Baltimore.

The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell Another potato blight is announced cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore in Ireland. This means starvation from all stations on its lines between to thousands. The potato is the staff Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week until August 5th. Tickets will be sale and valid returning on all trains until following day inclusive, and from stations South and West of Under the supervision of our excel- Harper's Ferry, they will be valid 21 4t

Normal School.

Teachers who expect to attend the Oakland Division of County Normal should make early application to the over 90 years of age. Principal, Arrangements have been made to furnish board, &c., at low rates. Expenses need not exceed those formerly paid at Accident, We have had some very cool Special advantages will be offered in teachers for evening studies in classics or sciences. J. NEWMAN,

Principal.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership. On December 25, 1889, Lee Hoge, A shooting match will be held at my former partner, collected money

> H, R. SHANK. Swanton, Md., July 19, 1890.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Abroad.

Postmaster Thayer is improving. Mrs. Rachal Rinehart is seriously

Lee McComas was in Piedmont McEiroy Jarboe, jr., spent Tuesday at Hutton's. Richard Sharpes was at Gormania on Monday.

Miss Lucy Newlon is visiting Miss Lillie Sharpes.

Geo. Riley, of Keyser, was in the city Wednesday.

Cashier Jones was up to Terra Alta Monday evening. M. J. Miller, of Accident, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. Hammer, of Sacramento, Cal., is here on business. A. Lorentz, of Baltimore, was in this city Wednesday. Miss Gracel Caldwell, of Orange, Cal., is at Monte Vista.

Col. Watson, of Texas, was at Mr. Ralph Thayer's last week. Mrs. Scott T. Jones and child were up to Terra Alta this week.

Miss Nellie Hyde, ef Piedmont,is visiting relatives in town, Sheriff Casteel was up on the W. Va. C. & P. R. R. this week.

Jas. Litzinger returned from a trip to Grafton Tuesday morning. Miss Lola Cross, of Piedmont, is visiting Mrs. King Delawder. Mr. John Cornelius returned from Portland, Oregon, Wednesday. Miss Udora Manear, of Kinwood, is visiting Miss Nettie Michaels, Joseph Speicher, of Deer Park was pleasant caller at our office Tuesday.

Swanton, were in our city last Satur-Lawyer Robert T. Semmes, of

H. R. Shank and aged father, of John Arnold, Esq., is plastering

Miss May Rinard, of Cranesville, was visiting Miss Rose Cornelius last Revs. W. J. Sharpes, and Benj. Ison returned from Grantsville on Mrs. John Allen and children, of

Cincinnati, are at Monte Vista for

W. A. Luke, of the Harper's Ferry Paper Co., was in Oakland on last. Wednesday.

H. Allen Ison, wife and child, of Washington are expected to arrive piexy as will be seen in our Mt Lake bath at Monte Vista.

Mrs. W. H. Body, of Warsaw, N. Y., is visiting her sister. Mrs. F. G.

Hyde, on Alder street. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maynard of Baltimore, arrived in our city Saturday to spend the summer. Gco. Smith, who lives on the Goy. Thomas farm just below Floyd, B. & O. R. R., was in town Saturday.

Mrs. Cramer, sister of General Grant, was at Mt. Lake Park last week, the guest of Miss Jennie Smith. daughters, Misses Gertie and Mabel, pirant for office, yet he filled several of Parkersburg, are visiting at Squire important positions in Alleghany Townshend's. Miss Ida Head, of Deer Park, was valid going on all trains on day of in the city Tuesday morning, and sioners, which offices as well as some made our office a very pleasant and of minor importance he filled with agreeable visit.

> some time past, spent part of this his death the community has lost way of indulgence week at home.

Mrs. John Stahl, who lives near Sunny Side, was in Oakland last Saturday. Mrs. Stahl is considerably

Miss Julia Hood, of Frederick County, who has been visiting relatives in Oakland for some time, returned to her home Monday. Mrs, Prof. Rock, of Washington, D. C., and the Misses Walker, of be bought elsewhere, as we bought Philadelphia, Pa., were at Monte them after a big fire, Vista for dinner on Monday. Mrs. W. D. Nydegger and three children drove over to her home st Gormania on Monday. They will spend quite a while in that town. Miss Mary Morrison, of Alexandria, Va., who has been visiting at stock is still complete. Judge Hamill's for some time past, returned to her home Wednesday.

G. M. P. King, Esq., of Monte Vista, one of the handsomest summer residence out of town, was a pleasant caller at our office Tuesday.

Capt. Hayden received a telegram from his home in Greensboro, Pa., The summoning him to the bedside of his aged father, who lies dangerously ill.

Mrs. Gerkins and two children, who have been visiting Miss Ella Merrill for a few days, returned to their home in Frostburg on Monday. Geo, D. White, who has been in Frostburg for some time for medical treatment is at home for ten days. We hope Mr. White may soon re-Mell Coddington, E-q., of Elder,

He is a live merchant and good business man. Mr. Samuel Norment, President Central National Bank, Washington, with his family, Mrs. Utermehle and Addition to Oakland; 225. Mrs. Dr. Taylor, are stopping at the

Oakland. John Adair, Esq., agent at Parkersburg, was visiting G. W. Delawder Monday. Mr. Adair went to $100. Lake Cleveland on Tuesday morning to fish. Miss Sallie Fairfax and nephew Peep Vickery, of Kingwood accompanied by Mrs. Humphrey of Wisconsin, were in Oakland a few hours iast Friday.

Mrs. Robert McLane and son, and William Moulden, of Washington D. C.; Lieut. Orchard, wife and two children, of Annapolis, Md., are stopping for the season at Mountain Cottage (Mrs. Wm. Casteel's).

James Campbell, Francis Goodwin. of Barton, and L. J. Ort, principal of dition; $400. the Barton school, were in Oakland, Tuesday. The above named gentlemen, while in town, called on THE REPUBLICAN office in our absence, Call again, gentlemen.

DEATHS.

PAUGH.-On Friday, July 18, 1890, infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Benj.

Paugh. McRobie.-On Friday, July 18, 1890, a child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cumberland, was in Oakland this McRobie at Deer Park, aged about 6 months.

ROBERTSON. - July 16, 1890, at a few miles from Oakland. Md., he Chas. T. White's residence at Hut- Boynton, Pa., Mary Ann, daughter of Andrew and Margaret Robertson, aged 9 years, 7 months and 6 days. NEWMAN.-July 14, 1890, near Salisbury, Pa., Barbara, wife of Henry Newman, of pleuro pneumonia, aged 53 years, 10 months and 18 days. Wolf.-We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Waiter Wolf, at Dayls,

W. Va., on the evening of July 16th, after a brief illness. The funeral took place from St. Peter's church, Westernport, Md., on Saturday morning

NORTH-Captain North, of Baltimore, who was stricken with apo-Park letter, died at that place on Dr. and Mrs. Ernest F. King, of Wednesday night. Deceased was Washington, D. C., spent last Sab. about 72 years of age His remains were taken to Baltimore Thursday morning.

MATTHEWS,-At Selbysport, Md July 16, 1890, George Matthews, in the 88th year of his age. Deceased was a son of Chidley Matthews, who at 102 A. M., and 7 P. M., by Rev. J. came to America while a young A. Dunlap. man, and a grand son of Sir John Matthews of the nobility of England. every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. He was born at Emmitsburg, Fred- S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. erick County. Md., June 1, 1803, and was baptized and brought up in the Presbyterian faith. He was a man except the second Sunday of each of great physical and mental vigor, and as a business man had few Mrs. E. J. Armstrong and two equals. While he was never an as-County. He was Judge of the Orphans' Court and County Commisone of her most aged and honored citizens and the family a kind father and loying husband, The funeral services, consisting of a scripture lesson, singing and a short eulogy, was conducted by the writer.

REV. HENRY E. FRIEND.

Parasols and Sun Umbrellas. We have just opened an elegant line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell them 40 per cent less than they can

Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset. We can offer the best bargains in Hats, Flowers, and all Millinery Goods. You should come at once while our

All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats. Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced from 75c.

M. L. SCOTT, Baltimore Store Oakland, Md. COURT HOUSE NEWS.

Orphans' Court, Real Estate Transfers, Marrige Licenses.

ORPHANS' COURT. First account of Jos. Smithman, Exr. Handy Gipson, ratified. Mrs. Ella P. Russell, appointed Guardian to Mary Bertie Maiette.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS. Henry Beckman and wife to Geo. R. Beckman, military lot 1513; $300. Josephus Harvey and wife to Hanson B. Friend, lots Nos. 1926 and

1928; $550. Richard B. White, et al, to David was up to Oakland on Wednesday. J. Stuck. lot No. 2884; $100. While in town Mr. C. called on us. H. G Davis, et al, to Wm, T. and

Henry Sines, 157 acres and 112 perches of "Strawberry Plains;" $500. Gilmor S. Hamill and others to Jos. P. Helbig, lot No. 88 in Brant's Jos. P. Helbig and wife to Kate PROGRAMMES, T. Crane, lot No. 88 in Brant's Addition to Oakland, $225. Mt. Lake Park Association to Su san C. Gore, lot in Mt. Lake Park ;

John Swan to John Ridder, military lot No. 1212 : $50. Gulierman B. Hyndman to Laura W. Owen, & interest in "Pretty Prospect," containing 430; acres; ; interest in "Mud Fog," containing 80 acres in military lot No. 1698 and nardston;" $100. Gilmor S. Hamill, trustee, to Thos. J. Stanton, 571 acres of "Strawberry Michael Maroney and wife to Scott Burkham and E. K. Goldsborough.

all that tract of land called "Bar-

20 seres of Military Lot No. 844; $2,000. Geo. L. Bosley and wife to Geo. D. White, lot No. 56 in Brant's Ad-Delilah Snyder and husband to Rebecca E. Johnson, a lot of ground in Grantsville; $120. MARRIAGE LICENSE. John Davey and Bertha Shaffer. J. E. McCuin and Maggie Donlan. Two with request not to publish.

Cranesville. A. S. Albright is very sick with la grippe. Chas. Falkenstine is low with typhoid fever. Farmers are still very busy cutting the largest crop of hay ever harvested. Miss May Rinard has gone to Greenbrier White Sulphur Springfor her health. Sylvester Rinard, E-q., is running two saw mills and employs four to six teams hauling the output to Terra Mrs, E. J. Fringer, who has been confined to the house for seven weeks with a sprained ankle is now able to go about on a crutch.

The Electric Light. Mr. Thomas has about completed arrangements to erect the electric light plant in thts city. About 400 lights for houses and stores have been sold and the corporation authorities will have quite a number of 1200 candle-power lights erected on the streets. Mr, Thomas thinks arrangements can be made to have the machinery working and wires erected by September 1st.

Church Services -- Sunday. M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. C. E. Clark. Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M.,

month. Last Noice to Debtors. Desiring to close up all accounts due me on account of subscription, advertising or job work, all persons indebted to me are requested to call and settle at ouce. I desire to attend to this matter in person, and credit and ability. He was correct will place accounts in the hands of in all his dealings, polite and courtetain a settlement in any other way Daniel Chisholm, Esq., who has ous in his manners, and was greatly Friends, do the best you can, and I been in Grantsville and yicinity for beloved by those who knew him. In will do anything in reason in the 7 11 3t

JAS. A. HAYDEN.

List of Letters List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Garrett county, Md., for week ending

July 26, 1890: Bayley, Mrs, Warner. Gordon, Mrs. Justina, Engle, S. M., Liston, Jno., Fullwood, Miss M. H., Macroby, Mollie, Fresh, Amanda, Price, Jno., Foster, G. H., Painter, Mr. L. G., Smith, Prescott, Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

MARRIED.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

BROADWATER - ALEXANDER. -On July 6th, 1890, at Flatwoods, by Rev. David Merrill, Mary E. Alexander to Perry Broadwater. The MONDAY, the 4th of AUGUST, presents presented were very nice and appropriate. We congratulate the happy couple.-Flatwoods Cor.

LIVENGOOD-FOLK .- On July 20, 1890, by Rev. David Hostetler, Caroline Folk to John W. Livengood, both of Somerset County. Pa.

THE REPUBLICAN IS prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at prices that defy competi-tion. Call and learn prices before nigging your order ore placing your orde

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT

CIRCULARS,

CARDS, STATEMENTS,

LETTER AND BILL HEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make a specialty of printing and padding note, letter and bull heads

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes, at the time and places following:

No. 9—Johnson's, Aug. 18, No. 11—Greug's Mill, Aug. 19, No. 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20, No. 12—Bittinger, Aug. 21, No. 5—Accident, Aug. 22, No. 2—1stace M, Umbel's, Aug. 22, Friends-No. 2-Isaac M, Omoe's, Aug. 22. Friends-ville, Aug. 25.
No. 6-Johnstown, Aug. 26, forenoon, Mc-Henry, Aug. 26, afternoon,
No. 1-Bioomington, Aug. 19.
No. 1-Swanton, Aug. 20.
No. 10-Deer Park, Aug. 21.
No. 8-Gorman, Aug. 22.

Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 to 22.

N. B.—By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at the January session, 1890, being Chap. 566, it is provided that all county taxes shall be due and payable on the 1st day of September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent shall be allowed; and after the 1st day of January all taxes shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid. The Treasurer shall take the discount and charge interest on the tax bills for county purposes regularly in the manner aforesaid, and shall note the same upon his books and upon the receipt given for taxes so paid; but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same is made.

URIAH M. STANTON.

URIAH M. STANTON.

Treasurer. SHERIFF'S SALE

Under and by virtue of a writ of fierl facias issued out of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, being No. 2 Judicials, July Term, 1890, at the suit of the Mayor and Common Council of Deer Park vs. Sarah Perry, I did seize, levy upon and take into execution by an actual entry upon the premises on the 28th day of May, 1890, all the right, title, interest and estate of the said Sarah Perry in and to lots Nos. 2 and 11 in the town of Deer Park, Garrett County, Maryland, and I hereby give notice that

ON SATURDAY, THE 2ND DAY

OF AUGUST, 1890. in front of Mrs. Taggart's Hotel in the town of Oakland at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of said day I will proceed to sell said real estate at public auction to the highest bidder, for each, to satisfy said execution and costs. E. N. CASTEEL, Sheriff.

IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS. Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

FERNLEIGH MANOR

JOHN B. DEAKINS, Proprietor.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

Scenery Unsurpassed.

OFFICE OF THE
BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD, July 9th, 1890.
There will be three Normal Schools in Garrett County this summer, viz: At Oakland, in charge of Prof. J. Newman, Accident, by Prof. Ephralm Lee, and at Grantsville by Prof. E. A. Browning. Said schools to open on 1886, and continue for a term of ten weeks. The tuition will be $5.00 for 2nd grade branches, and $6.00 for students taking up both 1st and 2nd grade branches.

A curriculum of students, as adopted by the Board, will be furnished each Teacher at the opening of Schools.

By order of the Board,

WM. HINEBAUGH. Secretary.

JOHN'S LOVE.

I'm growing old, we the world speaks. My eyes are some less bright, The pink is fainter on my checks, My hands are not so white. Men whisper: "Where are all the tints Of beauty we've heard sung?" But what care I what the world hints— John says I'm growing young.

Even as ivy clasps the tree,
I've stood by him through life,
And he has never swerved from me, Or named me less than wife. The night may bring me weary eyes—
My nerves may be unstrung.
But I've no taste for frowns or sighs— While John says I am young.

John's words are kind-I feel them so-They bring me cheer untold, Hearts nursed on love can never know The pain of growing old.
When death shall set our lives apart,
The last words on my tongue
Will be: Lord, take a happy heart— John's love has kept it young.

—William Lyle, in Detroit Free Press.

PATTY'S EDUCATION.

How Mr. Budd Became Converted to Modern Ideas.

It was tea-time. The sun had gone down behind the mountain. The cows were milked. The bacon and eggs had been set to warm in the oven. raspberries and the pot-cheese flanked each other on the white table-cloth, and Martha Budd watched on the porch for her husband's coming. Beside her stood her little girl Patty, with her arm about her mother's waist. It was hard to believe that the woman had once been as pretty as her daughter, for her fourteen years of married life had made her so thin and sallow and hollow-eyed. But people who knew her in her girlhood declared that Patty was Martha over again. The soft, sweet, delicate prettiness of an American girl fades early, if fate is cruel to her, and hard work and coarse food and lack of tenderness unite to break her down.

William Budd was not a poor man but he was a hard, close-fisted one. When he courted Martha he had fancied she would inherit her father's money, but the old man had married again, and six or seven little step-brothers and sisters had put that out of the question before the old man died. And the wife had faded early and they were not congenial. She had not much education but she loved to read. She took a paper, earning the money by selling

Even William Budd had not courage enough to take that woman's per-quisite away from her. That pot-cheese money did a great deal, as well-saved pennies will. And she had written one or two little poems: "To My Little "The Old Farm-House" 'Good-Bye to Home," in those first years of married life. They were copied into a little red blank-book in which, she had also copied the "cunning" speeches of little Patty before was five years old. The girl was her idol now. To give her a good education was her great hope, and now they were waiting for news which the head of the family would bring. They were waiting to know whether there would be a school in the place that winter, for a meeting was to be held that afternoon to decide the matter.

The father was opposed to it; that they knew, but he had only one vote. Mrs. Mc-Others wanted the school. Laren, the Scotch lady they liked so much, was ready to take it, and Patty could go. She could not walk to the next town, and her father would not drive her there, or let her go down on the train, as she might have done, as other girls did. Fifteen cents a day, he declared, would be too great an extravagance; but if the school were just over there on the hill, in the disused church, then, indeed, what objection could there

"I think they'll carry it," said the mother; "and then I'll offer to board Mrs. McLaren. We've got plenty of spare room; and you can ask her a question or two out of school hours, or get her to tell you if you're studying right. I'll make it up to her; and I'll take the pot-cheese money and get you a nice garnet cashmere, and you can wear that with white aprons, and brown merino for rainy days; and rubbers I'll get you, and a nice thick cloak; and I can knit you a real pretty garnet hood, and you'll have a good time learning, and get on, I know. If I was you, Patty, I'd set before me to be a teacher. It must be real nice to have money of your own, my dear; and sometimes I sort of thing may be we'd do our duty just as well paying some poor soul to do rough work; somebody that had to live awhile. Then he said: that way, if God had blessed us with talents to go beyond that, and you take real comfort in teaching. I guess if it's a nice school, I think I'd set it before me, if I was you, Patty."

"Yes, ma; I think it would be very nice," said Patty; "and not to have to ask some man for everything, and make them angry. Oh! I'd rather go without shoes than beg them of pa."

"Your pa gets anxious, for fear of poverty, you see," said Martha, mildly.
"Now my pa used to ask me often whether I didn't want a new dress, and he'd say: "Jartha, here's five dollars," when I wasn't expecting it."

"Why, ma!" cried Patty, in delighted astonishment, "only to think! It was like that with you at home, before you

"That," said the mother, in a halfguilty whisper, "that, I guess, is what has made your pa's being just a little near harder for me to bear."

It was a sort of confession that she made her child, and they said no more until the wagon came lumbering over the hill and Mr. Budd's long, sharp nose and little, straight slit of a mouth were discernible in the space between the cpinion. I don't know a better edu-

He descended from his perch without his "wimmen folk," called to see to the horse, and He threw his coat and hat to his wife, kicked his boots off, and roared to Patty to bring his slippers, and, dragging his chair to the table bogan to eat; and still not a word did he utter in regard to the school. At last Patty could bear it no longer, and the question on her lips burst from them without her will: "Pa, are we going to have the

His answer was short and direct. "No, you sin't. So there, now!"

Patty began to cry, hiding her face in er apron. Martha could not keep back a sigh; her husband turned upon her. "Well, now," he said, "what do you want one for? You've only got a gal. I wouldn't have no gal so much as eached to read, for my part; makes 'em think theirselves equal to men folks to have equal eddication. Wimmen is inended by Providence to do housework and sew, and them sort o' things. I don't think it's becomin' for 'em to sit idlin' over story papers and books," and he cast a contemptuous glance at the little book-case and the illustrated paper in the home-made rack. "I never seen my old mother waste her time that way. Now, why it's different, they had oughter read politics and the news, but wimmen-psha-"

His wife said nothing, lest she should say too much, but, when the dishes were washed, she followed Patty up into the garret bedroom, where she had gone to cry, and lay down beside her, drawing the patch-work quilt about them both. "Don't fret, Patty," she whispered. "I'm going to send you to school."

"You can't, ma," whispered Patty. "I shall," said the mother. "You know the tall clock that pa left me; it's ninety years old. I can sell it. The ady that boarded at Dewey's last summer, the tall one in the sort of dingy green clothes, she offered me a hundred dollars for it. 'Write to me whenever you are willing to sell it,' she said. I'm going to do it, and I'll send you to the pay-school on the hill. There!-and I feel I've a right to do it. There-whatever your pa may think. There!"

"Oh, ma, ma!" cried Patty, frightened by her meek mother's sudden exhibition of spirit. "Do you dare, and it's where the squire's daughters go and the minister's girls. Oh, ma!-and they learn French and drawing. Oh, ma! But you love the old clock. Don't do it for me, don't sell it for my sake!"

"I do it for myself, child," said Martha, rising and putting her hair straight and settling her collar. "Now you go to sleep. You shall have rye and Indian doughnuts for breakfast, and your pa shan't scold you."

He never did. What his wife said to him she only knew, but he made no obection to the sale of the clock, and Patty went to school. The mother did without her help and all the pot-cheese money went to keep her prettily clad, but every one said how much better Mrs. Budd looked than she used. She grew young again in her ambitions for Patty, and somehow the girl was kept at school until she graduated with honors. "As well educated," thought her

Meanwhile, Farmer Budd saved and serimped only to make the too frequent mistake of money-loving people at last. The fever for speculation seized him, and he lost in a week the gains it had taken half a life to accumulate. Nothing was left; even the old farm must go. And after weeks of delirium, awoke one day to a remembrance of the actual state of

His wife nursed him tenderly, and he was kinder to her than he had ever been before. "It's 'most a pity I'm gettin' well, Martha," he said. "I've been such a fool. I dunno what I can do now but day labor, I'm sure, and while I had it I never spent any thing on you. I feel sort o' different now. I feel as if I wished I had it again; I'd let you do as you liked. It's gone now, and no good to anybody. We'll have to quit this home even. You've got a right to reflect another advancement.—Christian Union.

on me, Martha. So has Patty." "But we won't, pa," said his wife. "We feel you've the most to bear, and we've got a little good news for you. Patty has got a place to teach in the academy. She knows mathematics and languages and music. She's well educated every way. And, pa, she'll have a thousand a year. Just think of thata thousand dollars a year-

"What!" cried Mr. Budd, "not our Patty, for teachin'?" "Yes, pa," said Mrs. Budd, "and she reckons she can buy back the farm, she's going to try, and they've allowed her-I don't know how it's fixed, but we needn't go-and you just get strong, pa, and we'll begin again, and may be bet-Poor Mr. Budd turned his face over on the pillow and kept silence for

"Ma, if all that comes of a gai being eddicated, I've been even more of an old idiot than I thought I was. Why thinkin' 'twas the poor-house or the graveyard now, and I ain't been none divorce you." The woman has to leave,

Mr. Budd recovered rapidly after this, one; "Patty's eddication did it, and her mother gave her that." "Educate the girls," he was heard to "I don't say do it at the same schools with the boys, but let 'em learn as much as they can. Give them the same advantages. Them that haven't ability won't learn. Them that have will.

Give 'em a chance." "You've changed your mind since I seard you talk last," said an old acquaintance. "You used to say girls ladn't even ought to learn to read.'

"More fool L" said Mr. Budd. "Wasn't I, ma? I've had good reason to alter my other hand, it is almost impossible for ma?"

said the happy-looking matron on his arm; "and we've all got reason to bless ner education."-Mary Kyle Dallas, in N. Y. Ledger.

-The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that goes through a man's pockets in the wee, sma' hours.

"She's a splendid girl, if I do say it,"

He Is Bound to Grow in Strength, Knowledge and Usefulnes The one thing which the world is always asking for is to be let alone. It opposes change because it hates to be disturbed. Even when it feels that things are in a bad way and ought to be remedied, it is unwilling that anybody should take hold and make a transformation, because the very process involves disturbance of habit. Inertia is the bane of the great mass of excellent men and tainers give their fortunate guests. women, who in their hearts want to see the best results secured, but who dislike above every thing to have their peace or the end of living, aspiration would be a quality which all wise men and women would shrink from possessing; but since growth and development and character form the end of living, aspiration is one of the things that ought to be cherished most carefully. The aspiring man or woman is rarely entirely comfortable. It is to the future that such people look, and they are quite ready to sacrifice the present for it. Aspiration is an inits life. The aspiring man is never satisfied with any thing that he has secured often the most cheerful and buoyant of attainment. While other people are settling down on the good they have the sense of the cessation from work and retirement from activity is the one thing that is intolerable to him; he is always looking forward to the time when he shall work with greater facility, with less friction, and with larger fruifulnes. A man like Mr. Gladstone, who refuses to retire. and whose indefatigable energy still seeks new channels of activity, is really offensive to a good many men who can not understand why a man should be always stirring up instead of letting them rest, and making the world uncomfortable by the diffusion of new ideas. Men of genius, as long as they are true to themselves, are always men of aspiration, and it is the men of aspiration who save the world from becoming a fen of stagnant waters. They are always shocking it into some sort of activity, goading its conscience into re-he is already putting these things behind him and pressing forward to new endeavors. He is never looking for the time when he shall rest, because rest in volt against some wrong, puncturing its Philistinism with wit or satire until it sees that its standards are low and its aims vulgar, and is ready to receive something better. The aspiring man is not always the most comfortable man in the community, but he is always the noblest, and, in the truest sense, the and criticised, but in the end the good which he does silences even his critics. The only real satisfaction in life comes from that progress which registers a despair seized him. He fell ill, and growth in strength, knowledge and usefulness.

THE ASPIRING MAN.

When men cease to move they begin to die, and there are many who fall victims to that fatal lethargy which steals over them as the cold benumbs those who yield to its power. Philip Sidney long ago that "the intellectual said faculty is opposed by comprehensible truth only when it feels that it is thereby advancing nearer to incomprehensible truth." The joy of conquest is never in possession, but is always in achievement, and that which we gain serves its highest purpose when we use

WOMEN IN BURMAH. They Have More Rights There Than in Other Oriental Countries.

women of Burmah have rights than any other women of Asia. They are nearer like the American women than the Siamese, the Chinese, the Japanese or the Turks. They are the equals of our girls in a business way, and not a few of them manage their husbands, and it is the custom for the Burmah woman to hold the pocketbook. In all other Eastern countries woman has no rights that man is bound to respect. In Burmah she keeps control of all the money she brings into the family, and in case of a divorce she must be given back all of her own money and half of that which she and her husband have made since they were married. Few of the Burmese have more than one wife, though King Thebaw had fiftythree. In all other Eastern countries divorces are almost impossible for the woman, but very easy for the man. All I kin take hold now and try. I was that the Mahometan has to do to get rld too good to Patty, but I will be, see if I and it is lucky for her if she carries won't, after this. Why she's as good as away any more than the clothes she has on. A man who wants a divorce in Siam professes a change of heart, and and it was not many years before the says he is going to become a priest. He farm was bought back again. But it can then "shake" his family, go into was Patty's doing. As he told every the priesthood for a few months, get rid of all his debts by doing so, and come out ready for a new wife and a fresh start. Divorce is very easy in Japan, say at a late meeting of his townsmen. and also in Corea, and the East Indian who wishes to get rid of his wife has no trouble in doing so. In Japan if a wife has reached the age of fifty and is childless she can be divorced. If she talks teo much her husband can send her away. If she is guilty of theft, if she is addicted to jealousy, or if she is dissolve her marriage at any time. On the her to obtain a divorce from a bad hus-mutual agreement. Divorced women marry again in Burmah; but divorces

ON ENTERTAINING. Duties of the Hostess and the Obligations of Guests. Hospitality should be, like the qual ty of mercy, thrice blessed. It ought pleasure. There are houses which people instinctively avoid. There are the richness of the fare, have nothing to do with the enjoyment which the enter-

It frequently happens that the food is of the plainest, that the furniture is of comfort disturbed. If mere comfort were order, sweet cleanliness, and, above all, genuine, though not obtrusive welcome.

amiably-disposed guest. the hostess who knows how to entertain veterate traveler; home-staying in the and she is blessed and remembered and guest room emphasizes the good will of or done. He is not discontented; he is and harmonious coloring, walls and carmen; but he is dissatisfied. There is a There is nothing friendlier than a comdivine impulse in him which forever fortable lounge, unless it be a comforta-impels him forward, and makes it impulse arm-chair, and if there are half a ble arm-chair, and if there are half a possible for him to rest in any present dozen interesting books the wakeful guest may smile at insomnia, and be wholly unconscious that breakfast is cut in form of parallelopiped blocks. achieved and the work they have done, late. Dismal things should be religiously excluded from the spare room; and lachrymose madonnas. An excellent New England clergyman recalls with a shudder to this day a horrible room to which he was assigned where the silver coffin-plates of dead and gone scions of the house stood in a row on the mantel. They had been removed by the provident survivors and were there preserved, to the torment of those who so-ourned under their roof. The house where one does not like to go, as was intimated, may be luxuri- Lipari is built is an immense heap of ously furnished and bristled with improvements. Who does not know it? The dark, damp parlor where the blinds are never drawn; where the chairs and tables are put primly in their places and stay there; where the family walk on tiptoe and speak in whispers; where the doctrine of everlasting condemnation is firmly held and has cast its shadow over every thing. One cause of apparent coldness and formality is, frequently, self-consciousness-too great anxiety lest this or that may not be quite right. If accidents happen, as they will and must in every house, the only way to get over it is not to care. Apologies do not help the guests at ease, as nothing else could do. Sydney Smith considered the spectacle of a woman preserving her composure and continuing her composure when the awkward carver had splashed her silk gown with gravy, the triumpb of civilization. The anecdote points a moral and might adorn a tale. In it lies the whole secret of well-bred composure, which is the crowning virtue alike of the model host ess and the model guest. In regard to the former there is an other fault to be guarded against-overentertaining. The visitor, who has come to stay several days, should be left to herself whenever she desires privacy. An hour alone, or more, is to some people a daily necessity. A parting caution to the guest is an injunction to be in the family, but not of it-to avoid seeing or hearing things not meant for the eyes of any friend, however intimate. And last of all, hospitality imposes obligations which can not be enumerated here, as such a category would be disrespectful to even the average intelligence. The inner life of every household is sacred and should be so held. If one has been admitted to it, or has been an accidental observer, its sacredness should be inviolable always.-Chicago Inter Ocean.

THE SULTAN AT HOME. How Abdul Hamid Manages to Spend His

Abdul Hamid gets upearly. His toilet oes not detain him long; indeed, it might detain him longer according to European codes. When dressed he at once devotes himself to recite the prescribed prayers, after which he drinks a cup of black coffee, and instantly afterward begins to smoke cigarettes, a pastime that he continues all day almost without intermission, for he is an ardent smoker. Breakfast ended he arranges family affairs when these require his attention, as is almost always the case with so large a family and of such varied ages and needs. This done, he quits the harem and goes into the selamlik. Here he receives the reports concerning court affairs. Toward ten o'clock his court secretary and chief dignitaries appear, bearing the day's dispatches and reports. These handed the Sultan seats himself on a sofa with these documents on his right, on his left a pile of Turkish newspapers and extracts from the European press, translated into Tuckish for his benefit by a translation bureau specially appointed to that end. His lunch, which follows the dispatch of this business, is most simple-little meat, a fair amount of vegetables. The meal ended, he takes a walk in the park or rows in a little boat upon one of the lakes it incloses, always accomobedient to her parents-in-law, she is liable to divorce, and of course the dignitary. After taking two hours' exgreater grounds of a divorce can dissolve her marriage at any time. On the ception or else presides over some com-mittee meeting. An hour or two before sunset he once more goes out to walk. turned-up coat-collar and dragged-down hat-brim that sheltered him from the wind.

cated girl than my Patty, nor one that band. It is the same in India; but it is far different in Burmah. The Burmase his dunch. His favorite food is pillaffe, sweets, and woman can get a divorce if her husband a very little meat. He never touches woman can get a divorce if her husband a very little meat. He never touches is poor and unable to support her. She spirituous liquors, in due obedience to can dissolve the marriage if he is idle the commands of the Prophet, but he and lazy. If he becomes sick and is a drinks large quantities of sherbet and cripple after marriage she can be divorced, and divorces are permissible by and digestion over he receives company in the selamlik, or he retires into the harem, where his daughters play and are not respectable, and there is a Burmese proverb which says that "a divorced woman needs small wooing."—F.

J. Carpenter, in National Tribune.

Intell, which its daylors by a sing to him. He himself on these occasions will often seat himself at the piano, an instrument he plays fairly well.—Leisure Hour.

USES OF PUMICE STONE. Thrown Out by a Volcanic Eruption, They

The pumice stone, though universally admitted to be the product of volcanic to be as much of a pleasure to entertain fire, is one of those bodies which have as it is to be entertained-when it is a divided the opinion of naturalists. The Abbe Lazaro Spalanzani, who most minutely examined this article, says others where every body likes to go.
The magnificence of their furnishings, mon pumice is found consists of an aggregation of numerous beds or stratas of pumices, each bed not forming a distinct whole, but being a collection of balls of pumice; from which he deduces that they were thrown out by a volcano in a the simplest, but there are comfort, state of fusion and took a globose form in the air. They are of different sizes, from that of a nut to a foot or more in Cleanliness and convenience are essen- diameter. Though the ground color of tial to the happiness of all well-ordered them all is white, in some it inclines to beings. A fuzzy, stuffy bed-chamber, yellow and in others to gray. They unaired sheets, an empty match case, an | swim in water and do not give fire with empty water pitcher, a dried-up ink- a steel; their fracture is dry and rough stand and a rusty pen will put a damper to the touch; their angles and thinner upon the good intentions of the most parts slightly transparent. Some are so compact that the largest pore is not All these details are remembered by visible, nor do they exhibit the least trace of a filamentous texture. Others, on the contrary, are full of pores and sense of forming comfortable habits and held up to other women as a shining vacuities, and their texture is formed resolutely holding to them is no part of example. A cheerful expression in the by filaments and streaks, in general parailel to each other, of a shining silthe entertainer, and this may be in soft | ver whiteness. This is the most common pumice stone known, and the kind pets and hangings being in keeping. constituting an article of commerce from the Mediterranean to the United States There are several other varieties, particularly one of a dark color, and another of a pale, red color, both to be found, not loose, but in solid beds, and Both the latter are used in Italy for building arched vaults, cornices, etc., hair wreaths, and framed certificates butdo not constitute an article of foreign The greatest part of pumice seem to have feldspar for their constituent principle, some also horn stone, some asbestos, or a stone analogous to the asbestos. The greatest quantity of pumice to be met with anywhere is the Campo Bianco, in the island of Lipari, a moun tain about a quarter of a mile in breadth The rock also upon which the castle of lava, glass and pumice stones, which latter, in fact, are nothing else but imperfect glass or a volcanic ejection, which, if exposed to a greater degree of heat, would have been changed to a vitreous mass. Small quantities are found also in the Arso, in the island of Ischia. But there is no place in Europe which in the abundance of its pumices can equal or surpass the island of Santorine in the Archipelago, which is almost covered with pumice stones. Many eruptions of pumices are in the Phlegreen fields, one of which overwhelmed the unfortunate town of Pompeii. Pumice stone is used in several mematter, and a little blunder or misshap chanical arts, as for rubbing and smooth he bade him tell the man that he was good-naturedly laughed off, frequently ing the surfaces of metals, wood, paste-breaks the ice and sets both hostess and board and stone, for which it is well qualified by reason of its harsh and brittle texture. -Clay Manufacturers' Engineer.

THE RABBI'S WIFE.

A Story from the Talmud Unsurpassed for Genuine Tenderness. When a Campanian lady on one occasion visited Cornelia, the mother of Gracchi, she displayed her jewels ostentatiously and asked Cornelia to favor her with a sight of her own. Cornelia thereupon produced her two sons, remarking: "These are the only jewels of which I can make my boast.' said, indeed, and worthy of the immor tality which is Cornelia's portion. But a story in the Talmud has a tenderness in it which might have wooed Boccaccio's pen. During the absence from his home of Rabbi Meir, named the Light of the Law, two of his sons departed to the spiritual world. On the return of the rabbi his wife greeted him with a pleasant countenance, and then said: "My husband, some time since there were two jewels placed in my keeping - jewels beautiful, and costly beyond all price. And to-day, in your absence, the owner of them into his possession." To which the rabbi replied that his wife had done well, adding that "we must always give back with faithfulness and cheerfulness whatever is placed in our charge. After a little time the Light of the Law asked for his sons, whereupon the mother took him by the hand and gently led him into the chamber of heart gave way, for he loved his sons better than his own life, and in Israel treasures-indeed a treasure recognized light of his hopes was extinguished in up his voice and sopt bitterly. Upon the story. The bear was very large and this his wife meekly said: "Weep not would weigh 500 pounds. thus, my beloved husband. Didst thou not say to me, even just now, that we must return with cheerfulness whatever is placed in our charge-when it is time, and we have rejoiced and gloried and we should not repine."-Gentleman's Magazine. -An Ohio journalist read in another paper a statement to the effect that "Miss Kellogg has a larger repertoire than any other living prima donna;" and he considered it his duty as a champion of truth to sit down and write an article on the subject, in which he said: "We do not, of course, know how Miss Kel. logg was dressed in other cities, but upon the occasion of her last performance here we are positively certain that her repertoire did not seem to extend out so far as either Nilsson or Patti's. It may have been that her overskirts were cut too narrow to permit of being gathered into such a large lump behind, or it may have been that they had been crushed down accidentally."-National Publisher and Painter.

-Children not addicted to fun, boisterousness and mischief may grow up to be respectable members of society, but as children they are failures.—Boston

MISCELLANEOUS.

-The most enterprising resort this summer advertises that messenger boys will use the bicycle.

-It is worth knowing that a screwhole in wood too large for the size of screw it is desired to use may be plugged with a piece of cork driven tightly in, and thereby be made to afford a firm hold for the screw.

-Don't despise the "ignorance" of our ancestors of the eighteenth century. The things we boast of now will probably be as far behind the times in 1990 as the works and ways of 1790 are to-day. Modesty is the lesson of history.-Inventive Age.

-Philadelphia boys saturated a rag with gasoline from the public lamps and by inhaling it in their nostrils became intoxicated. The police detected them in this new and novel scheme of juvenile dissipation and arrests have

-Human nature is a good deal like dog nature. Whenever some other dog wants the bone it becomes doubly precious; and when a man is about to lose something upon which he has put slight value, its worth goes skyward rapidly. -Ram's Horn. -A certain Gascon, boasting of his travels, said that he had seen a church a mile long. "Surely, you are mis-taken," said his auditor. "Yes, and two miles broad," replied the Gascon; "I should have made it square if you had not doubted me."-London Journal of Education. -Pretty women are attractive, pleasing, and agreeable to the sight: lively, graceful, captivating, and beautifully charming. Handsome women are beau-tiful, charming, stately, statuesque, sometimes cold and formal; fascinating, though often distant, dignified and proud. We like and love pretty women Handsome women we admire and worship.—Omaha Republican.

-Editor (to Associate)-"Why did you accept this Spring poem?" Asso--"Well, sir, the blamed poet (for, ciatewho does not blame him?) walked in here with that poem in one hand and a revolver in the other, and said I must take the poem, or something worse. I told him I didn't wish any thing worse than the poem, and took that."-West Shore. "Poe's "Raven" has found a counterpart at Gainesville, Fla., where a monster owl has taken up his abode in the residence of Dr. Phillips, where he called very early one morning and perched himself on top of the frame of a picture hanging on the wall. He looked wise and said nothing except when poked with a stick. At last accounts he still remained a guest of the family. -Poots, looking out of the window of his sitting room, saw a man ascend the steps of his residence whom he didn't wish to receive. To be candid, he was a bill collector. Calling the servant, not at home. "Did you tell him I was out?" said Poots, when the servant returned from answering the bell. "I did, sir." "Did he appear to be in doubt about it?" "Not at all, sir; he said it was a lie."—Texas Siftings. -Two colored porters in a Texas hotel were about to wrestle with the large trunk of a newly arrived stranger, when: one of them took occasion to remark "Dis heah trunk weighs at de leas" twenty-five pounds more den free hundred pounds, and I kaint lift no moah den free hundred pounds." "Nebber mind, Sam," replied the porter; "jess catch on and tote free hundred pounds up de sta's, and I'll be 'sponsible for de rest."-Texas Siftings. -On drawing a net a Florida fisherman succeeded in landing an alligator and a turtle. The alligator was nine feet in length, while the turtle was of the loggerhead variety, and a subsequent weighing showed it to be eighty-five pounds in weight. The back of the alligator was broken in two places, while one of the feet was almost severed from the body.

—A widow of Miller County, Missouri, who lives on a farm, gave another woman $15 to secure her a husband. The man was secured and warranted all right in jewels came to me, and I have returned every respect, but the next morning after the marriage he licked his bride. stole the $50 she had saved up, and in the night silently stole away to Nc Man's Land, and now there are two women in that neighborhood who don't speak to each other.

-P. O. Sullivan, who lives about six miles above the junction of the Middle and South Fork of Boise, on the former, silence, wherein his sons lay dead. The killed a black bear with a knife a few rabbi gazed upon them, and his great days since, says the Boise (Idaho) Statesman. He had followed the bear for several miles. It laid down beside a sons are a treasure beyond all other rock and Sullivan crept up to it and plunged a big knife into a vital part. asgiven by a benignant Heaven-and the George Alexander, who is a neighbor and saw the bear when it was dead, was the darkness of despair, and he lifted in the city on Saturday last and related

-Among various expressions of intelligence which often places the dog in no mean place of comparison to his master, a little habit developed by a dog in called for? These jewels were given the suburbs is worth mentioning. ns of God. He left them with us for a Whenever this dog becomes angry, instead of making an exhibition of his in the possession; but now, beloved temper he turns away from the offend-husband, He has called for His own, ing person as quickly as possible and ing person as quickly as possible and makes a bee line like a flash to the nearest brook. In a few minutes he returns dripping, but serene, without a trace of his former excitement in his manner. His plunge has apparently cooled off all angry feelings and even caused forgetfulness of causes of disturbance.-Boston Journal.

-Some idea of the great cost in time and money required in producing a great engraving or etching and the risks assumed by the publishers may be had when it is known that the engraving of Meissoneir's "Friedland, 1807," in size 19x33 inches, was begun by the etcher, Jacquet, in August, 1888, and it is not get ready for publication. Two years' time, of an expert, the risk of destrucion by fire and of the death of the artist engraver during the prosecution of the work and then the additional risk atending every publication whether it will afford a profit or not. When conidering the price charged for some engravings all the way from $250, or more lown, these facts may be borne in mind.

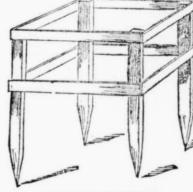

INSECTICIDES.

Best Means of Applying. The Western Rural gives the various insecticides in use and recommended I have often sold old potatoes in July, more or less earnestly. The Michigan and frequently throw away in October experiment station is responsible for (when cleaning out the cellar) potatoes the estimates of value that are given to as sound as are the new ones I am the estimates of value that are given to as sound as are the new ones I am nobody ever came to the house unless about to put up. I know that many they had bills they wanted paid."—Texas bulletin in which it gives its estimate farming friends will say—at least they Siftings. of the arsenites, carbolized plaster, ker- do in this section-that "they are so osene emulsion, buhach or pyrethrum, pushed with gathering cotton they kerosene ointment and carbolic acid have no time to dig before frost;" but emulsion. Pref. Cook says that as I find it takes me no longer to dig London purple is much cheaper than potatoes before frost and save them, Paris green, costing only fifteen cents than it does to dig them after and risk per pound, and is just as effective in practical use, it should always be used losing them. Save what you make. It possible, dig in a dry time, sort out practical use, it should always be used when it can be had, unless on very tender foliage, like that of the peach, when only Paris green should be made use of. It is still a question if the arsenites should be peach as the part of the peach when the peach are the peach as the part of the peach are the peach as the part of the peach are the peach as the part of the peach are the peach as the peach are the should be used on the peach. London purple may be used either dry, mixed freely for several days before banking promise. with land plaster-one pound of the them for the winter; covering them poison to eighty or one hundred of the with the vines at night to keep off the plaster-or mixed with water-one dew or light frosts. pound to two hundred gallons of water. Do not let them take a rain. They It is not the strength of mixture, but should be banked before heavy frosts the force and thoroughness with which come. In handling them use boxes it is applied that secures success. The never baskets, which peel them up bad water mixture, which will usually be ly. In banking a well-matured potato most satisfactory, should be kept well all that is necessary to preserve them stirred, that the heavy mineral poison till potatoes come in again, is to keer may not settle; should never be applied them clear of frost, rain, rogues and

It should be applied to the apple trees but once, except in case of very heavy rains, when it should be repeated two litter to put next to them, I use what or three weeks after the first applica- ever comes handiest-hay, straw, fodder, tion; should be used two or three times stintervals of ten days or two weeks on the plums, and after every heavy this, by the time severe cold weather rain; may be used to defend against the potato beetle, and all leaf or bud-eating insects that defoliate our fruit trees bundle of fodder on end and on top of early in the season, and on our shade trees for such insects at any time. Force pumps are excellent to apply the water mixture to potato vines and to fruit and shade trees. By use of a barrel or tank mounted high on a wagon, we can treat potato vines and low thrubs, etc., by aid of gravity very easity and cheaply. It is too bad that our tories is too well-known, says the Westfruit trees are so high that we can not ern Rural, to need remark. That a detreat them in the same way. In the coction is also very valuable is perhaps apple orchard the use of London purnot so well-known. For this purpose ple is so valuable that no one can afford even the stems, or refuse powder which to neglect its practice. Used just after the blossoms of the latest blooming factories, will answer well. A pound varieties, like the Northern Spy, have of the tobacco to two or three gallons of fallen, this substance destroys the cod-ling moth, tent caterpillar, canker worm

Turn the boiling water onto the tobacco, and several minute leaf rollers; all of and when cool strain out the tobacco, which are serious pests, and often do and the decoction is ready for use. Last great damage. Here, then, is a case summer Prof. Cook found this very efre the orchardists can kill several birds with a single stone.

The illustration herewith shows the construction of a support for raspberry bushes, tomato vines, etc. The corner posts are 11/2 to 2 inches square and about 2 feet or more long, as desired, and sharpened so as to be easily pushed by hand into the ground. Slats or cross pieces are of lath and two or more feet long to suit whatever is to be trellised. By use of something of this inconvenience in gathering fruit. at the close of the season and put away under shelter. - Orange Judd Farmer.

Applying Stable Manure. In the application of stable manure, I have a practice I consider particularly good. In preparing the ground, I plow as soon as the previous crop-mostly sats-is removed. The surface is levafter working is done with a disk har-The wheat is put in with a drill Rural. with teeth well staggered to prevent dragging the manure. In eight trials of this method the yield of wheat has fallen below thirty bushels per acre nail the hoops firmly to every stave of only once; while once it reached thirty- an old barrel, and after clinching the seven bushels and the grass stand has nails saw the hoops off on the seam. always been perfect. A strip through a Then spread the barrel open as shown field that got a double, but not a heavy coat of manure was a close blue grass sod the second summer after wheat. This year a field of alsike clover was admired by all who saw it. A field that has been moved four seasons has yielded nearly twice as much hay as an adjoining one equal in every respect except in regard to the preparation of the ground and the position of the manure.

Laying Out Roads. Did it ever occur to the reader that a in the illustration, by cutting a board good deal of time is wasted and con- about twenty inches long for the back siderable horse strength expended in of the coop and two small pieces to tack traveling crooked roads that might just laths on to the front part. Have the as well be made straight? Taking the upper section of the back of the coop agement after they are laid out, and it may be opened at pleasure. Every one has old barrels which are almost valuelaying out of our roads and their man- fastened with leather hinges, so that it monument to stupidity. Here is a road that goes winding all over creation simply because away back in early days it seemed to furnish the easiest way of travel; and people have made no at- coop of the same size would cost about tempt whatever to straighten it, though one dollar.—Home and Farm. perhaps it could be done at very little cost. If we would enter upon a heroic work of reform of our road system we terests but would be doing an excellent twenty gallons and used as a spray for thing for posterity.-Western Rural strawberry leaf blight

SWEET POTATOES.

When to Dig and Best Method of Pur ting Away for the Winter. Never wait to dig until frost has bit-Something About Their Value and the ten the vines. A potato that is well matured and dug before frost will, if given ordinary care, keep equal to corn.

to fruit trees till the blossoms fall from moisture rising from below; to cover them very lightly until they have gone through their sweat, putting on more cover as the weather grows colder. As cornstalks or potato vines, about six inches deep all over them. On top of sets in, put a sufficient amount of dry earth effectually to exclude all frost. A the heap, butt end down, extending from the potatoes to the external air, is a sufficient ventilator .- G. H. Turner, in Country Gentleman.

Tobacco Decoction. The use of tobacco smoke in closed rooms like forcing houses and conservafective against the striped flea beetle. and the cucumber flea beetle, both of which insects are often very troublesome to the gardener. If further use confirms this property of the tobacco decoction, we have in it a very valuable insecticide, and may hope by further experiment to greatly extend its use. This too, is the best substance to use in the destruction of lice on cattle, horses, and for ticks on lambs. True, the kerosene emulsion will kill such lice, but it does not destroy the lice so entirely, and does not leave the hair of the animal looking so well. In cold weather after thoroughly washing the animal to be treated, it should be warmly blanketed, and kept in a warm place until dry.

Syl ptoms of Scab. The first sign of the existence of scab is rubbing against any projecting body within reach; as it extends, sheep bite themselves, kick with their hind feet their sides and shoulders. If one is caught and the hand placed on the mouth, while infected parts are scratched, gratification is evinced by nibbling at the hand, and when the infection is severe or general this nibbling is regarded as an infallible sign. VINE OR BUSH SUPPORT. Examination will disclose spots on the sort the vines or bushes are kept up off of skin, white and hard, the center the ground so that light and air can marked with yellow points of exudafreely circulate through and about the tion, which adheres to the wool, matbase of plants, causing greater product- ting the fibers together. The wool may iveness, better quality of fruit, and loing away with much loss, decay, and seen at this stage. Then the yellow With moisture, evaporating, gives place to a tare a score or two of frames will last yellow scab, which adheres firmly to for years, providing they are removed the skin and wool. Raw places appear at points which the animal can reach with his teeth and hind feet. The disease is complicated in summer by the presence of the larvæ of the blow-fly, the maggots burrowing under the scab. says a writer in the Rural New Yorker, The animal becomes nervous, excited to wildness, and can not obtain properly either food or rest, thus losing flesh and becoming reduced to a skeleton, from constant irritation and lack of nutrisled and the manure is put on, and all tion, only the strongest animals recovering if left without treatment .- Western

A Cheap Chicken Coop. To make an inexpensive chicken coop, CHICKEN COOP.

PROF. SCRIBNER Becommends three ounces of carbonate of copper dissolved should not only consult our own in- in one quart of water, then stirred into late and invigorate the liver,

Giving Away Family Secrets. "Tell your mother, Tommy, that I am oming to see her," said Mrs. Peterby to ittle Billy Yerger, whom she met on Austin avenue

"I'm so glad you are coming to see us and I know mamma will be glad, too.' "Do you think your mother will be glad to see me?"
"I know she will," replied Biliy gush. ingly, "because I heard her tell pa that Knew What It Meant. "Can I see your father and mother, Johnnie?"

"No, they're out."
"Where have they gone?" "Nowhere—they're just having a row."
-Munsey's Weekly.

THE peacock is blessed with beautiful plumage, and would be thought altogether lovely if be could keep his mouth shut and let the more musical birds do the talking.-N. O. Picayune. THERE is no article made, that purity is as important in as soap. Thousands, however, buy cheap adulterated soaps, to save a few cents and lose dollars in rotted clothing. Dobbins' Electric Soap, perfectly pure, save

Many a man who wouldn't even make a good book agent thinks his tongue is per-suasive enough to control the affairs of a Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia and too hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills imme-diately after dinner. Don't lorget this.

Mrs. Wiseman: "Isn't your husband a little baid?" Mrs. Hendricks (indignantly): "There isn't a bald hair in his head."—

S. K. Coburn, Mgr., Clarie Scott, writes: "I find Hall's Catarrh Cure a valuable rem-edy." Druggists sell it, 75c. It was an Austia girl who married at fif-teen, so that she could have her golden wed-ding when it would do her some good.—

Texas Siftings. BEAUTY marred by a bad complexion may e restored by Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

The worst thing about the woman who says "I told you so" is that she generally tells the truth.—Somerville Journal. Do not purge nor weaken the bowels, bu act specially on the liver and bile. A perfect liver corrector. Carter's Little Liver Pills.

HOTEL Hayscales makes a swell nam for a weighside inn.-N. O. Picayune No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption Curss where other remedies fail. 250

Wastes no words-The phonograph. Measures his costumes-The tailor.

Full swing -Two in the hammock -Boston Herald. WE all feel very much put out when taken in.—Hotel World. The average boy will make a pair of pantaloons look antiquated in a day. There is nothing new under the sun.—Burlington Free Press. HAMLET is thought to have belonged to the typographical union. He killed Polonius because he thought the latter was a "rat."

"I THINK I know now," said the man who had taken a twenty-cent piece for twenty-five, "what is meant by the expression contracted quarters."—Exchange. A cash entry-Dropping a nickel in the lot.-Washington Star.

Minister to horse jockey: "What is your business, may I ask?" Horse jockey: "I am in the service of the American Track Society."—Boston Herald.

"I'm on a strike and I need bread," said a carpenter to a baker. "That's odd," re-plied the baker. "When I'm on a strike I never knead bread."

To remove freckles-Marry the girl and take her to your home. Texas Siftings. OVERHEARD at the grocery clerk's party:
"Javagood time, my dear?" "What Mochary for you to ask! You know I did."
"Rio-ly, I'm so glad!"

How inconsistent some married men are! They are bitterly opposed to be tied down at home, but do not hesitate to gather in knots about the streets.—Troy Press. Should be upright people-Poles.

It is all up with the baby when he takes a notion to cry at midnight. Perhaps it is necessary to state that it refers to the household in general.—Terre Haute Ex

Don't read! Don't think! Don't believe! Now, are you better?

You women who think that patent medicines are a humbug, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the biggest humbug of the whole (because it's best known of all)-does your lack-of-faith cure come?

It's very easy to "don't" in this world. Suspicion always comes more easily than confidence. But doubt — little | SOUTHWEST IOWA, For Int. faith — never made a sick

W. W. ELLIS, President Blue Grass League
W. W. W. Ellis, President Blue Grass Le vorite Prescription" has cured thousands of delicate, weak women, which makes us think that our "Prescription" is better than your don't believe. We're both honest. Let us come together. You try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If it doesn't do as represented, Where proof's so easy, can you afford to doubt?

Little but active-are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Best Liver Pills made; gentle, yet thorough. They regulate and invigorate the liver. stomach and bowels.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and ac-ceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading drug-gists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FOR JAUNDICE,

MILES, Ia., April 4, 1890. say with pleasure that "Bile Beans" best medicine I have ever used for biliou

Try " BILE BEANS SMALL" (40 little beans in each bottle). Very smalleasy to take. Price of either size, 25c. BUY OF YOUR DRUGGIST.

A Planters Experience. "My plantation is in a malarial district, where fever and ague prevailed. I employ 150 hands; frequently half of them were sick. I was nearly discouraged when I began the use of

Sold Everywhere. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

For a Disordered Liver Try BEECHAM'S PILLS. 25cts. a Box. OF ALL DRUGGISTS.

BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
SPNANE THIS PAPER over time you wrise.

A New Plan for Investors. NO RISKS. SURE PROFITS.

Guaranteed Bonds for Small Sums.

WRITE FOR FULL INFORMATION.

Unquestioned References East and West. The Arapahoe Investment Co. Incorporated :- Capital, $200,000.

F. B. HILL, - - President.
CHAS. H. WOODMAN, Vice-Pres.
CHAS. R. SAGE, - Treasurer.
WM. LLOYD, - Secretary.
FRANKLIN PLATT, Counsel. Lock Box 2063, DENVER, COLO

& CO.'S YEAR DOOK

PENSIONS Thousans FATITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & CO., Washington, B. C. STANKE FOR Application of the Co., Washington, B. C. STANKE TRIS PAPER every time you wide.

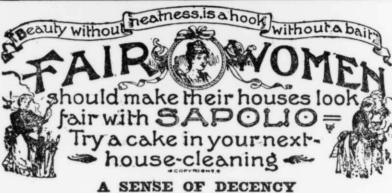

DO You Live in a House: If so, you want a HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely flexible. Endorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Falls PasseyNAUZ HIS FAFER very time yes write. EDUCATIONAL.

PALMS' BUSINESS COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Would not be without your Powders for all I possess."-LIBEY.

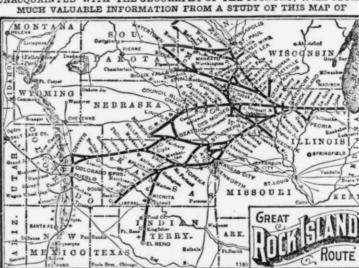

LIVER CURE OF SALT CO., BOX 3370, NEW YORK.

Constrains many people to hide the dirt of their kitchens. They make the kitchen a secret chamber, into which it is forbidden to enter; but half the trouble which they take to hide the dirt and the disgrace which it entails, would keep the kitchen clean, and all its pots and pans bright as a dollar, that is, if they use

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Saile, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Auduben, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minnespolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown Bluffs, in IOWA-Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA-Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA-Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI-Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA-Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS-Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY-Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities rast and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CEAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent. General Manager.

GOFF'S

Whenever you visit the shops in town, Looking for Braid to bind your gown, Secure the Clasp, wherever found, That holds the Roll on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around. DEPENDENT PENSION BIL

OF NAME THIS PAPER every time you write.

s and Distress after Eating: Faintness at h. Dullness, Dislike to Exertion or Head d Palpitation indicate [NDICESTION] or and Harbinger of DYSPEPSIA. DOCT, BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES DGE'S THE USED by CHILL BRENS CHILDREN.
Thousands of young men and women in the U. St. A. owe there lives and their health and their health and their health and their health and their happiness to Ridge's Food their fasly diet in Infancy and Childhood having box

PATENTED AUG. 16, 1887, IMPROVED JULY 30, 1889.

DR. OWEN'S ELECTRODR. OWEN'S ELECTROGALVANIC BODY BELT AND SUSPENSORY WIB care All Rheumatic Complaints, Lumbago, General and Nervous Debility.
Costiveness, Kidney Diseases, Nervousness, Tremiling, Sexual Exhaustion, Wasting of Youth Age, C. Married or Single Life.
Cysexy to Responshille Parries on so Dericky
TRY A PAIR OF ELECTRIC INSOLES at PER PAIR.
Also on Electric Truss and Belt Combined.
Send & Destage for PAIR illust dook, 174 pages, which will be sent you in plain sealed covelope. Mention this paper. Address
OWEN ELECTRIC BELT & APPLIANCE CO.
SOO North Broadway, ST. LOUIS, MQ.
820 Broadway, NEW YORK CITY.

Grants pensions to Soldiers, Sallors, and their Widows and Children. Present PENSIONS INCE EASED. Write immediately, stating your case. J. C. DEst MODT, Attention, Chauncey Building, WASHINGTON, D. C. SPNAMETHIS PAFER every time you write.

PENSIONS Great PENSION Bill Spassed, Wildows, Woth-

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO., Palined Port, N. Y.
Palined Port, N. Y.
LEF Catalogue Free.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in "his

Uncle Sam Out a Bankrupt.

the Senate from committee to-day, be as large as the aggregate at which the Postmaster General at $65.414,calls for $7,153,811, an increase over they now stand. It is so late in the 000, making a total of $467,497,000. the House bill of $1,132,000. The season that there is practically no "Deducting aggregate appropri-Senate has increased nearly all the use in passing a river and harbor bill ations of $350,000,000, there will be a appropriation bills over the amounts at this session of Congress. The surplus of $117,497,000, which is more fixed by the House. If it were not Democrats did not pass any last year. than ample to meet the requirements for this increase, the aggregate of the That would make a difference of of the new pension law and the reappropriations would be considerably $26,000,000 in the appropriations. duction of taxation from the enactment of the condition of the appro- made no appropriation for for fortifipriations printed in the Philadelphia cations two years ago, and if the bill to test the speed of carrier pigeons. deal of talk in Democratic newspap- sealed down considerably. It should we are better able to appreciate the ers about "the terrible deficit," which not be forgotten that of the total ap- power of the bird when it is racing originally published in that paper, Congress is not appropriating suffi- Such a race from Dover to London and not attempted to distort the facts cient money to meet the payments was described in an English paper. there would be no grounds for this for pensions under existing law. There would have been less excuse vice was crippled by the failure of for power and speed. for this statement if the Press had the Democrats to vote sufficient The pigeon, which is known as a not given the correct figures on the money to carry it on. As for the "Belgian voyageur," was tossed day previous and thus started the disability pension bill, that has noth- through the railway carriage windiscussion of the subject.

bankruptcy" the revenues of the ans, which the Democrats, as well as being West and the atmosphere Government were stated at $335,000, the Republicans, have piedged them. hazy. 000 whereas the Secretary of the selves in National Convention to re-Treasury in an official report made deem. Senators Turple and Voor mile before the poor bird decided to Congress last December, estimated hees and a number of other Demo- which direction to take. It circled Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scrollthem at $450,000,000 a difference of crats in Congress have introduced up in the air, rising all the time in $115,000,000. This is a fair illustra- bills to pay per diem pensions to all wider rings, while the train which tion of how the Democrats made up veterans who served in the war. If made no slop, was speeding along at their figures.

able increase in the postal receipts of that bill there will still be a large the train was heard of. and in the honest collection of the surplus in the Treasury, which will revenues, which will be greatly be reduced by the Tariff bill, retary's estimate of $470,000,000 in- falsehoods. cludes, of course, the effect of the tariff bill.

The present surplus in the Treasexpended, for some purpose the ob- will exceed the revenues. He said: ject of the law would be defeated. by every Democrat in Congress.

Senator Beck, who was the leader of aggregate $5,000,000 in conference bethe Democrats in the Senate, intro- tween the two houses. He also induced a bill at every session of Con- cludes in the said $359,000,000 the gress, for many years providing for $31,500,000 deficiencres, which have its suspension. Nearly every Dem- been appropriated for, and $5,000,000 the gardens every morning. Don't ocrat in Congress has publicly favor- estimated yet to be provided for the ed such legislation. Several Demo- service of the last fiscal year. crats have introduced bills to that is not the least necessity, therefore, against the revenues for 1891, or as a knocked, the regular appropriation bills to be of the fiscal year 1891. Commissioner of Navigation at $3,- remains $350,000,000. than $3,000,000.

say nothing of the $134,000,000 now Fund act, in the Treasury. Instead of there "The ordinary revenue of the Goybeing "an alarming deficit" there ernment for the fiscal year ended will be about $172,000,000 to be paid June 30, 1890, are reported by the Some Loose Estimates Intended to Make 000,000 of it will go to reducing the isting laws there is no reason to annational debt by taking care of the ticipate a less sum from the ordinary Washington, July 16.-The In-bonds as they mature, Mr. Allison revenues during 1891. The postal dian appropriation bill reported to says that appropriation bills will not revenues for 1891 are estimated by less than the estimated revenues, in- The fortifications bill is pending in ment of the McKinley bill, estimated stead of apparently exceeding them conference committee; $7,995,000. at $60,000,000." by $9,000,000. The very full state. That may not pass. The Democrats Press on Monday, has started a great does not pass now it is likely to be The results are often wonderful, but they assert will exist in the Treasury. propriations over $36,000,000 goes to against a rapid train of cars than If they had adhered to the truth as make up for the neglect of the last when it flies simply against time.

dom now estimates the revenue at them with. Yet the Democrats try lav any odds on their train. about $20,000,000 gmore than the to make capital because the Republi But the race was not to the strong, augmented by the administrative | There is no deficit. There will be customs bill, so that the revenues in- none, and the flaming Democratic

WHAT CHAIRMAN CANNON SAYS. WASHINGTON, July 16 .- Chairman Cannon, of the House Approury is $78,500,000. The national bank | priation Committee, commenting toredemption fund, which has just be- day upon the statement of the approcome available, ladds $56,000,000 priation bills made in the Senate by more. This will make the fund now Mr. Allison a few days ago, which, in the treasury as a surplus, $134,500. he said, had been misunderstood by 000. The theory of Congress in turn- some and misconstructed by others, ing that fund into; the available mon- emphatically denied that the amount ey in the Treasury was to get it into of the appropriations by Congress at

"Senator Allison states the aggre-Hence, if it is used to meet appro- gate probable regular appropriations ments, such as rivers and harbors, which sum includes the whole fortifications and increase of the amount of the sundry civil bill as renavy, it will be merely carrying out ported to the Senate, and the whole As to the sinking fund the late will almost surely be reduced in the Berlin Letter.

"Deducting the $5,000,000 ; robable effect at this Congress, and some of reduction in conference, leaves $354, them have made speeches declaring | 000,000 total probable appropriations that an injustice has been done to at this session of Congress as estimatthe people of this generation in con- ed by Senator Allison. From this tinuing these annual payments into sum should be deducted the deficienthe sinking fund when it has been cies $36,500,000, actual and estimated overpaid by some $700,000,000. There which are in no sense chargeable for the sinking fund, according to the part of the expenses of the Governbest Democratic authority in both ment for that year, thus reducing the appropriations of the session to of the house and pulled the belt Senator Allison states the total of $317,500,000 for expenses on account again. After waiting and watching

$359,000,000. The permanent annual Again of the $317,500,000, which to the side door, Ge ting no response appropriation bill, exclusive of the includes $23,700,000 for rivers and to the repeated knocks he pulled a sinking fund, amounts to $52,000,000, harbors $4,500,000 for fortifications, paper from his packet and was making a total of $411.000.000 against $23,000.000, for the navy and $32,000, making a "memorandum," when estimated revenues of $470,000,000, 000 for sundry civil expenses, at least a second story window was carefully leaving a surplus of receipts over ex. $20,000,000 will not be expended raised, a pail of water balanced for penditures of $59,000 000. This is during the fiscal year 1891, which an instant on the sill, and then souse Small Farm Near Deer Park. exclusive of the disability pension | would make expenditures, according | it went over the young man below. bill. Senator Carlisle, in a public to appropriations not exceeding $297,- He uttered a yell and leaped into a estimate, states that no more than 500,000, to which sum should be lifac bush, and from there be reached twelve to fifteen million dollars can added the permanent appropriations, the fence and gained the street. Just be expended during the present fis- $101,500,000 for the interests on the then an officer came up and asked: cal year in meeting claims under public debt and to meet the requirethat bill. If $15,000,000 is required ments of the Sinking Fund, making there would still be a surplus of $44,- in all $399,000,000, chargeable against 000,000 from which to pay the ship- the revenues for 1891. If the sinking chattel mortgage-that's all. Lady ping bounties, estimated by the fund te deducted from this sum there told me to call at 10, and I called

000,000, and whatever sum might be "There is no reason why taxes required to pay the sugar bounties should be levied or continued to furwhich will probably not reach more ther provide for the Sinking Fund, as I am advised at the Treasury Acco ding to these figures, if all Department that the reduction of the the appropriation bills should become public debt as at this time in round law at the amount now fixed there numbers $725,000,000 in advance of would be a surplus of $38,000,000 to the requirements of the Sinking out in some way and probably $100,- Treasury at $402,083 000. Under ex-

Many experiments have been made

The race took place between the talk. One Philadelphia newspaper, Taking out the deficiency bill and Continental mail express train printed a statement on Tuesday the river and harbor and fortifica- and a carrier pigeon, conveying an morning which made the deficit tions bills, the aggregate of appro- urgent document for the Frence co-$144,000,000. This has been widely priations by this Congress will be lice. The rails, carriages and engine copied in the Democratic papers and less than by the last one, notwith- of the express train were as might be printed with flaming headlines, standing the fact that the public ser- expected, of the possible construction

ing to do with the regular appropri | dow by a French official as the train In this statement of "alarming ations, but is a debt due to the veter- left the admiralty, pier, the wind such bills should pass there would be the rate of forty miles an hour, and The truth is that Secretary Win- no money in the Treasury to pay the railway officials were ready to amount stated in his annual report, cans have passed a disability bill, for a telegram announced the arrival The condition comes from a remark. But after allowing for the payments of the bird twenty minutes before Empress Frederick's Kindness.

The German Empress Frederick loves little children. She never fails stead of being $450,000,000, will, Sec- headlines about "Alarming Bank- to notice every one she sees, and will retary Windom estimates, be about ruptcy," are founded on falsehoods often stop in her walks and speak to $147,000,000. The custom receipts at and mis-statements. The Republi- them. Even grubbiness will not New York, for last month alone, was cans are going ahead with care, but deter her from taking a particularly $4,000,000 greater than, the correst they will have the courage to do the fine baby in her arms, though, of ponding month last year. The Sec- right thing regardless of Democratic course she prefers them clean. In return, children, who always know their friends by instinct, are attracted to the Empress, and the following little incident, which occured lately, illustrates this: A gentleman who passed daily betwen three and four o'clock along the road that leads from Berlin to Charlottenburg noticed a little girl always standing at the corner of the Hardenburg Strasse, and at last he asked her why she did it. "Because of the Empress circulation, and, unless it is to be this session for the current fiscal year Frederick," she answered. When the Empress was in Berlin she drove The Leading Hardware and every day when it was fine toward Charlottenburg with her daughters, priation bills for public improve- of the present session at $359,000,000, and at the Hippodrome they got out of their carriages and walked. Her Majesty noticed the little girl always waiting at the same place, and invarthe purpose of a law which, so far as amount of the fortification bill as it iably noded kindly in acknowledgthat law is concerned, was approved passed the Senate, and is now pend. ment of her courtesy, where upon ing in conference, which two bills the child went home beaming .-

Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and Melons at headquarters. You will always find there the best and cheapest. They receive fresh supplies from 'orget the place,-on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

She Was Ready for Him.

Yesterday morning at exactly ten o'clock, a well-dressed young man entered a gate on Congress streeteast and pulled the door bell of a house. No response.

Then he went to the side door and No response.

Then he returned to the front door for a couple of minutes he went back 'Anything the matter ?"

"On, only a trifle." "What were you doing in there?" "Trying to collect interest on a She was ready for me. Good day.' -Detroit Free Press.

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cougure. Price 25c,

For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colle Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters. Endorsed by every physician as a sure of Pain or Weakness in the Breast, Si ek or Limba; also for Liver Computations all Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma surlsy, difficulty in breathing, &c., in all of the cases they give relief at once. Sold by December, or sent by mail for 25 cents. Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

THE GARRET'I COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashler. A General Banking business transacted. • Prompt attention to collections. 112's9.

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our Home-Grown Nursery Stock.
WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS Unequaled facilities. One of the largest Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-established and best known nurseries in the conniry. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 676t

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT TO rd, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Biemishes im Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, reeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all rollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save 556 by ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never falls. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Droggist, Oakland, Md. 45 ly*

JOHN A. WOLF, CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER. AND PROPRIFTOR OF

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL, Manufacturer and dealer in Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding,

Stair Building, and General Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assortent of Coffias, and also manufacture to me to order. A fine hearse in attendance Thanking all who have favored me in the ast. I hope by fair and liberal dealing the introduced their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attend 40 Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1800.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware

Association.

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWAICE, TIN WARE, PAINTS, C.1.8, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRILERS. Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment,

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE!

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, parn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c.. &c. the farm is well watered and nearly all unter fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park. der fence, Shuated abou Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT,

Fairment, W. Va.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS. Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular varieties. I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as represented. Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land h the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from Oakland. Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoint the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four equayeariy payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to.

For further information apply to. JAS. A. HAYDEN Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE.

containing five rooms and a cellar, nice painted and plastered; a good frame bar

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

J. P. LEWIS, ---MANUFACTURER OF-

Lumber, Shingles and Plas-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a "HINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle can sell you a better shingle ight any where else in the State for the same price J. F. LEWIS,

3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three courses

cail. Special attention to collegiate require-nests. Number of Puplis strictly Limited. Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN. Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

***3" Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church

**17 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street. 2 15 90 ly

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the ason.—The West End of Wing and at Deer Park, containing a Parlo Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitch

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINIMOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument. I can desire the price to the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask. ## Place of business-Railroad street, next o B, & O, depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

OAKLAND, . MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890: GOING EAST 16—Accommodation

72-Accommodation. GOING WEST. -Accommodation ...
-Express.....

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25 cents.

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager.

C. K. LORD. General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE,

Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings Tonant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young order rd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments,

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county. JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Orop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickei Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1890. Aug. 1, 1890,

NUMBER 24.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET. Particular attention given to Conveyancing uvestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated.

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

2-Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Cains, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission. mission.
Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above 6 5 '86 tf.

EWD, H. SINCELL THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND,

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 10 6 J. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the vijoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland. 39 Thee in the Court House. July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER. ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Stailding, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing bental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. ## Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.—1y. H. W. M°COMAS, M. D..

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the pof Cakland and vicinity. #g-Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church. DR. S. TOWNSHEND. RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second.

Particular attention paid to cleaning and filling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction.
v3 n48 Br. I. D. Mewman,

OAKLAND, MD. CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y FOR SALE,

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133½ acres, situated 7 miles North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outbuildings; twenty acres under cultivation. A fine young schedit son the piece. wenty acres under cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, 12 8 3m

Discase

SCHENTINO DISCOVERY! Australia Misches Successfel Treatment. CURES: Geterri, Brenshitis, Consumption, Malaria. Rhoumatism. Wenderful Tonic and me to use, one jugs. Price F3.00. conth. Cheap; within the t 17 years experience in Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, 300 Arch Par

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cuttin All persons are warned significant down any of the timber on my land on the Hoonpole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty foreutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch. 281 as for feloniously steating goods or chair. as for feloniously steating goods or chat-sto the value of the tree or trees" so cut THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop mear 'Browning House.'

Has taken charge of Leevenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS

BARRITT STATION Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-Mules for Logging constantly on hand.

-and-TRAM ROADS

MINE MULES A SPECIALTY W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station,

On W. Va. Cen. R. R.,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings. Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match ng done to order at the lowest rates, # Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work. 9, '87.

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-

Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 1, 85.— y.

SMEN WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three velns of Coal, one veln being 6 feet, mother 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orelard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Cail on or address.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oaklard, Md.

ALEXANDER & CO.,

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD. lumber brokers

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Beiting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice, Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggies, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM. A PRACTICAL AND First-Class Tailor,

FROM BALTIMORE, on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

3 15 90

Established 1840.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Wolff's ACME Blacking

OIL CLOTHS are expensive and wear out, but a

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. As a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, there-fore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk, the least sudden motion causing me severe distress. Frequently, bolls and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends parts of the body. By the advice of Iriema and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradica-ted."—L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo. "My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, note of them did or permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely

Cured Me. I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence. I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, VL. "For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decorah, Iowa.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about teres of which is cleared, and on which ar Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two milet from Swanton, E. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under lence. A young orchard was put out ofur years ago, and will soon come into bear For particulars and terms, apply to or ad

RICHADD CUSTER, FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company o those represented by me, I am now pre-ared to write policies on all kinds of proper y on short notice and at reas anable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies, F. A. THAYER.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-ness direct, hence can transact patent busi-ness in less time and at LESS COST than hose remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-cription. We advise if patentable of not, ree of charge. Our fee not due till patent is covered.

C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

workers, ELLWANGER & BARRY, OWN THE GREAT COLUMBIA.

's Sight-Seeing on the "Grandest River of the Globe "

LAND, ORE., June 29,-The oial ingratitude of Republicans ever been better illustrated than fact that not one of our fortytes is named after the discov-America. True, there are than fifty Columbia counties, hips, cities and villages in the d States, and thirty more have ed the name Columbus, while apital of the country lies in the let of Columbia; but this dis omprises an area of only sixtyquare miles, and in a country were so much is thought of big Columbus surely ought to est States. An excellent opportunritory to statehood, of changing its only have prevented much confusion in the mails, but would have been that Washington is bounded on the However, even if it failed to use to honor the name of Columbus than not a dull moment between Portland | the Columbia should have ever been any other part of the country, for and the Dalles. here is British Columbia, with its magnificent mountain scenery, more than eight times as large as the state inspiring in its grandeur as the Here, for instance, on the Washings ombines the best features of all of dacks and Catskills.

wilder till the climax is reached in above the water, exactly like swim- legend goes on to relate how the

the maryelous rapids above Dalles ming dogs. century will hold thousands of happy sight and the scenery begins to resem- a fight and hurled huge rocks at each farmers, are now an absolute wilder. Die that of the Hudson River High. other, some of which fell on this arch, ness, and an hour may pass before a lands. Rooster Rock is a large boul- which spanned the Columbia, and farm house or yillage is sighted from der, which, from different points of demolished it. The fragments, filling the steamer. Had the unreasoning view, looks like an uplifted thumb, the river bed, created the rapids multitudes who rushed to Oklahoma or like a mammoth seal with head which now obstruct navigation, quietedly taken up homesteads in on high just ready to plunge. It Before the advent of civilized many this region, which is so favored by stands on a projection from the shore, on the banks of the Columbia, the casclimate, soil and scenery, they would which looks like an island, and it has cades used to be the great fishing have avoided their wholesale disap- a few small firs growing on its bare place of the Indians, who congrepointment.

HOODED WITH ETERNAL SNOW.

Mt. Hood is 11,025 feet high, and it rocky scene. is ascended by numerous parties every summer, including ladies. Like all the Oregon chain of mountain who planned the Columbia river peaks, from Shasta to Tacoma, it is provided not only for a gradual an extinct volcano, and still gives dramatic crescendo to a climax, but evidence of its past condition by the for constant scenic variety. So after sulphurous fumes, which, in some the snow mountains, and the Rooster places, are encountered during the Rock, and Cape Horn, the tourist is ascent. Nothing could be more delightful esque waterfalls. The first of them than the ingenuity with which the is the Multnomh Falls, which is Columbia panorama is arranged. For sighted only a few minutes after leav-Dave been sponsor of one of our larg. the first five hours, while the banks ing Cape Horn. At first it is somepresent nothing of thrilling interest, what disappointing, since only the ity was missed on the occasion of the the giant snow peaks lend grandeur upper part can be seen, but as the recent admission of Washington Ter- to the scene. As soon as the last of boat approaches nearer it is revealed these, Mt. Hood, disappears, the in its true size, of 800 feet in two name to Columbia. This would not banks themselves begin to fascinate divisions. It is the death plunge of the attentiou by innumerable pictur- a lively mountain stream, which has esque formations; and a few hours worn a channel in the rock that looks singularly appropriate for the reason later, when the Highlands have been as if a giant had scooped out a wide left behind and the banks become groove with a shovel. South by the Columbia River and lower again, Mt. Hood once more After this waterfall episode the on the North by British Columbia | comes into view, more and more | Highland mountain scenery again prominently till at the end of our monopolizes the attention, for we ts opportunity for adopting the trip, the Datles, it seems nearer and are now in the midst of the Cascade name of Columbia for one of its more magnificent than even at Van- range, which is a continuation of the states, the Northwest has done more couver or Portland. Thus there is Sierra Nevada of California. That

"AS PURE AS WATER."

The river itself is almost as awe-of New York; and, better still, the snow-peaks visable from it. No ton side, is a monstrous basaltic rock Columbia River, 3,000 miles in other river has ever given me such a close by the river, completely isolatlength, with the grandest scenery in vivid and overpowering sense of ed, without a trace of connection the world. I have repeatedly seen sublimity as the Columbia by its with the neighboring ridges. It is the Htdson, the St. Lawrence, Mis- great expanse of watery surface and Cathedral Rock, is curiously marked sissippi, Missouri, Sacramento, the its tranquil, deep, majestic move- and furrowed by wind and weather, Rhine, Elb, and Danube, and none of ment, And whereas the Mississippi and covered in patches by the irrethese rivers impressed me as deeply at a corresponding point, is so mud- pressible fir trees which are larger as the Columbia, which with the ex- dy that one almost hesitates to bathe than they seem at their great elevaceptions of the castles on the Rhine, in it, the Columbia is so clear and tion. How did this rock get there? pure that in a glass it seems like well It flooks like a mammoth glacier them and adds to them what they all water and tastes almost as good. The boulder, but incalculable as is the back-a background of lofty peaks color varies with wind and weather, force of glaciers, no ice-river could cevered with eternal snow. Grandeur but is usually a yellowish-green, as have eyer borne this massive rock is the watchword of the Columbia, grateful to the eye as a new mown on its back. Perhaps Mt. Hood, in which, with this mountainous back- lawn, Standing at the prow of the a volcanic fit hurled it there. But ground and the stupendous sculptur boat surveying the vast expanse of impressive as this sight is, the pasing of its banks, towers above other placid or agitated water, it is a fasci- sengers should not allow Cathedral to your rivers as the high Alps of nating exercise of the imagination to Rock to distract their attention from Switzerland do above our Adiron- think that almost every gallon of the surrounding mountain scenery, this man moth stream came original. which is really much more note-THE BEST INVESTMENT FOR A "V." ly from some different creek, spring, worthy than the rock itself. Near it, The trip down the Columbia from melting glacier or snow-field-some to the right, is a mountain about Portland is interesting on account of of them in the Cascade mountains 2000 feet above the river which is an the snow peaks, the vast volumes of close by, some in the Rockey moun- exact copy of Mt. Hood, without its water, the salmon canneries, Astoria, tains, in distant territories-for the snow; and adjoining it is a unique and the unruly and notorious Columbia's sources are in British mountain of about the same height, bia River bar. But the real senic Columbia and in seven States and but with a summit at least half a part of the river is the Upper or Mid- Territories - Oregon, Washington, mile long and absolutely level. But dle Columbia from Portland to the Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah it would take volumes to describe all Dalles, which cannot be seen often and Nevada. Think what romantic these imposing mountain formations, enough, and which presents on the canons, what vast gloomy forests Opposite Castle Rock, and below, are down trip aspects of the scenery so these waters have passed through on miles of magnificently sculptured different from those enjoyed on go their way from the crest of the con- palisades compared with which those ing up that a return ticket should be tinent to the ocean; what numbers on the Hudson River are of toy like taken by all means. Such a ticket, of speckled trout have darted through dimensions. They are beautifully from Portland to Dilles and back them in the mountain, what hoards mottled with green shrubs and moscosts $5, for which you can spend two of big salmon and sturgeon in the ses and yellow linchens, and fringed, whole days on the Columbia. I have Columbia. And what exciting scenes above and below, by ribbons of yelseen a great part of three continents, they have noted of seals chasing low fir trees. And to think that all but if I were asked what I considered these unfortunate fish! For even as this supurb scenery has been known the best investment of a $5 bill I had far up the Columbia as this the seals to civilized man only one century, or made for combined and aesthetic en- make their excursions. A hundred more exactly, ninety-eight years. joyment and hygenic exhibaration, I and fifty miles from the ocean, they THE CASCADE OF THE COLUMBIA. should name this return trip on the can be seen here basking on the sand We now approach the famous cas-Columbia River. Tourists who have bank projecting from an island into cade of the Columbia, the place where time for one trip only should go up the middle of the river. Some of according to the Indian tradition, a the river, because in that direction them float about on logs, and others natural bridge bridge once existed, the scenery is arranged most effect- swim to within thirty feet of the formed by the water digging a tunnel ively, becoming ever grander and steamer, looking, with their heads for itself through the mountain. The

Yet these shores, which in the next disappears, Rooster Rock comes into opposite sides of the river, once had food of the air plants. The interest- and dry their Winter supply of sal-Two hours after leaving Portland, ing points now begin to crowd each mon. They were a lazy, cunning, Mt. Hood, whose base had been pre- other, and barely fifteen minutes treacherous crew, who gave the early viously concealed by the Cascade elapse before another of the famous explorers much trouble and proved ridges, suddenly comes into view, sights of the Columbia comes in view by their actions that, although fish life-size, from top to base. Were -Cape Horn, which at first sight may possible be good intellectual the banks of the Columbia as flat and seems merely a precipitious rock pro- food; it does not equally develope monotonous as those of the Lower jecting into the water but, as the boat the moral faculties; for these tribes A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address

Mississippi this sight alone would draws near and begins to round it, crown it king of rivers. For a full all the passangers rush to the left the river and levy tolf on all passers. crown it king of rivers. For a full all the passangers rush to the left the river and levy toll on all passershour the steamer sails straight toward side of the ship, and a chorus of by; very much like the robber bar the mountain, as if intending to land rapturous admiration burst from one on the Raine. But that was in at its base for a supply of ice from its their lips. Cape Horn is a vertical the good old times, a hundred years A I E S M E at its base for a supply of ice from its their lips. Cape Horn is a vertical wall of bare rock, rising abruptly out the left as the steamer provokingly of the water, and standing on a pretty these Indians are left to haunt these To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or changes its course. For two hours row of grouped stones resembling regions and fish for their daily bread. more, however, the mountain re- little pillars sculptured in haut relief. The salmon wheel has displaced the mains in sight till it is once more In the centre of the rock a minature Rochester, .Y. hidden behind the crests of the Cas- cascade runs down smoothly over a cades. Tourists who wish to ascend mossy bed. Presently, as the boat the mountain or explore its glaciers moves on, in close proximity to the and canyons get off above the Cas reck, another preciptious wall, even cades at the town of Hood River, higher than the first, rises above it near the mouth of the river of that adorned with several more minature name, which carries the melting snow | waterfalls, whose moss-grown chanoff the mountains to the Columbia. nels are the only green in the barren

PICTURESQUE WATERFALLS; The master landscape gardener treated to the sight of a few pictur-

able to force a passage through this lofty chain is a marvel. But then maryels abound in this region, rival volcante monarchs, Hood and About eleven o'clock, as Mt. Hood Adams, who face each other on sides that subsist apparently on the gated here in large numbers to catch

(Continued on 8th Page)

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

VACATION.

It's planning for a month ahead and purchasing with care Gay fianner shirts and blazer coats and scarfs and things to wear;
Then with a racket and a bag and lots of fine

cigars
You say "good-bye" and off you rush to catch the boat or cars. It's stepping in a boarding house and feeling rather strange While with the older boarders furtive glance

But soon you get acquainted and a maiden you With whom to flirt and fall in love-in case she It's playing tennis with the girls and lots of silly talk,

And taking with your chosen one alovely moon light walk, And rowing with her on the lake and hunting flowers wild And dancing with her at the hops and being

It's feeling like a millionaire and spendin money free— Without a thought of afterwards—for any thing

It's getting rid of business cares and troubles of And putting on your happy face a healthy hue of brown.

It's being just in Paradise that hasn't any end With, Oh, the sweetest angel you devotedly attend, And falling head and ears in love—then suddenly you know

But one more day of bliss is left ere back in town you'll go It's spending the last evening in a silent sorrow Alone with her and promising to write and often meet; Too soon the awful moment comes when you and she must part, And woefully you board the cars-broken in purse and heart.

It's feeling simply wretched when you strike the dusty town
To bear again the burdens that you for awhile And for a week you dream about the Paradise Till all at once, you realize the fortune it has

It's going without dinners and all other pleas ures, too,
And trying hard to borrow so you're able to pull through While paying for your summer fun that brought you into debt, And writing Her long letters—that she hasn't -H. C. Dodge, in Goodall's Sun.

CATCHING BUTTERFLIES.

His Latest Specimen the Rarest and Most Valued of All.

'Is this the stage for Ford's M said a bright, daintily-appareled young the north-bound train.

The man moved his head, but not his girl is here?" He was too comfortable, it seemed, although the old leather gushion of the stage's front seat did not look so very soft, and certainly the hard, straight back would not have tempted a Sybarite.

'Yes, but it don't go there fur nigh onto two hours; it waits fur the train up from 'Gusty. Wuz you thinkin' o' goin to Ford's Mills to-day?" he said, leisurely.

Bessie Meredith smiled as she replied in the affirmative. She had never visited Maine until to-day, but she felt as if she had always known this stage driver, Sam'l Gardner, for she had often heard her father describe his leisurely manner, his rustic appearance, and his inquisitiveness

"Don't be offended at Sam'l Gardner's questions, Bessie," her father had said to her. "You must bear in mind that he is not a hireling hackman, but a well-to-do and highly respected resident, who has driven the stage between years, and consequently knows and is known by every one in the neighbor-

"Got folks there?" queried Gardner. "My father has cousins there, one of whom I am going to visit." "Sho now. Never ben there before I know. I never furgit any pooty little gal that goes in my stage, fur somehow all the young creeturs takes to me. Who did you say you was goin' to visit?" "Mrs. William Ford; you know her, I am sure.' "Wilson Ford's widder? 'Course I do. But I thought I knew all his kin folk. Whose girl be you, anyway?" "Not Wilson Ford; father cautioned me not to let you make a mistake. I mean Mrs. William Ford." "I see! Hanner, Bill's widder; her thet was a Meredith. Yes! yes! So you're one of the Boston Merediths, eh?" "Yes," replied Bessie, laughing. am the daughter of Henry Meredith; father said you'd remember him." "Sho now! Is Henry's gals growed up so big? How time doos fly! I wonder Hanner didn't tell me she was expectin' company; they mostly do, so I kin keep Well, you go an' an eye out fur 'em. set in the deepot, an' I'll call you when now?' its time to start; you shall set on the front seat, an' I'll tell you about a prank that father o' yourn played on me onct. He was a master hand to train! Chuck full o' the old Nick! Mis' Wilson some expectin' one o' her nieces from Hol'will, an' I must go and see if she's anywhere 'round." Evidently the niece from Hallowell but three other passengers, elderly women, in Sam'l Gardner's stage, and they got out at farm-houses long before

Ford's Mills was reached. "Is Mis' Ford to home?" said the driver, as the stage stopped at a trim little house in the middle of a luxuriant | rupt question put to Bessie. orchard. The person to whom he spoke was just leaving the house; in one hand she carried a little basket, and in the in' them things? An' hash, too!" said other a tin pail. "No, she hain't. She was 'lottin' on home, and peering into the oven as if goin' down to Eddin' ton with you, this she owned it. "I'm bound to say they bly continued standing. At the close afternoon, providin' her company hedn't smell good. Well, I am beat!" come; but she was sent for, sudden, to own the hill by the meetin'-house. Is Mis' Ford's door open?"

"No; but the key is under the step, and you can just walk in an' make your self to home till Mis' Ford gits back. You'll find all the vittles in the butt'ry so jest cook yourself up what you like," said the neighbor to Bessie, and then walked away.

When Bessie was at last in the cozy kitchen, out of which the "butt'ry" opened, she sat down in the patch-cushioned rocker, and laughed until the tears came into her eyes.
"This must be Arcadia! Fancy stranger being set down at our front door in the city, with house locked and the family away! What a different fate would await her! Evidently Cousin Hannah failed to receive papa's letter telling her that I was to arrive to-day to make my first and long-deferred visit to her, so I must make myself at home until she returns."

The sink was full of unwashed dishes. which convinced Bessie that Mrs. Snow's summons must indeed have been urgent, for Cousin Hannah was a most ethodical housekeeper; so she covered her pretty dress with one of the capacious aprons which she found hanging behind the closet door, and then proceeded to "clear up." An examination of the buttery showed Bessie that the bread was all gone; but a bowl of sifted flower cheek by jowl with a yeast-cake, proved that a fresh baking had been contemplated. One dry doughnut and the "heel" of a sheet of gingerbread told their own tale.

"I wonder if Cousin Hannah will mind if I make her something for supper? I don't want to meddle, I do want to help; shall I cook or not cook; will follow mother's rule, which always works well; she says: 'When in doubt what to do try to do as you would be done by.' If I had been away from home all day nursing a sick child 1 know I would enjoy a nice hot supper; so I will take the liberty of converting those three cold, lonesome potatoes and that little scrap of corned beef into a savory hash; that, with some hot bis cuits, fresh gingerbread and a cup of tea ought not to go amiss to tired Cousin Hannah."

While Bessie was industriously tryng to carry out the old, old rule, the two Mrs. Fords were conversing just outside the little post-office.

"O Car'line!" exclaimed Cousin Han-"I am glad to see you. I'm in a dretful pickle! Here's a letter from Cousin Henry, up to Boston, you know, thet I'd ought to 'a' got yis-day; but that stupid boy into the office hez only est give it to me. It says that Henry's oldest girl is comin' to visit with me a spell, an'll be here to-day; an' Cap'n s'pose she's a-waitin' to my house, all alone. Now, Car'line, you know I never girl to a farmer-like man who was idly did have no luck with my butter, an' watching the passengers alighting from this churnin' wuz wussn' ever: can't you sell me some, jest while Henry's

"You know, Hanner, I'm ez willin' to oblige ez most folks be, but I'm ex-pectin' a niece o' mine to stay with me, an' I hain't goin' to have no butter to spare.'

"Jest a little mite, Car'line-jest 'nuff fur her! I'll pay you what you ask fur it. I kin eat my own, but she can't." "Fudge! Henry's girls are no better's you be, if that fine wife o' his has rought 'em up to be fashionable; your outter is plenty good 'nuif fur them. You're always puttin' yourself out for folks that don't thank you nor pay you. more fool you! I don't do nothin' for nobody onless I'm goin' to git paid fur't somehow; nobody does a hand's turn fur me fur nothin', I know that. I'm sorry ot to be able to oblige you, Hanner." Mrs. Hannah Ford turned away disappointed. She knew that Mrs. Caroine was not a generous-hearted woman. and that she had always been jealous of the superior good health, prosperity and popularity of William's widow; but she Eddington and Ford's Mills for thirty did think that the magic word "pay" would procure for her the much-desired

"Humph!" sniffed Mrs. Caroline as the two women separated and turned to heir respective homes. "If Hanner thinks I'm goin' to help her cosset that flibby-ty-jib girl o' Henry Meredith's she's mistaken. I made up my mind long ago that I wa'n't goin' to be overun by none o' my husband's kin, an when my nieces visit me they've got to make theirselves useful." A little later. Bessie Meredith heard a footstep on the porch. Glancing up, she saw a stranger entering the door which led into the dining-room. She knew that it was not customary in Ford's Mills for a neighbor to pause and knock at another's door, so she was not of the ministers themselves, in the surprised at the unannounced entrance of her visitor.

"Good afternoon," she said, pleasant-"Mrs. Ford has not returned yet, but I expect her every minute; come in and take this rocking-chair." "Mrs. Ford is"-began the stranger. "She went to Captain Snow's this morning, I think; his little boy is ill. Do you happen to known how he is "He is some better, Doctor Adams sez. But-but-" "Do you know what ails the child?" "He hed measles, an' they didn't come out till 'long towards noontime. Ford-her thet wuz Carline Oakes-was | Don't I smell gingerbread?" said the visitor, rising and stepping into the

At this moment a fine stalwart young man entered the dining-room, unnoticed hear without being seen. "Yes; I made some, and some biscuits

I thought Mrs. Ford would be hungry and tired, and glad to find supper ready.

"Who be you, anyway?" was the ab-"I am Bessie Meredith, from Boston. "Land sakes alive! An' you be'n mak-

"So Cap'n Snow told me as I wuz goin' next room was laughing, too, laughing so that he was almost in convulsions. "I knew Henry was terr'ble richland o' Goshen! An' you've washed all them dishes that I left in the sink!" "You! You are not Cousin Hannah?" "Oh, no: an' this hain't Hanner's ner jest set you down to the wrong

"Oh, I am so sorry!" exclaimed Bessie.

"Sho! there hain't nothin' to excuse. tuckered out. But whatever possessed you to think o' gittin' things ready?"

did not find her there when she got they are to him as brothers-imagine all deemed were in packages in the Regisof her," was the reply.
"Well, you go back an' tell Hanner that her company's a-visitin' with me, worlds. Without a previous knowledge an' when we git done supper we'll go of the soil whence has sprung all these I'll fetch her the butter I was speakin' lect, it is quite natural that the first quesabout. Well, why don't you step along? You know Hanner'll be fidgetin'till she but presages an ultimate fiasco, or work gits some word."

Although he did not seem to think it was "well," to quote Mrs. Caroline's only in society which constantly craves favorite expletive, he had no excuse for a new sensation for its dulled appetite, dallying any longer. As soon as he courted with a persistency which must was gone, Bessie's hostess explained that he was only one of the minister's at the age of twenty-four, it will not be summer boarders.

fonder o' bugs and butterflies than any grown man I ever see!" she added, with a laugh. "He come to me one mornin" with a common striped butterfly, an' asked me if he might have the creetur. minute I thought sure he was a luny; and daily service, I felt that after all, but then he told me he was a etymo- genius would rise superior to society. A hev all sich creeturs they wuz on my beneath the windows, the glistening Snow says he see a strange girl in the stage with Sam'l Gardner this noon, so me a newspaper that hed a piece in it stone's throw away, and such coziness as far as the department was success as far as the department was success. tellin' about that very butterfly! He and cheer within.

him lots." Bessie did not express her opinion: but when, on arriving at Hannah just above a most inviting sleepy hollow Ford's, she heard that Harry Welling, the young "etymologis"," had suddenly decided not to leave Ford's Mills just yet, she thought that perhaps the summer might be pleasant, even if country life was monotonous and quiet. It happened that Bessie also was fond of "bugs an' things," so she and young and fast-ah, it was all very fascinating! Welling had a common interest to start | And the lord of this little realm, how with; and it was not long before Harry shall I describe him—it is so natural to found that she had impaled his heart describe a woman, so difficult to reproamong her "specimens." Of course he could not be so ungallant as to ask her lends herself with ease to any kind of to return it, but he managed to capture portraiture, while it always seems to hers in its place, so both treasure-hunters were happy.

It was not, however, until Welling had had a favorable interview with graceful figure; of a countenance which Bessie's father that she or any of the denizens of Ford's Mills learned that ning to tell the tale of persistent and entomology was a pastime with him, severe labor, and a climate which must not a profession, and that a comfort- eat the very heart out of a man, a chin able income of some twenty thousand cleft in twain, but strong and promidollars per annum allowed him to study nent, telling of many a battle fought nature because he loved her. Then, too, and conquered, and many a battle yet he owned to Bessie that he had contracted an aversion to "fashionable butterflies," and that his haste to leave Ford's Mills had been caused by hearing that she was to spend the summer there. His change of plan was made when, sitting unseen in Mrs. Caroline Ford's dining-room, he overheard the conversation I have quoted, and the first glance he gave at Bessie's winning face made him anxious to add to his fine collection of specimens just this one unique specimen of a "fashionable butterfly."-Frances E. Wadleigh, in Demorest's Magazine.

THE MINISTER'S FAMILY.

A Glimpse of Life in the Years Preceding the Revolution. The veneration of the people of New England for the clergy, and the dignity years just prior to the American revolution, are succinctly set forth, in at least one respect, by the venerable Josiah

Quincy, of those days, as follows: "Before the time of service the congregation gradually assembled in early season, coming on foot or on horseback, the ladies behind their lords or brothers or one another, on pillions, so that before the time of service the whole space before the meeting-house was filled with a waiting, respectful and expect-ing multitude. At the moment of service the pastor issued from his mansion, with Bible and manuscript sermon under his arm, with his wife leaning on one arm, flanked by his negro man on his side, as his wife was by her negro woman, the little negroes being distributed, according to their sex, by the side of Then foltheir respective parents. had postponed her visit, for there were by Bessie, and sat down where he could lowed every other member of the family, according to age aid rank, making often, with family visitants, somewhat of a formidable procession. As soon as it appeared, the congregation, as if moved by one spirit, began to move towards the door of the church, and before the procession reached it, all were in their places. As soon as the pastor reached the church the whole congregation rose and stood until the pastor was the visitor, making herself quite at in the pulpit and his family seatedof the service the congregation stood "Did you think that no city girl ever until he and his family had left the go an' see Mis' Snow; her little boy's knew how to cook?" asked Bessie, church before any one moved towards the a-dyin'." | laughing. And the young man in the door."—Christian at Work.

RUDYARD KIPLING.

A Pen Picture of the Writer Whose Works are the Latest Literary Fad. Imagine a man born in Bombay, of parents in whose veins runs the blood house, neither. That loon Sam'l Gard- strange, warm land; then taken back to stroyed. The claimants proved the facts the parental roof-tree in old England as clearly as human testimony coulddoor. I'm Car'line Ford, Wilson's that he might know something of the that these bonds, each with six coupons widder; Hanner's place is 'bout quarter sweet childhood and healthy boyhood attached, were deposited in a locked peculiar to this sheltered island; and mail-bag in Frankfort, transported to again at the age of sixteen returning of Liverpool, and there delivered into the in dismay. "I beg your pardon, most sincerely. I have never been here before, and—oh, I do hope you'll excuse long years doing the hardest kind of the liberties. I have never taken with a liberties to have taken with a liberties and all but two or three of the liberties. the liberties I have taken with your journalistic work—working from dawn kitchen and buttery!" journalistic work—working from dawn to eve, year in and year out, with the thermometer frequently way up in the completeness of the evidence was itself I'm sure I'm dretful glad to find a good hundreds, no substitute even of the hot supper waitin' fur me, fur I'm about poorest possible in a territory where chagrin of the claimants, Secretary heels going all night, a good part of the uckered out. But whatever possessed to to think o' gittin' things ready?"

Bessie explained that she had hesiwith fever looking him grimly in the love or money, according to the direction of tated, fearing she would "meddle," but eye, cholera slaying those nearest and gress. On the application of the claim- sition but that which will give you a. had decided to do as she would be done by.

dearest to him, and in his own heart alby.

dearest to him, and in his own heart always that tumult of aspiration and depassed an act directing the issue of the

and a few minutes' sleep. His infan-"Land sakes! Ef that hain't Hanner spair which is ever the lot of the highly duplicates. The claim was again pre- tile needs will begin to manifest. all over! You an' she'll hitch hosses gifted-the only genuine consolation sented with the act, and the duplicates themselves at about one o'clock in the fust rate. Well, come an' eat supper, an' lying in the hard labor which later on were demanded. The same bureau morning at which witching hour you then I'll take you over to Hanner's, was destined to bear ripe fruit, but officer again represented his suspicions will go blundering around in the dark —Well! what are you doin' here? An' which at the moment in that deadly to the Secretary, and, with the sanction for a drink of water. He will howl what are you grinnin' like a chessy-cat climate strained the vitality to its of the latter, the present regulation steadily and cheerfully from two until

"Mrs. Ford sent me over here to see if bered and fought, sorrowed and made the authority of Congress. ner missing guest was here. As she merry, watched and broken bread, until stronger than any this century has yet known. Lionized as a young man can be prove more flattering than wholesome by the way in the end. But may the gods be kind and avert such a catastrophe! and, indeed, as I being made, they were paid. contemplated the modest menage near the Thames, with the desk and chair I was struck all of a heap, and fur a and the pen, which evidently saw long logis', an' wrote for the papers about charming little study that is with the bugs an' things. I told him he could green of Victoria Embankment directly answered. goes home to-night, an' I shell miss army pictures reproduced by Detaille, a dozen well-used pipes of varying sorts and sizes occupying a case chair, a couch covered with a tiger-skin, which even in death is not free from menace and alarm, a great black cat, thoroughly alive and happy and much petted by her fond master; the little tea-table, from which an ascetic repast is snatched when inspiration comes thick duce the rersonality of a man: woman me that man instinctively rebels against it. Yet I would I could convey to you some impression of that small, lithe, even at the age of twenty-four is beginto come; nostrils which expand with every emotion like those of blooded horses quivering for the race; a complexion pale from study and also from the great heat borne unremittingly for so many years, and fine gray eyes, whose widely dilating pupils behind the constantly-worn eye-glasses fill one with a vague alarm, as of some misfortune lying in wait for their future sight .-Helen Bartlett Bridgman, in Brooklyn

Record-Union. REGARDING OLD AGE. Dr. Holmes Welcomes It as a Season of Peace and Enjoyment. I was a little over twenty years old when I wrote the lines which some of you may have met with, for they have been often reprinted: The mossy marbles rest On the lips that he has prest In their bloom, And the names he loved to hear Have been carved for many a year

On the tomb. The world was a garden to me then; ic is a churchvard now. "I thought you were one of those who looked upon old age cheerfully, and welcomed it as a season of peace and contented enjoyment."

I am one of those who so regard it. Those are not bitter or scalding tears that fall from my eyes upon the "mossy marbles." The young who left my side early in my life's journey are still with me in the unchanged freshness and beauty of youth. Those who have long kept company with me live on after their seeming departure, were it only by the mere force of habit; their images are all around me, as if every surface had been a sensitive film that photographed them; their voices echo about me, as if they had been recorded those unforgetting cylinders which bring back to us the tones and accents that have imprinted them, as the extinct animals left their tracks on the hardened sands. The melancholy of old age has a divine tenderness in it, which only the sad experiences of life can lend a human soul. But there is a lower level-that of tranquil contentment and easy acquiscence in the con-ditions in which we find ourselves; a lower level, in which old age trudges patiently when it is not using its wings. attently when it is not using its wings. I say its wings, for no period of life is so imaginative as that which looks to younger people the most prosaic. The atmosphere of memory is one in which imagination flies more easily and feels itself more at home than in the thinner ether of youthful anticipation —Oliver Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic.

TREASURY FRAUDS.

Many Have Been Attempted, But Not One Proved a Success.

Among the inheritances from the administration of Mr. Buchanan was an of more than one people, born and pass- application for the reissue of a lot of ing the first five years of his life in that coupon bonds alleged to have been deat, I'd like to know?"

last possible limit. Imagine a man
These questions were not address, who has led this kind of a to Bessie, but to the hitherto hidden life, having but little society for before the actual issue. This rule was every howl. It will not be of any useyoung man; as Mrs. Ford and Bessie nearly a decade beyond the rough-and-entered the dining-room they had dis-ready representatives of the army and through the press; they even charged "there, there." He is right there and the natives, with whom he has slum- the officer with intentionally nullifying knows it and intends that you shall.

At this time the coupons of bonds rehome, she has sent scouts out in search this and see if you can not understand ter's file-room. There was little need why it is that at this moment the writings of their examination, and no attempt of Rudyard Kipling are astonishing two had been made to arrange them in consecutive order. Books were now made | no use to add to your Judgment Day list with one page appropriated to each bond, over to her house; an' tell her, too, that marvelous blossoms of a human intel- and a space for each coupon, while a wife has been calmly passive through it force of clerks was detailed to place all, she will develop an amazing degree tion should be whether this precocity each redeemed coupon in its appropriate of spirit if you dare lay the weight of

At the expiration of the year vac claimants came for their duplicates. They were assured that they would now be issued unless some satisfactory reason | will journey around all over the bed could be shown for further delay. The spaces were found all the coupons which his moist little heels is planted firmly ummer boarders.

'A likely young fellow, who is startled the world this year only to fall bottom of the sea! A few months later later on, with childhood's scorn of dependence of the sea. the bonds themselves were presented cency and decorum, he will sit astridefor redemption and, no adverse claims your neck and grow green and purple of official duties and the anxieties of your ward, your wife will say she firmly war which occupied us so incessantly prevented any further investigation, and the inquiry will probably never be how. An animated dialogue of a purely formity with all the rules of the War or lay down your life for love of him .-Office, and transmitted to that office with a letter of directions where the draft should be sent. The War Office approved the claim if correct, and transmitted the account, the letter, and the action of the War Department to the Secretary of the Treasury, by whom it was sent to the proper auditor, whose duty it was to audit the claim. If he decided that the claim was a proper one, it was sent to the Comptroller, who revised the action of the auditor, and, if correct, approved it, sending the account with the accompanying docu ments to the Secretary, who issued the warrant for its payment. This warrant was countersigned by the Comptroller, and entered on the books of the Regis ter; the Treasurer then drew his draft upon one of the depositories for its payment, and the draft was sent by mail according to the original letter of instruction, which constituted one of the file papers. The file was then sent to the Register's file-room, and there remained. It comprised all the papers, showing a complete history of the transaction. On the occasion in question the cashier of one of the Washington banks came to the office of the Register with a draft just issued for more than $80,000, payable to a well-known Massachusetts contractor, and regularly endorsed. It had been presented by the head porter of Willard's hotel, a reliable man, who said that the payee was ill and unable to leave his room. He had therefore requested him to collect the draft in notes, if possible, of $1,000 each. Without any apparant reason the cashier said his suspicions were excited, and he went with the porter to the hotel to see the payee, and be sure that the transac tion was all right. But the sick gentle man had disappeared. He had probably watched the porter, and finding that there was delay in the payment, had vanished. The file was sent for, and the letter found directing that the draft be sent to the contractor at Willard's hotel. He was communicated with by telegraph, and said that the letter was a forgery. He had given the same directions in this case as in his former collections.

The next fraud which I recall was a this remark. revented by an accident.

This fraud was consummated by an outsider with the assistance of a clerk in the treasury. No outsider could have obtained access to the files in order to remove the true letter and sub stitute the forgery. Such a fraud could not be prevented by any system. Fortunately the suspicions or the prudence of the cashier prevented any loss.—L. E. Chittenden, in Harper's Magazine.

Bilkins' Popularity. Guest-I understand that Bilkins is one of the most popular men in you Host-Did Rilkins tell you that? Guest-O, no; I have not met Bilkin tor years. Host-Ahl Then you have been talk ing with his wife.-N. Y. Weekly.

Cause and Effect. Proprietor(astonished)-Whew! Three hundred subscribers in one mail. wonder what is giving our paper such boom? Managing Editor (gleefully)-I killed our funny man's jokes on death by electricity.-Texas Siftings.

SLEEPING WITH BABY.

It's Not as Pleasant as It May Seem to Love-Sick Bachelors. The free-from-care and ease-taking old bachelor who, in his momentary lapse of wisdom, contemplates matrimony, should at the same time reflect on the remote but contingent possibility of his having to some time sleep with a baby should he marry. Years of experience of martyrdom of this kind make me feel it to be my duty to set forth the misery arising from a contingency of The baby, if he happens to be a lusty little fellow of eight or ten months, will decline to stay covered and will also decline to allow you to keep yourself covered He indicates his wishes in this know it. It is no use to say coaxingly, "What does papa's baby want?" Papa's baby doesn't want any thingbut to howl, and he is gratifying that amiable desire to the utmost. It is of of enormities by swearing. And if your your finger in anger on that "poor, dear, little innocent darling sweetn He will squirm all night as though he were first cousin to an angle-worm. He both under and on top of the coverings. books were sent for, and in their proper You are no sooner asleep than one of with rage when gently made to sit else-What was the explanation of this where. Should he fall out of bed and mystery? I do not know. The pressure yell loud enough to be heard all over believes that you pushed him out, and that you are not fit to be a father, anypersonal and private nature will follow sleep with one of his velvety little The course of proceeding for the col- cheeks close to your own and one of his lection of a claim for army supplies was usually this: The contractor made his find your heart growing very soft and collections through his banker. His tender towards him and you would, monthly account was made up in con- single-handed, wage war against a host,

Detroit Free Press. PALACE OF SILENCE.

The Sad, Romantic Story of a Beautiful New York House. There is in New York, upon one of the most fashionable thoroughfares, a magnificent house, a veritable palace, which can never be looked at by the sentimental woman without a tear coming to her eye, because of the story attached to it.

It was designed and built by one of the richest men in New York-the head of an old Dutch family-for the woman he loved. Throughout the whole house, which might have been called "The House Beautiful," were the colors, furnishings, ornaments and dainty touches that were the young bride's taste. The ball room, in which she expected to trip so many merry measures, was walled and ceiled in many colored marbles: but the lover himself directed the building of the porte cochere under which ner carriage was to roll, so that, stepping out, she would not be touched by a drop of rain or a flake of snow. Every thing was ready; the horses were pawing in the stable, waiting for the day to come when they would carry their new mistress out; the coachmen and the footman had their big white rosettes at hand to wear on the wedding day; the house was full of fragrance, for beautiful flowers were massed to please the coming mistress, and every thing seemed to be in harmony with all this thoughtful, loving care; for the sun shone bright, and it was somebody's wedding day.

Yes; but it wasn't an earthly wedding, for when, with quick footseps, her mother went to wake the expectant bride, she found her dead. The last kiss she had given had been to her lover the night before. The last kiss he ever gave any human being he gave to her as she rested in her coffin. he lives on in the beautiful house and does with his great fortune a deal of good, all in the name of the woman he loved. The shutters are never opened in that wonderful house, the carriage has never been used, no feet have danced in the ball room; but it and the solitary man are there as evidences of the fact that a love can so completely fill the heart that all life is nothing without it.-Ladies' Home Journal.

A Warrior Bold.

\ lawyer gave a dinner party, after which the gentlemen retired to smoke and chat. All at once he got up, took down a sword which formed part of a trophy, and, brandishing it in the air, exclaimed: "Ah gentlemen, I shall never forget the day when I drew this blade for the first time!" "Pray, where did you draw it?" said an inquiring guest. "At a raffle," was the lawyer's rejoiner.-Figaro. -Mr. Poseyboy-"Yes, Miss Travis, when your gweat big dog came out at. me so wudely I completely lost my head, d'ye know." Miss Travis (with a sigh of relief)—"I am so glad it didn't turn out to be any thing more serious! Lion is dreadfully hot-tempered."-Exchange.

S a fraud and a erage dime mu- phetic tone. seum takes the lead. Coney Island, when that so-called has more than its share of them, and the following is one of the many swindling games that are | tion. practiced on the pleasure seeker by these sharpers: Two brothers, Tom and Bill Snooks, who had been in New York but a short time, went to Coney Island one hot day last summer. They had hour, in a vain endeavor to find something to amuse them, when they obposters of a dime museum which proclaimed that for the ridiculously small sum of ten cents the public could view many startling curiosities, among which were a case of bona fide ossified man, a it would take a vast amount of time to the posters.

Their disappointment was by no means small when they entered the "grand curio hall" and found that all the curiosities in the place consisted of a fat boy, who was sound asleep with his mouth wide open, which resembled an open coal-hole in the sidewalk; a Circassian (Ave. A) girl who made a herculean effort to flirt with them; a negro whose limbs were attached to his body upside down, but which earned the high title "Guyascutis," and a half-starved dwarf. Bill and Tom were thoroughly which was augmented at being braced by the Guyascutis for "a

They proceeded to the next room, called the "Theatorium" by the proprietor. A young man with a dissipated face and a curbed back was viciously pounding a piano, while one of the 'star" actresses, gaudily dressed (to a surprisingly limited extent), was executing a most difficult dance, the grand secret of which seemed to be to come down very heavy on both feet and turn around swiftly.

The dancer had scarcely ceased when a man upon whose face the shades of an overlasting and horrible curse seemed to have settled, touched Bill on the shoulder. He was a small man with a square face, badly marked by small-pox. He had an eccentric way of looking at a man, which at once convinced the man looked at that kind had Providence deserted him and was not on his side that morning.

"Have you seen Edison's latest invention?" he asked, in a husky voice, at whistling. the same time lavishly bestowing a castiron look on the two brothers that would throw an ordinary tiger into a fit. "I don't think we have," answered Bill, timidly,

"Well, you don't want to miss it. "Come along and I'll show it to you." He led them into a small room, where upon a table was displayed a contrivance which he called "Edison's Blood Tester." It was a simple affair, consisting of two hollow glass balls, connected by a short piece of rubber tubing. One of the balls was filled with a bright red fluid, resembling blood. The museum man explained that by taking the two glass balls in the hands the fluid would run from one to the other, the force indicating the condition of the blood. If it ran swiftly the blood was in good condition, whereas, if it got a messengerboy gait on, the man didn't have more than three weeks to live.

A small card, prominently displayed, bore the following tale: THIS IS EDISON'S BLOOD TESTER.

TRY IT. NO CHARGE. Three men, with faces suggestive of crime, immediately began testing their blood, and seemed highly pleased at finding it in as good condition as the tester indicated. Bill and Tom were urged to try it, and as it did not cost any thing, they also found out the exact condition of affairs in the interior. Just as they were leaving, the dime museum man said:

"Now, gentlemen, the charge for obtaining this valuable information is only fifty cents each."

The three men promptly paid fifty cents each, one of them remarking that it was well worth that amount to find out the condition of his blood as he had had grave doubts about its exact shape, and that now he could rest easy. "I should say it was cheap," remarked another. "Why, I paid Dr. Loomis four dollars about three years ago for the same thing. It is needless to say that the three men were in with the swindle. "Well, I don't pay a bloody cent," said Bill, very emphatically. "Nor I," said Tom. "You're a set of blood-suckers!"

"What!" exclaimed the dime museum man, with virtuous indignation, "have you got the cheek to come in here, test your darned blood and then refuse to pay for it when there's a card right before your eyes saying what it will cost? day, an' wid five childer to support-No. sir! I'll not stand it!"

Murmurs of "It's a shame to cheat the man," from the three Bill and Tom looked at the card. It now read:

THIS IS EDISON'S BLOOD TESTER. TRY IT. ONLY FIFTY CENTS. "Are you fellers going to pay up?"

delusion, the av- asked the museum man, in a low, pro-"Not much," said Bill, grimly.

The museum man slid out of the Bill and Tom were warned by one of

"Where are they!" velled the bouncer. in a James Owen O'Conor tone of voice, which awoke the fat boy, and that individual waddled to the door and looked wandered around aimlessly for over an the collar, and shaking him violently, ten is made of pale willowgreen cash- when it was bought, in 1882, and no shouted: "Is dis der slob?"

"Yes, but give 'em one more chance. served, near the Iron Pier, the glaring Now, are you fellers going to pay? Remember this is your last chance," said the proprietor.

an undertone to Tom-and then they paid fifty cents each.

When once again out doors, neither spoke for several minutes. Finally Bill, with a mighty effort, said:

"Yes," said Tom. "We've been swindled-most outrage-

"Yes," repeated Tom. "Now, Tom, raise your right hand to Heaven—a little higher—that's it," and right there, before a crowd of astonished onlookers, they made a solemn vow never to enter another dime museum as long as they lived .- Lewis M. Swift, in Texas Siftings.

A Pertinent Question.

It was little Dot's first visit to a farm. and she went with her aunt to see how the pigs were fed. The little one gazed in astonishment at the young porkers for a moment, and then, placing her hand on her curly hair, she said reflect-

"Auntie!" "Yes, dear." "Does 'oo put all the piggies' tails in curl papers?"-The Jury.

Against His Will. "Dennis, I hear that you have been inking again: if you can't do better I shall have to let you go.' "Sure, sir, it was against me will that I got off this time, sir." 'Nonsense! no man can do things against his will!" Dennis (grasping at a straw)-Faith, I his will .- The Jury. A Wonderful Freak.

In Berlin a gentleman walking on the street with a young child met an acquaintance who asked: "What a pretty child you have got

"That," was the reply, "is an infant prodigy. That child is three years old and has not yet begun to play on the piano."-Texas Siftings.

After Dark. Mr. Middleman-What a happy boy that is! Hear him whistling on the way

Mr. Youngman-Yes, happy boy; he's so afraid he has no idea what he's Mr. M.-What keeps him or the tune?

Mr. Y .- Fear; he's afraid to get off of it .- West Shore. An Exciting Time.

Small boy-Mamma, mamma! there's a mad dog in the street, and every body is running into the houses. Mamma (rushing to the window)-Where? where? Small boy-Look out! Dodge down! Get under the sofa! A policeman is going to shoot!-The Jury.

Great Nerve. "He has a terrible nerve." "Who, Chumpleigh?" "Yes. Why, that fellow was managing a traveling 'Hamlet' troupe out in Kansas once, and, when the audience called for the author at the close of the play. Chumpleigh went before the curtain and bowed."-N. Y. Sun. He Still Had a Grievance. Jones-You look as mad as you did last winter when you were down on the Brown-Well, I am as mad as I was then. The only difference is now I'm down on the ice man .- Texas Siftings.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Temperance Missionary-And does your husband drink liquor? Mrs. O'Toole-Bless y'sowl! He hasn't tiched a drap for thrace years. T. M.-That's a good thing for you. Mrs. O'Toole-A good thing, is it? An' me as has been a widder ever since thot

MODES FOR CHILDREN.

How to Dress Boys and Girls Neatly and Attractively. Now that the season is well established, it is a pleasure to chronicle the doings of fashion with regard to children's apparel. The simplest styles are the most popular and by far the prettiest, and manufacturers have responded to this preference by preparing delicate woolens, and mixtures which cinnamon and cloves whole. Boil sevare the most effective when made up eral hours and seal .-- Old Homestead. pleasure resort the three men to "pony up" quick; that without elaboration. White fabries of is in full blast, the museum man had gone for the boundalk kinds are chosen for the midsumcer, who was a regular slugger, who used mer dresses worn by both large and generated by placing a silver coin on to be a prize-fighter, etc.

He re-entered the room with a man small girls, making beautiful effects by the use of embroidery, lace and ribbon. small girls, making beautiful effects by one side of the gum and a piece of zinc fully six feet three and broad in propor- Plain woolens of fine texture in white, cream and light shades generally are very much employed, and form an excellent foundation for trimmings of guipure and embroidery, which may be for the past eight years, and she expects wrought separately or on the dress malazily on. The bouncer grabbed Bill by terial. A very pretty dress for a girl of that she boiled it in salt and water the front and back. At the sides the it, it won't break. skirt is joined to the bodice under a belt Bill was wrapped in deep thought, as but finely plaited below, and is fastened per, two eggs, yelks, one pint olive oil, if undecided what to do. In the mean- to the dress diagonally from the right two tablespoonfuls lemon juice, two time the bouncer was getting very imshoulder down under a band of hand-patient, and it required the united some embroidery. The back is arranged tard, salt and cayenne pepper together; picturesque tattooed man, etc., etc., etc.
The young men hastily separated themselves from ten cents apiece, secretly regretting that they had not taken an another than the bouncer was getting very in patient, and it required the united some embroidery. The back is arranged tard, salt and cayenne pepper together; in a triple box-plait starting at the boy to hold him back. Bill observed that actual measurement would result ornamented with long loops and ends of land or name. earlier boat, as they firmly believed that in obtaining the information that the narrow ribbon. The ribbon belt begins | troit Free Press. bouncer was fully three feet across the under the plait and ties in front. The view the many curiosities mentioned on shoulders. He mentioned this fact in sleeves are very full and are drawn in can or other suitable vessel, put the rice above each wrist under a band and bow in this with water sufficient to moisten of ribbon, and a knot of ribbon is also it and allow for swelling, place the can placed up the left shoulder. This dress in a kettle of boiling water, cover the would be equally pretty in washing ma- latter closely and let boil without stirterials trimmed with embroidery, and ring until the rice is tender. There is the drapery might in this case be al- | no danger of scorching. Grits are nice lowed to fall in natural folds instead of cooked in the same manner. Salt to

> A pretty little dress for a girl from point in front, and there are long loops year. embroidery closing at the back.

The trousers are of white flannel, and are cut in true sailor fashion, while the and five years are made in sacque handful of light bread, broken small, drink rum. I have been taught to hate had a brother who wint to prison against shape, either in serge or seersucker, and with skimmings from the pot in which rum as Hannibal was taught to hate trimmed with flat bands of embroidery. of the embroidery, is made to complete the costume.

> A great many girls' hats for summer wear are made of fancy straw in white, black, and colors, especially beige. The crowns are low and flat, the brims wide in front, and are either wide and turned up against the crown at the back or very much shorter behind and concealed by trimming. Leghorn hats are the standard kind for children's broad-brims, and they are allowed to droop limp about the face, perhaps weighted here and there by flower-branches. Many light and cool hats for little tots are made of "Liberty" or China silk shirred > over reeds or wire. The most satisfactory every-day dresses for children, being at once cool, durable and cheap, are make of crossbarred linen, the kind which is sold for glass toweling. It only costs twelve cents a yard, and the prettiest possible dresses for both little boys and girls are made into kilt or gathered skirts and blouse waists.-Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

NATURAL BARRIERS.

The Degree of Hindrance They Offer to the Extension of Species. The relations of the fauna of different regions are intimate in direct relation to the ease by which barriers may be crossed. Distinctness is in direct proportion to isolation. What is true in this regard of the fauna of any region as a whole is likewise true of any of its individual species. The degree of resemblance among individuals is in direct proportion to the freedom of their movement, and variation within what we call specific limits is again proportionate to the barriers which prevent equal and perfect diffusion. The various divisions or realms into which the surface of the earth may be divided on the basis of the differences in animal life each has its boundary in the obstacles offered to the spread of the its range as far as it can. It struggles knowingly or not to overcome the barriers of ocean or river, of mountain or plain, of woodland or desert, of moisture or drought, of cold or heat, of lack of food or abundance of enemies, whatever these barriers may be. Were it not for these barriers, every species would become what only man now is, practically osmopolitan. Man is pre-eminently the barrier-crossing animal. The degree of extension of species is only relative. others. The river which opposes the Starr Jordan, in Popular Science ing through several hands. May Monthly.

-Dabbs-"So poor Dick's in trouble

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-The best liquid for cleaning old brass is a solution of oxalic acid. -Yellow piano keys may be whitened with sandpaper and afterward polished with chamois.

- Mosquitoes, flies and gnats may b -Spiced Plums: One gallon of plums, e finest cottons, the softest and most one pint of vinegar, one quart of sugar,

> -A weak galvanic current, which will sometimes cure a toothache, may be on the other. Rinsing the mouth with acidulated water will increase the ef--A woman in Americus, Ga., is using mere, and is cut in princess shape at matter how large a flame runs through -Mayonaise Sauce: One teaspoonful of ribbon. A blouse front of pale green of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of salt, silk is gathered at the neck and waist, one-fourth saltspoonful of cayenne pep-

-To cook rice or grits take a clean being plaited, a style more suitable for taste when putting on to cook.-Boston

Budget. A pretty little dress for a girl from —To Keep Eggs: To one pint of salt gight to fourteen years old is made of a and one pint of fresh lime, add four galplaid fabric, either of woolen or Scotch lons of boiling water. When cold, put tephyr, and has the front and sleeves in stone jars. Then with a dish let cut on the bias, while the back is down your fresh eggs into it, tipping straight. The body is gathered at the the dish after it fills with liquid, so they neck and waist at both front and back, will roll out without cracking the shell. and fastened in front invisibly among Put the eggs in whenever you have the folds of the material. A ribbon band around the waist is folded to a place and they will keep fresh for a

and ends on the left side of the front | -A Good Sago Pudding: Wash a and at the center-back The full sleeves | half-cup of sago, and set on the fire with are each drawn in with ribbon at the three pints of cold water; simmer two If a man steals my brain he has brought never be legalized without sin, then it wrist, and a bow is placed at the inside hours; then stir in one cup of white of the arm. The back part of the skirt sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, and one only is cut on the straight, mounted of the extract of lemon. Have ready a were dead. Rum steals one man's brains who is in favor of the liquor traffic. with gathers at the waist, and bordered deep pudding-dish in which, after it has and leaves him a maniae; another it While the churches as such need not dewith a deep flounce of embroidery laid been well buttered, put as many pared leaves maudlin, a disgrace to his chil- clare for any one political party, they on flat. The collar is a deep ruffle of and cored apples, as will stand in the dren and a curse to his patient wife. dish; turn over them the sago, and bake A neat summer suit for a boy from one hour in a moderate oven. Serve into a cup of wine and drank the costly that is dominated by the whisky rings eight to eleven years is made as follows: with sugar and cream .- Ladies' Home draught, but the man drinks a costlier

Journal. blouse is of marine-blue flannel, em- beef, and to each pint add a tablespoon- which throws away the minds of his broidered in white, with a white shield. ful of chipped onion, a teaspoonful of children, and the home for the feeble-The sailor cap is also of the blue flannel. celery seed (or two sticks of celery, cut minded shows that three-quarters of the Simple dresses for little boys of four fine), one hard-boiled egg cut up, a children there are from parents who the beef was boiled, and enough of the Rome. No drop of liquor, except the The front is closed diagonally from the liquor to make it soft-a cupful of beef left shoulder, and a belt of embroidery gravy will do as well, or a tablespoonful lips. I say to you that I abhor the man fastens with a buckle or metal clasp. of butter rolled in flour, with a half who sells liquor to the poor laboring man When the material is serge, a little cupful of hot water. Add two or three more than I do the leper, and I would polo cap of the same, with a broad band of the embroidery, is made to complete nixing all thoroughly, put in a deep ter than shake hands with the former. pan and bake fifteen minutes; serve hot Statistics show that throughout the with cold slaw .- Good Housekeeping.

> CONTRIBUTION-BOX CURIOS. Coins of Many Countries Discovered by

Church Treasurer. the funny papers about the buttons and is the great gigantic curse of the Nation | saloon-keepers and corrupt politicians the punched and the counterfeit coins and the one blot on its history. If I had on the other. which are dropped in the contribution boxes, they usually give the men who largely upon his imagination. The fact of the matter is, however, that the truth is funnier than all the humorous men's fictions. The treasurers of nearly every church in the city send regularly to the United States Sub-Treasury a lot of punched coins on which they realize and he dies ip middle life. not much more than half their face value. The counterfeit coins are usually destroyed.

The treasurer of one of the best known Catholic churches in the city showed the writer a collection of punched coins the other day the face value of which amounted to about ten dollars, and all of which were put into the contribution boxes in one month. A queer-looking collection it was, too. There were coins representing nearly every civilized nation in the world. Among the collection were German pfennings, English sixpences, shillings and half-crown pieces, and a six-pence struck in honor of Queen Victoria in the year of her jubilee; Canadian pieces, French fifty-centime pieces of the time when Napoleon ruled that country and pieces of the same denomination struck since the country became a republic; Mexican coins, pieces from Venezuela and coins from numerous other countries. half dollar; there were several of these. There were a number of quarters, dimes, half-dimes, five-cent and threeaverage animal. Each species broadens | cent silver and nickel pieces and copper one-cent pieces, all mutilated, either by having a hole punched in them or a piece cut out of the edge. Each hole was carefully plugged with lead so that the sharp-eyed collector would not observe that the piece was mutilated unless he inspected it closely. There were more dimes than pieces of all the other denominations put together.

No doubt many of these pieces have an interesting history, for the reason hindrance offered by any barrier to the that many of them contain monograms, and during the time that bangle brace-That which constitutes an impassible lets were the rage they undoubtedly barrier to some groups is a high-road to adorned some fair wrist. Some of them were undoubtedly tokens of love, and passage of the monkey or the cat would how they found their way into the conbe the king's highway to the frog or the tribution box will probably remain a turtle. The waterfall which checks the mystery. Perhaps some of them were ascent of the fish would be the chosen spent in dire necessity and finally home of the ouzel.—President David reached the contribution box after passsome of them were spent for caramels, by a proud beauty to show her disdain a rain; any thing serious?" Jabbs-"O. for her former admirer. Possibly some no; in love."—Howard Lampoon. of them were lost.—N. Y. Tribune.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

RUM AND EXTRAVAGANCE.

A Chicago Minister's Eloquent and Logiical Temperance Sermon. subject of one of Rev. Robert McIn- devote as much time as the schools de tyre's recent sermons. The text was found in St. John x, 10: "The thief nor that they should employ the meth cometh not but for to steal and to kill ods of the schools, but it does mean that and to destroy."

"If a man should enter yonder door, ferior results. make his way down to you and whisper in your ear that a thief was in your house you would lose all interest in this sermon and hurry to your home. The least the level it has attained in the thief does not always enter to steal a lamp chimney that she has used daily to use it for many years yet. She says this day remains a deep mystery. The thief who steals a child is not always a lion or the tiger steals into the home and carries the little one away to the jungles, never to be seen again. Birds grapeshot.' have been known to commit such thefts, "The nev and I well remember the story told me cottage door. An eagle, whose nest was on the summit of a beetling crag and saw the bird bear her loved one away to the nest on the mountain top. No human aid could reach him, and for months his bright mantle, with its brass buttons glistening in the sun could be seen fluttering in the wind. "I do not mean to speak of human thieves. The greatest of all thieves is shall be accepted as a church member. habit, and first of these is rum. For authority that rum is a tnief I will quote you Shakespeare, who said: 'Is it not strange that man shall put an of Christians ought to rise to the level enemy in his mouth to steal his brain?' of the Methodist body and declare Next to the soul in importance is the that the liquor traffic can not be legalbrain. In this day a young man who ized without sin. The church can not comes into the city from a country town | in reason or honor with one hand make stands about as much chance for escape as a pigeon flying from a trap before a ircle of marksmen. Rum, like all thieves, has many false names, beer, gin, brandy, etc., but its real name is rum. on me a double death; it were better for myself, better for my family, that I never to vote for a political candidate

-Beef Salad: Cut fine, cold boiled drinks it. A costlier cup is the one communion wine, has ever crossed my United States the average paid for every man, woman and child for liquor is $6. a factory in this city which has a month-When people read the paragraphs in which is settled out of the pay-roll. It and their families on the one hand, and the money that is spent for drink I would set a school-house in every plain Last of all rum steals a man's good minors. name and he loses self-respect, he is out of employment, his children unedu-

"Once the devil wets his hand in whisky to get a grip on a man, he seldom lets loose until he lands him in hell. The whip is now changed, and the preacher and editor who trembled before its strength now wield the lash. The lowest man is the preacher who stands Sunday after Sunday in his pulpit and never says one word about the liquor traffic. "Thieves work together. Rum and Church in New York City: extravagance go hand in hand, and many a good man has been driven to drink or to crime by the extravagance of his wife or himself. The extravagance in the city is overwhelming. People patronize the theater who refuse to pay their rent. Cash goes, but landlord may whistle. I believe in adornment and think that a man should look his best and a woman her loveliest, but do not go beyond the means. You do wrong when you wear to church any thing but plain dress, something that will not make the poorest woman in the congregation ashamed in comparison. The largest piece was a United States I do not believe in excessive simplicity Debt is a twin brother of Satan. Practice economy in the home, and if you want to lead a fashion, let it be in elevating and assisting the needy and your reward will be waiting your arrival in Heaven."-Chicago Globe

A SEVEN-HOOPED CASK.

Joseph Cook's Ideas of the Duty of the Church Toward the Liquor Traffic. Speaking of the duty of the church toward the liquor traffic, Joseph Cook aid at the Temperance congress:

"Every drunkard is immortal. Without wishing you to think for a moment that I would say the churches can to any thing more effective against the liquor traffic than to preach the Gospel, I will read my paper, which I have neaded: 'Seven Hoops for the Church Temperance Cask:'

THE FIRST HOOP. "It is safe to assert that the churches ught to rise to the Temperance level of the public schools. Mandatory instruction in the schools of twenty-seven States and Territories of the American Union has recently set up in the name of science a new, unassailable and al- instruction law of that State.

luring standard. Below that standard the voluntary Temperance inculca tions, directly or indirectly given by the precept and example of the churches, ought not lowed to fall. This does not neces "Thieves In Our Houses," was the sarily mean that the churches should they should not be satisfied with in

"As to the methods by which the Temperance instruction of the young is schools, each church must decide for money, but sometimes to steal itself. I venture to suggest only that persons, individuals. Charley Ross, by pulpit hints or special addresses and a beautiful boy, was stolen lectures, by Sabbath-school instruction, many years ago; although every by the use of pledges, by the circulation of sound Temperance literature, and effort was made for his recovery tion of sound Temperance literature, and he was never found, and the matter to especially by personal example, the standard of total abstinence should be everywhere preached in the churches. human thief. Sometimes the wolf, the Mr. Spurgeon was many years a wine dealer, but now he says: 'More men have been killed by grape juice than by "The new approved Temperance text books which are now molding the secuin my native country, Scotland, by my lar schools of the Nation ought to be in father. A fond mother had dressed her all Sunday-school libraries. Once a little boy in his prettiest, brightest | month, at least, instruction in harmony clothes, and left him playing about the with these standard books should in some way be effectively given in all Sunday-schools. Lift the youth, the in a neighboring mountain, swept down upon that home and carried away the of your churches to the level of total boy. The mother heard the rush of the abstinence, which is now the level not wings; saw the dark shadow cross the only of the secular schools, but even of threshold, heard the childish scream the life assurance societies, and immense results must sooner or later fol-

"All Christian denominations ought to rise to the level attained by the largest and strongest bodies in the United

THE THIRD HOOP. "As no rum-seller ought to be accepted as a church member, all denominations rum-sellers and with the other hand excommunicate rum-sellers.

THE FOURTH HOOP. "If rum-sellers ought not to be church members, and if the liquor traffic can follows that church members ought ought to declare that church members "Cleopatra powdered precious pearls as individuals should support no party Christians on their knees before God will never vote for any party on its knees before the liquor traffic.

THE FIFTH HOOP. "The churches will support law and order by the whole power of their moral and social and political influence.

THE SIXTH HOOP. "There should be a great extension of visitation from house to house by church members, as individuals, as committees and as companies in support of the Temperance reform. Personal contact with part of church members has great possibilities of good that as yet have not been fully utilized in the Temperance field, nor indeed adequately explored and discussed. Let the co-operative and There is a saloon across the street from aggressive work of visitation proposed the Evangelical Alliance be carly account of $2,000 against the laborers | ried out so as to reach both drunkards

THE SEVENTH HOOP. "The churches should unitedly insist wrote the article credit for drawing and a church on every hill top, and in on the closing of saloons on Sundays less than four years would have a Bible in and election days and on the prohibition the hands of every person on the globe. of the sale of liquor to drunkards and

"There is no reason why the churches on these seven points should not reach cated, his family poorly provided for, unanimity, and if unanimity, then vic-

SACRAMENTAL WINE.

A Drink That Proved Too Much for & Burglar's Hard Head. The strength of the liquid which some churches are using as "the fruit of the vine" for the most touching memorial of the Christian faith appears from the following account given in the World of an occurrence in the cld St. Paul's

Near the back door two big bundles und, containing over $1,000 worth of silk and satin altar draperies and vestments, and upon peering in the officers were surprised to see a man about sixty years old comfortably sleeping on a sofa. The door was opened. The nen filed in, but the man on the sofa hard-y moved as the officers surrounded im. It was then discovered that the nan was "gloriously drunk." and shortly man was "gloriously drunk," and shortly afterwards his condition was explained by the with the booty.

As it was, he was removed to the station-house screaming and fighting like a madman. He was too drunk to tell his name and at once tell into a heavy sleep in his cell. Around the ante-room, where all the vestments are stored, valuable draperies, loose and in bundles, were strewn about in the utmost confusion. We confess to a very strong objection to offering to delicate women and children, to growing boys, and to men struggling up from the pit of intemperince, a drink which is too much for the hard head of a burglar.-Better Day. WHEN the late Horace Greeley, who was a staunch adherent to Temperance principles, was once pressed by an Irish waiter to take some brandy and water, he met the opportunity by saying: "Well, Pat, I'll take half that to oblige roy. Give me the water and take the brandy somewhere else."-Sunlight. THE keeper of the morgue in New York City states that four-fifths of the five thousand bodies that reach the city dead-house every year are sent there by drunkenness .- Journal and Messenger. THE Connecticut W. C. T. U. has begun agitation to secure a better enforcement of the scientific Temperance

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year ...... six months. INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten line 5) cents per square for each additional inser-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and

FRIDAY, AUG. 1, 1890.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Republican voters of the several Election Districts of Garrett County are requested to assemble in Primary Meeting,

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1890, for the purpose of selecting five delegates to represent each district in the County Convention to be held in

Oakland

ON WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, to select delegates to the Congressional Nominating Convention at Oakland on

THUSDAY, AUGUST 21st, 1890.

lect three members of the County Central Committee in each district and report their names to the County Convention

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

Show this paper to your neighbor, if he is not stready a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news ould be without it.

every time. The Oakland REPUB- us as a nation. LICAN already shows a marked improvement under the management of not won our national debt would Ben Sincell, and we wish him good have been repudiated and the na-Kingwood Argus.

THE esteemed Wheeling Register to-day, and a cotemporary gracefully runted control, adds that enthusiasm should now be to say brains and money.

GOVENOR JACKSON, of Maryland. is a plain man, who does not know much more than that he is a Domocrat, and, having made some money that his Democracy demanded a title. -Gath in Cincinnati Enquier.

"Gath" is unjust, Governor Jackson does not know more "than that so simple a case as that of Max Juhn mentor Attorney-General Whyte. but he should not be condemned on indeed, knows many things, For instance, he knows how to get under Herald.

and Oakland railroad to Oakland ought to be the uppermost thought in the minds of our people and any should receive the hearty co-operation of our citizens.

The advantage to accrue from the time.

those of Baltimore and the east. The immense coal, iron and fire business of the country.

long invested.

will bring wealth to your county.

MEETING TO BE HELD AT

OAKLAND, AUGUST 21ST 1890.

The following distinguished gentlemen have accepted invitations to be present and deliver addresses; Hon, Louis E. McComas,

Hon. J. Prentiss Dolliver, of Iowa. Hon. Binger Hermann, of Oregon. Among others who have been invited and who will undoubtedly attend are: Gen. Nathan Goff, Hon, Stephen B. Elkins, Hon, Geo. L. Wellington, Hon. Milton G. Urner, Hon, Lloyd Lowndes, Hon. Edward Stake, Hon. Thomas A. Hodson, Hon. Geo. A. Pearre.

The meeting will be held immediately after the adjournment of the Congressional Convention. Steps have been taken to secure reduced rates on the B. & O. Let everybody come. Bring your wives! your aunts! your cousins! Come, rain or shine.

The meeting will be the grandes demonstration ever held in Garrett County, Come and hear the silvertongued Dolliyer-the manly Hermann-the popular McComas - the irresistible Goff. Come and help to swell the crowd at the biggest meeting ever held in Western Maryland. COME! COME! COME!

Communicated.

The party of Lincoln and Seward, of Sumner and Chase has sadly de-The primary meetings will also segenerated in these latter days, It was ever a party of expedient and aimed to win no matter how .-Mountain Democrat, July 26.

Now, let us for a moment consider what would have been the consequenses to our nation, or if the Dem perat objects to "nation" let us say. our country, if this so-called party of expedient had not won.

If the policy of Lincoln and Seward, Sumner and Chase had not prevailed in spite of the most deterlion and the re-establishment of slavery with its perpetual danger to our

If this party of "expedient" bad nificent banking system, would have been debased and degraded, perhaps, enough to remember what was said he is a Democrat." It is true that in was made the occasion for a fresh omist. outbreak of Democratic vituperation he was compelled to call in as a and misrepresentation. If memory serves us faithfully, they were the objects of even a greater degree of that case alone. Govenor Jackson, Democratic malignity than either Foraker, McKinley, Reed or Quay. Sumner was stricken down on the shelter when it rains .- Baltimore floor of the Senate by Brooks, a Democratic member from South Carolina, with a club and beaten so that he THE extension of the Confluence never recovered from the effects of it. Lincoln fell by the hand of a Democratic assassin, and Seward had his throat cut at the same time by one of action on the part of the railroad the same band of desperadoes who quarter of the conference year. He author ties looking in that direction | had been incited to these desperate deeds by the fiendish misrepresenta tions of the Democratic press. The Democrat admits that on the Besides bringing the people of our have our doubts about this, for in own county into closer relations and view of our matchless thrift and progaffording rapid and easy transit to ress since the adoption of the protecand from the county seat, it will tive policy by the Republican party, naturally induce outsiders to come in there does not seem to be room for and settle up our glades, valleys and an honest difference of opinion, and ket along the Monongahela and the Republicans are Protectionists. bring into competition here at home and the Democrats stick to their hobthe goods of the Ohio Valley with by though they knew they would bring disaster and ruin on the entire clay deposits of the Yough Valley In regard to recent pension legiswill give employment to hundreds lation, the old soldiers, who sayed Geo. Heed. of workmen and the timber lands of the Union, have learned to expect the same section heretofore almost the slurs and insinuations of an al- sick list the past week but is improvyalueless by reason of the absence of ways unfriendly Democratic press. ing. shipping facilities will come into The soldiers have not yet been formarket and afford their owners a given for the sacrifices they made, is visiting her friend, Miss Kate handsome return for the money so for the years of toil and danger they Rumbarger. endured from '61' to '65, and until Help the enterprise along, friends; they are found ready by their votes prietor of the hotel at this place, has of Ohio. lend your influence to a cause that to turn the government over now to moved into another house and Mr.

then they may expect to receive the slanders, the slurs, and insults of the Democratic press and party leaders. But what shall we say of the "force bill?" Perhaps if the Democrat would take the trouble to explain to its readers the object and the necesof its members, that the sole object part of town. and purpose of the bill is to see that | He had started with his family to seats by virtue of force and fraud.

The bill simply provides the means rate of speed. of securing an honest election and a faithful count. XXX.

British Testimony on the Evils of Free Trade.

In a letter to the Manchester Courier, Mr. John Walker, of Bury, Lanshire, thus vigorously assails England's Free-Trade policy :

Let me draw your attention for a tween the condition of the English friends. and the continental poor. Do not the latter appear to be not only im-

Taking the world as our audience, mined opposition by the Democratic ico and all the South American six, two and one years respectively, party, the war would have termi- States, Germany, France, Italy, the little boy being the oldest. nated with a dismembered Union, or Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Aus- The unfortunate parents were at least, by a compromise with rebel- tralia (except New South Wales), carrying the two younger children Russia (which we must now include), and some countries of minor impor-Young blood and energy will tell peace and its ineffacable disgrace to tance vote for Protection, and the all four were struck at the same time, Wales levy a system of moderate so severe a blow from the train. luck in everything but his politics. - tional currency, including our mag- import duties ostensibly for revenue The bodies are lying at the underto the same low level of ante bellum millions. Say 435 millions of people to Rowlesburg to-morrow. No acciasserts that no party was ever more days, when the Democratic party ranged against 38 millions of Brit-dent has happened for years that homogenous than the Democracy of had had a long period of uninter- ons who are all supposed to thrive created greater horror or touched The Democrats—all sensible Demo- admits absolutely free of import duty deeply than this terrible destruction united with harmony. Yes; it will crats-are heartily thankful to-day, all raw materials, food stuffs, and of a whole family without a motake a good deal of harmony and en- that this party of Lincoln and Seward almost but not all manufactured ment's notice. thusiasm to pull that party through has ever won, and controlled the pol. articles, placing an import duty upon the next Presidential campaign-not | icy of the nation during the entire | tea, coffee, chicory, cocoa, tobacco, period since it first came into power, dried fruits silver and gold plate, beer, in 1861. Some of us, though, are old spirits, lace and a few minor articles. brother Frank, Dr. Hite, Prof. Much-If it is not egotism that makes us of Lincoln, and Seward, and Sumner | think that the 38 millions are right. | Fullerton and Miss P. P. Bollock are in their life-time by the Democratic and the 435 millions are wrong, in all here ready for their part of the by getting out swamp timber and press and party, of which the Mounth the name of Cobden I abjur you, to work of the Assembly. sawing it for market, he concluded tain Democrat is so conspicuous an tell me what it is. It is assuredly The Morgantown example. We remember the malig- egotism, and the same egotism arrived Tuesday evening. nity with which their conduct was as- which has displaced England from sailed; how their every act, no mat- her proud and prominent position Mercury was up to 76 on Tuesday. ter how salutary or how necessary, of bygone times.-American Econ-

Hoves.

W. A. Smith was one of the unfortunate ones last week, by the loss of his only horse.

Samson Custer had a lot of cross-ties burned; supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Finley DeWitt, formerly of this place but now at work at New Castle ant day.

Junction, Pa., spent a few days with his friends. Rev. J. H. Enlow has charge of the Brandonville circuit for the last has a long distance to go each week. place for holding the next circuit Sunday School covention, Aug. 23 extension cannot be estimated at this tariff question there may be room for and 24. A general invitation is an honest difference of opinion. We given to all to join in with us in this noble work. Rev. B. Ison, our former P. E., is expected to be with us.

> Dobbin. Rev. Correll preached here Sabbath morning and eyening. He will not hold services at this place again for the natural conclusion is that the six weeks, on account of the Bush The road will give us a new mar- Democrats are Free Traders because meeting that will be held at Bayard the 15th, 16th and 17th of August. Mrs. Willard, of Mt. Vernon, O., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Rumbarger. Our Sabbath School is progressing finely under the Superintency of Mr. Thomas Gaines has been on the

Miss Buskirk, of Elkins, W. Va.,

Mr. Nickelson, formerly the prothose who sought its destruction. Webb Ferguson taken his place,

ENTIRE FAMILY KILLED.

A Frightful Accident at Grafton Sunday

Morning. GRAFTON, W. VA., July 27 .- A sad and distressing accident occurred here this morning about fifteen minsity of the bill, which should be utes past 10 o'clock in which an entermed the anti-force bill, it would tire family, consisting of father, not appear to be such a bad thing mother and three children. were after all. When we come to reflect swept into eternity. The unfortuthat the House has the exclusive nate family was that of S. J. Golden. right to judge of the qualification of a laborer, who resided in the eastern members of the House of Represen- spend the day with his brother, who tatives and presidential electors are lives in the central part of town, on honestly elected, it is simply amaz- Main street, and were near the wagon ing how it possibly be objected to. | bridge which connects South Grafton The Democratic leaders and press with the main town, when No. 3. are so lost to all sense of shame that which was about two hours late they are ready to defy decency, rea- came along, a freight train being on son, and common sense by openly the side track and another freight on demanding the privelege to keep the south track, preparing to pull twenty to forty members in the out, leaving but the one track, on House of Delegates to make laws for which the unfortunate people were the entire country who hold their walking. At this point No. 3 pulled around a curve, running at a high

The engineer, J. Turner, on seeing them blew his whistle, as did also A. A. Canon, who was on the yard engine near by, but to no purpose. Nothing seemed to attract their attention, and they made no effort to get off the track. The engine struck tion and mangling their bodies to Several parties were near and witnessed the fearful sight. They were measurably cleaner and healthier, on the ground as soon as the train but cleverer and shrewder? Where passed. All were dead but the boy. but in the large towns of Great Brit- and it was found that his skull was ain can we find such hideous blots crushed and his right leg mashed off sions to investigate the charges which also scarce. upon civilization, such reeking mis- at the knee. The bodies were taken Representative Cooper of Indiana, eries the slums of Manthester and to the undertaking establisement of recently made on the floor of T. E. Cole, where they were prepared the House against Gen. Raum, Comfor burial.

Eyerything was done that could and asking for a show of hands on possibly be done to allay the sufthis question of Free-trade vs. Pro- fering of the little boy, but to no purtection in one shape or janother, we pose. He lay unconscious until 1 have the following result: Canada, o'clock p.m, when he breathed his the United States of America, Mex- last. The children were aged about occurred. They were together and population under this regulation is and died almost instantly. The litabout 410 millions! Switzerland, the boy was some few feet from the Norway, Sweden, and New South others, and evidently did not receive purpose; and the population of these taker's to-night and are being viewed counties is in the aggregate about 25 by thousands. They will be taken and grow fat under the system which the sympathies of the people more

Mountain Lake Park.

Dr. W. L. Davidson and his more, Prof. Line, Madam Kasper. Dr.

The weather has been delightful.

Dr. Manchester, of Barnesville, Ohio, has arrived with a party of ten. The first meeting of the Assembly is now in session. The orchestra is giving excellent music. Dr. Davidson, Profs. Line and Muchmore have delivered short addresses to a large audience. Sunday was a quite but yery pleas-

Dr. Morgan, of Baltimore, preached for us in the morning and Dr. Cushing in the evening. Both had good audiences and all were served to a rich gospel feast. Active preparations were made Johnstown was selected as the Saturday for the mountain chalauqua which begin Tuesday evening, with music by the Morgantown orchestra, recitation, fire works, stereopticon yisws and a general good time. About two hundred more persons can be accommodated for the Assembly, but we fear that we will hardly have room for the great number that have applied for accommodatons, The great demand upon us now 18 for more first class accommodations, also one or two rooms to meet the great demand for the various gatherings.

The Deer Park and Mountain Lake before a large crowd of ladies. The score stood 19 to 19 at the end of the eighth inning, when a terific drive of a home-run to deep right field by Phelps, of Deer Park, won the game by 20 to 19, after two men were out-The battery workers for Deer Park were Clotworthy Brothers, of Britimore, and in the crowd of spectators was the wife of Goyernor Campbell,

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, July 28th, 1890 .-Secretary Windom is preparing, at the request of the President, a com prehensive statement of the amount of revenue derived from the importation of sugar by the Government. It is generally understood that this statement is to be used as the basis of a special message which the President proposes to send to Congress. giving his ideas of what amendments the Senate should adopt to the tariff bill. There is a doubt as to whether to be able to appear more regularly the President will advise the adop- in the future. tion of reciprocity outright, as advised by Mr. Blaine, or some sort of compromise. The probabilites are of the new editor. We hope it may strongly in favor of his taking the latter course. The tariff debate has so far been confined entirely to the Democratic Senators; long speeches have been made by Senators Voorhees, Vance, and Morgan. The Republicans are among friends and relatives. waiting until they have definitely determined just what points in the bill are to be covered by the amendments, and one of them said to-day that he did not think the vote would be taken on the bill before Septem-

Speaker Reed has appointed as them, knocking them in every direc- conferees on the part of the House on the "Original Package" bill, passed such an exteut that they could last week, Representatives Reed, of moment to the great contrast be- scarcely be recognized by their Iowa, Thompson of Ohlo, and Oates of Alabama. It is regarded as practically certain that the House amendment will be agreed to by the Senate.

> The committee on Rules reported and the House adopted a resolution instructing the committee on Pen- them very much. Small fruits are missioner of Pensions. The com- a horse, mittee in its report stated that all of the essential statements of Mr. Cooper are hearsay, and his conclusions conjectural, and that they did not know whether they are true or "whether true or false your committee believes that an investigation truth may be ascertained; the public service must not even rest under a suspicion and the character of public officials must be so clean and their administration so honorable and straightforward as to command the public confidence and withstand the parents. most careful scrutiny. Every public official should invite the most careful investigation of his public and official acts, and your committee believes that Gen. Raum, whose public and private character has been heretofore without taint or suspician, will gladly promote the investigation." Gen. Raum is very much pleased with the action of the committee, and of the House. He refused to dignify the charges by officially asking for an investigation; but he has not hesitated to say privately to members of the committee that he wished for it, Senator Sherman has the people with him in his effort to have the Congressional Record edited. If ever there was a publication that needed a careful, painstaking editor. it is that same cumbrous and misnamed Congressional Record.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has resumed his warfare upon the more last week. Louisiana Lottery, and is determined, if it can possibly be done, that Congress shall adopt the bill which the House committee on Postoffices has just reported which pro- nie Lott. hibit- lottery circulars and tickets, lists of drawings, money or drafts for purchase of lottery tickets, or news- keeper for Dayls Bro. papers containing lottery advertisements or drawings, from being carcarriers, and imposes a penalty of a fine not exceeding $500 and imprison- room. ment not exceeding one year upon any person depositing such matter in the mails.

The House committee on Elections expect to decide the celebrated A .- who are here for the summer. kansas Clayton-Breckenridge contested election case this week. It is entitled to the seat which he holds, their lives. and Col. Clayton having been murdered while trying to obtain evidence in the case, another election will be ordered.

Senator Frye has received another letter favoring reciprocity from Secretary Blaine, and that together with the correspondence in the Behring Sea negotiations, has caused Mr. Blaine to be the most talked about clubs played at Deer Park Monday man in the United States. Mr. Blaine is very much in earnest about reciprocity, and calls attention to the fact that as long ago as February he made a statement to the Republican members of the House committee on Ways and Means urging them to consider reciprocity in making up the new tariff bill. With one exception-Representative McKenna of Service in Trinity Reformed Church, California-the Republican members New Germany, next Lord's day at of that committee decline to talk on 10 a.m. Also at Grantsville, same the subject, Mr. McKenna, says that day at 2 p. m. Subscribe for THE REPUBLICAN. he has from the first favored Mr.

Blaine's ideas. Even the Democrats admit that Mr. Blaine deserves great credit for the manner in which he has handled the Behring Sea matter. Not a single Democratic Senator or member endorses the absurb talk about boycotting the north in case the Federal election bill becomes a law, with which southern telegraph wires have of late been burdened.

Grantsville. Our non-appearance in the last few issues of this valuable paper was due to engagements which prevented us from appearing, but we hope

THE REPUBLICAN has improved considerably under the management continue to improve and that the editor may be attended with success and prosperity. Dr. A. F. Speicher and family passed through town last Tuesday en route for Accident on a visit

Mr. Merton, an extensive lumber dealer, was in town last week. We understand he was also up the "Castleman" in the lumber regions. Mellinger, Brown and Chisholm are still prospecting and leasing land.

Messrs. Stotler, of Meyersdale, Pa., were up in the lumber country last week. Haying is over and some of the oldest citizens say it is the heaviest crop they ever seen in this region.

Wheat is a fair crop. Some of our farmers have already threshed their The orchard crops are a failure in this section this season. We miss Gid. Gnagey was compelled to kill one of his horses recently, which had received a kick under the throat from S. D. Yoder was out selling tertilizers last week.

E. L. Fox, of the Somerset Fertilizer Co., of Somerset, Pa., was among our farmers taking orders for false; but, continues the report fertilizers. He stopped at our leading hotel, the "National House."

S. D. Yoder measured a stalk of should be had to the end that the his corn recently which was eight feet ten inches, and it was planted

> Mr. Gephart, of Cumberland, was in town on Saturday. Charles Winterberg, son of 'Squire Winterberg, spent Sunday with h's

> Samuel Beachy has the best fishing record of the season. He caught 127 fish out of the Castleman in one day. We noticed Willie Gnagey, son of Postmaster Gnagev, of Accident, in > town last Saturday. Hon, Wm. R. Getty's new addition to his residence is framed.

Chas. Wegman pays his fair friends on Manadier Ridge an occasional visit. Work has been commenced on the new bridge across the Castleman by the contractors, M. and P. Nathan and E. B. Fuller. There is some talk of a narrow guage railroad being built from here to W, Salisbury, Pa., for the trans### portation of lumber. Deer Park.

Mrs. F. S. Landstreet and Miss Davis returned from a visit to Balti-J. M. Jarboe, of Oakland paid Deer Park a flying visit on Monday,

Miss Laura Dunnington, of Fairmont, W. Va., is visiting Miss Min-C. O. Curtis, of Baltimore, is at present filling the position of book-

The guests of Mountain Cottage and Pleasant Rest have rented the ried in the mails or delivered by young Girls Christian Friendly Hall, for the season, to be used as a ball-

H. R. Laughlin who has been ill with typhoid fever, is recovering. D. F. Graham, formerly of Deer Park, spent Sunday with his family,

L. D. Thresher is visiting friends in Roanoke, Va. Miss Minnie Smith was called to believed that it will by a party vote Grafton Sunday by the sad accident decide that Mr. Breckenridge is not in which five of her relatives lost Joseph Falck, of Washington, D.

List of Letters.

C., spent Sunday in Deer Park.

List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Garrett county, Md., for week ending July 30, 1890:

Clark, Geo. L., Green, William T., Green, William T., Heldibrand, H. J., Jones Charles J., Koy, Mrs. Frank, Lewis, Edward H., Myrs, W. H., Mooreland, Thos. J., Mooris, Mrs. J. S., Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised. F. A. THAYER, P. M.

There will be the annual Harvest

REV. JOHN M. EVANS, Pastor.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall neets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F. eets in Legge's Hallevery Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. meets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

There is very little sickness in Oakland this season.

The S. S. Assembly opened at Mt. Lake Park on Tuesday night.

FOR SALE OR RENT.-Hazlewood Cottage. Apply on premises. 23 3t MRS. E. A. KILBOURNE. A new platform has been laid in front of Mayers' pharmacy. A $10,000 residence will be erected this fall on a lot in Kilbourne's addi.

At the shooting match last Saturday N. C. Browning won the prize,

There will be no service in the M. E. Church, Oakland, on Sunday Pa., is visiting relatives in town.

A new platform has been laid on Cal., is stopping at Monte Vista. Second street in front of Porter's brick house.

Don't fail to see the Red, White and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & Son's. It will pay you.

FOUND .- A red shawl on Deer Park road near Brodford, Call at REPUBLICAN office,

We call especial attention to the advertisement of Geo. W. F. Vernon & Co., pension attorneys.

Davis & Son have put in a full this fall. line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying. Lawrence Stanton's residence on 4th Street is being handsomely painted by Jos. Helbig. Do not forget that the Normal visit friends. Schools open next Monday. Hope they may be well attended.

have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New Mower on hand, DAVIS & SON.

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, of the M. E. Church, will preach at Mountain Lake Park on Sunday at 10.30 a. m.

Rev. McCook, of Philadelphia will conduct services in the Presnyterian church, Oakland, on Sunday morning at II a. m.

Lost.-On Wednesday, between the depot and Daniel Chisholm's res-

The Oakland Hotel is full to overflowing. Over 300 guests were at of Mr. and Mrs. King Delawder. breakfast there on Wednesday morning.

Monte Vista pronounce the view there the finest to be had in the mountains.

The Commissioners are to be thanked for having the stones partially cleared from the West Union

Go to Shartzer's and buy granulated sugar at 7 cts; Arbuckles coffee at 25 cts; rice at 5 cts; everything else at bottom prices.

What a delight to see that Mr. Offutt has commenced to repair and clear up the platform in front of his well stocked store.

FOR SALE .- At the farm of subscriber, Deer Park, old and new Hay, $9 per ton.

JOHN W. WILLIAMS. 23 2

Now friends, take an interest in provment of our town.

We want a correspondent in each town, village and at every cross-road in Garrett County. Send us the visiting Mrs. John B. Fay, on West A. Dunlap. news, friends, and it will be pub- Liberty street. lished. Have it here not later than Wednesday noon.

Come up to the convention on August 21st. Bring your family and friends with you. Let us have the lorgest crowd eyer seen in Oakland.

WANTED TO BUY. - A tract of cheap mountain land containing are visiting Mrs. A. J. Harne. good railroad-tie timber. Address with full description and best cash CHARLES F. DILLER. 2* P.O. Box 215, Lancaster, Pa.

STOLEN-From my pasture near Deer Park, on Tuesday night, July 22nd, two dark brown horses-one plain dark brown, and the other white hind feet and white stripe on face. A suitable reward will be paid to same.

H, R. DUCKWORTH, Mt. Lake Park, Md. 24 It.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About Our People at Home and Abroad.

Lewis Walters is sick.

Fred Felty was in Piedmont on Ye editor was in Washington over Sunday. Mrs. Nancy J. Whetsell is visiting relatives in Bayard. Hon. Stephen B. Elkius was up to our city Wednesday. H. O. Blaker, of Kingwood, was in our city Monday.

John H. Purnell has been granted an increase of pension.

Miss Linian Bowers is recovering from a spell of sickness. Dr. J. H. Manown is seriously ill at his home in Kingwood. H. J. Mayers, the druggist was out to Benwood Sunday. Miss Gilly Camp, of Morgantown, is visiting Miss Katie Low.

Oscar Posten and wife, of Corinth, W. Va., spent Sunday in town.

Miss Carrie Brubaker, of Somerset, Mr. Andrew Cawldwell of Orange,

Miss Sallie White, of Huttons, Dr. Rayenscroft of Accident, was in Oakland on Tuesday, on business. Mahlon Schooley, of No. 10, was up to the city Thursday on business. Rev. W. E. George, of Deer Park, was in Oakland Thursday of last

Mr. Dennett, at Mt. Lake Park will add another story to his hotel Geo. E. Bishoff, Esq., and little daughter, of Hoyes, were in Oakland

The family of Rey. Dudley W. Rhodes of Cincinnati are at Monte Vista, for the season. Boston, Pa., are visiting Rev. J. M. Davis in Oakland.

Park's live merchants, was in this city Tuesday on business. Miss Emma White, who has been visiting friends in town, has returned to her home in Cumberland. Thomas J. Peddicord, of Oakland, idence, a sack containing an oiled was in this city on legal business yessuit. Reward if left at Townshend's terday .- Cumberland Times. Miss Mattie Adair, of Terra Alta, grandson, of Baltimore, were the services. guests of Mrs. Sincell over Sunday.

Edward P. Sweet, of the Phoenix Giass Works, Phillipsburg, Pa., was The large number of visitors at in Oakland Monday and Tuesday.

Ex-Mine Inspector Chas. H.

Hamill, of Frostburg, was in our city Friday and Saturday of last week.

Miss Kate Spedden left on last Friday for McKeesport, Pa., at which place she will visit her brother Sewell.

J. Ed. Kildow, who is now working in Kingwood on The Argus, was visiting his family in Oakland over Sunday.

Miss Twigg, of Cumberland, who has been visiting Hon. R. T. Brown. ing's family, returned to her home on Tuesday. Judge John Coulehan and daughthe electric light, take an interest in ter Anna, of Cumberland, spent Suneverything looking toward the im- day in Oakland, the guests of Rev.

R. Mattingly. Mrs. Helen M. Kearney and

Misses Myrtle Fraley and Laura

Freeland and Albert Fraley, of Terra Alta, were the guests of Artie Fraley and wife over Sunday.

Calvin Middlekauff and wife and and children of Hagerstown, Md.,

Charles Edgar Brown, Esq., Police Commissioner of Cincinnati, was in our city Sunday. Mr. Brown is a brother of Mrs. M. E. Totten.

Miss Allie M. Frantz, or Sang Run, was in Oakland on Saturday. While in town Miss Frantz made THE REPUBLICAN a pleasant call.

A party from Kingwood, composed for recovery or information leading of Wm. G. Brown, Neil G. Fortney, Miss Titia Parks, and Mrs, Neil J. Fortney, droye over to Oakland on Monday.

Col. Geo. W. F. Vernon, of Baltimore, Past Commander Dept. of Md., G. A. R., was up to Oakland The Stock Subscribed. The Contract last Saturday, Col. Vernon was

Lieutenant in Cole's Cavalry during the Rebellion. Harry Loar, of Grafton, is in town. Hon. Geo. W. Wilson, of Wilson's, was up to our city on Tuesday, Mr. Wilson has three saw-mills now in operation and gives employment to sixty men. This is Garrett County days, enterprise and we hope to see friend Wilson successful in all he under-youngest daughter of Judge J. T. is not as great. Hoke, aged about 19 years.

DEATHS.

LIVENGOOD - David Livengood, of paralysis, at his home about three miles east of here. The remains were interred in the Brethren's cemetery at Sugar Grove. Funeral services by of real estate will advance with it. Rev. Samuel Miller, of the Brethren Church. Age 64 years, 3 months and 15 days .- Grantsville Corr.

Mrs. Male had been a patient sufferer court on Tuesday, Spindler's wife for a number of years, She was a con- whom he married September 3, 1879. sistent member of the U. B. Church, and shortly afterwards separated, and died in hope of the rest promised appeared and charged him with bigto those who are faithful followers of his mistress for their appearance at the master. The interment took court and they were sent to jail. The was in Oakland Friday of last week. place at the cemetery near Head's penalty for arson in West Virginia school-house, Sunday at 10. a. m .-Deer Park Corr.

son township, near Listonburg, Pa .. | July 22, 1890, Samuel M. Ringer, aged 49 years, 4 months, and 13 days. An influential and useful citizen, a fai hful member of the Lutheran church, a devoted husband and a was the subject of this notice. Amidst a large number of sympathizing neighbors and friends his remains were laid to rest in the burying ground of the Ringer (Lutheran) Mr. Andrew Lang left on Thursday | church. | Funeral sermon preached

Willie Ison, of the U. S. War De- RINEHART.-July 25th, 1890, after partment, Washington, is home on a paintul idness, Mrs. Rachiel Rinehart, She was born in Alleghany County, this State, but her exaact age is not known. It is known however continued in the church and in the Oakland Hotel. Samuel Specht, Esq., one of Deer was married at the age of 18, and Schooley, by Rev. W. E. George, ters whom she brought up in the both of Garrett County. virtue and admonition of the Lord. Her last illness she bore with great eggs, butter and chickens send them patience and resignation, never mur- to J. Shartzer. muring but often praising the Lord. that she should depart this life, she sweetly submitted, and expressed an was in town over Sunday, the guest earnest longing for her heavenly Church by the Rev. B. I-on, the as possible. Mrs. John Mauldin and little pastor Mr. Clark assisting in the We miss thee from our home, dear mother,

We miss thee from thy place; A shadow o'er our life is cast,

We miss thy smiling face. We miss thy kind and willing hand, Thy fond and earnest care, Our home is dark without thee, We miss thee everywhere.

'Tis hard to break the tender chord, When love has bound the heart, Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words-We must forever part, Dearest loved one, we must see thee

In the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy memory will be cherished Till we see thy heavenly face. One by one earth's ties are broken,

As we see our love decay, And the hopes so fondly cherished, Brighten but to pass away. One by one our hopes grow brighter,

As we near the shining shore, For we know, across the River Waits the loved ones gone before.

Church Services -- Sunday.

daughter Beatrice, of Baltimore, are at 101 A. M., and 7 P. M., by Rev. J. the 16th of September. The facilities to his home. He had been working Garrett Memoria! (Pres.) Church-Preaching at 11 A. M. by Rev. Mc-

Cook, of Philadelphia. every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. representation from Maryland and S. Hipkins, Rector in charge.

St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching daughter Nellie, Mrs. Sarah Bowend every Sunday at 10} o'clock A. M., except the second Sunday of each People living along the Oakland and Accident road will find it to their advantage to send their produce by mail boy. Try Shartzer. If You Have a Trifling Cough

Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and curing any thing in my line will be Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgtss' orugStore, and Country Stores.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Will be Given Out Next Week. Mr. Thomas informs us that enough stock had been subscribed and that them after a big fire, the electric light plant will be in operation by Sept. 1st. The contract for the engine, dynamo, wire, poles, lamps, &c., will be given out in a few

All parties taking lights by August 15th will be furnished with lamps and wire free of charge. This should be an inducement to all residents of our beautiful mountain city to have their residences lighted by this from 75c. Hoke.-At Kingwood, W. Va., means, It is as cheap, if not cheaper, on Monday, July 28, 1890, Josie, than coal oil, and the danger of fire

Let every property holder in Oakland take an interest in this enterprise. It is necessary to have our streets better lighted and as the spirit of improvement advances the price

H. Spindler and mistress were extested in Terra Alta on Monday on the charge of burning the Crane MALE.-At her home near Deer building in that village some time Park on Friday July 25, i890, Mrs. ago. When they were taken to Massy Male, aged seventy-four years. Kingwood for a hearing before the when there are persons living in the building set on fire is hanging or Brennan of Cumberland. The Serpenitentiary for life. When the RINGER .- At his home in Addi- above building was set on fire four persons were asleep in it and it was with difficulty they were rescued.

A Card of Thanks. We return many thanks to our Chappelle is very well known in kindly assisted us in our late trouble. to assist us. May God bless them all. promise to be present at the dedica-J. YELLOWLY AND WIFE.

MARRIED.

Wolf-Haskell .- On Thursday. morning for Alleghany City, Pa., to and burial service conducted by Rev. July 24, 1890. Annie A. Haskell to Samuel P. Wolf.

DAVIDSON-HURRY. - By Rev. Jno. M. Davis at the Glades Hotel, should make early application to the on July 30, 1890, Rose E. Hurry to Principal. Arrangements have been Frank L. Davidson.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Davis, of Church at the age of seventeen, and couple are now registered at the addition to a thorough course in master's service till called to the NINE-FITZWATER .- On Sunday, > became the mother of seven daugh. Mattie Fitzwater to Charles E. Nine. If you want cash for your berries,

> Seeing that it was the will of God Notice to Pastors and S. S. Superintendents. I have been appointed to gather the statistics of Sunday Schools in nome desiring her children and all Census and will send you in a few her friends and relatives to meet her days the necessary blanks to fill out there. Her funeral sermon was and return to me. Hope you will be preached last Sabbath in the M. E. prompt in this matter. Try and have the reports as fulland accurate

Do not fail to indicate the denomination, or branch of any certain denomination, to which the School belongs.

WM. HINEBAUGH.

Notice. I hereby give notice to all my patrons and friends that after August 15th, 1890, I will place all unpaid lost sons that served in said war, and accounts in the hands of an officer for who now have no other means of collection. It is my earnest desire support than their own tabor, not that all my patrons knowing themselves indebted to me will promptly settle their accounts, as I don't wish to make any one unnecessary trouble or expense. Call at my place of business at Grantsville, Md., on or before August 15, 1890.

24 2t L. MUHLENBERG. SWAN MEADOWS, I Near Oakland, Md., JULY 29, 1890, FOR THE REPUBLICAN. - The Annual Meeting of the Society of the Army of West Virginia will convene for the want of it. Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching at Parkersburg, W. Va., on Tuesday, for reaching Parkersburg by rail and at McCannicsburg, Pa. water are such as ensures a large assemblage of veterans and their friends. The citizens are prepared to give a hearty and generous welcome St. Mathew's Church-Preaching to all. I trust there will be a large

> the army of W. Va. will be repre-sented. Western Maryland consti-tuted a part of the Military Department of West Virginia which I had the honor to command. B. F. KELLEY, Late Major-General U. S. A.

> that every regiment that served in Special Notice. At the request of many of my customers I have concluded to remain Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough in Oakland and will continue to car-ure. Price 25c. For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Colic ry on the Merchant Tailoring business at my present stand, on Oak street, where all those desirous of sesatisfactorily accommodated. A good fit, well-made goods, and first-class material guaranteed. 24 2t

J. A. ROEHM.

Parasots and Sun Umbrellas.

We have just opened an elegant line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell them 40 per cent less than they can be bought elsewhere, as we bought

Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset. We can offer the best bargains in Hats, Flowers, and all Millinery

Goods. You should come at once while our stock is still complete. All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats. Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced

M. L. SCOTT, Baltimore Store Oakland, Md.

Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and Melons at headquarters. You will always find there the best and cheap est. They receive fresh supplies from the gardens every morning. Don't orget the place,-on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

We make special drives on water melons and cantelopes. Fruits of all kinds in season. The cheapest place in Oakland for same.

FELTY & CO, Rail Road St. Church Dedication. St. Dominic's Church at Hoyes, Garrett Co. Md., will be dedicated on Sunday, August the 10th by Very Rev. Dr. Chapelie, assisted by Fathers Manning of Lonaconing, and

mon will be preached by Dr. Chap will begin at 11 o'clock in the morn-kind neighbors and friends who so Oakland. Many of his friends from Washington who are stopping here loving and an affectionate father, They seemed untiring in their efforts and at Deer Park for the summer tion of the new church. The church is a handsome gothic #### on the inside. Normal School.

Teachers who expect to attend the Oakland Division of County Normal made to furnish board, &c., at low PERRY - WORTHINGTON. - On rates. Expenses need not exceed that she was past seventy. She was Wednesday, in Baltimore, Grace those formerly paid at Accident, converted and united with the M. E. Worthington to Carlton Perry. The Special advantages will be offered in County Examiner's requirements. Classes will be formed on request of church triumphant in heaven. She July 27, at the residence of Oakly teachers for evening studies in classics or sciences.

J. NEWMAN, Principal.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership. On December 25, 1889, Lee Hoge, my former partner, collected money due the firm and left for parts un. known and this is to give notice that the firm of Hoge & Shank was that day dissolved.

H, R. SHANK. Swanton, Md., July 19, 1890.

Pensions under the New Law. Congress having lately passed a general pension law in the interest 1. Of such surviving soldiers of the late war as are now so far disabled as to be incapacitated to earn a livelihood from manual labor.

2. Widows of soldiers (and their children under 16 years of age) who served not less than three months, and were honorably discharged. 3. Dependent parents who have taking into account assistance from relatives or friends. I propose to prosecute efficiently such proper and just claims under this law as may be presented, in connection with my professional bus-JACOB BROWN, Attorney at Law.

Hoffman Law Building, S. Liberty street, Cumberland, Md. 224-275

Flatwoods, We are glad to report at this writing: The rain we received was badl; needed, for our crops were suffering Wm. Bowman has returned again Miss Liza McGettigan has returned

Sunday night at eight o'clock Rev. Jacob Miller preached a very interest ing sermon at Accident. There were several of our young folks who attended the services. William Miller who had the needle of a self binding reaper run through his hand, is still improving. We understand there has been controversy about a Normal at Accident. We are glad to say there will be a Normal at Accident, It will open August 4. Prof. E. Lee instruc-We will be glad if the contro tor. versialists will attend the Accident

Normal. Grandmother Boyer is convalesc Mrs. Liza Rush, of Uniontown, was visiting friends and relatives

Miss Martha McGettigan has returned again to Flatwoods, She had been visiting friends and relatives in Miss Susie Beeghley is visiting her brother near Rock wood. Pa.

Bloomington. Mrs, Phillips and two daughters, wife of apt, Phillips, of the B. & O. Pullman cars, of Baltimore City, arrived in town on Monday evening and are now enjoying the hospital-ty of her sister, Mrs. Andrew Mullen, Rev. Charles Gutherle, of Baltimore County ho has been visiting his mother, Mrs. N. C. The young divine is a native of this section of the State and has many warm friends in our viliage. A large and attentive congregation listened to his interesting sermon.

Mrs. Frank Mullen, of Louisville, Ky., who has been on a visit to relives in this community, while walking from the post office on last Thursday evening, lost her watch, a very valuable time-piece. Search was made shortly after it occurred, but no trace of it could be found, until next morning about 7 o'clock, when it was picked up by a party and returned to the owner. Strange to say, the watch was lost before dark, and taid in a place where at least fifty people must have walked over it.

It is stated on good authority that the B. & It is stated on good authority that the B. & R. R., will shortly introduce the contract vistem of work in all their shops. Bids for epairs to engines and cars, or for all new rork will be received by the Master Menanic from any one who is capable of doing ne job and awarded to the lowest bidder. It claimed by the company that this method rill greatly expedite their work and by the nen that by adopting the plan, the insurance eached, which seems to be objectionable, rill be abolished.

method, which seems to be objectionable, will be abolished.

Messrs, G. C. Patterson, ticket agent for the B. & O. R. R. at this place, and Lloyd Rawlings, ticket agent for the W. Va. C. at the Junction, have received invitations and passes from the Union Pacific to attend the Annual Meeting of the Association of the International Ticket Agents, to be held at Denver, Colorado., on August 12th. Extensive preparations have been made for the enjoyment of the members of the society, and Messrs, Patterson and Rawlings anticipate a delightful time.

It is rumored that the management of Messrs, Kane & Co.'s saw mill at Empire, is about to be changed and that Mr. Joseph Deutch, of Lonaconing, will superinted the work in the future.

Hon James P. Williams, of Westernport.

Deutch, of Lonaconing, will superintend the work in the future.

Hon, James P. Williams. of Westernport, Md., late delegate from Allegany County to the State Legislature, started for Washington, D. C., last Monday morning to accept a position as moulder in the mechanical department of U. S. Navy Yard.

Politics and politiclus are the leading topics of the day. We are pleased to hear that the Congressional Convention is to be held in Oakland, and feel assured that Garrett will be represented by a full delegation. Everybody is full of alcComas downthis way. You run across Democrats occasionally who are honest in their convictions and say their nomination is only a matter of form and the election simply to keep up party organizainomination is only a matter of form and the election simply to keep up party organization, as they are willing toacknowledge they aven't a a ghost of a chance with McComas in the field. This comes with good grace just this time when the Baltimore San has nunted every hole and corner in the Sixth District to find some Republican to antagolize McComas in his renomination. Ever these that memorable day in Nevember, when the people of the Sixth District changed Baughman's name from Victor to Vanquished, the Sau's wrath has never been appeased. It was said the San put some "bootle" in that campaign, to pay for the roman-andle-sky rockets jubilee-singing parade through the Sixth District, expecting a colateral in the shape of a relative in Congress, We would suggest that the San try its hand pelle. The dedication of the church ing. The sermon will be delivered from the balcony of the church. Dr. structure, and is beautifully finished

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

NOTICE IS HEBEBY GIVEN. That the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes, at the time and places following:

No. 9-Johnson's, Aug. 18. No. 11-Greeg's Mill, Aug. No. 3-Grantsville, Aug. 20

No. 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20. No. 12—Bittlnger, Aug. 21. No. 5—Accident, Aug. 22. No. 2—1saac M, Umbel's, Aug. 22. Friends-No. 2-Isaac M. Chock S. Aug. 22. Friends-ville, Aug. 25.
No. 6-Johnstown, Aug. 26, forenoon, Mc-Henry, Aug. 26, afternoon,
No. 4-Bloomington, Aug. 19.
No. 1-Swanton, Aug. 20.
No. 10-Deer Park, Aug. 21.
No. 8-Gorman, Aug. 22.

Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 Office in Oakiand will be closed Angust by to 22.

N. B.—By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at the January session, 1880, being Chap. 566, it is provided that all county taxes shall be due and payable on the 1st day of September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent shall be allowed; and after the 1st day of January all taxes shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid. The Treasurer shall take the discount and charge interest on the tax bills for county purposes regularly in the manner aforesaid, and shall note the same upon his books and upon the receipt given for taxes so paid; but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same is made.

URIAH M. STANTON,

URIAH M. STANTON. Treasurer.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fieri facias sened out of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, being No. 2 Judicials, July Term, 880, at the suit of the Mayor and Common Council of Deer Park vs. Sarah Perry, I did edze, levy upon and take into execution by Council of Deer Park vs. Sarab Perry, 1 duscize, levy upon and take into execution by an actual entry upon the premises on the 26th day of May, 1890, all the right, title, interest and estate of the said Sarab Perry in and to lots Nos. 2 and 11 in the town of Deer Park, Garrett County, Maryland, and 1 hereby give in front of Mrs. Taggart's Hotel in the town of Oakhand at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of said day I will proceed to sell said real estate at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, to satisfy said execution and costs. E. N. CASTEEL Sheriff.

ON SATURDAY, THE 2ND DAY OF AUGUST, 1890,

PENSIONS FOR ALL passuated from manual labor.
To their widows and minor children under 16 years of age, dependent parents, &c.
Back pay, Bounty, Commutation of rations, pay for use of private horses in the service of the United States.

Charges of desertion removed, additional my to officers and their heirs. Pensions increased, &c. File your claims at once. Delays are dan-GEO. W. F. VERNON, 108 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Mc.

I will represent Coi. Vernon, Past Dep't. Commander, G. A. R., the senior member of the firm, at Oakland, 24t PERCY H. VEITCH, Office at Court House, Oakland, Md. NORMAL SCHOOLS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., July 9th, 1890. There will be three Normal Schools in Garett County this summer, viz: At Oakland, a charge of Prof. J. Newman, Accident, by rof. Ephraim Lee, and at Grantsville by rof, E. A. Browning. Said schools to open

MONDAY, the 4th of AUGUST,

1880, and continue for a term of ten weeks. The tuition will be $5.00 for 2nd grade branches, and $6.00 for students taking up both 1st and 2nd grade branches.

A curriculum of students, as adopted by the Board, will be furnished each Teacher at he openipg of Schools, By order of the Board WM. HINEBAUGH,

Secretary.

to Contend Against. had a summer residence about nine miles from

Lucknow, and I accepted his invitation to weeks with him. He had about 300 acres of land, a large

of the estate.

The idea in India is to keep a very hot night.

India is to keep cool. Therefore, every house is every house is built with this idea, being provided with as many windows as possible, and always surrounded with verandas. I had never seen a cobra, except in zoological gardens, when I went out there, but I was fated to have an adventure almost as soon as I arrived. My bedroom was at a corner of the second story of the bungalow and contained three windows. These were screened with wire and the sashes taken out. A hammock was slung to hooks in the ceiling, and the room was fairly comfortable even on

On the third morning, just at daybreak, I was aroused from sleep by a noise on the veranda which ran along under my bedroom windows. My hammock was within two feet of one of the windows, and of course the wire cloth admitted every sound from the outside. As the grounds were guarded by two chowkadars, or watchmen, I had no fear of thieves, and therefore had no arms within reach. I lay facing the window, with my face not over thirty inches from the screen, and was wondering what had caused the noise, when a big cobra suddenly lifted his head against the outside of the wire, and his eyes looked into mine. For half a minute it seemed as if my heart did not beat at all. Had the window been unguarded I could not have raised a finger to ward off the attack. The serpent hissed at me and moved his hideous head all over the screen, looking for some break in its surface. It bulge? in as he pressed on it, and, knowing how slovenly work is done by Indian servants, I expected it to give way at any instant. After a couple of minutes the snake went to the second window, and then to the third, searching every square inch in hopes to find a way into the room.

After he left the window directly in front of me I might have dropped out of the hammock and got my revolver from the bureau, but it occurred to me that if I provoked the cobra he would be pretty sure to make a more vigorous attack. I therefore lay perfectly quiet, closed my eyes so that I could just peep at him, and after going over all the windows a second and third time, I heard him crawling around the veranda. I then dropped out, opened the door and called to my friend, 'and he seized a double-barrel shotgun and passed through the halls until he found the serpent on the other side of the house. He had given up seeking an entrance by the windows, and was mounting to the roof when a charge of buckshot ered with wire cloth. There was only fired at close range through the screen one window in each room, and that was cut him almost in two. No one was provided with a sliding sash, with wire at all excited. The incident seemed to cloth tacked over the outside. The outhave no more weight than the visit of a side door was also a screen, but this was

A week later two of the servants accompanied me on a hunt around the we were about to cross it when one of following a path, halted, turned back, and quietly said:

"We had better go another way, sabib." "But why?"

"Because the crocodile might do us

I advanced to the spot where he had

HIS EYES LOOKED INTO MINE.

saurian lying in the creek right across the path, and evidently waiting for two or three times with his paw. He some one to cross. This was not over a must have hit the sharp ends of some quarter of a mile from the bungalow, nd the saurian had evidently come down the creek from a small lake about licking his paw for a moment retreated two miles away. I made ready to fire through the open door. As my rifle was at him, but one of the natives touched my arm and respectfully said:

'Please don't, sahib. If you anger him he will bring others to make us trouble." "But he ought to be driven away or killed. "Yes, but when there are a thousand dead" to deceive the beast. more in the lake what would you gain?

the crocodile had seized him as he at- jury .- N. Y. Sun.

tempted to cross the path. I said to the native who had restrained my fire "Now you see what you did. Had cilled the reptile the young man would have been with us this morning ' "Ah, sahib, but you might not have cilled him, and then he would have taken two of us."

About six miles below Patna, on the Ganges, in the Bengalee district, a couple of English officers with whom I was acquainted had a shooting box, and I went up with a party to enjoy some sport. It was a wild strip of country along the stream, and although so near to a village this fact did not render game any less abundant. A dozen tigers, three or four panthers and a score of hyenas had been bagged there woods. - Detroit Free Press. part of which within two years, but it still remained was forest and thicket, with a a favorite lurking ground for big game. As a matter of curiosity I hunted up creek running the returns made to the Government across a portion from this place, and found that the average of natives bitten by serpents, devoured by crocodiles, or slain by wild beasts was over three per week the year round. These were the figures reported, but only one loss in three is redays before we started a native came in to the civil authorities to report a case. He said:

"We were going to see our father and save distance. He as ahead. It was a story which his wife had told him, when a tiger suddenly sprang upon him. I stopped. The liger stood over him, with both paws upon his breast, and looked at me and growled and switched ation. his tail. I could do nothing. I walked backward in the path, and the tiger eized my brother by the shoulder, gave him a half whirl, and then trotted away into the thicket. I have been told that t is my duty to report this."

We had been at the shooting box enas, a panther, and a couple of big There were four white men of us in the party, and we had eight or ten native trackers and servants. On the fourth morning, before breakfast, I ran a thorn into my foot, and was advised to lie quiet during the day. The house twelve feet square, and each having two hammocks in it. The first room was used to store provisions in. The

THE TIGER STOOD OVER HIM. door between the two was a frame cov left standing open during the day.

After breakfast one of the natives fixed a poultice of leaves for my wound, neighborhood after birds. Neither and I lay down in a hammock in the was armed, and both were barefooted, inner room. The three other white barelegged and barearmed. In the men went off up the river, accompanied marshy ground along the creek I shot by all the natives except two, one to several birds of the snipe species, and attend me and the other to see to the cooking. I lay facing the doors, and the natives, who was in the lead and had a view of the fire and a strip of country beyond it. At nine o'clock we heard the reports of rifles far away. Half an hour later, just as I was elevating my head so that I could read a book which was at hand, I saw a tiger spring upon the two men. They were not at the fire, but a few feet away, under a tree, and their faces were halted, and at once made out a huge toward me. The animal had therefore approached unseen. He knocked both down, and struck them after they were down, and then stood over their prostrate bodies, and looked at the forest. This was hardly ten feet from the open door. It was so sudden that I lost half a minute, and by the end of that time the tiger left the men and came to the door and looked in. He probably scented me, for he switched his tail and growled, and while he stood there I saw blood on his neck. My hammock had ceased swinging and I kept very quiet in hopes the brute would go away. He stood and growled and stared for a minute, and then advanced to the inner door and pushed against it. Had it opened toward me he could have entered, but it opened the other way. With his eyes and nose against the wire he growled in a way to send the chills over me, but I fewred to move a finger for fear he would make a dash and come through the cloth. He did rake his teeth along the surface, and also strike the wire of the wires the last time, for he ut-tered a yelp and drew back, and after in the further room I felt it prudent to lie quiet for a time, and when I did get up the beast had disappeared. I found one of the natives dead, his skull having been crushed by a blow, while the other had received a bite in the shoulder, but was "playing

Just before noon the party came in, and then I learned that they had start-He seemed so earnest about it that ed a pair of tigers out of cover about a I turmed away. That night a number of mile above. The female had been the servants crossed the creek to attend killed in a gully, but the male, after besome sort of a party, and in the morning a young man was missing. After He was the chap who had paid the camp considerable inquiry it was decided that a visit and revenged himself for the inMISCELLANEOUS.

-Sixty thousand blue gum trees have been planted this year on one ranch in Los Angeles County, California. Tattnall County, Fla., jail recently, left a note for the sheriff, saying he was innocent, but that he would be back in October to stand trial, and hoped to be now has thirty steamers on the Upper acquitted.

gold pieces frozen into cakes of artificial ice and then brought around to the Exmelt out takes all the others. It's not The top of the piston has an inclined quite as exciting as a horse race, but it surface, so that the parts at the exhaust beats penny-ante way into the back-

-The Hartford Times says that a piece of pine woods, in an unfrequented part of the rocky eastern hill town of State, in Tolland County, is just as the two is said to be the only piece of original woods now left in Connecticut.

-The unique barometer improvised by a Belfast sea captain-and held by ported by the natives, as they persist in him to be as accurate as the most expenbelieving that the blanks sent in by sive instrument-consists of a thin strip officials are somehow connected with of white pine with a number of crosstaxation or official surveillance. Two pieces upon it. This is hung against of Southern India, Mr. B. Smith menthe strip bulges out when damp weather is approaching and sanks in during the weather.

mother at Mugador (a village seven —According to the Cologne Gazette, miles away), my brother and I. We the German doctor Alanus, notorious for were in a path crossing the forest to his advocacy of vegeterian diet, has become a pervert and has returned to a about two hours alter daylight. We mixed diet of flesh and vegetable food. were very happy, and he was telling me He owns that one fact overturned all his theoretical preaching, that after having been a vegetarian for a number of years he suddenly observed that his arteries began to show signs of degener-

-While one trapeze performer was holding another with his teeth fastened into a belt at San Antoria his molars gave way at the roots and his companion fell a distance of twenty-five feet to the floor and was badly injured. Hereafter councils will not permit such three days, and had killed a dozen hy- exhibitions unless the roots of the trapezist's teeth protrude through the back of his neck and are securely clinched .-Norristown Herald.

-Gentlemen whose wives are out of town should carefully inspect the "personal" columns of newspapers they send to their better halves. The Washington was divided into two rooms, each about Star recently contained a "personal" stating that a gentleman whose wife was away for the summer wished to meet a discreet, lively young lady to company him to places of amusement. The result was the sudden return of at ast five Washington ladies whose husbands had been left behind.

"Talk about men not being bargain flends," said a bright woman in a downce. "Why, a man started a shoe store in Nassau street last year, and business was so poor the first few months that he got discouraged. But he filled his windows with signs saying that he was selling out at any price on ocount of going out of business, and is doors with placards, 'This store to let,' and then he put the prices of all his stock up ten per cent. higher than they had been before and waited. Inside of two weeks he was doing the biggest business of any man in his line on the street, and at the end of three months, when he took down the signs, he had made enough extra profit to put his goods down, too, to regular prices again. He is there yet, and has a permanently established business. All his customers were men. You couldn't catch women that way."-N. Y. Sun. -The West Chester, Pa., News tells of a flerce battle between two black blooded stallions at Milford Mills. owned by Michael Murphy. They got oose from their attendant and at once began a fight. They kicked, tore each other with their teeth and pawed one with the assistance of several men, was unable to part them. They were driven from the race course into the fields and from there into the public roads, and went in the direction of Glen Moore and continued fighting each other like a couple of buildogs. They were followed by several men with whips, forks, etc., but with all their efforts they could not part them. Finally one got the better f the other by pawing him down and they were parted, but not until they were nearly exhausted and had inflicted serious wounds in their flesh. They fought for a distance of three miles, and hundreds of people turned out to witness the bloody encounter.

The Favorite Newspaper Name. The word "Gazette" seems to have been a favorite name for newspapers from the earliest times down. The first newspaper in the world, printed at Nuremburg in 1457, was given this name. In our own country the name was very mmon in connection with the early history of journalism. The first perma-Boston News Letter, the second being the Boston Gazette, which appeared December 21, 1719. Six years later New York's first paper, called the New York Gazette, was established. This same name was also given to the first papers is generally known, but in other restarted in the following States; Maryland, in 1728; Rhode Island, in 1732; in 1755; and New Hampshire, in 1756.-Printer's Ink.

Using Meat in Summer. The following is an extract from a steak or any other kind of meat in hot weather is much to be deplored, and thousands of people make themselves sick in consequence. Meat decomposes very readily outside or inside the body, and it is difficult to secure that which is in the best possible condition. At this season of the year we have an soundance of fresh fruits and succulent vegetables and these together with grains and milk make up a diet more wholesome and less heating than one in which flesh food enters. Meat-eating also promotes nervousness, and I am convinced from long experience and observation that the majority of people would be a great deal better off in hot weather if they omitted flesh foods from their dietary.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-A new utilization of a waste product is the making of a valuable paste, an effective substitute for gum arabic, -A prisoner who escaped from the from the straw boilings that accumulate

Congo, and that their house had bought New Orleans brokers have ten-dollar $1,500,000 of ivory in the last two years. -A new piston has been contrived for single-acting vertical engines, having change by a boy. The cakes are placed for its object the ready removal of the in the sun, and the last gold piece to fluid which condenses in the cylinders.

on the top of the piston is carried downward and blown out when the exhaust port opens. -The scoring of the bores of modern Union, on the northern border of the cannon by the new powders in use is claimed to be due to the fact that upon Indians left it; but that single acre or ignition all of the powder is not turned to gas, some of it remaining in a fluid state. It is this latter which does the scoring, by being thrown with such force against the metal of the gun that the resulting action is very similar to that of a sand blast for cutting glass. -In a report on the Kolar gold field the wall of a building, and the center of tions the finding of interesting remains of ancient mining, such as old timber-ing, fragments of bones, an oil lamp and ces of earthenware. The fact that the old miners, with their simple appli-ances, reached depths of 200 or 300 feet through hard rock, astonishes him.

-A locomotive working under a pressure of 140 to 165 pounds to the square inch may move a railway train at a velocity of sixty miles per hour, which we are apt to think of as a wonderful speed. But it is slow compared with the rate of motion of the projectile from a modern great gun. Such projectile flies at the rate of 1,365 miles per hour, impelled by a pressure of 35,000 to 40,000 pounds per square inch .- Scientific American.

-Schiaparelli has just published an elaborate and interesting paper upon the planet Mercury, in which he brings out the remarkable and unexpected result that this planet in its axial rotation imitates the moon, keeping the same face always toward the sun, and having its "day" equal to the period of its or-bital revolution (about eighty-eight terrestrial days.) While there may be some hesitation in accepting this conclusion as fully established, it is unquestionably made extremely probable by the numerous observations upon which Schiaparelli bases it.-N. Y. Independent.

-In a paper on "Clothing," Mr. Francis Vacher insists, as a primary consideration, on the importance of wearing clean, porous and warm woollen clothing; condemns aniline and other injurious dyes; exposes the evils of is the anniversary of the promulgation scanty clothing, unequal pressure, heavy, superfluous ornaments, illadjusted corsets, and high-heeled boots; discriminates between the different styles of children's clothing, and pronounces the morning suit and underwear of men nearly perfect. -A civil engineer of St. Petersburg is said to have produced from peat a coal greatly resembling anthracite. He accomplishes this by the use of certain chemicals. Government experiments with the new fuel are reported to have tained being a little less than that from ordinary coal, but greater than that from the wood of the fir or birch, which is largely used in Russia. The peat is superior to coal in cheapness, in freedom from dust, and in lack of disagreeable odor in burning.-Arkansaw Traveler.

ALBERT OF SAXONY.

The Most Important and Influential of Germany's Minor Sovereigns. There is to-day a King of Saxony, descended six removes from this August, another at a terrible rate. Mr. Murphy, who is distinctly the most interesting and valuable of these minor sovereigns. He is a sagacious, prudent, soldier-like man, nominal ruler of over three millions of people, actual Field Marshal in the German army which has a Hohenzollern for its head. Although he really did some of the best fighting which the Franco-German war called forth, nobody outside his own court and military circles know much about it or cares particularly about him. The very fact of his rank prevents his generalship se curing popular recognition. If he had been merely of noble birth, or even a commoner, the chances are that he would now be chief of the German general staff instead of Count Waldersee. But being only a King, his merits as a commander are comprehended alone by experts. There is just a bare possibility that this King Albert may be forced by circumstances out of his present obscurity. He is only sixty-two years old, and if a war should come within the next decade and bring defeat to the German army in nent newspaper in the colonies was the the field, there would be a strong effort made by the other subsidiary German sovereigns to bring him to the front as generalissimo. As it is, his advice upon military matters is listened to in Berlin more than spects his position is a melancholy one. Even the kindliness with which the South Carolina, in 1732; Virginia, in Kaisers have personally treated him 1736; Connecticut, in 1757; North Carolina, since 1870 can not but wear to him the annoying gaise of patronage. He was a man of thirty-eight when his father, K ng John, was driven out of Dresden by Prussian troops, along with the lecture by J. H. Kellogg, M. D., of Bat- whole royal family, and when for weeks tle Creek Sanitarum: The use of beef- it seemed probable that the whole kingdom of Saxony would be annexed to Prussia. Bismarck's failure to insist upon this was bitterly criticised in I left here." Berlin at the time, and Gustave Freytag actually wrote a book deprecating the further independent existence of Saxony. Freytag and the Prussians generally confessed their mistake after the young Saxon Crown Prince's splendid achievement at Sedan, but that could scarcely wipe from his memory what had gone before, and even now. after the lapse of a quarter of a century King Albert's delicate, clear-cut, whitewhiskered face still bears the impress of melancholy stamped on it by the humilia nons of 1866. - Eugene Field, in Chicago News.

NATIONAL HOLIDAYS.

Their Institution Belongs in a Peculiar Sense to Popular Government. The institution of national holidays in commemoration of great events in which the whole people have figured, is almost without exception, a thing of quite recent times, and belongs in a peculiar sense to republican, or at least popular, governments. Formerly, though holidays might be numerous, they had almost invariably a religious significance. They were saints' days, church celebrations of some kind. This is still true in most of the monarchical countries of the old world. Even in England almost the only holiport are lowest, and the fluid collecting day having a national, as distinguished from an ecclesiastical, significance, is the birthday of the Queen.

The greatest civic events connected with the history of the English people -events which have made a profound impression upon the history of the world-are not commemerated by the regular public observance of their anniversaries-unless we except the decaying celebration of Guy Faux's day.

The United States was one of the first nations to set the example of would be quite useful in his business. first nations to set the example of the had a creating public holidays which had a Washington Post.

—Helen(7 p. m.) — "Jack will get his creating public to the neople's achievements in their own behalf. The observance of the Fourth of July dates from I'll tell him I don't care any thing for its first anniversary, and has never been | him." Helen (9 p. m.) — Oh dear! Isn't interrupted since the establishment of the Republic.

The French nation, with some vicissitudes and monarchical interruptions, has followed our example by making public holiday. The American people, extending the same idea, have now three national holidays: Thanksgiving Day, which early colonists from famine and their preservation from various perils, Washington's Birthday and Memorial Day. In Boston and its neighbrohood the 17th of June, the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, is regularly and enthusiastically observed by cessation from labor and by public rejoicings. Of recent years the celebration of the day has been slowly extending through the environs of the city, and it is hoped by some that the observance may finally become national. Mexico celebrates, on the 5th of May, the anniversary of a great victory over the invading French army, and most of the other American Republics observe the anniversaries of important events in their own history.

The Italians make a holiday of the 21st of September, the anniversary of the entrance of the Italian army into Rome.

In Canada the first day of July, which of the federati of the m celebrated and called Dominion Day. But it was reserved for the new Republic of Brazil to institute the most extensive and remarkable series of national holidays ever known.

The provisional government of that country has issued a decree which declares that, "inasmuch as the republican system is founded upon a profound sentiment of universal brotherhood," and as "this sentiment can not be properly developed without a system of public been very satisfactory, the heat ob- festivals destined to commemorate the continuity and solidarity of all the generations of man," it has seen fit to institute a series of holidays which will commemorate the points of union between the history of Brazil and that of all peoples. The government, consequently, establishes nine national holidays. The 1st of January is to be devoted to the commemoration of universal brotherhood, the 21st of April to the events which were the precursors of Brazilian independence, and the 3d of May to the discovery of Brazil. The 13th of May also becomes a holiday, and is to "commemorate the brotherhood of all Brazilians." The 14th of June "commemorates the republic, and the liberty and independence of the American peoples." The 7th of September is to honor the independence of Brazil, the 12th of October the discovery of America, the 2d of November the memory of the dead, and the 15th of November the glory of the country of Brazil in general.—Youth's Companion.

the Oldest Bank Note.

The trustees of the British Museum have got hold of a great curiosity in the shape of a Chinese bank note printed in the middle of the fourteenth century, several years before the establishment of the first European bank (said to be the bank established at Barcelona in 1401) and three centuries before the establishment of the Bank of Stockholm in 1668. The Chinese had bank notes at a much earlier date, for Marco Polo saw some of them, printed on the inner bark of trees, before the end of the thirteenth century. It is remarkable that the Chinese had invented all the four principal modern instruments - the compass, printing, gunpowder, and paper currency-long before Europe and any of them, and yet that they remained almost useless tools in the hands of that acute but barren-minded people. Even their artillery, which they used centuries before Europe knew any thing of artillery, appears to have been of hardly any value to them. They never seem to have put out their ideas to interest, but kept them wrapped up in napkins till they forgot their existence.-Spectator.

A Gratifying Endorsement. "John, Charles, William!" cried the boys' mother, "where are those peaches

"In our midst," returned the boys: and when the doctor called that night the mother knew that her little darlings had spoken truthfully as well as with a grammatical accuracy that is not universal.-N. Y. Sun.

Getting Even. Pessimistic Auditor (at a concert)-Seems to me this is a mighty short programme, considering the price they Optimistic Auditor-O, we can easily get the worth of our money. Just encore every thing .- The Jury.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Some young men live so fast that watches left to them by their parents lose a couple of hours a day. -When a girl elopes with her coachman, some other man is saved from getting a mighty poor wife.—Buffalo Express. -"The rich Count von Altburg is to be married." "To an American girl?" "What a foolish question? Didn't I say the rich count?"—Society.

-The best cure for obesity is to board for the summer at a farm house where you will be treated like one of the family.—Boston Gazette. -Spiritual Indigestion.-Darlington "I wonder what can have made our friend Anderson such a pessimist?" Runk—"He's had too much of the good things of life."—Puck. -First Senator-"I have a scheme to which I wish to give the widest publicity. What do you suggest as the best method?" Second Senator-"Discuss it in secret session, of course."-Racket. -Probably the iceman has never noticed the dainty little tin tongs that are furnished with boxes of confection-They are neat, inexpensive, and ery.

walking ticket when he calls to-night. he coming to-night? I hope he didn't take that little quarrel of Wednesday seriously."-Boston Herald.

-"There is a man." said De Kique, in the hotel corridor, "who has done more the 14th of July, the anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille by the people, ities than anybody else I know of." 'How?" "He retired to private life."-

Washington Post.

—Thompson — "You look pale and thin, Johnson. Why will you persist in commemorates a deliverance of the killing yourself working night and day early colonists from famine and their such weather as this?" Johnson — "I am trying to earn money enough to pay the expenses of a week's rest in the country."-N. Y. Weekly.

-A St. Petersburg doctor is stopped late at night by a policeman, who asks why he is out so late. "To attend Mr. Popoff, who was taken suddenly ill." "Did he have a permit to be taken suddenly ill?" "No." "Then you will have to go to prison." -Detroit Free Press. -Cholly - "I cawn't imagine what you are going out in the country for, Miss Dashing. You are such a favorite with the men I should think you would like to be where we are." Miss Dashing -"That's the very reason I'm going to the country—to see if I can't find a real man somewhere."—Munsey's Weekly.

 Fortune is as blind as any bat;
Your own affairs give proof of that;
And sometimes needs adjusting. "If things were right," you sadly sing, "I'd be a president, a king, You're right—it is disgusting.

-N. Y. Press. -"The vile abominable literature that is polluting the minds of our boys and girls," wrote the editor, "is a public disgrace and-by the way, Judkinson," said he, stopping short in his able editorial and turning to the local editor, "be sure you have the full particulars of that divorce scandal in East Biggleston; the Evening Whangdoodle musn't get the bulge on us this time. Let me see; where was I? O, yes-public disgrace and should be suppressed by the strong arm of the law. Many a youth owes his downfall to the-be sure you interview both parties, Judkinson, and make it spicy you know."-National Publisher and Printer.

PEKIN'S TOY RAILWAY. A Line Three Miles Long Which Diverts

the Chinese Emperor. About two years ago they presented a complete miniature railway to the Emperor through Li Hung Chang, and the line, which is about three miles long, is laid down within the imperial city. The young Emperor is very much interested in its workings, and spends a great deal of his time in riding to and fro in the beautifully appointed little carriages. He was greatly struck with the toy railway, and its influence upon the recent decrees has been very considerable. The old reactionary party among his advisers were adverse to the miniature line being laid down within the precincts of the sacred city, and it was very near being returned to the donors. But the government was afraid lest it should give offence to the French, who are greatly feared and respected since they burned and sunk the Chinese fleet at Foochow and inflicted such disastrous defeats upon the Chinese legions in the South. In the end the present was accepted. but the high authorities would not allow any foreigners to have a hand in laying down or working the model rail-

The result was when they started the little engine they could not stop it, and great consternation was occasioned to the occupants in the palace by their inability to control the strange contrivance of the foreigners, which dashed along the line till it was pulled up by coming in contact with a mound earth. Since then, however, a French driver has been procured, and the Emperor is a frequent traveler upon the cars .-Shanghai Letter.

Casts of Two Human Flends.

Robespierre and Marat are enigmatical characters. Their deeds were horrible, but the casts of their head taken after death are of ineffable sweetness. In both the cerebral development is poor, particularly in the coronal region. The skulls, each of which goes up into a point, may have pressed there on the brains. Phrenological developments, or lack of devolopment, taken with facial traits, betoken ill-balanced minds.

Marat's face, in David's portrait of him, is in all but complexion that of a red Indian. Robespierre's sister, on the other hand, is sweet, serene, pensive, and of a lovely purity of expression. Charlotte Corday, according to Danloux. one of her portraitists, was a rather good-looking young woman, more the peasant than the lady. She had a hard, quick, willful glance. Tallien was another ill-balanced creature. He had the profile of an Egyptian dog god. --Contemporary Review.

DAIRY MISTAKES.

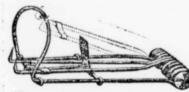

Some Things That Dairymen Ought Not to Do. The disheartening prices of 1890 for butter and cheese will very likely have a demoralizing effect upon farmers engaged in this branch of farming. Let me urge you all, says a writer in the Ohio Farmer, not to show the white feather for a moment or lose your grip at all. It will be a better business in the near future. Now is the time to review the work and see where mistakes have been made. I will point you to one or more things to consider.

I think it is very bad policy to let a weal calf suck a dairy cow five or six weeks and have all the milk in April or May, to make a three to four dollar veal carcass. You might just as well make from seventy-five cents to one dollar-per week of butter from the same milk and feed the skim milk to the calf, slightly warmed, and when eight to ten weeks old it will then bring more money than the veal calf does at from four to six weeks old, and you come out from five to eight dollars per head better, for the reason that cows will give more milk right along if the calves are never allowed to suck them at all after the milk is good. that sum. Farmers that send milk to commit this blunder. If butter commands the very low price it does to-day chants at that price this week-it is far better for the farmer to buy some good, large, clean, pork barrels and fill them with a good strong brine about onethird full, and as fast as they make the butter not let it be exposed to the air it in thin, cheap cotton cloth, so the rolls will not stick together and put them into this brine and keep a follower with stone weights on to press it down under the brine all the time, and your butter will keep in the best condition from early spring to winter. Packing in crocks or wooden tubs can plan. You can then hold your butter safely until the hot weather prices are cases, however, the fault is with the over and get more money for it later excessive use and not with any insidon. If it is ever made fit to eat it will be good for many months. These barmit the richness of this article of food, rels should be placed in some good, cool and the boys and men about the barn place and as free as possible from any unnecessary stinks. The butter will rye is to be used than of the ordinary not absorb any too much salt from the grain. Now, for other practical expebrine. This reform is possible for every riences. - Orange Judd Farmer. family to observe, and especially where they keep only one or two cows; if they will manage the business as above stated they can keep up their own supcheap in hot weather and pay dear for it in winter months.

Gopher Trap.

Mr. F. L. Washburn, the entomologist of the Oregon experiment station. writes to the Rural New Yorker that the trap shown herewith has proved very successful in catching gophers in California. In the last bulletin issued from the Oregon station a good deal is said about killing gophers. The picture needs no explanation. The trap is set at the bottom of the gopher's hole. It is doubtful if he knows "what struck him" after the trap springs. Another method is to sink five-gallon oil cans about one hundred feet apart in a ditch a snade wide and about sixteen inches deep, which is dug around the land to be protected. The ditch must, of course, be wider than the cans. Gophers travel at night, and, on trying to come into the inclosure, tumble into the ditch and run along until they drop into the cans. A "smoker," or "sulphur gun" is sometimes used. This is a sort of rude pump made of two pieces of stovepipe, for forcing the fumes of sulphur into the gopher's hole. Bisulphide of carbon is also used. A piece of cotton half the size of one's fist is saturated with the liquid and thrust into the burrow as far as possible, the opening being carefully stopped. This should be done when the ground is damp. We are also told of an ingenious trap for catching fifteer feet square in a locality infested reach, lose his balance, and fall into the above to one with a short handle. It pen, is hung some tempting bait. A little bait is scattered along outside the pen and along the plank to attract the rabbits. Filling Up Nall Holes. The following method of filling up nail holes in wood is not only simple, but said to be effectual. Take fine sawdust and mix into a thick paste with putty and other remedies often fail.

A GOPHER TRAP.

the bottom and throw off the earth.

RYE FOR STOCK.

Is It, or Is It Not, a Proper Food for Breeding Animals? Breeders of all kinds of stock are giving more and more attention to the elements of food as shown by analyses. The grains possessing a large proportion of the constituents desired at any well by progressive men. While feeding for growth and for the block is an imagine that the number of fair-haired important question, it is more important to know how to feed young stock intended for breeding purposes. Of late, much interest has been aroused by the claims of intelligent men in regard to rye grain (or meal) for young stock. While rye is highly prized for furnishing a variety in the food of fattening hogs as well as a part ration for work horses, there is, occasionally, a man male children darkens from 55 per cent. who feels confident that rye grain is during the first five years of life to 33 kept away from all except those not intended for breeding. This advantage, together with the ex- but ergot is found in all of the grains to tra butter made, will amount to fully a greater or less extent. So on this account the rye is not necessarily the cheese factories are the most apt to prime cause. To have broader grounds for a conclusion we invite brief experiences from our readers who have had -eight cents per pound-and I am buy-ing hundreds of pounds of it from mer-grain and breeding stock. Publication grain and breeding stock. Publication of the names of writers will be withheld when requested, and only an abstract of the opinion of any one is likely to be used. Any one, therefore, who has a conviction for or against the use of this article of food for breeding at all, but make it into rolls and wrap stock, will confer a favor by writing it in as few words as possible, giving also, in brief, his theory for the faith expressed. We are willing to be convinced to the contrary, but will state our belief that the rye itself is not hostile to fertility in any animal. If fed in excessive quantity it may, in view of its Packing in crocks or wooden tubs can never be made to do as well as the above The same result may follow the use of corn, wheat, beans, peas, etc. In such

HORTICULTURAL NOTES.

Avoid large, overgrown or stunted tilated by digging.

tender, fine-grained, fine-flavored and

THEY say you can kill burdocks efful of salt. SEVERAL onion-growers are bearing for this vegetable. This is somewhat in opposition to previous ideas in onion culture. THOSE lands which in Continental Europe are devoted to the grape and produce the best and most costly wines are remarkable for the great amount of phosphoric acid they contain. The soil of the renowned Clos Vogeot vineyard in France contains four per cent. MR. C. W. GARFIELD, of Grand Rapids, says Michigan Farmer, cuts four hundred dozen bunches of asparagus from an acre of land. To that acre are applied thirty-two tons of stable mature each autumn, and eight tons of refuse salt from a leather tannery every spring. THE Country Gentleman says the

Lawrence, a late autumn and early winter pear, of fine quality, but not equal to the best, is only partially melting; but it has the good quality of never becoming scabby, is always fair, and the tree holds its foliage late in autumn until the fruit is well matured. It is a good market variety.

PROF. FERNALD reports that an ant hill near a house, which was doing much lamage to the lawn, was exterminated by making holes in the hill fifteen inches apart with a small stick and pouring two or three teaspoonfuls of bisulphate of carbon into each hole, after which the holes were closed up and the earth pressed down by stepping on it.

jack rabbits. A piece of ground about A Use for Broken Trowels and Weeders. Knock out the old rivets. Then level by ral bits, is surrounded by a board off the lower end of a small broom hanfence high enough to prevent their dle and rivet securely to plate as shown jumping over. On one side a plank in illustration. This makes a very useruns from the ground, with an easy ful implement for digging out plants slope, to the top of the pen, and pro-jects a foot over the inclosure. Above beds, etc., also for lifting plants anythe projecting end, and just far enough where in the flower garden. Could I in front of it to cause the animal to have but one trowel I would prefer the will stand more prying, although there glue, pound it into the hole, and when is danger of prying too hard. What is dry it will make the wood as good as needed is a similar tool, no larger, but Frank Christian, Jr., in Stove of thicker steel. Would it not pay the and Hardware, says he has followed manufacturer to put such a one in marthis plan for thirty years with unvary- ket? The Hazeltine hand-weeder is ing success in repairing bellows, which another very useful tool, but for several is the most severe test known. Often purposes (such as weeding or stirring by frequent attachment of new leather the soil among plants in the center of to old bellows frames, the wood be- cold-frames, hot-beds. etc.), it may be somes so perforated that there is no much improved by removing the origi-space to drive the nails, and even if nal handle and substituting a small there was, the remaining holes would broom handle. It is also of advantage allow the air to escape. Glue and saw- to form a V-shaped notch in the end of lust paste do the work, while lead, blade, as it will enable the operator to easily catch on to the plants, and as it prevents slipping when weeding or thin-It is easy, says Galen Wilson, to pre- ning out plants that are growing close vent cabbage worms from injuring the together. This may seem a little thing; plants. Just keep the crowns filled nevertheless, the extra amount of work with soil. The earth does no harm to accomplished will be considerable in the cabbages, as the heads grow up from | the long run.-W. C. Jennisca, in Popular Gardening.

BROKEN WEEDERS AND TROWELS UTIL-IZED.

BAD NEWS FOR BLONDES.

In forming opinions as to whether fairhaired persons are less numerous in a particular locality now than formerly, the element of age has to be considered. A person who has spent his childhood particular period of growth are noted in a fair-haired district, and visits it again after a lapse of years, may easily persons is fewer than formerly, merely on account of the class of persons from whom he draws the inference being more adult than those of whom he has recollections formerly.

From the rate at which hair darkens from childhood to adult age we have some valuable observations, which show that the hair of light-complexioned dangerous in any form to feed breeding stock. Just now the young things on the farm are taking to the oats, etc., the same ratio. Darkening of the and it is a serious question with all who female hair and eyes with age takes have rye whether this grain should be place to a much less extent than among males. It would appear, therefore, that in estimating the increase or diminution The editor of this department is in of fair-haired persons in a particular doubt on this point, while entertaining district observations on females are grave respect for the opinions of those much more trustworthy than on males, who oppose the use of this grain in such from the fact that they are much less cases. The presence of ergot may at liable to variations; but, on the other times affect females after conception; hand, it must be remembered that the color of a woman's hair is more liable to alter according to the tint which is considered the most fashionable at a particular time. Besides the blending of fair-haired races with the dark stocks, there are other elements which Dr. Beddoe has shown may account for the diminution of fair hair in England, and these should not be overlooked. He considers that the xanthous temperament is less able to withstand the unsanitary conditions existing in the crowded populations of our great cities than the melanotic, and that in this way the law of natural selection operates against its increase. Again, as a large majority of women live and die unmarried and childless, it is probable, in his opinion, that the physical qualities of the race may be to a small extent molded by the action of conjugal as well as natural selection. In support of this he has given statistics showing that of 737 women only 55.5 per cent. of those with fair hair were married, against 79 per cent. with black hair, while 37 per cent. with fair hair were unmarried, against 18 per cent. with black. On classifying those with red, fair, and brown hair as "blonde," must know that a much smaller part of and those with dark brown and black hair as "dark," we have 359 of the former and 361 of the latter. Of the blondes he found 60 per cent. were married to 70.5 of the dark, and 32 per cent. of the former were unmarried to 21.5 of the latter. apple trees, which have short roots mu- If during several generations this preference among the male sex for wives with dark hair should continue, it THE Fameuse, in its best estate, is the finest eating apple in the world. It is is reasonable to suppose it would exert an influence decidedly adverse to the increase of fair-haired persons being maintained. On various grounds, there fectually by cutting off the crown of fore, it would seem as if the fair hair the plant and putting on a large spoon- so much beloved by poets and artists is doomed to be encroached upon and even replaced by that of darker hue. The testimony to the value of sod ground rate at which this is taking place is probably slow, from the fact that nature is most conservative in her changes .-British Medical Journal.

LAST SLAVE VOYAGE.

The Shipping, Stowing and Feeding of a Cargo of Slaves. During the embarkation I was engaged separating those negroes who did not appear robust, or who had received some trifling injury in getting on deck, and sending them to an improvised hospital made by bulk-heading a space in the rear of the forecastle. The others, aboard there was just room for each to ie upon one side. As no one knew what proportion the men were, all were herded together. The next morning the separation took place; the women and girls were all sent on deck, and They are able to numbered about four hundred. Then a able to take it? close bulkhead was built across the ship and other bunks constructed. The women were sent below, and enough men sent up to enable the carpenter to have room to construct additional bunks. A more docile and easily managed lot of creatures can not be imagined. No violence of any kind was necessary; it was metimes difficult to make them understand what was wanted; but as soon as they comprehended immediate compliance followed.

The negroes were now sent on deck in large wooden platter, heaping full of cooked rice, beans and pork cut into small cubes. The platters were made by cutting off the head of flour or other barrels, leaving about four inches of the staves. Each negro was given a wooden spoon, which all on board had amused themselves in making during our forty-day trip. Barrel staves were sawed into lengths of eight inches, split into other pieces one and a half inches wide, and then shaped into a spoon with our pocket-knives. It was surprising what good spoons could be made in that manner. A piece of rope yarn tied to a spoon and hung around the neck was the way in which every individual retained his property. There not being room on deck for the entire cargo to feed at one time, platters were sent be tween decks, so that all ate at one hour, three times daily. Casks of water were placed in convenient places, and an abundant supply furnished day and night.-George Howe, M. D., in Scribner.

It Was Conclusive. Mrs. Livewayt (of Chicago)-Yes, oung Mr. Laker wanted to marry our Susie, but I put my foot right down or

Mrs. North River (with a glance at Mrs. Livewayt's feet)—Well, that covered the ground .- West Shore.

Twenty Years Hence. Wife (who lives in a house built of laus Spreckels' patent petrified sugar locks)-O, Henry, come here, quick!

Husband-What's the matter? Wife-Baby has eaten a big hole clear is coming in!-Light.

Cheating the Slot Machine The man who would deliberately

Reasons for Thinking That Fair Hair Is cheat a confiding and helpless slot machine deserves the reprobation of mankind. Yet this cowardly variety of swindler exists. He approaches the unsuspecting machine with its smiling slot waiting for him and into that inno cent slot he drops a piece of lead of the weight and shape of a penny. Instantly the machine yields up its cigar, its bot tle of perfume or whatever else may be its stock in trade, and congratulates itself on the briskness of business. The other day the proprietor of one of these machines unlocked its treasury, only to find it full of pieces of lead. It had been the victim of a wretch with several pounds of lead, and had nearly worn itself out by the rapidity with which it satisfied his demands. Clearly the slot machine is too good and innocent for this world, and unless it can be taught to discriminate between lead and lawful money its usefulness is over .- Paris

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers the California Fig Syrup Company.

this country recently printed a census joke, by coacks confirmation. However, such a thing is liable to occur almost any day.—Norristown Herald.

THERE is a rumor current that a paper in

Have you ever tried Dobbins' Electric Scap? It don't cost much for you to get one bar of your grocer, and see for yourself why it is praised by so many, after 24 years steady sale. Be sure to get no imitation. There are lots of them are lots of them.

The reason that the tide is so slightly felt in the Mediterranean is that the ebb and flow are checked by the Gibraltar strait and Ir you are tired taking the large old fash-ioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everythisg. One pill a dose. Try them.

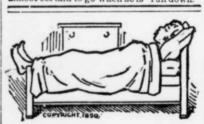

We sneer at the Siamese for worshiping the elephant; but think of the money that is paid here annually just to see it.—The Jester.

A sallow skin acquires a healthy clear-ness by the use of Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents A queen thing about a strike is that it always comes to an end as soon as it gets into working order.—Binghampton Republican.

Those who wish to practice economy should buy Carter's Little Liver Pills. Forty pills in a vial; only one pill a dose. THE man who is trying to climb up finds lots of heels above him and lots of fists behind him.—Atchison Globe.

BRONCHITIS is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption. THE Chinese carry their devils with them wherever they go. They are great importers.—Texas Siftings.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is A SENSITIVE man is unlike a clock-he is Too long deluded - the unhappy victim of catarrh in the head. He's been told that it can't be cured. Don't you believe it. It can be, and it is-no matter how bad or of how long standing. It has been done for thousands—by Dr. Sage's Ca-tarrh Remedy. Other so-called remedies may palliate for a time; as they arrived, were stowed away by this cures for all time. By its mild, the Spanish mate; so that when all were soothing, cleansing and healing properties, it conquers the worst cases. Its makers offer, in good faith, a reward of $500 for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. They are able to pay it. Are you

The symptoms of catarrh are, headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at Thousands of cases termigroups of eight and squatted around a nate in Consumption and end in the grave, without ever having manifested all these symptoms. Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. 50 cents, by druggists. FOR MALARIA,

It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the value of Smith's Bile Beans; they are certainly an excellent medicine for bilious attacks and cold. I have given them a thorough trial and can conscientiously recom-W. J. CARDWELL, Irondale, Ala.

Try " BILE BEANS SMALL" (40 little beans in each bottle). Very smalleasy to take. Price of either size, 25c. BUY OF YOUR DRUGGIST.

JONES OF BINGHAMTON BINGHAMTON, N. Y. What? Why on Scales "He Pays the Freight.

DO YOU WANT A HOME SOUTHWEST IOWA. For information, W. W. ELLIS, President Bine Grass League VILLISCA, - IOWA.

DO You Live in a House. If so, you want Wite—Baby has easen a dig note clear kndorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government, Send through the kitchen wall, and the rain for prices. HARTMAN MFG. Co., Beaver Falls Falls

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BE UP TO THE MARK

Not to Split! Not to Discolor!

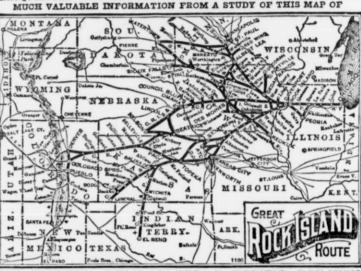

BEARS THIS MARK.

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CEAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast ss Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraeka, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northweat. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Low Minneats and Paketic.

Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent.

DISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH.-Best, Easiest to use, Cold in the Head it has no equal.

INDICESTION AND "Would not be without your Powders for all I possess."-LIBBY.

LIVER CURE CITSALT CO., - BOX 3370, NEW YORK

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878. W. BAKER & CO.'S Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals

W. BAKER & CO. Dorchester, Mass.

THE DEPENDENT PENSION BIL Grants pensions to Soldiers, Sailors, and their Widows and Children. Present PENSIONS WIDOWS AND SAILORS AND ADVANTABLAW.
Case. J. C. DERMODY, ADVALLAW.
Channey Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

DENSION JOHN W. MORRIS.

55 PER DAY Selling Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom Sleeve, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Holder Terms free. FERGUSON BROS., CHESTER, CONN EDUCATIONAL.

UNION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago, Fall Term

DEPENDENT PENSION BILL

OYMPTOMS: DOCT, BROASON'S COMP. PEPSIA TROCHES

Soldiers, Wiscows, Parents send for PLICATIONS AND INPORMATION. I OF A R R EL L., Pension Agent, Wasternamer This Paper every time you write. PENSIONS New LAW CLAIMS. Attorneys, 1419 F Street, Washington, D. C. BRANCH OFFICES-Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago.

PATENTS Invent something and make your FORTUNE: A 46-page PORTUNE: A 9-PARE THIS PAPER ONLY HOUSE THE PAPER ONLY H ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma CURE address. Will mail triat CURED never falls; send us your address. Will mail triat CURED never falls; send us your address. Will mail triat CURED never falls; send us your address. FREE

PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & Co., Washington, D. C. SP-NAME THIS PAPER stay time yet with.

PENSION CLAIMS PROSECUTED UNDER NEW LAW. Circular showing who are entitled sent FREE. Fee ello if suocessful. Otherwise nothing. Adv INGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE ENGINDS WESTON ENGINE CO., Paluted Post, N. Y.
Paluted Post, N. Y.
CATALOGUE FREE

A. N. K .- C. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLHASE

canoe and spear; and the Indian who used to be so hardy that he went about unclothed the greater part of the year, has been so weakened by the clothing, whiskey and vices of "civilization" that old and young are now dying out rapidly of sustenance during the "closed seaget salmon "caught by Indians" or the general plan of the new works: "in the Rogue River." It is well to have taw abiding communities.

A NATURAL FORTRESS

As we approach the end of the Highlands, the mountains to the left rise in gigantic terraces, one, two and three stories high, resembling the curious formations in the Grand Canon region in Arizona. The view of the Highlands down the river must not be missed, as it is finer even than the view entering below. As already stated, Mt. Hood now emerges again, as imposing as ever, and the view of it at the Dalles is as fine as at Vancouver or Portland. But eyen without this snowy monarch to O Converter follow us up the river all day long, this part of the Columbia would be one of the most fascinating, which does not allow the attention to flag even after nine or ten hours of fatiguing sight seeing. A few miles below Dalles City is a formation in the right bank (going up) which is perhaps the greatest curiosity along the whole river. It is a wonderfully illusive natural fortress with battlements facing the river and the reguday by utilizing nature's plans.

IN THE "SWIFT WATER."

The palisades are marked by a white line showing the high water Register. mark of 1889. Twelve feet above is the high water mark of 1890. Dalles City is not an interesting place in itself, but is most delightful located. and seems doubly picturesque after a whole day's sail up the Columbia tation are hours apart.

dle and lower portions of the river.

sublime of rivers which some day obtained to witness the treatment of will have its monograph, and will the patients. Together with Professor inspire as much immortal poetry as George Reuling, surgeon in charge the Rhine.

rifled his pockets. For this he was an infant. he had done so and related the full mation. particulars.

itary governor of the district.

Special Attractions at Mountain Lake Park.

Park, and all the little folks are inand other attractions will be proyided for their enjoyment.

Tuesday, August 12th is announced as Grand Army Day, a grand reunion of veterans with patriotic songs and speeches.

For these special days the B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell excursion tickets to Mountain Lake Park and return at greatly reduced rates and run special trains frome Clarksburg and intermediate stations as follows: TIME OF TRAINS cipnish Junetlon..... Mt. Lake Park.....

Tickets sold at above rates will be good only on day of sale.

SAVAGE FIRE BRICK CO.

A Plant for Friendsyille Being Built. its capacity.

The company will erect an imconsumption. In return for all the mense plant at Friendsville, Md., at ment allows the Indians the privilege latest and most costly machinery, inof fishing with spears for their own cluding the Fisher dryer. A "converter" will be employed, and manuson;" consequently it is always easy factured gas, made on the premises,

ENGINE AND BOILERS.

ELEVATED R. R. TRACK 0 0 0 0

Dryroom Dryroom pryroom 5

KILNS. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0

C. & O. KAILROAD.

STOCK SHEDS.

This is the plan of the yard as it will be when complete. The elevatlation watch tower in the middle. ed track is intended for the delivery If political exigencies should ever of the crude clay. When ready for require a fortress on the middle the press the prepared clay will be Columbia, here it might be con- delivered to the dry rooms by constructed, one would think, in one tinuous belts of special construction. The area of the dry rooms is 240x160 feet, the floor being kept at a uniform The river now becomes narrow, heat by means of steam pipes, and is walled in on both sides by low Twelve kilns will be erected with a but finely sculptured basalt palisades, capacity of about 600,000 brick. Ambeautifully carved, and moss covered ple stock sheds will also be provided it derived its name. Last year, howin some places. A strong wind seems to blow here almost constantly and the water is decked with white the latest transfer of the latest strong wind a storage capacity of 1,000,000 brick. The Friendsville yard will be now a modern country residence. and the water is decked with white the largest of the many plants oper- In the old churchyard just opposite caps and as turbulent as the Rhine at ated by this company. It will doubt- the Red House, among the many less be the model upon which other that lie sleeping the "last long sleep," plants will be patterned.-Myersdale

> OPERATIONS ON THE EYE. An Intersting Visit to Maryland General Hospital.

While walking along North Howon which evidences of human habi- ard street yesterday morning the attention of a Globe reporter was at-Here endeth the second or "mid- tracted by a long string of people dle" portion of the Columbia. As gon, to and from the eye and ear the word Dalles or "Swift Water" department of the Maryland General indicates, navigation is here again hospital. Almost every individual interrupted by rapids. Thirteen wore smoke-colored glasses. Some miles above the Dalles, at Celilo, it had bandages over both eyes, while used to be resumed in former days, others had an optic covered with the but since the completion of the rail- black shade. Even babies a few way the boats of the upper Columbia weeks old, with their little heads have been shot down the various wrapped in dark yeils, were being rapids and are now used in the mid- carried to the hospital to be treated.

Being curiously interested, the hos-Truly the Columbia is the most pital was entered and permission and director of the clinic, and his assistant, Mr. Clarance Warfield, the A short time ago in Southern Rus- different wards were visited. It was sia a soldier while on guard duty the reporter's good fortune to be presmade an unprovoked attack upon a ent while a most delicate operation Hebrew traveler, kitled him and was being performed on the eyes of arrested and locked up. Next day The operation consisted of the two men with masks over their faces scraping of ulcerated deposits from entered his cell. They asked him if the pupil of the eye, which had been he had committed the act with which | there since birth. They were caused he was charged. He confessed that by lotions used for purulent inflam-

The child stood the operation with-"How much," they asked, "did out screaming or kicking after a few you find in his pockets?" "Five drops of cocaine solution had been hundred dollars and a gold watch and dropped in the eyes. After this chain." "You must divide it with operation a little boy from Arlington us." He did so, and was thereupon avenue was brought under the influset free and restored to duty in the ence of a mixture of chloroform and army. His two yisitors were his ether for the purpose of having one commanding colonel and the mil- totally diseased eye removed. Strange to say this boy's father will banks, where one has a good view of have to submit to the same operation; a friend of his having unintentioually run a stick into his right eye, punch-Saturday, August 2nd will be ing a perfect hole into the white wall, m., we stopped at "Fairy Spring" Childrens Day at Mountain Lake so that the liquid ran out of the on the top of the mountain for re wound, causing excruciating suffer- freshments, after which we started vited to attend. Fireworks, Music ing. To have two eyes taken out in one family within three days is certainly a very rare and lamentable occurence. A very interesting case presented himself from Wicomico county in the person of a young man about nine from all stations on its lines between teen years of age who became almost Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and totally blind after a protracted siege Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday. of la grippe, but who expressed him- and Thursday of each week until self considerably improved since the August 12th, discontinuing the sale few days of treatment at the eye and of tickets on Saturdays as previously ear department. There was a case of announced. Tickets will be valid cataract recently operated upon, the patient being a gentleman about 54 valid returning on all trains until years of age, who at ten days after following dsy, inclusive, and from the operation is able to read fine stations South and West of Harper's Arrive 10 03 print and sees as well in the distance Ferry, they will be valid returning as ever. A correspondent for several New the loss of his right eye by inflam-The Savage Fire Brick Company, mation of the inner coatings, so that under the energetic management of his pupil is adherent in many places, Mr. J. J. Hoblitzell, is constantly and has the appearance of a star inadding to its facilities and increasing stead of being round. His optic nerve is also seriously inflamed and made this a serious case for complete York papers is undergoing at the institution a thorough treatment for restoration. Another gentleman, harm it has done them, the Govern- a cost of $50,000, fitted up with the about 30 years of age, had a seriously inflamed eye, in consequence of a runaway accident, in which he was thrown with great force from his buggy, and suffered from concussion in Portland, during that season, to will be used for fuel. Following is of the brain and eye. He is already so much improved that the doctor promised his dismissal by Saturday next, when he will resume his duties as a collector of a large brewing establishment. One young lady offered a rather strange appearance by the prominence of both of her eyeballs, which seemed fairly to protrude > from their sockets, Dr. Reuling explained that this disease is caused by hypertrophy of the heart muscles, and that always more or less enlargement of the of the throat (so-called goitre, is associated with this affection-the socalled Basedows disease.

To one who has never witnessed an JOHN A. WOLF, operation upon the eye, it is an instructive sight, and to see the easy way they are handled by one in the business but proves that by hard study, man learns, and will ever learn, for the benefit and relief of suffering humanity.-Baltimore Globe.

A Trip to Table Rock.

Among the many beautiful pieces of scenery in Garrett County, Table Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Rock, situated on the nighest point of the Backbone Mountain, about ten miles from Oakland, stands out in bold relief.

Leaving Oakland at 8:20 a, m., we arrived at the old Red House at 9:40. This was quite a notable spot during war, being situated where the road branches off to old Fort Pendleton. It was for many years the home of the late Peter Shirer. Up to 1889 it was an old tumble-down farm house, painted a reddish-brown from which are buried the remains of Peter Martin, who for many years was a prominent and highly-respected citizen of Oakland, where he engaged largely in the flouring and lumber business. He moved to the country in 1879, where he died a short time after. His daughter, Nannie, who died in Oakland in 1888, is also buried there. We also noticed the names of many other former citizens of Garrett

County. Leaving the Red House, we started up the mountain, past the Grimes' homestead, which looks lovely in its dress of summer green, and so to the Rock. Truly, "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view." From this point a magnificent scene is presented to the observer. The hundreds of acres of beautiful farm lands, the broad patches of forest, with the grand old mountains-blue and hazy in the distance-forming the background, make a scene worthy the ground, make a scene worthy the brush of the greatest artist. With the aid of a 10-mile field glass we were enabled to see many objects that could not be distinguished with the naked eye, among them being "Monte Vista," "The Rest," and Mrs. Carter's new residence and like the statement of the s Mrs. Carter's new residence and the establis wind-mill. Standing on this high ledge of rock the voices of Sunday School scholars, perhaps a mile below, came floating, sweet and clear, up to where we stood. After luncheon we decided to go on to Fort Pendleton. The Deakins Hotel at this place is something immense-nearly as large as the Glades Hotel at Oakland-and looks invitingly cool, with its broad verandas and huge shade trees. We visited the ruins of the old fort, nothing re. maining now but the entrenchment Gormania and Barrett, on the West Virginia Central Railroad, and of the North Branch of the Potomac river.

Leaving Fort Pendleton at 3:40 p for Oakland, arriving at precisely six o'clock, having spent a delightful

Excursions to Baltimore.

The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore for three days including day of sale.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters. Endorsed by every physician as a sure cur r Pain or Weakness in the Breast, Sida ack or Limbs; also for Liver Complain eak Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthmat leavisy, difficulty in heathing, &c. is all leavisy, difficulty in heathing, &c. is all OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President, G. S. HAMILL, V. Presider S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted.

Frompt attention to collections, 1 12 '80.

THE GARRET'I COUNTY BANK

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our Home-Grown Nursery Stock.

WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS.

Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-stablished and best known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 6761.

Established 1846.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all fard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes rom Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints weeney, Ring bone, Stifles, Sprains, all swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save 350 by see of one bottle. Warranted the most woniTCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md. 451v*

CARPENTER AND BUILDER. East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and Ceneral

Building Material. conduct the UNDERTAKING ment of Coffins, and also manufacture th ame to order. A fine hearse in attendance It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices. BUSINESS, and kee vork at reasonable prices.
Thanking all who have favored me in the ast, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to nerit their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to. JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1896. 6 21 ly.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware

Association,

(LIMITED.) E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES It will pay you to call and see us. We

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

m $20 to $60 per week and upwards. Address on & Co., Box 812, Fortland, Maine

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

f desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT. Fairmont, W. Va.

ess, H. HALLETT & CO., Box 880, Po

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Picase write for prices and terms. and terms.
We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season.
Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express, Address

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to SALE. FOR Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

Tuesciands are of excellent quality, each I sees lands are of excellent quality, each not has a stream of water running through realtle, and springs of excellent water, and quantity of valuable limber. The Hoop le road passes through the lands and the ser Park road quite near them. They adjoin to farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. stakin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, diph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodewaver and others. Plused lands will be sold CHEAP and on the OST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth shand the balance in three or four equal arily payments, with interest and security the satisfaction of the owner.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland ontaining straces; 50 acres cleared; orchard (100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-stor;

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a celiar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

J. F. LEWIS.

-MANUFACTURER OF-Lumber, Shingles and Plas-TERING LATH !

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I are confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the

J. F. LEWIS. 23'881y Cranesville, W. Va MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begin

April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three cou special attention to collegiate require-special attention to collegiate require-Number of Puples strictly Limited, nee Library, For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER

Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. office 30 Baltimore Street.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of Wing and Wing, at Jeer Park, containing a Parlor, Sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses and carriage house. E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of sell-ing the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask. ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

Secure a Home. to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. J. M. LITZINGER,

Oakland, Md.

D. E. BOLDEN E. M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

OAKLAND, · MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity,

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST -Accommodation GOING WEST. 5-Accommodation.

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25

cents. WM. M. CLEMENTS,

General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE STOCK FARM FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

OUR FAVORITE SINCER rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers ent on trial. Delivered in your home free of Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1890.

NUMBER 25.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. ar Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 225 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyar avestigation of land titles and collect claims. Loans negotiated, jei

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Calms, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission.

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Gurrett and Allegary counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88106

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and office in the Court House.
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, backgroun, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa.,

Will visit regularly through Garrett county, M4., and offers his services to those wishing Pental Treatment, Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m DR. W. N. RAVENSCRAFT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING.

Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.-1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.,

Ters his Protessional services to the people to akland and vicinity. 55'88 #2" Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church,

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD. O.lice and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and filling the natural teeth.

dling the natural teeth.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
v3 n48 Dr. I. D. Mewman, QAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Office and residence on Milistreet, opposite Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to,
3 5 y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND.

Of 131% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oakland, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outsultings; twenty acres arder cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place.

For terms and further information, apply to THOMAS & SINCELL, ta'al Tragitariat of Bisease

SCHATTERE DISCOVERY! the cause of all Diseases. Successful Treatment. CURES: Gaterrh, Brenchitis, Consumption, Ealaria Riceumatism. Wanderful Tonic and act of the Microbe Killer in cases of con-traction of the consustrated that we have the consustrated that we have the front. We do so claim for it have the carrier cases so far gone that cure Chean; within the Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, 819 Arch St.

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowle Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down. THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith FROM BALTIMORE, framers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop agear "Browning House."

DAVID LITTLE.

FROM BALTIMORE, framers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the public. 315 90

DAVID LITTLE.

FROM BALTIMORE, framers' work for farness and steady work for farness an

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

MULES

We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS AT BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above kinds & sizes of mules euitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging

-and-TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY.

W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R., between Gorman and Bayard,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

Alderson & Robinson, Props

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brace kets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboard-. ing Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match #2-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

** Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov, 21, 85.— y.

ESMEN WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acre I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXANDER & CO.,

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor. Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD. LUMBER BROKERS

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Beiting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggies, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM. A PRACTICAL AND

First-Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

USED BY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILL A SHINE LASTS A WEEK LEATHER PRESERVER A HANDSOME POLISH. IS WATER-PROOF.

WILL STAIN OLD A NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN OLD A NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN TINWARE WILL STAIN TINWARE WILL STAIN TINWARE WILL STAIN TINWARE WILL STAIN TOWARE WILL STAIN TOWARE

By All Odds

of the stomach, liver, and bowels, these Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be easy and pleasant to take, but preserves their medi-cinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, soldiers, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies have failed, prove effective.

Ayer's Pills

"In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but per-Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the after-noon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after decidin that my symptoms were more favorable, gav me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no cause of the disease, and gained in strength as fas at could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Leut. 56th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry.

"Ayer's Pills are The Best

I have ever used for headaches, and they act like a charm in relieving any disagree able sensation in the stomach after eathg. "I was a sufferer for years from dyspepsia and liver troubles, and found no permanent relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. They have effected a complete cure." – George W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T.

Ayer's Pills, DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicina

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 9

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stadles her rescue. and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT

For particulars and terms, apply to orad-

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company o those represented by me, I am now pre agred to write policies on all kinds of proper-y on short notice and at reasonable special Special inducements and rates given on welling houses and farm property. welling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—hose anthorized by law to do business in the tate, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in F. A. THAYER.

R OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OUR OFFICE IS OFPOSITE U.S. FAILS I OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-ness direct, hence can transact patent busi-ness in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-scription. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

SALESMEN.

THE NANCY LEE'S CAPTAIN. of us, and we flew a signal that we halling us from the surface of the sea. a hat and coat to disguise herself, There are sea birds who ery out al- and as we lay to about a cable's most like human beings, and allength away no eye could have made though I was startled by the hail, I out her sex. "Schooner, aboy!" dismissed it after a few seconds as the called our captain. so when it came again, and this time Lee, bound from Sumatra to the I knew it was the voice of a woman. mainland," There was no need to hail the mate on watch, for he heard the cry as well. We were jogging along under bertn."

one breath ordered the ship into the muskets along the rail. haild by castaways, but the boat resistance I'll sink you!"

working nervously and her eyes "Now to rout out those Lorear-!"

afire. They had not been gone a quarter of an hour when both reappeared on "No, not quite!" was the grim ter by trade-who had one small in " deals. I was at the wheel and there answer, as she handed him the smokfore heard all that was said. It ap- ing revolver. peared that the woman, whose name was Mrs. Thomas, owned and sailed a trading schooner, which had oven was a strange vecation for a woman, hatch, called down: but it seemed she liked it and also had a good business head on her, man of you, and be quick about it, She had a crew of six, her mate being 100 !" an Englishman and the others Lascars, and she had been sailing between nearly all the towns on the gulf. Three days before we picked her up her schooner had left Sumatra, bound for the Indian coast. The crew seemed to be perfectly quiet and ing them about in a liberal way should be never said to a living ious night, headed by the mate, had suddenly laid violent hands on her and sent her adrift without water food, or a paddle. The intention was might have been carried out but for

She was the spunkiest little woman couldn't stand still for three seconds at a time. What she wanted was for our ship to go in pursuit. Her schooner was armed with two brass the bottom before the mutinous crew should benefit by their acts. Captain Wheeler was pretty well along in years, very careful on the question of insurance, and his mind was not made up until after breakfast. Then he decided to luff up towards the Adaman Islands in search of the schooner, and he almost promised to give her a taste of our metal if she would not surrender. The little woman managed to eat a dozen mouthfuls of breakfast, and then returned to the deck to almost assume controt. She ordered a man aloft, bossed the job of casting loose the guns and getting up powder and shot, and every ten minutes she was hailing the lookout to know if anything was in sight. Luck was to her favor. While we had been jogging along all night, the schooner, being further to the east, had been almost becalmed. We raised her almost dead nead about noon, and, as luck would have it, again we had plenty To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or of wind, while she had none until commission and steady work for earnest the vessels were not over two miles. the vessels were not over two miles wanted to speak to her. She at once lay to, and as we ran down to her I We were well into the Gulf of Bon- saw Mrs. Thomas grit her teeth, al, bound for Madras, when one ciench her hands, and show other morning, just as night was falling evidences of feelings. She had borinto dawn, I thought I heard a voice rowed the mate's 6-shooter, donned ery of a bird. Scarcely had I done "Ay, ay, sir! This is the Nancy

"Are you the captain?" "No, sir. He's yery sick in his easy sail, and he seized the glass and "Run out those guns," whispered ran up the forerigging. There was a the old man to us, and down went sort of steam rising from the water, the port shutters and out went the but the mate had not climed 30 feet big barkers, and such of the crew as when down he came igain, and he were not at the guns rested their that the artist does not understand vind, the Captain aroused, and a "I've got your captain here, and tost lowered. We of the watch had she'll be put aboard of you!" shoutno doubt that the ship had been ed the captain, "If you make any

was lown before any of us made out | The Nancy's mate ordered the a line woman in a sort of a caree erew to one of the guns, but they re craftabout two cables' length away fused to obey, every man of them on ar port bow. She had neither saiking forward and disappearing padde nor oar and her craft was down the hatch. The fellow left the driving with the wind and sea, while deck long enough to arm himself see at cowering in the stern. Our with a cutiess, and as we lowered a ne can. The kind-hearted man goes boat was soon alongside of her craft, | boat he called out that he would split and coman and canoe were soon the head of the first man who atabout of the Admiral Nelson. The tempted to board the schooner. Our watchbelow had been turned up, and first mate, the boatswain, and two of every aly was on deck to see what us foreness hands went in the boat was oing on. The woman was with Mrs. Thomas, and as we hooked and speaks a word of grateful acwhite and, as we soon ascertained, on to the schooner's chains the knowledgment and encouragement; Amerian. I say white, but bronze boatswain putted a revolver and Taen the two men start out of the wouldbe the better term, for it was coimbed in over the bows. The mu- sanctum and walk thoughtfully eviden that she had long been extineer retreated aft and then we all down the street tegether, and the posed o tropic i weather. She was hoarded. The woman had not spoken successful business man takes sugar of meaning siz, regular features, and a word since leaving the ship. She in his, and they both eat a clove or about Dyears of age, and had at one was pale as death, and her eyes two; and life is sweeter, and peace time been good looking.

| The beautiful distribution of the peace of "Who and where is the captain of from the rail to the deck she cocked nearts, and after awhile lamp posts this she ??' she sudd nly snapped, as the weapon in her hand walked aft she reached the deck.

It is weapon in her hand walked aft get more plentiful and everybody and right up to the mate, and as he seems more or less intoxicated, but "Here, ma'am," gallantly replied flourished the cutters and com-

dead in his tracks. "I want to talk to you in your "It's the law of the sen," she quicabis," she continued, her fingers etly remarked as she turned to us. "But you won't kill them!" said our male.

Casting a look at the dead muti- being always in the shop with the neer, to be sure that he was dead, she opening of the day. went forward, took a belaying pin left her at her husband's death. It out of the port rail, and, going to the

They came up one after another, and as each man touched the deca she gaye him a crack over the head which made him see stars. They went down on their knees and begged for their lives, and after knock. lit up so when he come in. content, but at 10 o'clock of the prey- finally agreed to extend pardon. Un- soul that he loved that sick boy so der her directions the mate's body much; still he went on patiently was searched, and, as she had antici- loving him. And by and by he pated, all the money aboard the moved that whole shop into posschooner was found. She then or. itively real, but unconscious, fellowto run away with the schooner and dered the body flung overboard, and ship with him. The workmen made cargo and sell them, and this plan as it touched the water one of the curious little jars and tea cups upon biggest white sharks I ever saw their whells, and painted diminutive seized it and bit it in half. While pictures down their sides, before they the Lascars were cleaning the deck stuck them in corners of the kiln at I ever saw. She was so mad she the little woman ran down into her burning time. cabin and brought up a dozen bottles. One brought some fruit in the of wine, six boxes of cigars, and a bulge of his apron, another some enlot of dried fruits for us to take back gravings in a rude scrap book. Not to the ship. Then she gave each of one of them all whispered a word, for and she expressed her entire us a shake of the hand, and as we this solemn thing was not to be entered the yawl she sprang upon talked about. willingness to see her craft sent to the port rail, held fast to the main They put them in the old man's > again, thanks to you, and I'll keep men of rather coarse fiber by nature, my eyes open after this!" Then she jumped down and went becoming gentle and kind, and some to the wheel and gave orders to get of the ungovernable ones stopped the schooner on her course, and in a swearing, as the weary look on their couple of hours the craft was lost to patient fellow-worker's face told sight behind one of the islands as it them beyond any mistake that the made for the inside of the route. Two inevitable shadow was drawing years later I saw the woman at Sing- nearer. apore, and she still owned the schooner, and was said to have a on her own account, had sailed for comfortable fortune in bank. A year later I heard that she had purchased a brig, and, putting in a cargo

If You Have a Trifling Cough For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. -turgiss' brugstore, and Country Stores.

Bill Mye Discourses About Puffs.

The newspaper puff is something that makes men feel bad if they don't get. The groundwork of an ordinary newspaper puff consists of moral character and a good bank account: Writing newspaper puffs is like mixing sherry coblers and mint julet's alf through the summer months for customers and quenching your owif thirst with rainwater. Sometimes at man is looking for a puff and don't get it, then be says the paper is going down hill, and that it is in the hands of a monopoly, and he would stop sub-cribing if he did not have to pay his bill first. Writing a newspaper puff is like taking the photograph of a homely baby. If the photograph does not represent the child willt wings and halos and harps, it shows his business. So it is with the news: paper puff-if the puff doesn't stand out like a a bold and fearless exponent of truth and morality it shows the puffer doesn't understand human nature. It is more fun to see a marf read a puff of himself than to see at man slip on an orange peel. The narrowminded man reads it over seven or eight times and then goes round to the different places where home and reads it to his wife and then pays up his bill on the paper. The successful business man who advertises and makes money, starts imour old man, as he stepped briskly manded her to keep off she shot him with nameless joy, because they know when to stop and not make themseives ridigatous,

A Touching Story.

Once I knew a workingman-a potvalld child at home. He wrought at

He managed, however, to bear each evening to the bedside of the "wee" lad," as he called him, a flower, or a "On deck here, every cowardly bit of ribbon, a fragment of crimson giass-indeed anything that would ite out on a white counterpane and give color in a room. He was a quiet? unsentimental Scotchman, but never went he home at nightfall without some toy or trinket, showing that he' had remembered the wan face that shrouds with one hand, and shouted: hat where he found them; so he un-"Good-by, and God bless you, Caj - derstood all about it. And I tell you tain Wheeler! I've got my craft back seriously, that entire pottery, full of grew quiet as the month drifted,

Every day, now, somebody did a piece of his work for him, and put it up on the sanded plank to dry; thus he could come later and go earlier. So, when the bell tolled, and the little coffin came out of the door of the lowly house, right around the corner, out of sight, there stood a hundred stalwart men from the pot-Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough tery, with their clean clothes on, most of whom gave half a day of time for the privilege of taking off their hats to the simple procession, fliing in behind, and following across the village green to its grave, that small burden of a child, which notone of them had ever seen with his own eves

The Republican.

BENJ, H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

U. S. SENATE PAGES.

A Bright Lot of Boys, One the Son of a Senator.

They Can Only Serve Between the Ages of Twelve and Sixteen-What They Think of Leading Senators-Well Paid and Very Ambitious,

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]

Senate pages s h o u l d strike?" The quesonce asked a gentleman who sat beside me in the United States Senate gallery and noted how heavily the Senators lean on the fourteen little fellows who perform errands for them. It seemed to him, he said, that such a strike would stop the wheels of Government; and so it might if there were no means of filling the places of the strikers, for presumably very few of the Senators would know where to go or what to do to procure the documents, etc., for which they keep the pages running. But about the Capitol and in the several departments of public life in Washington there are enough men of National renown who began their political careers as pages to fill the places of all these boys; so-What if the Senate pages should strike? The Government would go right on. The number of famous men who once were pages seems to warrant the presumption that embryonic greatness is now scampering about the Capitol in haps, for men not fit to bear its shoes. Surely this is excuse enough for devoting a little consideration to the pages of the Senate.

Four years is the longest term a boy may serve as page, since he is eligible to the office only between the ages of twelve and sixteen. In the Senate there are fourteen of these boys, under the immediate direction of Alonzo H. Stewart, a young man of nearly twenty years, who four years ago closed his career as a page and is now attached to the Sergeant-at-Arms under the title of Messenger on the Floor of the Senate. But this chief page and all his assistants are under the supervision Captain Isaac Bassett, the venerable assistant door-keeper, who has served continuously as an attache of the Senate since he was appointed a fifty-seven years ago, by Daniel Webster's request. Captain Bassett, with his long white hair and beard, is the most striking figure on the Senate floor, and if any man is indispensable there it is he. In the matter of cere-monials he is the authority on whom Vice-President, Presidents pro tempore of the Senate and all the officers and members of that august body have to rely. For more than half a century he has kept a memorandum book at hand and made entries of all those acts which were likely to be useful as precedents. When death strikes a Senator down, or any thing else of an unusual character happens, the presiding officer of the Senate turns to Captain Bassett, who sits on his left, and is informed as to what is the conventional mode of procedure under the circumstances. It is said that Captain Bassett has, during all these years of service in the Senate, kept close memoranda of such speeches and acts as have marked events in our country's history. He can tell the pre-cise spot where Webster stood when he made any one of his famous arguments; not play upon the pipe, yet seek to play where Sumner sat when he received the blow which helped the cause of emancipation along; where every word was a few facts-first, the general fact that had direct bearing on the great events ators and their pages, and then some of this last half century. But he is as specifications as to individuals. Senauncommunicative as the Sphinx, and as no more let a newspaper correspondent

THE INTERVIEW ACCORDED. look at one of them than he would willingly sever his connection with the

The fourteen Senate pages are all bright, interesting lads. Harry Long. years. And Warner Moody and Fred Bouth Dakota, and is a peculiarly interesting, not to say charming, little fellow. He is a quaint, fair-haired child, whose delicate physique and sweet, gentle manners bring Oliver Twist constantly to mind. His appearance is that en Fourth of July orations. The Senaof speech and his quiet old-fashioned ers can not meet without having an ir- tremblingly awaited to hear his doom lower House.

resistible impulse to snatch him up and | pronounced. Instead of declaring war, title as his own.

ad of thirteen, but is a more rugged, boyish chap. He acknowledges Robert Porter, the superintendent of census, as his patron saint. Fred was born in his mother tongue have been oblitereligible to the Presidency, but he very contentedly asserts that there is nothing to hinder him from becoming a Senator, and so far as his observation goes tion was all the work for him." Fred answers to them around.

> pages seem to delight in contrariety. For example, McKee Cochrane, who is of an extreme blonde type, is called Ethiope, and Albert Mackey, whose exceeding generosity has made him the favorite of the group, is called Shylock. Events in the careers of the boys also de-termine their nicknames, as in the case of Logan Harris, a handsome little fellow with bright, twinkling eyes, who is called Pie because when he was being initiated to the secrets of page etiquette he was informed, and he believed, that it was his conventional duty to buy a round of pie at the Senate restaurant for all of the other pages. He bought, along with this experience, the name which will not leave him, at least until he quits the atmosphere of the Senate. To "interview" a Senator who has nothing to say has been adjudged by newspaper men a pretty difficult thing to do. But compared with interviewing fourteen Senate pages who have every thing to say and are eager to say it all knickerbockers, running errands, per- at once it is as easy as rolling off the traditional log. I met the boys altogether a few moments before the Senate was called to order. When they learned that I wanted their opinions

THE INTERVIEW REFUSED. concerning Senators they began to push and crowd and chatter all at once. atmosphere was full of opinions. Had I been fourteen stenographers with a full complement of ears I could not have heard and preserved all that they told me. Every one of them talked louder and faster than all the rest and each tugged at some portion of my apparel to attract my attention to what he had to say. The frankness of these boys their willingness to declare an honest eagerness to "talk for publication," set the unaffected little fellows far above some men of note whom I have knownmen who, while manifestly no less eager, surround themselves with sham barriers and sit behind them sorely disappointed if the interviewer does not see the sham and knock the barriers down-pantalooned Poloniuses who can upon the journalist.

Out of the clamor I managed to snatch said and every act performed which has good feeling prevails be tween the Sentor Stanford was unanimously declared for his memorandum books, he would to be an able statesman and a great man because each year he gives them all an entertainment at his house, where he distributes presents, and then because he gives a bright crisp $5 bill to each page every year. But as the chatter went on this was found to be a complimentary ballot. Senators Manderson, Vance, Reagan, Gorman and Davis seemed really to be the most general favorites of the boys, and Senators Ransom, Dixon, Moody, Butler and Manderson were declared to be the handsomest men in the Senate. They give also to Senator Butler the credit of being the most polite and elegant gentleman in the chamber. Senator Gorman is liked because he once was a page himself and has not forgotten it.

"He is always good natured," said one of the little fellows, "and often tells us stories about what he used to do when he was a page. I guess he was a ripper This last remark was intended to be a sort of cap for a climax of compliment. Senator Vest is not generally a favor ite with the boys. Indeed, the youngsters passed unmistakable censure upon the very vigorous language he some times uses toward them, and they assert openly that they would rather be McKee Cochrane and Albert Mackey are doing something else when he snaps the seniors. They have served three his fingers for a page. One of the boys, however, thinks Senator Vest is a pret- Ghooly Khan (Master Will Aulick, of Kappeler are the juniors. Warner ty good sort of a man. McKee Coch-Moody is the son of Senator Moody, of rane was one day rushing at breakneck son of Captain Bassett, the boy that are speed to do the bidding of some other the shoe-blacking when he was told it Senator, when, darting out of the chamber, he plumped squarely into Senator Vest and knocked breath enough out of goin' to interview the House pages, are him to make raw material for half a doz- you? of a boy-I had almost said a girl-of tor saved just enough to supply the surseven or eight years, but his precision rounding ambience with a deep blue tint and an odor of sulphur. The boy, ways together with his precocious judg- who thought his hour had come "for ment make him seem more than a surely" this time, slunk back under eaild. He is the sort of lad that moth- Captain Bassett's protecting arm and kiss him. With as much solemnity as however, Senator Vest at once began to any Senator in the chamber he acknowledges the fitness of the sobriquet Cochrane, and sometime afterward, which the older pages have fastened to him—the Little Lady from Dakota—and with one of his colleagues—an effense without a trace of offense accepts the which is punishable by two months' sus pension-Senator Vest pleaded for him Fred Kappeler is also a diminutive and procured a reduction of the suspen- in the New York Ledger, says:

sion to two weeks. The Senator entertained the boy at Switzerland, but in the seven years of his elegant home in Chicago during the of game to be found in this latitude of his residence in America all traces of Republican National convention in 1888 Western Africa abounds. Elephants, ated from his English speech. He is Pennsylvanian to the glories of the pigs and guinea fowls, red-legged partwell aware that it would take an amend- Western metropolis, and procured for ridges and quail among the birds, are ment of the constitution to make him | him a seat in the convention to boot.

a Senator is more to be envied than a all the Senators, and Senator Reagan people, although not actually canni-President, for all a Senator has to do is has gained the eternal friendship of the bals, are beyond doubt one of the most to "spat his hands and the pages do boys by making paper caps and giving cruel races met with in this part of Cen-ment room for him."

have a page all to himself."

waiting on. "He's a good enough man," sad one little fellow, "but he's awful on is."

"What kind of a man is Sensor Inhurled to the ground and his head galls?" I asked.

"Oh! he never notices us," aswered themselves into a reportorial corps and broke into so many secret sesions that the judiciary officer of the body concluded it was time to adjours sine die; so he decamped with the twenty-five paper belonging to the organization. The pages' senate then collaised. These boys get $75 a month in salary and numerous small sums fron generou Senators. They also have a trick of picking up all the printed speeches of ertain Senators, and, after laving them nicely bound, sell the volume to the Senators.

cents in the treasury and six sheets of

"Does anybody but the Senators buy "Oh! no; only the Senator who has made the speeches," was the innocent

One little fellow-Harry Loag-told me he had made $75 in the last year by "What would you do if you were a and have it passed," he said. "Yes, siree!" chimed in half a dozen

When asked whether they would cross-road; a hole is dug, and he deliberation: "I would rather be a Senator, of Page etiquette demands that each lad shall be permitted to wait on his own patron Senator-that is, the Senator who procured his place for him; and it is inexcusable rudeness for one page to respond to the call of another's Senator inless the other is so engaged that he can not attend to it. The pages are ostensibly Republicans but they do not mind saying that there are a good many things about the Democratic side that are attractive to them prominent among which is the fact that nost of the motions to adjourn come from the Democratic side; and since the boys report for duty at 9 o'clock in the morning and remain until adjournment, this is no unimportant matter to them. The Democratic side of the chamber penitentiary," since whenever one of them is refractory Captain Bassett relegates him to duty on that side. This selling this article simply to advertise s an old-time custom, and pages soon learn that it is in the nature of reward of merit to be permitted to serve on the majority side of the chamber. There are seven boys for each side, but those on the majority side always feel a little nore favored. "I got to larking the other day," said Master Long, "and Captain Bassett sent me over on the Democratic side."

As I turned to leave the group one little fellow followed me, saying: "Don't forget to put in something about Noddy Boffin (Master George Mann, of Michigan) and Rev. Dr. Ed ward Bailey, of Georgia, the boy who says 'fo'teen' and 'deed I did,' and 'tote for carry; and don't forget Hadji Hasseir son of Captain Bassett, the boy that ate was pate de fois gras."

"And say," he added, "you ain't

"Why not?" "Well, they ain't in our class, you cnow.

There is as much distinction ame boys between a Senate page and a House page as there is among men between a Senator and a member of the WILLIS B. HAWKINS.

ARE NOT CANNIBALS,

Rut Have Keen Delight in the Taking of Human Life--A Strange Tribe in the Interior of Africa Which Has Many Curious and Hiceous Customs-Queer Way of Settling Quarrels. Herbert Ward, in the interesting series of African articles now appearing Situated about six hundred miles in Young Harry Long never tires of tell-ing what a kindly man Senator Farwell go, is a fire, fertile country, wellthe interior from the mouth of the Conwooded and watered, where every kind and opened the eyes of the youthful buffaloes, hippopotami, antelopes, wild to be met with in abundance on the "Why," said the boy, all aglow with grassy plains or among the forested hills gratitude, "he not only invited me to of this district, which is known as Bohis house, but he paid all my expenses." lobo, and is populated by a large and Senator Vance is voted the jolliest of influential tribe of keen traders. These tral Africa.

all the work for him." Fred answers to the name of Swipes and says he is sure it will never offend his dignity, not even when he becomes a Senator, to be known by that pseudonym.

In the bestowal of nicknames the senator, to be with the lads.

They seem to take the keenest delight in the sacrifice of human life, and the always wanting something," said one of the lads.

"Yes; and it's always something out this is a thickly-peopled country, some side of the chamber," said another, dark deed of barbarism is taking place "I've worn a path running to the docu- almost every day, in connection with ent room for him."
their inhuman ceremonies. Sometimes "You bet, when Senator Cockrell claps sieves are decapitated upon the death his hands," said a third, "we all try to of chief, so that their spirits may ac-find something else to do. He ought to company that of the deceased potentate have a page all to himself." Senator Jones, of Arkansas, is an- the form of a spiritual retinue. At other one who needs a great deal of other times a slave is brutally slaughtered by an enraged master for some slight act of disobedience. In > hacked from his body. One of their most cruel ceremonies is that in connection with the settlement "No," piped a wee chap, "heain't so- of long standing disagreements. It often happens that two sections of a which I have at last become habituated tribe for some family reason entertain —a ladies' tailor, near Bond street. Senator Hiscock is not verypopular tribe for some family reason entertain among the pages. They say e seems a bitter grudge against each other. 'sort o' tired of every thing and every- This bitterness lasts until perhaps one or more of the influential members die, Some time ago the pages ormed a when the rest of the community, weary senate of their own. For some reason of the feud, decide amongst themselves they excluded Masters Moody, long and to come to a settlement. A council of Harris, whereupon these three ganized inquiry is accordingly held, and the most influential chiefs of the surroundselling speeches to the Senators who the representatives of the two parties at ing country are invited to attend, and variance have then the opportunity of Senator?" I asked one of the small boys.

I was rather set back by his answer.
"I'd call up the Blair education bill milty and ingest a senator is passed." he call the senator is the component of the assembled bliefs, who decide which party is and have it passed." he call the component is the component of the senator is the component of the call the component is the component of the call the nature of the case. And when this nore; "we all wanted that bill to pass."

I learned afterwards, however, that her did not are a feet and the control of the case. And when this his been satisfactorily concluded, some incident is required by both parties to they did not care a fig for the merits of the bill. They had seen Senator Blair's earnestness in the matter and his repeated disappointments over its failure. peated disappointments over its failure, pen, well-known road, generally a rather be pages or Senators, all but one agreed that generally they would prefer to be pages, "because we pages have a heap more fun than the Senators do." face. Any person found giving him Little flaxen-haired, blue-eyed Warner either food or water is liable to be Moody, however, looked up and spoke served in the same way, and so he is with a quaint dignity and thoughtful left to die a lingering, painful death.

GAVE HIM A JOB.

Traveling Fakir (in one breath)-The small box I hold in my hand contains however, is what the boys call "the nothing more nor less than the greatest invention of the age. It is known as Bosh's Famous Corn Remover. I am it, for the small sum of one dime, the tenth part of a dollar. It is war-Farmer-Say, old man, we've hauled a lot of corn away last week; but if yer want to remove about two loads of cobs, yer will find 'em in that crib behind the barn.-Light.

Let the Cat Out of the Bag. Little Maude-How can money fly, Mr. Golden? It hain't got wings. Mr. Golden-Why, what makes you ask such a question, Maudy? Little Maude-Only 'cause I heard sister Pearl say she'd make your money fly when she got you.-West Shore. The Habit Justified. Parrott-Tell me, Grafton, why do you always wear a single eye-glass? Grafton-Well, to tell you the truth,old fellow, it's to conceal my glass eye .-

EVERYBODY'S business is nobody's husiness except the busybody's.

Jones' Revenge. Muggins-Funniest thing happened other day-Jones was trying to make his mule drink out of a bucket, when the animal kicked him. Cobb-Ah, then did Jones kick the Muggins-No, he kicked the bucket --

HOW SHALL LADIES RIDE? Mrs. Grundy Says They Shall Not Ride as Gentlemen, Astride-The New Rid

There have been whispered hints in the boudoirs of Belgravia, says the London Daily Graphic, as well as the back drawing-rooms of Bayswater, that something shocking would happen at the meet of either the coaching or four-inhand clubs. As the guardian of society coprieties, I need hardly tell you that I followed with the keenest interest the discussion in your columns relative to a revolution in riding, and made myself thoroughly au fait with all the arguments in favor of existing conditions.

Will you judge of my consternation

when I learned that some audacious creatures-I can hardly write that they were females-actually intended to ap-

THE NEW RIDING DRESS FOR LADIES. pear in the park on one of these crowd ed occasions clad in attire worse than any of your most dreadful correspondents suggested. It was my duty, therefore, to see these clothes. I found them being made at one of those establishments to My feelings were shocked at the outset of my inquiries by finding that in the habit-fitting room the usual side-saddle upon the hobby-horse had been removed and a man's saddle had taken its place. The garments were brought down by a male tailor, who proceeded to exhibit them to me, and shortly afterward a young person connected with the shop entered wearing them.

She wore a coat fashioned exactly after the manner of my nephew's freek coat. It fitted her very closely to the waist, opening at the neck over a shirt and tie. The basques or skirt of the coat were somewhat longer and more ample than in the case of a gentleman's rement, but I assure you that that was trot all over the house doing this and tad only compromise in the matter.

The breeches-I believe that is the dreadful name that the other garments go by-were tight to the limbs and buttoned at the knee. High boots and obscure but accessible corner, for the rs and a tall hat con which I can only regard as a shockingly correct copy of what would be worn by one of the other sex. In fact, at a little distance I do not see how you could tell a brother and sister apart. Now, sir, I venture to predict that the British public, who are strong admirers of my views at heart, will resent this innovation strongly. I used, in common, to believe with most people, to imagine that it constituted a misdemeanor at common law for man and woman to change the clothing assigned by conventionality to their sex for that of the other. My nephew, a learned barrister, assures me that such is not strictly the case, but as any person or persons wearing the garments of the other sex is practically certain to be followed by rightly surprised people, he or she is liable to immediate arrest as "a disorderly person," and to be charged with the offense of causing a crowd to assemble. I need not point out the sensation that ladies thus habited would cause in the park. This would be, indeed, an undignified end to the movement. I remain, sir, yours obediently, AMELIA GRUNDY.

Endurance of the Odor of Musk.

Many marvelous accounts are related in works on pharmacy and organic chemistry, with regard to the extraordinary duration of the scent of musk, and the extremely small loss of substance which a grain or two of this substance, exposed to the air, has been found to undergo in the course of several months, or even years. But an instance of this endurance of the musk odor has come under our personal observation in the following manner. In 1850, at Brussels, three small volumes were presented to us. They were bound in red cloth, and inclosed in a green cardboard case. In this case a very minute quantity of musk mixture, from a sachet, was placed in order to scent the volumes. Since the year 1850, these three little red volumes, in their green cardboard case, have been constantly exposed to the air, on the shelves of a library, as well as to daylight. They have been in constant, almost daily use (for they are standard works of reference), and they have traveled with the writer to Ostend, to Paris, to Frankfort, to Scotland, to the South of England, to various seaside resorts, to London, and many other places; yet, at the present moment, after a period of forty years, and being exposed to many kinds of climates, these little books retain their odor of musk, which is as powerful, especially on warm days, as it was in 1850 when the volumes were received.

She Agreed with Him. Emerson Waldo (of Boston)-I do so despise petty personal remarks. There are so many lofty and elevating subjects on which cultured minds may converse-literature, art, science and the broad field of metaphysics. Don't you agree with me, Miss Platte? Miss Platte (of Omaha)-You bet I do, Mr. Waldo. But do look at Mrs. Laker over there; she walks as it she had corns.-Light.

Some Other Evening. Clara-Well, to tell the truth, dear Charley-Frank-Charley?

Clara-I mean, Frank. I declare, how absent-minded I am. I thought it was Thursday evening instead of Wednesday .- Texas Siftings.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Salt eaten with nuts aids digestion. -Milk which stands too long makes bitter butter. -Ivory black stirred in ordinary shel-lac varnish makes a brilliant black varnish for iron stoves and fireplaces. -To clean vinegar bottles and cruets crushed egg shells in a little water are and handier. -Paint stains that are dry and old may be removed from cotton or woolen goods with chloroform. First cover the

as good as shot, besides being healthier spot with olive oil or butter. -Southern Potato Pudding: One pint grated raw potatoes, half pound brown sugar, quarter pound butter, two eggs; stir constantly while baking; when done leave in stove long enough to brown a little.—Old Homestead.

-Celery Salad: Two bunches of celery, one tablespoonful salad (or olive) oil, four tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful each of salt and pepper. Lay celery in cold water two hours; cut into one inch lengths and pour over dressing made of the other ingredients. -Detroit Free Press.

-Peeling potatoes, apples and other vegetables and fruits will discolor the hands. Borax water is excellent to remove stains and heal scratches and chafes. Put crude borax into a large bottle and fill with water. When dissolved add more to the water until at last the water can absorb no more, and particles can be seen at the bottom.

-Breakfast or supper dish: Chop fine cold potatoes and meat left from dinner, add one chopped onion, season with pepper and salt, pour over it a half cup of good vinegar; put in some heated butter and lard mixed, just enough to well cover the bottom of your skillet, then cover tightly while cooking. Serve quite hot.—Farm and Fireside.

-Prof. Fernald reports that an ant hill near a house, which was doing much damage to the lawn, was exterminated, by making holes in the hill fifteen inches apart with a small stick and pouring two or three teaspoonfuls of bisulphate of carbon into each hole; after which all the holes were closed up and the earth pressed down by stepping on it. -A very sensible "household physician" makes these suggestions for the benefit of women who are always "tired": Never eat heartily when "tired to death." Drink a cup of tea and eat a cracker or two, or beat up an egg in half a pint of milk, sweeten and flavor to taste and drink it. This will strengthen you, and will not make any demands upon your weary stomach or digestive organs. And another thing: Do not rise early in the morning and seeing to that for hours before you eat any thing.-Good Housekeeping.

-Every room of every house should contain a neat cloth duster, kept in an special use and behoof of the mistress. says the Domestic Monthly. Her vigilant eye will from time to time detect gray films on piano keys, lampshade, or vase handle, no matter how faithful her deputies. She will do well to have the remedial agent ever at hand. The tiny, long-stemmed bunches of soft cock's feathers, sold for five cents each at Japanese stores, are invaluable for deftly reaching into those provoling nooks which usually remain unnoticed until a malicious sunbeam gilds their dust deposit. Feather dusters in servants' hands are often deadly weapons; but the housekeeper can save her own time and strength by keeping them within easy reach.

RAT EXTERMINATION.

A Simple Method for Destroying Large Colonies of the Rodents. The best course to take, when the extermination of a colony of rats becomes a necessity, is to make them help to destroy one another in the following manner: A number of tubs, proportionate to the quantity of rats in the place which it is desired to rid of them, should be placed about, the middle of each occupied by a brick standing on end. The bottom of these tubs should be covered with water to such a depth that about an inch of the brick projects above it. The top of the tub should be covered with stout brown paper, upon which a dainty meal of bacon rind and other scraps dear to the rat palate figures-a sloping board giving the rodents facilities for partaking of it. The feast should be renewed for several nights, so that all the rats in the neighboorhood may get to know of the good food which is placed within such easy reach. When it is judged that this policy has been pursued long enough, the center of the brown paper should be cut in such a manner that any rat venturing upon it. will be precipitated into the cold water. It might be thought that the result of this would be to capture a rat, or at the most two, for every tub prepased; but no such meager reward for the trouble that has been taken need be feared. The first rat to find his trust abused the bottom of a tub soon recovers sufficently from the shock to ascertain that there is a little island of refuge, on to which he clambers and squeals his loudest for help. Now, the squeal of a ratin trouble attracts every one of his kind within hearing, and very few moments will elapse before the victim of misplaced confidence is joined by one of his friends. The new-comer is as quick todiscover the chance of escape from a watery grave that the brick offers as was the original victim, but when he attempts to avail himself of its presence it becomes apparent that there is not room for more than one upon it. The first comer resists with tooth and nail the efforts of his companion in trouble to dispossess him of his coign of vantage, and the squeals which form an accompaniment to the fight for a footing upon the brick attracts more rats to the scene of the tragedy. The conflict waxes more and more furious as rat after rat topples into the water, and by morning draggled corpses in plenty will gladden the eyes of the man whose losses at the teeth of rats have induced him to adopt this means of thinning their numbers. Some years ago the plan described above was tried in a city warehouse, with the result that more than three thousand rats were destroyed in a single night -Cornhill Magazine.

and himself struggling in the water at

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

AUNT MAG'S EXPERIENCE.

Why She Won't "Tone Up" on Rock and Rye or Madeira and Beef. "Did you want me to go nussin', ma'am? I'm glad I'm not needed in that line, as I've my hands full here at home. A young fellow was hurt by a bank cavin' in on him while diggin' on a side hill, and they brought him to me, knowin' I'm allus glad to be able to airn an honest penny an' stay at home. The comp'ny pays all his bills.

"'Po I give him tonics, an' somethin' strengthenin'?' Yes'm, I does.

"You've heerd rock an' rye was a great strengthener-um-yes. Not a drop of the rye has that pore boy tasted kin have all the rock he wants, an' if he maged over the rye, but I beat 'em an' they had to hold their wrath.

"Jes' listen, an' I'll tell you why I'm so down on rock an' rye. I hain't allus been pore an' lived in a little house, as once I had a good husband an' four promisin' sons, who kept me real com-

"Consumption took off my busband, cough. Good old port, with a raw egg Goschen denies having used any such beaten in it, we had for Willie, then another sort o' wine with raw beef chopped in it, come next, an', ma'am, I was so foolish as to think the red flush on his cheek meant the honest red belongin' to returnin' health, so I kept givin' it to him, keepin' the peor boy half drunk with wine. I had to give him up. Oh, those were bitter times! I felt that my God had forsaken me in my darkest hours. Past experience hadn't taught me to throw away such deceivin' medicine, so I began to dose Eddy with brandy an' loaf sugar, takin' great pains to get apple or peach brandy of 'great age and purity' (?) which cost more than I was able to pay. One thing hated it, never hunted it up of his own accord, as did John an' Willie.

"You can guess what a sore heart I carried when I was forced to see Eddy. just turned seventeen, fadin' away. Every day he grew a little weaker, an' thinner, but was always patient an' lovin'. The priceless (?) brandy didn't save him, an' one winter morning there was a fourth grave dug under the row of cedars that my mothers hands had planted long ago, in old Mount Zion church-yard. "I made an idol of Gilbert, the last was a winnin' lad. Oh, the pity, the pity!" and the large, almost masculine figure for the moment swayed with emo-

We looked about us and saw that bare and poor as the small room was, it was very, very neat and clean, though Aunt Mag hadn't an over-supply of time to spare from her "washin', ironin' and animals and content with a brutal existence. looking after her own home.

"Gilbert," she resumed, "learned fast, and got to be a telegraph operator, and his office was in the little depot, just across the way; you can see it from the east window. But his work was night work, an' it's wearin' on a young boy to up all the night. He was lookin' to get the day job. When he began to get peaked an' thin-faced, I fixed up the most temptin' lunches I knew how to get up, but he kept losin' appetite an' flesh, an' one mornin' he fell faintin' at my feet. Somebody said: 'Get him rock and rye: that is the very best medicine prepared for debilitated folks. The rye will brace them up, the glycerine and rock candy is soothin' to the igh.' I got the rock and rye. Gilbert liked it. I had no trouble to get him to swallow his medicine.

'It's doing me good, mother; I can work all night and not get tired,' said he, and I began to hope that there wouldn't be a fifth grave soon, dug under the cedars. That bottle had to be re-filled right away; we hadn't the money to get it as often Gilbert wanted it, and then he was angry with me for being so stingy. I was frightened when it was too late, but my pleadin's the door discharged from his position. 'For what, son?' I asked, and a thrill of pain shot through my heart as I read in the superintendent's letter that someshould be sober and trustworthy.'

"After that he wasn't long in fallin' to the lowest notch. How fast he went, and I couldn't stay his course one little moment, though my heart was breakin'. Soon he became known as that 'goodfor-nothing Gilbert Wade,' ready to do strong drink. any thing for a drink of liquor. One gathered at the depot waitin' for an ex- increasing evil of drink, have decided be insultin' and abusive, and there were | Catholic pulpit. others there who were not themselves. Some one said something Gilbert did dents of Toronto are total abstainers. not like, and he struck out his clenched | Canadian doctors are beginning to realhand, and there before my eyes, ohma'am. I can't tell you."

"Don't try," said we, trying to soothe the poor soul, who soon wiped away the and other poisons. blinding tears, and managed to tell us there.

own wickedness-in puttin'-the cupto his-lips-that's troublin' me. Say, the branches of those pines and cedars, nine years ago. I have never once been they sound like dirges. Their music, to the Lord's Table. I dare not lead even on sunny days, is so sad, sayin' to myself into temptation."

me over and over, 'the past is beyond recall,' but I know there is yet time with my Master to agree.

"Now, do you wonder that I mean to die fightin' old port and raw eggs, Madeira an' beef, apple brandy an' loaf sugar, whisky an' rock candy, an' to see to it that I don't help death overtake other right young men? I've set out to try to be a sort of a mother for several home less young fellers, that brings washin' to me. I watch 'em, an' lecture 'em, but they seem to like plain old aunt Mag, for all o' that."—Ella Guernsey, in Union Signal.

JOHN BURNS' LETTER.

The English Labor Leader Says That Short Hours Bring Temperance Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, one day sence he has be'n in my hands; but he last month addressed the National Temperance Congress in New York City on has a sweet tooth, that'll be considera-ble. The doctors an' me have scrim-the Liquor Traffic." In his speech he claimed that the movement for shorter hours of labor was a Temperance move ment. Leander Thompson contradicted the statement and claimed that the Chancellor of the English Exchequer, havin' to work lively for daily bread, Mr. Goschen, had said that the reduction of the hours of labor in England had only tended to increase the drinking habits of the workmen. Mr. Gompers immediately wrote to Mr. Goschen an' John, the oldest boy, soon followed and John Burns. He asked the former him, an' you wouldn't blame me for tryin' any an' every remedy I ever heerd of when Willie an' Eddy took a

> John Burns made a more extended reply, as follows: □No. 108 Lavender Hill, Battersea, Lon DON. June 28, 1890.—Dear Sir: The Chancellor of the Exchequer did not say that the increase in wages and reduction of hours of labor of the dock laborers of London had merely tended to increase their drunkenness and largely contrib-ated to an increase in the Treasury from the liquor trame. His statement that the increase of 2,000,000 was due to the fact that the people had been toasting the prosperity of trade in the country. He had no reference to any class, but expression.

did say that there had been agreat increase in the duty from rum.

I attended a meeting last night of 6,000 dock laborers, and asked those who ought to know what was the effect of higher wages and better more than I was able to pay. One thing conditions, and the universal opinion was that comforts me, Eddy never learned to tlike it. All through his sickness he hated it, never hunted it up of his own conduct of the dockers, and more than pleased at the diminution, not only of drinking, but of Tillett and others, are Temperance men. The greatest enemies I have in London ar

The greatest enemies I have in London are the betting men and publicans. Their enmity is a testimony to this fact, that as we ask for reduction of hours for more leisure and education we urge the men to spend their higher wages in home comforts. In twenty years the amount spent on liquor per head of population has decreased 20 per cent., while the aggregate has increased through growth of population. In England, as elsewhere, the short hours' nt has always tended to sobriety an one left. No, it wasn't right, but I did it, feelin' rebellious when the thought would come: 'He'll go the same way the the meeting place from the "Pig and Whistle" to the Brown Bear, so that the publican to the Brown Bear, so that the publican thankful that he seemed strong in body. His limbs were straight, and he had a handsome face. My Gilbert, the baby, £20 to take the meeting away, as the drink consumed does not pay him to have the meeting there.

At boat races, bean feasts, holiday gather At boat races, bean feasts, holically gather ings, etc., the change in the drinking habits is most marked. Side by side with the demand for shorter hours is also the demand for free libraries, parks and open spaces, gymnasia, cricket and foot-ball grounds. Leisure to-day The rich man who drinks does so because he has nothing better to do. This means that the poor man who provides him with the means for drinking has to work longer hours than he should, and, as a consequence, often heals the monotony of his toil by bouts of drinking, the cause of which the eight hour advocates are going to remove by equalizing the labor of both. Thus the lazy man will have something to take an interest in, while the previously overworked slave will have re without which manhood and its best characteristics are impossible. Yours trul JOHN BURNS.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

WESLEY called the money received in exchange for drink "blood money." EVERY American woman in the min ing town of Bisbee, Arizona, wears the white ribbon. No man has yet climbed the ladder of fame on rounds of drinks. - Binghamton Leader. WHEN the father takes in beer and the mother takes in washing, the children are apt to take in the gutter, the poorhouse and the prison. THE world is full of men who do more for the saloon-keeper's family than they do for their own children. Are you one of them?-Ram's Horn. A BUG trying to run its head into were in vain, and one day he came in at a gaslight is about as wise as the man who thinks now and then a drink won't hurt him .- Ram's Horn. A LARGE percentage of persons afflicted with sun-strokes are those adbody had complained: 'He was no longer to be trusted, an' telegraph operators men are very liable to be prostrated by the heat. SIR STEVENS BLACKWOOD said lately that during the fifteen years of secretaryship to the British post-office, he knew of 1,000 officials of that department who had been actually ruined by

THE C. T. A. News says that the Enmornin' there was an unusual crowd glish bishops, realizing the fearfully cursion train, and I sat at the window that the first Sunday of each month watchin' Gilbert, with a great fear in shall hereafter be devoted to the premy heart; he was just drunk enough to sentation of Temperance from every

> SIXTY per cent. of the medical stuize the danger in prescribing alcoholics so freely, and to see the necessity of placing them on the shelf beside arsenic

AT a gospel meeting in Castletown, a her "boy was murdered while she sat Manx fisherman known to be a true Christian said: "In early life I was a "Its not only the misery of havin' the slave to strong drink; but through the boy die in such-such-Oh-its-my- instrumentality of the Temperance movement I was led to give it up. subsequently became converted to God, -am-I-the murderer-of my poor and, longing to obey His almost last boy?" she wailed, and we could not com- command: "Do this in remembrance of Me,' I went to the communion. The in-"I'm tryin' to be a good woman, an' stant I tasted the wine, so highly was look up, not down, but, ma'am, on stormy it charged with alcohol, the old longnights when the winds sweep through | ing came back, and from that moment,

GIRLS' NAMES CHANGE.

The Decline of Susan, Mary, Jane and All the Old Favorites. The roll of honor in the public school The roll of honor in the public school acter took place recently at the Bicetre Lunatic Asylum, which was only put study the present fashion in girls' names. down by the arrival of the soldiery. The names of our mothers and grandSome of the dangerous lunatics had ap-tury, are out of favor to-day.

In nearly a thousand names there is no Nancy (extremely popular in the last century), and but a single Martha and cell. Having opened the cell of four-teen of his companions, all of them who had heard a railway official answer who were the same constitution for an old lady six age, but a number of Jennies and Jeanciated. It is said that one-third of the omen and girls of France are Maries. It is different in New Orleans, where number of Mollies and Mamies, and overdid the business, and Marie became as common as Mary, which may account creole parentage who bear the English form of the name "Mary."

Shakespeare's names are coming in as fashionable, even at this late day. There were more Violas on the roll of with fixed payonets, arrived from the honor of the public school than Janes, Bicetre for the lunatics became more Kates, Emilys, Ellens, Nancys, Margarets, Carolines, Marthas, Marias, Susans and Sarahs together. The name is fashionable just now, but we are afraid its popularity will not last long, for our and have doomed it to the same fate as Violet and Pinkie. Stella is a good second, and Mabel, Ethel, Alma, Daisy, Luella, Loretta, Edna and Rita follow as in most favor just at present. Any one of them will discount Susan, Sarah or Jane many times over, and even lead Mary.

is getting rather antiquated. ciful names of the last century as Amanda and Malvina are also going out, Hazel, which came in with Hazel Kirke some dozen years ago, did not "stick" and is not increasing. "Birdie" has been laughed out and is less common than ten years ago; indeed, a number of Birdies have converted it into Bertie. ceived. Pearl, Pearlie and Perle are Rose will do but Rose itself, for there are Rosellas, Rosettas, Roselias and Shakespeare, as we have said, is a prime favorite for female names. His Viola leads them all in New Orleans, and even Ophelia is quite common among the girls, notwithstanding that lady's unhappy fate; but apparently no mother has had the courage to name her daughter Desdemona. The opera has given given us Aida, Norma and Carmenwhich seem to have crept in of late-all rather inappropriate names, taking the lives of these ladies into consideration. Longfellow's Priscilla has but a single representative on the roll. Secessia recalls the late war; but how is it that Secessia is attending the public schools at this late day!

But of pure fancy names, picked up here and there from novels or poems, or possibly "thought out," there is no

It will be seen that if any one can suggest a good name for a girl, there are dozens of mothers prepared to adopt it at once. If the present tendency continues, Sarah and Susan will become so rare in another generation that they will sound sweet to us again and be honored by our grandchildren as they were by our grandfathers. We feel it necessary to warn godmothers that the Viola, Stella and Daisy racket is being overworked .- N. O. Times-Democrat.

A FAMOUS INVENTOR. Glimpse of Dr. Guitlotin and His Head-

Lopping Machine. Guillotin himself, as well as his machine, was a good deal pictured on a cheap delf. A miniature of him has come down with other flotsam and jet-sam of the revolution. It gives we the sam of the revolution. It gives us the idea of a correct, judicious practitioner with the half-closed eve of one who is mentally thinking out some problem. He was always improving his surgical instruments in order to abridge pain by rapidity in operation, and thought to minimize it at capital executions. The principal of equality was to be demonstrated by the guillotine, since king. nobles and sans culottes were to lose their heads by Dr. Guillotin's process. His small model of his head-lopping machine is near his miniature, and "is quite equal to cutting off a man's finoblige visitors. Sampson, the public executioner, we find, took snuff. His snuff box, of plain brass, is on view also. Further on are gruesome relics, such, for instance, as a handkerchief steeped in Marie Antoinette's blood. Instruments of torture, which fell into disuse forever at the revolution, are grouped around the guillotine, which, perhaps was used as much as it was by the revolutionists because it was a novelty. It killed in the twinkling of an Finishing off the King and Queen gave it prestige and made it the rage as a gratis spectacle. An old evil is most dangerous in a new form .- Contempor-

-Set a small box of lime in the pantry and it will help to keep it dry and such an eloquat roasting.—America. the air pure.

MUTINY OF MADMEN.

Stalwart Keepers Placed Hors de Combat During the Riot. A mutiny of an extraordinary charmothers, largely Biblical and univers-largely Biblical and univers-peared more excited than usual, owing to the sultry weather, and one of them,

Maria. Jane has gone almost out of use, there being but two recorded, and, walking up and down on guard. The times in fifteen minutes. strange to say, both of French parent- lunatics then laid siege to the nearest nettes survive. There is one Emily, one Charlotte, no Catherine, but two Kates, and innumerable Katies, which they went up to the keepers' sleeping-places. seems to be the latest form that Cath- and, seizing all the razors, hammers erine has taken—Catherine, Kate, Katie. and other dangerous instruments which Sarah, very popular fifty years ago, has they could find, redescended into the practically disappeared in favor of Sallie and Sadie. Caroline is also out of fashion, superseded by Carrie and should interfere with them. One of the Lena. Susan does not boast a single keepers—a M. Petit—received a blow of Susies; and Elizabeth has retired his arm, but his colleague succeeded from service in favor of Lizzie. There eventually, at the risk of their are but three Margarets, but plenty of lives, in cutting off the retreat of the Marguerites, and some Margarettas madmen by shutting them up in the quadrangle. The Governor, M. Pinon, still quite popular.

Mary has been thought the most free to quiet the rioters; but he was threatquent female name, being both euphonious and pleasantly and honorably assopare his life if he went down on his spare his life if he went down on his knees and begged pardon of all the inmates As M. Pinon refused to do this, the number of Marys is very small and him, but a keeper threw himself before growing smaller every day. There are the Governor, and received the pot and not a few Maries; indeed at one time it and his pen then withdrew, and sent looked as if all the Anglo-Saxon Marys for the polce and troops. The Inspector would be gallicized into Marie, but so of Police, who arrived first, found the many became converted that it rather madmen staddling across a wall, where they were brandishing their razors and for the number of girls of French or bardment or rubbish, stones and bricks. subjecting art of the asylum to a bom-Joly, when called upon to surrender, cried out: 'We are outside the law; we are madmen, and you can't do any turned upon the hose and gave the maniacs a fev shower baths. This was followed by avolley of blank cartridges, olored fellow citizens have taken to it, They descended from their wall, and allowed themselves to be handcuffed. After that the most obstreperous were put into strait-waistcoats. Four of the keepers were placed hors de combat during the riot, while a sum of twenty pounds in bank notes, belonging to one of the asylum attendants, was destroyed Ruby, quite in favor fifteen years by the lunatics.-London Globe. HOW TO SEE EUROPE. Do Not Stop at the Hotels Recommended in the Guide-Books. If you travel abroad to see Europe, it is Europe you want to see, and not a cong omerate of Europe and America, made such by the tourist and his denands. To do this leave the beaten Birdies have converted it into Bertie.

Gladys is apparently forcing its way to the front, and promises to be well received. Pearl. Pearlie and Perla are tries and people you visit. Bedford's also coming in, and nearly any form of Migazine wisely says: "The American should not go to the hotels most highly recommended in the > guide-books. In every European city there are plenty of excellent quarters to be had, where the local fashion, both in habit and table, is retained, and where visitors can domicile with entire convenience and security. The traveler who expects to stop, even for a single night, will do well to seek out some "pension" or unfashionable hotel for a lodgingdue recommendation, of course, having been secured. He will thus be in a situation to observe somewhat of the domestic and work-a-day features of his environement and have something left to pay for the next entertainment. It is a costly variety to travel only in firstclass railway carriages. American tourists, by using second-class carraiges, and thus mingling with the masses of the people among whom they are moving, doing and faring as they do, will not only save money, but have a far better time. While the course prescribed does involve some tramping and labor, Americans who are able to go three thousand miles from home, should be equal to the exercise demanded. In doing it they wiil find that with improved digestion, and correspondingly improved spirits and temper, their capacity to enjoy what they see will be surprisingly enlarged." A Ball of Dancing Birds. In his "Pioneering in South Brazil," Mr. Brigg-Wither relates that one morn- regiments to see that tobacco rations be ing in the dense forest his attention was witness a very curious sight. Cautiously | the luxury. time, and was satisfied they were havmore News.

Why She Liked Him Mrs. Grundy-And how do you like the new clergyman? Mrs. Scrooge-O, I think he's just splendid. Mrs. Grundy-Do his sermons appeal to you? Mrs. Scrooge-No-n-no; but oh, how KINDLY COURTESY.

Cheery People Who Make Life Seen Pleasant in All Circumstances "I grease the wheels of life with money," said a wealthy man, "and my wife does it with politeness. She gets along with far less friction than I do. however."

There are natures so gracious that the patience and kindliness of good-breed-

the same question for an old lady six "Why, she didn't understand!" replied rooms, and broke windows, chairs, tables he, simply, evidently a little surprised went up to the keepers' sleeping-places, contrast to his forbearance stands the speech of the sea-captain, irritated by an oft-repeated query. "Is it always foggy off the Banks?"

asked a passenger, guiltless of a suspicion that he might offend. "How do I know sir?" snarled the "I'm not always off the captain. Banks."

A gentleman who one day lost his temper over some blunder of a workman, and spoke his mind, not only freely but violently, that night professed him self ashamed of the outbreak. "O, well, papa, I dare say he didn't mind," said a too aristocratic listener. 'Those people are probably used to being abused by their superiors. "I'm not his superior," said the gen tleman, testily. "I was very palpably Joly hurbd a flower-pot full of earth at his inferior this afternoon. I lost my temper, and he kept his. I rated him like a fishwife, and though he looked as its contens on his chest. The Governor if he would have liked to knock me down, he answered with perfect polite-

> There is no more unmistakable sign of good-breeding than patience and good-humor in trying circumstances. A lady who, with a friend, had been making her way through a rough and ostling crowd, said that after the experience was over, she turned to see now her companion had borne it.

"I was in a state of burning indignation at having been pushed and almost trampled on," said she. "But Mary! She was as sweet as a May morning, and exasperated, whereupon the keepers placid as a summer sky. I thought she must have been better treated than I. but on looking more closely, I found she was patiently holding up her skirt which had been torn from the waist, and that her cherished parasol was lost. Doubtless the one woman was quite as uncomfortable as the other, but Mary knew how to meet the ills of life, and her friend had not yet learned. All honor to her who meets not only great sorrows but daily misfortunes with a cheerful countenance! She is the genfriends and family. "Are you quite well, Jennie?" asked an anxious mother, who had reached her daughter's home to find it invaded by scarlet fever. 'Yes, dear, except that my face aches.' "Your face? From your teeth?" "No, mamma, from smiling. You see, not only are the children sick, but the water-pipes have burst, there's a church quarrel to be settled, I've scorched the front of my new cashmere, and Alfred has had so many headaches this week that he couldn't write his sermon. So you see things have been so very disheartening that I've been obliged to smile, in order not to cry." It was the same cheery little woman who smiled brighly when a clumsy fellow stepped on her dress, in a public hall, and tore in it one of those threecornered rents before which even the most patient mender trembles. "O, never mind," said she, sweetly, and apparently forgot all about the occurrence. Half the next day, however, was devoted to matching, darning and concealing the darn, but the work was all done to the accompaniment of a cheerful little song .- Youth's Compan-

ABUSE OF TOBACCO. A Reform Society Begs for Legal Recognition in France. The Society Against the Abuse of Tobacco-to give it its proper style and title-is just now distinguishing itself by an unusual display of energy. It is about to present a petition to the Chamber of Deputies asking that a law shall be passed forbidding boys—and it is to be presumed girls as well-under sixteen years of age to smoke. It has also sent a deputation to the Minister of War begging him not to permit soldiers to indulge in the fragrant weed in their own rooms. Not content with this, the society has also requested M. de Freycinet to instruct the commanders of not distributed to non-smokers as well roused by the unwonted sound of a bird | as to lovers of the pipe, the cigar or the singing-songsters being rare in that cigarette-as is said to be the case in making their way through the dense un- It might have been assumed that if dergrowth, they finally came in sight of young people under the age of sixteen a small stony spot of ground, at the end | were not able to look after themselves, of a tiny glade, and on this spot, some their seniors, who donned their red on the stone and some on the shrubs, breeches, the kepi or the helmet, were assembled a number of little birds, might at least be supposed to have arabout the size of tomtits, with lovely rived at the years of discretion. The blue plumage and red topknots. One society, however, entertains a different was perched quite still on a twig, sing-ing merrily, while the others were keep-anti-tobacconists have over shot the ing time with wings and feet in a kind | mark, yet, as a matter of fact, there is of dance, and all twittering an accom- no doubt the weed is becoming daily paniment. He watched them for some more popular with juveniles, who, although they can hardly be described as ger," a policeman says, who works it to ing a ball and concert and thoroughly babes and sucklings, have barely enenjoying themselves. Then they became | tered into the stage of boyhood and girlalarmed, and the performance termin-ated abruptly, the birds all going off to quently to be seen investing in cigarhood. Children of tender years are fredifferent directions. The natives told ettes, and even in cigars, at the differhim that these little creatures were ent shops where tebacco and postage known as the "dancing birds."—Balti-stamps are sold under the auspices of the authorities, and it is by no means unusual, especially in the districts inhabited mainly by the working classes, to see youngsters of seven or eight trying to keep a cigarette alight - a series of rapid puffs being varied with a vast amount of expectoration .- Paris Letter.

- First Boy-"You get 34t. My father is the president of a horse railroad." the does go for the woman next door and Second Boy—"You get out. My father the woman across the street. It does is the janitor of an apartment hotel." my heart good to hear those critters get First boy slinks away humbly.—Boston COURTESIES TO TRAVELERS. Experiences of Three Ladies While "Do-ing" the Tour of Europe.

A party of three ladies recently traveling abroad met with the kindest courtesy from all, even from the proverbially cicle-like Englishman. In the lake country, Oxford professors jumped out of the wagonette, and, picking big bouquets of English cowslips and primoses, gave the youngest member of the party a delightful lesson in botany; in Rydal, the home of Wordsworth was made doubly interesting by the conversation of a Welsh clergyman on top of the coach, who jumped down as they passed Grasmere churchyard, where the poet lies buried, and, not finding the sexton with the key of the gate, daringly jumped the low churchyard fence and helped his companion over that she might have time to pick a yellow primrose from the poet's grave before the coach started. In Rouen an old French lady alighted from the "bus" and walked half a mile out of her way to show the American girl the way to the beautiful Gothic cathedral of St. Maclou. In Paris a most obliging young Englishman, whom she took at first for a Frenchman, stopped an immense wagonette with much trouble, and, seeing she was timid, escorted her across the crowded boulevard des Italiens to the door of the Hotel Splendide, making his conveyance wait. En route to Florence, a handsome young Venetian conductor, seeing she was traveling alone by night, reserved the whole of an eight-seat coupe for her without being requested, and, most, wondrous of all, refused all mention of a fee.

At Verona, the home of Romeo, a French gentleman, hurrying to catch his train, stopped to interpret her ques-tions to the ticket seller and inform her about the custom-house inspection, which is one of the most disagreeable things ladies traveling alone have to ncounter. Bowling along the shores of Lago Maggiore, an obliging French conductor on the roof of the diligence stopped the whole big coach-load, while the American girl hunted through the corridors of an immense hotel for an American "sandveech." Perhaps the funniest bit of genuine kindness was performed by a little Bolognese conductor, black-eyed, with something of the figure of a Bologna sausage. The express train had been rushing through tunnels all day; anxious to miss nothing, the girl had her head out of the window, until finally, overome by fatigue, she fell aleep with her head resting on the open window. A rapid stop in the immense station suddenly woke her. Looking at her watch, she saw it must be lunch time. She started out into the station toward the buffet; the conductor followed her, wild ly gesticulating and talking in shrill Italian. She offered her ticket; he shook his head, getting more excited. He tried French; no use; still he followed her. What could it be? The little man grew crimson with excitement and she more puzzled than ever. Finally a brilliant thought struck him; he put his hand in his pocket and pulled out—not a plum, but a big pocket-mirror and held it before her face. It told the story! black as the ace of spades! The kindness of the little Italian, by which he almost lost his dinner, had saved her a mortify-ing debut at the dinner table before her fellow-travelers.

All these little acts of kindness, given simply without any arriere pensee, for the traveler was neither very young nor goodlooking, show that ladies can travel in Europe safely and comfortably, and that the country where chivalry orig-inated has still enough of it left to smooth the path for womankind if she is, like Mrs. Gummidge, a "lone, lorn creatur." The memory of the numerous kindnesses shown to the party of three ladies by perfect strangers, whom they never expect to meet again in this world, forms one of the pleasantest pictures that hangs on the wall of memory of that European trip, whose every day, even without a man, was a constant pleasure .-- Epoch.

SEARCHING FOR PEARLS. How Illinois Streams Are Dragged for Gems of Great Price.

Some time during the first part of last June a small boy who had been paddling in the Pecatonica river, near Darlington, Lafayette County, Southern Wisconsin, brought to the surface what appeared to be a common fresh water clam, like those which abound along the shores of the Upper Mississippi and and other streams throughout the Northwest. Upon prying the shell open the lad found sticking to the inner surface a large pear-shaped substance, which on being detached was found to be of a lustrous hue when exposed to the light, and was white in color, with a smooth, polished surface. It was at once shown to a jeweler, who pronounced it a pearl of the purest quality and purchased the gem, paying for it the sum of $100. The jeweler, to make sure that he was correct in his judgment, took the specimen to Chicago, where it was carefully examined by an expert, whose decision corresponded with his own regarding the nature of the gem, and who fixed a price upon it double that which was paid by the Monroe jeweler.

The news of the find spread throughout that section and a few curious ones began an immediate search for shells, in both the Pectatonica and Plum rivers, and were rewarded by unearthing large numbers of them, many of which, on being opened, were found to contain pearls of various sizes, from a quarter of a carat to three carats in weight. By this time the excitement became intense, and scores of people, old and young, including both sexes, laid aside legitimate avocations and flocked to the above-mentioned streams and eagerly began the search for shells, using all sorts of utensils for the purpose, the rake being the most favored.

The streams being shallow their beds were easily explored, and hundreds of baskets and bags of the shells wer raked out and taken to the homes of the finders, where they were carefull opened. Many of them contained the coveted gems; some being of greater and some of less value. The most successful hunters were the Swedes and Scandinavians, who knew ust where to look for the shells. bitant prices were demanded for the gems by most hunters and as a result bundreds of them are still in the hands of the finders, who refuse to part with them for any thing like their real value. Galena (Ill.) Cor. Chicago Tribune.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL,

Editor and Proprietor. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy, one year ..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 5; cents per square for each additional invertion. Special centracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-d communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, AUG. 8, 1890.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES

The Republican voters of the several Election Districts of Garrett County are requested to assemble in Primary Meeting, ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1890, at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m.

for the purpose of selecting five delegates to represent each district in Oakland

ON WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1890, at the hour of 3 o'clock, p. m. to select delegates to the Congressional Nominating Convention at Oakland on

THUSDAY, AUGUST 21st, 1890. at the hour of 2 o'clock, p. m.

The primary meetings will also select three members of the County few days of the hot weather with critical in all his congressional exper-Central Committee in each district Gilbert Warnick, of this district. and report their names to the County Convention.

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

Show this paper to your neighbor. if he is not stready a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news should be without it.

Democrat has it, it will give us conductor on the 3rd Division of the rarely equaled and never surpassed. on the Tariff schedules in relation to iting her sister, Mrs. G. C. Patter- Republican in Western Maryland, Garrett County interests.

OARLAND, Mu., It seems, will have an electric light plant soon. wood Journal.

READ the interesting letters in thi week's REPUBLICAN, We call espec ial attention to the letter from Bloomington. It shows that Mr. McComas' popularity is growing with the intelligent miners and farmmers of District No. 4. IT SEEMS to be the studied effort of Barnes Compton, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee to draw the attention of the voters of Maryland from the Archer steal. the ignorance of Goy, Jackson and the shortcomings of Baughman, to National affairs. Why is it that Mr. Compton is so very busy that he cannot discuss the question at issue? We shall be glad to hear from the Democrat on this subject.

IT IS a lamentable fact that parties from Mt. Lake Park and Deer Park come from the above named places every night in the week -at all hours -to Oakland yelling like maniacs On last Sunday night, after all our citizens were asleep a party of the abovenamed genus drove into Oakland at break-neck speed, yelling laughing, ing the public form their slumbers. What is the matter with our municipal authorities? Are they not aware of these facts?

It seems as though these people can come to our quiet town at any time and make all the disturbance and noise they please.

Get a move on you, gentleman of this nuisance.

Hoyes. Eddie Friend returned home last week to attend Normal at Accident. On his way home he met with bad luck in losing his pocket-book which contained about $23. D. R. Smith, travelling salesman ciation, of Meyersdale, Pa., is home on a vacation.

Charles Thatcher, son of the Rev. here Tuesday evening, Aug. 5. W. A. Smith and wife were visiting friends and relatives in Oakland Saturday and Sunday.

Herbert Ferguson was visiting friends at Cranesville, W. Va.

MEETING TO BE HELD OAKLAND, AUGUST 21ST, 1890.

The following distinguished gentlemen have accepted invitations to be present and deliver addresses; Hon. Louis E. McComas,

Hon. J. Prentiss Dolliver, of Iowa. Hon. Binger Hermann, of Oregon. Among others who have been invited and who will undoubtedly attend are:

Gen. Nathan Goff, Hon, Stephen B. Elkins, Hon. Geo. L. Wellington, Hon. Milton G. Urner, Hon, Lloyd Lowndes, Hon. Edward Stake, Hon. Thomas A. Hodson,

Hon, Geo. A. Pearre. The meeting will be held immediately after the adjournment of the Congressional Convention. Steps have been taken to secure reduced rates on the B. & O.

Come, rain or shine. The meeting will be the grandest demonstration ever held in Garrett brings it his pocket-a good dinner if County. Come and hear the silver- you pay a big price for it, which we the County Convention to be held in tongued Dolliyer-the manly Her- can all afford to do, make up a promann—the popular McComas — the gramme so attractive that irresistible Goff. Come and help to of us will be able to esist. swell the crowd at the biggest meeting ever held in Western Maryland. COME! COME! COME!

Bloomington.

James Tichinell, of Rowlesburg, a tion of his thumb and forefinger,

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poland.

Miss Lydia Picket and family, of son, of this place, and her father, G. is due the political progress of the W. Kildow, of Piedmont, W. Va. | Sixth District. As the hattle feto be meeting was held in the grove ad- a strife among giants, no man is That shows progress, and the REPUB. joining the Duckworth church on last more capable, none more deserving LICAN can claim all the credit of this Sunday by the Rev. Howard of the than he in whose brain and conprogressive movement as it was the M. E. Church of this charge. In the science capacity and honesty meet in first to agitate the subject .- King- afternoon quite a large congregation their fullnes. was in attendance and much interest was manifested. Night Watchman Mooney, of the B. & O., between our town and Pied-Saturday night between the hours of twelve and one o'clock. Mr. Mooney has been a faithful employe of the to Friendsville last week. road and has served in this capacity the discharge of his duty. The only of lumber. intimation he had was a command to a revolver was thrust to his face. The "tariff is a tax." highwayman, after securing his watch and chain, quietly departed in the direction of Piedmont. He describes him as a young man, short in dressed. The above successful rob-Friday night. The robbers succeeded section. in cutting out two panes of glass in there was no evidence whatever that | tistics of this county. they had made an entrance. Mr. shouting and in other ways disturb- loss was no greater and as this is not heated term at her father's. a case of locking the door after the horse was stolen, has doubly secured Friendsville. all the weak points about his store

The Piedmont Pulp and Paper to suspend operations on Monday will preach the funeral sermon of will find next November the boys protest against the proposed expuland Tuesday of this week on account of scarcity of pulp wood. They have the Town Council, and put a stop to been running their extensive manu- spending the summer at her father's, factory day and night and in the 24 Chas. Murphy's. hours cut up from 36 to 40 cords of timber.

Mrs. Wm. A. Brydon.

narrowly escaped being crushed to country. for the Farmers' Hardware Asso- death last Monday afternoon. A timber truck heavily loaded with oak | to Elk Garden a few days ago. lumber jumped the track on the steepest portion of the tram road. Ohio, has returned to this place and Thatcher, gave an entertainment Mr. Shipman was at work in front will make this her home in the fuof the truck and had succeed in get- tu:e. ting the front wheels partially on the Truman West, one of Elk Gartrack, when the brake, through the den's most accomplished "counter" carelessness of one of the employes, jumpers," was here on Sunday.

down the grade with Mr. Shipman his daughter, Mrs. Mary Friend. with the truck following. After run- They had to shoot the horse. ning some distance an excavation in crushed to death.

the 21st. The farmers will be through protection to home industry, harvesting their crops by that time and will feel, no doubt, like spending a day or two at the County Capital. The opportunity to witness a convention of this kind, which is seldom afforded, cheap transportaion rates, the long list of prominent speakers pure spring water, but nothing stronger - unless some politician gramme so attractive that very few

Washington County spoke in no uncertain words on Saturday evening, in reference to the feeling of the Republicans of that section of the An an-day out-door religious renewed this fall and promises to be

Swanton.

Rev. C. C. Pearson and wife, Mrs. Fairall's. Jos. F. Friend, Esq., was on a trip

Robert Somerville, of Lonaconing looking at a tract of timber. Salisbury, Pa., to this place. From were interrupted at this point, as counties, is now gathering the sta-

Miss Mollie Friend is visiting at

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. George were

Miss Elya Sweet, of Cleveland, O., who has been visiting her father, C. Mr. Shipman, of the firm of Ship- finely educated young lady, was man & West, of Empire, this county, much pleased with this section of the village took in the colored camp has decided to report that Represen-

Chas Beckman, Esq., was on a trip Mrs, C. T. Sweet, of Mount Union, was raised, and the truck started Mr. Sines, of Sang Run, is visiting rain, in front. A precipice to the left, a Mr. Marville, of near Deer Park, steep embankment to the right, he had his horse to run away and jump was compelled to keep to the track through a wire fence, breaking his leg.

The Democrat has concluded that the embankment afforded the means "Little Mac" will be renominated. of escape, just as the heavy load It says "he (McComas) has the majumped the rails entirely and crushed | chinery so well oiled that his renominto the embankment-only a few ination is certain." Too bad, isn't feet from where he stood. If the it? But as he won't withdraw to trucks had freed themselves from the please the Democrats and disgruntled message to Congress containing recrails a few seconds earlier he would office-seekers in spite of all their lithave been caught between the heavy tie booms which "died a bornin" bill and reciprocity. He carried with load and the embankment and and as he has been a good Repre- him a mass of information, particu-Weather permitting, Dist. No. 4 draw," we will just say, "well done, sugar, which Secretary Windom has expects to turn out a pretty good good and faithful servant," and send crowd for the Congressional con- him back again, to work for the good for him; for the purpose of submitvention and the McComas raily on of the people, for honest elections and ting it to Secretary Blaine and obtain-

HOOSIER.

Sayage River. The Sunday School pienic held at togethher-they have never been this place on August 1st was con- half so far apart as the Democrats ceded to be one of the best of the have tried to make the country bemany good ones under the super- lieve. vision of this class of liberal-minded, Owing to the precarious state of his Democrats and disappointed office-Let everybody come. Bring your cool and invigorating atmosphere of wives! your aunts! your cousins! the summer resort of the Arganes, By 10 a. m. the precipitous looking granted an indefinite leave of the By 10 a. m. the precipitous looking granted an indefinite leave of ab- little opposition from the Republican mountains upon either side of Say- sence. This leaves Senator Aldrich age River (this is a misnomer in its in charge of the tariff bill, and it of our senior Senator, admire his un present mid and almost dried up would be a difficult matter to place it daunted courage and desire to reward course) poured out through the im- in more competent hands. There is indefatigable labors in behalf of his penetrable-looking forests, footback, no better posted man in the United horseback, and in different kinds of States upon the varied complications vehicles, an unusually large, well- of our tariff system than Mr. Aldrich. dressed and intelligent congregation | The Senate is not making much headof farmers, their wives and children. way with the tariff bill notwithstand-At 11 a. m. Mr. Gregg ascended the ing its meeting daily at 10 o'clock, speaker's stand and after extending owing of course to the announced State toward McCmas. The pri- a hearty welcome to them he intro- policy of the Democrats in delaying fifteen paces to the front, looking Attorney Semmes Devecmon, of maries were held at hight so that ey- duced Mr. C. M. Miller, of Swanton, it by every known parliamentary Cumberland, Messrs, John C. Doug- ery Republican might have a chance as the first speaker. Mr. Miller dis- method. How long the majority las, of Lonaconing, and Wm. Rob- to pass his judgmenton the past two claimed all pretentions to oratory or propose to stand this is problematical; inson, of Ocean Mines are spending a years of his public life, the most of being in the habit of making but it certainly will not be much lonspeeches, yet so well was his patri- ger. Senator Blair offered a resoluience. The verdict was unanimous otic introductory, so vigorous and tion instructing the committee on in his favor. Strong resolutions en. practicable his many truisms upon Rules to prepare and report a change relative of the Tichinell family of dorsing his course were adopted and the proper methods for children to in the Rules which would enable the objections. Garrett County, met with a painful no skulkers, growers or grumblers form good habits, that no amount of majority to cut off debate "after a accident on last Friday morning. found in the camp. Never in his previous preparation could have left reasonable time;" but for some cause While at work at the cut off-saw. whole political life has his actions a more lasting impression upon the the Republican leaders in the Senate Fredlock's mill, at Pine Swamp, his been under a more rigid scrutiny or minds of his audience. Rev. M. L. did not think proper to adopt it at right hand came in contact with the stricter criticism than in the past two Marselis was next introduced, who this time, although a caucus has desaw and resulted in the loss of a por- years, and no statesman has ever after a few well timed remarks, ad- termined that it shall be done if come out of the crucible of public journed the meeting until after din- necessary, and the resolution was re-Jake Santameyer, of Westmore- opinion with a curer ring of a true ner. And right here although your ferred to the committee on Rules. land County, Pa., and a former Gar- political character or the prospects of rettonian, is the guest of his relatives. a more brilliant future than he. ample justice to the almost unmen- of absence and has revoked all those in that promising mountain burg; In every instance in which his tionable supply of the many good in existance; but that does not keep knowledge of public affairs has been things on Uncle Billy Broad water's the members here as was shown by a Nashville, Tenn., wife of Capt. John tested, he has shown himself to be bountifully supplied table, physivote taken on Saturday when 140 the Savages, well known characters pencil this week, because, as the Pickett, a well-known way-freight a man whose political sagacits is Mentally, I admit my inability to House was compelled to adjourn at furnishing all thirsty visitors to the plenty of work to do in our next issue B. & O. R. R. in former years, is vis- To McComas, more than to any other attempt the faintest description of 2 o'clock. that grand scene-the fresh, choice. The President and a very distin- class moonshine whiskey. The townand elaborate display of the most guished party of public men will ship officials conceived the idea of tempting of all that was good- attend the annual encampment of the arresting the venders of the wet goods backed up by the earnest, urgent, G. A. R. at Boston next week. They and accordingly brought them before > be obtained at a country pienic. We hear a rumor that there will be ture appropriated twelve thousand good feeling? ison with the generous and liberal here already. legislation of the Republican party and earnest and outspoken in their the Senate. support of the party who cares for Representative Baker of New York in one of Cleveland's schools, and a crop was the heaviest for many years. keep away from the fire. Some of the good people of our meeting at Friendsyille.

> > McHenry.

There has been a Sunday Scho I organized in the new chapel unde the supervision of Wm. Callis. Friend.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4th, 1890 .-The President accompanied by Mr. Blaine, who has been his guest at Cape May Point since Saturday, is expected here to-morrow or next day and I have it on excellent authority that he will this week send a special ommendations concerning the tariff sentative, and as "he won't with- larly relating to the importation of been some time engaged in preparing ing his aid in preparing a message which will take a position upon being applicable to his case. which the entire Republican party in both House and Senate can come generous and whole-souled invita- will go on the U. S. S. Dispatch; but eryone to help themselves. After trip on her or go to New York from dinner Rev. Marselis again mounted here by rail and then take the structed old, and young in his own mined upon.

inimitable manner. Innocent amuse. ments were then indulged in until at Representative Flower, chairman Walker and Mr. Brew are among the near 5 p. m. Such free, untram- of the Democratic Congressional camfor many years, but this is the first from a business trip to New York good things it was there before me, has a "barrel" of the largest size, country, as in three States, Marytime he was ever molested while in city, where he sold a large amount and I am only the recipient of the which may always be tapped by the gratifying news that Hou. L. E. Mc- right sort of talk, certain Democrats ginia, corner within a stones throw throw up his arms, at the same time | booming in spite of the cry that the | choice of all his old staunch friends | be in the field, in his mind anyway. | the soil of three States at the same in that section, but every old soldier Seriously though, isn't three New time. who has had the fact explained to York candidates-Cleveland, Hill Well, the Squire concluded that Mine, was here a snort time ago him-whether he is a Democrat or and Flower-for the Democratic original package evidence was not stature, stoutly built and well a railroad built shortly from West dollars to the ex-Confederate soldiers The Louisiana Lottery lobby was to furnish them homes and subsist never more active here than it is now, meantime the officers had clandesbery comes right on the heels of an what we hear this would be a paying tence from the treasury of a State and if unlimited money lavishly tinely visited the original package unsuccessful attempt to ransack the investment for the incorporators and that they tried to destroy, and that spent will defeat the anti-lottery bills jng of moonshine whiskey, and had store of Mr. Andrew Mullen on last it certainly would be a help to this applications from the Union Soldiers which have been favorably reported gotton gloriously drunk, so drunk for similar purposes were ignored to the House, they will do it; but in fact that when the squire wanted Theopolus George, of Barton, and their committees treated with there is a healthy public sentiment to deliver up the prisoners the alleged the rear of the second story of the special enumerator of mines and contempt by our Democratic Legis- throughout the country favoring officers could not be found. Nothing store building and it is supposed mining for Allegany and Garrett lature and Senate. This, in compar- those bills, and its effects are apparent could be done with the prisoners

Mrs. Truman West and daughter, in Congress, has opened the eyes of fices has reported favorably the bills Mullen is very well satisfied that the of Elk Garden, are spending the the soldier element and is making providing for a postal subsidy of them a unit in their commendation steamships, which recently passed their interests, and as there is no has introduced a resolution in the on a visit to Elk Garden last week. more earnest advocate for the soldier House authorizing the President to On Sunday, the 17th inst., at 10 than our able representative from send to Russia, through the proper the last of it for some time,-King-Company, of Luke, was compelled o'clock a. m., the Rev. Mr. Sharpes the Sixth Congressional District, you channels, a respectful but earnest young Mr. Lee, at Mt. Zion Church. in blue in one solid phalanx ready to sion of Jews from that country. The Miss Jennie Murphy, of Keysr, is deposit their votes for Little Mac. resolution was referred to the committee on Foreign Affairs. Representative Rogers of Arkansas

The farmers in and about McHenry Reed on a parliamentary question. Mrs. Darrow and son Earnest, of T. Sweet, returned home last Thurs- are about through making hay, and He knows better now, and like the Brady's Mill, are visiting Mr. and day. Miss Sweet, who is a teacher commenced cutting oats. The hay burnt child, will hereafter carefully The House committee on Elections > tative Breckenridge, of Arkansas, is not entitled to the seat he holds; but owing to the absence of two Repub. lican members of the committee and There was an interesting sermon the refusal of the Democrats to at. preached in the new church Sunday tend a committee meeting the report evening at 5 p. m. by Rev. H. E. has not been made to the House, but will leave for Johnstown on Satur-Chairman Rowell says he will have day evening, where he will be the The weather is dry and warm and a quorum of Republicans here this guest of Mr. Meshack Mattingly, vegetation is suffering for want of week and that the report will be or- To-day (Friday) is Recognition. c dered and made to the House, "and" Day at Mt. Lake Park.

he added suggestively, "I think the House will act on it too." Senator Plumb has introduced a concurrent resolution expressing the desire of Congress that the remains of Gen, Grant be brought to Arlington cemetery.

The following appeared in the Lonaconing Review of last week:

LONACONING, MD., July 30, 1890. TO THE REVIEW:-The clipping attached is so appropriate that I ask you to publish it. If the reader will substitute the name of Congressman L. E. McComas for that of Senator Ingalls he will have no trouble in locating the little opposition there is to the man who has made the best representative the Sixth District has ever had. I desire to call the attention of the editor of the Comberland Daily News to the second sentence as

THE FIGHT AGAINST INGALLS.

From the Arkansas City Traveller. There is at present a fight being waged all over the State against the re-election of Senator John J. Ingalls. This fight is principally seeking Republicans, The people of the State genparty. erally realize the wonderful ability constituents and the country at large by a re-election, which we believe will be practically unanimous, so far as the Republican party is concerned. While the mugwumps and the drugwumps are joining the Democrats in their unrighteous howl against his re-election, the rank and file of progress are steadily marching with eyes neither to the right nor the left, but keeping step to the music of the country. They will march triumphantly to the ballot box and instruct enough members of the legislature to make his election certain After reading it Editor Griffith might want to publish it. I have no

Yours Truly,

A MINER.

A Markleysburg Story. A citizen of Markleysburg, our little neighbor across the line in Pennsylvania, relates the following interesting story, in which he tells the above named town, several of meeting with any amount of firstthe Squire in the town, When the tions of the numerous hosts for ev- whether they will make the entire parties were captured, a jug of white whiskey was also taken, but instead of taking it with the prisoners to the the rostrum and pleased and in- steamer, has not yet been fully deter. Justice's office it was set in the cool grass by the readside for future con-The Cieveland Democrats are mad venience. The case was notly contested before the Justice, the prisoners claiming the "original package" mont, was relieved of his watch last persons spending the summer at meled and social enjoyment can only paign committee and accuse him of decision let them out, as they brought using his position to lay the wires to their whiskey from West Virginia It looks almost like sacrilege to in- secure his own nomination to the and Maryland. By the way this is troduce politics into the simplicity Presidency in 1892. Flower has had one of the best natural locations for Mr. C. T. West recently returned of this rustic scene, but like the other the fever for some years and as he an original package house in the land, Pennsylvania and West Vir-The lumber and shingle trade is Comas is not only the unanimous are determined that he shall always of the town and you can stand on > Republican-that our State Legisla- nomination a little too many for competent as it conflicted with the State's sovernighty, and he therefore held the prisoners for court. In the but to turn them lose, and some one The House committee on Post of. gave a push from the office and they were allowed to run themselves a race without even one pursuer. It is supposed that they gained the mountain fastnessess in safety and there spent the glorious Fourth in the joy of their escape from the clutches of the law. The officers will not hear

The dedication of the new Catholic Church at Johnstown will be attended by the Catholic Benevolent Legion, and the Ancient Order of attempted to lock horns with Speaker in regalfa. The ecclesiastical procession with cross-bearer and acolytes. and little girls dressed in white will start from Mr. Mattingly's residence and divide at the church. The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Catholic choir of St. Peter's church, Oakland, under the leadership of Mr. James Litzinger. Dr. Chapelle, who is to have charge of the services will arrive in Oakland on No. 5, on Friday evening. He

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall neets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., neets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hall 1st and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nos lay evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

A foot-ball team has been organized at the Oakland Hotel.

FOR SALE OR RENT.-Hazlewood Cottage. Apply on premises. 23 3t Mrs. E. A. Kilbourne.

S. E. Boyer, E-q., has had a new porch erected in front of his residence.

The death of Mr. Jos. B. Davis is momentarily expected. Mr. Davis has been unconscious since last Sunday.

day evening, 18th inst., in Offutt's Hall, by the waiters of the Oakland on Sunday, when the thermometer day. at Sturgiss' pharmacy registered 83 degrees. Thermometers in different parts of the city registered from 80 to 93 degrees.

We want a correspondent in each town, village and at every cross-road last, in Garrett County. Send us the news, friends, and it will be published. Have it here not later than Wednesday noon.

WANTED TO BUY. - A tract o cheap mountain land containing good railroad-tie timber. Address with full description and best cash CHARLES F. DILLER, Tuesday, Aug. 12th, is G. A. R. Day at Mt. Lake Park Two addresses, by Dr. C. O. Brown, of Iowa, and Dr. J. H. Wilson, of Indiana, wili be made. Cheap rates on all rail roads.

Lost-On Wednesday, on Hooppole road between Oakland and gantown, are at J. A. Peters' for a Woodland Cottage, a brown buclu cleth dolman. Finder will please leave at THE REHUBLICAN office,

Come to Cline's grocery and see how cheap you can buy for cash. A general assortment of groceries and confectioneries kept on hand, all the time. Meats-Hams, 121; breakfast bacon, 10c; side meat, 9c, and aried beef, 10c; cheese, 15c; flour, 70c per sack. Come and see me.

The Oakland Division of County Normal School is in regular session and work for the term outlined. radgement-board at $3 per week, and there should be a large attendance. A preparatory class is forming and pupits of 5th and 6th grades have time at Virginia Cottage.

views of Deep Creek-Lake Cleve-N. Charles St., Baltimore, Md. The first picture is the float at the east end of the lake; 2nd, a string of brook trout; 3d, the boat anchored tains are seen in the distance on this Delawder, picture and look very natural. 5th, the boat anchored in the lillies; 6th, the start from the cottage; 7th, bird's eye view of Lake Cleveland and surroundings.

List of Letters.

in the Post Office at Oakland, Gar- summer at the Glades, rett county, Md., for week ending August 6, 1890:

Hoge, Mrs. Alless, Kenny, Rev. Thos., Lockwood, Miss Reba, Lee, Edward, Mack, Miss Annie, Matther, Louis, Stahl, Miss Mary, Wood, Miss Jennie, race, Judge Theo., urkam, Miss Laura, igman, S. B., owler, H. C., erguson, N. S., Hoge, Jos., Huffman, Mrs., say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

tion of the new church.

on the inside.

Abread.

Hamill Spedden was in Grafton Sunday.

visiting in Oakland. Miss Dollie Keller, of Ohio, arrived in Oakland to night.

Fred Minshall, of Piedmont, was

Judge Wilson, of Washington, spent Sunday with his family, spent Sunday at Mt. Lake Park. E. E. Enlow has removed from Petalum , Cal., to Novato, Cal.

A cake walk will be given on Mon- gantown, are visiting Mrs. Totten. Jonas E. Gnagey, of Grantsville, was in Oakland Friday, on business.

> Mrs. T. C. Elliott, of Keyser, is the guest of Miss Mary Townshend this Joel T. Ward, of Piedmont, was up to our city on business last Saturday.

ten's, was at Kingwood on Friday. - day dissolved. Journal. Edward Eaton, of Verona, Pa., is visiting Mrs. S. L. Townshend's family. Miss Annie Loewenstein, of Grantsville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. E.

Wm. Smouse and wife, of Keyser, visited relatives in Oakland over Sanday. J. C. Wagner and family, of Mor-few weeks. Miss Isabel Kelley left Monday for a short visit to friends in Clarksburg. v. Va. Thomas Turney, of Accident, was up to the city Monday and Tuesday

Miss Florence Parks, of Kingwood, is spending a few days with Mrs. S. T. Jones.

Miss Kendleberger, of Grafton, now at Mt. Lake Park, is seriously

mer of Newburg, was in Oakland on business(?) on Sunday.

town, Md., are registered for a short W. C. Dunnington, of Terra Alta,

Thomas B. Wiley, Esq., accompanied by Rev. Recknor, of Bidin the spring hole; 4th, the boat Miss Lola Cross spent Sunday at landing. Negro and Meadow moun- Lake Cleveland, the guests of G. W.

Russell Houston, David Ray and Mr. Protzman, of Morgantown, members of the orchestra, were in Oakland on Tuesday.

List of letters remaining unclaimed day night and are registered for the rates offered. Every facility is af- meetings. In the afternoon Miss Jen-

Misses Cora Jones and Hattie White, of Terra Alta were in Oakland Monday and Tuesday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Scott T. Jones, who has been visiting relatives in other stations on the line. town for two weeks, returned to her home on Tuesday morning.

Lieut, and Mrs. R. M. G. Brown, who are summering at Deer Park, were the guests of the Lieutenant's

Hon. J. H. Walker, member of Congress, of Worcester, Mass., and of Gen. Kelley at "Swan Meadows." They left on Monday for the Green-and at Deer Park for the summer is now in town, visiting his uncle, Fairall.

DEATHS.

Keyser's Ridge, aged 88 years, 9 valley, and that sufficient influence them instantly, monts and 18 days.

Funeral secmon preached by Rev. land. herdstown, Va., she made her home spent by all and we hear there is to with Mrs. Griffith's parents, then be another on the 30th. age of sixteen years, but for conveni- the net proceeds being $57.87. distance of one mile. Her life was pearance of our thriving village. one of devotion, and closed in peace. -Hoyes Corr.

MARRIED.

KETCHMAN-SMALLY. - On Sab. bath evening, August 3rd, 1890, at Pa, by the Rev. Ozias F. Harshman, our village would be of some inter- quite a number for the company. Micnie H. Smally to Jeremiah M. est to your readers. Ketchman, both of near Salisbury.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership. On December 25, 1889, Lee Hoge, my former partner, collected money due the firm and left for parts un known and this is to give notice that

H. R. SHANK. Swanton, Md., July 19, 1890.

Real Estate Transfers. List of transfers filed in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for week ending July 30, 1890:

Gilmor S. Hamil! and wife to Frederick and Christian Felty, lot of ground in Oak-Thomas Bosley, et al. to Geo. L. Bosley, lots Nov. 55 and 57 in Brant's a idition; $42°. Gustavus W. Delawder and wife to Wm, I rane, military lot No. 3160; $100. Daniel Augustine and wife to Jasper Augustine, 100 acres of land; $100. Jasper Augustine and wife to Jeremiah iston, 250 acres of land; $5000.

Marriage License.

July 30, 1890 . John A. Laffey 28, and Maggle Driscol 20. Samuel P. Wolf 23, and Annie Haskell 21. Chas. E. Nine 21, and Mattle Fitzwater 28, Jas. T. Sandridge 21, and Dinah Campbell 18, Peter J. Kemp 25, and Sarah I. Hauger 29, John K. Butcher 25, Carrie B. Holland 18,

Notice.

I hereby give notice to al! my pa-15th, 1890. I will place all unpaid are to go to the Sunday School. accounts in the hands of an officer for Dr. and Mrs. Read, of Chester-own, Md., are registered for a short that all my patrons knowing themselves indebted to me will promptly settle their accounts, as I don't wish tomake any one unnecessary trouble or expense. Call at my place of business at Grantsville, Md., on or ie. son is a very successful manager and fore August 15, 1890. L. MUHLENBERG. 24 2t

Atlantic City Excursions.

of the year is the best possible tonic and Dr. Parkhurst has a very presfor the overworked system, and what sing invitation to return next year. would be more acceptable than a The physical culture by Prof. week's sojourn at this City by the Muchmore is also a new but a very sea, with its cool, bracing breezes desirable addition, and matchless surf bathing?

No. 8, No 2, No. 6, No. No. 6, No. 4,
A. M. P. M. BATE
8 30 7 35 $9 09
8 54 8 00 9 00
9 57 9 09 9 00
10 15 9 28 8 50
10 21 9 35 8 50
10 30 9 44 8 50
11 30 10 45 8 00 A. M. A. M. A. M. 3 40 6 00 8 30 ..... 6 24 8 54

The tickets are good for ten days family Monday evening.

Friendsville.

C. & O. R. R., has left us for a short time. He goes as consulting engineer on a short line of Railroad that is being built from Buffalo to past few days than any time this on Main Street. When finished there Walter S, Wolf, of Dayis, W. Va., Niagara Falls, N. Y. We are glad summer. to say, though, that he expects to repromise to be present at the dedica- W. M. Coddington. Friend Wolfe turn in a few weeks, when he will passed over this section last Friday Robert Poling left 'or Elk Garden says the saw mill business is good, complete the plans and take charge afternoon, Two inches of rain fell on Monday, where he has accepted a The church is a handsome gothic but on account of low water it is alstructure, and is beautiful finished most impossible to get logs to the best equipped fire brick plant in the very much and moistened the soil Co.'s store, at that place. Bob will solicited and promptly filled, country, which is to be located enough to enable the farmers to re- be much missed here, as he was a 25 1 yr

Jas. Kemphfer, who has been op- about two and one half miles up the sume plowing for wheat which was very popular young man, especially erating his well-boring machine in Yough river from this place. Mr. almost entirely suspended on account with the ladies. Cumberland and Frostburg the past Whetstone has been with us for of the dry and baked condition of the winter, was in Oakland on business about 18 months, and during that ground. Monday. Jim returned to Frostburg time he has worked with a never The first oats in this section was cut and Jno. Hoffmann, Jr., of Wheelon Tuesday, accompanied by Wm. tiring heart and hand for the interest by Gil. Broadwater on Monday, the ing, are spending a few days with of our place. It was through his 28th. efforts that the Savage Fire Brick Co | Jonas Brenneman lost two cows conducted by Rev. H. E. Friend. brought about 1500 people to our acre, thus making an average return The deceased was born near Shep- place. The day was very pleasantly of $21.87 per acre.

are grests of Alfred Welch.

F. E. L.

Bittinger.

As we live ten miles from the rail-

Goslei and Company have added a They employ a number of hands. There have been several gentlemen the timber and talking railroad,

Oats is a very light crop here this Lou. Winterberg, at present of & Wiley's saw mill, is able to be your humble scribe. around on crutches. Peter G. Stark has his new house nearly completed. Jonas Bittinger is talking of build-Peter P. Lohr will build a new

The Grantsville correspondent says intends to build. hat Mr. Charles Wegman pays his fair friends on Manadier Ridge an visit last Wednesday. John C. Beachy, an old and respected citizen, met with a yery serious accident some days ago while Muhlenberg's on a visit. stacking hav. He managed in some license issued for week ending him to faint, The Sunday School of this place trons and friends that after August brass band. The profits of the picnic was staying at his father-in-law's

Miss Sarah Orendorf, who has been

Mountain Lake Park.

Our Mountain Chautauqua is moving along grandly, Dr. W. L. David-The ministers' institute was a new

but a very helpful addition this year. They were so delighted that they ex-A trip to the seashore at this season | pect to be here for ten days next year

The spirtual interests of the attend-The Fourth Select Excursion of ants are carefully looked after as well the season to this popular resort is as the physical and intellectual. Dr. announced for Thursday, August Davidson preached a very able serforded the tourist, the train service pie Smith conducted a very enjoyable and equipment unsurpassed. Pull- praise meeting. Dr. Davidson says man Cars are attached to all trains. | that this is the grandest place on the We show below a list of some of continent. I wish many more would the principal stations with time of flud this out who are longing for a trains and rates of fare. Correspond- place suitable for all ages of people to earnest application to the various branches of useful study, of the deepest spirtual meetings. But nothing of a doubtful character is allowed.

in so long took her first carriage ride Monday afternoon.

Mr. G. T. Cecil returned with his are cool enough to require heavier clothing.

Grace Cottage and the other board-We are sorry to note that Mr. J. J. ing houses have ample room for J. A. E. Grantsville.

The weather has been warmer the operations on his large tenant house

A yery heavy thunder shower all under one roof, can be brought to bear on the owners M. D. Yoder sold 200 bushels of road will be built.-Elk Garden CRESS .- Margaret Cress died Aug. of the C. & O. R. R. to Induce them wheat to Eli Stanton of "Little Cros- News. 3, at Geo. W. Griffith's, aged 85 years. to build this road through to Oak- sing Mill" at an average of 95 cts per, bushel. The average yield of Joseph DeWitt, and burial services The excursion on the 26th, ult. Mr. Yoder's field was 221 bushels per

S. S. Miller's wheat yielded about twenty five bushels per acre. This with Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, since her The festival held on the 24th, and is about the largest yield reported childhood until her death. She 26th for the benefit of the Friends- yet this season. It may not be anyjoined the Lutheran church at the ville Cornet Band was quite a success thing extra in yields to some of the western farmers but they should reence she attended the Methodist The painters have put the finish- member that we have a great adchurch since living in Maryland She ing touch on Wash Taylors' new vantage over them in being nearer to walked to church, three weeks ago, mouse. It adds greatly to the ap- the great markets, hence the railroads and middle men receive less of Mrs. Standish Montgomery and the profits which in the case of the two daughters, of Pittsburgh, Pa., western farmer, is taken from the price of his grain. Bateman & Co., of Frostburg, are selling churns in this section. The patent right of which they have bought for this county. The Grants* the Latheran personage, Salesbury, road, we thought a few items from ville Planing Mill, has made out convalescing.

They are apparently a success. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bill and Mrs. lumber mill to their shingle mill. Frank Bill are the guests of the gentleman's father's Chas. Bill.

Mrs. Geo. Smouse, of Scottdale, through our community looking at Pa., is visiting her father-in-law, H. Smouse.

Meyersdale, spent Sunday in town. We are glad to see that Noah Sla- We presume some members of the baugh, who was burt on Brennaman fair sex know more about it than Miss Araminta Brenneman, of Bit-relatives in and about town. Mr. Landsey paid his brother-ining a new barn the coming summer. law, James Bevans a visit last week. prising citizens. Geo. Wellington has built the founhouse across the road from his store. dation for a dwelling house which he tinger, is visiting her friends and occasional visit. We, too, have some Mr. Liston's agent for his woolen fair ladios that he visits some times, goods was in this section last week. Mr. Lloyd, accompanied by his wife are at his father-in-law's, Mr.

Sam Mier of Sa

Communion services were held in way to run a prong of the pitchfork the Lutheran church last Sunday, The following is a list of marriage in his finger and the pain caused Rev. Hershman, of Salisbury, officiated.

Rev. Eyans, of the German Rewill have a basket picnic August 9, formed church, at Pottsville, Pa., in Jonas Bittinger's grove above C. preached us an excellent sermon last E. Ellithorp's store, We expect a Sunday. He is a brother to the pastor good time. Come and enjoy it with in charge here. Rev. Michaels also us. There will be refreshments on preached in the German Reformed the grounds. Music by the Addison Church last Sunday evening. He

Mr, Muhlenberg's. The Normal has opened under very sick for some time, is slowly recoy. promising conditions with an enroll. ment of seventeen. Board is very reasonable here in price.

Gormania.

Maysville will soon be the county eat of Grant. Mrs. W. D. Nydegger, of Oakland, is visiting here. Mrs. George Braugh has been quite ill for a few days. J. G. Kohr is putting a saw mill on

A. B. King's place. Joseph King was on a business trip to Cumberland on Friday. Miss Sue Beckman, of Swanton, is visiting friends here for the past week.

J. W. Nihiser and D. W. Smith, of Bayard, L. Levering, of Wilsonia, were in town on Monday. Joseph Friend, of John, who is now in his 93rd year, was in town

Monday visiting friends. Prof, Armstrong, of Wheeling, passed through Monday for Greenland Gap on a pleasure trip. About twenty new laborers have been put on the pay roll at Hoffmann's tannery in the last ten days. A telephone line will be built from Gormania to Maysville in the near future. Let her come. "Hello!"

Ex-Sen. H. G. Davis and a party of ladies drove over from Deer Park Mother Smith who has been shut and went to Elkins on No. 1, Friday. D. A. Perkins has had one of his dwelling houses painetd near his store, which much improves the property.

Mr. Halbercombe, of Pennsylvania, has erectd a large saw mill near gerous. here, and he is donig a rushing business.

returned home Sunday, after a sojourn of two weeks in our mountain village. L. L. McCrum has commenced

Miss Annie McGahn, of Keyser, will be nine seperate dwelling houses

Mrs. J. G. Hoffmann, Jr., Misses Rose and Annie Hoffmann, Frank Mrs. A. H. Mabis.

The prospects for the building of were induced to come in here. We last Friday. The cows were stand- the Bayard, Petersburg and Moorehope that he will return soon and ing near or under a tree which was field railroad are very favorable and PLATTER. - On the morning of that the people will take an interest struck by a bolt of lightning during ere the month of September hundreds Aug. 1st, Mr. George Platter, of with him in the development of our the thunder storm, which killed of workmen will doubtless be mak ing ready for the rail. We trust this

Gorman. Republicans of Garrett will certainly be well pleased to have the Congressional Convention meeting in Oakland. No. 8, we presume will be well represented there. So far as we can learn there is no opposition whatever to Mr. McComas. A school house will be built shortly in Gormania, but what we badly need is one in Gorman, and yet there have been no steps taken to secure one.

C. Golden, tinner, of Keyser, has located here. May he be successful in his line of trade.

J. N. Bobo lost an infant son last week.

James Nydegger, late graduate of St. John's, has been quite sick but under the treatment of Dr. Barth is Wm, Faherty has moved his family here and now occupies his former residence. Jacob Oates, his tenant, has moved in the Hatler property. Mrs. John Helbig is visiting her relatives near Cumberland. Chas. Hull has teft for White Hall, W. Va. Edward Mickey, assistant operator and R. R. agent, is still very popular with the ladies. Hon, Geo. W. Wilson was in town Monday. He is moving the saw milt near here to Wilsons Mills, where he has purchased a large track of excellent timber of H. G. Davis, Mr. W. is one of Garrett County's most enter-

A Bush Meeting will be held under the auspices of the M. E. Church at Bayard, commencing Thursday evening the 14th inst., and continuing over Sunday. Able speakers will be present and a good time is anticipated. Bayard will probably beem in the near future. Engineers start from there to survey the Bayard, Petersburg and Moorfield Railroad this week. A tannery is also expected to be built.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the indersigned, either in person or by depthy, will be in each of the Election Districts in aid County, to collect and receive taxes, at he time and places following:

No. 9—Johnson's, Aug. 18. No. 11—Gregg's Mill, Aug. 19. No. 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20. No. 12—Bittinger, Aug. 22.
No. 5—Accident, Aug. 22.
No. 2—Isaac M, Umbel's, Aug. 22. Friendsille, Aug. 25.
No. 6—Johnstown, Aug. 26, forenoon, Mc-Henry, Aug. 26, after No. 4—Bloomington

4—Bloomington, Aug. 19, 1—Swanton, Aug. 20, 10—Deer Park, Aug. 21, 8—Gorman, Aug. 22,

Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 2.

B.—By an Act of the General Assembly laryland, passed at the January session, being Chap. 566, it is provided that all nity taxes shall be due and payable on the day of September succeeding the date of

URIAH M. STANTON. Treasurer.

FERNLEIGH MANOR (2 Miles from Oakland, Md.) IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS.

Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD. Scenery Unsurpassed.

JOHN B. DEAKINS. Proprietor.

PENSIONS FOR ALL To their widows and minor children under 16 years of age, dependent parents, &c. Back pay, Bounty, Commutation of rations, pay for use of private horses in the service of the United States, Charges of desertion removed, additional pay to officers and their heirs, Pensions increased, &c. File your claims at once. Delays are dan-gerous.

108 St. Paul Street, Baltimo I will represent Col. Vernon, Past Dep't, Commander, G. A. R., the senior member of the firm, at Oakland, 24t PERCY H. VEITCH, Office at Court House. Oakland, Md.

GEO. W. F. VERNON,

SNOWY CREEK MILLS,

(Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.) ALL KINDS OF LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH

AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY.

WM. A. LORAW,

2* P. O. Box 215, Lancaster, Pa.

F. S. CLINE.

Teachers can secure-by special arexceptional opportunities. Delawder, Jr., exhibited to us seven | were in Oakland on Saturday, land—as taken by W. C. Russell, 5

Bell, Mrs. Lizzie, Hoge, Mrs. Almedia S. Brace, Judge Theo., Kenny, Rev. Thos.,

Persons calling for them will please

Church Dedication. St. Dominie's Church at Hoyes, sister, Mrs. Totten, on Monday. Garrett Co. Md., will be dedicated on Sanday, August the 10th by Very Rev. Dr. Chapelle, assisted by Fathers Manning of Lonaconing, and Brennan of Cumberland. The Sermon will be preached by Dr. Chap pelle. The dedication of the church will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning. The sermon will be delivered wife have been visiting the family from the balcony of the church. Dr. Chappelle is very well known in Oakland. Many of his friends from brier White Sulphur Springs. Washington who are stopping here

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About Our People at Home and James Tuhill was in town on Sat-

S. E. Flowers, of Buchannon, is Miss Minnie Beck, of Piedmont, is visiting friends in our city.

seen on our streets Tuesday. Geo. Walls, Esq., of Kingwood,

John Delawder and wife, of Deep Creek, were in the city Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Moreland, of Mor-

Miss Mona Tillson, postmistress at The hottest day of the season was Deer Park, was in Oakland on Mon-

> Lawrence Levering, Esq., of Wilsonia, was in Oakland on Saturday

Merchant Charles White, of Hut- the firm of Hoge & Shank was that year.

Bolden,

on business.

ill of peritonitis. Frank Wright, the popular drum-

On Monday evening, Mr. John and Clyde Watson, of Kingwood, dinger, was in Oakland on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. King Delawder and

Dr. Chesney and family, of Phila- 14th, and all who can do so snould mon for us Monday morning after delphia, arrived in Oakland on Tues- not fail to take advantage of the low one of the olden time experience

Miss Dora Manear, of Kingwood, ingly low rates will be made from have quiet rest, healthful recreation.

Messrs. Thos. J. Stanton, J. B. Murphy, and the Misses Stanton and from day of sale, with the privilege The thermometer has been as high Miss Bessie Browning were in of a stop off at Washington, D. C., as 83 in the shade, but the evenings Rowlesburg on Sunday, attending on return journey. services in the Catholic church, Whetstone, Chief Engineer of the more guests.

Your Honor, I ha'nt got a word to say in my de-You've listened to the painful facks, but of it's I'll tell you in a simple way-I ain't great on Whyfore a gray old chap like me wanted to "cut the stalk."

It's forty year since me and Ruth wuz tied as man and wife,

And nary mortal ever had a truer mate for life.

In all them years we never had a word as you'd (Barrin' the Christmas Day she bruk the knees

We growed up like a elm that runs two stems from the same bole;
Sometimes I thought that over yond' we'd on'y have one soul! I never done a thing I didn't ask her 'pinion

And of ner than you'd think I found my own way wuz the wust. When nabers asked me how's my farm I'd c'rect 'em—say 'twas her'n, That Ruth done all the thinkin' work and I wuz thar to learn. She saved and saved and paid and paid until the place wuz cleargal, she didn't 'spect 'twould go so soon ter th' auctioneer:

We never had no chillen, barrin' Zach, and he wer bad; Cut off f'm hum and went to N'York ter larn to write and add: Said me and mother hedn't sense ter come in out the rain!

1'spect he's dead, or docterin' p'r'aps fer grammar on the brain,

That's years and years and years ago; but Ruth she never blamed The lad as gave us up 'acos of home he wuz She larnt me how ter write quite good, a-sayin' as our Zach
'Ud be so proud his father knowed so much when he got back.

But Zach he'd throwed us up fer good; and so fer many years

His mother's heart wuz wearin' down with floods of secret tears;

I offen catched her weepin' when I come in fer And I thinks: "Poor lass, you're breakin' fast

One stormy day she stayed a'bed, and I sat by her side; (The rain come down like Nigra). I just sat thar and cried. For she talked of sunny meadows, seemed ter wanted her up thar. Then when she fetched around a bit she says ter me, says she:

"Don't be too crosst with Zach-and practice on that cap'tal D.

I'll tell the Lord how good you wuz; although He hears and sees, And knows we never had no words, 'cept 'bout that hoss's knees.

It ketched me in a tender p'int ter see her thar Troublen about my writin' and about my 'rith-She took my hand, we kissed good-bye, and

'ranged ter meet agen Where tears is tears of gladness and death Your Honor, when I'd buried her my life wuz re weren't a blame thing 'round the farm that I could 'tend to right. My thoughts weren't thar. One day I took the hoss ter get a shoe. And woke up standin' by the stun readin' "aged sixty-two."

And so at last I selled the farm and went ter find that lad, Thinkin' that p'r'aps he'd growed out of his shame for his old dad.

For twenty months I've s'arched and s'arched and end up now in N'York. oor ter drive around and much too tired to walk.

And then, oh, blessed God! I'm glad ye sped that bullet wide, There'd be'n a tear in Heav'n if I had died a

His Honor's fainted! Water here! Where is my specks? Joewach!
Ruth, Ruth! look down from Paradise! I've found him. Here's our Zach!
—Thomas Frost, in N. Y. Herald.

A TEXAN MARKET.

Busy Scenes Enacted Once a Week at Houston.

The Queer Things One Sees and Hears in and Around the Market-House Every Saturday-All Nationalities Are There.

Pursuing the odd, the new and the characteristic takes the tourist to the Saturday evening market held at Hous ton. It is something unique and this the only place to see it, small markets not being allowed here as in other cities. Houston also holds a Sunday market, but inaugurated the Saturday movement for the benefit of those who were too lazy or too religious to rise early on the Sabbath morning. It has borne good fruit, opening out great and farmers soon came in from distances of twenty miles and more hauling their produce in wagons, and wholesaling it to the many small dealers, who now de pend on this supply, their "prairie schooners" and slow ox teams of four and five yokes of oxen filling the streets with an element usually unknown in

The market-house itself, standing in the midst of its square, is a fine-looking building, with crouching lions at the corners and fountains in the grass-plot at the side; but it is the people who congregate here that make it such a remarkable scene, the venders alone

The market wagons occupy one side of the thoroughfare which bounds the servant-girls and cooks, the haute-voice square. They stand drawn up in line, their hind wheels touching the curb, the horses' heads turned to the middle of the street. It is supposed, and in some few cases correctly, that as the owners of these wagons pay no stall rent, but Irish, Dutch, French, Germans, Italians only a small license to sell, they will dispose of their commodities at lower prices that do those venders within the building. It is only in this outer row that we find the negro market gardener. He raises all that he offers, from the fat turkeys, ready dressed or alive in coops, to the tiny bird-peppers, brilliant in hue, small as a pea, hot as fire, and delightful in flavor, which grow wild along the bayou that borders his land.

Near by on the sidewalk a Chinese peddler displays his wares. John has nis pig-tail neatly pinned up, and his blouse and shoes are models of cleanli-

ing wonderful fans and cushions, rushes, teapots, Chinese lilies, and what not. He tries to be very per susave in his pidgin-English, and resents demonstratively the interruption of the little black-eyed Dago boy who runs up his hand-cart of hot peanuts and takes his stand, vociferously calling his wares.

A fat, yellow man, as greasy as his own plucked geese, is chaffering by his cart with a slip of a girl, who believes, and rightly, that he is cheating her in both price and measure as she buys from him a supply of okra for gumbo on the morrow.

Here is a little German woman, face sharp and puckered into innumerable wrinkles; but her balls of hand-cheese, strewed with caraway seeds, are white and appetizing. She has put some away in a can, which she tells you "schmech gut;" but when uncovered they are as yellow as gold, and "smell to heaven;" yet these her German customers prefer.

This thin-faced Italian has a wagon laden with game, all killed close by. Mule-eared rabbits and "mollie-cottontails;" squirrels, red, black and gray, some skinned, some not: bunches of partridges, braces of prairie chicken and dozens of snipe tied together by the neck; some wild geese; ducks of all kinds, from canvas-back to didapper; and here is a single sand-hill crane fine eating the bird is, too, and a handsome fellow to shoot. The owner is a good salesman and an eager. He calls to each passer-by, and knows well how to praise and show his stock. Small, swarthy, litne and dirty, he is a type of his class, always asking higher than he will get, and dropping little by little to the offered price at last.

Many others are in line, but they are but repetitions of these, if we except the strapping brown virago, with her poultry and eggs, turnips and cabbage, who is too busy joking coarsely with the colored men and abusing the venders around her to pay much attention to her trade.

Within the building stretches a quadruple row of vegetable stalls, all tended ly, clean dressed and hatless. Their hear sweet songs afar;
And I knowed the Lord had sent down word He products are here, no garden truck from wares make a pretty show; no hot-bed other States, but all home-raised. The fresh green and white of the succulent spring vegetables are seen in the midst of December, the pale pink radishes lying in the crisp, curly leaves of chicory; the purple kohl-rabi against the piles of creamy, wax beans; the long, slim pods of "Carolina okra" are heaped fill both houses. next to golden carrots and red spring beets; piles of purple egg-plants are ranged between cabbage heads, proverbially hard; while great bunches of cool, white celery keep company pink-skinned new potatoes. The women elbow. are very artistic in their arrangement things, and they make a fine Here again the Dago comes to Guardian, touch. the fore. You find him in stalls stocked with West India, Northern, and Cali-

> "Lemona a tawenta centa dozna; appelay, banan, grapa-all a cheepa," they to Texas.

Very foreign they look, with gold rings in their ears, men though they be, and red mufflers around their throats. They seem to give endless amusement to the respectable-looking colored man and woman opposite, who keep a stall got through a corridor window to the no one need fear the dangers of the where they sell cold food-fried catfish and tender chicken, hard-boiled eggs and heaps of golden corn-bread and parts unknown. roasted potatoes, with thin-sliced sandwiches, all appetizing indeed, and where many a darky stops to eat a meal and treat his dusky "Dulcinea."

Beyond is the meat market, the mix the nationalities. Passing through that, we enter what may be called the bazar—little stores of ready-made and will soon retire with a fortune.

—A police officer of this city has ware, cutlery, baskets, fancy articles, candy, all separate, and the last-named the patrol wagon. He has a brass plate stalls presided over by handsome Italian fixed in the end of his club, having an and pleasant German girls. It is a very olla podrida of merchandise. Back of this again, the fish-market and game of various kinds; and here opening also serves as a mouth-piece to once more does the Dago find an occupation. There are shrimps, crabs, oysters and all sorts of fish, but the cat- subjects of arrests are, as a rule, neither fish, in infinite variety, stands out in marked prominence, for it is the favorite of the negro race, and they are rare good customers.

In and out of the building surge the crowd, for all of Houston is here. It is a singular custom, this making a fashionable promenade of the market, yet it obtains, and the fine ladies do not seem to mind the mixture of peoples or the place itself, but dress in "purple and fine linen" for the occasion. The dude is in force, and the "masher" is not wanting; the men who stare and the girls who love to be stared at; matrons on house-keeping thoughts intent; flirtatious maidens who push through the crowd, and seem to have no idea that their manners are not of the best; natty negro wenches, pert of tongue and loose of demeanor; respectable colored "maumus," ample representing every nationality, Americans being far in the minority.

of girth, in spotless white aprons; strapping negro men and saucy bootblacks; ping negro men and saucy bootblacks; merchants, lawyers and physicians; and the demi-monde, and both in their best attire; policemen and tramps; old women, men on crutches and babies in arms; black, white, brown and yellow-negroes, Americans, Mongolians, and Spanish-they are all there, laughing, talking, quarreling, gesticulating, bargaining, gossiping, staring, keeping appointments and making new ones, be ing proper or improper, polite or rude, as the case may be. And this goes on from four to nine in winter, from five to ten in summer. Every Saturday evening it is re-enacted; the pople never tire, it seems, but congregate weekly, year in and year out, in an endless repetition of the same thing. It is a wonderful scene, a bustling moving picture of contrast and characters, and helps the traveler to better understand the prosperity of the State, which at-"Any tling a-day?" he asks, exhibit tracts one, and its rudenesses, which repel.-Lee C. Harby, in Harper's Maga-

MISCELLANEOUS.

-California fruits are shipped in large Four Rules for Identifying Poison-Ivy quantities to England, where they are very popular.

-One of the curiosities found by the ensus enumerators in Madison County, Georgia, is a boy nine years old who has never been given a name by his parents. - Proprietor of country hotel (to servant)—"A stranger has arrived. Make a fire in No. 14." Servant—"A big fire, sir?" Proprietor-"No, he is a little bit of a fellow."

-If there is any thing that exceeds all else for appallingness it is the situation of a man who gets caught in a rain storm in a flannel shirt that is already too tight for him.-Washington Post. -At Chisamba. Africa, the young people have asked the missionary to raise a flag Saturday evenings, that they may know that the next day is Sunday and come to the meetings.

-A wild westerner attended church in Winnigep, Manitoba, for the first time in twenty years, and during the service lit a pipe and enjoyed a smoke. He was fined $10 for disturbing worship. -A New York woman who is suing for a divorce because of failure to provide stated that when her eight children one from Boston a spell ago; but, law, he couldn't ride it. Tumbled off every time he tried."-Golden Days -An obliging clergyman in Aroos-of going to housekeeping. The clergyman married them, and then thought of and the groom one year older. -The first steam vessel which sailed by women, German and Irish exclusive- ary. In 1826 the steam ravigation on my advice, you'll cut the pesky weed the river had so improved in respect to boats, of 28,916 tons, were employed. -The two hotels which Waldorf Astor has decided to build in Yew York are not intended for transient guests, but for rich families, such as can afford to pay $3,000 to $5,000 a year for a suite -A well-known London lady of rank mond. The pair cost $200. Gentlemen in London are now wearing mousquewith baskets of fresh green pease and taire gloves which go higher than the poison-sumachs: "The kola nut, of which a good deal display of color; but fruit they do not don correspondent of the Manchester "is rapidly increasing in favor as an indispensable adjunct to a traveler's kit. The French Alpine Club poisonous. have just adopted it as a stimulant and fornia fruits: only what other States draw from the Antilles, Mexico supplies nutrient in their mountain-climbing expeditions."

thirty years of age, escaped the other the axils of the leaves. In all other the bars of his door he pried off the face far from being dangerous, yield a frostyof a huge padlock with a case knife and looking acid which is most agreeable to back the bolt and opened the door. He these simple precepts fixed in the mind, -Two Cincinnati women thought they so poor that they were threatened with the writer a really beautiful group of butchers nearly all Germans, with a bankruptcy, when a recently-married carefully arranged rare grasses and Frenchman and an American or two, to man advised them to change the sign so as to read "No Home Cooking Here." They are now doing a rushing business, -A police officer of this city has devised an ingenious mode of signaling for the patrol wagon. He has a brass plate opening of suitable shape to correspond with and act as a key or wrench to turn the lever that sends in the alarm. This a whistle set in the base of the club. This is a most practical device, for the obliging nor amiable, and certainly not prone to remain peaceful and inactive while an officer is extracting his keys from his pocket to send in an alarm .-

Chicago News. -Thunder-storm lore is thus made plain by the Cincinnati Enquirer: If you can count three slowly-that is, one count to the second-between the flash of lightning and the peal of thunder. you may know that destruction has not been wrought in your own locality. The flash and the crash are really simultaneous, only the light of the former travels much more swiftly than the sound of the latter. If it takes three seconds for the noise of the thunder to reach you. then the storm is 3,270 feet-two-thirds of a mile-away. But when the flash and the peal come close together, then shake yourself to see if you are hit.

Women Who Draw Men's Salaries, The writer was in a down-town business office talking to the cashier. Three women came in, were handed envelopes containing money, and departed. "They are not employes," said the cashier in answer to a question. "They are the wives and daughters of men who are in our employ. Why do the wemen draw the men's pay? In one case the woman draws it because she wants to; because she is the boss and her husband doesn't dare say his soul is his own. The other cases are different. The women get the pay in those cases at the request of the employes, who admit if they get their hands on money they could not resist the temptation to gamble it away. They are fellows who deserve to do better. but they can not, so they say, overcome the disease. There is another man working here who has enough money withheld from his pay every week to keep him on good terms with his landwho comes regularly for the stipend. You see these fellows are honest, They want to pay their way, but sc money-mad are they that they can not be trusted with a dollar."-Chicage Tribune.

POISONOUS PLANTS.

There need be no trouble in indentifying the poison-ivy in any of its forms. The hairy trunk will often serve us, but there are two other features which are give a person from 150 to 200 years of of much more value. First let us re- active life. member that its leaves are always grouped in threes whatever the outlines of their more or less wavy margins. In some sections the plant is always called | aided eye. the "three-leafed ivy." And this naturally leads me to a consideration of that other vine with similar habits purpose of raising peaches on a large which is commonly known in the same localities as the "five-leafed ivy," and a leaf of which I have here pictured under Lake City, Utah, with a capital stock of is a leaf of the Ampelopsis quinquefolia quinquefolia-five leaves), also called oil exist. Virginia creeper and woodbine. Look at the leaf, and fix its form in your mind. This is one of our most beautiful native climbers. It is allied to the the one plant that has to suffer from above its old channel. It has been accom suspicion, being often destroyed under the impression that it is the "poison-

The writer knew of a person who pos were in need of shoes her husband sent sessed a beautiful home upon the Hudher a basket of flowers and a lot of his son, and whose deficiency in knowing of this one little page of botany cost own poetry.

"Ever had a cyclone here?" askel a him a severe loss. His children were Kansas man who was visiting a contest and the East. "O, yes," said his and one of his "ninth hour" neighbors aunt. "Deacon Brown's son brought came in to offer him some learned advice. Something in this style: "Well, Squire, it's fetched 'em at last. I've been tellin' Betsy all along that stored up in the spring? Is it turned the pesky stuff would ketch ye arter a took, Me., was lately called upon by a while. Well, thar, goodness and truth! loving young couple who were desirous Time an' time agin, when I've been goin' by the gate an' seen them air children playin' in the summer-house yenasking their ages. The bride is fourteen | der, it's made me feel 'tarnal ticklish, an' I've sed time and agin, an' told Betsy so tew, that I'd bet my best gob on the Mississippi was in 810, and the bler they'd be broke out afore a week, enterprise was considered extraordin- an' now they've done it; an' if you take down an' burn it before the hull on ye facility and quickness that fifty-one is ketched. You needn't look so surprised, Squire. What I'm tellin' yer is fer yure own good. That air weed is pizen-shumake, an' it'll nigh on to kill some folks."

Such advice, coming from a practical farmer in whom the "Squire" had perof rooms and board, and it is believed fect confidence, was immediately acted that there are enough of this class to upon. The vines which had embowered the beautiful arbor for a generation were sawed off at the ground. And to has just had a pair of ten-button gloves | think that a peep into the botany might | made in which each button is a dia- have saved them! Four things need to be committed to memory to insure safety against our First. The three-leaved ivy is dan-

Third. The poison-sumachs have white berries. Fourth. No red-berried sumach

Both the poison-ivy and poison-su mach though unlike in appearance of foliage, have similar white berries -An athletic Cuban negro, about growing in small slender clusters from night in Boston from a strong cell a sumachs the berries are red and in close police headquarters. Reaching between bunches at the ends of the branches, and the wire handle of a bucket, pushed the taste, and wholesome withal. With top of a shed, dropped to the ground, thickets. Nor need any one repeat the climbed a fence or two and was off for hazardous exploit of two young ladies whom I know, one of whom, as a committee on church decoration in a counwould make a fortune by opening a restury town, brought her arms full of the taurant and hanging out a sign "Home scarlet autumn branches of the venom-Cooking Here." But the patronage was ous sumach; while the other once sent mosses generously decked with white berries of the poison-ivy. Both of these rash maidens, I believe, paid the severe penalty of their botanical in-nocence.—William Hamilton Gibson, in Harper's Young People.

AN UNDIGNIFIED EXIT. A Collector Tackles a Red-Headed Woman With a Boil.

"I beg your pardon," he said, as a wohare-lip and a wooden leg named John-

"Is it his wooden leg that is named Johnson, or are his hare-lip and wooden from which new names are easily coined. leg both named Johnson?" she demanded. A whole family might be named from "I didn't mean, of course, that his wooden leg was named Johnson. I-"Then what did you say so for?"

"I haven't asked you for any explanation, have I?" "Certainly not. My object in trying to find out-"Have I asked you to state why you are trying to find out any thing?"

"Of course not, madam, but being a stranger in the neighborhood-"Do you mean that I am a stranger in the neighborhood?"

"No, madam, certainly not. I-I-I -good morning, madam. He paused a moment when safely outside the front gate to mop the prespira-tion from his face, and then started down the street.
"If ever I tackle a red-headed woman with a boil on her nose for information again," he said to himself, "may I be e-sentially dog-goned!"—Jury. Ought to Know Him Better, "Notice any thing peculiar in the water yesterday, Rambo?" said Baldwin. "Yes; it seemed to leave a sandy sediment in the bath tub," said Rambo. "I mean in the taste of it." "In the taste of the water? Do I understand you to ask me if I noticed any thing peculiar in the taste of the water? 'That's what I asked you. "Baldwin," exclaimed Rambo, in the tone of an injured man, 'let's talk about the census."—Chicago Tribune. A Grand Opportunity.

Madame Murray Hill-I hear that your son got a position immediately Madame Harlem Heights-Yes, he has become private secretary to an Madame Murray Hill-Well, but is there any chance of advancement. Madame Harlem Heights—Yes, indeed. He has a chance to become her second husband.—Munsey's Weekly.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-In nearly all Russian factories the employes are required to work thirteen hours per day. -Dr. Brown-Sequard asserts that a onic will yet be discovered which will

-The light seen through the new eye piece of the Lick telescope will be 2,000 times as bright as that seen by the un-

-A stock company, with $100,000 capital, has recently been formed for the scale in Houston County, Georgia. -A company has been formed at Salt the title of "an innocent victim." This $100,000, to bore for oil near Green River, Utah, where large quantities of -A triumph of engineering is reported from California in the lifting of the Feather river, a fast-flowing stream, flfty feet, and carrying it for more than grape-vine, is perfectly harmless, and is a mile in an artificial bed, at that height plished in a little less than a year. The object was to drain the river near Oreville, in order to reach the rich gold deposits believed to exist in its bed. -A correspondent writes: "It is a well known law that energy is indestructible, but a case came to my notice a short time ago in which it is hard to tell in what form the energy appears. A metal spring is placed under tension, and while in this state is fastened and placed in acid until it is completely dissolved. What becomes of the energy into heat, and, if so, how?"-Scientific American.

- "Where was the Garden of Eden?" was one of the interesting questions on which Mr. Hormuzd Rassam discoursed before the Victoria Philosophical Institute recently, Sir G. G. Stokes, M. P. in the chair. Mr. Rassam has lately been excavating Babylonian and Assyrian sites, but he has not found the Eden sites, and he showed how utterly impossible it was to locate in a land where volcanic action and physical alterations had in many places changed the courses of the rivers in past ages. In this sense it is really "Paradise Lost.

-Mrs. Watts Hughes, according to Cassell's Family Magazine, has made some delicate investigations into the nature of sound, with remarkable results, the making of pictures by notes of music. An elastic membrane covered with a semi-fluid paste is stretched over the mouth of a hollow receiver. The musical note of the singer mirrors itself in the paste, in the most unexpected in that diary which I would have been forms, of flowers, ferns and shells, the form and size of the picture varying should see." Ruffun—"Same here. I with the tone and timbre of the note. used to put down 'candy' for cigars and What application can be made of this wonderful discovery remains to be seen. -Dr. Julius Nelson, of New York, has examined four thousand of his dreams, and finds that evening and nocturnal dreams are connected with events of the day; but the latter have more of the terrifying element. The pleasantest and most remarkable dreams are those of the morning, after the rest of the brain. Fancy is then at her best, and gives the clearest visions. In this connection it will be remembered that many famous men have thought over their imaginative problems in the early morning. The vividness of Dr. Nelson's dreams is subject to regular fluctuations of twenty-eight days, and varies with the seasons. They are most vivid in December, and dullest in March and

NOVELTIES IN NAMES. Whole Family Might Be Supplied from

Any Common Name. "It is remarkable," said the patentee, aying down his cigar, "how little invention people display in selecting names. A hundred generations of Johns serve only to increase the number of him in each new freshet of human beings. "Novelists struggle to give their characters new names unheard of before. Occasionally one hits the popular fancy and becomes the heritage of our man came to the door in answer to his race. Now, nothing could be easier knock. "I am looking for a man with a | than diversity in names and entirely new ones at that. "By a change in syllables or letters any common name becomes a mine

Edgar, and nicely named too. "Thus Edgar becomes Gared, Erdag, Ergad, Degre, which would mark the "Permit me to explain, madam, I was | boys indelible, and Gerda, Regda, Redga would label the girls for all time. "If the mother's name were Edna, a slight change in the order of letters and her sons become Dane, Dean, Ande, Adne, Enad and her daughters, Enda, Aned, Nade, Neda. Different vowel sounds give wide opportunities for taste in pronunciation. "There is a mine of wealth in names for a novelist in the one name Edwin for the hero. His successful brother and rival becomes Wined. With the aid of the astrologer, Wendi, and the verbose lawyer, Winde, he might alienate and divorce his successful brother's wife Enwid, and marrying the fair divorcee, could name two of his heirs very appro priately Wedin and Inwed. A poor relation could pose as Newdi, while Nedwi, Denwi, Diwen and a host more derived from Edwin could furnish the half tints of the tale. "Two thousand years of solid James nas only developed Jamie, Jimmy, Jim and Jeems, while the vast category of possibles has been overlooked. Just ook at Jasem, Jesam, Jemas, Semja, Semaj, Sajem, Samje, Mesaj, Mejsa, Masej, Majes, Amjes, Ajsem, Amsej, Emjas, Esjam, Ejsam and see if any one branded with either could escaps the fields of fate. "Why," said the inventor, growing en thusiastic, as he scrawled away with a pencil, "Ellen, Lenle, Lenel, Mary, Myra, Rynia, Raney, Henry, Hyrne Hynre, Herny, Hyner, Hyren, Renhy, Ryhen. Why, as an invention it is im

"How would you ring the chimes on John?" queried the reporter. "You've put a nickel in the slot that busts the combination," said the in-me her ventor, as he pocketed his geneil and picked up his eigar.—Detroit Free Press.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-A boy never so thoroughly realizes that quarreling is sinful as when he is getting licked in a fight.

-The only popular adviser is the one who gives counsel that fits our inclinations. - Milwaukee Journal.

-Elsie-"Did you know papa well before you married him, mamma?" Mother (sadly)—"No, dear, I didn't."— Harvard Lampoon.

-"Is your husband in, madam?" "No; ne was just here a minute ago arguing with me. You'll find him probably down at the doctor's."-Epoch. "So Chollie has gone abroad."

"Yes." "Who sent him that beautiful bunch of forget-me-nots?" "His tailor." -N. Y. Sun. -Lena-"I had a dreadfully dull time with Mr. Sillyman last evening." Emma-"Did you have to do all the talking?"

"No, I had to listen to him."-Detroit Free Press. -"Why Moans the Sea To-Night?" asks a poet in several stanzas. It may be that he read his poem aloud by the seaside. - Norristown Herald. -Mr. Staid - "And is Miss Giggle-gaggle well educated?" Mrs. McFad -'Educated? I should say so. Why, the ribbons on her graduating dress alone cost over $50."-Boston Transcript.

-Mr. R. (to wife)-"You're mistaken, my dear, in thinking that our young Dominie is a college-bred man. him into a conversation vesterday about foot-ball, and he don't know an iota

-Mrs. Jones-"Why are you so anxous about the arrival of the steamer from Europe, Phyllis, dear?" Phyllis-'O, nothing much; only papa ordered a count from Germany for me, and it's about time he was here."—Siftings. -Merrill-"I'm going to be married next week. It's a big risk to take, isn't Scott-"Yes, it's a lottery; but, after all, you're better off than the girl you're going to marry. You have a chance of drawing a prize."--Munsey's Weekly. -Country Editor (Out West)-"This has been a lucky day for me." Faithful Wife—"Has some one been in to pay a subscription?" Editor—"Well n-o, it wasn't as lucky as that; but I was shot at and missed."—N. Y. Witness. -"Permit me, madam, to present you with this-" "O, sir, but I really can not accept any thing of value from you." "Pardon me, but it is only a volume of my poems." "Oh! I can accept it without hesitation."-Philadelphia Times. -Sleeker-"Yes, sir, I always kept a diary. And there never was an entry for Transcript. -Mrs. De Lace-"This paper says that every pound of ivory in market represents a human life." Mr. De L.-'That's almost as bad as the whalebone industry." Mrs. De L.—"Is whale fishing so very dangerous?" Mr. De L .-"No, that is safe enough, but think of the women the whalebones kill."—N.

IN LIFE-LONG DANGER. Where Thousands of People Exist in

Daily Peril of Death. Strada Etna, Catania's longest street, beginning at the very edge of the port side, leads almost due north toward the volcano's peak, within a few feet of 11,000 feet above the level of the sea and fully twenty-eight miles away. The area of country dominated by the mountain, and at times subjected to overflow of lava, is astounding. Its circumference is full 170 miles and it describes an irregular circle, of greatest diameter from north to south. Catania stands at the extreme of a southern deflection in its southern segment.

The Alcantara river, rising in its northwestern foothills, flows to the northeast, then circles its northern edge, and finally sweeps around to the southeast into the sea. The Simeteo river, having its source at the northeast, near that of the Alcantara, circles the base, first to the southwest, then southward, and then flows around and into the sea to the southeast, below Catania. From Catania to the mouth of the Alcantara, the Ionian Sea on the east, running with almost a straight wall of shore, cuts a thin segment out of this circle. But within this extraordinary distinct circle of 170 miles there is not a square inch of the earth's surface over which the lava has not at some time poured, which one can not now distinguish to be unadulterated lava soil, and which is not subject to-day, or any other time, to a new coating of molten lava. The entire majestic contour of the mountain, broken here and there b lesser volcanoes, is visible from any point at this tremendous base-edge; but more strange than all else is the density of population within the lower and cultivably luxuriant rim. Threading the base, along the seashores of the Alcantara, around to the south along the inner, or northern, shore of the Simeteo, and crowding up to the very edge of its lesser volcanoes, are between sixty and seventy cities and villages, housing-and every human being in life-long danger of destruction-upward of 300,000 souls.—Catania Letter in Boston Transcript.

call be i in pool od cro eacl and lan ster
A
the valt of c

and feet reac plar taile the leaville stall feet ing to this for view a st of opin due tint this in cree of t

Where New Yorkers Live. Though I have always written as a

New York correspondent I live in New Jersey. It is a peculiarity of New Yorkers that if they can afford to do so they live somewhere else. The very richest of us always keep a city address for precisely the same reason that actuated two friends of mine, who were beginning to struggle for a metropolitan existence, and felt they needed to have a Fifth avenue letterhead. One of them worked on a morning paper, so they hired a hall bedroom in Fifth avenue. and when the evening man got out of bed the morning man got in. Just so the Vanderbilts and all the other Knickerbockers keep a Fifth avenue number and live in Europe, and, just so, the rest of us keep a down-town business address and live in the suburbs .- Julian Ralph, in Providence Journal.

FIRST POSITION. large scale, and retards the ripening somewhat. The time of bagging varies with different persons, some applying the bags as soon as the blossoms fall or even before, others even advocating as late as when the grapes begin to color, so as not to retard ripening. The latter time, however, would be too late to prevent rot. The best time is usually as soon as the grapes are the size of small peas. Good manilla bags, No. 1 size for Dela-

SECOND POSITION. wares and Nos. 2 and 3 for varieties with large clusters are best. Sometimes more than one cluster may be put in a single bag, when a still larger one is necessary. Our illustrations, Figs. 1, 2 and 3, show with little explanation the manner of applying the bags. Fig. 1 shows the manner of slitting the bag so that it may be drawn closely around the cane. Fig. 2 shows one side folded over, and Fig. 3 shows the operation completed. A hole should be made in the lowest part of the bag to allow any water which may possibly enter to es cape. In gathering, the grapes are picked and stored with the bags on, care being taken in handling, and in a cool place they may be kept for a long time in perfect condition.

into stin-

and any any ding along

of the very ng in ward

New

very

that olitan

have hem

they enue

Knick-

umber

dress

Ralph.

out of

ddress

Corn, Thick and Thin. The Connecticut Experiment Station calls attention to the fact, which may be interesting to cultivators, that grain in general needs thicker planting on poor than on fertile soil, and that the lodging of grain results from the too crowded growth when the plants shade each other too much, become watery, and for this reason a manured piece of land may give a less return than a more sterile one under certain conditions.

A series of experiments were made by the station to determine the relative dangerous one in winter. value of certain dent and flint varieties of corn. Both were planted at different planting and give heavier returns from the dent was taller, larger, had heavier to the side of a building and so be out leaves, and larger and longer ears. The flint yielded the heaviest crop when planted one foot apart in the row, while the dent produced the most with two stalks to a foot. This remarkable difof the underground stems.

most other fruit trees, says a contemporary. At least the trees grow well when first started; but in recent years birds rows, black birds, mocking birds, or often forechose on the crop.

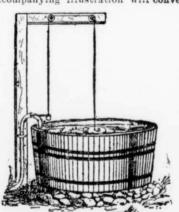

THE STOCK BULL.

His Importance to the Breeder-How He Should be Treated and Handled. A large part of the success of a breeder of any kind of cattle depends on the bull which he places at the head of his herd, on the quality of the animal and his care and management. A man may add a fine cow to his herd and her individual influence of a fine bull is immediately perceptible in the calves from the whole herd, and a fair percentage should be superior to their dams. While individal merit is necessary in the bull, that which lies back of him in his ancestry on both sides is equally so. Particular attention should be given to the dam of You give it a trial. the bull, for he is more likely to impress her qualities on his offspring than those of any individual animal, not excepting his own. The care of a stock bull should begin with his birth. He should be kept growing steadily and fed that kind of food which will produce a good growth of bone and muscle without becoming fat. Milk, new or skimmed, ground oats, bran or middlings and good hay and grass are the best foods for a bull that is intended for a long life of usefulness. Also he should have exercise by a run in a pasture or yard until he is 18 months or two years old.

He should have kind treatment, but no familiar petting. Never on any account allow any one to play with him. The bull should be kept in the barn where he is near the cows, and as near as possible to one of the main passage ways. If near the cows he is contented and more quiet, and if he stands where he constantly sees the men passing him he becomes familiar with them and is not so liable to become vicious. But on no account should the men pay any attention to him in passing, either to quarrel with him or to caress him. Let them understand they are to let him alone and pay no attention whatever to him. He should be frequently let loose in the yard with the cows, and after two years old it is better to hood him when turned loose. He then gets the exercise without endangering any lives or molesting the fence. In this way the bull may be kept many years with-out finding out his strength, is much healthier and safer and a surer stock getter, and is, I believe much more liable to be the sire of quiet, pleasant offspring. In serving cows one service is enough, even better for the cow than two, and certainly better for the bull. A cow with one service is more liable to have a calf than if more are allowed. A yearling bull may serve three or four ows a week with no injury to himself if allowed only one service to the cow and a day or two between cows. I do not believe a two or three-year-old bull would be limited if treated in this way, and his calves will be uniformly strong. It is the injudicious treatment and worse than unnecessary overwork that injures the vitality of the bull and causes him to sire weak calves and to have an early decline of power. A little good judgment and common sense would keep almost any bull in active usefulness as long as it seemed desirable to retain him.-C. M. Winslow, in Far

NEVER TOO FULL.

An Excellent Way to Keep the Water Tank from Overflowing. An excellent way to control the water in a tank is the one in common use and probably not patented. A weight is at-tached to the faucet of the tank which is just sufficient to close it and keep it closed. A strong cord passes upward over a small pulley, then horizontally and down directly over the center of the tank, and is then attached to a float. When water is taken from the trough of course the surface falls, lowering the float. This pulls on the cord, which lifts and opens the valve, allowing water to flow into the tank. When the tank has filled sufficiently the is raised, the cork slackened and the faucet closed. The accompanying illustration will convey

NEVER TOO FULL. the meaning still more clearly. If this is placed on the watering tank in the yard there will be less trouble about a wet yard in the summer and an icy, A little ingenuity will devise means for dispensing with the rope or pulleys. and measured distances in rows four To box in the spout and place the float feet apart. The unexpected result was directly under the cock, using one that reached that the dent would bear closer | would be closed as the float rose on the water in the tank would be good. In a thick planting than the flint, although square tank the pulleys can be attached

Good Insectivorous Birds.

The following birds are to be classed among the most helpful kinds in the ference in favor of the thickest plant- general warfare against insects. Robing for the larger variety, was ascribed ins for cut and other earth worms. the continued selection of seed of Swallows, night-hawks and purple marthis particular sub-variety of the dent tins for moth catchers. Pewees for for the past fifteen years, with a special striped cucumber bugs. Wood thrushes view to this superiority; and it affords and wrens for cut worms. Cat birds for a strong recommendation of the practice tent caterpillar. Meadow larks, woodof continuous selection with valuable peckers and crows for wire worms points in view. This continued repro- Blue-throated buntings for canker duction of plants from the seed, con- worms. Black, red-winged birds, jays, tinuously produces new varieties; but doves, pigeons and chippies-strawber this improvement is not to be expected ry pests. Quail for chinch bugs, locusts. in case of the potato, which is not in- Whip-poor-wills for moths. Hawks, all creased by seed but only from cuttings night birds, etc., tanagers and blackwinged summer red birds-curculios There may also be mentioned the fol-CHERRIES succeed better in grass than lowing insect pest destroyers: Nut chard orioles .- Grange Judd Farmer.

Worth Hundreds of Dollars.

My wife used only two bottles of "Mother's Friend" before her third confinement. Says she would not be without it for hundreds of dollars. Had not half as much trouble as before. Dock Milles, Lincoln Parish, La. Write The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga., for further particulars. Sold by all druggists.

-Ponsby (to tailor)-"I should think and management. A man may add a you'd be tired standing up all day cutting out garments." Tailor—"I don't mind that. What makes me tired is to be stood up for six months for the pay-ment of a suit of clothes."—Munsey's Weekly.

Any man that puts an article in reach of overworked women to lighten her labor is certainly a benefactor. Cragin & Co. surely come under this head in making Dobbins' Electric Soap so cheap that all can use it.

"Here I go," said a little boy who, in a rough sea, was thrown from his berth and hurled sgainst a door, "from pillar to post!"

-Youth's Companion.

Have you read the advertisements of Maher & Grosh, Toledo, Ohio, in this paper and previous issues? If not, better do so. They sell good goods awfully cheap, are perfectly responsible, and will do just as they promise every time.

Boys should be seen and not heard, says the adage, but when they are whistling buoys they should be heard whether they are seen or not.—Texas Siftings. Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by dis-ordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

The flower of the family is usually born to blush unseen except to the young man favored by her parents.—St. Joseph News. It is positively hurtful to use ointment for kin diseases. Use Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. Good at a pinch-the crab.

A PAIR of pants-The weary dogs. A cow catcher-The farmer's boy. Has to be taken by the ear--Green corn.

A PROHIBITION notice-"Keep of the grass. Love knots should be tied with a single

RATHER shady business-Making awa

A fur rug should always be laid down-side up.—Puck. When dentists go into partnership they ought to pull together.

Runs with the machine—The typewriter girl.—Boston Commercial Bulletin. One is company and two is a crowd in a summer hammock.—N. O. Picayune.

THE rifled umbrella is the most common weapon of danger.-Scranton Truth. It is hard for a man with a dull pencil to write sharp things .- Somerville Journal.

Grave-diggers do a great deal of work that is beneath them.—Toledo Blade. THE girl who boasted that she dared to climb a three-story ladder concluded to back down when she got about half way to the top.—Somerville Journal.

FALSTAFF asks-"What's honor?" though it were hard to tell; but let one woman sit behind another in church, and she'll tell what's on her in less than two minutes.—Harvard Lampoon.

Some one says that "the happiest-looking man is the one who is not burdened with wealth." He evidently did not form his opinion from seeing a friend returning from the races.—Yonkers Statesman.

A YOUNG lady at Cape May attempted to commit suicide by drowning in the surf. but "couldn't stay under long enough." It is inferred that she is a light-headed girl—Norristown Herald.

All the year round, you may rely upon Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to purify the blood and invigorate the system. It's not like the sarsaparillas, that are said to be good for the blood in March, April and May. The "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all times, and in all cases of blood - taints, or humors, no matter what their name or nature. It's the cheapest blood-purifier, sold through druggists, because you only pay for the good you get.

Your money is returned it it doesn't benefit or cure you. BORE WELLS! MONEY! Your money is returned if Can you ask more?

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol to inebriate, and no syrup or LOOMIS & NYNAN, sugar to derange digestion. It's a concentrated vegetable extract; put up in large bottles; pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children.

affections, as Eczema, Tetter, Hilled to $12 a mo. Fee $10 when you get your Blanks free. JOSEPH H. HUNTER, Aur, Washington See TANK THIS PAPER were under your washington. Salt-rheum, Fever-sores, White Swellings, Hip - joint disease DO HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely flexible and kindred ailments.

THE youth who wakes up fresh as a daisy is likely to go to bed tired if he keeps up his freshness all day.—Puck.

ANY one can take Carter's Little Liver Pills, they are so very small. No trouble to swallow. No pain or griping after taking. MANY a man who never speculates in leather frequently takes a flyer in harness—on the road.

J. A. Johnson, Medina, N. Y., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

It is the man who is too full for utterance who never knows when he is loaded.—Boston Post.

No Optum in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail 25c. Politeness is characteristic of lawyers. One of their chief delights is to say pleas.— Binghamton Republican.

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many extellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading drug-gists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FOR DYSENTERY,

REANS

Try " BILE BEANS SMALL" (40 little beans in each bottle). Very smalleasy to take. Price of either size, 25c F BUY OF YOUR DRUGGIST.

Sick Headache. cause the food to assimilate and nour-ish the body, give keen appetite, and Develop Flesh and solid muscle. Elegantly sugar coated. Price, 25cts. per box. SOLD EVERYWHERE.

The "Discovery" cures all Skin, Scalp and Scrofulous

Endorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Falls PagerNAME THIS PAPER every time you write.

EECHAM'S PAINLESS. PILLS EFFECTUALS WORTH A GUINEA A BOX. For BILIOUS & NERVOUS DISORDERS SUCH

Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Constipation, Disordered Liver, etc., ACTING LIKE MAGIC on the vital organs, strengthening the muscular system, and arousing with the rosebud of health The Whole Physical Energy of the Human Frame.

Beecham's Pills, taken as directed, will quickly RESTORE FEMALES to complete health.

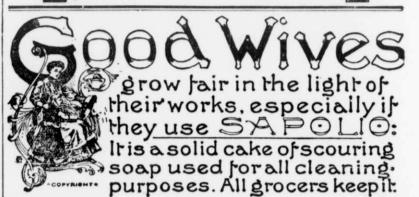

SOLD BY ALL DRUCGISTS. Price, 25 cents per Box.

Prepared only by THOS. BEECHAM, St. Helens, Lancashire, England.

B. F. ALLEN CO., Sole Agents for United States, 365 & 367 Canal St., New York, who (if your druggist does not keep them) will mail Beecham's Pills on receipt of price—but inquire first.

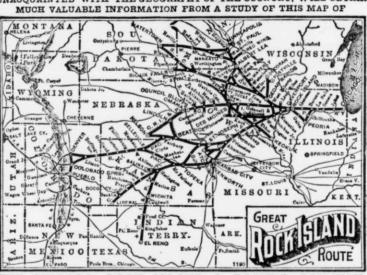

(Mention this paper.) INDIGESTION AND LIVER GURE "Would not be without your Powders for all the possess"—LIBBY. 22 POWDERS for 35 GENTS OF STREET CO., Box 3870. NEW YORK

PISO'S CURE FOR The Best Quen Medicine

LOVE'S LABOR'S LOST by many a woman who strives to please her household and works herself to death in the effort. If the house does not look as bright as a pin, she gets the blame-if things are upturned while house-cleaning goes on-why blame her again. One remedy is within her reach. II she uses SAPOLIO everything will look

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITÖRY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Saaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakots.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to the Short Line VIA SENECA LINE VIA SENECA

travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickers, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

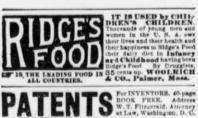

JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent. E. ST. JOHN, General Manager.

OWEN ELECTRIC BELT & APPLIANCE CO.
306 North Broadway, St. LOUIS, MO.
826 Broadway, NEW YORK CITY.

The Braid that is known the world around.

UNION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago. Fall Ter PALMS' BUSINESS COLLEGE, Philadelphia

EDUCATIONAL.

DOCT. BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES

DO YOU WANT A HOME W. W. ELLIS, President Blue Grass League VILLISCA, of SOUTHWEST IOWA.

A. N. K.-C. 1302. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

DOWN WITH THE LOTTERY.

President Harrison's Message to the Senate.

President Harrison on Tuesday last sent the following message to Con- mittee published at the time.

"To the Senate and House of Representatives: The recent attempt to secure a charter from the State of cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore North Dakota for a lottery company, from all stations on its lines between the pending effort to obtain from the State of Louisiana a renewal of the purpose of calling public attention to license to conduct a business the citizens of other States, being powerless themselves of responsibility by the for three days including day of sale. use of such moral agencies as were within their reach. But the case is not so. The people of all the States are debauched and defrauded. The vast sums of money offered to the States for charters are drawn from the people of the United States, and victims. The use of the mails is the District of Columbia. seems to be good reasons to believe liberated in 1836,—London Standard. that the corrupting touch of these agents has been felt by the clerks in the postal service and by some of the police officers of the District. Severe and effective legislation should be promptly enacted to enable the Postoffice Department to purge the mails which I transmit herewith, points out vided for their enjoyment. the inadequaey of the existing statutes and suggests legislation that would be effective. It may also be as Grand Army Day, a grand reunof letters by express companies as to and speeches. the lottery companies and their to the propriety of closing the mails termediate stations as follows: against these companies, and I therefore venture to express the hope that such proper powers as are necessary to that end will be given to the Postoffice Department.

BENJ. HARRISON. "Executive Mansion, July 26, 1890." In the accompanying letter of the Postmaster - General, Mr. Wanamaker says he feels compelled, in view of the urgent necessities of the Company; that the foothold of the brigands. the postal service. The postal em- not put to death, he took to flight. playe readily assumes that a letter Knowing little of the country, he likely fail than prosecutions of an hidden from them as yet by the rocks. coe Conkling said : evils, within and without the postal it. tal system spreads the hurtful power to project above the surface. he says, that the object of the law calm. consideration of the President the who had caused himself to varish fit, well-made goods, and first-class draft for a bill, which if enacted into into thin air.

get this business under control. The bill is the one reported last water all this time, breathing week to the House from the committee on postoffices and post roads, and set forth in the report of the com-

Excursions to Baltimore. The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell

Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and charter of the Louisiana State lottery, Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday, and the establishment of one or more and Thursday of each week until lottery companies at Mexican towns August 12th, discontinuing the sale near our border, have served a good of tickets on Saturdays as previously an evil of vast proportions. If the baneful effects of the lotteries were going on all trains on day of sale and confined to the States that gave the valid returning on all trains until companies corporate powers and a following dsy, inclusive, and from stations South and West of Harper's to apply legal remedies, might clear | Ferry, they will be valid returning demned to death after the failure of the Hungarian insurrection of 1848. the general government, through its This did not prevent him from bemail system, is made the effective coming the head of the Austro-Hun-and profitable medium of intercourse garion Ministry. Signor Crispi, now between the lottery company and its Prime Minister of Italy, was conquite as essential to the companies as the State license. It would be lutionary attempt against the Bourpractically impossible for these com- bon King of Naples. Senor Sagasta, panies to exist if the public mails Prime Minister of Spain, was twice their advertisements and remittances. The use of the mails by as an insurgent if he had been cap-these companies is a prostitution of tured. France contains in MM, an agency only intended to serve Rochefort and Ranc two men who tion the music was much above the purposes of legitimate trade and a have been condemned criminals average, showing careful selection necessary, I am sure, for me to attempt to portray the robbery of the cording to the turn of the political poor, and the widespread corruption tide. This has been the situation, of public and private morals which indeed, of many Frenchmen. When are the necessary incidents of these M. de Polignac, in 1830, was con-"The national capital has become demned to "imprisonment in perpea sub-headquarters of the Louisiana tuity"—the legal phrase for life in- as Bro, Nock gaye us after the close Lottery Company, and its numerous prisonment—he exclaimed: "I am agents and attorneys are conducting condemned to imprisonment in per- School. It was upon the power in targer use of the mails than that of petuity, eh? Let me see; how long the S. S. on the words, "It is not by any legitimate business enterprise in does perpetuity last in France?" In might, nor by power, but by my There his case it lasted six years. He was spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

> Narrow Escapes of Great Men. The late Count Andrassy was con-

> Special Attractions at Mountain Lake Park.

Park, and all the little folks are in Friend and Nock were the speakers. of all letters, newspapers and circu. Park, and all the little folks are inlars relating to the business. The vited to attend. Fireworks, Music letter of the Postmaster General, and other attractions will be pro-

Tuesday, August 12th is announced necessary to so regulate the carrying i in of veterans with patriotic songs prevent the use of these agencies to For these special days the B. & O maintain communication between R. R. Co, will sell excursion tickets agents or customers in other cities, to Mountain Lake Park and return It does not seem possible that there at greatly reduced rates and run speccan be any division of sentiment as jal trains frome Clarksburg and in-

> TIME OF TRAINS sir Junetlon..... Oakiand...... Mt. Lake Park.....

Arrive 10 Tickets sold at above rates will be good only on day of sale.

Brigands Outwitted.

Fenimore Cooper, in his stories o case, to anticipate the annual report hairbroth escapes from Indians, in regard to use of the mails by the never hit upon a more extraordinary Louisiana State Lottery Company. device for eluding pursu t than one He says that notwithstanding the which was related to President Cardeclaration that no letters and circu. not during a recent tour in Corsica. lars concerning lotteries shall be car- A French traveler, so the story went, ried in the mails, and that public ventured, some years ago, to pass sentiment condemns the use of the through a mountainous district of postoffice for lottery purposes, every Corsia without escort or any means railway postal car, star route, money of protection, and in crossing a parorder and registry office is in active ticularly rough and craggy region, daily use by the Louislana Lottery found himself pursued by a band of business seems to be firmer, its oper- As the traveler had some money on ations wider and its enterprises his person, and feared that, besides convention is already too long. bolder than ever before. This yast being robbed, he would be held in business is terribly demoralizing to captivity for ransom, even if he were directed the Lottery Company con- soon stumbled upon the border of a tentive. tains money-that it is in the mails lake in the mountains. There was in violation of the spirit of the law- no path around it, it was impossible that an attempt to punish the of- to swim across it, and the brigands fender who shall abstract it will more were behind him, though he was Warren, O., in September, 1880, R >s-ordinary character. Hence the temp. Whatever he did must be done in tation to purloin it is exceptionally an instant. Necessity quickened his great parties are now divided because great. The Postmaster-General says wits; he saw at once a way out of the Republican party is a national department, resulting from this ne- He hastily cut with his knife one There is not a precint in this yast farious traffic, as the head of the de- of the long hollow reeds that grew nation where a Democrat cannot cast partment he is powerless to act. It on the shore of the lake. Then he his ballot and have it counted as cast. is a humiliating position, and even stopped up his ears and nostrils with No matter what the prominence of more humiliating to contemplate clay from the wet margin, took the the opposite party, he can proclaim that the entire postoffice is in point reed in his mouth, and waded out his political opinions even if he is of fact the principal agent of the into deep water, where he remained only one among a thousand, without Louisiana State Lottery Company, submerged, with upturned face, just fear and without proscription on acand that every extension of the pos- allowing the upper end of the reed count of his opinions. There are and influence of that company. The On came the brigands, following other states, where Republicans have Postmaster General gives a review the traveler's tracks to the water's not this privilege. of the legislation enacted for the pur- edge. But what had become of him? pose of denying the use of the mails | Had he flown acorss? Certainly he to lottery letters and circulars, and could not have swam. There was no the failure following all attempts to other way of escape, and the surface tomers I have concluded to remain enforce these statutes. It is manifest, had by this time stilled to a perfect in Oakland and will continue to car-has been successfully thwarted, and The brigands remained waiting on ness at my present stand, on Oak that without additional legislation the shore for some time, but no sign street, where all those desirous of sethe mails must continue to carry this of the traveler appeared. They con- curing any thing in my line will be class of matter. He presents for the cluded, at last, that he was a sorcerer, satisfactorily accommodated. A good law will enable the department to Then they disappeared, and the Frenchman, who lad teen under through his tube, came out. He managed to keep under cover and make his way to Ajaccio; and there he declared that he had been under water four hours.

It is possible that his distress and alarm may have caused this period to appear many times longer than it really was; but in confirmation of the main part of his story the Frenchman brought with him a water soaked section of a hollow reed.

Sunday School Convention at Swanton. The following was unavoidably crowded out last week .- [ED. State organizer of the Maryland Sunday School Union, Rev. Geo. H. Nock, William Hinebaugh, William were present. Opened Saturday morning, July 26, by A. F. George, district secretary; Scripture reading and prayer by Wm. Ainebaugh. A. F. George was made president of convention. C. T. Sweet, secretary, and Gora Ashenfelter, treasurer. Wm. Hoye spoke upon the Sunday School "Work," and Wir. Hinebaugh upon the "Workers,"

The questions, "How shall we get the parents interested in Sunday School work ?" and 'Can an unc mverted teacher sow the right kind of seed?" were asked and discussed.

There was good singing and plents of it-in fact, throughout the convenreceived many compliments. SUNDAY MORNING.

Saldom are the recole of this or indeed any vicinity privileged to listen to so able and powerful a discourse of an Interesting hour in the Sabbath

Children's meeting at 3 p. m., was well attended and enjoyed by the children, we should judge, from the way they sang "Open the door for Saturday, August 2nd will be the children," "When he cometh, Childrens Day at Mountain Lake &c., &c. Bros. Hinebaugh, Hoye, EVENING SESSION. A. F. George was made president of the Union for District No. I, C, T. Sweet, secretary, and J. D. Ashenfelter, treasurer. H. E. Friend spoke effectively on the machinery of the S. S., as covering a comfartable room, the system of bell taps, the lesson papers, &c. A. Ferieorge spoke feelingly of the abundance of material both in and out of the S. S. to work upon, in certain quarters of New York City, where the Chinese are worshsping the idol Joss, in districts of Chicago of 50,000 people, where there is a saloon to every 191, while there is only one Protestant church to 16,666, and no city on the earth is known to live without constant country. If our boys and girls will go to build our cities, let us furnish good moral as well as well as sound bodles.

Rev. Nock then spoke further upon the kinds of Sunday School michinery which is not needed, and the bright thoughts, witty caricatures and scathing sarcasms would have been remembered for years, had they not been literally piled one upon the other in such rapid succession as to utterly bewilder the common mind.

To close without naming the questions found on opening the query box is hard, but it must be, for the description of this very enjoyable

The closing moments were devote ! to votes of thanks to everybody in general and each in particular, but especially to the boys and girls who have been so well behaved and at-C. T. SWEET.

Secretary District No. 1. At a Republican mass meeting at

"I am a Republican, as the two further that with all the admitted the difficulty, and availed himself of party, seeking the greatest good for the greatest number of citizens. fourteen states and localities in some Special Notice.

At the request of many of my cusry on the Merchant Tailoring busimaterial guaranteed. - 24 2t J. A. ROEHM.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Kidney Plasters Absorb all disease in the Kidneys and restore them to a healthy condition Old chronic kidney sufferers say they got no relief until they tried MITCHELL'S KIDNEY PLASTERS.
old by Druggists everywhere, or sent by mail for 50 Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND,

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted, &-Prompt attention to collections. 112'49.

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our Monte Grown Nursery Stock WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS Unequaled facilities. One of the largest oldest-established and best known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 6761 Established 1846. Hoye, Hanson Friend and others

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes al rd, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemisher m Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints ceney, Ring bone, Stifles, Sprains, al ollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save 850 by ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md. 45.1v*

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, AND PROPRIFTOR OF

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL, Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding,

Stair Building, and General Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on nand an assortment of Cothias, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who have favored me in the last, I hope by fair and liberal dealing their future patronage. All orders left at the mill promptly attend #3" Correspondence solicited. JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890.

If so call upon or write us, The Farmers' Hardware

Association,

(LIMITED.) E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUJGJES, CULTIVAT ORS, MOWERS, ENDERS, HAY RAKES HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We goods ever offered to the farming communication on which we name the BROWN WAG ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and M. O-BORNE MOWERS AND BINDER BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOW EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR flateDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSEL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLE HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWAR and HARNESS FACTORY connected withe establishment.

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 385 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence, Stuated about 2½ miles from Deer Park. Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT, 8 24 tr Fairment, W. Va.

Eperience. Better write at once. We pay all express that was H. HALLETT & CO., Box 886. FOR LAND. NA

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED Having used the above Fertilizers for about our years, and testing many other popular arieties, I find that this brand is an honest rticle, which can be depended upon to be as Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices and terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had n short notice, sent by mail or express.
Address H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from Oakland, Md. These lands are of excellent quality, each ract has a stream of water running through or cattle, and springs of excellent water, and quantity of valuable timber. The Hoop-bole road passes through the lands and the beer Park road quite near them. They adjoin ne farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Sothkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, taiph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhode-leaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the 40 ST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth ash and the balance in three or four equal carry payments, with interest and security of the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. These lands are of excellent quality, each

JAS. A. HAYDEN

Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALES

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 89 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE.

containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily I-med and an abun-dance of lime stone is on the place. Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year. For terms &c., apply to THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md. 8 17 tf

J. F. LEVIES, ---MANUFACTURER OF-Lumder, Shingles and Plas-

TERING LATH I

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three courses

For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN. Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

♣⊕ Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church.

If 296

ANDREW J. HARNE.

AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 2lst, 1887.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the oms will be furnished with everything necary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable om for two horses, and carriage house, ere is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, conted with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PIANOS! CLOUGH & WARREI ORGANS

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of sell-Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask. ask.
I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

*3- Place of business—Rallroad street, next to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER. Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN MEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS

> AND BUILDERS. OAKLAND, . MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went in-

o effect May 11th, 1890: GOING EAST

GOING WEST. mmodation ... -Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD.

General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," sluuted about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 226 acressare cleared and under a good state of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orcherd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 tollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Prop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ringe, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canvasers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, AUGUST 15, 1890.

NUMBER 26.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87,

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing vestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. iel4-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice ir. the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

35 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Land Rates. Real estate bought and sold on commission ission. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above 6 5 '86 tf.

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegary counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the aljoining counties of West Virginia. '88 19 6

J. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ACTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett Count, and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

3 Office in the Court House.

July 4-tf.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
Orlice in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Tuird street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY,

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing Dental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 622 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

e at Commercial House. Sept. 9, 1885.-1y. H. W. MCCOMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING.

OAKLAND, MD., effers his professional services to the peopl of Oakland and vicinity. 5 5 '88 ## Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church. R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second.

Particular attention paid to cleaning and #lling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction

Dr. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Canaday or night promptly attended to. 3 5 y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of E33/2 acres, situated? miles North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn,

For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

1283m Successful Vice import of Bisease a scientific discovery! Street KILLER Saccessial Treatment. (a) " CURES: Branchitis, Consumption, Materia. Rasumatism.

Wenderful Tenic and state 19 use, state jugs. Price $3.00.

**state jugs. Pric Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Philadan Pa

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 251, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattlels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down. THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithf am prepared to dokt it like the property of near"Browning House

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES! MULES!

We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS AT

BARRITT STATION Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules

EWD. H. SINCELL Suitable for any pur-Mules for Logging constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO.,

> —and— TRAM ROADS

Barritt Station, On W. Va, Cen. R. R., 4 19 6m between Gorman and Bayard,

MILLS. PLANING

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newels, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates. EB-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds f mill work. 9. '87.

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of

Boots and Shoes, Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promtly done. Nov. 21, 85.- y.

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a larm of sell as 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river.
This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 5 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling the improvements consist of two dwellings. am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acres The improvements consist of two dwelling ouses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also good orchard, and a young orchard just a good orchard, and a young orchard Just coming into bearing.

The farm is we!! watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber. Call on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS -AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Belting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggies, &c., 622

> JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First-Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Change a Pine Table to Walnut.
A Poplar Kitchen Press to Antique Oak.

A Cane Rocker to Mahogany. See what can be done with 25c. worth of AGAINITY THAT SOEM TRY IT.

DEMANDS That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It can-not, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sar-saparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of man-ufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously ufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method ex-clusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty

Sarsaparilla

has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formconfidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly co-centrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sar. saparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under lence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-ing.

RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company F. A. THAYER.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-iness direct, hence can transact natent busi-OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town. erences to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address

C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

[This is a poetical version of the legend of the two angels; a legend that in some countes takes the form of religious belief, and les takes the form of religious belief, and that is quite as old as civilization.] was thus the deryish spake: "Upon our re stands, unseen, an angel with a pen, notes down each good deed of ours and is it with kisses in the Master's sight oon our left a sister angel sweet eeps daily record of each evil act; it great in love, folds not the mournful sheet deepest midnight, when if conscient racked. lift to Allah our repentent hands, esmiles and blots the recoad where she stands; at if we seek not pardon for our sin. seals it with a tear and hands it in.

GRUMBLERS.

The following lecture was delivered at Mt. ake Park on Friday, Aug. 1st, 1899, by Rev. r. P. S. Henson, of Chicago, and is pubshed by request. The Doctor is too well-known to require any introduction. His lecture was full of wit and wisdom, but we have only space to give a few of blame a man so much if, in the rush his many sayings, which were re- of business, in the excitement of the tive audience: plied, 'I think I have often heard mat of her. ou do worse.' The worst that could it's a little over-done?' You see the folly."'

I am a registrating the a graduate of the standard as a second when we are

THE LEGEND OF THE ANGELS. to see you. And you are really con-like a flock of geese with an old goose tent? Don't want anything under for a leader.

"Did vou ever know a man who liked his business-liked it so well worth living?" and the answer is it that he wanted his son to follow it. Don't he declare by everything sacred that it's a dog's life? Mayoe a good conscience. Then it is a good he is a doctor. He will tell you he thing to take account of stock and is just killing himself to save other see how many things we have to be people from dying and he is not ap- thankful for. It is a good thing also preciated; that if his patient recoy- to get in the habit of looking for ers it was a case of vis medicatrix pleasant things and pleasant places. naturae, and he get well in spite of A man was setting in his room one the doctor. If he dies it was a case day in a miserable melancholy mood of malpractice. When he sends in wishing he was dead. His dog lay his bill everybody complains. Maybe he is a plumber. Even he is not satisfied with his bill, nor anybody

"There is one place where you would think the voice of the grumbler would be hushed, I don't ceived with delight by his apprecia- streets, he loses his temper and lets loose his tongue, but when he shuts "In heaven," said the Doctor, up his ledger, and dismisses his there are no grumblers—that makes clerk's he ought to flee as a bird to heaven. In hell, there is nothing the mountains' and meet his wife on se-that makes hell. In this world the doorstep-just as he did when, things are in yery much the condi- she was a girl. He ought to caten tion ascribed by a near relative of up his children and go to the nursery mine who is a warmly appreciative and play peek-a-boo with them and hearer of my preaching. She sits be a boy again and have a high old where I can see her and she has a time. Instead of that he storms happy facility for tears, and when around: 'What is the matter with she begins to cry I say to myself, the beef-teak? It is not fit for a dog there is some one here who is get. to eat-needs a buzz saw to cut it. ting some good out of the sermon, At the store he has to be a gentlealthough I am not always sure that man, courteous and polite, she cries because I am doing so well, or he will lose his custom. I inor for the other reason. In this case sist upon it, that a woman has a right I dragged like Pharoah's chariot to the same lover-like attentions as with the wheels off. I had an ig when you came to court her, and esnominious sort of a time bewaiting corted her, sent her bon-bons and myself. Walking home with her wrote all manner of little ditties on I said, 'My dear, wasn't that dread- gilt-edged paper smelling of musk, ful?' She frequently comforts me and making a door-mat of yourself when no one else does, and she re- in generally. Now you make a door-

"People grumble at the way be said about it was that it was a made the world, and grumble at the everybody get to work and the 'ittle mixed.' In this world things Bible and the plan of salvation. I pulses will beat quicker and a new are a good deal mixed; flowers and had a very bright girl in my Bible inspiration will come to them and thorns, thanksgiving and com- class once, who said to me: 'Do you they will go bounding up on the p'aints, with a large proportion of the think it would be right for a man to shining way where the angels shall hitch a horse to a carriage; tie him have an abundant entrance into that "The Englishman is supposed to to an iron post and then lash the poor beautiful world where the voice of be the champion grumbler of the beast because he would not go?' I the grumbler shall never be heard." world. That is the reason he lives said 'no,' 'Well, isn't that the way in London where he can have an the Lord drives us? Don't he reeverlasting fog to grumble at When quire of us impossibilities?" 'I guess he comes to America he is very sure not.' 'Don't he require me to do to grumble and when he goes home he what he cannot do?' 'No.' 'Didn't | Thad Dean, 4747 Woodlawn avenue, writes his grumbles in a book and we he give me a deprayed nature? last evening, were initiated into the grumble back. On one occasion, an en- 'Yes, I guess so.' 'Didn't the Lord mysteries of a cobweb party by Miss thusiastic yankee, pointing to one of make me and give it to me?' 'No, Dean. As one entered the hallway our glorious sunsets said: 'Look at the Lord never made the like of you.' his eyes noticed a number of strings that old fellow; did you ever see 'Well, who did make me?' 'I guess tied to the furniture, but which anything to equal that?' The the devil.' She rather liked that, seemed to lead nowhere in particular, Englishman replied. 'Yes, that is and said, 'I suppose you think that In the parlor was a rack to which the rather georgous, but don't you think is "answering a fool according to his strings were tied, and at the end of truth of the statement. If I had a himself in the pulpit, and what shall with dancing.-Chicago News. boy and I had built him a house, laid he preach about? If he preaches the the foundation deep, roofed it over, gospel and takes an old fashioned For particulars and terms, apply to or ad- carpeted and frescoed it, and hung it text and treats it in an old fashioned around with pictures, and filled the gospel way, then he is an old timercellars and pantry and larder with all would have done well enough a hunmanner of bountiful supplies, and he dred years ago or in the backwoods, ing morning:-"10 cents reward,was always complaining of what a He has not read the reviews, nor Lost last Monday, a measily, hairmiserable tenement it was. I would Robert Elsmere, nor Bellamy. He lipped, cross-eyed old yellow pup, take the ungrateful fellow and throw don't keep progress with advanced answering to the name of Fido. He to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property to on short notice and at reas, nable rates.

Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the foundation so broad and deep, frester and sevent while in every office. state, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in coed it with glass, carpeted it with clothes. What does he do? He returned in a hearse." (Wife faints.) green, hung it round with sunset stretches himself and bursts out of his skies and made everything beautiful clothes. What is he then. He is a and bright, and stored the earth's soft crab and crawls backward. That bosom with all manner of supplies, is advanced thought. 'As far as the five cents, to make the quarter necesand then men everywhere complain heavens are above the earth, so far that it is not fit to live in, I declare are my thoughts above thy thoughts,' to you, I think it a wonder that He and if the world should last a million ditions to his store of cash, he never don't put them out. Every now and years God's thoughts, as gathered in then he does. It serves them right. that old book, will still be the ad-"Did you ever know anybody who vanced thoughts of the world. Then off "duty." Then he plucks from his vas quite satisfied? I remember to the choir and the music. Everyhave heard of an old gentleman who body grumbles about the music. No owned a plot of ground in the city doubt these high-toned choirs do and put up a sign offering to give it sometimes take too much upon themto any one who was content. Bye selves and have to be brought down good boy?" Johnny: "No but I and bye a man presented himself and from their perch. And yet, not with- was before your little boy moved said: "I notice you offer to give standing all that, I think it is a great into the neighborhood." - Golden your lot to the man who is con- deal better than the kind of singing I Days. tent. Well, I'm the man you are was brought up on when a doleful To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or looking for.' 'Is it possible?' said old deacon, with a cracked voice, commission and steady work for earnest the old gentlemen. 'I have hanted would raise a long mater time of old and the martyr of to-day is the old gentleman. 'I have hunted would raise a long metre tune that one was burned at the stake and the old gentleman. I have number workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, the world over for such a man. Let through his nose and the congregative the other has his steak burned for the other has his ste Mt. Hope Nurseries. Rochester, .Y. me look you over. It is a pleasure tion would join in with a houk, houk, him. - Atchison Globe, 4 . . .

"What is the cause for grumbling? Well for one thing cultivate a good digestion Somebody asks, 'Is life depends on the liver. There is nothe ing like having a good stomach and curled up at his feet, 'would God I were a dog,' he said. Just then a ray of sunlight shot in at the window and made a bright spot on the carpet. The dog instinctively recognized the sunbeam, opened his eves, snapped at a fly, and deliberately walked over laid down and curled up in the sunshine. He said that dog has more sense than his master. Then it is a good thing to think of how many things you have not got that you don't want. Whooping cough, measles, chicken pox, scarlet fever, 'tecdolareo, and I den't know how many other things-things you don't want and have not got, which other people have got and they don't want them either. You don't know how well off you are, how thankful you ought to be, even for little thing-, Like that dear old woman who thanked God that while she had only two teeth left they were opposite ond one another. "The best way to be cured of grumbling is to go to work. "One day a man who was always wishing himself dead,-and everybody else wished the same thing,came home, frolleing like a boy, and his wife wondered if he had gone crazy. It turned out that he had been to a funeral and officiated as a pall bearer. It was the first thing he had eyer done for anybody, living or dead, and it but him in a glow. Let

A Cobweb Party. Thirty young people who took possession of the residence of Mrs. each string was a card on which the Lord himself could not please him. "Then men grumble because the name of a guest was written. The The first man grumbled because Lord's people don't live right. The person whose name was on the card there was just one tree in the Garden | Lord knows we don't, If Christian | was obliged to wind the string on the of which he could not eat, and every people lived a thousand times better card and find the other end, to which child of Adam is just like his father. than they do the world would still a favor was attached. The strings The first thing he does when he grumble. When the Lord's people get went all over the house. Tall peropens his eyes is to strike out with to grumbling, however, I feel bad, sons had to crawl on the floor and both feet and fists and howl, and it especially when they grumble about untie their strings from the legs of acres of which is cleared, and on which are grows with his growth. He is always the preachers., It's so hard to preach chairs. Short people had to find prating about this world's being a to please everybody. Either its the something to stand on so they could Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables howling wilderness and then stands length of the sermons, or the loudness reach the celling, where their strings up and howls by way of proving the of their delivery. How shall he carry were fastened. The evening ended

> "Don't forget to insert an advertisement about poor lost Fido."

Husband -"Fear not," Exit. Wife reads in the paper the follow-

A man with a swelled jaw, and with two ten-cent pieces in his hand, goes around New York begging for sary to pay for pulling an aching tooth. Although he gets many adgets his tooth pulled, and his protuberent jaw diminishes until he goes mouth a wad of cotton, and his face assumes its natural form.

The minister; "Johnny, are you a

The difference between the martyr

BENJ, H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

MISS BECK.

Sayings and Doings of the "Old Maid's Club.'

"Girls, what can we do to astonish the community?" The question was asked by Florence Benson, after a brief interval of silence, in which five young ladies had been diligently sewing.

"Get married, I suppose," said Pearl Davenport, the youngest and prettiest of the group. "I think that would astonish folks generally."

"Get married, indeed! I wouldn't marry any man in this town, at all events," said Nelly West. "I went down to the store last night after some thread, and I had to thread my wayno pun intended-between two rows of representative benedicts. There was 'Judge' Armstrong, with a pipe as long as my arm, his yellow hair standing out twenty-four ways for Sunday, and droning platitudes on law to Father Kelley, who sat astride a barrel-of vinegar, let us hope-listening with sleepy eyes, and a tooth-pick between his lips! There were the Barry's, father and son, hugging the stove, enveloped in a thick cloud of cigar-smoke; indeed, the whole male population seemed to be there, chaffing each other, lounging against the counters, and looking so lazy and listless, while their wives were working at home like beavers, I'll be bound. No, I thank you," and the girl shook her head with humorous decision.

"You were the one to suggest the matter," said a comely, dark-eyed girl, pausing in perplexity over an unfinished buttonhole, and surveying it with a comical look of distress, "so you must invent the something that is going to astonish this slow-going town. I know one thing, the poor children of this parish should never wear buttons, if I could

"Why, what would you substitute?" asked Florence Benson. Strings, everywhere," was the impatient reply. "And then a bag with a string to put them in, poor little things!" said Miss "Here, give it over to me; I like to make them. But, as I was saving. I hope we none of us really care to marry just now. What say you, Ada Humphries? I'm going to take the 'sense of the meeting,' as Elder Doddy anatomy and medicine. Nelly West, your ambition points to art, and the the line at the academy someday in the near-or far future. Pearl Davenport, you have had several stories accepted by the magazine, and what is better, paid for. We look to you for the forthcoming great American novel. You, Miss Beck, having kept the 'de-stric school for nearly five years, it would be sheer stupidity in you to allow any one else to take your place, for we all know that teachers, like poets, are born, not girls, I will present my scheme, and please don't faint, any of you. I propose that we form an old maids' club.' "Well, that is original, and rather refreshing," said Pearl Davenport, arching her pretty eye-brows till they met the fluffy bangs of yellow hair that curled naturally and becomingly over ly ought to be able to advise us. Now, her white forehead. "I like the idea," said Nelly West, "It will prove to the people that we of usefulness." "What shall we do at the club?"

asked Ada Humphries. the first speaker, laughing. "There are when I think how sick and useless I some things we won't do. We won't compare love-letters, anyway, or talk care for that. We will pledge ourselves | States." to each other, as the ladies famous in we can promise that we won't be married for a year, and at the end of that | who knows?" laughed the doctor time renew the pledge, if practicable.' "I'm agreed," said Miss Beck, showing small, uneven teeth as she spoke. 'I hope you don't think I would burden thriving Western town was riotous any man with such a bundle of ailments with blooming little maids, and noisy and nerves as I am, and I'm only waiting for Ada Humphries to come out a full-fledged doctor with a diploma to ing vines that ran of their own swee put myself into her hands, when she will up to the swallows' nests in the may kill or cure me, I don't much care

"Well, girls," said Ada Humphries, my verdict, I like the idea very much. Of course people will talk, but if I unthat, as the community is waiting to be astonished. We settled all about peoin favor of the club. We all intend to magic. set the river on fire-that is if grass ever grows in it, and I don't know why we should not have a distinctive society with a taking name. We can reform the ingly added. young ladies, all of them of high social | take hold and help." distinction, who had taken up the cross, They did so. Mother Bonner sent numerous ailments.

The club had met one night in the arly summer of 188-, at Mother Bonner's. Mother Bonner prided herself on having been the first white settler in Missouri. She was a pretty old lady with a red and white complexion, which long years of hard labor had not spotted, and blue eyes as bright and frank as those of a baby. What Mother Bonner did not know about her adopted state and the country round about, was not worth knowing. She was always to be depended on by the neighbors in imes of trouble, and often declared that she had "lain out more corpses" than any other woman in the place. Frontier stories with her were always n order. She pointed with pride to an old battered gun that had been used more than once in defense of their wilderness home. The marks of Indian bullets scarred the timbers of the little log cabin at the back of Squire Bonner's pretentious new house. The cabin was ised now as a store and lumber room, and, as Mrs. Bonner often said, was

'chuck full of stories.' Miss Beck had grown thinner and nomelier than ever. The doctor had exhausted all her skill over this refrac cory patient, who obstinately persisted in being sick. While busy with her school duties, Miss Beck often averred she felt middling well, but nights and mornings she was at full liberty to nurse all her chronic ailments, and docors could do her no good.

Pearl Davenport had written two nerself a home. Nelly West had become famous as an artist all through the State, and her pictures were in demand. Florence Benson, the originator of the club, had been practicing law to good advantage in a neighboring city, and was now home for her vaca-

A merry party they were, in spite o Miss Beck and her gloomy forebodings. They had just arisen from a bountifully spread table, when Squire Bonner came in and handed his wife a letter. "Deary me!" said the old lady, in pitying accents, after reading the first age; "if that poor, dear Hetty Sands hasn't got on the war-path again. It's only my way of saying that Hetty's a goin' to break up and travel, my dears, she continued, addressing the society. 'It's a sort of protegy of mine, is Hetty, she added, looking over her spectacles. "The poor thing has moved twelve times in as many years, always trying to run away from that cough of hers. Now she wants to try Missouri, where she started from, and 1 s'pose Clem Sands 'll bring her on. He's always humored her. No sooner does she say 'go' than puts it. You are to be a doctor, and to take her to Heaven, it's my opinion need every minute of your time to study he'd jest try his best to do it. But bless me!" she added, after another inspection of the written page, "so much movin' makes people kind o' shiftless. too, an' there's eight children, all girls, but the boys; there's two of them, I be lieve.

"Eight children!" cried the club, sim-"Yes, and every blessed one of them as nandsome as a picter, too, like their mother," said Mrs. Bonner. "They're poor, of course," said Miss Beck, after swallowing a powder supposed to aid digestion.

made. Besides, you are the oldest, and "Poor as a pipe without a bowl," said Mother Bonner. "How can they help at the ripe age of twenty-two you sureit? Some of their furniture has to be sold every time they move, and they are coming here with the barest necessities, she writes-two beds, a stove, a kitchen-table and three trunks. Now, as to the trunks, they can't hold sofys and chairs in them, you know, so I s'pose I've got to help them. Well, I'm thankful I can. There's some old furniter in the cabin that don't do me any good, but bless me, eight [children! and a sick woman, and a father that's have a distinct purpose in life, that of had all the sperit took out of him. qualifying ourselves for especial fields movin' about so much! They'll want considable lookin' after, that's a fact." "I should think she'd rather stay sked Ada Humphries.

"That is an after consideration," said sure I should; I often do, any way,

"You useless!" and Doctor Ada shook about our neighbors any more than is her wise head at her, half savagely. necessary for their good, nor slander "You have done better work, perhaps, the 'horrid' men. We can determine on than any of us, in teaching the young our plans for the future, read, recite, idea how to shoot. How can you tell sing and have a good time generally, all | what big guns may be the consequence? to ourselves. I don't suppose we shall For all you know, you may be training have many new members, but we don't the to-be President of the United

"I hope he'll remember it," said Miss history, Lady Emily Butler and Miss Sarah Ponsonby, did. At all events, "Why, of course he will, and make you postmistress of the town, perhaps,

> It was just one month from that tim that a little wild-rose-covered, quaint, cozy cottage on the outskirts of the with sweet, laughing voices. At the windows, the doors, among the flowerchimneys the children swarmed.

"Gracious goodness!" cried Miss Beck. when they all marched into the schoolthe doctor-to be, "if you are waiting for room, the twin boys coming last, one pleasant morning; and then she was kissing their rosy cheeks and untying derstand aright, we none of us care for scarfs and hats and sun-bonnets. Nor could the woman keep her eyes off of them. The lovely, laughing faces fasple in general, and Miss Nanely in par- cinated her. She forgot her medicine; ticular, some time ago. I give my vote her aches and pains disappeared as by

> "I never saw so much beauty in all my life," she said afterwards to Dr. Humphries.

"Nor I so much misery;" said the doc world in altogether better style if the tor. "I've been round there, and I find gentlemen don't bother us," she laugh- the mother in the last stages of consumption. Missouri won't save ber; The result of this conference was that she will never move again. And then the club was formed then and there. they are so destitute, though too proud And such gossip as followed! The to confess it. Our club will have to as the Daily Advocate put it, were the furniture and food. Miss West hunted observed of all observers. But the club | up a few pictures and hung them on the prospered for all that. For five years white-washed walls. Then she gave they kept together, and the members all her attention to the sick woman, made fame and money, all but poor and studied out a picture that eventual-Miss Beck, who plodded on nursing her ly brought her more fame than any one she had ever painced before. For five years, I said, then like a The poor mother faded and faded, till. Monthly.

The Republican. | thunder-clap came the announcement | one sweet June morning she kissed her children one by one, then her husband, children one by one, then her husband, and died

The club paid the expenses of the funeral.

A year had gone by. The rose-bushes ran riot all over the quaint lit well enough for a study. tle cottage again, as did the cuildren through its old-fashioned rooms and over its blooming grounds.

ounded on all sides.

oldest member, too!" ripple of light shone in the gray eyes. parters in la Glaciere, Saint Victor and a touch of scarlet made the cheeks girl- Croulebarbe, where the facilities of ish; every curve and line in her face theap living are abundant. was glorified.

Think of his having come to the con- for their apartments.

should happen, you never would forgive have a more substantial meal he goes lown and cried."

way, and me, too.

There were tears in every eye. "Well done, Miss Beck!" said Dr.

Humphries. "I don't believe there is have done nobly." Then they kissed her, one by one, and wished her joy. The wedding was a very quiet one. Flowers and vines were conspicuous in the Rue Flatters. In this, as in the the adornment of the cottage, inside and other one, the dish which forms the marriage bell out of white roses. It was a clear, beautiful day, and at ten o'clock all the eight children, dressed in white, were waiting in the long living-room for the new mother, already tenderly loved by them. Only a few neighbors and the club witnessed the ceremony.

It seemed to be a lucky marriage. "Everything prospered," as Squire Bonner's wife said.

"Does seem as if every cent just doubled that woman touches, she said to a neighbor, five years afterward. "Her sister died an' left three children. Mass Beck took 'em, and now there's 'leven of 'em. There they are, all well dressed and well mannered. She wouldn't have any help from nobody. And all them children love her so! I declare it's good is a sermon to see 'em together. She's teaching every one of 'em to do something that'll earn 'em money in the future, if need be. She'd built two more rooms, and they run the best dairy in town. Seen that new wagon of hers? She didn't seem to think she's worked very hard, neither, but she has, sence she buried poor Clem, three years ago You never hear her talking no more 'bout being weary of life, 'a 'tain't worth livin',' as she used to. I raly believe she can't afford time to be sick, bless the creeter. As to that oldest girl, Hetty, she's the pick of the whole neighborhood. Ain't a young man in town wouldn't be glad to get her."" Only one more little picture, and I put my pen aside. It is nearing sunset. The little roadside cottage is as bright as love and care can make it. Miss Beck is knitting in a high-backed rocking-chair. Her eyes are fixed contemplatively upon the flickering yellow flame in the wide fire-place, for it is late autumn now, and the fruit has all been gathered in. At a table not far off sits Hetty, par ing apples for the annual drying. Standing on the hearth is a tall, handsome ung fellow, who, while he talks to Miss Beck, steals a glance now and then at the beautiful face near the window. "Well, I suppose what must be, must," half sighs Miss Beck, her busy fingers still for a moment. "Hetty, child, come here. Squire Bonner's son wants you for a wife. What do you say about it? Do you love him well enough to leave us all, and go with him?" "O, mother!" and Hetty's arms are about Miss Beck's neck, her bright head wowed on her shoulder.

Miss Beck looks up with tear-dimmed eyes into the handsome face of Jack Bonner. "I reckon that as good an answer as she can give you, if silence means consent. I don't know as I ought to complain, if she loves you. There'll be ten And so it is settled. As for the members of the club-ought I to be glad or sorry to say, that every one of them is married, except the doc tor?-Mary A. Denison, in Household

RUSSIAN STUDENTS.

Privations to Which They Are Subject While Living in Paris. The Paris papers are giving a minute lescription of the Russian student's life in that city. The picture is rather gloomy, but the details are worked out

At the present time the Russian colony in Paris includes about one hundred and fifty students, male and female, and Then came strange, startling news to about thirty refugees. They live with the club, and Miss Beck was the ob- the most rigid economy, for their reserved of all observers at its next meet sources are very limited. Twelve to g.
"How could you!" and "O Miss Beck!" twenty dollars a month may be conidered as the average of their income, out of which they have to "To think you could commit such a pay for their terms; and moreover sinful piece of folly!" and Miss Pearl there is an onerous discount on the bent upon the culprit her soft, reproach-ful eyes, "when none of us, not even I, Russia. From this it is easy to see have ever thought of it! and you the that they are obliged to endure considerable privations, and consequently Miss Beck looked timidly around. A they are forced to make their head-

When a student or a refugee arrives "Well," she said at last, reluctantly, he notifies his countrymen. There is a "what could I do? He just asked me, society among them to which the new and I said 'yes,' from sheer pity. It womer applies. With its help he is enwon't hurt the club at all. If it breaks the to find a lodging, which costs from up, I can't help it. I think I am only $15 to $25 a year. He brings along with It was enough to make a stone change comparatively, he buys a trunk, some going to marry him for the sake of the means to procure these luxuries, children, and I told him so. Those hedges without them, and sleeps on the children just fill my heart. As long as floor, like Mile. Eroquine and many I can look out for them and him, why, I others, patiently waiting until he can might as well. To be sure, I'm only a save up, cent after cent, enough to buy bundle of aches and nerves, but I abed. If he is completely destitute he haven't got consumption that I know s placed with another comrade equally of, though I may have liver complaint. Imparrassed, whose home and misery seled fringed pompons corresponding in I've put away a little money, and I be shares. It is not a rare thing to color. Shaded beads festoon the fans, guess I can make it go a good way. He, and among them room mates, men or poor soul, was getting discouraged. women, who pay from $8 to $10 a year is barbarically beautiful. Satin and lusion to send the oldest girls out to In food the Russian student is also work! Who would have taken care of extremely economical. He eats black the babies? I stormed when I heard of bread and cabbage. Meat is a luxury it. Every one of those poor lambs which he enjoys only once a week. The was crying at the thought of being sep quality of his food troubles him little: quantity with him is the main object. area.

"'Man,' I said, 'if you send those grow Therefore he fills himself with cheap ing girls out into the world, no one to stale bread, including the refuse crusts care for them, and some awful thing of the restaurants. When he is able to yourself. I couldn't part with one of to one of the Russian boarding houses, by M. Koch in the Rue de la Glaciere. what answer I made just then, and I and spacious, but there is, of course, no pose I never shall to my dying day, evidence of luxury in it. The gardens dish never exceeds twenty centimes, one member of the club but thinks you la carte and have no cash, write down in as ary thing short of an ocean breeze. a book the amount of their debts at the Old Homestead. end of each meal, and pay when their money arrives. Another restaurant of this kind is in out. The members of the club made a main portion of the daily menu is kacha ace this seems rather tough, but it is whatever is used to tack the mattre him for twenty-four hours.

he will go anywhere under the sun to seek his fortune .- N. Y. Sun.

FOND OF CHILDREN. How the Duke of Wellington Cared for a

mall Boy's Pet Toad. "If I value myself upon any thing," said Hawthorne, "it is on having a smile that children love." Michael Angelo, poet, painter, architect, sculptor, must have had a similar smile, though one would hardly think so from the portraits of his face that have come down to us. One day while strolling through the streets of Florence a little boy stopped | dam. him, and, holding out a piece of paper, asked for a picture. The great artist he entered the menagerie. Being winter smiled his consent, and sitting down on a bench made the desired sketch. He knew a boy's heart and could feel with The Duke of Wellington had in his children, as is shown by an anecdote quoted in the Rev. W. F. Craft's "Childhood." A collector of autographs has one which he prizes highly because it illustrates one phase of the greal soldier's character. It reads thus:

STRATHFIELDSAYE, July 27, 1837.-Field-Marshal the Duke of Wellington is happy to inform William Harries that his toad is alive and well. On a paper appended to the autograph

"The Duke of Wellington was one day taking his usual country walk when he heard a cry of distress. He walked to the spot and found a chubby, rosy-faced boy lying on the ground, bending his head over a tame toad and crying as if his little heart would break. "What's the matter, my lad?" asked the Duke. "O, sir, please, sir, my poor toad! I bring it something to eat every morning, but they are going to send me off ever so far away to school; nobody will bring it anything to eat when I am gone, and I am afraid it will die." 'Never mind, don't cry, lad,' said the Duke. 'I'll see that the toad is well fed and you shall hear all about it when you are at school.

"The boy thanked the gentleman heartily, dried up his tears and went During the time he was at home. school he received five letters similar to that given above, and when he returned for his Christmas holidays the toad was, as the Duke said, 'alive and well, but in accordance with the usual habits of his kind, he was in his winter's sleep, in which he remained until spring and genial weather brought him from his well guarded hole in the ground "-Spectator.

-The census men have found three titizens of Taylor County, Florida, who awn thirteen dogs each.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-A damp cloth dipped in common soda will brighten tinware easily. -Glaze bottom crust of fruit pies with white of an egg and they will not be soggy.

-Horse-radish is much more irritating han spice, and if used in excess may induce a very disagreeable feeling of the stomach, lasting for several days or perhaps causing illness.

old water which is allowed to gradually reach the boiling point. Just consider what an egg is made of and you will see the philosophy of this. To remove fruit stains from linen, rub the part on each side with yellow soap, then tie up a piece of soda in the cloth, and soak well in hot water, after- the brains of human beings. Dr. Thompwards expose the stained part to the sun and air until removed .-- Boston Budget. -- Fruit Salad: One pine-apple (cut fine), four oranges (small pieces), three bananas (sliced), grated cocoanut. In a deep glass dish, alternate layers well sugared. Just before serving cover with whipped cream.—Good Housekeeping. -Cream Cakes: 1/2 cup butter, one cup cold water boiled together, add one cup flour, simmer a short time; when partly doing my duty. To see that poor man's him his furniture, which consists of cool add three eggs, one at a time, with-patience with that stack of children! skins and bed clothing. If he is rich, out beating; drop on a pan a desertspoonful. Bake thoroughly in a very her mind, and I'm not a stone. I'm straw, and a bed. If he has not suffi- hot oven; when cool fill with cream made as follows: Two cups milk, % cup sugar, two eggs, two small tablespoon fuls of flour. Flavor with lemon. - Boston Globe.

-Pretty punkahs or East Indian fans are converted into face screens by staining some pretty color and adding tasmingled with the tassels, and the effect velvet ribbons cross and recross each other on the handle, ending in a large bunch of tassels at the end. When not in use, this screen makes a lovery wall ornament.

-There is no better or healthier drink than hot or warm boiled milk. In many ouses where they pride themselves on their good coffee only cream is used in the mixture. Coffee with cream is delicious, and the levely color it takes on as the thick yellow substance drops them, if they were mine,' and then I sat where he gets the national dishes down into it is a joy forever, but it is, at a cheap enough rate. The alas, indigestible. Many people who "I wish you would care for them. Lost important of these establish have decided that they can not take then, he said, in a sort of despairing ments is the Students' Restaurant kept coffee would find themselves nourished and strengthened without injury by "Well, I don't know to this minute is in the rear of the building, is clean equal parts of well made, strong coffee and hot boiled milk.

-- Many housekeepers of the present out the children are going to stay at of a religious community can be seen day are entirely ignorant of the appearnome, and I'm going to care for them." from it, and the sight refreshes the poor ances of their kitchens and leave the There was a long silence after that students, sometimes almost worn out by care of it in the hands of incompetent The members of the club were all bless- hard study in their garrets, with little servants, who frequently neglect keeping Miss Beck in their hearts. Miss light and less air. This restaurant has ing it clean and tidy, which an occa-West thought of the picture she was about eighty customers. There is only stonal visit of inspection from the misjust finishing, which she called "A one meal a day, the dinner, which for tress would often obviate. Any dust or some begins at noon and for others a cobwebs or vile odors about the kitchen must be glad," she said to herself. five in the afternoon. The price of each are sure to get into the food and so help to poison the human victims fed thereand the entire menu costs about four- by, but the breath of a kitchen fire and teen cents. Those who come to dine a of healthy cooking are as invigorating

-A great deal of attention should be given to the proper airing of the mattress every morning, and at least once a week a stiff brush should remove the dust which will accumulate, even in the best ordered house, and under the tufts (oatmeal and lard). For a Parisian pal- of cotton, or the bits of leather, or very filling stuff, and for four cents a with. Attention should also be directed student can have enough of it to last to the edge of the mattress, where the braid is sewed on, for dust sifts under When the Russian student finishes his that. Where the bed room is also the ourse of studies and becomes a doctor, dressing room, dust can not be avoided, but it may be at least changed, and it need not be allowed to accumulate.

LION TAMER MARTIN.

Recognized by the Beasts After an Ab sence of Five Years. When the celebrated animal tamer, who died lately, had retired to private life, one day he took a notion that he would visit his former large menagerie, which he had not seen for five years. It was in Brussels, and he started for that city from his country seat near Rotter-

At four o'clock, the time for feeding, time Martin was wrapped in a cloak. He mingled with the crowd and waited until the animals would receive their food, for which they were waiting with wild impatience. While they were eatheart, if not in his face, a "smile" for ing he began to cough. Suddenly the animals paused in their treat and listened, then broke into wild howls of many of the timid visitors fled from the menagerie. The parrots, kangaroos, pelicans and monkeys began to screech and scream, the hyena and wolves howled-in short, it was a perfect bed-

lam. Then Martin stepped forward. With a movement of his hand and with his powerful voice he commanded silence, and suddenly every thing was quiet. He swung himself over the bar which separated the visitors from the animals and put his hand in the cages to fondle the animals. A mighty tigress showed more joy than any of the others. When Martin's hand glided over her magnificent fur her limbs trembled nervously; she uttered weak, tender grunts, and through the iron bars, with her rough tongue, she licked the face of her former master. When he went away she lay down without eating any more food. There was a lion named Nero who had once bitten Martin in the hip and had been severely punished by him for it. The lion had an unreconcilable hatred for the animal tamer. made no other motion at Martin's approach than lift his head and eye him intently. He remained in his place, ying still in the back of his cage, when Martin came near. Martin spoke to him. with apparent indifference. But, when steps.-Harper's Bazar. Martin was going away, the lion, with a mighty spring, entirely unexpected, threw himself against the grating, pushed his paws through the iron bars, and with his claws tore off a part of Martin's cloak. By a quick movement Martin escaped another injury from this animal.-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CAN GRAFT BRAINS

A New York Surgeon Makes Some Won-derful Experiments. The progress of surgical science in New York and the success with which unusual demonstrations are attended have attracted the attention of the faculty in every center of technical learning in Europe. Regularly the pro-fession is regaled with "histories," as they are called, of phenomenal operations by prominent surgeons of this. -Eggs boil more tender if put into city. One of the most famous of these operators is Dr. W. Gilman Thompson, Professor of Physiology in the New York University College. Dr. Thompson's latest experiment was the grafting of the brain of one animal upon that of another. His success opens the question of the possibility of the grafting of son says: "It occurred to me recently, while studying cerebral localization in the lower animals, that it would be int resting to graft a piece of brain tissue from one side of a dog's brain to the other, or from one animal's brain into able to restore abolished function by the operation, but the question of vitality of the brain tissue and the course of its degeneration are subjects of very wide interest. The first experiments were preliminary, made in order to ascertain whether the transplanted brain would be immediately absorbed or would slough away. "I cut open the skulls of two large dogs, and interchanged pieces of the brain tissue of each. On the third day both dogs were killed, and the transplanted pieces of brain tissue looked normal, and in each case they were so firmly knitted together that it was impossible to pull them apart with a forceps without laceration. "The next experiment was with a cat and a dog. Three days later the cat was killed. The transplanted dog's brain was found where it had been placed, firmly adherent to the cat's brain. No microscopic examination was made in connection with the experiments, as they were intended only to determine the possibility of the transplanted tissue adhering. Being satisfied in regard to this matter, I proceeded to another experiment. "I procured a street mongrel dog, opened his skull over the left lobe of the brain, and through the opening removed a small portion of brain tissue. A cat was simultaneously operated upon in the same manner, and the brain tissue of the cat and dog were interchanged. The openings were closed and treated. The dog made a good recovery from the operation, although he was very feeble for a few days and had to be fed artificially. Subsequently he appeared normal in every way except the loss of vision. He was killed at the end of seven weeks, when the piece of transplanted cat's brain was found firmly adhered to the dog's brain, with the pia mater intact. "Now, the features of interest in this experiment are the facts that, first; There is complete union through organized connective tissue of the contiguous portions of the two brains; second, after seven weeks the cat's brain still maintained enough vitality to be distinctly recognized as brain tissue; third, brains of animals of two very different species were thus made to unite. I think the main fact of this experiment, namely, that the brain tissue has sufficient vitality to survive for seven weeks the operation of transplantation without wholly losing its identity as brain substance, suggests an interesting field for further research, and I have no doubt that other experimenters will be rewarded by investigating it."-N. Y. Star.

A DIAMOND'S ROMANCE. A Quondam Sweetheart Left in the Lurch by a Lady.

A very curious case has been exercis ing the authorities of the Cape of Good Hope. In accordance with the law which regards as stolen every diamond which a man sells or has in his pessession unless its origin and pedigree are registered at the detective department, a man brought up for registration the other day a large diamond, worth some thousands of pounds, which had, he alleged, been given to him long ago by his sweetheart.

His story was that a certain lady, still living and now the wife of another man, had found the stone and sent it to him some fifteen or twenty years ago, enclosed along with a feather in a letter begging him to accept it as a keepsake. The faithful lover had kept it all this time, he said, but now being hard up, wished to sell it. He demanded, accord joy and tore at the iron bars, so that ingly, that the detective department should supply him with a permit.

The department communicated with the lady. She, however, being a married woman, seemet in no way anxious to have a foolish romance of her callow youth revived and professed to have no memory of any such transaction. Thereupon the mother of the claimant rummaged about and discovered the original autograph letter, feather and all.

There it lies at the detective office-a faded relic of a sentiment of long ago. It is a composition pervaded by as little wisdom as is usual in such things; but accident has attached to it a value more substantial than any, perhaps, which the recipient put upon it "when we two parted in silence and tears. The latest news is that the authorities believe the story, that the genuineness of the whole affair is in a fair way to be established and that the happy owner will soon be enriched by the proceeds of the diamond which has had so strange a history.-London Letter.

-"I have here," said the peddler, "a patent window-shade, which--" use," interrupted the house-maid from Boston: "we have no patent windows here," and she slammed the door.' "Higher education of women is reducing this country to bankruptcy," sighed the He did not answer and viewed Martin peddler, as he went slowly down the

-Alice (aged five)-"Are you very tired, Mamma?" Mamma-"Yes, I can't climb hills on a hot summer day without feeling tired, as I could when I was a little girl like you." Lulu (aged three)-"Mamma, who used to take us out walking when you was a litt like Alice.—Demorest's Monthly.

FROM EVERY CLIME.

Some of the Attractions of a Natural History Museum.

The Collection of Material a Slow Process-A Notable New York Institution and Its Showing-Row the Departments Are Arranged.

The renowned British museum, an immense store house of about every thing under the sun, was organized in 1753, so that its development has been truly at a snail's pace. In this country, says the St. Louis Globe Democrat. there are several similar institutions that carry the honor of age without having yet reached, by a good deal, the limit of their capabilities. The Philosophical Society, of Philadelphia, published its introductory volume in 1769, the Academy of Natural Science, in the same city, was organized in 1812, and the Lyceum of Natural History, of New York, had an organization in 1817. In Boston there is the Academy of Arts and Sciences, that has been in existance over a century, but neither this or the others mentioned fill the place of incepted about twenty years ago, and so combined in its favor that the material already gathered valuable. The highest type of life, as represented in man. is in the first His lowest es-SOUTH AMERICAN the skeletons of and, though they some of the na-

ARGUS PHEASANT. a popular public museum of natural At Central Park, New York, one was

GOATSUCKER. tive tribes of New Zealand, with a large | fin-like appendcollection of skulls from most of the ages correspondethnological regions. A whole family of a full-grown male and female orangoutang and others of different ages. come next. As the scale goes downward there are apes and monkeys. There are so many species that the natural affinity between the three-orangs, ful only as swimapes and monkeys-can be distinctly | ming organs. traced without difficulty. Bats and This bird has mammals. the descending scale reveals the insectcreatures. Although so small and humble the mole has a brain as big as a bat.

The large family of carniverous animals is arranged next in order, with the lion at its head. The excellence of this specimen, as a work of art, is such that a gold Paris Exposiawarded it. The cetaceans are represented medal of the tion of 1807 was by different species of THE GREAT AUK. whales, dolphins, porpoises and such, and where it has not, as yet, been possible to secure a complete skeleton or skin, some portion of the anatomy fills the place. The narwhal, a small whale-'e tusk. like form, having a long. which has earned for it the unicorn, is, perhaps, one of the most interesting examples: its skull, with the single long tusk, is in the collection. Through some freak of nature, one tusk of the narwhal is arrested in growth, while the other becomes so bulky that there appears to be but one and a central organ. The rudiment of the other tooth remains undeveloped. Instances are given attesting the enormous power of the creature; the planking of vessels is shown, having the tusk of the narwhal projecting half its length on the inner side. The Bos family, according to late classification, embraces great numbers of familiar and strange forms. The collection of antelopes claims more time than can be given in one visit. The saiga, or Siberian antelope, is remarkable, both for the extreme beauty of its lyre-shaped horns and for being the only antelope found in the cold regions. It also differs from all others in having a flexible snout, which gives it a strange aspect in profiles. One entire floor is given to birds, and they are mounted naturally on perches, the old-style accessories of tree limbs and green moss being done away with. The birds of each country are in distinct groups, making a pleasing effect. Drawings, descriptions HEAD OF A SPECTACLED and skeletons are accompaniments DUCK. aiding the students. There are over eight hundred specimens of North American birds arranged systematically. It has been decided that the thrushes carry the typical form rather than the birds of prey, as commonly believed, and show the highest ideal of bird organization. The place of honor is given to the wood thrush, the delightful songster of the woodland, and one of the most common birds in this region during the warmer months. He has the reputation of being only heard, not often seen, but visitors at Forest Park and Tower Grove Park can frequently catch sight of them from a quiet seat in a shady corner. Among the crows is the great American raven. It is found in small numbers in some parts of Maine, but lives principally in the Northwest Califor | miles northwest of Port Arthur.

nta has a curious and unfamiliar running cuckoo, and two species of parrots from Texas are the only representatives of the family found north of the tropics. The gerfalcon, of Greenland, a large white bird slashed with black, is another bird rarely met with except in its foreign home. The collection of eagles is fine. The vultures of North America are represented by the turkey-buzzard and California vulture, the latter of comparatively recent discovery. The great whooper is notable among the cranes. It has a windpipe that runs up and down, with over a foot of extra length, thus giving it its wonderful powers in a musical way. There is one species of swan that has the same arrangement. There are handsome species of the Labrador duck, once plenty, but now supposed extinct. The spectacled eider is a curious bird.

The museum possesses fine er amples of the bison, male, female and calf; of the wapiti, two fine adults, and also of the moose, now fast disappearing from the country. The Rocky Mountain sheep and the Rocky Mount ain goat, unfamiliar animals, from the fact that they inhabit the most inaccessible peaks of a great range of the Pa cific slope, are here represented by excellent specimens. The latter is regarded as quite closely allied to the chamois of the Alps.

Throughout the collection are skeletons, a glance at which shows, in connection with the exterior development, the reason why the animals are so arranged. No one, by this aid, could fail to recognize a variety of the cat family, nor would affinities of the wolf or for with the dog be questioned. The collection of marsupials is especially fine, there being twelve specimens of the kangaroo. The skeletons of fishes are among the gems of the museum, in the sense of mechanism as well as scientific value. They are split, and one-half is wired on a board, each bone independ is extensive and | ently, and so adjusted that it can be removed.

Well-nigh at the foot of the list, in the natural classification, we meet the greatauk, well shown in the accompany ing illustration.

department. This bird is closely allied to tate is shown in | the penguins, do not have the ing to wings, yet those members are not far removed from them in structure, being use-lemurs are the lowest forms of the been extinct HEAD OF A BELL BIRD.

mammals. The succeeding grade in nearly fifty years, and the few specimens now in possession of museums are reivore in moles, hedgehogs and other garded as extremely valuable. The price paid for this specimen in 1868 was The species was abundant in the waters of the northeastern coast as far south as Nahant, and on Audubon's bay was remembered as not at all rare. Forty specimens only are known to science, four of them being in museums in this country. Several young marine birds are here represented, such as the Mother Carev's chicken.

The birds of South America are next arranged, where will be seen the same classification, the thrushes of that country leading. It will prove instructive to compare the family group of individual species with those of other countries. Although the birds of South America are the more brilliant in color, other countries show varieties quite as interesting in other respects. The bellbird utters notes that clearly simulate the tones of a convent bell heard at a distance. The elongated wattle on its beak is hollow, and connected with the nostrils, and is thought to be instrumental in the production of the strange notes.

The great goatsucker is allied to the whip-poor-will of this country's woods, and, like it, has a mouth of enormous width to take in the great moths that flit in the twilight. The visitor is likely to make a stand at the case of humming birds. There are 300 of those little birds, gorgeous in plumage and ially strange in decoration and comparative size. Some are very nearly as large HEAD OF A SAIGA. as a sparrow, with extraordinary beaks, long and curved; and others are metallic-lustered morsels, marvelously diminutive, suggesting Mercutio's "team of little atomies," and his "wagoner, a small, gray-coated gnat"-they are so very small, and one now and then very sober in color. With the exception of three or four that visit the States as high as New England, the 300 different species are natives of Central and South America-not a single species being native to the Old World. In the collection of birds of Europe and Asia is the little Japanese duck, or mandarin, that spectators naturally compare with the wood-duck of American waters. A wonderfully fine group of pheasants is also arranged here. The Argus-eved must be seen to gain an adequate idea of its beauty. Coming to the smaller birds of Europe, there are two of the robin-redbreasts classified among the warblers, and not among the thrushes. The bird Americans call a robin is really a thrush. It is not at all like the English robin in size, but from a slight resemblance in color was given the name by early English settlers. The black cockatoo of the Pacific islands, with red and yellow tail feathers, is not familiar in this country, and his stuffed semblance is much admired. The bird list is ended with the birds of paradise, that are beautiful bevond words.

A DISCOVERY of a large deposit of magnetite of fine quality has been made on the Antler river, about one hundred

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

has used wine on the table at meals for patient. The use of bitters that contwenty years; for ten years past he had tain large quantities of spirits is also drank in paroxysms. His wife used very popular, and an unconscious orwine on the table also, and during lac- ganic memory is awakened that rarely tation had used both beer and wine dies out. extremely excitable and nervous.

day or more. The girl had attacks of emo- sion from ancestors. day or more. The girl had attacks of emotional religiosity, in which she manifested great sorrow and melancholy at her sins, and asked the prayers of all activity, particularly where there is a only the period (.) dates earlier than them to the country where the ognized in the treatment. diet was restricted, and enforced ng when it could be carried out. and brain instability, with low vitality, ered in the treatment. and were neurotics, which would of generation; and the rational treatment should have recognized this condition, system.

A physician wrote me that he had the system. given tincture cinchona to a neurotic for a little time after it was given; on ounce mixture of this drug. He on the brain center changed to other tonics, but found that isting degeneration. nothing would satisfy the child but treated a little boy for over five years effect. for the most confusing and varied disonly to be prostrated with another. None of them were well defined or clear. and much difference of opinion pre-At puberty this boy became a pronounced dipsomaniac, suddenly, after he came under my care, and was a chronic case. From a study of his fore he was born. Here was an alcotice, and where the alcoholic neurotic 2. The diet should not include meats symptoms were not understood. ren from infancy upward to puberity, upon which alcohol in any form and in be tolerated, and in some alcoholic her-clear. to have been more intense than in oth- possible extreme, both in the surer children. Such cases seem to have from nutrient disorders, shocks and traumatism; they are freighted with some heredity or predisposition to particular forms of degeneration; the organism has received a certain bias, from which it can not escape. Alcohol, of all other drugs, seems most potent to im- tinct exacerbations. Finally, the fact press cell growth and function.

No fact is more firmly established transmit to their children a defective brain and nerve power. The form and shape of this defect and its manifestations will vary widely.

In many cases it may not be certain development, especially in the centers. In others this defect is seen in infancy, in an abnormal hyperæsthesia of the senses, and nutrient disturbances. Some children manifest irritation at all sounds, and all changes of light and surroundings, by continuous crying; the skin or alimentary canal is also very sensitive, and various skin disorders and nutrient troubles follow. Low powers of vitality and slow, irregular growth are common. This condition may continue for years, then gradually disappear, and only reappear at puberty, or later in some distinct form of degeneration. Sometimes a marked neurasthenia and anæmia appear in early life and continue up to puberty, then break out into some disease, or develop some hereditary malady.

Another class of children are noted, who come from alcoholic ancestors, by isn't a drunkard on earth to-day who their precocious development of brain | didn't formerly believe he could drink | and nerve force. They exhibit powers of or let it alone. - Ram's Horn.

called genius, which give way early to some disease or form of nerve degeneration from various causes. Inebriety, Dr. T. D. Crothers on Alcoholic Heredity insanity, or both, are very common in Diseases of Children. Sequels. Alcohol or opium in any form A. B. came under my care for home is almost always a grateful remedy, and treatment for periodic inebriety. He is demanded in many instances by the brain receptivity and instability that is freely. He had two children, one a girl of eight years, the other a boy five spirits is manifest very early. A case rears old, both invalids, and had been of this kind was brought to my notice under constant medical care from in- by Dr. Smith of New York, where an fancy, the general diagnosis being infant of two months old could only be -The Bostonian. crofula and general anæmia; and both quieted by a few drops of spirits. Its were of pale and delicate appearance, taste was so pronounced that it would stop nursing at the sight of the person twenty replies in the first mail. One They had continuous irritation of the who gave the spirits and cry until it wanted to know how many he could tomach, from an unrestricted diet of was gratified. Fortunately, such inall kinds of foods and drinks, except stances are not common; but the ab- wagon.-Texas Siftings. wine and beer; were very passionate normal tastes of children, and their ex- - The United States at the close of its at the slightest opposition to treme sensitiveness or obtuseness to first century has as many cities with a be had in crinkled, striped, spotted or their wishes and after a period sensory impressions, and low powers of population of over 1,000,000 as Europe. of rage would be greatly ex- vitality and recuperation, are often New York has 1,627,227; Chicago 1,086,hausted and have a distinct fever for a clear symptoms of an alcoholic impres- 000; Philadelphia, 1,040,499. London,

The family physician had no faith in tion. The child is said to be sullen, 1570. heredity, and treated these various conditions as so many symptoms of threat-manifest the other extremes, indicating ditions as so many symptoms of threatened organic disorders which his skill and remedies prevented from gaining farther. Both had suffered from rubeola and scarlatina, and were supposed to and inanitions, accompanied with menhave never fully recovered. Bronchitis, tal irritations and wandering neuralgias found to overweigh the fractional part enteritis, gastritis, neuritis and various that tax severely the skill of the physi- of an ounce heart diseases were constantly threat- cian. These conditions may follow

In all cases where alcoholic ancesexercise out-doors, and frequent bath- tors, even back to the second generation, can be traced, there are certain These children had marked nerve predispositions which must be consid-

First. A tendency to exhaustion from necessity develop insanity, inebriety or feeble vitality, and low power of exclaiming, "O Lordy!" forty times beany other form of nerve and brain de restoration. Tonics and nutriments that fore he hit the ground. He was left to have a direct stimulant action on the brain should not be used, such as ance of all existing causes that would still further exhaust the vital forces, stimulate the brain and nervous paralyzing the nerve centers and in-

Second. An instability of cell and child of one year of age, for slight nerve function, and strong predisposifever which resembled malaria. In a tion to develop into some particular short time the child would cry for the form of degeneration, which is pracmedicine, and only would be satisfied tically an exhaustion of the higher brain centers with craving for relief. one occasion it took at once a two- All stimulants and remedies which act He on the brain centers increase the ex-

Third. There is a special affinity for tinctures. The child was found to all nerve stimulants by those higher have an alcoholic mother, who died brain centers. Their use constantly soon after its birth, and the alcohol interferes with the natural development in the tinctures aroused an organic of brain energy from food. Thus memory which had been inherited.

From these facts it will be obvious to have; he recovered from one disorder | coholic parentage are far more complex, and require greater care. In addition to whatever disease they suffer from, there is always neuræsthenia and vailed among the numerous medical defective control of the brain centers, men who were called in consultation, which may come into prominence at any moment, from causes both known

The general principles which should father was an inebriate, and died be- grouped as follows: 1. No form of alcohols are safe, and narcotics of all hitch the horse is the time the dog holic heredity, which had escaped no- kinds should be used with great care.

I think we may confidently expect of lating character; while meats contain the practice of medicine that in the much food force, they act as stimulants near future such cases will be treated so to a brain already over-stimulated and successfully that the alcoholic or insane exhausted, and increase the peril of predisposition will be warded off. I have nervous disease. The pathological tenheard of numerous instances of child- dency of all these cases is to become exhibition in one of the West-End realcohol-takers and meat-eaters, hence the diet should always be non-stimusmall quantities acted as a hypnotic; in lating and farinaceous, and should be ance of his dog he captured the big fish in some cases no other medicine could carried out with military regularity. without much trouble. His attention 3. The hygienic treatment is also of the edity was present, in others it was not greatest importance; every means and measure which can build up a system, In the study of the early history of and avoid brain and nerve stimulation, inebriates, a great variety of diseases is required. 4. Cases of this charcommon to childhood appear, and seem acter should be guarded against every stunned it with the wood and the dog suffered more severely than others are under the control of the physician. The tendency of all energy and nerve force is to pass off in explosions, which should be counteracted; the diseases they suffer from show this tendency to concentrate and become intensified in certain directions, also to manifest disof an alcoholic heredity in disease of children that we are called upon to than that alcoholic ancestors will treat, gives a wider therapeutical range of possibilities, both in direct and preventive medicine.

Recent studies of alcohol cases show that over seventy per cent. are directly inherited. If this is confirmed by prominent until after the higher later studies, the treatment of inperipheral brain has reached a ebriety will in the future begin in infancy, and the higher science and growth of the emotional and inhibitory art of medicine will win its greatest triumphs along the line of prevention.

THE Boston Transcript publishes rethe least injurious as a beverage for a height to the top of the arches is ffftyman who must drink, or who thinks he two feet, and it is thirty-four feet to the holic liquors alone.

ONE of the best moves the devil can make is to persuade a big-headed man to trust in his own strength. There

MISCELLANEOUS.

-The friction of millions of shoes has worn the original smoothness from the flooring of the Brooklyn bridge promenade -Broken glass may become as useful as it is bothersome. The British Ware houseman announces that a process is now known which will work glass into cloth of any color or thickness and incombustible. -Musical Hostess-"Would you like a gavotte now, Mr. Wildwest?" Wildwest-"Thank you, no. I don't care much for those foreign dishes. A plain ham sandwich is good enough for me.

-A Chicago wag advertised for agents to peddle artesian wells, and he got

4,351,738; Paris, 2,260,995; Berlin, 1,486,- persons she came in contact with; at tendency to the sudden liberation of the fifteenth century. The colon (:) is ther times she was precociously bright, nerve energies, as in violent passion said to have been first introduced about and irritable at any opposition to he (grief or joy) or work, play or study, wishes.

(grief or joy) or work, play or study, which is followed by extreme prostra--An examination of the scales used pounds. None of those examined were

-The Mexicans and Indians in Texas ening, and as constantly averted. Finally, death of the physician brought a to a degree of nerve and brain degenerate to tan its own skin, and so the latter, in new man who recognized the alcoholic atien or retarded development, and dethe case of the wolf, panther, wild cat predity of these cases and ordered fective co-ordination, that must be recoland some other animals, is mainly prepared by rubbing into the flesh side of it the brains of its former wearer.

-Down in Florida a negro tried to steal a ride on a cowcatcher. The engineer did not see him until the train ran into a cow on the track, when the cow flew on one side and the negro the other, keep the bovine company.

should have recognized this condition, or all should not be date, and given special attention to the alcohol and opium, and meat broths. in a down-town cafe startled even the They are likely to be worn by the mil--A man who sat down at a little table diet and surroundings, and the avoid- These remedies have a tendency to phlegmatic waiter by his order. It was lion, but not by the exclusive. this: feed clams, a pint of beer, a porcreasing the carbonaccous matters of melon and a cup of coffee. He lighted was of white satin fourreau covered each other. One of the birds was an ex- veil enveloped the whole trousseau. songster, but the other would not utter a note. At the suggestion of a friend the cages were placed

Chester Local News. -There is a young woman in an Eastern town who has a magnificent diamond necklace set with thirteen single stones In private practice, some years ago, I stances have a peculiar delusive of rare value. She sweetly confesses that each gem was once in an engagement ring, as she had been engaged orders and diseases that it was possible that the diseases of children of al- thirteen times, and as she did not wish to return them for fear of wounding the men's feelings (some people's honor is so sensitive) she had them made into a composite necklace of tenderest associations.-Jeweler's Review. -There is a butcher's boy in Seattle who travels around on horseback a great and and unknown. This hereditary bias deal that attracts considerable attenwithout any special temptation. Years and neurotic instability enters into all tion. He has a dog, and that animal will perch on the horse's back and ride along the street apparently with as history it was ascertained that his govern in the treatment may be much ease and enjoyment as the boy himself. But when the boy wants to > comes in handy. The dog is told to sit down and the horse is fastened to him, of any kind, because of their stimu- when the two animals are left, to all intents and purposes, in perfect security. -Lawrence Bommer, a hinge manufacturer, of Bromley, captured a monster snake weighing 150 pounds in the surf at Coney Island, and it is now on sorts there. Mr. Bommer is upwards of seventy years old, but with the assistwas first attracted to it by the barking of his dog, and when he saw it the sur he seized a heavy piece of wood and walked almost out to his waist in the water before he reached the fish. He soized it and tore at it wickedly. It was roundings and physical conditions that finally secured with a rope and towed ashore.

EARTHOUAKE PROOF.

A Remarkable Church at Manilla, Philippine Islands. The United States Consul at Manilla,

Philippine Islands, reports a remarkable piece of architecture now being con structed at San Sebastian, Manilla It is an edifice entirely of iron, wrought and cast, and securely bolted together and is to be an earthquake proof church It is the idea of Senor Don Genero Palacios y Guerra, chief engineer of the public works of Manilla, and planner of that city's excellent system of water works, who has conceived a building not to be shaken apart by the dread "terremoto," as so many of the churches and cathedrals of stone and wood have been. The design is original, with two tall steeples at the front end and shorter spires over each abutment. It will be plies from several of the most eminent painted to imitate stone. Inside, the physicians to this question: "Which of church is one hundred and sixty-two the alcoholic liquors is, in your opinion, feet long, by seventy feet wide, the must?" The replies at least agree in spring of the arches; the nave is a span intimating that any man who thinks he of thirty-two feet, and there are two must drink is in peril of becoming a side aisles. The entire frame-work is drunkard. The majority of them con- of wrought iron bolted together in the siderany habitual use of alcoholic liquors firmest manner possible, the fluted The consensus of their columns and buttresses being hollow advice to healthy people is to let alco- The walls are of double plate-iron with a space of thirty inches between the plates. The decorative work, which is quite elaborate, is, of cast iron. About sixtoen hundred tons is the total weight of iron in the building, about one-quarter of the weight of material in the Eiffei tower .- Demorest's Monthly.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Novelties Considered Comme II Faut at the Present Time Golden-brown cloth is pretty for a child's or infant's cloak lined with o'1

Peach color with pistache is a favorite ombination among well-kept and wellgroomed women.

The midsummer hats show relief in that beautiful and costly ostrich tips take the place of spring flowers. White birch is a favorite for bedroom furniture. Against a matting of yellow and pink it is exceedingly pleasing. Some of the new bassinets are made of gilded, silvered and frosted willow, similar to the baskets in the flower

Black mourning handkerchief of pongee, embroidered with white silk, are new and fashionable, if gruesome, accessories of the toilet. Crepe de Chine of lustreless black is the favorite morning dress. This may flowered surface. Jerseys are worn considerably in the country, in the house and any place but the public street. Silk sleeves are added. and the neck finished with a turn-down collar. Mothers who care to make babylothes can buy the yokes for long and short dresses. They vary in price from 40 cents to $5, according to the amount and quality of work on them. Standing frills of lace are substituted for high collars and there are finger deep ruffles of mousseline de soie to be ewed in the dress and turned back to display the entire throat. Regular ball-room toilets, cut walking ength and made with long sleeves and high corsage, are seen daily at the races. The effect in the grand-stand is gay enough, but taste suffers. All the world of fashion, from the toddler to the agile beau of sixty, has taken to the blazer. The colors are those of the festive jockey and the cap is alost as ubiquitious as the blouse. If a woman only knows how to sew she can buy dresses by the dozen at a dollar apiece. This means a cheese cloth, tennis cloth, gingham, barred muslin, challie or cambric, the very thing for hot weather. Some mousquetaire gloves in twelvebutton lengths have been brought out in impossible colors, embroidered along the back and vandyked at the edge.

The bridal robe worn by the Princess tion of ice cream, a large slice of water te Caraman Chimay, nee Ella Ward, a cigarette, after he finished this unique with point lace. About the hem was a meal.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. fringe of orange blossoms, over which -A gentleman residing near this fell a flounce of lace. Being very slenborough has two mocking birds which der, she wore a scarf of white China he formerly kept in cages in sight of crape knotted at the waist and a long

Bamboo racks to hold magazin books, papers or pictures come in various sizes and designs, and are stained in in such a position that the birds were natural wood colors or treated with unable to see each other, and now both metal paint. These are convenient and sing sweet notes to each other.-West pretty for decoration of country houses and seaside cottages, for, like the beach chair, they can be left any place. It is common to hang them on a portico or piazza as a receptacle for the numerous papers and current periodicals .- N. Y. World.

HE WOULDN'T KICK. How a Sensible Man from Missouri Disgusted a Chicagoan. "Beastly weather, isn't it?" observed a man who was hanging to a strap in a crowded North Side car the other day. "Weather suits me well enough, plied the man spoken to, who was clinging to another strap. "You're not particular about your weather, I suppose," rejoined the other, slightly nettled. "Not at all. One kind is as good as another to me." "Easily suited generally. Just as lief stand up in a car as to sit down, I reckon? "Yes. Just as lief." "Ain't particular about getting your full share of every thing that's going perhaps, if you have to kick to get it?" "I'm not a kicker." "Don't worry over things when they don't happen to come your way, I calculate? "Ain't worrying about any thing? "Haven't made any fuss about the ensus in your town, either, of course?" "Nary fuss."

"And don't intend to, hey?" "That's correct. Don't intend to, Don't care a darn about the census." "Just so -just so!" mused the discontented passenger. "Many other men in your town like you?" "Hundreds of 'em."

"Do you mind telling me where you

"Just as soon tell you as not. I'm from Hannibal, Mo." "Are there any other men from Hannibal aboard this car?" "Don't see any."

"Thank heaven!" And the man who sometimes kicked at things crowded to the other end of the car and put his head out to get some fresh air.—Chicago Tribune.

A Peculiarity of Celluloid. Insurance men say that when they are called upon to adjust a loss caused by the burning of celluloid they are absolutely compelled to take the books of the owners unless they have evidence to show that the books have been made up fraudulently. When a piece of celluoid burns up every thing that is in it passes away into the air and disappears. The substance is made under patents owned by an American company, and it is composed principally of camphor. A gentleman connected with the company which manufactures all the celluloid articles sold in this market and furnishes the bulk of all that are sold the world over says that the product of the company's factory last year was valued at $1,500,000. "Suppose now," said the person making this statement, "that our factory should burn, or that the store in which we keep much of our finished product should burn, there would not be in either case any means by which the insurance company could determine, independently of us, whether we had sustained a loss of a hundred dollars on celluloid or a hundred thousand dol-lars."—N. Y. Times.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year.... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten line cents per square for each additional inner on. Special contracts for advertising longe

orrespondents must enclose full name an iress, not necessarily for publication, but private guarantee of good following address, not necessarily for publicat as a private guarantee of good faith, d communications will not be return

FRIDAY, AUG. 15, 1890.

The Republican voters of the several Election Districts of Garrett County are requested to assemble in Primary Meeting,

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1890, at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m .. for the purpose of selecting five

ON WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1890, at the hour of 3 o'clock, p. m., to select delegates to the Congres-Oakland on

Oakland

THUSDAY, AUGUST 21st, 1890. at the hour of 2 o'clock, p. m.

The primary meetings will also se-Convention.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Chairman.

Show this paper to your neighbor, if he is not already a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news should be without it.

unintentionally omitted from the list a communication from a well-inof those invited to be present at the formed gentleman. Congressional Convention in Oak. land on August 21st, in our former EVERYBODY read the article on the maple sugar and coal question. 8th page of this issue, entitled "The Difference." The assertions set forth in the article are facts. Perhaps this Mountain Democrat.

THE promised answer to our appeared in the colums of the Democrat last week. Fourteen days of hard labor were spent in the composition. The census tables were searched, mathematics phrases and kicks up a great cloud of awhile now that the Democratic party were employed upon which to pred. dust to "parken counsel" with, but icate its argument, the accumulated sheds no ray or gleam of light whatknowledge of past years was called ever on the question of the tariff as into play in its structure, unlimited it affects the interests of the people $10,000 in this city [New York]. At space was given to its well rounded of Garrett County. and sonorous sentences. In short, the object was to "do" THE REPUB-LICYN in the first round, but thanks to a vigorous constitution, we are made darker than the waters of the still here subserving the best interests | cuttlefish. of the people with our love for the McKinley bill, as applied to the welfare of our County unshaken, unal- bler, editorial or other sort but hav-

To say that the Democrat has reserved to me along with other citideveloped into a full-fledged Free zens of the county the liberty of Trade organ -judging from its effort speech and of the press, I propose of last week-would be putting it with your permission, Mr. Editor, to mildly. In its attempt to get rid of have something to say in reference to There were not many wealthy men the effect of our exposition of the how the duty on lumber effects our pending bill, it presumes upon the interests and in doing so I shall conignorance of its readers and makes fine my statements to facts which are the money. They, however, coluse of arguments(?) which would in- true. sure its editor a joyous welcome into producing any credentials.

wool that commodity declined ten per cent on the London market, Why was this? Simply a scheme on the part of the foreign dealer to meet | Garrett County which but for the last week upon a number of our local | MEETING and undersell the American producers and the price has only recovered veloped trade, would have been them, and asked financial aid. He OAKLAND, AUGUST 21ST, 1890. through the delay of the Senate in passing the bill. The Democrat forgot-probably never knew-that the tariff on wool was fixed by a joint convention of wool growers and with the Canadian product. When number of Democrats, one of whom woolen manufacturers. In other words, that the farmer himself fixed the price he receives for his wool. If the McKinley wool schedule is so why is it that the wool growers, who are all farmers, have so recently the Senate Finance Committee make no change in the protection afforded them by the bill as it came from the House?

The argument (?) of our neighbor reminds us of a story Henry Clay used to tell of a Free Trade orator haranguing from the stump to a crowd of Kentuckians: "Do vou know, sir," said the speaker to an attentive hearer, "that that coat on your back cost you a half-a-dollar a vard more than it need because of this accursed tariff?" "Wal, stranger," was the reply, drawled out delegates to represent each district in slowly, "I reckon it must be so since you say it, but this coat cost me-by the County Convention to be held in the yard just three bits."

In the good old days "befo' de wah,"a repetition of which the Demo* crat would no doubt, like to see, the farmer, who is now ground down sional Nominating Convention at by the tariff, who has to pay so much more for what he consumes by reason thereof received prices for his products something like these: Wheat, 50 cents per bushel; corn could not sell; eggs, 6 cents per dozen; butter or poultry, every dozen of eggs lect three members of the County butter, 8 cents per pound, and paid Central Committee in each district for cloth $2 per vard; calico 121 and and report their names to the County 15 cents per yard; muslin, 12 and they have to spare, every ton of hay, Iowa excepting such as have been quent address at 11 o'clock to a large shapes that word conjures up before for cash. the eyes of the Democrat-the down. trodden farmer receives for his wheat 90 cents and $1 per bushel 60 cents for corn; 124 cents for eggs 15 cents for butter, and pays for calico form 4 to 7 cents per yard; muslin, 7 to 10 cents, and buys the same grade of cloth for $1, and pays $1 per sack for salt,

As to the tariff on lumber, we the attention of the Democrat to HON. DAVID W. SLOAN'S name was another one of our "expedients" i. e,

Lack of space prevents a more extended notice of the comments of the Democrat this week but in our next issue we shall take up the Lumber and the Tariff. ED. REPUBLICAN:-There is a ceris one of our "expedients," too, Mr. tain marine animal known as the cuttle-fish, which when pursued emits an inky liquid which so darkens the waters that objects cannot be "puerile" and "illy informed" little distinguished, and it thus escapes, editorial on those schedules of the and on reading the late effusion of McKinley bill which practically af. the editorial writer of the Democrat try should read carefully the followfect the interests of Garrett County I could not help thinking that he had ing facts gathered by the Philadelbeen purposely, and with "malice aforethought" copying the tactics of the cuttle-fish. He strings out a lot of high-sound-

If the people had no other source of information, and if they could not the "Reform" Club, of this city, to use their senses, the subject would be

Now, I don't wish to trespass on the prerogative of any other scribing interests at stake and having still

Only a few years ago when a farmer the councils of London Cobden Club wanted to cultivate a certain piece of without being asked any question or ground the first thing he did was to take his axe and "deaden" the tim-In 1884 the country was stirred ber. When the trees had become from centre to circumference by the sufficiently dry to burn well he cut Morrison tariff bill which proposed a them down, chopped them into logs, to be as complete as a business direc- hint which it conveys of the zeal and horizontal reduction of twenty per and rolled them into heaps and tory. Each voter's occupation and desperate purpose of the low-Tariff cent. The agitation of this question burned them. This was a laborous his presumed politics were to be set men. They have plenty of money, which affected every business interest and an expensive operation. The down, and it was hoped that the for it happens that a number of wealof the country, unsettled prices and more timber a man had who wanted name of every voter in the State thy Democrats in this city seem dis caused a decline in value of every to utilize his land, the worse he was would appear in the list. When the posed to contribute liberally to the farm product. The wool industry off. Timber was an obstruction; a work was done it was found that al- effort. They propose, i' it is in the was the first to feel the blighting ef- thing to be gotten rid of in the least most every dollar which had been fates to accomplish it, to carry into fects of the proposed measure. The expensive way possible. Our Eastprice of wool went down. The far- ern markets of to-day were inacces- canyasser's list. It was then decided Free-Trade Democratic majority, mer could not realize anything like a sible. Timber had no value. Can- to send a representative of the com- and it will not do for Republicans to fair price for his clip. The day it ada, with her limitless forests, her mittee to New York. He was to be still and smile at the effort. It is became known that the Morrison bill system of lakes and rivers, her cheap bring with him this list, and was to certain that some of the men who does not prevent the Democrats kickwould be defeated in the House of and convenient railroad facilities, show it to Democratic politicians contributed to the Iowa fund are not ing. Representatives a telegram was re- could, and did to a large extent, sup- who had wealth, and to explain to rain-bow chasers, and they are inceived by a prominent merchant of ply our markets. Our timber grew them what the purpose of the Iowa clined to believe that this educational Oakland instructing him to offer the up, died of old age and fell and rotted Democrats was in connection with it. method stands a good chance of prefarmer an advance of two cents per on the ground. Any person attempt- This man reached this city a few days vailing in Iowa.—American Econopound for his wool. The day the ing to travel through the woods will ago. McKinley bill was reported from the find his way obstructed continually He had brought letters of introcommittee with its protection on by old logs which a few years ag duction from the Democratic Goy- Subscribe for the REPUBLICAN.

would have made the best of lumber. ernor of Iowa and from several polichantable product.

product into the United States, he yesterday this representative met of the country, out of the Eastern November. markets.

ceptionally favorable.

a start in life

These people all have to be ted, and the much abused farmers for whose satisfied finds ready sale at good ples, or onions, all the garden truck which is paid out for wages, and for matter through the West," Brunswick coal.

ty against the United States.

Respectfully,

EVERY friend of American indus phia Press. This bargain with the chief Free-Trade organization of this country is most significant. The Cobden Club of England can rest are backing the Cobden Club of America.

The Iowa politicians have raised least they have received the promise of that sum in case they will permit run the educational end of their canvass. The experience of these Iowa reformers in this city is a revelation of the manner in which the fall campaign is to be carried on in many parts of the country.

Last winter some of the Iowa Democrats got together in Des Moines, I think during the session of the Legislature, to devise a plan for the Congressional campaign. among them. They proposed to put in the zeal and come to New York for lected a little over $4,000 in Iowa, and, having got so much money together, the committee undertook another work.

The whole of this money was devoted to making a canvass of every

Millions and millions of feet of lum- ticians of repute who live in Chicago. ber are rotting to-day in the forests of Armed with these letters he called want of a market and a properly de- Democrats, set forth the plans to available a few years ago as mer- was told that the propositson would be carefully considered, and was Now we have a duty on foreign invited to show his canvass books lumber which enables us to compete and make an explicit statement to a the Canadian lumberman brings his was Calvin S. Brice. Day before pays the United States government these Democrats, and the first thing a duty on his lumber, and cannot, he did was to explain the canvass nimical to the interests of the farmer, therefore, supply it as cheaply as he books. He declared that with $10,could without the duty. Before the 000 subscribed by the New York inter-State Commerce law went into Democrats the Iowa Democracy passed resolutions demanding that effect the Canadian could pay the could carry six out of ten Congresduty, and yet drive us, in this section | sional districts at the election in next

Some of the local Democrats, par-No one in Garrett County made ticularly Mr. Brice, seemed to be any money in the lumbering busi- greatly impressed with this showness unless the conditions were ex- ing. For Mr. Brice it was a fascinating idea subject; it seemed to him to But now, thanks to the benefits of afford him an opportunity of showa judicious protective tariff, our lum- ing that his campaign theory of 1888 ber trade is in a prosperous condi- was not such rainbow chasing after tion. Hundreds, if not thousands, of all as it had been described to be, men in Garrett County and along its borders, are employed in the lumber money was raised, and would subbusiness. They earn good wages, and scribe a handsome figure himself. if they save their money as they Other Democrats promised to subshould do, they will be enabled to scribe from $500 to $1000 apiece, and lay by a portion wherewith to make in a short time the fund was raised on paper.

Before paying over the money however, the local Democrats inwelfare the Democratic papers profess sisted upon one promise or bargain. such a disinterested solicitude, and They finally said to the Iowa man, whom they are trying so persistent- "If you will promise and enter into ently to discourage and render dis- an agreement on your honor to confer with the 'Reform' Club of this prices, for all that they can produce. city, and to use no Tariff documents Every pound of beef or mutton, of except such as are prepared by the 'Reform' Club's Educational Comand every bushel of potatoes, or ap- mittee, and send no editorials or other articles to the newspapers of Indiana, made an earnest and elo-15 cents per vard; salt $3 per sack. or work-horse, or yoke of cattle, can written by the 'Reform' Club and Now, with the tariff-what horrible by disposed of at the lumber camps passed upon by its officers, then perience as a sold er, which was very you shall have this money. We do touching at times and at others would If the farmer has some timber to not propose to have our money bring out loud applause and laughter. spare, he can sell it. If he wants to wasted any more. The trouble with At 2:30 there was a concert of war cut some trees out of his way, he can you Western fellows has been that take his team in the winter when you have sent one sort of 'Tariff Reduced Hon, Louis E. McComas who work is slack, and draw the logs to sort' documents to a doctor, another presided at the meeting. He first inthe nearest mill and sell them for sort to a minister and still a different troduced Dr. C. O. Brown, of Iowa, kind to the farmer, and the result who spoke of the soldiers experience This lumber goes to the Eastern has been vagueness and the worst showing what they had to undergo to making a stump speech because one markets and brings back the money, kind of mixed-up ideas about the bring about such a happy state of > and agreed that the educational cam- of people. Strange, what an identity of senti- paign should be run from the build- The very successful Assembly her colonies and the Democratic par- Twenty-seventh street, which is the it had been a great success. "Reform" Club's sumptuous home. He will, therefore, receive the $10,000, The Mountain Chautauqua, quarterly and will go back to Iowa in a day or 4-page paper, 25 cts. per year. J. A. two. He will then send to the "Re- Enlow at this place will receive subform" Club directions for shipping scriptions and mail the papers, them and for the insertion of editor- great convenience. four Republicans in the next House building next season. of Representatives, and asserts that such a victory is cheap enough at the price of $10,000. The "Reform" Club is now turning its attention to New York and Con. necticut. A very large campaign fund has been promised, so that the literature of the club may be distributed throughout this State and Conneticut. It is the intention of the cell. managers that every voter shall receive at least one comprehensive essay, two tracts, and a collection of the speeches and briefer utterances of prominent Democrats upon the subjects of the Tariff. In addition to that it is hoped that they will be able to send into every household during the campaign at least one newspaper, in which will appear weekly editorials and articles intended to set forth the glories and beauties of the Free-Trade notion. The value of this information to voter in the State. This canvass was the Republicans is to be found in the mist.

HELD TO BE

The following distinguished gen-be present and deliver addresses; Hon. Louis E. McComas, Hon. J. Prentiss Dolliver, of Iowa. Hon. Binger Hermann, of Oregon. Among others who have been invited and who will undoubtedly attend are: Gen. Nathan Goff,

Hon, Stephen B. Elkins, Hon. Geo. L. Wellington,

Hon. Edward Stake.

Hon. Milton G. Urner, Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, Hon, David W. Sloan,

Hon. Thomas A. Hodson, Hon. Geo. A. Pearre. The meeting will be held immediately after the adjournment of the Congressional Convention. Steps have been taken to secure re duced rates on the B. & O.

Let everybody come. Bring your wives! your aunts! your cousins!

Come, rain or shine. The meeting will be the grandest demonstration ever held in Garrett County, Come and hear the silvertongued Dolliver-the manly Her- part in the annual encampment of the mann-the popular McComas - the irresistible Goff. Come and help to taries Blaine, Rusk and Noble are swell the crowd at the biggest meeting ever held in Western Maryland COME! COME! COME!

Mt. Lake Park.

Tuesday was one of the biggest days of the season. The old soldiers turned out with their families which swelled the numbers to three thousand or more. Rev. J. H. Wilson, of prising if there is no quorum on audience. He gave in brief his exsongs and at 3 Dr. Davidson intro. things as we enjoy them to-day, Mr supplies and material. It circulates The Iowa man was asked to look McComas then spoke in his earnest among the propie, and finds its way over the documents which are being emphatic manner, eulogizing not so into the prefets of all classes; the merchant, he mechanic and the pro- to talk with the agents who have soldier, who deserved the credit of fessional man, and even the lawyer charge of its educational bureau. He the victories won. Immediately after to make him happy. The entire went there, and seems to have been these addresses there was a skirmish community is benefited and yet the highly impressed with the docu- fire by the Garrett Guards who did Democratic party wants the duty off ments, and, after telegraphing to his their work admirably, which was of wool, Nova Scotla and New friends in lowa, he saw Mr. Brice, witnessed by a very large company

ment exists between England and ing at the corner of Fifth avenue and closed Tuesday night, all feeling that Subscriptions are being taken for the tracts and articles, essays and The B. & O. is kindly puting up a editorials, and the $10,000 is to be telegraph line from the Associations used in paying for the distribution of office to the Depot which will be a

ials and reading matter in the Iowa | Several building lots have just been newspapaers. Mr. Brice is in quite sold which insures more building high feather over this experience. next year. A number will make He declares that the Iowa delegation their arrangements after they go will be sure to be six Democrats to home to take lots, with the view of

The Oakland Electric Light and Power Company was incorporated Wednesday by the following gentle- Mr Wanmaker surprised his colmen; S. T. Jones, J. Lee McComas, leagues by his familiarity with the Gitmor S. Hamitl, A. G. Sturgiss, D. E. Offutt, Henry J. Mayers, Chas. great blessing for the people of this S. Davis, Maurice W. Thomas, country. John W. Hart, Geo. O. Miller, E. K, Goldsborough and E. H, Sin-

The object of the company is to furnish Oakland and Mt. Lake Park wite electric light. Capital stock $7000 divided into shares of $10.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. (From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11th, 1890 .-The Democrats have discovered a new cause for abusing Mr. Blaine. On Wednesday, the 27th Day This time it is because the State department refuses to make public the contents of the dispatches received from the U. S. Minister to Guatamala relating to the war between that country and Salvador. It is known that Mr. Blame is doing his best to bring about a satisfactory peace between the beligerents, and the indications are that he will be would be willing to have such dispatches published while the negota-

Things are beginning to look like business in the Senate. The Federa Election bill, as modified by the Committee on Elections, has been reported and placed on the calendar and Senator Hoar has offered the resolution, which was some time ago endorsed by the Republican caucus providing for a change in the Rules enabling the majority to cut off de-AT bate upon any measure after a rea. sonable time has been consumed in debate. The adoption of this resolution is certain; only one Republican -Mr. Teller, has openly announced demen have accepted invitations to his intention to vote against it, though there is a probability that two or possible three other Republicans may vote with the Democrats against it: the adoption of this resolution will mean that the Federal Election bill will be passed. Secretary Blaine has written a friend here protesting in vigorous language against the attempts in certain quarters to make it appear that he is unfriendly to Speaker Reed, and what is more important, stating that should Mr. Reed receieve the nomination in '92 he will gladly take the stump for him. This is no surprise to the close friends of either of these eminent gentlemen, but it probably will be to many other people, owing to the persistently circulated stories of bad feeling between tiem. It is probable that Mr. Blaine will show his friendshsp for the Speaker before '92, by making one or more speeches for him in his district during the Congressional campaign. Half of Washington, officially speaking, has gone to Boston to take G, A. R. The President and Secrethere. It was thought last week that the House would take a recess from to-day until Thursday for the purpose of allowing the members to go, but, in view of the mass of important business on hand, the Republican leaders refused to agree to it; but a great many of the members went away, and it will not be surhand more than once this week, Since Mr Carlisle went into the Senate the Democrats of the House have no recognized leader, and the small fry members of that party, such as Rogers of Arkansas, and Enloe, of Tennessee, are given all the opportunities they want-they want a great many-to make monkies of of themselves. On Saturday Entoe tried to gain a Tittle noteriety by of the door-keepers, following a long tine of precedents, attempted to pr vent his leaving the chamber during the taking of a vote. He was simply laughed at for his trouble. Democratic statesmanship, as represented in Congress, knows nothing higher or more patriotic than opposition and obstruction; it has no opinion, or even makes the pretense of having one.

If Congress persists, as now seems probable in the declared intention of not providing for the erection of a new building for the Government printing office at this session it is likely that something of a nature not entirely agreeable will be heard from the Labor organizations of the country, who sympathize with the 2,000 people compelled to work in the present dangerous rookery.

The sad story told by the President's message to Congress recomend ing that the balance of $45,000 appropriated for the relief of the sufferers by the Mississippi river floods be used to meet the necessities of the poor and suffering people of Okiahoma has created much sympathy for the people in that Territory. At the last cabinet meeting reciprocity was discussed and endorsed. subject; he believes it would be a The President has signed the "Original Package bill," and that much talked of measure is a law.

VACANT SCHOLARSHIPS.

Garrett County is entitled to a free reholar-ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md. free for board and tuition. Applicants should be qualified to enter the Freshmen class. Also by Act of the Legisla-ture of 1890, Garrett County is entitled to one free scholarship in Maryland Institute. An examination of Applicants for the above named positions will be neld at the office of the Board of School Commissioners of August, 1890.

at 9 o'clock a, m. Garrett County is also entitled to five free scholarships in Maryland State Normal School, For further information address Secretary of School Board, WM. HINEPAUGH, Secretary.

ORDER NISI.

In the matter of the Estate of Samuel Engle, deceased, vs. Ralph Engle, Executor. No. 229 Administration. In the Orphans Court for Garrett County.

Court for Garrett County.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, By the Orphan's Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 7th day of August, 1890, that the sale of the real estate of Samuel Engle, deceased, as made by Raiph Engle, Executor, to Samuel Miller, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary thereof, be shown on or before the 6th day of September, 1890, proylded a copy of this order be inserted in some newspaper nublished in Garrett Country of the country of th The report shows the amount of sale to be True Copy-Test:

J. W. WHITE, Register.

LODGE MEETINGS.

The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., neets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Haillst and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

The crowd of visitors in town is steadily increasing.

Florist Weber has begun the shipment of cabbage to eastern and western points.

Geo. D. White's new residence on Alder street.

o'clock a. m. Work has been commenced on Jos. Helbig's new residence on Seventh street, near The Rest. The Rev. M. Blake will preach in the Garrett Memorial church next Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. Church services are held every colored people of town. Armstrong's camp was employed last week in cleaning up the "cut"

east of the Main street crossing, of nature and is quite a curiosity. FOR SALE OR RENT.-Hazlewood Cottage. Apply on premises.

MRS E. A. KILBOURN. Crowded trains for the G, A. R. encampment passed through Oak-

Monday. We call attention to the lecture published on our first page which was delivered at Mt. Lake Park re-

A concert of sacred music is given by Prof. Junguickel's orchestra, in the Oakland Hotel lobby eyery Sunday evening. Flossie, a valuable Gordon setter dog, belonging to Mr. Turley, had her foot crushed very badty on last Friday by a B. & O. train passing over it. Oakland was almost totally deserted on Sunday, the residents going to Johnstown to the dedication of the new Catholic Church and to Mt. Lake The attention of horse-loving peo.

ple is called to the fact that "Prince." the gayest and best horses in town.

Jos. Helbig has just completed painting the large tannery at Gor- house is nearing completion. It will mania. The building is 108 feet long, 48 feet wide, three stories high, aud has 102 windows in it.

Hon. Theodore Bruce, of the Supreme Court of Missouri, has made a brief visit to Ryan's Glade, where he was born. He left the Glades when he was eight years of age-47 vears ago-and this was his first visit since his departure. He found the old tree under which his mother was buried, and portions of the stone wall that surrounded the graves of his family were still standing. His great-grandfather, Henry White, was among the early settlers of the county. The Judge is P. M. Farrell, druggist, has gone a cousin of Mr. Murray White. He home to Pennsborough, W. Va., to tlers of the county. The Judge is visited Grandmother Thompson, mother of Mr. Isaac Thompson, who entertained him with many incidents in connection with his family. The Henry White referred to was a revolutiouary soldier.

St. Dominic's, the new Catholic church at Johnstown, was dedicated on last Sunday by by Dr. Chappelle, of St. Matthew's church, Washington, D. C. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Dr. Chappelle. As the church would only hold a portion of those who were present, the sermon was preached from the porch of the church to the people who were seated in regular camp-meeting fashion, A very strong wind blew against the speaker, and although his voice was clear and distinct, it was difficult for him to be heard. Allegany County Insane Asylum to be treat-The sermon was a very interesting one, and was listened to with marked attention by all who could get within hearing of the speaker. The Oak- night. land division of the Ancient Order of ceived their buggles which were ordered by Hibernians and the Catholic Beney- A. L. Gnagey. olent Legion were present. The Oakland cornet band rendered excellent pipe line north of here at present. The first and appropriate music and took part in the ecclesiastical procession which logs to the width of about twenty feet. This formed at Mr. Mattingly's residence gang is closely followed by the blasting and marched to the church. The with dynamite which are removed to clear Catholic choir of Oakland, with Miss Nellie Browning as organist, and Mr. Litzinger as director, sang the Mass, which was Coleman's Mass, in tain employment for themselves and teams G. The Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Father Manning, of Lonaconing. A yery large collec- 'ine along the pipe line at one dollar each.

tion was taken at the close of the LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall sermon. About twelve hundred meets in Sturglas' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday persons were present. Dr. Chappersons were present. Dr. Chap- Notes About Our People at Home and pelle, Father Manning and Father Mattingly took dinner with Major N. S. Hill at his cottage at Deer tern states Monday. Park on Tuesday. On Wednesday morning Dr. Chappelle returned to Washington,

On Saturday and Sunday, July 26th and 27th, a Sunday School Convention for the first district of Garrett County was held at Swanton. It was a very pleasant occasion, and the people entered heartily into the spirits of the exercises. Those who participated were: Messrs. Wm. Hinbaugh, of Oakland; Wm. D Hoye, of Deer Park : A. F. George. H. Friend, of Altamont, Herman Steiding, C. T. Sweet, and the writer. Work has been commenced on The organists were Miss Ashenfelter, assisted by Miss Elva Sweet, of Cleveland, Ohio. The music, both Monday was a cold day, the thervocal and instrumental, was good. mometer registered 50 degrees at 6 Messrs. Hinebaugh, Hoye and Nock were guests of Mr A. F. George. We made and renewed many pleasant acquaintances, including Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fairall. Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Fairall, Miss Belle John. son who is a very sweet old lady. and Mr and Mrs. C. M. Miller, where the writer took tea on Sunday evening. A very pleasant circumstance Sunday night in Offutt's Hall by the took place at Bro. Miller's. A sweet little daughter, about three years old had been overlooked in the congre, gation during the collection, and as we were seated on the porch of our brother's residence she brought her of friends. Mrs. L. Leary has a chicken with penny and put it into our hand. The only one wing. This is another freak | people at Swanton are yery kind and hospitable, and we appreciate the very warm hospita ity which we received. Before leaving Bro. George's we gave him a handsome present, which he evidently esteemed very much-it was the writer's portrait. The first district was organized land nearly every hour Sunday and with the following officers: President, A. F. George ; Secretary; C. T. Sweet; Treasurer, John Ashenfelter. -Field Record.

> The Circuit Sunday School Convention will e held at Johnstown under the direction of the pastor of the Friendsville charge, Rev. H. E. Friend, commencing Aug. 23, at 10 a m, and closing Sunday afternoon, Serm the people of the Friendsville charge are in vited, but the invitation is extended to all, A Bush Meeting was begun at Bayard o

A Sunday School Convention will be held August 23, and closing Sunday night follow-night and will continue over Sun

Sickness continues to mar the happiness of many. S. C. Baker, our genial clerk at Barritt's, has been on the sick list,

We will have another grand picnic in Barritt's Grove the 23d inst. The owned by Mr. F. G. Hyde is one of number who attended the one on the Fourth was estimated at 2,000.

J. G. Hoffman & Son's finishing be a splendid structure. Wm. Henderson, of Chicago, the architect, understands his business.

We are informed that Mr. Wagner, of Piedmont, will soon be one of our merchants. He will occupy the stand opposite the depot.

Mrs. Crabtree, of Davis, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Calvin Thomp-Mrs. Kate Bay, of Baltimore, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. J. Wilson. Mrs. Bay lost a horse last week which she prized very highly. D. P. Hendrickson and lady, of Petersburg, are visiting Mr. H's father, Zachariah Hendrickson.

help harvest.

The dedication of the Catholic Church took place last Sunday according to previous arangement. It was a grand day for that society and enjoyable for others. There was a large crowd of people. The church is a credit to the place. The Methodist society withdrew their appointments and attended the dedicatory services. Most of the soldiers of this place attended the reunion at Mountain Lake Park Tues-We expect a good turn out at the primary meeting at McHenry on Saturday.

Grantsville.

Weather is cool. About six inches of rain fell the past week Farmers are nearly all done cutting oats and plowing for wheat. Quite a number of our young folks attended the picnic at Biddinger last Saturday and expressed themselves as highly delighted with the entertainment, Mrs. Casper Schramm was taken to the ed for mental and nervous disorders. Postmaster Guagey and Dr. Getty were in Cumberland last week John Anderson was in town Saturday

Samuel Beachy and Rudolph Yoder re-Two gangs of men are working on the new is the chopping gan g of upwards of a dozen gang who blasts the solid stumps and rocks PERSONAL POINTERS.

Abroad.

John Cornelius returned to Wes-

J. Ed. Kildow spent Sunday with his family in Oakland, M. M. Schrock, of Bittinger, was in our city on Wednesday. Chas, Lovenstein, of Peidmont, was in the city Monday. John T. Gannon, of Piedmont spent Sunday in our city.

Geo. Riley, of Keyser, was in Oak land Monday and Tuesday.

Mr, and Mrs. W. T. Jamison ar visiting at King Delawder's. Matcolm Good, of St. Louis Mo., is registered at the Commercial. Postmaster John G. Kerour, of Sunnyside, was in our city Monday.

Misses Alice and Jennie Crop, of Gormania, were in the city Tuesday

Sunday.

wood, was a visitor to our city last Friday.

A. J. Parsons, Esq., of Baltimore, spent Sunday in our city, the guest

Mrs. Pleasants and daughter, of Baltimore, are visiting the Misses Spedden.

made our office a pleasant call on the main attractions of the occasion. Wednesday.

Lawyer Peddicord was in Kingwood on professional business Friday of last week. Miss Othie Owens, of Piedmont, is visiting the Misses Anderson, on that the main feature of the widely will have been absent, but every Re-Courthouse hill. Coleman Friend, a staunch old Reland on Wednesday. Ralph Engle, Esq., of Grantsville, made our office a very pleasent call on Thursday of last week.

Gormania, where he has been work- Chisholm. ing for Joseph Helbig.

Rev. J. W. Davis, of Pennsylvania, has been at the bedside of his father, Jos. B. Davis, the past week.

Mrs. S. E. Bolden and family and are visiting relatives at Grantsville.

was in our city last Thursday. Mrs. of a most delightful time. M. spent parts of last and this week at Mt. Lake Park.

Mrs. Kearhey and daughter, Bea. trice, of Baltimore who have been at Mrs. Fay's for a week returned to their home on Friday.

Miss Gilla Camp, who has been friends and acquaintances. visiting Miss Katie Low for the past near Morgantown Wednesday.

Hon. Louis E. McComas, made us a very pleasant call on Wednesday. registered at the Oakland Hotel.

Samuel Green, Esq., of Elk Garden, was in Oakland on Monday. White in this city Mr. Green made THE REPUBLICAN a pleasant call.

Mrs. Bruce, relict of the the late Judge Bruce, of Cumberland, M.I., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. General Kelley, at "Swan Meadows." Misses Lillian and Addie Morris, Florence Vickery and Nira Watson, of Kingwood, were in our city on Wednesday, the guests of Mrs. G. S.

Hamill.

visit to her brothers, A. D. and E. G. Naylor. Thomas F. Smouse, of Bedford Pa., was in Oakland last Saturday pulp timber down on Yough near Cranesville. Major Willie Ison returned to Washington last Saturday to resume his duties as clerk in the War Department. The major spent his vacation in Oakland visiting his parents.

stead of 25 names.

now 38 names on the roll, and most will take in. of them intend to teach during the pected and will come in by next family of Garrett and Allegany counweek, Board can be had at two and ties arrived in Piedmont on Tuesday felty. Miss Butler is a daughter of Brantsburg. Rev. J. G. Bulter of the Memorial Lutheran church of Washington D. C., who is also chaplain of the U. S.

Senate.

Miss Carrie Ravenscroft left for her home near Piedmont on the 8th inst. Mrs. R. A. Ravenscroft attended there went to visit Dr. Ravenscroft's parents near Piedmont. Rev. W. M.Spangler and wife took in the soldiers' reunion at Mt. Lake Park on last Tuesday.

The Sunday school pienic at the well.

It was reported last week that little Charley Lakel, formerly of Piedmont, now of Beayer, Pa., had rup-Godfrey Felty, of Piedmont, was tured a blood vessel of the lungs seen on our streets Thursday of last while blowing a horn and had died of hemorrhage. We are happy to say Dolph Felty, the drummer, was for the benefit of his numerous relaon a visit to his parents in our city tives in Garrett, as he was related to the Hershberger family, that the report is unfounded and not confirmed. Camden Messenger, Esq., of King- | Charley was a member of the Anderson band, of Westernport, while a resident of Piedmont, and on account of his youthful age and thora prodigy in the art. He accompanied the band on all their engagements during the political campaign of two years ago, and the little horn-Hanson B. Friend, of Swanton | blower in his regimentals was one of > day, took quite a crowd of our peolightful summer home. We suppose every body has heard advertised picnic to be held at Bar- publican will have voted for Mc- lows' cemetery on Sunday morning.

ritt on the 23d of this month is the publican of Friendsville, was in Oak. target shooting for a purse of $50, between Capt. Chisholm, of the Haymakers, of Oakland, and the exchamion rifle-shot, of Elk Garden.

Mrs. McCormick, of Kingwood, one present carried away memories

Elward Brydon, of Baltimere, coltown with the family of his uncle,

Wm. A. Brydon.

ployed about the mill and in the are rapidly coming into "touch" with woods is a strong protectionist and a the great bustling world outside and warm adherent of McComas.

friends on last Saturday.

the Franklin Consolidated Coal Com- shall vastly increase our agricultural boss. The Franklin Mine is the only portant agency. Miss Cora Naylor returned to her big vein coal within the border of home in Hedgesville, W. Va., yes- Garrett County, and brings in quite provement is found in the fact, now terday. She had been on a protracted a revenne to our treasury, for taxes, besides furnishing employment to a number of miners who live in this vacinity and on Franklin Hill, Mr. Smouse is contemplating buying Rawlings started on No. 5 Friday man company, to Denver, Colorado, Salt Lake City, the famous George-

Wm. E. "Haskitt was appointed post master at Piedmont on last resigned. Mr. Heskitt is one of the approval of his party.

From present indications the cagressional Convention will be tested to its fullest. The one important Forks on the 9th was quite a success, question with nearly every one you It is estimated that more than six meet is, "Are you going to Oakland hundred people were in attendance on the 21st?" The one universal reand all seemed to enjoy themselve ply "I am making my arrangements to take a day off at that time." Alle-The farmers of our community are gany County which has lately folworking away busity at their oats. Dwed the example of McComas' na- States, have in the same time come tive county and endorsed his renomtrain will be run over the George's this important, highly attractive and miners who are anxious to show monwealth. So mote it be! their fealty to the man who has fought so valiantly for the protection of their main industry. Washington County will honor her valuant and eyer popular son with a similar large delegation. Then Frederick, with her enthusiastic supporters, Montough mastery of the most difficuit gomery, with her staunch and true, pieces of band music was regarded as who never quait nor falter when the Mt. Lake Park on Friday aged about enemy is to be met, even if she is 21 years. The remains were taken to surrounded by an overwhelming Democratic majority. Last but not least, Garrett, which, it is hoped, will do honor to the occasion. As the committee has honored her by the convention, by sending such a The bivouse of the G. A. R. at Mountain Lake Park, on last Tues- quota from shop, field and factory, that will show to the visitors from ple to the classic shades of that de- sister counties, that we propose to answer to our names on election day night, Aug. 8, 1890. Mrs. Cogley was and when the vote is counted not one

Comas and Protection. XXX. FLORIDA LETTER.

Special correspondence of THE REPUBLICAN.

Garrett County riflemen to wager our our section of the State and especial- mains were interred on Saturday in Richard Sharpes has returned from pile-if we get one by that time-on by this county of Columbia, more the cemetery at the Episcopal church. prominently before the general pub-Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bantz added lie. For one thing, railroad enterto the interest of social life in town prises have been pushed forward, on Friday evening by giving a dance The Georgia, Southern & Florida, to a large number of invited guests. from Macon to Palatka, is completed The evening was just cool enough to and in full operation, and with make dancing enjoyable. The ladies Northern connections, furnishes a Mrs. Mary Lowenstein and family were gay and pretty and the gentle- much shorter, quicker and more dimen gallant and handsome. Every rect line to the very heart of the State. This route doubles the importance of our county-town, Lake City, opens quite an extensive timlector Hech & Bros. Installment ber section, and will greatly enhance House, is spending his vacation in the value of real estate along its line. It is understood, too, that the same company has secured a con-Wm. E. Cresap, of Rawling's Sta- trolling interest in the line to be at tion, is here on a few days visit to once constructed from Jacksonville, via. Middleburgh, Clay County, Edward Crow, Superintendent of Lawty's and Lake Butler. Bradford, four weeks returned to her home Kane & Co.'s saw mill, at Empire, to Fort White in the South East passed through town on Monday, in corner of this county. By this road charge of five very fine draught at least 20 miles will be added to our horses, to be used on the tram road bounty railroad facilities, and give Mr. McComas and family are now and in the woods to get out timber. us as much as 120 miles of track, and The mili has undergone complete five distinct roads. Certainly it is repair and is running steadily every becoming evident that as a county, day. Strange to say, every man em- we are getting out of the woods-we > around us. Miss Emma Ware and brother, of In regard to phosphate, while we Westernport, Md., were guests of are not as yet actively engaged in the developement of this interest, we The name of the Maryland Union have unquestionably very rich de-Coal Company has been changed to posits of the stuff, and in the future pany, with James Boyce, Pres.; R. products, add to the value of our E. Haldeman, Supt., and Mr. Pat- lands, and improve our material conrick Grant, of this district, mining dition all round, through this im-

Another encouraging item of imcertain beyond a doubt, that the Coates & Co. Knitting Factory has come to Lake City to stay. The class of goods manufactured -- a compara-Messrs. G. C. Patterson and Lloyd tively new style of ladies underwear-finds a ready and remunera. evening, and the Piedmont contin- tive market, and the works, instead gent of ticket agents, on the follow- of longer an experiment, will be ening morning, for Chicago, where larged and run to full capacity, they will meet the Eastern delega- twelve months in the year. As the tion and travel in royal style, in policy of the company is to employ trains of Pullman cars generously white labor exclusively at this point, placed at their disposal by the Pull- and all the inside operatives being females, all of approved moral character, safe, genteel and profitable em-The Democrat of last week made a town loup on the Union Pacific R. ployment will be offered steadily to a mistake when it said that the Acci- R., where the road in making the hundred or more needy and willing dent Normal opened with 25 names western descent of the Rocky Moun- toilers, hither to shut out from almost on the roll. It opened with 35 in tains, forms itself into a bow knot. a every chance of self-help. Add to trip up the incline railway to the this the fact that the Alliance Organ-On last Monday morning three top of Pike's Peak, are a few of the ization is succeeding in advancing more students came in and there are many points of interest the members | the price of our great money product, long-staple cotton, and all can see Mrs. Ellen Klipstein, of Kansas that Columbia County is greatly coming winter. Still more are ex- City, who is related to the Brown mending her pace in the general race of material progress.

Another matter must however be not more than two dollars and fifty morning, on a visit to her relatives. mentioned in this connection. It is cents a week. Our town has been Mrs. John Warnick, accompanied this-our educational interests are quite lively since Normal has opened. by her daughter, Mrs. Joe Pearce being advocated as well. Under the Miss Ella Butler, of Washington and family, all of Barton, Md., is present county administration the

D. C., is visiting Mrs, E. H. Giot- visiting her sister Mrs. Green, of schools of the county are being lifted out of the "ruts." The old system or custom of two, three or four months in the year, and any time, in Thursday, vice Mr. Gardner, who the year, is to give place to five had filled the office but a few months, months for all the county schools, and all during a fixed period. The most popular young Republicans of teachers must show advanced at-Piedmont and we feel sure that the tainments, and conform a settled and the soldiers' reunion at Mt. Lake appointment of the worthy young uniform system of instruction and Park on last Tuesday, and from man will meet with the unanimous discipline, and the whole machinery will be worked for better results. In this connection it may be mentioned pacity of Oakland to accommodate a also, that our state institution, the large crowd on the day of the Con- Florida State Agricultural College, is accorded more liberal aid from the general government, and will hereafter afford the best instruction avai able, to as many as 150 of the young > men of the State. All this, with the additional consideration that quite a number of excellent people from various northern to find permanent homes and emination with an enthusiasm that has ployment among us, assures us that paralyzed the Democrats, expects to Columbia now is, and in the future send 200 delegates to the conven- destined more and more conspicuous tion. It is reported that a special to be, one of the leading counties of Creek R. R. to accommodate the rapidly developing Peninsular Com-

> > Fraternally, J. B. SHOUP. Mt. Tabor, Flz., Aug. 6, 1890.

DEATHS. KENDLEBERGER.-Miss Kendleberger, whose illness was noted in last, week's REPUBLICAN, died at Wheeling and interred.

HAUN. - Abraham Haun, aged about 60 years, died at his residence near Cherry creek, on Saturday, and was buried on Monday in the burying-ground near Yutzy's.

Cogley,-Mrs. Jos. Cogley died at her home in Oakland on Friday taken ill on Sunday night. The remains were buried in the Odd Fel-

Howard.-On Thursday night at the residence of her uncle in East Oakland, Alice K. Howard, aged about 11, years, Little Alice was a Within the last few months a num- bright child, loved by all and was We have just got conceit enough in ber of things have transpired to bring the pet of the household. Her re-

Moon .- At Gorman, a child of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Moon, aged about two months,-Gorman Corr. MICHARIS -Mr. David Michaels aged 72 cars, died at his residence on Franklin Hill on last Saturday, and was buried in the famly burying ground at Charles Michaels' on Monday afternoon. His funeral was preached by Rev. Howard, of the M. E. Church, at Firm Rock, at 2 p. m., Monday, after which his renains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of sorrowing relaives and sympathizing friends. Uncle Davy Michaels, as he was familiarly known in this vicinity, was an example of what industry and frugality can accomplish. His fireside and wherever he was known his good name which lives after him, stands as a bright tes-timony to his worth and merit. As an evidence of the high esteem in which he was neld by his friends in this neighborhood, the Franklin mines on the day of his funeral ## suspended operations.—Bloomington Con NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes, at the time and places following:

he time and piaces following:

No. 9—Johnson's, Aug. 18.

No. 11—Greeg's Mill, Aug. 19.

No. 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20.

No. 12—Bittinger, Aug. 21.

No. 5—Accident, Aug. 22.

No. 2—Isaac M, Umbel's, Aug. 22. Friendsastown, Aug. 26, forenoon, Mc-No. 4—Bloomington, Aug. 19, No. 1—Swanton, Aug. 20, No. 19—Deer Park, Aug. 21, No. 8—Gorman, Aug. 22, Office to the control of Henry, Aug. 26, after Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 N. B.-By an Act of the General Assembly ist day of september succeeding the levy, and on all county taxes paid of fore said day a discount of 3 per cent allowed; and after the 1st day of Jan taxes shall bear interest at the rate taxes shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid. The Trensurer shall take the discount and charge interest on the tax bills for county purposes regularly in the manner aforesaid, and shall note the same upon his books and upon the receipt given for taxes so paid; but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same is made.

FERNLEIGH MANOR IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS. Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

URIAH M. STANTON,

Treasurer.

Scenery Unsurpassed. JOHN B. DEAKINS. Proprietor.

SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.) ALL KINDS OF

LUMBER. SHINGLES. LATH AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY.

Orders for Lumber and anything in my line solicited and promptly filled,

25 1 yr

WM. A. LORAW.

'em all 'n' more.
The washin' 's pilin' big this week—'n' Mandy, you come here want them things run thro' the blue, 'n' rinse 'em lively, dear Of course folks got to marry, child-them on The Lord ain't meant no different when He made 'em as He did. I allus think it's worried Him right from the To have ol' maids left over-'n' bachelors i N' yet, they have the bestest time; they git some peace 'n' ease, N' there's lots o' comfort, Mandy, 'n' doin' as

But, sho! I wouldn't change with 'em; they ain't got much to fear, Nor nothin' much to hope, I guess—keep rinsin lively, dear. I bin through troubies, firs' 'n' las,' enough to

Whiter 'n' them there pillar-shams-why, la

the wear 'n' tear
Jes' of the every days, not countin' sickness in, nor death, But jes' the chil'ren 'n' the meals 'n' drawin daily breath 'N' goin' daily roun's-my, my! But there, I won't complain; I'd turn back to my weddin'-day 'n' start right 'N' go clean through it, every ache 'n' pain 'n

Don't let them collars git too blue; keep rinsin' lively, dear. I can't see as we've any right to lounge about I know I'd be a-seared up roun' the las' part of my days
To think Γd had too good a time. It ain't a rdin' to the promises. I'd liefer far than Jes' feel the thorns a-hurtin' 'n' the cross I'm Folks don't git crowns fer nothin', Mandy, here nor anywhere.
I'd rather have my ups 'n' downs whicheve

'N' life won't never git too blue, a-movin' lively, - Madeline S. Bridges, in Judge.

way I steer,

Novel and Perilous Adventure with Huge Man-Eaters.

BATTLING WITH SHARKS.

Captain Joe Holland and His Stalwart Colored Man Engage in a Strange and Terrible Struggle-Pursued by Pirates of the Sea

pots in sunny command adniration from all who visit here. The lake, a vast inland sheet of water clear as crystal, is a picture in itself, while the houses arranged around its clear, open beaches make a most fitting frame for such a picture. The residents are all great fishermen, and many are the marvelous stories told of big catches of fish and adventures on the coast. Captain Joe Holland is one of the vet erans of Lake Worth, and here is his latest fishing adventure while on his last trip from the Bermudas a few weeks ago: The captain's pet boat is a pet monkey. The latter had been taught to haul ropes and do many other things of the kind. When out from the islands on their last trip, and in the Gulf stream, they encountered a school of sharks. The captain, it appears, tried every way to get rid of his unwelcome followers, but to no avail, as they clung closer than a debtor, and night or day their ugly-looking fins and shovelshaped noses were clearly visible

While proceeding along under easy sail the captain began practicing on the sharks with his rifle, while Emmanuel. the mulatto, tried his skill with an old fish harpoon. The captain finally wounded one, and the whole school turned on it as its blood began to flow and a terrible commotion began near the vessel. To add to the confusion Emmanuel struck a big one, too, and its frantic struggles, coupled with the streams of blood that flowed from its wounds, soon brought up all the man-

THE CAPTAIN WOUNDED ONE

eaters within a mile, as the captain averred. The huge, ugly creatures plunged round about the vessel, striking at the wounded ones and taking great pieces out of their sides. The fight grew furious, the sharks jumping out of the water and rushing at each other with wide-open mouths, armed with such ugly-looking sets of teeth, as, the captain says, fairly made his blood run cold. In all, over forty big sharks were engaged in the scrimmage, and the commotion they caused was ter-feared that this fight would do them damage, as every once in awhile a resounding thud on the boat's bottom would show that the ravenous creatures cared little for such a vessel as theirs. All of a sudden a big fifteen-foot wounded shark ose a short distance off, with another, double his size, in pursuit. He rushed on, and in a jiffy had sprung right into the boat and the other followed. 'Tig hard to say who were the most surprised -the sharks or the captain and his crew. The monkey flew up the mast chatterng with fright, while Emmanuel sought safety on the bowsprit and the captain umped into the cabin. The two big sh floundered around in the boat, the sides being just high enough to prevent their getting over again. rocked to and fro frightfully as the huge sharks kicked about. Captain Joe says that he expected to go to Davy Jones' locker at any moment. The sharks both lay with their heads towards the bow and their tails near the cabin

The captain and Emmanuel both Milwaukee Sentinel.

Venturing forth, after awhile, the captain seized an axe, and, standing near the door, he brought it down with all his strength upon the tail of the big fellow. The effect was electric: up went the flukes with a tremendous whisk, and, while the axe went out to sea a dozen rods, the captain was whirled backward into the ocean, just catching the rudder-post as he fell. Emmanuel

RIDING ASTRIDE ONE OF THE SHARKS. thought that the captain had gone for good, and he halloed outright in his fright. The captain's voice, somewhat choked with sea water, reassured him, and the brave fellow ran nimbly down the side of the boat, jumping over one of the sharks, and, on reaching the most beautiful perilous position. After the skipper had recovered they in some re- begun. Blow after blow was landed on but its the tough hides of the plunging monmost lively manner, the little boat creaking in every timber from the shock. Finally Jocko came running down the shrouds to take a hand in the fight. He picked up a belaying pin, and creeping up to one of the sharks, brought it down with stunning effect jumped for it with wide-open mouth, but the nimble monkey jumped out of the way, and came back with another blow. Notwithstanding their serious predicament, the captain and his ally could hardly keep from laughing at the spectacle. But the most serious part of the fight was now over, and the viciouslooking sea tigers lay gasping out their lives as the men rained blows upon

All this while the monsters outside kept up their infernal warfare on each small sloop, and his crew consists of other, and the sea was blood-colored for himself and a stalwart mulatto and a a considerable distance. Over a dozen bodies floated to the surface, some half wounds in their sides. The two on deck were finally killed and they were thrown overboard. The deck was slippery from their blood, and as Emmanuel stood by the gunwales, a sudden lurch of the boat threw him over. A hoarse cry, and in he went right among the sharks, now furious with their bloody feast. The captain rushed up and threw a rope; but Emmanuel was nowhere to be seen. Soon a commotion was observed some twenty feet away, and his head emerged suddenly from the water, and he shot up in sight riding astride one of the sharks. Emmanuel was blue with fright, but knife that he always had in his belt, and the vicious monster plunged forward, fortunately carrying him nearer the boat. Recovering from his astonishment, the captain flung forward another rope, which, fortunately, Emmanuel caught. Rising up on the shark's back, Emmanuel took the rope with a firm grip and junped for the boat. Sev-•ral of the monsters plunged at him as he fell among them, but by some strange good luck they missed him and the captain hauled him on board, one shark just nipping off a bit of his heel as he was nauled over the side. This decided the captain on the shark question, and they tried by means of sweeps, etc., to get out of this dangerous neighborhood. Several hours later a breeze sprang up and wafted the boat away from the crowd of sharks that kept up their fight s far as could be observed by the cap-

Capt. Holland says this was the worst experience he has ever had with these sea-fighters, and he hoped it would be the last. The sides of his boat show plainly where great pieces were bitten out by the sharks, and the effects of their tail blows on the decking are still plainly to be seen .- St. Louis Globe-

-Undoubtedly there is a similarity in the appearance of cyclones as they move along their course, but the like ness can not be as close as between the accounts of the storms given by newspaper correspondents. A "dark funnelshaped cloud," accompanied by "a fear-ful roaring," and "spreading destruction along its track" is the same old cloud that has been doing service for twenty years. Will the cyclone correspondent please strike up a new tune, or ve us new words to the old tune?-

WORKS AND CHARACTER.

Criticism of the Former Is Useful, of the Latter Pernic ous

There is one class of criticism which is so extremely useful even with its present imperfections, that it would be safe to say that, were they purged away, the more we had of it the better for the community. We allude to the criticism of the various works of mankind in their several departments by those who have proved themselves to be specially competent to judge and wise to discriminate, and whose object is to guide, to protect and to enlighten the general mmunity on subjects where special knowledge is needed. There is no department of human industry that is not improved by such criticism. The work of the farmer and the manufacturer, the architect and the ship builder, the merchant and the banker, the mechanic and the teacher, the physician and the lawver are all benefited by the criticism of those who are superior in knowledge and experience in each separate province; and through this the safety, comfort, and general well-being of the community are gradually increased. In the same way the just criticisms of art, which are now given to the public through the medium of our best newspapers, are of immense value, both in their stimulating effects upon the artists themselves and in cultivating the popular taste and discrimination. Capable critics of books and other writings, of speeches and lectures, of music and the drama, if they are also conscientious and sincere, are public benefactors and instructors, and, as such, are entitled to our peculiar esteem and gratitude. The qualifica-tions for such work as this are of a high order and rare, and are proportionably valuable. It is only where incompetence, partiality or self-interest assumes these functions that the work becomes a public injury rather than a blessing. It is, however, very difficult in the criticisms of character and conduct which are so continually heard in our midst. Here no special proficiency of fitness is deemed necessary. Every one, whatever his mental or moral status, whatever be his powers of insight and discrimination, or his capacity for weighing character and discerning motives, holds himself fully competent to criticise. Indeed, it is usually found that ing such absurd stories about our charthe less highly he is endewed with these qualifications the more voluminous are his criticisms. Yet what is more complex in its nature, more difficult to gauge, more intricately woven with a thousand unknown circumstances, than character and conduct? Surely, if we have a right to demand that the musical HIS is one of the stern, helped the captain up from his critic be superior in his knowledge of the laws of harmony and in his accuracy of ear--that the dramatic critic be deep started for the sharks again. With an ly versed in the laws of the drama and out of the world adze and the rifle active warfare was the meaning of the play, and skilled to perceive how these laws are executed that meaning interpreted-we native beauties sters, while they thrashed about in the have at least an equal right to require of one who attempts to criticise character and conduct that he should have thoroughly mastered the laws which govern both, the causes which determine them, the reasons which underlie them, and that he be skillful to apply this knowledge to the on the man-eater's head. The huge fish practical cases in hand. If criticisms of this kind were confined to such per sons, what a wondrous change would take place in our daily intercourse, and how great a respect would be paid to the few and moderate judgments that would be passed! As it is, every one feels our private graveyard as a starter in competent to make estimates, to form conclusions and to pronounce verdicts on this most difficult, most delicate and last, and while he always had a dollar most intricate subject; and instead of resenting all this as the presumption of hard up, we must draw the line some incompetency, we calmly listen, accept, where. He can have our shirt, our raband pass it on, as if it were well accredited truth. There is still another wide difference between the criticism of work and of character, and that is the ultieaten and others with many gaping mate results to which they lead. He who understandingly criticises some practical work has a definite and useful object before him, viz., the improvement of that work in the present and the future. But the critic of character usually has no such aim, and can hope for no such result. If his criticism be unfavorable he may injure a man's reputation, cloud his prospects, rouse his anger, push him lower down in the scale of manhood, but can never thus help to lift him up or to awaken within him the desire to live more nobly. Of course, there are exceptions to this-cases where duty to others demands the utterance of many unwelcome truths; but in he jabbed his queer steed with his big general the detractor has no such motive; he merely speaks evil of another

They Had Met Before.

"Now, sir," began the attorney for the defense, knitting his brows and preparing to annihilate the witness whom he was about to cross-examine, "you say your name is Williams. Can you prove that to be your real name? Is there anybody in the court-room who can swear you haven't assumed it for purposes of fraud and deceit?" "I think you can identify me your-

in a desultory, careless, self-indulgent way, without counting the cost, and cerdoing good.-Philadelphia Ledger.

self," answered the witness. "I? Where did I ever see you before, my friend? "I put that sear over your right eve stealing peaches out of father's orchard. I'm the same Williams."-Chicago Tribune. Or an Infringement on Dignity. Charlie Powerzblock-It's bahd fawm to use patent leathah shoes now, old Chappie-Whatevah's the reason, deah Powerzblock-Because the mmon people are all wearing them. Chappie-Bah Jove, they ought to be awested for-er-infwingement on the patent!-The Jury. A Fair Adjustment. Doctor-Your services are required at Mr. Poorman's last residence. He died this morning. Undertaker-How much did he leave?

"Not over $1,000." "What will your bill be?" "About $400.

"Well, I'll bury him for the rest."-Food News.

THE ARIZONA KICKER. Items from the Last Issue of That Enter-

A QUEER PROCEEDING .- The other night some of the boys came around and all in size, shape and general character, Harper's Bazar. routed us out of bed at midnight to go are said to show hereditary characte over and see 'em hang Pete Smith. Pete is the chap who killed Colonel Williams in a saloon row last fall, and who has had a shot at several other eminent citizens, including ourself. For the last two weeks he has been running the town, and his refusal to take a hint resulted in his being waited on by the vigilance committee.

We reached the grounds to find Pete standing on a barrel with a rope around his neck. He knew his time had come, and was ready to die game, but no sooner did he learn of our presence in the crowd than he began to protest and object and demand that we be run into

The depth of a sea about six miles the scrub. We called his attention to the fact that he had had two shots at us at close range, and that we were the only party on the ground who could dish up his obituary in good English, but the ungrateful rough kept on kicking and would not even argue the case.

A man in this country can't have every thing he wants, no matter how big a bluffer he is, and when it was seen how unreasonable Pete was the boys went ahead with the hanging just the same, and Mr. Smith won't sail around our streets with a gun on each hip for many moons to come. We've seen some queer things out here, but the idea of a man like Pete Smith objecting to a man like us seeing him drop off a barrel rather caps the climax. We are charitable enough to believe he was a little off.

A CANARD.—The story in certain Chi-Kicker runs a faro room in connection | The patient has now left his bed. He with the newspaper bears the ear-marks of our jealous-pated contemporary. There isn't a word of truth in it.

It was suggested by Colonel Kane about a month ago that we give up a portion of our office space during the evening to a poker club of which we are president, and we cheerfully adopted the suggestion, and a game is on every night from seven to eleven, but poker isn't faro-not by a long shot. Our enemies will gain nothing by circulat-

me more when he reached Yokohama. essay "On Snakes in Iceland." The other day we heard of him up at he was doing bravely on his trip until that liquor nailed Dick right to the since. Under these circumstances all bets are declared off, and all guesses have been turned loose in the back yard | ready aid. - Electrical Review. to shift for themselves.

DRAWING THE LINE-Major Atwood, of Tombstone, came down the other day to ask a great favor of us. He wanted us to give him one of the bodies out of establishing one of his own. While the Major has been our friend from first to for us in the old days when we were bit's foot, our dream book or our fine comb, but friendship ceases when he approaches the grave-yard which we have been at so much pains and expense to fit up and make a feature of this section of the country.

Don't Stop Him-Last week we enraged a new arrival from the East to act as local editor of the Kicker. He assured us that his name was Barlow and that he was a close follower in the footsteps of Horace Greeley. After twentyfour hours trial he got tight, stole our Sunday boots, gobbled a mule and lit out toward sundown. Don't stop him on our account. The owner of the mule may want to fee him, but we don't. Those boots cost us $12, but if Mr. Barlow will only keep away we shall consider it a good bargain. He is about the twentieth disciple of Greeley, Bennett or Ray mond we have tried in the last year and we are tired-very tired.-Detroit Free Press.

The Empress of the Germans.

tainly without any well-defined idea of The Empress of Germany is said to be a young woman of exceeding flery temer. She was a Schleswig-Holstein Princess and was reared with strict severity-is a thorough housekeeper as well as a proficient scholar. But amiability is not her most notable characteristic. Of course she can not quarrel with her husband, for the etiquette of the court is distinctly rigorous; but the Empress is at liberty to quarrel with everyody else, and of this prorogative the young woman avails herself. Some of her outbursts of temper have been of a most humiliating character, betraying a coarseness one would hardly expect to meet with in royalty. The Emposs intwenty-five years ago, when you were clines to stoutness; her features are rather heavy, but the expression of her face is kind. She is one yaar older than her husband. As for the ex-Empress Frederick, mother of the present Emperor, she is the perfect picture of her mother, the Queen of England .- Chicago News.

In the School of Journalism Professor-I again call your attention to the too common use of trite expressions. Mr. Quills, can you not find a fit substitute for the well-worn phrase, 'he died a natural death?" Mr. Quills (about to graduate as man aging city editorial correspondent-inchief)-Well, sir, I suggest, 'he died without medical aid.' How would that Professor-It is excellent, Mr. Quills. -Harper's Bazar.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

0

-A factory near Paris turns out 20,-000,000 quill toothpicks a year. -Wisdom teeth, the most variable of istics more strongly than any of the other teeth.

-In using emery wheels it has been found that at a high speed one ounce of wheel material would only grind off six ounces of metal, while at a lower speed months of hustling he is mighty glad to it would grind off eleven ounces. At this lower speed the wheel was making 2,150 revolutions.

-The proposed electric railway from St. Petersburg to Archangel will be of great scientific interest, if attempted. The distance is nearly seven hundred miles, and Archangel lies almost under the Arctic circle-in latitude 6414 de-deep is reduced by 620 feet by compression. If the ocean were incompressible the level of the surface would be 116 about 2,000,000 square miles of land would be submerged. -Among the uses to which the automatic switch block can be turned is that of regulating furnaces. The damper of a furnace may be kept closed during the night and opened at a fixed time in the morning, so that the apartments can dimmer than gas."-N. Y. Weekly. be warmed before the rising of the occupants, and the servants can at the make the invitations to our balls parsame time be awakened by closing the ticularly stylish?" "I'll tell you," answitch of an electric bell current.

-The Pall Mall Gazette says that two-cent stamps on them we'll put ten-Professor Gluck recently performed a re- centers, eh?"-Philadelphia Times. markable and successful operation. He emoved from one of his male patients a distinguish between the effects diseased knee joint and inserted an ar- dyspepsia and religion; sometimes it is cago papers that the editor of the tificial substitute make from ivory. walks with perfect ease, and says his from disappointment in love. - Somerivory knee-joint is convenient and com- ville Journal. fortable in every way.

-Prof. Samuel Cushman, apiarist of the Rhode Island agricultural experi- be mentioned that man is the only ment station, maintains, as the result of | animal that eats cloves and lemon peel. personal observation, that bees do no He does not like either, but in that damage to growing or fair fruit. The juice of fruit is, in fact, injurious to does it for his wife's sake.-Philadelthem; and they do not attack sound phia Times. fruit, but only bruised fruit, or that which has been previously injured by other insects. -Dr. Devaille, of Bayonne, has been ommissioned by the French Minister of HE STRUCK A SNAG-On the first day Public Instruction "to study the quesof April we started Indian Dick out of tions of physical exercise and school town to see how quick he could make a journey around the world. To tell the nor hygiene is among the cosas de honest truth, we hadn't over a ton of Espana that attract the attention of _-"I would like you to engrave my coat confidence in Dick, but he had so much scientific observers in the land of the of arms on the seal of this ambition that we gave him a dollar and a half and told him to draw on us for sion is not unlikely to recall the famous consist of?" Mrs. Michigan Avenue—

-For the production of a daily illus-Overton's ranch, only twenty miles trated paper, electricity is an absolute away, and that he had been there ever necessity. By its aid a pen-and-ink since the 3d of April. It seemed that sketch can be photographed in three he struck Overton's, where an Eastern for etching. In many branches of ingenius is making some sort of whisky dustry, electricity is utilized to greater out of cactus roots. The first taste of or less advantage, but it is novel and pleasing to know that there are every spot, and he hasn't moved ten rods day processes which could not be accomplished with the dispatch requisite, were it not for its powerful and ever

-Omnibuses propelled by electric storage batteries are to be put in service in the streets of London, and butchers carts and trucks for heavy dravage simi larly moved are soon to follow. Meantime it is somewhat strange that the various experiments which have been made for some years with light electric carriages for pleasure riding in cities have not proved sufficiently successful to warrant their practical introduction. If the running of omnibuses, carrying twenty-six passengers, by means o storage batteries is feasible, why is not the principle still more applicable to light vehicles?-Railway Age.

-An invention has been perfected in the glass industry which, it is stated will accomplish a complete revolution in that branch of manufacture. Until the present it has only been possible to produce sheet-glass by blowing a hollow cylinder, which was then cut, separated and polished. An American glass manufacturer has now succeeded in producing glass plates of great breadth and of any desired length by means of rolling. Glass thus produced is said to possess a far greater homogeneity, firmness, and transparency, and it has on the upper surface a brilliancy which is hardly to be distinguished from art plate glass. English Mechanic.

For Ladies with Bald Heads. Baldness is a rare infirmity among ladies. Doubtless one reason is because they are their own hair-dressers. Occasionally the hair falls out from severe fevers, as typhoid, but it is usually restored without treatment. Some ladies seem to have inherited a tendency to baldness. Thinning out of the hair also occasionally occurs in consequence of constitutional ill health. Probably no better "hair restorer" has been found than cantharides. A simple, and perhaps as good as any other application, is made with one ounce of the tincture of cantharides, four ounces of bay rum and ten ounces of water. This should be well rubbed into the scalp every day. Quinine has some repute as a hair tonlo The usual proportions are two drachms to a pint of water. Common water may be used. The mixture should be made up by a druggist, who will need to add a little dilute sulphuric acid, and a few drops of some perfume oil will render it more agreeable. It would be well, also, to add to each pint of the mixture two or three ounces of glycerine. Apply this tonic once or twice a day. A rapid gain must never be expected from the use of any hair restorative. Even the best of them are not likely to have any noticeable effect until after they have been persisted in for several months.-Boston Herald.

Why He Saved Him.

Two friends, one the agent of a life insurance company, and the other a drummer, are sitting in a tavern playing cards. They get into a quarrel and for him and how she will not become very personal in their remarks. let their marriage make the slight-Finally the life insurance agent jumps up, seizes the drummer by the throat, pearance, but she will forget all this and shaking him, says in a hoarse voice:

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-He-"Is ot that a fire-fly over yonler tree?" Shr (wearied) the morning star, I should imagine."-

-Even misfortune is not always unfortunate. A man with a bad breath never has to elbow his way through a crowd.-Ram's Horn. -The young man just out of school advertises for a "position;" but after six get a "job."--Puck. -Mr. Bipps - "That medicine I took this morning makes me feel like another man." Mrs. Bipps - "Well, I hope to goodness you are. It is time."-Epoch. -Is getting caught unhealthy, Mamma? asked the little fish, "Not always, my son. I've known several of our tribe who increased fifty per cent. in weight after they had been caught."-Jury.

-She - "Isn't it a nuisance? I can't see anybody on the stage. I'm so short feet higher than it is at present, and about 2,000,000 square miles of land opera-glasses?" She—"How can I? I forgot to put on my diamond bracelet.

> -Mr. Richfello-"How pretty Miss Beauti looks to-night." Rival Belle-"Yes. How miserably poor the electric lights have become lately. They are -"How," said Mrs. Newrich, "can we > swered her husband. "instead of putting -It is said to be hard sometimes to equally hard to tell whether a young man is suffering from indigestion or - As a curious item of information to those athirst for knowledge it may spirit of sacrifice peculiar to him he -Wife-"You do not speak to me as affectionately as you used, to George. I think you have ceased to love me Husband — "There you are again! Ceased to love you! Why, I love you better than my life. Now shut up and let me read my paper."-Boston Cour--Mrs. Michigan Avenue (of Chicago)

"Ah! I leave the selection entirely to you; only put a lot of lions in it and a charming dragon or two."-Jeweler's Circular. -Dignified understand this taste for circuses. Look at the crowds that have gathered this morning to see the tawdry parade.' Bystander-"Yes, and you know it isn't coming down this street. The line of march has been changed." Dignified Citizen-"You don't say, and here I've been standing an hour. It is an outrage! Which street is it coming down? Thanks! I'll just get there in time."-America.

-A good deal of energy is fooled away in getting up statistics that never do anybody any good. As, for example, think of the amount of figuring necessary to make known the fact that there is one lawn-mower in this country for each thirty-seven persons, when you found it out long ago without putting a pencil to paper, if you have a machine of your own and live in a neighborhood where grass abounds.-Ram's Horn,

MISS GIRL MARRIED. Why Does Mrs. Man Go Back in the World

Miss Girl was married the other day and when she came down this morning nearly everybody in town was looking at her, for she really is very pretty. Her cheeks and lips have reddened and she walks as lightly as a princess and as proudly as a queen; and somehow or other the thin white veil she wears heightens her appearance wonderfully, and the men watch her as she passes. The girls all envy her, and the elderly women are beginning to call on her; in fact she is getting settled for life. She is so happy and conscious of herself that she is unconscious of the fact that she is going over a road which will soon deepen into a rut and make her like all other women. She can not hold the general attention very much longer and the next bride will displace her in public admiration. She will soon find that she is counted as old married folks by her unmarried friends and is not invited very much, and further she will find that married folks have little society of their own. Then she will get more and more engrossed with her neighbor's gossip and little church affairs and somehow things which she did before marriage innocently enough when done by the young girls will have a different significance to her and she will be given to insinuating that this or that thing may be all right but-And then she will meet with the women around at places and discuss the men and tell about her husband's lungs and liver, and swap remedies for croup and sour stomach and sore eves.

Long before this she will get fat and lose her pretty color and will waddle and wear a black alpaca on the streets and a calico dress and carpet slippers in the house, and the men who are envying my friend, Mr. Man, now, will then wonder how he was ever attracted to such a woman as Mrs. Man anyway, and her friends will think of what a pretty woman she was, and sigh and say there are no such good old-fashioned girls as there used to be, and that all the girls care for is dress, dress, dress.

Mrs. Man probably doesn't think she will make that kind of a wife and has often talked with Mr. Man about how she is going to be pretty always let their marriage make the slightest difference in her personal after the first baby has been brought up —Deacon—"Don't you know it's wrong to shoot birds on Sunday?"
Young Nimrod—"I hain't shooting enny; I'm only firing at 'em."

"You infernal secondrel, if you were if not before. Why does Mrs. Man go not insured in my company, I'd choke the life out of you."—Texas Siftings.

"You infernal scoundrel, if you were if not before. Why does Mrs. Man go back in the world and her husband the life out of you."—Texas Siftings.

I have which I c of wire-a picketse ash, old r with a co ameter 1,000. fence rod. I nealed ceeding must be make th required.

hung bet jack whi stretchin made of edges ch gether edges br edge. A stron axle, on From the reaches tripod s weight ! the rope on which the foot

these iro

Now

irons.

picket f pposite and nail a rod or cut in th about fence f of time ting star must be When they ar shown. steadily that the before picketsi wrench piece of and saw from the

the wire The end have a come d hole. A hole uni Unless the wre Havin begin at will ope inserte right ha at the shown hole mu

a strip o

within turn th ing to t pickets. wrench that the best be They en shrinks

> REV. British the pa to prese

Farm a

FULL preser ing the APHS. over you-

"No; it's nagine. always unbad breath through a t of school ut after six hty glad to cine I took ike another l, I hope to "-Epoch. Ithy, Mam-Not always, ral of our er cent. in caught."- e? I can't I'm so short you use the can I? bracelet.

retty Miss val Bellethe electric They are eekly. ch, "can we ir balls par-you," and of putting 'll put ten-Times. netimes to effects of times it is era young

e it may the only mon peel ut in that to him he -Philadel gestion or

e. - Somer.

ak to me as George. I love me. re again I love you oston Cour-

(of Chicago) e my coat his ring. hat does it Avenueentirely to in it and a ises. Look hered this parade. The line Dignified here I've an outrage! ? Thanks! America. cooled away never do example. ing necesthat there ountry for when you t putting a machine ighborhood s Horn.

IED.

n the World other day is morning as looking ery pretty ddened and cess and as mehow or she wears nderfully, the elderly on her; in life. ous of her-

of the fact road which an not hold uch longer ace her in soon find arried folks d is not inshe will find society of t more and hbor's gosand some efore mardone by different ill be given that thing en she will at places about her and swap

ar stomach et fat and ill waddle the streets slippers in are envywill then ttracted to nyway, and a pretty d say there ed girls as ll the girls think she fe and has about how ty always will not sonal apget all this brought up A. White.) FARM AND GARDEN.

WIRE FENCES. A Farmer Tells How to Build Them

Cheaply and Well. I have a home-made arrangement by I have a home-made arrangement by the maturity, is objectionable and which I can put up twenty to thirty rods thould never be practiced. Old milk, of wire-and-picket fence in a day. The which has become well ripened and with a cooper's frow. I use pickets 5 | ised. More rennet is necessary for feet long. An oak tree 18 inches in di-ameter at the butt will make 800 to The more rennet is used the more 1,000. The wire and nails for such a moisture will be retained in the cheese, rod. I use six strands of No. 11 an-hung between the two front arms of this stretching the wire. This wheel is edges chamfered. They are nailed together cross-wise and their chamfered edges brought together in such a way that the completed wheel has a grooved

THE IACK.

A strong rope must extend from the axle, on which this wheel is hung to the evener, for stretching the wire. From the groove on the wheel a rope reaches to a pulley at the top of the tripod and to the weight below it. This wheel is so much larger than the axie on which the evener rope winds. At the foot of the jack's legs are half-inch irons. When the jack is being used, these irons are pinned solidly into the turf, so the machine can not be moved.

The foot of the jack's legs are half-inch irons, when the jack is being used, the curd while the acid is developing. When the curd is ready for cutting turf, so the machine can not be moved.

The foot of the jack's legs are half-inch irons, is caused by too much mo isture in the curd while the acid is developing. When the curd is ready for cutting the curd while the acid is developing. When the curd is ready for cutting is best learned by experi-Now we will proceed to reel out the wire. First pay out the bottom wire, next the top one mentioned, as Tack in a nail every four rods to it. on the post to keep the wires from sagging. Set up 40 rods of this wire on the gaps. Weave up the gap, nail the last thus retard curing.

The curd must be hooped and pressed.

The curd must be hooped and pressed. and nail this to the post. After going a rod or two further the wires can be cut in the center of the gap and wound about the posts, thus fastening the fence firmly. In this way but little more wire is required and a great deal the fence and either side of the gap must be stoutly braced.

When the wires have been placed they are attached to the evener as Farm and Home. shown, and the evener holds them steadily in place, though not so stiffly that the weaving can not be done. But before we can proceed to weave in piece of 2x3 scantling 10 inches long and saw an X on both edges of it, onemust then be removed with a chisel as shown in the engraving. Next an auger a strip of band iron run around where the wire is likely to wear the wrench. The ends of the band iron must each have a punched hole and these must come directly over the one-inch auger hole until it is tight about the wrench. Unless this strap of iron is put around the wrench it will not make over 20 rods of fence before wearing out.

With a nail hammer in the right hand force the picket into place at the extreme left and then with the same hammer force the wrenches up to within two inches of the picket, and turn them over once or twice, according to the distance apart you want your pickets. The next time turn the wrenches in the opposite direction, so that the wire will not get twisted. The best braces are 2x4 strips or poles. They extend from the top of one post to the bottom of the next and do not come in contact with the ground. The wire shrinks or is taken up three inches to the rod in weaving .- John Mead, in Farm and Home.

Rev. F. O. Morris, the well-known British naturalist, is trying to procure the passage of an act of Parliament making birds-nesting illegal, in order to preserve some of the rarer British birds from total extinction.

Furry as we believe in canning and preserving, we do not believe in scrimping the table of fruit at its best in order to increase the stock of preserves CHEESE MAKING.

Some Points and Suggestions That Are Well Worth Remembering. Let the milk be well matured by heating before the rennet is added. The addition of sour whey, to hasten fence cost less than one shilling per inder similar conditions of making. For spring cheese, rennet enough to nealed steel wire. This has greater thicken the milk for cutting in 15 or strength than No. 9 wire. Before pro- 20 minutes at a temperature of 15 to 20 ceeding to business a jack and evener degrees is required. For summer and must be made. See the engravings. To fall cheese 45 minutes must be allowed make the jack, 12-feet timbers 2x6 are for the same process with milk in good required. A wheel and axle are to be condition. The raising of the temperature to 98 degrees increases the favorable conditions and aids rennet action. The horizontal knife should be used first lengthwise and followed by the perpendicular knife crosswise. After the whey has separated enough to half done without the aid of chloroform. cover the curd, the mesh of the knives The patient survived the operation, and should be so close that three cuttings should be enough, except in case of a quick curd which should be contained in this profession. quick curd which should be cut unusually fine. The knives must be moved fast the curd by pushing. After the coagulation is perfect the curd should be cut finer during the late fall than during the he did this in some cases where a porjack which hold the evener as shown, Heat should not be applied until fifteen made of two disks of boards with the Hot water doesn't scorch the curd. The temperature must be raised gradually to 98 degrees.

The curd particles must be made so dry before the development of acid that after being pressed in the hand they fall apart when slightly disturbed. When the hot iron test shows fine hairs ever did live." from one-fourth to one-eighth of an inch long, the whey should be removed. If acid be discernible by the hot iron test before the curd is properly formed, the whey should be immediately removed. He used to relate an anecdote of his last tripod and to the weight below it. This weight has an increased advantage over the rope attached to the evener, as the wheel is so much larger than the axle on which the evener rope winds. At ence. The degree of change has taken place when the curd feels mellow, velnext the top one and last one for butter from sour cream, and tastes are to himself or anybody else; and if you'll add the other wires in the order wires in the order allowed to reproduce the sound be allowed to response to the sound because the sound b allowed to go further before it is arrested by cutting or salting. If the curd be Ledger. two strands must too moist or soft, it should be cut or ground at an earlier stage and hand-stirred some time before salt is added It is generally beneficial to the curd to stir it 10 minutes after cutting before salting. A maximum quantity of salt for April and early May cheese is 1½ pounds to 1,000 pounds of milk; 2 to 2½ pounds is right for summer on the following statement of the whole system in the wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. The bird deposited four eggs, and remained firmly fixed in her lager till she wastall has this year built her nest, choosing a chest in a goods wagon. to 2% pounds is right for summer on posts at one time.

Let it stretch right past all tendency to dry curd and cheese and but the bird was in noway incommoded.

within 20 to 45 minutes after the salt is stirred in. Pressure must be applied lightly at first, and gradually increased. Young.—London Daily News. The curd-cutter or grinder must be thoroughly cleaned every day. Bad flavors are given cheese by neglecting this precaution, and the same is true of ting started. The posts at each end of is effected by fermentation. Heat up to 70 degrees is favorable and cold under 60 degrees is unfavorable for Its operation.—Prof. J. W. Robertson, in Gilt-Edge Butter. To be sure there is less labor in producing beef than in making "gilt-edge pickets it will be necessary to make three | butter," and less skill is required. It is wrenches, one for each wire. Take a easier to turn the calf to the cow to do the milking than to draw it from her by hand, and one does not have to so care fourth of an inch deep and 11/4 inches fully guard against dirt and slovenlifrom the end. The triangular pieces ness and strive for cleanliness in all the manipulations required. But we Americans as a people are after the almighty hole must be bored in one side, and a dollar as a general thing and do not mind a little extra labor and care providing it pays; and in entering into any enterprise or in considering the undertaking of any business the first practicome directly over the one-inch auger hole. A screw put through the punched next is, or should be: How can we make ends will draw the band iron into the it pay best? How can we get the best returns for the money we invest? And this is right. If we decide to breed for beef we want the breed that will make the most pounds from a certain quantity Having braced the first post we will of feed; pay the best dividends on the begin at the left hand to weave. Insert investment. If we decide to manufactthe wrench between the wires. This will open them and the picket may be and first of all the cow that naturally and first of all the cow that naturally produces the best quality and greates' quantity for the food consumed, and that beyond question is the Jersey, as has been demonstrated time and again, so that it is now a conceded fact by all well-posted men.-Breeder's Gazette.

Stump Puller. Jesse Carter, White Lick, Ind., sends to the Orange Judd Farmer the following description of a stump puller (illus trated herewith): First get a stout pole of well-seasoned, tough wood, twenty

'A STUMP PULLER. sled or stone boat. Get the pole under the stump, resting it on broad, sound blocks about two feet long, split flat to give the pole solid footing. Run a three-fourth inch rope from end of pole through pul ley on the boat, which should be heavily weighted (and we should think staked-Ed.) and hitch horses to the In Michigan the outlook is favorable supply.—Dallas News.

A GREEDY Yankee has a crick in his neck, and yet he is not satisfied with the water supply.—Dallas News. pole come down and the stump come up for a fair crop of apples-say nine the Western peach counties is low.

SURGICAL SCIENCE.

Something About Its First and Most Distinguished Exponent. The first honors of surgery are awarded to those who are the first to perform difficult operations. Judged by this standard, Dr. Valentine Mott, the distinguished exponent of surgical science, is entitled to the first rank among the surgeons of the world. In his thirtypickets can be split out of red oak, black searly sour, may be added, but lopash, old rails, etc. I rove out 500 a day pered or thick milk should never be arteries within two inches of the heart -an operation sufficient of itself to place him at the summit of his profes sion. In 1828, he performed what is universally allowed to be the most difficult feat ever attempted in surgery.

> A clergyman was afflicted with an enormous tumor in the neck, in which were embedded and twisted many of the great arteries. In removing this tumor, it was necessary to take out entire one of the collar bones, to lay bare the membrane inclosing the lungs, to dissect around arteries displaced by the tumor and embedded in it, to apply forty ligatures, and remove an immense mass of diseased matter. All this was cessfully for immovability of the lower enough to prevent much disturbance of aw, and the first to entirely remove the lower jaw. He was the first to succeed summer. Stir the curd slowly and gentan operation of inconceivable delicacy. He once cut away two inches of the deep jugular vein, which was embedded in a tumor, and tied both ends of it. In the course of his long professional life, he tied the carotid artery forty-six times and amputated nearly a thousand limbs. Sir Astley Cooper truly remarked: "Dr. Mott has performed more of the great operations than any man living or that

A great surgeon is frequently tempted, by the mere love of his art, to perform think of it, there is no patient in the hospital who has that malady. No matter, my dear friend, there is a poor devil tion of a crime so atrocious .- N. Y.

Where a Bird Built Her Nest. German birds are as odd as English ones in their housekeening ar and remained in full possession of her A Confusion of Terms.

Dr. Begosh (anxiously)—Not the im-provement I expected, Mrs. Brindle. What have you been giving the patient Mrs. Brindle-Monday he had fried liver and onions, and yesterday I gave him some corned beef and cabbage. Dr. Begosh-Horrors! Did I not warn you against rich food? Mrs. Brindle-Why, Doctor, that's the cheapest stuff I could buy in the market. | Change of Life." -- Lippincott's. JOHN CHINAMAN has no reason to com-plain of the inequalities of the tariff. Joss sticks are on the free list; Bibles pay a duty of twenty-five per cent. New and Elegant Train Service. The train service on the New York Central is being constantly improved. Never before in the history of the Company were there so many fine trains being run on this line, and the business is steadily increasing. Last year, the Company carried over 18,000,000 passengers, and it is expected this year the number will be considerably larger...

SARCASM is all very well in its way, but when its way is your way, and it isn't your sarcasm, you are not likely to enjoy it.—
Somerville Journal.

Bronchitis is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption.

IMPORTANT to women-Men.-Texas Sift Goop, for nothing—A railroad pass—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A RED-HOT kind of coat-The blazer. Never very bad to take-A vacation. FUNNY pedestrianism—Gravel walks.— S. Y. Mail and Express.

A word and a blow-Gale.-Texas Sift-A star wrestler—The astronomer.—Texas Siftings.

CARE may kill a cat, but it will never hurt a bicycle. - Golden Days. THE black corset has certainly "come to stay. EATEN out of house and home-Picnic dinners.-Puck. Отнек game is losing ground, but the leer always keeps up his lick.—Puck.

A LITTLE boy described a type-writer as a thing what you grind letters on. The floating population is now pretty argely at the seaside.—Binghampton Her

No, Mabel, the best surgeon in the world can't set a broken record. - Dansville

A MAN in Colorado recently married Miss Toober. She's his sweet potato.-Puck. WHEN the milkmaid is awkward and fretful the cow generally turns pail.-Chicag Sun.

ily weighted (and we should think staked—Ed.) and hitch horses to the other end. You will laugh to see the weeds.—Boston Transcript.

for a fair crop of apples—say nine tenths of an average. The average is the Western peach counties is low.

"Avoir whisky and water, my son," said the fond father. "It is a dilution and a snare."—Hamilton Spectator.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant iquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company. THE lazy bootblack does not improve each shining hour. He should take a lesson from Howdoth, the little busy Bee.—N. O. Pica-

THERE has never been anything discovered that will equal Dobbins' Electric Soap for all household uses. It makes paint look like new, and clothes as white as snow. Our washwoman says it is a pleasure to use it. Ask your grocer for it.

Honesty may not always pay phenomenal dividends, but it never creates deficiencies or overbooms the foreign passenger traffic. —Washington Post.

-Washington Post.

Do Nor suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. Small price. Small dose. Small pill. A PRIVATE wedding and a "pat hand" are somewhat alike; it is "no cards" in both cases.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

E. B. WALTHALL & Co., Druggists, Horse Cave, Ky., say: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cures every one that takes it." By Druggists, 75c. The paragrapher that was hanged said to the crowd around the gallows: "This life is but a hemp-tie show."—N. Y. Graphic. Have you seen the Ram's Horn? If not, write to E. P. Brown, 66% North Penn. St., Indianapolis, Ind.

"The match is off," remarked Squillkin, as the newly-married pair started on their wedding our.—Binghamton Republican. BILIOURNESS, dizziness, nausea, headache are relieved by small doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Ir the tobacco habit could be cured like bacon, by smoking, how easy it would be to swear off.—Binghamton Republican. RED, angry eruptions yield to the action of Glenn's Sult hur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. WOULDNT the detectives achieve better results if they were shod with "hunting boots?"—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

The turning point in woman's life brings peculiar weaknesses and ailments. Pierce's Favorite Prescription brings relief and cure. It is a powerful, invigorating, restorative tonic and nervine. It imparts ments. At the goods station of Jessen a strength to the whole system in cate women need it.' It's a legitimate medicine - purely vegetable perfectly harmless. It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or nest through all the bustle of the serv- money refunded. Nothing else does

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescrip tion" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The

FOR GALL STONES,

Having used Smith's Bile Beans in my family I have no hesitancy in recommending them to those suffering from billousness, chills and fever, etc. J. D. GAINEY, Limestone, Fla.

beans in each bottle). Very smalleasy to take. Price of either size, 25c. BUY OF YOUR DRUGGIST.

Try " BILE BEANS SMALL" (40 little

Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Rheumatism. Sallow Skin and Piles. There is no better remedy for these common diseases than Tutt's Liver Pills, as a trial will prove. Price, 25c. Sold Everywhere.

YOUR FEET Can be easily and perma nently reduced in size by one package of Dr. Arnaud's gealed, 50c. Pamphlot Free. Sample package on dime. THE PEDINE CO., 268 Broadway, N. Y. Grame This paper, we write. $75.00to$250.00 A MONTH can be made

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY, WESTON ENGINE CO., Painted Post, N. Y. EF CATALOGUE FREE.

PENSIONS New LAW CLAIMS.

Apply MILO B. STEVENS & CO.
Attorneys, 1419 F Street, Washington, D. C.
BRANCH OFFICES—Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago.

PENSIONS Write us for new laws.
Sent free, Deserters releved, Success or no fee.

McGormick & Bons, Washington, D. C., & Clincinnall, O.

INDIGESTION AND LIVER CURE "Would not be without your Fowders for all 2 DOSSESS."-LIEBY. 22 POWDERS for 26 CENTS, CIPTULE CO., Box 3370. NEW YORK.

Cheapest. Relief is immed Cold in the Head it has no equal.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF.

THAT CAN BE RELIED ON BE UP Not to Sput! TO THE MARK

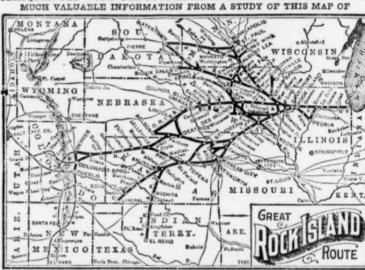

Not to Discolor! BEARS THIS MARK.

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transcessing Seaports. southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports, MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS.

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CEAIR CARS, California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicage and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing

Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to THE SHOET LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tiokets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

JOHN SEBASTIAN. E. ST. JOHN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pasa Agent General Manager.

If there's one set of men who appreciate a good waterproof coat it is the farmer. He knows that a "Fish Brand Slicker" costs him less per year than any garment made. Did you know it rains or snows one day in three the whole year through? A "Fish Brand Slicker" makes every day a pleasant day to its lucky owner. Go anywhere with it in rain, hail, sleet, snow, or blow, it is wind and water proof. Costs less than rubber, and lasts ten times as long. Rubber is good for show days, but will rip in a week. If you want a coat for hard wear and hard weather, get the "Fish Brand Slicker." Every good thing has its imitation, so has the "Fish Brand Slicker." Look out. Be ware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand Sheker," Look out. Be-ware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Par-ticulars and illustrated catalogue free. A. J. TOWER, - Boston, Mass.

TON SCALES BINGHAMTON $60 Beam Box Tare Beam Send for Term

N. Y. women in the U. S. A. ow the control of the control

ASTHMA - Swedish Asthma CURE

**Solution Report Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Report Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Report Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Report Soliting Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom

**Soliting Nic EDUCATIONAL. UNION COLLEGE of LAW, Chicago, Fall Term b FRANKLIN COLLEGE, New Athens, O. Boardf room and books, $1.5 per wk. W.A. Williams. Pr

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arit metle, Shorthand, etc., thoroughly tangby mail. Circulars free, BRYANT'S COLLEGE, Befialo, N. S.

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878. W. BAKER & CO.'S Breakfast Cocoa Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals are used in its preparation. It has more then three tiese the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is therefore far more economical, casting test than one cert a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, strengthening, EASILY DIGESTED, and admirably adapted for invalide

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass. PENSIONS! APENSION! LONGSHAW & BALLARD, Rox 46, WASTINGTON, B. C.

DO YOU WANT A HOME IN THE BLUE GRASS REGION HOME of the Best State in the Union, SOUTHWEST IOWA. For in W. W. ELLIS, President Blue Grass League of SOUTHWEST IOWA. PENSIONS Great PENSION BILL STREET PENSION BILL STREET STR titled to $12 a.mo. Fee $10 when you get your money Blanks free. JOSEPH H. HUNERA, Atty, Washington, B. C. BE-BAME THIS PAPER every time you write. PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS Settled Rettled Law.

Soldiers, Willows, Parents send for BLANK AP PLACATIONS AND INFORMATION. PATRICE OFFARHELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.
PAME THIS PAPER svery time you write.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS.
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS.
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension BureauSyrs in last war. It adjudenting claims, atty since PNAMETHIS PAPER seer time row wife. PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLEI under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J.B. CRALLE & CC., Washington, B.O.

A. N. K.-C. 1303.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS FLEASE state that you now the Advertisement in the the slight-

The advantages of thoroughly advertising whatever one has to sell Maryelous Discovery of an Old Farmer have been set forth by the newspapers in the strongest light, so that most people acknowledge the eyidence to be overwhelming. The Val- in Barbour County, and who has beand proves that a man may be a erable faith when it becomes aroused by some extraordinary circumstance:

and asked why he did not advertise in the Chronicle.

"Oh, because," he answered, "You're mistaken," said we; "every page in our paper is read," "Nonsense," he replied; "even if they did read my 'ad.' people would never think of it again, I don't want to advertise." "But"--"No buts at all. I don't want to advertise, and don't bother me any more, I'm busy." And he walked back into his store and strangled a poor little fly that was helping himseif from a barrel of sugar. Time passed, and we never again intimated "advertisement" to him, although meeting him daily.

Yesterday the gentleman called at our sanctum, looking a little uncertain as to how he would be received. We cherished no hard feeling, and motioned him to a chair.

"I suppose you heard of that little affair of mine below ?" "Oh, yes," said we; "that little escapade on Kearney street night before last. Yes, we've got all the particulars"-"Hush! not so loud, please," said he; "of course, you are going to say nothing in the paper about it ?" "And why not? It's a matter of interest to your friends and the peo-pie generally." "Heavens! Why, it would ruin me!" "Oh, no, guess not. Nobody will ever see it." "Yes, they will. And it will ruin me as sure as I'm sitting here. I'll be the laugning stock of the whole

We arose and touched him impressively on the shoulder.

town. They will see it."

"Well, we will admit that the people will see it, but then, you know hey will never think of it again.

His words came back to him like a flash and he trembled so violently that his eyeballs fairly jingled; and he was such an object of commiseration that we promised to keep mum. This little moral, as drawn from the above, is applicable the world over. Ask a man to advertise and he will immediately say, in the majority of cases, that "Nobody will ever see it." but advertise gratis some little indiscretion he may commit and he immediately grows indignant over the certainty that the whole world will know it.

Sensible Farmers. An organization of farmers in Texas, has adopted the following resolutions: WHEREAS, The time is now at hand when those who seek office will come among the farmers in order to secure vote; and whereas, it has been the usual custom to address us as "the horny handed sons of toil," 'the sturdy yeomanry of the land," and "the bone and sinew of the coun" try" to our faces, and call us "hayseeds" and "yokels" to our backs ;

Resolved, That we will not herehas not shown his ability to support himself and those dependent upon him, and will set the dogs on any one using any of the above mentioned phrases. Resolved, That the habit of arraying one's self in old clothes and appearing before an audience with uncombed hair and unwashed face and hands to catch votes has played out, and we will not vote for any man who appears in the country with unblacked boots, without a collar, who does not change his shirt at least once every three weeks, Resolved, That all cigars contributed by candidates to members of Resolved, That it shall be considered a penal offence for any candidate to kiss a baby, through fear of contagious disease.

Resolved, That the individual badge of each member of this club be a club four feet long, and it be used freely to carry out these resolutions.

Excursions to Baltimore.

The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore and George A. Pearre. from all stations on its lines between Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and | tion will be large and eathusiastic .-Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday, Montgomery Press. and Thursday of each week until August 12th, discontinuing the sale of tickets on Saturdays as previously announced. Tickets will be valid my former partner, collected money going on all trains on day of sale and due the firm and left for parts un valid returning on all trains until known and this is to give notice that following dsy, inclusive, and from the firm of Hoge & Shank was that stations South and West of Harper's day dissolved. Ferry, they will be valid returning for three days including day of sale.

HOUSE FULL OF MUMMIES.

in West Vicginia.

Many of our readers have seen or heard of G. W. Hamrich, who lives | ionable life to-day.

"what's the use? Nobody will ever of G. W. Hamrich. It is a five-room The time has more than come for The Egyptian embalmers removed seen? Think of it, you high-born brains and blood and viscera, and ladies-think of it! wrapped the clay shell that was left in bandages saturated with oils country, a lady representing what and ointments. In this house lie the may be deservedly called one of the bodies of two adults, natural almost "best" families in the State herself as in life, every particle of skin ex. a middle aged queenly, home-leving posed to the air, blood, brains and matron, the wife of an effectionate viscera remaining. In the veins and husband, the mother of grown sons arteries the blue and black blood and daugnters, wears her addressstand out as clear and natural as but my pen shrinks from writing when these people lived and walked and knew the passians and emotions of beings. The finger and toe nails show the pink flesh of life, and on the cheek of one who died of consumption the scarlet mark of that disease remained clear and distinct. For two years exposed to the air, without decay or odor, these bodies have lain in this man's house, just above his bedroom. His process is a discovery of his own, but it is so simple, he says, that a boy of fifteen, after a single as the inventor himself. The rooms

this wonderful secret. Mr. Hamrich claims that in an hour he can prepare a body without making an incision of any sort or removing any part of erly. What of it? Is that any reawood. Think of sleeping with these dead and petrified bodies.

pronounce one of the greatest discoveries of the age, far ahead of what the Egyptians knew. Indeed, Hamrich seems to regard it rather as a curious experiment.

Edward Stake, Thomas S. Hodson,

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

H, R. SHANK. Swanton, Md., July 19, 1890.

The Decollete Dress.

It is a fact, gloss it anyhow we may, that decent women have never dressed as indecently in our country and our century as they do in fash-

Would that some enterprising jourlejo (Cal.) Chronicle contains the fo'- come somewhat famous on account of nal might take the moral census of lowing, which illustrates this subject, a discovery he has made by which the subject as a substitute for prizethe dead are perfectly preserved in- baby competitions or guesses on doubting Thomas, yet have consid- definitely. A short time ago a cor- Nelly Bly. We should like to throw definitely. A short time ago a correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer down the gauntlet to the women of THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK visited the old man at his home in America, "Defend these immoral-A short time ago we called upon a Barbour County, and writes his pa- ities! Speak up for yourselves if you certain man in business in Vallejo, per describing the dead bodies the can!" I do not believe that two old man has preserved, as follows: reputable women in the land would Three miles over the mountains dare publicly to defend the styles of from Philippi, W. Va., is the house undress which now disgrace our sex. log house, the exterior weather- such a protest against this aborninaboarded, but not painted, yet it is tion as will smite women to the dust full of mummies, both of brutes and for shame. What is to be said? human beings. Here are mummics Enter any fashionably drawing room that out-rival any Ezypt ever knew. and look for yourselves. What is

> In the most decorous city in our what this high bred lady does. This case which represents scores of others, is of importance, because the her offence, and so far in other respecis above it. There is no life of concealed dishonor, no intrigue, no shoddy birthright, no fast-and-loose views of duty. The women is other- Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scrollwise immaculate. How explain this ethical enigma? Are our tadies morally insone, or mentally? Do they not know what they are doing? And if not, why not? How shall we charlesson, can do the work as effectually acterize the too-low corsage with some nothing for a sleeve? The lower bodice with no sleeve at all? And what is known as the V-back? They are below excuse, as they are beyond explanation. What mora years that cat has been sole guard of mania blunts the sensibilities that tion? What dementia deters the "ever-womanly" from "leading us on," at least so far that the simplest and even a calf are to be seen, all as instinct of femimine modesty—that which covers nakedness-may keep stroke with the moral development of the age? Let it be said that gay The Farmers' women always have dressed improp-

> > The Difference. Written for THE REPUBLICAN.

son why they always should ?-Eliza-

The Republican policy demands he American markets for American manufactures. The Democratic policy demands the American markets for foreign manufactures. The Republican policy seeks the development of home industries, and the full employment of American

The Democratic policy demandshall come in sharp competition with By the same process he keeps fresh, can with high-priced labor, cannot compete successfully with the foreign manufacturer, with his cheap labor, his business must perish.

The Republican policy favors American enterprise and seeks to develop and improve the country, by the encouragement of diversified industries.

The Democratic policy makes war the American manufacturer as a thief LIMITED, SAGE MARCHARD ASSOCIATION and a robber.

The Republican party is for Amer ica and Americans, The Democratic policy is for the foreigners and foreign interests all

XXX.

We want a correspondent in each town, village and at every cross-read in Garrett County. Send us the news, friends, and it will be pub-Wednesday mon.

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Congh For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Collo Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. sturgiss' DrugStore, and Country Stores.

PENSIONS FOR ALI Union Soldiers and Saliors who are incapacitated from manual labor.
To their widows and minor children under loyears of age, dependent parents, &c.
Back pay, Bounty, Commutation of rations, pay for use of private horses in the service of the United States, Charges of desertion removed, additional pay to officers and their heirs.
Pensions increased, &c.
File your claims at once, Delays are dangerous.

GEO. W. F. VERNON, 108 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Md. I will represent Col. Vernon, Past Dep' NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Rhenmatic Plasters. INSTANT RELIEF FOR ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden A General Banking business transacted.

Prompt attention to collections, 112'89. AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our Home-Grown Nursery Stock WANTED, MOST LIBERAL TERMS.
Unequaled facilities. One of the largest in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH,
Geneva Nursery, Geneva, N. Y.
6761. Established 1846.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford' Lotion, This never fails, Both for sale by minutes by Woolford's fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

TOHN A. WOLF, CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

East End Oak St., Oak!and, Md. JONAS E. GNAGEY, offender herself is so unconscious of CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General

Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-ment of tofflos, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, It will be my aim to turn out only first class work at reasonable prices. Thanking all who have favored me in thosast, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to nerit their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attend #3- Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890. 6 21 iy.

If so call upon or write us.

Hardware

Association,

(LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGHES, CULTIVAT ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAGONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows), ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. an I BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all un-der fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park. Deer Park.
For terms, &c., apply to
JOS. G. NESBITT,
Fairment, W. Ve

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular carieties, I find that this brand is an honest rticle, which can be depended upon to be a Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegetable Plants in the proper season Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express. Address

> A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

> and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

eet has a stream of water running through cattle, and springs of excellent water, and quantity of valuable timber. The Hoop-de road passes through the lands and the de road passes through the lands and the ear Park road quite near them. They adjoin is farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. ethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, alph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhode-eaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the COST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth ush and the balance in three or four cual early payments, with interest and security of the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of limestone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL.

Attorneys for owner.

J. P. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-

TERING LATH!

J. F. LEWIS.

3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three courses outlined—Academic, Scientific or Commer-cail. Special attention to collegiate require-ments. Number of Puphs strictly Limited, Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN,

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East o atholic Church tf 296 ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.-The west End of Wing-and-Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchensand Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping ns and Six Steeping Rooms. The steep noms will be furnished with everything ssary except BED CLOTHING. Also sta gom for two horses, and carriage hou oom for two horses, and carriage here is a garden lot, with Fruit Tre lected with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PISINOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of sell-ng the above named Instruments, I desire o inform the citizens of this and adjoining sounties who may be desirous of purchasing really first-class instrument at a moderate to call and examine my line of instru price, to call and examine my line of instru-nen 2 and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast but a fact which time and observation has thundantly proven. I buy at first hands and lo not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical looks, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reas-onable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. 63 Place of business-Railroad street, wext o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oskland, Md.

D. E. BOLDEN WEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

OAKLAND, - MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. &O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST GOING WEST. 71—Accommodation . 47—Express ...... -Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excepion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to cents. WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager.

C. K. LORD, General Passenger Agent.

STOCK FARM FOR SALE.

ELEAULAV

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings nd a young orcherd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal in the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 op Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ringe, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers ent on trial. Delivered in your home free of Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

> JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

of Mr. Hamrich are miniature museums. In the door that leads to his Nudity covered by transparency? bed-room a huge white cat sits guard, tongue, undecayed, lolling up as if it were about to lap milk. For four that lonesome door. On the mantle, in an attitude of listening, is a young Rabbits, pigs, squirrels, chickens natural as life, and all preserved by the body, so that it may be taken beth Stuart Phelps in the August around the world without ice or arsenical fluids. These two bodies Forum. which lie in modest state in his humble house have turned parchiment color with the hurrying of time, and the eyes have become much sunken. There is no odor, no puffing up of the flesa. The ghostly look is wanting, and one almost feels that it is not the solidified clay of some lone one, but a divine sculptor from some rare

But this is not all that the old labor at good wages. wonder of the mountains does. He can stop decay at any point, cures that the products of other countries ulcers of long standing by an external application of this discovery. those of our own, and if the Ameriwithout ice, salt or brine, all his meat, butter and eggs, and does the same for his neighbors. Fruit of all sorts, yegetables, &c.. are kept just as easily without decay, and water melons, strawberries, and peaches and cream are now assured for the Christmas dinner. Mr. Hamrich has made little or no effort to put his process to general use, which such after support any man for office who learned men as Drs. Culley and Freeman, of this city; White, of Washington; Doremus, of New York, and Hardesty, of Wheeling, W. Va., the time. IT IS now practically certain that Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties are solid for lished. Have it here not laier than the renomination of Hon. Louis E. McComas. Better make it unanithis club be put in a general fund and used to kill rats and cure hog cholera. ing at Oakland following the nomiing at Oakland following the nomination, will be a grand affair. The fellowing distinguished Republicans will be present; Louis E. McComas, J. P. Dolliver of Iowa, Binger Herrman, of Oregon, General Goff, of West Virginia, S. B. Elkins, George L. Wellington, Milton G. Urner, Lloyd Lowndes,

We hope Montgomery's delega-

On December 25, 1889, Lee Hoge,

Commander, G. A. R., the senior member of the firm, at Oakland, PERCY H. VEITCH, Office at Court House, Oakland, Md,

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FR. DAY, AUGUST 22, 1890.

NUMBER 27.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. e. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated, jel4-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

**Ex*Special attention given to Investigation of Land Tilles, Conveyancing and Collection of Claims, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garreit and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 lu 6

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OARLAND, GABRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett for and the adjoining Counties of West Virgin and in the Jourt of Apocals of Maryland.

30 Olde in the Court House.

July 4-tf.

4. GONDEL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY. Resident Dentist, Satisburg, Pa., Will visit regularly through Gurrett county Md., and off exhits services to those wishin Dental Treatment, Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 km

DR. W. H. RAYENSCRAFT. PHYSIGIAN AND SURGEON,

OAKLAND, MD. £g* Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.−1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his protessional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity. 55'88 63 Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and flith streets, two doors bast Cathoric Church, PR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD Office and residence on Oak street, between Pirst and Second. Particular attention paid to steaning and filing the natural teeth.

fling the natural teeth.
All work warranted to give satisfaction, van48 Dr. I. D. Mewman. OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Calistay or night promptly attended to,

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oakland, near the Yough lilver. The Improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outsuidings; twenty acres under cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. rchard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, etc.

THEOS. B. HORWING.

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Belting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circuiar Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clot.ing, Waglers, &c.

THEOS. B. HORWING.

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing. FROM BALTIMORE,
Ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop pear "Browning House."

DAVID LITTLE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Satary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 2 15 90

Mt. Hope Nurseries, Established 1840.

Rochester, Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We have opened

NEW.

STOCK YARDS AT

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules WARING TROMAS. EWD. H. SINCELL Suitable for any pur-

> Mules for Logging -and-

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station,

On W. Va. Con, E. R., 449an — between Gorman and Bayard,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD., ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, A redox and Door Frame kets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newess, Weatherhoarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings. Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-ing done to order at the lowest rates, Far Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds mill work, 8, 77,

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-

Boots and Shoos. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

Nov. 11, 85. - y. WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING, CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3 m. Rochister, N. V.

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cicared, situated on the Oakland and sang fitta road, six miles from akland, and hear the Youghtocheny rives. This is a very desirable farm, and is in der hald with three veins of Cont, one vein taking feet, another 3 leet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a gued orchard, and a young orchard just coming into leaving. i good orchard, and a young orchard just soming into leading.
The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of variable timber. Call on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXABILE & CO., office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Laberty and Baltimore Streets.

LUMBER BROKERS

CUMBERLAND, MD.

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, WANTED AT ONCE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayers Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, slisy, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from daudruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman." I can heartly recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing." — Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."— H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the decimal result. The last remedy I mysical desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."

-Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

e chesp, a farm of 305 neres, about 9 which is cleared, and on which ar

RICHARD CUSTER.

F. A. THAYER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and al Patent business conducted for MODERATI

FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Pittston, Me.

lous pain, And the bark sailed on, And tossed their crests 'neath the wintry skies;

the gleam of the white returning sail ddened never the watcher's eyes. the snamer and looked brightly down he sloping roofs of the scaport town; but the treacherous sea no token gave Where the bark went down.

AN UNIQUE CHARACTER.

gallant craft, as from her it bore

We had taken a cottage for the ammer in a small yillage on the day morning. south Jersey coast. The rusticity any one to officiate being held in the for me to do 'em up for 'em." s hool house; and in less than a fort. "But don't you think, Ann," I cottage our cook packed her trunk a preity finish to a garment ?" and departed, declaring that the "Oh, it's nice enough to look at, respectable person to live in."

oors told us-had brought up his wear starched buzzoms." her hatr, which was pale brown, was derwear. of pre-Mother H bbard affair-was a times ?"

she could be persuaded to adopt a shore."

was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair more civilized toilet. convictions, and her ideas on dress were as fixed as the laws of the Medes and Persiaus. Like the Goddess of Liberty, she had but one style of costume and she wore it on all occasions; even on Sunday she refused to put on shoes and stockings. In vain we argued with her on the impropriety of going barefooted to church. Ann's firmness remained unshaken. At first I thought it was downright obstinacy, but that was before I knew Pico. long Frame House, Two Stables Ann. In time I found that her rigid views concerning dress were rooted in a religious conscientiousness as sensible and as narrow as that of John Ward. or particulars and terms, apply to orad-Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pregared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reass nable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the state, and save trouble in case of fig.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. any better than the poorest person Bible.

to put on shoes. After a time she Mr. John write about, ma'am ?" by these concessions, I ventured to writes mostly stories." suggest a change in her head gear. "True ones, ma'am ?"

and surveyed it critically. "It ain't handsome, that's a fact," own imagination." she admitted, "but if I ain't too Ann sighed like one troubled in proud to wear it ma'am, I don't think spirit, you'd ought to mind. It's clean an' "I don't see, ma'am, how he can been to - they were shipwrecked on Sundays.

Ruching was being worn for face honest soul.

IN VAIN. rk, one radiant summer day, led loyfully out on a placia sea; thtly it danced on he gladsome way, ike a thing of life so bright and free. an shone bright in the azure sky. eey clouds drifted calmly by; plue waves rippled and murmured low acc and rest in their ceaseless flow: And the bark sailed on. cher stood on the lonely shore, d smiled through the tears as she waved but a few incments later, having oc- perfect plainness of the garment at-lost beyond the horizon's bar; he turned with a sigh to the world again her poor heart throbbed with its anxad waves grieved in the autumn gale, that served for strings.

"It looked very nice, 'ma'am," she Ann loook at her askance.

Her zeal for plainness did not confine itself to her own apparel.

usings put on again.

"I rather think, ma'am, I'll have Sunday School." to get somebody else to do the fine ironin', " she said to me one Mon- wears flounces."

nal self congratulation. But our par- "but they're trimmed, an' as I don't of companionship. If she chanced to adise had one drawback-there was believe in folks wearin' trimmed have a few spare moments in the no church, services, when there was things, I don't think it would be right night after we took po-session of the said, "that a little trimming makes place was "too haythenish for any ma'am; I don't deny that; but it's all 'pride o' the eye and just o' the In this emergency Ann Dorner was flesh,' and I don't think professors recommended to us. Her father, a ought to induige in such things. If iong-horeman-honest as the day everybody lived up to the Bible, and powerful religious," the neigh- ma'am, even the preachers wouldn't family in a small cabin on the out And so rigid was she on this point romantic outlook, but a neighbor one skirts of the village, and Ann had and so illogical as well that every day gave us a possible clew to the never been ten miles from home. week she insisted on paying a woman mystsry. She had a clean-looking sensible face. out of her wages to iron John's shirts "A good girl, but a little queer," with somewhat introspective eyes; and collars and all the trimmed un he said, tapping his forehead. "Her orushed smoothly back faom her low One day when I was making a dest three years ago, an' ain't never been straight forehead and hung in a foose sert she suddenty asked, "Don't you heard from." mass down her shoulders, while her think, ma'am, it'd be nice if people "To think of Ann Dorner's having gown-it was literally a gown, a sort | could live now as they did in Bible | loved and lost !" I said to John.

dark blue calico, banging unbelted "In what way, Ann?" I inquired. "that the humblest lives may have from the yoke, and neither shoe nor "Why, don't you know, ma'am, in their romances and-their tradgestocking graced her substantial feet. those days they lived mostly on dies." In every way she was so unlike the bread an' fish? It was bread an fish Whatever the motive was that took type of servant gir! to which we had that the Lord gave the multitude to Ann so often to Owl Rock, whether been accustomed that I hesitated to eat in the wilderness, an' bread an' she went to watch for the return of engage her. But her honest, sensible fish that He gave the disciples when her lover or merely to read and med-

a Methodist of the Methodists of the places fish cannot always be had." plain."

Having noticed that that she was It was easy to see that Ann was fond of rending, I one day offered her happy, and suddenly I made the disa story book. She took it eagerly, covery that she was something more but before she had read a dozen pages than pretty. In place of her sun bonshe came to me with a grave face.

asked. it are made up."

it, ma'am," she said, putting it back shining face she looked at the mo-"I've got shoes an' stockin's, in its place. "It ain't worth while ment, in her prim dark gown, like a ma'am," she said, in answer to my spendin' one's time readin' made up sort of transfigured nun. offer to advance the money for the things. When I read I like to know purchase of these articles; "but may- that I'm readin' what's true." And the young man said good night and be some other folks haven't, an I shortly afterward I found her seated hurried back to the beach. don't think I've got a right to dress on the wood pile absorbed in her in the place can afford to, 'cause if I She had a genuine reverence for "I hadn't seen him for most three did, ma'am-don't you see? - they scholarship, and took at first much might be discouraged, an' say they interest in John's work as a writerwouldn't go to meetin' unless they But one morning when John had could dress as good as Ann Dorner." been reading to me a story that he But baying learned on careful in- had just finished, Ann, who once or quiry that there was no one in the twice had had occasion to pass Owl Rock. village so poor as to be obliged to go through the room, asked, with a puzbarefooted, we at last persuaded her | zied look on her face, "What does consented, too, to gather her flowing "Oh, sometimes one thing, and mane into a braid, and encouraged sometimes another." I said. "He Ann took off her calico sun bonnet "True in some respects, Ann; but he makes them up largely out of his whole, an it's as good as anything make it seem right," she said, turn- there; that's why he was gone so ole Miss Carson can afford to wear." ing away, with disapproval written long—an' the people are all heathen. On every feature, and from that day it is very evident that John had fallen body didn't go out there an' teach plain black bonnet she would wear it from the high place that he had hith. 'em. Do you 'spose a sailor's wife erto held in the estimation of this would have any chance to do that trimming at the time, and having During the summer a cousin from covered a close fitting frame with the city came to visit us. She was a black silk and added a few loops of dainty; little lady, and her soft voice black sibbon, I ventured to put here and pleasant ways soon won Ann's and there in the ruche a tiny knot of neart. She was just recovering from narrow layender velyet. Ann looked a severe iliness, and for several days really pleased when she tried it on, after her arrival she wore a close fitand the next morning, catching a ting princess wrapper of some soft, glimpse of her as she went out of the gray, woolen goods, with no trimgate wearing the new bonnet, I quite ming except a double row of smoked congratulated myself on my success; pearl buttons down the front, The casion to go to the kitchen pantry, I tracted Ann at once, and it was good found, laid carefully together, not to see the admiration with which she er sad eyes watched till sail and spar only the knots of invender velvet, watched the slight trim figure. but every loop and bow that had dec- But on Sunday Helen came down orated outside of the bonnet. Plain wearing a white muslin. For the as I had thought it, she had divested style of dress then in vogue nothing it of everything except the ribbons could be more simple; but the deep ruffle that bordered the skirt made said, when I remonstrated with her, "Is Miss Helen a professor, "but it was most too gay for a pro- ma'ain?" she asked that afternoon, fessor," and no amount of persuasion as Heien, under the shade of a blue could induce her to have the trim- parasol, took John's arm for a stroll on the beach.

"Yes," I said, "she is a member of Dr. -- 's church, and teaches in the "And yet," said Ann, slowly, "she

It was very seldom that Ann asked "But why, Ann?" I asked in sur- for "a day out," Her father and and seclusion of the place delighted prise. "There are very lew starched mother were dead, and she had few us. John, whose pen has to earn our pieces."

daily bread, was in a state of perpet. "Yes'm, I know it," said Ann, but she never seemed to feel the lack morning she was usually found sitting on the wood-pile engaged either with her knitting work or in reading her Bible, chosing that prosaic spot evidently for the sake of being near the kitchen; but her favorite resort in fair weather, when work was over for the afternion, was Owl Rock, an isolated bowlder just outside the garden fence, the garden sloping almost to the water's edge. Ann was so plain and practical that we wondered at her fondness for this young man went off to sea two or

"It only proves," replied John, face decided me. In time, no doubt, He cooked breakfas' for 'em on the itate, promptly, as a rule, at 5 o'clock she came back to the kitchen to pre-"But fish doesn't agree with every pare supper. But one afternoon, for But Ann, who had been brought up one, Ann," I argued, "and in inland the first time, she was a little late; and I was at the point of starting out 'old school' had the courage of her well. I don't s'pose it makes to call her when I, saw her coming much difference, ma'am, whether it's through the garden, attended by a bread an' fish or bread an' meat; but broad - shouldered, sturdy - looking it seems to me that in eatin', the young fellow, whose rolling gate at same as dressin', people cught to be once revealed the fact that he was a salior. net she wore a three cornered hand-"Is this a true story, ma'am?" she kerchief tied under her chin. The wind had roughened the hair-about "I can't sav, It's very true to life, her forehead and her cheeks seemed I think; but no doubt some parts of to have caught their color from the red glow in the west. She carried "Then I guess I don't care to read her Bible in her hand, and with her

When they reached the door step

"It's Jason, ma'am," Ann explained, as she came into the house. years, an' that's what made me late. We used to be friends," she added,

Nearly every afternoon for the next; fortnight Jason joined her at Ann during these days went about her work with a preoccupied air. "Did you ever think, ma'am," she asked one morning, as she was dusting the dining room, "that you'd like to be a missionary ?"

I confessed to having had in my younger days a vague aspiration in that direction.

"Oh, I think it would be beautiful ma'am !" said the girl. "Jason's been tellin' me about an island he's

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE FIRE-HANG-BIRD.

As I am sitting in the sun upon the porch to day, I look with wonder at the elm that stands across I say and mean "with wonder," for now it seems to me That elm is not as tall as years ago it used to The old fire-hang-bird's built ber nest therein for many springs— High up amid the sportive winds the curious cradle swings,

But not so high as when a little boy I did my To scale that elm and carry off the old fire-hang-The Hubbard boys had tried in vain to reach the homely prize

That dangled from that upper outer twig in And once, when Deacon Turner's boy had alnost grasped the limb, He fell! and had to have a doctor operate on him! Philetus Baker broke his leg and Orrin Roothis

But what of that? The danger gave the sport a special charm! The Bixbies, and the Cutler boys, the Newtons Ran every risk to carry off the old fire-hang-

I can remember that I used to knee my trouser. through,
That mother used to wonder how my legs got black and blue,
And how she used to talk to me and make stern threats when she Discovered that my hobby was the nest in yon-

How, as she patched my trousers or greased my purple legs, She told me 'twould be wicked to destroy hang-bird's eggs, And then she'd call on father and on gran'pa to attest That they, as boys, had never robbed an old fire-hang bird's-nest: Yet all those years I coveted the trophy flaunt ing there, While, as it were in mockery of my abject de The old fire-hang-bird confidently used to com and go,

As if she were indifferent to the bandit horde

And sometimes elinging to her nest we thought we heard her chide

The callow brood whose cries betrayed the fear that reigned inside; "Hush, little dears! all profitless shall be thei wicked quest-

I knew my business when I built the old fire hang-bird's nest!" For many, very many years that mother bird has come To rear her pretty little brood within that cosy She is the self-same bird of old-I'm certain it is she-Although the chances are that she has quite for gotten me. Just as of old that prudent, crafty bird of com pound name, (And in parenthesis I'll say her nest is still the Just as of old the passion, too, that fires the To climb unto and comprehend the old fire-han;

I like to see my old-time friend swing in tha ancient tree, And, if the elm's as tall and sturdy as it used I'm sure that manya year that nest shall in the breezes blow. For boys aren't what they used to be a forty years ago! The elm looks shorter than it did when brother

Rufe and I Beheld with envious hearts that trophy flaunted from on high; He writes that in the city where he's living way His little boys have never seen an old fire-hang-

Poor little chaps! how lonesomelike their city 14fe must be—
I wish they'd come and live awhile in this old house with me! They'd have the honest friends and healthful sports I used to know.

When brother Rufe and I were boys a forty years ago. So, when they grew from romping lads to busy, serd men, uld recall with proper pride their coun try life again;
And of those recollections of their youth I'm sure the best Would be of how they sought in vain the old fire-hang-bird's nest!

—Eugene Field, in Youth's Companion.

AN AWFUL TIME.

It Was All Because of "Those Horrid Townsends."

was the middle we hated their sistance.

and the old family estate at Chester | coffee Frove. But they didn't want to bother se sold. rovements we had made to it! We had who would worry all the year round. oubled its value, I am certain; we anels; we adorned the walls; we had obeying all our orders. he floors puttied, painted and polished.

and as I said before, we had an awful done. time. It was bad enough to know the dear, old some was lost to us, and that the Conways were to enjoy all our labors of love on the walls and floors; it was sufficiently exasperating to be compelled to take up our abode at Jenk's resting; and then we all gathered in Corner, a locality we abominated, but these were only the beginning of our tribulations. The day we were to move was hotoh, so hot! and the dear mother having done the work of about three men, the previous week, and weighing at her est times about ninety-four pounds, headache; Martha, a treasure of a servant, had already laid herself up by Teddy always does keep nice, somehow; spraining her wrist, in moving a trank, so there were Teddy and Jim and I to "do" the moving. Teddy is my eldest sister Theodosia, and Jim is Jemima, my youngest sister; I am Thomasine, always called Tom in the bosom of my family. We are all young, we are all blondes, we are all small, and we are all pretty. We have incomes of our own of three hundred dollars a year, and the dear mother has about twelve hundred a year, so we can live very nicely, indeed, in a quiet place like Dolliver. When mother patiently fainted away

WHERE'S THE OTHER MAN?

to the door, Teddy and I detailed Jim for active duty in the hospital department, and promised to have mother's room made ready the first thing. In the meantime, she was made comfortable in Jim's room, and Martha undertook to superintend the loading of the vans, while Teddy and I scampered off to the new house to see to receiving the furniture.

It was clean as a new pin; that was one little ray of comfort, and we hung up our Teddy and I accepted Mrs. Raymond's hats, and put on the biggest of aprons nd Lady Washington cans and were eady for action.

Even in my misery I noticed how inusually pretty Teddy looked. Her nair is the purest gold color and makes undreds of little rings round her face, and she has a color like a wild rose on each cheek. But on that day, the excitement, the hurry and the indignation combined had made her blue eyes blaze, her cheeks brilliant as carnations, and every little curl bristled deflance of the Townsends and our wrongs. But more vas to come!

Up drove the first van with one man. Both Teddy and I were at the door, and exclaimed:

"Where's the other man?" 'Sure, marm, he was sint for by his old woman. One of the childer's scalded hisself, and it's half over Dolliver I've been thrying to foind somebody to take he job, and niver a one is there doin' nothing at all, at all!'

Here was a dilemma. "Well," said Teddy, "those things ave got to be taken into the house You and I can carry some of the ligh ones. Neither Teddy nor I knew that we had an audience. Not until long afterward were we aware of the wicked trick that was at that instant devised. From round the corner of the house appeared two men in flannel shirts, minus col lars, neckties or hats; with hair in wild confusion and extremely dirty hands and faces. In the richest of brogue one of them respectfully addressed Teddy and requested work.

I really wonder now that we didn't time! In the embrace them. But we engaged their first place, it services at once, and how they worked They did a considerable amount of of July, and we laughing whenever they were alone, had to move. and they required the most minute di-Old Mr. Town- rections for every thing they undersend died, and took, but they put down carpets and put every stick and up pictures and carried in furniture and stone that he unpacked glass and china, in fact, owned in Dolli- worked with might and main, leaving ver was sold. to the driver of the van only the task of His heirs, two going to and fro with the goods, which sons (oh! how he managed to load with Martha's as-very names, At noon we unpacked a substantial knowing no lunch, and as Bill and John, our new more of them) help, showed no signs of going home, had been we spread out a meal on the kitchenabroad, had table and sent them in to it. I never tome home intending to divide their in my life heard men laugh so much ime between their New York residence over sandwiches, hard boiled eggs and

In all this time, you may be sure Tedvith a lot of rented houses in Dolliver, dy and I were berating those horrid and these were peremptorily doomed to Townsends at every turn. We called them all sorts of names expressive of Old Conway pounced upon ours at meanness and selfishness, hoped their nce. Of course he did! Mrs. Con- own house would burn down and let them vay and her two homely daughters know how pleasant it was to be turned ad been hankering for our house for out of a home they loved. We were ears, for, though we did "only rent sure they were sour, grumpy old bacht," we had lived there for thirteen elors and we hoped they would never ears, and, oh, the additions and im- marry unless it was to some old witch

All this we said in confidence to each eautified it, inside and out; we lav- other, never heeding those quiet, modshed our artistic tastes upon the est young men who were so meekly

The hovse was really in very nice ornd Teddy had actually painted the der, and mother's room as home-like as nost beautiful border and corner-pieces | we could make it, when at last the carof oak-leaves and acorns round the enire sitting-room. And now, to give it and Martha. Mother was very pale and dl up! Oh! those hateful Townsends! | propped up by pillows, and I was worry-What added to the distress was the ing over the necessity of her waiking act that the only house we could find upstairs, when out walked our two n all Dolliver to rent was a little two- hired men, without any orders whatstory cottage, quite a distance from all ever, raised her tenderly and gently, the neighbors to whom we had become pillows and all, in their arms, and carattached, and in a locality we detested. ried her upstairs as carefully as her own Ledger.

However, there was no help for it, sons, had she ever had any, could have

Jim stared, as well she might, and Martha muttered "Holy Moses!" as she made a dive for the kitchen. Teddy paid the men; Jim and I did the last few things necessary before mother's room.

Such a chattering as followed, the dear mother laughing and talking as merrily as any of us.

"But, oh! what guys you two are," cried Jim. "Tom, you've torn yourself, as usual, wherever there was the smallest opening for a rent, and your cap is while your hair defies description. but now-even Teddy will bear an application of soap and water."

across your nose." In a fortnight we had settled down in searching for him and firing off their the new house, but we did not occupy rifles—which he heard, and yelled out ourselves, as of old, in beautifying our to them-discovered and released him home. We were advertising far and from his peculiar predicament. ust as the first furniture van drove up wide for a house such as we wished, and At another time two old plains-men > as if we really had no home, we had went up and commenced to skin her. gone out but little. Mother was not While busily engaged in the work, he well, and the heat was very oppressive, suddenly heard, right behind him, a while Martha's lame wrist threw con-hands. But one evening there came an irresistible invitation from mother's dear, of him. old friend, Mrs. Raymond, of Chester Grove, to a garden party and a dance. "You will stay all night, of course," she wrote, and I will send the crrriage for you at two o'clock. Be sure you all come. I can not spare But we did not all go. Mother was not equal to the eight-mile drive, and Jim stayed with her. We all wanted to stay, and finally drew lots, and it fell

"I'm not really out, anyhow," said that young person, philosophically; "and, as you and Teddy seem awfully slow about leaving the family nest, perhaps it is just as well that I am not brought forward just vet.'

"The effect will be overwhelming when you are," said Teddy, laughing; but secretly we all thought Jim the beauty of the family, for, with the golden hair, she had soft-brown eyes and dark evelashes. It was with the utmost serenity that invitation to stroll about the grounds a little with her, and see some new neigh bors only lately come to live at Chester We were arrayed in the finest of linen with blue belts, and white muslin shadehats with blue bows. Blue neckties, knots of blue in our curls, and bluetrimmed white gloves constituted our ostumes; and I can answer for Teddy's being exceedingly becoming. Strolling leisurely along, we met two gentlemen in white linen suits and straw hats; we heard Mrs. Raymond "Allow me to introduce the Messrs. Townsends, lately returned from Europe.

IT WAS "BILL" AND "JOHN." Brent; Mr. William Townsend, Miss

Thomasine Brent." I thought I was going to faint. I heard Teddy gasp. I saw Mrs. Raynond sail majestically away; and then I looked again.

Yes, it was "Bill;" and Teddy was blushing, with drooping eyes, before

"John. "Would you please forgive us?" said John, presently. "We had just come ver to Dolliver, and had heard for the first time that there was any personal feeling involved in the sale of our father's property, which we had regarded as a mere business transaction. We were coming up the street beside your house, when we saw your distress, and, having nothing to do, we took off our coats and vests and hats, and rubbed a little mud on our faces and hands and-

"It was just for a lark, you know," pleaded Bill, as his brother paused; 'and you did look just ready to cry, you

"It was very good of you," said Teddy, looking very much as Bill had just de-

"Yes, we are very much obliged," I said, thinking of all they had heard us say about them, and wondering how much they remembered.

But, somehow, just then we all looked p, and in another second the air was illed with laughter. It was irresistible. The whole affair was too funny. After that, we were the best of friends. The Townsends came often to Jenk's Corner, and when Jim comes out regularly, next winter, she will have no sisterly compunctions about Teddy or me because there will be a double wedding in about two weeks. Teddy and I are going to marry "those horrid Townsends,"-Anna Shields, in N. Y. UNIQUE BLIZZARD CAVE.

A Plains-Man Kills a Buffalo and Hides Himself in the Carcass. Early in March, 1867, a party of friends, all old buffalo-hunters, now living and prominent citizens of Wichita in Paradise Valley, then a famous renbut he who was the furthest away was the plains. Luckily he soon found a age. But he would not pay the bill.

superannuated bull that had been abanOnce the Colonel was in debt to doned by the herd, and killing him, took out the viscera, and himself crawled "Same to yourself," said Teddy. "I inside the huge beast, where he lay for none of the "old-timers" would trust guess you sent all the mirrors away be. comparatively comfortable until morn- the old gentleman. One morning, just fore you washed your face. You've got ing, the storm having cleared off, and after the Colonel had taken his third what Martha calls a 'smooch' right the sun shining brightly. But when he julep and sat down on the gallery to attempted to get out, found he himself a "Don't be personal, young ladies," prisoner, the immense ribs of the creat- shouted, "halloa!" said mother, in a tone of extreme gentleness, "but perform your ablutions, and see if Martha can make out a tea."

In a few personal, young ladies," ure having frozen together, and locked him up as tightly as if he was in a cell. Fortunately his friends, who were we hoped to turchase one. The prie of the one we had left was beyond one at a more reasonable rate.

At another time two day plants the work of the case, became separated. In an hour or two one killed a fat young During this time of waiting, feeling cow, and, leaving his rifle on the ground, suppressed sort of a snort, and looking siderable of the house-work on our around, saw to his dismay a monstrous grizzly, ambling along in that animal's characteristic manner, within a few feet

> In front, only a few rods away, there happened to be a clump of scrubby pines, and he incontinently made a break for them, climbing into the tallest in less time than it requires to write of it. The bear deliberately ate a hearty meal off the cow, and when he had satiated himself, quietly lay down alongside of the carcass and went to sleep, keeping one eye probably on the hunter corralled in the tree. In the early evening his partner came to the spot, killed the bear, which, full of buffalo, was sluggish and unwary, and became an easy victim, and the unwilling prisoner down from his perch. The last time I saw him he told me he still had the bear's hide, which he kept as a memento of his foolishness in separating himself from his rifle, a thing he had never done before nor since, and which no hunter should be guilty of .- Henry Inman, in Harper's Weekly.

THE COMING COLORS.

Shades and the New Names Invented for Them in Paris. The Chambre Syndicale des Fleurs et Plumes has just brought out its new color card, which contains sixty-six haves, white, with a small blue figure, shades. Heliotropes have been given the best places, a proof that these will be favorite shades during the coming season. Blues come next in number, while the representatives of the green always made it a point to look with and red families have taken back seats and will be rather neglected. The by other men. You have your rules to be stirred well together, after which color card contains some brown shades in new effects. Of course not all the gradations of old colors. There are, however, several which are entirely Entirely new shades are veryeine, a medium heliotrope; bluet, a strong but somewhat light blue; dauphin, a new darkish reseda; maroquin, a light brown, and triton, a bluish gray shade. Dattir is the name of a new color which is a cross between olive and sulphur yellow. Heliotropes are represented in the color card by eight shades, of which dahlia is the darkest and perse the lightest; salome is a heliotrope with bluish tinge. The blue family has ten representatives, of which the well-known ciel, or sky blue, is the lightest and marine blue is the darkest. Bluet is expected to become a very fashionable color, and libeliule, a grayish blue will also be

Few new shades are found among the reds. The light coquelicot is already as well known as the dark grenat. Rose and azalee are old favorites. The two old roses, tulipe and glaieul, are old friends under new names. The reddish browns, fauvette and bouvreuil, are already known. The only novelty is pivoine, a shade between old and dark red. which is pleasing but not striking. Caroube is a very dark grenat.

Among the greens bardly any thing is new, although the bluish green triton is novel. The three grays, silver, nickel and platinum, correspond to their respective names. The yellow family has a few representatives, which, however, will not be much worn in winter, yellow being more a summer shade. A very dark pensee, tris and turquoise are also among the sixty-six, but they are of little importance. The five leading fashionable colors for next winter will be veryeine, bluet, dauphin, triton and maroquin .- Dry Goods Economist.

A Sure Enough Victim. Jack Happy-Hello, Billy! Hear that you've been hitting the lottery pretty regularly, lately. Billy Golucky-Yep. Happy-Win any thing? Golukey-Nop. Happy-How much you out?

Golucky-Well, the fact is, I'm not really out any thing. You see I bought lottery tickets four times at a dollar a time, and never won any thing. Then I got disgusted with the whole scheme, and wrote a bitter, sarcastic article, deriding, in a humorous vein, the whole lottery idea, showing how overwhelmningly the chances were against the victim who tempts fortune in this manner, and advising everyone to leave it se-Happy-Yes.

Golucky-Well, I got five dollars for the article. Happy -- Good enough! Made you whole again. Whatdid you do with the odd dollar? Golucky-Why, bought another ticket, of course. - Puck.

THE COLONEL'S FEE.

He Earned Under Conditions Peculiar There lives in one of the finest counties of Kentucky an aristocratic old gentleman, who, though brave at a time of and Great Eend, in Kansas, were camped | physical trouble, has never succeeded in ummoning sufficient courage to shove dezvous of the animals they were after. him into the recklessness of paying a One day, when out on the range stalk- debt. Like most men that are loose in ing, and widely separated from each money matters, he is of exceedingly other, an awful blizzard came up. Three cheerful disposition, and has been known reached camp without much difficulty, to invite a bill collector into the room which he termed "the holy of holies, fairly caught in it, and night coming | (derived from the fact that the Colonel on, was compelled to resort to a method | kept his liquors there), and regale him broke down with a blinding nervous hanging half way down your back, frequently employed by persons lost on with bourbon that had attained a great

Once the Colonel was in debt to a grocer that lived in a neighboring village. He must have been a new-comer smoke, the grocer came to the gate and

"Get down and come right in, suh," the Colonel called, getting up and cordially advancing to meet the visitor. "I am delighted to see you this bright morning," said the host when he had shown the grocer into the house. "You don't know me, I reckon," the grocer responded, giving the old man a peculiar look out of his keen eyes of trade. "O, most assuredly. You are the grocer.

"You bet. Did you get that bill-or, rather, them twenty bills—I sent you?" "I presume so, but I can not say positively who sent them. I get so many favors of the kind that I hardly know whence they come. Let us go into the holy of holies."

"No, I reckon not. I have hearn of that licker room an' about you gittin' folks drunk that go in thar, but I've never hearn that a man what did go in thar ever got the money comin' to him. I'm a man of business an' I want my money without any palarverin.' Do you "Perfectly, suh, and I can not blame you. Business can not be operated without money.' "But are you goin' to pay me?"

"I can't pay you now." "When can you?"

"Let's see; this is the tenth of the aonth, ain't it?" "That's what it is."

"Ah, ha, and to-morrow will be the leventh. "That's the size of it."

"Well, you come round between the eleventh and the first of next month." "Will you pay me then?" "No, I don't think I shall."

"Then what's the use of my comin?" into the holy of holies by that time." "Not much. What I want is my but for the purpose for which they are money, and I'm goin' to have it or know | intended.-Household Monthly. the reason why.'

"I don't mind giving you the reason. The reason appears to be that you'll not favor on the methods of life established and I have mine, but because our rules differ it is no reason for us to fall out. sixty-six colors are new or even novel | One of your rules is to collect every cent due you. All right. One of my rules is not to pay a cent. All right.' "No, it's not all right-you bet your life it ain't. You've simply got to pony "No, I thank you. By the way, how much do I owe you?" "Ten dollars."

'A beggarly sum." "Why don't you pay it, then?"

"Because I don't pay beggarly sums. You'll pay this one." "Possibly. By the way again, let me give you a piece of advice with regard to that bill. Shall 1?" "Yes." "Well, then, sue me."

"I'll do it; you bet your life on that." The grocer brought suit. The Colonel omptly appeared. The case went to trial and the grocer got judgment for seven dollars.

"I want my money now," said the "And I want mine," the Colonel re plied.

"Yours: I don't owe you any thing." be hanged if you haven't given me my first case. Here is the license." "Why, I haven't given you a case." "O, yes; I advised you to sue me and enced claret-drinker; St. rou did so. My fee is ten dollars." to pay the amount.'

He did so, closed his store, shot the Traveler. Two Points of View, Stranger-If a man falls down an open coal hole, can he sue the owner of the premises for damages? Lawyer-Certainly, sir, certainly big damages, and get them, too. Give me the particulars." "Well, as my brother was passing your house this morning he fell through a coal hole and broke his leg." "Hem! Did he use ordinary vigilance to prevent such an accident? Did he been drained, protected from the river look at his feet as he walked? Did he stop and examine the condition of the largely planted with vines, while the Answer me that, sir." "Stop? Why no-" "Ah, ha! I thought so. Guilty of fallen on one of my own family under that coal hole-might have killed us all, sir. As it is I shall sue him for damages for mussing up my coal bin."-

Good News. -The water barometer in St. Jacques Tower, Paris, has a glass tube over 41 feet long, and about 1/4 inch in diameter -the largest yet made.

-"When is the best time to cook a dumpling for Henry?" After you are safely married to him."-Society.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-If a flannel cloth dipped in kerosene, then wrung dry, be used in rubbing off dirty finger-marks from paint, the grateful housekeeper will repeat the experiment often.

-Tisane: This is a favorite beverage in France. Chop fine a cupful of dried fruits, such as figs, dates or prunes, and steep for an hour in one quart of water.

Strain and sweeten to taste. -Feather Cake: One cup sugar, one cup flour, one egg, half cup sweet milk, one tablespoonful melted butter, one teaspoonful baking powder, a very little salt, one teaspoonful lemon .- Old Home-

-Peach Cream: One cupful of thick, sweet cream, one cunful of sugar; beat smooth and add the whites of two eggs, beaten stiff. Have a dish of sliced, ripe peaches. Sprinkle with sugar and pour the cream over. Serve very cold .-Ladies Home Journal.

-Tomato Breakfast Dish: Remove the skins from ca dozen tomatoes; cut them up into a saucepan, add a little butter, pepper and salt; when sufficiently boiled, beat up five or six eggs, and ust before you serve, turn them into the saucepan with the tomatoes, and stir one way for two minutes, allowing them time to be thoroughly done .-

Housekeeper. -Delicate Biscuit: One quart of sweet mllk, two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder, half a cupful of best butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, and flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick, and cut out tiny biscuits with a small baking-powder can. Bake in a very hot oven. - Demorest's Monthly. -Granger Pie: One cup of molasses, same of water, one tablespoonful of cinnamon, and one-half teaspoonful of soda; stir it until it foams. Line four tins with crust and divide the mixture among them, then mix thoroughly two cups of flour, one of sugar, cand a goodsized lump of butter-say one-half cupful-sprinkle evenly over your pies and Boston Budget. -Pressed Chicken: Stew two chickens until the meat will drop from the bones. Chop fine, season to suit taste; a very little sage is an improvement in some cases. Place in a deep jar, cover with a plate after meistening with the liquor in which the chicken was cooked. Weigh down with a stone or flat-iron. It will be ready to cut in ten hours.-Ladies

Home Journal. -Britannia, metal and copper articles add to the bright appearance of the kitchen. To clean them they should first be washed with hot water, to remove any grease that may be on them, and then rubbed with the following mixture: Finely powdered and sifted rottenstone, soft soap and turpentine mixed to the consistency of putty. This mixture must be rubbed off with a leather which is kept for this purpose alone. "None that I can see. Didn't know | Separate dusters, cloths and leathers rule should be made never to use them

> -A German wood-polish is thus described: Three kilograms of shellac dissolved in pure spirits; then some collodion is to be put in a flask and moistened with sulphuric acid and some camphor added. These substances are spirits are poured in. Now both solutions are to be poured together and shaken well. This polish is to be rubbed in with an oil prepared in the following manner: Some camphor is dissolved in good rose oil-as much of the former as the oil will hold in solution. The polish already prepared is diluted with spirits of benzine and reduced at pleasure, so long as it retains sufficient. body to give the desired result.

THE CLARET COUNTRY.

Medoc, One of the Great Wine-Produc-ing Districts of France. The district known as Medoc, or "Twixt Water" (a contraction of in medio aquæ, the name bestowed upon It by its rulers when Bordeaux was the the chef-lieu of a Roman colony), extends from Bordeaux to the sea, roughly speaking-more correctly, from Blanquefort to Soulae-and lies between the Haronne-Gironde river and the department of the Landes. It is a tongue of land, undulating in outline, the soil of which is partly slice gravelous, partly calcareous, about fifty miles in length. and from five to six in breadth. All along its water boundary vineyards fringe the river banks, sweeping down to the water's edge from the crests of "O, yes. You see," the old man the low hills-their local style and title "the courts many years ago is croupes-of the Haut-et-Bas Medoc. granted me license as a lawyer, and I'll The communes into which the riverside section of the district is divided are fraught with pleasant remembrance and hopeful anticipations to every experi-Margaux, St. Estephe, Pauillac and "Mr. Billings," said the judge (and he Cantenac. All these, and others in also owed the grocer), "you will have which superior classified and bourgeois growths are plentifully produced, we passed successively in our smart little udge's cow and ran away. - Arkansaw steamer, which, being of light draught, was able to keep sufficiently inshore to afford us a tolerably near view of the handsome chateaus, for the most part standing on high ground, on or near the summits of the vine-clad slopes, but here and there nestling among symmetrically-planted vineyards on the lower levels, half way between the river and Woodland is a comparative rarity in the Medoc, the soll of which is "under grape" wherever the vine will flourish; even the marshy lands or palus have floods by massive embankments, and payement before entering upon it? upper lands, with scarcely an exception, have been cleared of timber and utilized for viticultural purposes. The chief chateau proprietors, however, have kept riminal negligence. He might have up the small woods and coppices that happened to be situated in the immediate vicinity of their residences, to the general picturesqueness of which these "backings" or semi-girdles of forest trees and high covert contribute in no inconsiderable measure. A few of the wealthier and more enterprising vig-nerons have even adorned their estates with vigorous young plantations at a pecuniary sacrifice which can only be appreciated by those who have learned how profitable every rood of Medoc soil that will grow grapes is to its owner.—

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

ACTION OF ALCOHOL.

Scientifically Considered Inebriety Is a

Dissolution of Brain Functions. All clinical study shows that same state of defective brain and nerve development, or some form of functional or organic degeneration, precedes the first use of alcohol. In certain cases it is clearly central nerve exhaustion, functional perversions, organic defects from injury or disease, or hereditary predisposition. The first use of alcohol, either in so-called moderation, or in toxic doses, as in intoxication, seems to concentrate and organize the forces of dissolution, which, from this time, move on with great uniformity and ac-

The action of alcohol as a paralyzant chemical interference with nutrition plex forces of heredity and environ- and usefulness. ment, are all powerful causes readily explaining the presence and progress of dissolution.

In the more recent studies of the mind, from these the evolutions and dissolutions can be traced. The study of in- lie dinners. ebriety should follow these divisions, following are some of the general facts store this loss, and the desire for relief | would be the means of his cure. becomes more and more intense, de-manding a continuance of spirits for heard that he had left Binghamton solution is that of the emotions or feel- which struck me unfavorably. As I The exhaustion from the palsy of alcohol and the derangement which Jobserved him enter the bar-room of may have preceded it, manifests itself in an inferior-looking hotel. I followed emotional changes, in great exaltations | him to the bar where liquor ran freely, and depressions. The psychical sensory centers are in a state of intense irritation, and all impressions cause pain, there, but gave as his reason, that in both psychical and physical. Alcohol that place they had a favorite brand of ley on the Union Pacific extension from relieves this quickly. States of brain cigars which he could not get elsewhere. Mifford, says a California paper. The angenia, which Meynert thinks are due 1 remonstrated and told him that I only weapon which the darky had was to a spasm of the arterioles and an thought it was very unsafe for him to in the form of earth clods, but he sucarrest of the blood supply, cause deep go where there was even the smell of ceeded in crushing out the life of the despair and melancholia. In the early liquor. But he replied that he appre- rattler, and upon examination found stages an effort is made to escape these handed no danger, as he was so sick the snake to measure ten feet in length, of spirits. Later it deepens into nothing could again induce him to the lateral extremity. This would give despair and suicide. The exaltations touch them. and hyperasthesia are followed by a profound lowering of all the functions that he had relapsed into his former The skin and rattle have been taken with anæsthesia. These emotional exhabits and lost his situation. Soon North to Sait Lake, from whence it will aggerations and depressions are palsies after he called at my office in a parof energy. Manifest in slight changes ed money to buy food, stating that he Zhuravleff, of Keiv, found a conical at first, then it passes on to mania and was almost starved. I refused to give bomb and conceived the notion of using melancholia. The inebriate has always him money, but offered to get him a a pronounced dissolution of the emo- dinner. He thanked me, and I told my thing was, but they thought it was not tions. He is subject to every appeal son to go with him to a certain "Temperfrom both within and without, and the ance restaurant," and provide him with capacity of discrimination and control a good meal. My son afterwards took becomes weaker steadily. In the Temperance, political and prayer meeting perance Prayer Meeting," where he these cases are very interesting studies, was introduced, and, at his request, and the degree of dissolution can be made the subject of prayer. He left case becomes more chronic.

very readily seen. of the intellect and intelligence. This the next Philadelphia train. My son function is the power of associating followed him towards the depot, but ideas and comparing them with others. It has been described as the process of ously crave drink, and he took opportuthe formation of new ideas by the union nity suddenly to escape out of sight. of one already impressed tract of nerve atilizing new and unused groups of mens in a police station in Brookiyn. sensory motor cells by uniting them to those already in use; or of getting into and family, who had their hope so action organized tracts of thought in raised to be cast down again in utter the exercise of memory. Any state or disappointment. condition of paralysis which will break ap the complicated sensori-motor lesson. It shows the fearful strength groups, or sever their minute attach- of the chains of intemperance, the necesments, will be manifest in the intelligence.

The delusions, the false beliefs, the legree of automatic intelligence remains long after general brain failure appears. This has given rise to a false elief that an inebriate may possess unthe march of dissolution can be traced give it to children is absolutely wicked." in all cases. Beyond this there is a phase of dissolution not so clear, because it concerns the higher and more obscure functions of the brain called conscience. The insbriate early exhibits failure of this, the latest formed element, the character. His conception Alcohol is a poisonof truth and duty to others, and his healthy human system.

recognitions of the higher relations and duties of life, undergo a marked dissolu tion. His veracity, his honor, his pride of character, his sense of duty, all suffer, and are finally paralyzed.

Thus in all cases of inebriety there is a chain of dissolution which can be traced back to causes and conditions which may be reached by therapeutic aids and means of prevention This is the line of scientific study from which the real facts may be discovered .- Quarterly Journal of Inebriety.

AN EVERY-DAY STORY.

How a Bright Young Man Ruined Home, Character and Happiness.

Many years ago, while a clerk in Wall street, New York, a new financial institution was started in Broadway, celerating speed. When inebriety is and, learning that an acquaintance of fully developed, this is very apparent, mine had been appointed to a prominent and often traceable from stage to stage. position therein, I called to see him with my congratulations for his good on both cell and nerve fiber, and its fortune. Being a young man of very good abilities, the prospect seemed and circulation, together with the com- | favorable for his further advancement

But who can tell what lies in the unseen future! Some years after I learned that he had lost his situation on account of intemperate habits. These three divisions are recognized, the emotions, the volitions and the intellect; contracted by the free use of wine among his friends socially and at pub-

After losing trace of him for many and point out the changes from a years he called at my house in the healthy mind. Beginning with the spring of 1874 to solicit pecuniary assistpresent trace back the emotional, voli- ance. He was so altered in his appeartional and intellectual changes, and as- ance that I at first hardly recognized certain how far they have been the re- him. I listened to his sad tale of desult of alcohol and narcotics; or of gradation and suffering, he having been previous degenerations, defects, in- separated also from an interesting famuries or hereditaries. While the facts | ily by his own acts. In the midst of his are numerous and complex, and often drunken career he had come near to the difficult to substantiate, yet when borders of death, and, on recovery, a grouped and compared they range them- kind physician, who had attended him selves into certain outline forms of dis- in his sickness, took him into his emsolution that can not be mistaken. The ploy in order to try and save him. He accompanied this physician in his visits seen in all cases of inebriety. The dis- to many persons who had limbs maimed solution of volition is the first promi- and broken by accidents which occurred nent symptom. This is loss of self-con- when they were stupefied with liquor. trol, either local or general. The co- The sight of their helpless and forlorn ordinating brain centers are enfeebled, condition led him to reflection, and the and the man is unable to direct his thought came to his mind that perhaps acts or conduct with consistency. The his body might yet be a case for the greater the loss of vital energy, the surgeon's knife. He then resolved at weaker the volition, until finally he is a once to stop short in his downward mere creature of any functional impulse career, and proposed, with the assistthat may be present. Alcohol not only ance of friends, to go to Binghamton produces loss of nerve energy, but dam-and spend a year at the Inebriate Asy-age to nutrition, and inability to re-lum at that place, hoping that course

this end. This dissolution process may fully cured, and succeeded in obtaining be apparent only in matters controlling a situation as book-keeper in a railroad the functions of the body, and the in- office in New York. While he was emfluence of surroundings upon them, or ployed there, a vacancy occurred in the it may extend to relations of life be- cashiership of a bank in the city of his yond this. Dr. Wright has very aptly former residence, not far distant from this paralysis at first func- | New York, and through the influence of tional, then organic." Beginning in relatives and friends there, he was apfailure to regulate the more simple pointed to fill the vacancy. Shortly acts of the body, it extends to the com- after his appointment I called upon plex duties and relations, and finally him at his office, and found him very ends in dementia. The inebriate has happy in the changed condition of his always more or less pronounced dissolu-tion of volition, which increases as his looked bright and encouraging. But in The next prominent phase of dis- my visit there, an incident occurred was walking near his place of business

Hardly a year passed before I heard of the zensory centers and dissipations | tially intoxicated condition and solicitbefore the close of the meeting, stating The third diversion is the dissolution | that he was anxious to be in time for on the way his appetite seemed to furi-

The last sad news that came to me tissue with another. Or the process of was that he had died of delirium tre-How my heart ached for his poor wife

This sad case teaches us an important ity of watchfulness and of looking to a Higher Power for deliverance. It would seem that this man, with strange unreasonings and credulities of such a favorable change in his circuminebriates are common in all cases. Be- stances, had every inducement and enginning in simple matters pertaining to couragement to persevere in the work of the bodily functions, it grows until it reform. It shows that there is no safety includes all the relations of matter and for one who has been formerly addicted mind. With the decline of nervous en- to intemperate habits to place himself ergy, and impairment of the higher in the way of temptation by visiting functions of the brain, the lesions of where liquor is sold, even for the pur intelligence increase. It may be for a chase of other articles. We are told to tong time apparently confined ot pray: "Lead us not into temptation," the care and control of the body, but as but if a reformed man is unavoidably dissolution goes on it embraces every thrown into such places, he should cry function of the brain. In some cases a mightily unto God to "deliver him from evil."-Christian at Work.

THE veteran Von Moltke considers the misuse of alcohol one of Germany's In fact, it would be protected all the impaired judgment and intelligence on greatest enemies, and adds: "A healthy to the end of life. In these three ways man needs no such stimulant, and to

WHEN the devil wants to run his claws clear through a man and clinch them on the other side he makes him believe that moderate drinking won't

ALCOHOL is a poison-an enemy to the

MISCELLANEOUS.

-A single birthday party at Reading, Pa., did service for three relatives who were born on the same day of the month. -"No; I can't say that I want the earth," mused the freight car tourist. "About three-quarters of it is water and that I ain't got no use for."-Terre Haute Express.

your tooth ache yet? If 'twere mine, dear, I'd have it out at once." Budge-"If 'twere yours! Well, auntie, sc would I."—Harper's Young People. -Census Enumerator-"Well, I have and dainty and prolonged description

-N. Y. Sun.

"Yes, but somewhat far removed." rather the most unexpected, word. This "How then?" "He is my brother, but is actually a frequent vice in modern, where the most unexpected, word. This is actually a frequent vice in modern, where the most unexpected is actually a frequent vice in modern. you see there are ten sisters between us."—Fliegende Blatter.

Is actually a frequent vice in modern, place him at disadvantage beside old which aim at style. There are some and cunning prison "hands." In all for-the shortest courtships on record. The and delays; they think them proofs of groom was a guest at a Canton hotel. delicacy and of exquisite care. This He became infatuated with the cook the appears to me to be a fault in any work day of his arrival, proposed, and, being office, it is true, in Shakespeare one is accepted, married her at once.

York are doing their utmost just now to astonishing beauty of its manner. But minimize the noise made by their trains, | we may be sure that Shakespeare did no and on some of the roads they have suc- stop as he wrote, and work the thing up ceeded, but they are still far from hav- Shakespeare who "never blotted a line. ing the noiseless trains which so delight | Of course passages may be "worked up, the heart of the traveler in Berlin, and and yet may show no sign of it. For the service has a great many lacks.

for the construction of which $2,000,000 has been provided, is expected to be one quite spontaneous. But several rough of the most extensive irrigation works in America. To get the river along the side hill along Bear Creek canon and out on to the plain near Plymouth will necessitate moving 220,000 cubic yards of solid rock.

"While passing along a street in Des Moines, the other day," relates the St. Joseph News, "Constable Allen noticed is the fault of some books of adventure. the scene the constable went over and in his admirable "Master of Ballantrae," did a little digging on his own hook, un- makes the old Scotch steward talk about earthing several gallon jugs of whisky.' -It has been estimated that were means for propelling street cars, at least 50,000 horses would be thrown out of ness of "heredity," as in M. Zola's long employment. This is a serious consideration, for were the street cars to eschew them, what would become of our fashion. Heredity is much too fleeting decrenid steeds? In France this question could be easily answered; but in the face of our prejudices it is, indeed, perplexing.

The Argentine Republic has nearly 71,000,000 sheep, yielding about 260,000,-000 pounds of unwashed wool, which, when washed, amounts to something less than 100,000,000 pounds. The flocks of the United States, although in 1880 numbering only 40,000,000, produced hearly 156,000,000 pounds of clean wool-Thus the average per sheep in the Argentine Republic was less than 11/4 pounds of clean wool, while in this country it was nearly four pounds.

-A negro killed a monster rattle. snake six miles this side of Clover Valnerve depressions by the increased use and disgusted with alcoholic drinks that with ninety-six rattles and a button on an almost phenomenal age to the snake, making it about one hundred years old. North to Sait Lake, from whence it will be shipped to the East. -The laborers of the blacksmith it as an anvil. They knew what the charged, because they had found it lying about freely. To make sure that it was not dangerous, they tried it several times in the fire and it did not explode. Hereupon they fitted it up as an anvil. But as soon as they tried to forge a piece of iron upon it, it exploded with tremendous force, tore off the roof of the building and scattered the walls. Luckily, the explosion tended upward above the heads of the workingmen and -It is not often that there is any disnegroes. We see them on a minstrel stage in strange and uncouth garbs, and we hear them playing on the banjo and it would be the wildest imagination are five or six rods apart. Then again instance, of a Southern negro going more easily. around and proclaiming himself to be old Bob Ridley or Jim Crow. Did anyor free, going around the country in a tub, with a banjo on his back and singing songs written by a white man?-Atlanta Constitution.

-At first sight one would suppose that the class above all others that would hail with delight a general strike of police would be the burglars. Curiously enough this is not so, says the London Mercury. The professional burglar is dead against such a strike; for; as he correctly reasons, though the police ceased to protect property, property would not thereby be left unprotected. more by the owners themselves, and the burglar's special knowledge, acquired situated in marshy surroundings on the from local observation of the habits of the police, would for the time being be useless. In the police the burglar knows exactly what he has to cope When every householder is his with. own policeman, however, it is different, lend me these $50; I feel as if I can for the burglar is quite ignorant of the bim in any given case.

ABOUT NOVEL WRITING. The Relation That Should Exist Betweet

the Style and the Matter No romance is any the worse, but far the better, for being well written. To be well written it must be suitably written, and the style which is excel lent for a sober, delicate, scientific stor1 is not so excellent for a tale of adventure. Even the novel-publishing news -Aunt Mary-"Poor Budge! Does papers, as long as they get their week ly allowance of incident, do not grumble probably because the language is good Its excellence, however, depends on the matter. Elegant and rhythmic English finished a big day's work, and I'm are not in place in a novel of romance tired." His wife-"I'm so sorry I can't they cease to be in place as soon as the help you. Now sit down, dear, and tell separate charm of the style becomes a me all you found our about our neight rival to the interest of the story. A Editors like brevity, but a man who is recently hanged in Indiana suited story, too, is marred when the attent condemned to penal servitude stands in was recently hanged in Indiana suited story, too, is marred when the attenthem too well. He made no remarks tion, instead of being concentrated the same case with respect to work. He about heaven. but nodded to the preacher and said: "I'll see you later," and then the trap fell.—Brooklyn Union. of analysis and science, one often sees -"Say, old fellow, are you really a that the author has paused and nibbled good marks, but unfitness for the task relation of the celebrated Prof. Dirl?" at his pen, while he sought the best, or allotted so him, or ill health, may ren-

-A dispatch from Ohio tells of one of readers who prefer these interruptions forced to stop and read again and again -The "L" road companies in New some passage, for the extraordinary, example, there is a beautiful sentence -The great Bear River Canal in Utah, in one of Izaak Walton's "Lives," which reads in its ample brevity as if it were which aim at style. There are some pies of it, none of them good, are found on a fly leaf of a book which had been in the possession of Izaak. The error is to employ a research in style which is inappropriate and tardy. This is as much the fault of some good novels in the way of analysis as recklessness of taste and even of grammar a woman digging in a garden and turn- The worst of it is that, to a good many up peculiar-looking vegetables, persons, the fault in the former class After she had loaded her apron and left appears a merit. When Mr. Stevenson

"the lurching reverberations of the firelight" he drops, for once into the error electricity to come into general use as a of style which is too often recognized as series of romances, can never, probably, and peculiar in its manifestations to be

A FLOATING ISLAND.

Great Curiosities. the world.

The island contains over a hundred sugar production, this was a most imcres, and it actually floats upon the portant gain. top of the water. There is no doubt about it. It is not attached to the main pass entirely around it in a boat.

shut, and the water for the first time his ruthless jaws. His depredations water. It took about forty-eight hours whose eggs are too hard for his teeth to actly the same appearance that it did when the water was six feet lower.

There is no part of the island that has ever been more than two or three feet Blackwood's Magazine. above the surface of the water. Therefore if it did not float when the lake was raised six feet by this new dam, it Bereft Husbands Smeared in Coal Tar as would have been entirely submerged. Since the water was raised this great pendently. There are four such pieces.

Three of them are close together, and When all was ready they brough

The great main island, which contains over 100 acres, moves about slowbody ever see a Southern negro, slave ly. The prevailing winds are from the have worth living for. the east shore, and then again it moves come nearer than a quarter of a mile of the north shore. There is a small forest of tamarack twenty-five feet high. They are in a thrifty condition and are of large size at | while the butt. Smaller trees of the same kind are rapidly growing up beside them. The wonder is how the roots of The lake is these trees are nourished southwest side, and it is supposed that there is vegetable matter enough in the water to keep the trees in a healthy condition.-Boston Globe.

-Borrower-"You are very kind to never repay you." -- Lender - "Eh? weapons that may be waiting to receive Why in thunder didn't you say that at him in any given case.

BRITISH PRISON RULES.

They Are More Severe Than Those of Any The British penal system is, though in some respects the most equal, unquestionably the most severe. The misdemeanant sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labor can not obtain a single day's remission by good conduct, and he is not allowed to spend in prison the smallest fraction of the money which he earns. His choice of work is also limited mostly to matmaking, tailoring and shoemaking. He may be a skilled mechanic or artist, or a watchmaker, turner, carver, engraver, miniature painter or draughtsman-he will find no employment for his talents within jail, and may, in fact, be set to work which will spoil his hand and for drama may have too much wit, though a time cripple his power of earning his class, with small improvements in his diet and eventually a ticket of leave, by > eign countries the discretionary powers allowed to prison governors for the treatment of their captives are much greater than with us. This, no doubt, opens the door to a good deal of favoritism, but where the governor is a man of experience and just mind the continental system must operate more humanely ducing the wood in the manufacture of than our own hard-and-fast rules can ossibly do. pinions of prison reformers have been so divided as about the effects of solitary confinement. In England it has been > ruled that a prisoner sentenced to penal solitude for more than nine months. In year. On some large lime trees, the Germany and Austria the term of soli- branches under the electric light distude is two years. In Belgium a pris- played new leaves of considerable size ly had the option between solitary con- where the light does not strike were finement and association; and if he chose only just beginning to develop. -Arkanthe former, one-third of his penalty was saw Traveler. remitted without reference to other renissions which he might earn by good in Berlin. Thirty-five co-operative soconduct. As it was found that all prisners elected for solitary confinement, the right of option has now been withdrawn; but the remission is still granted, so that in Belgium a sentence of fifteen each. Five still exist. The various years' penal servitude means practically reasons for discontinuing business were ten. the time which a prisoner has spent in custody before sentence is deducted of membership. from the term of punishment-a just provision which ought to be adopted in all countries.—Temple Bar.

THE BUSY MONGOOSE. How the Residents of Jamaica Cleared

It is about as Ten or fifteen years ago one or two manageable as hypnotism, which is residents of Jamaica imported this aniscientific, too, more or less, and is over- mal from the East Indies with a view of worked and tedious. But a novel of pitting him against the rats, which did redity is usually thought scientific, enormous mischief in the cane pieces. while a novel of hypnotic influence is In attaining this object they were perthought romantic. They are about feetly successful. The mongoose found equally scientific and equally transient. himself in a land peculiarly adapted to -Andrew Lang, in Longman's Magazine. his health and habits. He increased and multiplied exceedingly and achieved a complete victory over the rats, which Vermont Possesses One of the World's were driven neck and crop out of the canes. Whereas the expense caused by The floating island in Sadawga Lake, rats used to amount to £150 and £200, or in the town of Whitingham, Vt., is one of the most remarkable freaks of nature now practically nil, and when, as now, and one of the greatest curiosities in every form of saving must be taken advantage of to secure a fair profit in

But the mongoose has not confined his operations to his legitimate enemies. land on any part of the lake. One can He has killed all the lizards and snakes (which in Jamaica were always of harm-The fact that it really floats on the less species); he hunts for and devours water was made evident last year. At the eggs of quail and all ground-laying that time a stone dam was built at the birds, and is ready to pounce upon and outlet of the lake over six feet high, murder any of the feathered race which which raised the water a little more frequent the ground, or at any time than six feet. When the gates were place themselves within the reach of began to rise in the lake, there was great curiosity to see whether the island lamentation from high and low, and the only animals which are said to defy him would be submerged or rise with the are the guinea-fowl, wild and tame, for the water in the lake to rise to the top of the dam, and it was then discovered that the island presented exthe ticks, and with the destruction by the mongoose of bird, lizard and snak the natural checks on the increase of the tick have nearly disappeared .-

DIGGER INDIAN MOURNING.

a Token of Grief. I once witnessed the funeral of a Dig- excess of the demand. In the first place, mass of land has floated about more ger Indian squaw. On the third after- we must remember that the population only three of them were slightly readily than it previously did. Portions noon after her death the preparations of this country is twice as large as it of it, containing from one to three acres, were made for it. The women brought was in 1860, which means that the field have been broken away from the main dry resinous woods and placed them in of opportunity has expanded in proporpute as to the habits of the Southern island, and go swimming around inde- the form of a pyramid, and under them tion to the number of graduates.

already fifty or sixty rods to the north- body, wrapped in her best clothes, and of college students, and consequently and bones. All this is the purest fancy, east of the main island. Sometimes they laid it on top. Then all her little trinkets and her work basket and her bone hended in a university course. if it had not been sanctified by the they will be all in a cluster, the smaller utensils for weaving were laid beside arunken craziness of circus performers ones floating around faster than the her, and her last baby basket laid on majority of the men graduated from our of the old Bob Ridley stripe. Think, for larger ones, as the wind carries them her breast, which she had woven herself, Eastern colleges entered the ministry. hoping soon to need it, for these women | Thirty years ago, by far the greater certainly love their little ones and re- number contemplated the practice of joice in their motherhood. It is all they the law or of medicine. Now a large south and west, and after it has blown At sundown the disconsolate widower calico coat and buttons as big as a wash hard for a day or two the main island is was brought forward, and he was so able forms of business or industrial found to have changed its position several rods. Some times it will be near place where he was to sit. Coal tar was ence under the joint stimulus of capital smeared on his face and in his hair. and science. over toward the west. It never has This is their mourning garb-a coat of coal tar.

Then the fire was lighted and the women raised a sort of wailing chant in ing the university curriculum. Not trees growing upon this remarkable which the men joined occasionally, and only is it no longer the sole function of island. Some of them are more than the body slowly consumed, the fire colleges to turn out clergymen, but it being fed by fresh pine knots all the has even ceased to be their exclusive

> 1/2/20 Herald.

> you try some remedy? Texas Siftings.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Germany manufactures over £2,000,-00 worth of children's toys every year. -About 4,500 species of wild bees are mown, of wasps, 1,100, of which 170 and 6 respectively live in Britain. -The largest fruit farm in West Virginia is the Becker farm, near Harper's Ferry. It contains 5,000 apricot trees, 37,000 peach trees, 3,000 plum trees, ,000 miscellaneous fruit trees and 35,. 000 grape vines.

American inventive activity is on the increas, as is shown by the fact that during the past year 3,785 more patents were taken out than in the preeding year. The number stood 23,360 for 1889. -Dallas, Oregon, claims to handle more wool direct from the producer than any other city in the United States. Large wagonloads come to town every day, and 5,000,000 pounds will be handled this season. -On November 1, 1887, the aggregate annual capacity of the completed iron furnaces in the entire country was 10,-990,993 net tons, and by November 1, 233 net tons, an increase of 2,177,210 tons in two years. -Quill toothpicks come from France. The largest factory in the world is near Paris, where there is an annual product of 20,000,000 quills. The factory was started to make quill pens, but when these went out of general use, it was

1889, these figures had grown to 13,168,- converted into a toothpick mill. -Pulp manufacturers are deeply interested in an electrical method of repulp. By this process it is claimed that the fiber is manufactured so cheaply There is no question about which the that the entire pulp business will be revolutionized, and the digesters now in use be driven out.—Electrical Review. -The influence of the electric arc on vegetation is said to have been strikingervitude can not be safely confined in ly shown in Berlin in the spring of this oner sentenced to travaux forces former- while the buds on the opposite branches

-Co-operation has not been successful cieties have been organized there for manufacturing purposes since 1868. Thirty of them wound up their affairs. after an average existence of six years It must be added that in Belgium lack of funds, differences of opinion among members, and dwindling away

> -Mr. Adametz has just made some microscopic researches upon the microscopic organisms that inhabit cheese. From an examination of Emmenthal, a soft variety of Gruyere cheese, he has obtained the following results: In each gramme of the cheese, when fresh, from 90,000 to 140,000 microbes are found. This number increases with time. Thus, acheese 71 days old contains 800,000 bacteria per gramme. The population of a soft cheese 25 days old and much denser than the preceding is 1,200,000, and that of a cheese 45 days old is 2,000,000 microbes per gramme. — La

Nature. -It is well known that moths and butterflies give off odors either from the wings or the hinder end of the body. Certain moths, as the parent of the common red and black "bear" caterpillar, and of the salt marsh caterpillar, have a retractile organ which, when thrust out, throws out a strong odor, somewhat like laudanum. The other evening we caught a white female miller (Spilosoma virginica), which, after rough handling, threw off a very peculiar strong odor, somewhat reminding us of laudanum, and which remained on the fingers for several hours. The moth did not dart out the repugnatorial appendages found in the other arctians.

COLLEGE GRADUATES. The Supply of Educated Men Not in Excess of the Demand.

When one marks the long lists of recent graduates from our principal colleges-lists in most cases twice as long as they were thirty years ago -one wonders at first sight where such a multitude of highly educated young men will go. Where are they to find places suited to their training and attainments? One can imagine some of them asking despondently with Tennyson:
"What is that which I should turn to, lighting upon days like these? Every door is barred with gold, and opens but

Yet, if we look closely at the matter, we shall see reasons for believing that the supply of educated men is not in the second place, a marked change has When all was ready they brought the come over the post-graduate intentions

> At the beginning of this century, a and steadily increasing fraction of graduates apply themselves to the innumer-

This signal alteration in the objects which graduates have in view has had the effect of broadening and reorganizpurpose to qualify young men for the The tin dipper circulated, and the learned professions generally. men, one by one, dropped off into slum. now seek to impart such a training and ber, but the women kept awake, proba- equipment as will fit the faithful stubly all night, as the fire was still dent for any walk of life, in which a smoldering in the morning. - Saginaw disciplined and well-stored intellect and the invaluable habit of concentration are the factors of success. Such Smith-Say, Brown, you seem to be being the aims and the methods of congrowing bald ver; rapidly. Why don't temporary colleges, we do not think the annual number of their graduates is out Brown-I am going to. I went and of proportion to the needs and opporsaw a divorce lawyer this morning .-- tunities of our fast-growing country .--N. Y. Ledger.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year ..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inser-

as a private guarantee of good faith. Re a communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON, LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington County.

Show this paper to your neighbor, if he is not already a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news should be without it.

torial columns, this week, the name tricks and pranks as this the people was adopted ; of our gallant standard bearer in the have determined to return him to approaching campaign, the Hon- Congress again this fall in order that Louis E. McComas. He needs no in- they may continue to be the recipi. the State of Maryland in convention followed with an exposition of the port Mr. Quay's resolution, in fact it roduction to our readers. His name ents of the good which will accrue is upon the lips of every one. His from more of his tricks. "Trick" is fame has gone forth throughout the good. Please tell us about more of President Harrison, its freedom from J. P. Delliver was speaking, to be lieve because it will prevent action length and breadth of the land. His McComas' tricks. record in Congress is credit to him- Of course there is nothing "puerile" self and an honor to his constituents, and "iilly-informed" about the asser-The name of McComas is a harbinger tion of the Democrat that "neither the of victory.

land Democrats, hence the studied think the visability of the George's this Republican Congress has so permanent. The following County may be defeated, but if he can get it bost with Jackson?

to aliude to these things.

THE organs of the Free Traders in attempting to advance any argument Nova Scotia and New Brunswick can wages and build up for our farmagainst the policy of Protection, be. are laid down in New York cheaper ers and producers the American fore launching forth their broadsides, favor of the producer." Upon this what better article for steam pur- cerats, discriminate in favor of seniative. further) and endeavor to show that any system of economy which denies this proposition is founded upon false premises and the conclusions deduced therefrom necessary absurd. This is the oft repeated cry-the supreme contention of the Free Trader.

An eminent writer has said: "Who this consumer is, that is neither a producer as well, nor directly dependent upon the prosperseem to indicate that he is the Devil. same process of abstraction by which present, the economists devised their economical man-' a covetous machine, inspired to action only by avarice and the desire of progress.' That is, they cut away or stole away (abstracted) the better half of the real being, and persisted in treating the remaining human fragment (if we can call it sells-has no soul and no patriotismhas no interest but the cheapness of commodities-belongs to none of the classes that make up the industrial state. His sole function in life is to devour the result of other men's la- think we will get it. bors, but he adds nothing himself to the sum of the utilities that make wealth. There may be a few exceptional persons in the nation that de- oats light, also buck wheat does not serve to be called mere consumersfruges consumere nati-but that the pational policy is to be forever directed in accordance with the interests of an insignificant and useless of an insignificant and useless class, is a large assumption. And class, is a large assumption. And rected in accordance with the interproducer, instead of the nearer, we both pleasant and profitable. Come certificate which this law compells have seen reason enough to doubt.

It is a hard matter to get the Amer. McComas is their theme, ican Free Trader to name specific articles outside of two or three (his a summer resort at Altamont. standbys), the price of which is in- We are all pleased with THE REcreased by reason of the tariff. His PUBLICAN, Can't do without it. forte is to deal in glittering generalities: his aim is to conceal his real purpose-the transfer of our workshops and factories across the water who, with his family is stopping at shops and factories across the water who, with his family is stopping at and make this country solely a vast "Monte Vista," will preach at the opening of the doors of the state scored sixteen hundred and seventy tin plate manufactured in the United farming community; to remove the Episcopal Church next Sabbath, raill as far from the grain-field and ore-bank as possible, is the heighth of his ambition. We are constrained to say that the recent ulterances of the Democrat lead inevitably to the conclusion that it shares the sentiments, the feelings, the ambitions of his Free Trade friends. It admits that the bounty on maple sugar secured and placed there through the effort of Mr. Mc-Comas will put into the pockets of the people of our county the handsome sum of $2,467.82, this on the assumption that each sugar maker produces 500 pounds or more. We are free to say, however, that every pound of maple sugar will get the benefit of the bounty and that the product of Garrett County has so materially increased during the past ten years as to secure to our people as much if not more than the amount named above by reason of the bounty. But the Democrat again resort. Nominates the Hon. Louis E. McComas ing to special pleading and again presuming upon the credulty of its readers says that this bounty business was only a trick of McComas' to make himself solid with the people of Allegany and Garrett Counties. Convention met in Oakland yester- Geo. W. Wilson, of Garrett; F. just here would it not be well to re- Hayden, D. W. Sloan, of Allegany, Washington, who seconded the nommark that McComas has been play- was chosen chairman, and Mr. T. B. ination. ing just such tricks ever since he has Noyes, of Montgomery.

been in Congress-tricks which have WE place at the head of our edi- dition of our people. For just such price of coal nor the price given for the labor of mining it can or will be cepted time" for the discussion of with the prosperity of our mining in-State issues? The record of Mary- terests. The Democrat always fully inland's Democracy just now is any- forms itself before making its statething but a palatable dish for Mary | ments. Certainly it does, but don't you effort to keep the minds of the people from dwelling upon State affairs. excited when they read your opin- a severe and effective law against E. Sollars, Dr. J. W. Laughtia and caucus meets, and the Democrats sup-But before they deposit their ballots ions on the effect of the tariff upon in November don't you think they their product? Don't you think they will remember Archer and count that | wondered whether you had not been thought with the visions of a looted imposed upon by the "large coal know what his duties as Governor tion upon which your statement was grappled with the currency question were; and Baughman-the incom- predicated, and don't you, dear parable Victor-who was in the same | Democrat, believe that those yery same "large coal owners" would be and that has already largely ad Of course the Democrat don't want o allude to these things.

Same large coal of the first people to move "on to Washington" if an attempt were made to remove the duty? Even with the Tariff bill, which is framed to help tariff of 75 cents per ton the coals of American industries keep up Amerithan our own coal can be placed home market, which, in reducing R publican party. there and the only advantage we statement they then proceed to build poses. But if the duty were removed their theories (they never get any can you contend for one moment that our coal would not be completely supplanted by the foreign product, to hold and secure a free ballot, and a mined efforts to justly and honorably be for it, and if no demand what what would keep the mines open? Perhaps the Democrat had better in- on the State Elections; that it has largely increased majority. terview the "large coa! owners" again before it replies.

There will be a Sunday School Convention at the Bray Sunday School ity of other people who are producers, is hard to say. His name and the mysteriousness of his character would between Issue Kingly and John H. Secure the re-nomination of Hon der the fraud and corruption of Democratic administration, kept in power by corrupt registration and frauda. between Isaac King's and John H. But most likely he is an innocent Chisholm's on the Sang Run Road, such laws by the last General Asens logicum, manufactured by the Several speakers are expected to be sembly as would secure to the voters Farmers are still harvesting hay. Chauncy Kimmell is now engaged in hauling saw logs to Mr. Hoges' saw mill.

Preaching last Sunday in a grove on Deep Creek by Rey, Heart, the human) as a living reality. 'The Consumer' always buys and never Mrs. Selders was baptized. X

Times are dull, but the people are Farmers are not through harvesting yet. The hay crop is very good; promise much.

dale, Pa., in the near future, that their interest lies in the direct William D. Hope, Rev. G. H. Nock of the state. We demand, in their Paugh, FC Browning, Jere Hand- Edward C. O'Brien, of New York at tion of dependence upon the farther and Miss Laughlin. Their visit was name, the repeal of the vicious pay werk, H W Sharpe, T B Wiley, Jas present disbursing clerk of the House, 'The consumer' must be as short. again, friends, and help us with your sighted as he is hard to find, if he good advice and equally good music.

The Republicans are solid here and Send us a live man that will build

FARMER.

of Washington County, for Congress.

CONVENTION

always resulted in bettering the con- posed of two members from each at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Wellington pg - ter went over and Mr. Quay gave assembled, That we endorse the patriotic, pure and firm administration of financial policy, its wise and brilliant state policy, guided by Secretary

Blaine to success alike in the Samoan and Behring sea affairs. Resolved. That we approve the change from fruitless fillbustering passed a pension law that gives re- The following resolutions were read ief, long delayed by Democratic and unanimously adopted: Congresses, to the bundreds of thouand passed a silver law that will give to the people an abundance of the revenues discriminates in favor foreign producers and manufacturlent ballots, demanded the passage of through which the sentiments of the people could be honestly expressed and fairly counted; and we condemn by compelling them to accept a registration law worse than the former laws, and a system of ballot robbed Times are dull, but the people are tion of the election law which de-looking to a better future and we prives them of this right, and de-

> Democratic Governor.
>
> Resolved, That we denounce the new them to buy to save their votes,

The Republicans are solid here and sacred trust, only to be confided to honest and conscientious persons and we point with pride to the national Treasury and its custodians through Mr. Hatt, superintendent, long series of years under Republican administrations, and contrast it with the management of the treasury of the State of Maryland in the week to begin threshing. hands of the Democratic party, which Messrs. West & Shipman's saw profligate and extravagant expendiprison for the reception of one of its six feet one day last week.

highest officials, a self confessed thief. The culpable and criminal negligence of other state officials of Maryland calls for the condemnation of all honest citizens and demands the overthrow of a party kept in power by funds stolen from the treasury of our common wealth.

the admirable public career of the sented in Congress by a member whom industry, intelligence ability have in a comparitively brief of the great Republican party and we desire to emphasize the further fact that while his pregress in station and usefullness has been so brilliant. been uttered against him by personal or political foe.

Hon. Geo. A. Pearre, of Cumberland, then spoke for a few minutes and in concluding his speech put in greeted with cheers loud and long. Mr. Pearre was followed by Messr. The Sixth District Congressional Norwood and Cooper, of Allegany; If it was a trick, was it not a pretty day morning at 10 o'clock a. m. and Benjamin and Geo. L. Williams, of good sort of trick for our people, and was called to order by Capt. Jas. A. Montgomery, and M. L. Keady, of on Rules to report, asked unanimous

The Convention adjourned to meet work of the last legislature.

At the time of going to press Hon, mistakes and stains, its successful followed by Hon. Binger Hermann. upon the Federal Election bill. The meeting was large and enthusinstic.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

Phiness Boucher.

treasury; and Jackson, who did not owners" who gave you the informatividows and orphans, that it has sembled, as in time past, do most earnestly endorse the candidacy of Hon. Louis E. McComas for renomination by the Republicans of the numerous other lobbyists representgood dollars of the people's money Sixth Congressional District, as repong interests that will be more or less resentative in Congress from said

Resolved, That we are highly grathim as a statesman in the council of Quay resolution adopted by the Sen- Election District No. 1, at Swart the Nation, and the prominence he ate. occupies amongst the leaders of the House of Representatives and the

Resolved. That we heartily endorse

House of Representatives the bill to to his constituents, his earnest desire extend the supervisors election law willingness and persistent and deterand if so what demand would there free count for every vote of every represent them he is entitled to and ments. Federal E ections without infringing in the Fifty-second Congress by a been as careful of State rights as it | Resolved, That it is the sense of anti-force and anti-fraud election ty in the Congressional Convention to be held on 21st inst at Oakland Resolved, That the people of Mary. should use all honoroble means to secure the re-nomination of Hon.

The following named gentlemen

vention: J. Z. Browning, A. F. George, a system of registration and election Geo L Lee, Richard Custer, J F the most important, Friend, Ira E Friend, John W Frazee, A C Friend, R T Frazee, John the methods by which the Demo- Riley, Isaiah Boucher, Jacob Fresh, and Harbor bill which was passed.

JOSEPH BUCKLE, It contained many important amend- Officer of Registration 12th Election District. disregarded the wishes of the people Chas Wegman, Wm Schell, H M ments. Kemp, Samuel Harshbarger, Chas laws, and a system of ballot robbed of wise features of Australian law. From time immemorial the peope have selected their own judges of election and we condemn that portion of the election law which deprives them of this right, and demaid the repeal of that part of it which places the appointment of dermilk, C. E. Hove, Samuel Ferbalance of Australian law. Burkworth, Henry Warnick, Gusta about half of the time. The prospect how is that the attendance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., Ferbalance this week ship in St. John's College of the time. The prospect the ship in St. John's College of the time. The prospect this week ship in St. John's College of the time. The prospect this week ship in St. John's College of th which places the appointment of dermilk, C. E. Hoye, Samuel Fer. be called a political hustler has been election judges in the hands of a guson, A S Sell, B B Sayage, Thos fully proven, is, after September 1, registration law, which denies the miss lars, J C Dunham, John W Arnold, take an active part in the manage-M. V. Grium will move to Myers- nority any voice in deciding who are S E Bolden, G W Wilson, H G San- ment of the Republican Congressional lawful voters and discriminates ders, J W White, Stingley Clark, Ira Campaign committee. That Com-

> Chestnut Grove. The farmers are all busy with their Emerick and Silas Beachy.

harvest. Our Sunday School is progressing.

Daniel Mosser, of Swanton, is ex-

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18th, 1890 .the unfortunate difference of opinion ter remain in the dark? period of public service elevated him that has risen among the Republican to a place among the trusted leaders Senators. Senator Quay seems deter- ing the electric lights reminds me of mined to get his resolution confining a recent conversation I overheard. A the legislation of the present session gentleman wished to find the resito the tariff bill; the appropriation dence of a friend who is a prominent citizen of Oakland, and asked for dihis public and private life have alike bills and bills affecting public build-been of so high and pure a character ings and grounds before the Senate.

THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL

his public and private life have alike bills and bills affecting public build-rections. This was the advice he retions. week was referred to the committee and directly opposite the hardware on Rules, as well as an amendment till you come to a turn and follow offered by Senator Hoar to include that turn till you come to another the Federal Election bill in the legis street and the fourth house on that and in concluding his speech put in nomination for Congress, Hon. L. E. McComas. The nomination was since been held; but nothing was since been held; but nothing was every way helpful to the stranger? done except to discuss the situation When we can see the names of the and by a vote of 18 to 17 to refuse to various streets, we shall no longer be endorse Senator Hoar's amendment, perplexed to find our way. Do give Saturday afternoon Senator Quay, your influence to the electric without waiting for the committee consent to offer the same resolution, which also provides for taking a final vote on the tariff bill on Aug. 30, but A committee on resolutions com- in mass meeting at the Glades Hotel Senator Edmunds objected, the matcounty read the following which sided and made the opening ac- notice that he would this week offer dress and was followed by Mr. the same resolution and insist upon Resolved, By the Republicans of McComas, who in a masterly effort, Its consideration. It is expected that the Sixth Congressional District of accepted the nomination. Mr, Pearre all of the Southern Senators will supis charged that it is the result of a ber, that is to say, on the bargain with them-this I do not be-

Meanwhile Senator Hoar who is leading those who favor the passing first Monday of October, that is to say, on the of both tariff and Federal Election bills is by no means idle. Telegrams Pursuant to call the Republicans to absent Republican Senators have DID any one suppose the Democrat would admit that this is "the ac- placed upon it," has nothing to do control to the rule of the present on Wednesday, Aug. 20th, and once, and it is not impossible that Congress which declares that mem- elected Dr. H. M. Kemp temporary another caucus will be held before bers who are present in their seats are not absent and are counted to make a quorum to do business. tary, and on motion of G. W. Wil- full attendance can be secured it is We congratulate the country that son the temporary officers were made probable that Mr. Quay's resolution nearly redeemed the pledges of the Central Committee was elected: E. yould upon by the Senate before the

> The Louisiana Lottery lobby is solidly in favor of the Quay resolu-Congresses, to the bundreds of thou-sands of disabled union soldiers, their of Garrell County in convention as-sage by the Senate of the rigorous anti-lettery bill which the House on Saturday took up and passed and damaged by legislation which has already passed the House are adding their influence towards getting the Speaker Reed, while deeply regretting the turn which things have taken in the Senate, will do nothing always declare that protection dis-criminates against the consumer in have is that our product is a some the desire of the Free Trade Demforce the Senate to act on the Federa Resolved, That because of his pup- Election bill. He says the House es; and as it has passed through the lie record, his fealty to party, fidelity has done its duty and if the Senate refuses to do likewise let its members answer for it to their constit> citizen, white or black, and has done has their confidence and support, and this within the law and has guarded should be returned to represent them side in the dispute though it is pretty well known that he favors the Fedend Election bill, and its friends are has been earnest to guard citizen's this convention that the delegates to trying to get him to do something to officer of Registration at Election District. rights, that we heartify endorse the be selected to represent Garrett Coun- help them, while its opponents are equally as persistent in asking him equally as persistent in asking him John Collins, to keep his hands off. Mr. Quay and Officer of Registration th Election District. nearly every Republican who is ex- Officer of Registration 5th Election District, pected to vote for his resolution say that they favor the Election bill, but were elected as delegates to the Conbelieve it to be impossible to pass > Officer of Registration 7th Election District. both it and the tariff bill at this ses sion, and they regard the tariff bill as

The Senate devoted Friday and Saturday to a discussion of the River Riley, Isaiah Boucher, Jacob Fresh, and Harbor bill which was passed.

The House had a time all last week Wildman, Geo L Michaels, Aden on account of the absence of a quorum Cuppett, W P Townshend, E E Sol- when he resigns his present office, to Treasurer. The committee proposes to make a winning fight.

Secretary Windom has issued or-ders that the prices paid for silver.

In the matter of the Estate of Samuel En-gle, deceased, vs. Ralph Engle, Executor.

No. 229 Administration. In the Orphans Court for Garrett County. ders that the prices paid for silver, under the new law, shall be made public on the days of purchase. This spoiled a lot of Democratic thunder.

Senator Plumb has offered an amendment to the tin plate schedule of the tariff bill, which is now being debated, to allow the duty on tin plate to remain as at present and to pected in this neighborhood this amendment to the tin plate schedule Rev. Dudley W. Rhodes, of Carin. has resulted in an exposure of the mill is doing brisk work. They de- plate to remain as at present and to livered at their mill a saw log that give a bounty of 1 cent a pound on Communicated MR. EDITOR: -- Allow me to congratulate the citizens of Oakland on the prospect of having electric lights. What a help they will be! They The President just now occupies a will assist strangers to read the names position that cannot fail to seriously of the various streets, and the num-Resolved That we regard with pride tax the good sense which he has time bers of the houses. Then too we can after time shown himself to be better save ourselves from the many Hon. L. E. McComas and congrat- largely endowed with. It is to him rough places and holes in the sideulate ourselves upon being repre- that the rank and file of the Repub- walk. But won't the lights show up lican party look for a settlement of a great many things that might bet-

Speaking of the advantage of hav-

Registration Notice. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER SITTINGS, 1890,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the indersigned officers of Reighstration of Voters is and for their respective Election Districts of Garrett County, will sit in their respective

15th, 16th and 17th Days of SEPTEMBER, and for four successive days in the month

6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER.

sao, from the hour of 8 o'clo

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER,

a said year 1830, from the hour of 8 o'clock

Z nt his residence Sep-tember sitting and in October at store of L. E. Friend, at Friendsville, 3 at Grantsville, 4. Sept. 15 at Frankli Mines, all other days at Bloomington. 5, nt Accident,

All naturalized citizens applying for regis-ation will be required to produce their cor-deates of naturalization to the Officers of Officer of Regist

ISAIAR FULLER, Officer of Registration 3d Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER,

SAMUEL JOHNSON, Officer of Registration 9th Election District, SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH Officer of Registration 10th Election District. JOHN C. CHANEY, Officer of Registration 11th Election District, VACANT SCHOLARSHIPS.

On Wednesday, the 27th Day of August, 1890.

WM. HINEBAUGH,

ORDER NISI.

Secretary.

The report shows the amount of sale to be $3,000.

J. W. WHITE, Register of Wills, rue Copy-Test; J. W. WHITE, Register.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall eets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in nme Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O.O.F. cets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LODGE, No. 113. K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Steiding Union Sunday School will hold their pic nic on Sept. 6. G. E. Messerley has completed a handsome buggy for Robert Felty.

Bob says "ain't she a daisy ?" Rev. Mr. Gibson, of Pittsburgh, will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m.

LOADED SHELLS-Just received at Offutts, full line of Loaded shells,

Any size you want, 27 2t Simon Myers, living about 3 miles southwest of Oakland, killed a rattle snake on Friday which measured 4 feet 2 inches and had 18 rattles, FOR RENT. - The undersigned desires to rent his farm to a reliable person on shares. 27 1m* HENRY FEIG.

Accident, Md. Men wanted for the contracting of shend. cutting and hauling pulp wood from Cranesville to the Skipnish R. R. Apply at once to.

P. T. BOUCHER, Glades Hotel, Oakland, Md. 27 3t

While riding at Mt. Lake Park on last Saturday Robt. Thornburg's horse became unmanageble and threw him against a barb wire fence cutting his leg very badly and otherwise injuring him. Dr. H. W. Mc-Comas dressed his wounds.

Auction at Shartzer's Tuesday, night. 15 men's suits; 13 boy's at "Monte Vista," suits: 32 pairs ladies shoes: 21 pairs men's shoes; 11 overcoats, light weights. The above are fall and summer goods and will be sold without reserve.

On last Tuesday burglars entered Mr. C. T. Sweet's house at Swanton and stole a pocket-book containing a small amount of money, two valuable gold rings and some other articles. The robber is supposed to have been a colored tramp who was seen in the neighborhood on Tuesday.

We have now opened our fall hats. tips, fancy feathers and bires, and a full line of new millinery goods.

Velvets, plushes. Velyet ribbon.

Satin faced velvet ribbon. Satin edge velvet ribbon.

A full time of new silk ribbons. Rouchings, and a large variety of kid gloves.

M. L. SCOTT.

27 2 Baltimore store. Garthright is selling New York

Creamery Butter at 25c per lb. Plenty on hand. Ice at 50c per 100 lbs at ice house. He has just received a large lot of Riggs' Flannels to sell at 30c; Riggs' all wool shirts, $1 00; all 27 2t. wool blankets, 75c. Andrew J. Harne, Auctineer, sold in front of Mrs. Taggerts Hotel Aug. for the heirs of Henry Russel deed, a Armstrong and Miss Mullen, all o ful one. The B. & O. Hotel has a quite ill. The trouble is heart dis house and lot situated on Water Baltimore, dived at "Monte Vista" street, Oakland, to Mrs. Russel for on Tuesday. eight hundred dollars. Also 4 lots in Totten's addition to Oakland for Dunn, of Preston County, W. Va. three hundred and five dollars to were visiting Dr. I. D. Newman Sat ular or electoral studies. Thorough part of this week. training. Academic, normal or commercial courses. Special attention to collegiate requirements. Number of pupils strictly limited. Reference library. REV. J. NEWMAN, 27 4t. Principal.

I hereby warn all persons not to returned home Sunday. trespass upon my farm by hunting or picking chestnuts or driving through my fields with horses or wagons, as the law will be enforced to the fullest extent upon such trespassers. 27 5* HENRY FEIG.

Trespass Notice.

DEATHS

NEULAND,-At Coal Centre, Washington County, Pa., of typhoid fever, August the 15th, 1890, Hannah Neuland, aged 44 years. The deceased was a daughter of Johnathan Bittinger, of Bittinger, Garrett 50th year of his age.

of Washington, D. C.

SCHLOMAN-At Deer Park Md.,

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About our People at Home and Abroad. Toy Notes is dangerously ill of fever.

Will Scott was in Piedmont Friday night.

Mrs. M. E. Smith, of Frederick, is in Oakland. W. McC. Brown, of Bayard, was seen on our streets Friday. Frederick Fickey, is in Oakland looking after his coal interests. Squire Henry Kahl, of Accident, was up to our city on Monday. Misses Frost, of Brady's, are visiting Mrs. D. E. Offutt this week,

W. P. Townshend, States' Attorney, was in Cumberland Tuesday. Chief Judge Miller, of Annapolis Circuit, was in our city Saturday.

Chief Judge Nathan Casteel has been very seriously ill for some time. Edmund Albright, of Cranesville, was in Oakland Tuesday on business. has returned home after a long ab-

W. A. Dailey the unterrified Democrat of Tolliver, was in our city Fri-Jos. H. Friend, of Sang Run, was ness.

Miss Gertrude Armstrong, of Parkersburg, is visiting Mrs. S. L. Town-

up to Oakland on business Wednes-

Jos Speicher, of Deer Park, made our office a very pleasant call on

A. C. Duckworth, Esq., of No. 4. was up to our city Wednesday and C. C. Crane and Creed Dunnington, of Terra Alta, were visitors to our city Saturday Elihu S. Ritey and family, of Annapolis, arrived in Oakland on Thursday of last week. A. C. King, Esq., of New York September 2, 1890, afternoon and has recently been visiting his brother

> Mrs. C. A. Bolden, Jr., of Myersdale, is visiting her father in town, Mayor Owen Hart. Will Rayenscraft, teller in the > Fairmont bank, spent Sunday his parents in town. Mr, William Allen and family, or > Cincinnati, were at "Monte Vista" the early part of the week. Mrs. Frank Turley, of Moorefield, was visiting her husband's father's family in Oakland last week. Wm. Hinebaugh, Jr., is at home for some weeks. Will has been work ing at Davis for several months.

Jacob Stuck, the old reliable Republican, of Setbysport, was up to our city on business Saturday.

Miss Kate Stanton, of Chicago, is

Miss Madge Brown, of Morgantown, who was visiting the Misses Tower, returned to her home on Monday. Waring Thomas, who has been at home. his home in St. Mary's County for two weeks, returned to Oakland Sunday.

Jehu Stewart and Mrs. Mary urday and Sunday.

C. K. Lord, Chas. O, Scull, Lieut. R. M. G. Brown and a crowd of children from Deer Park Hotel drove up to our city Monday. Piedmont, who have been visiting fine line of goods displayed. frien is in our city for some weeks,

Mrs. W. P. Elliott, of Chicago, will remain at "Monte Vista" through September and Mr. Elliott will join her for a part of the time. E. D. Hoffman, secretary and treasurer of the Oakland Coal and Coke Co., was in Oakland Sunday, the guest of Mr. R. J. Anderson. Rev. Dr. Spencer, Secretary of Church Extension of the M. E. Church, preached in Oakland to an illness of Mrs. John Jankey, also the Spangler, as was also Prof. E. Lee. due the firm and left for parts un-

M. L. Snyder and family, of Allegheny City, who have been at M. M. Ashby's for five weeks, returned COYLE-At Swanton, Md., Tues. homé on Wednesday. Mr. Snyder day, Aug. 19, Patrick Coyle, in the made our office a pleasant call on Monday. Miss Bridget Lannon, one of Pied- timore city's most cultured teacher's with fun and humor. Aug. 18th, Mrs. Edward Schloman, mont's most charming young ladies, gave, on Monday night last, at the The Accident Normal is still growwas visiting Miss Nellie Sullivan D. Hoye cottage, a lecture on physi ing. There are now 40 scholars in at day on the tasiff bill.

her sister in wheeling, W. Va.

H. Allen Ison and wife, Mrs. Benj. Washington Tuesday. Allen will resume his duties in one of the Depart. ments, and Mrs. Ison and daughter will go to Niagara Falls accompanied by Major Willie Ison.

Sunday School Convention. meetings on Sunday. Rev. Geo. H. lin. of Deer Park, Miss Camille Hen-Nock will preach the convention drickson, of Alexandria and Messrs sermon Sunday morning at the regu- E. D. Hoye and Geo. H. Nock, vis lar hour for service. In the after- ited last Sabbath Steiding's Union tions are invited to participate, Selbysport. Mrs. E. J. Stuck, who has been visiting friends at Derry Station, Pa.,

Mr. Larish, of Philadelphia, Pa., after his interests in the lumber busi-

The Yough Fishing Club, which was composed of gentleman from Pittsburgh and Councilsville, Pa., have returned to their homes after a stay of about two weeks.

Business in this section seems to be prospering. Work is plenty and hands are searce.

William Wills, of Ursina, Somerset County, Pa., has moved to Selbysport years ago. His interment took piace fro where he will follo v blacksmithing. W. S. Friend is the only blacksmith in this section that has a Friday and Saturday. rostrum in his shop.

Dentistry. Dr. P. P. Ritter will bent Accident,

Wednesday, Sept. 10; Friendsville, Saturday, Sept. 18th. Mountain Lake Park.

The past week has been very quiet. but has been greatly enjoyed by those who remained after the Assembly closed. Prof. Line and Miss Pollock while others are visiting points of

Rev. L. Carmon Bell, editor of and Sunday. has taken one of the Cozy Row cot- as ever. tages for the latter part of the season. Our meetings last S bbath were last week, cer preached in the morning and at these grounds, which was greatly enjoyed bo all who took part. this season is to begin on the 30th of which is being erected by the memthis month, which is the convention bers of the Dunkard denomination, of the Christian Alliance. Then on will be dedicated to the worship of the 13th of September there is to be a the triune God on the first Sunday of at the home of her parents in O k? Harvest Home picuic here for all October. The lovefeast will be held an i, after an absence of twelve years. who can come. Everybody is in- in the evening of the same day. D. W. Fraker, of McHenry, was in Vited to come and bring their bae- Rev. Samuel Miller has purchased Oakland, Wednesday on his way to kets. Miss Jennie Smith will have the Engel Mill property from the ing one hundred ovens and a num. his home from Eackbone mountain. charge and will make the day both executor of the Engel estate. The ber of dwellings.

soon have it ready for her future which he has now bought. J. A. E.

Deer Park. The summer senson in Deer Park ton. Mr. S. Fahne stock, with the Misse continues to be an unusually success- Mrs. Jesse Frazee, of the Cove, is large number of guests, and the pri- ease. best seasons the place has ever had. list.

and Keyser held a picnic in the B. & dent in the theological seminary at try. O. Hotel grounds Aug. 14th. There Gettysburg, is teaching vocal and in- Mrs. Wm. B. Owens of Piedmont, Massey Hall Preparatory School. Misses Hess, Duyail and Edna was a very large crowd in attendance strumental music in the Coye. He W, Va., accompanied by Miss Mollie Oakland, Md., 5th year. Advent Duckworth, of Westernport, were and in spite of the day being impro- is teaching a class in vocal music in Gregg, spent last Tuesday visiting Term begins October 13, 1890. Reg. visiting at J. O. Michael's last and pitious, the children and grown folks the Cove Lutheran church, and has friends and relatives in town.

rounding the hotel.

Droege, Mrs. F. Tweed, of Washing- Somerset County, in September. ton, Mrs. A. J. Devege, of Atlanta, and enjoyed a day's fishing.

and-Wing.

some time, is now improving, appreciative audience Sunday night. death of Mrs. Edward Schloman, of He returned again to Oakland on known and this is to give notice that Washington, D. C., who has been Saturday afternoon. spending the summer in Deer Park.

was a very pretty affair.

on No. 5 Thursday evening to visit Miss Lou Lohrfinch and Mrs. Henry work and the school is getting along Willig, of Baltimore; Mrs. Walter well. Engle, of Minnesota; Misses Lucy The Accident correspondent is glad Ison and daughter Ella, went to and Camille Hendrickson, of Aiex. to see THE REPUBLICAN look so andria; Rev. Geo. H. Nock, of Bal- sprightly of late, and find it so newsy. timore; Mr. W. D. Hoye and others. I think we can call it Garrett Coun-The professor used Zaggy's anatomi- ty's brightest and best newspaper. cal chart in illustrating his instructive | Hope it may continue to improve versational way. A party of ladies and gentleman. Next Saturday night and Sunday, consisting of Mrs. Sarah Turley, of Aug. 23 and 24, a District Sunday Moorefield, W. Va., Mrs. Mary En- to the home o' her son, Solomon. School Convention will be held at gle, of Minnesota, Misses Ellen and Red House. There will be three Jennie Hoye, and Miss Elia Laughnoon there will be a children's mass. Sunday School, three miles north of meeting, Sunday night a general Deer Park. The school last week Sunday School meeting. A grand purchased an organ, on which Miss time is expected. All denomina Ella Laughlin performed with her usual excellence. After the services He reports the new town of Alexthe party, numbering nine, were in vited to supper at the residence of Mr. Bernard Steiding, where a cou ple of hours were pleasantly spent in singing and social converse. Last week Mr. Steiding came in posses Mr. Larish, of Philadelphia, Pa., sion of through the instrumentality was in Selbysport last week, looking of Rev. Geo. H. Nock—the organ fermerly used by Phillips, and a railroad rapidly nearing comthe noted vocalist, and made expressly for him.

> Swanton. [Too late for publication last week.] Patrick Coyle, of this place, while attempt ing to cross the track in front of a west-bou ght-train on last Tuesday night, wa struck and injured so badly that he died about one hour. He was about fifty years of age and was born in Westport, County May ireland, and came to this country about St. Peter's Church, Westernport, on Thurs day, Rev. Father Donohue officiating L. H. Friend was on a trip to Elk Garde

> Mrs. Fisher, of Keyser, was visiting friend Mr. Brew was on a business trip to Cumber Gossler & Company will shortly begin saw-

Md., Tuesday, Sept. 9; Sang Run, inglumber in connection with their shing Mrs. R. J. West, of Oakland, was visiting in Swanton last week. 'squire Sharpless is now engaged in opening up the several veins of coal on the Swan lands on Backbone mountain. We understand that the School Board wil shortly repair and paint our school house. This is a much needed improvement to the school house as it is now a disgrace to Car are going right on with their classes rett County and should have been attended ing his brother, Mr. Charles Murphy Saturday The Workman, of Lanaconing, Md., McComas sturphy, of Wilson's Mills, was in town last week looking as well and hearty and Mrs. Michael Montgomery. Constable Browning, of Deer Park, was here very interesting. Rev. W. A. Spen-were visiting relatives here last week. Samuel Warnies, of Barton, was here on a night Rev. J H. W. Blake conducted basiness trip last week. "Sam" is one of Democrat.

The next and the last service for The new church near Accident, pleasant and profitable to all. Able consideration is $3,000. Early last and popular speakers are expected. spring Mr. Miller sold his farm to Mrs. Mamie White is having the John Glass. He then rented and Shirer building plastered and will moved on the Eugel mill property, Rumor has it that Mr. Lininger near Engel's mill has also sold his mansion farm to Mr. Thomas Stanvate boarding places in the town are . Mr. Melchior Weller, who lives ali filled. It is, in fact, one of the near Casey's mill, is also on the sick

The Sabbath Schools of Piedmont Mr. George Royer, divinity stu-

J. S. Waddle, of Romney, W. Va., Thursday night. On Friday the 15th, lican moved his family to Frostburg spent Sunday with friends at Wing- he visited the Grantsville Normal. on Tuesday morning. He returned again in the evening in W. R. Davis, who has been ill for time to attend the Accident literary society. On Friday night, Aug. 15th, We are sorry to report the serious he was the guest of Rev. W. M. my former partner, collected money

The Accident Literary Society had day dissolved. The children's fancy dress ball at its first meeting on last Friday eventhe B. & O. Hotel last Friday night lng. It was quite a success. One of the enjoyable features of the society last and part of this week. She left clogy. Among those present were tendance. Prof. Lee is doing good lecture which was delivered in a con- and that every issue may become more readable. Wish the Editor abundant success in his undertaking.

Mrs. Mary Boyer has been moved Mr. John Hoffman is slowly im proving.

Bloomington. Wm. Mullen, formerly bookeeper for the Lochtel Lumber Co.. of this place, now in the same capacity for the Alexander Bohn and Lumber Co., of Alexander, W. Va., is spending a few days in this community, for the benefit of his health, ander, 24 miles south of Buckhannon, named after the general manager. Mr. John Alexander, in a thriving condition. A post office has been established, store opened for the convenience of men, dwelling houses in ourse of construction, a $29,000 mill contracted for and soon to be erected pletion. The climate is delightful and the heaith of the little band of pioneers at the junction of the right and left hand forks of the Buckhan non river has been exceptionally good. Mrs. Hughes and son, Harold, who have been spending the past 8 weeks, rusticating in our village, started for their home in Media, Pa., on la t Tuesday morning. Mrs. Hughes is a highly accomplished lady and a prominent educator in the public schools of her native place. During her short stay in our town, her kind genial and pleasant disposition made many friends, all of whom regret her departure.

County Treasurer, Dr. E. H. Bartlett, of Oakland, opened his collection bureau for one day in Mr. Andrew Mullen's store, on last Tuesday morning. Miss Jennie Hardman, formerly of REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE. his place, now of Columbus, Ohio is visiting relatives in Dist. No. 4, Jas. Montgomery and daughter, of Davis, W. Va., and two children, c Mr. David Dodge, Roy and Ada, of

Born, unto Mr. and Ars. Augustus Barnord, of Empire, on last Friday evening, a girl, Miss Etta Watson, sister of the gentlemanly proprietor of Watson's the first Episcopul service held on Berton's thriving merchants and a staunch will, Barnum, W. Va., accompanied by Miss Laura Baer, of the same place, stopped off in our place on their way home from Mountain Lake Park and spent the day with Mrs. Schull. The Maryland Coal and Coke company, operating in Garrett County, has leased a large tract of land and has purchased eleven hundred acres more, and is preparing to increase its > facilities. It has contracted for build. Mr. Charles T. West, of Swanton, accompanied by his wife, spent last Saturday and Sunday at his mill near Empire. It is said that West and Shipman own the finest body of oak timber in Garrett County, recently purchased from Judge Wm. H. Barnard, of this district. The above company empoly a number of men and run a boarding house in connection with the mill, thereby establishing a first class market for all kinds of country produce, right in the heart of the Barnard neighborhood, and yet we are told this thing of protec-

thoroughly enjoyed the day spent in also a number of scholars who are The Republican Primary went off the beautiful woods and grounds sur- receiving lessons in instrumental on last Saturday afternoon without music. Mr, Royer has another year any friction and as every body pres-N. K. Davidyan, of Almira, N. in the seminary before he graduates ent was anxious to show their feeling Y., dealer in Turkish rugs and Orien in theology, and will go back again toward our present nominee it was, tal goods has opened a bazar in Deer to resume his studies in the beginning on motion, decided to appoint every Misses Minnie and Nettie Beck, of Park for a few weeks, and has a very of October. He expects to receive member of the meeting a delegate to license to preach from the Allegheny | the County Convention. Messrs. Dr A party consisting of Mrs, E. F. Synod at its next meeting in Berlin, H. M. Kemp, Patrick Grant and Henry Warnick were selected as the Examiner Hinebaugh visited the Dist. Committee subject to the con-Ga., Mrs. M. L. Falk, of Washing Accident Normal school on last firmation of the County Convention. ton, D. C., and Miss Matilda Droege, Thursday Aug. 14th, and addressed Mr. Richard Wildman, who has of Baltimore, visited Lake Cleveland the students. He was the guest of been a resident of our place for a IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS. his brother, Daniel Hinebaugh, on number of years and a strong Repub

> Dissolution of Co-Partnership. On December 25, 1889, Lee Hoge, the firm of Hoge & Shank was that

Senator Vance, whose seat is being endangered by the encroachment on LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH was the reading of the paper, called the Farmer's Alliance in his State, Prof. Wm.T. Markland, one of Bal. the Accident Picayune. It bristled tried to "pull the wool over the eyes" of the farmres by making a. bunkum speech in the Senate Satur

WEDDING INVITATIONS

THE REPUBLICAN I prepared to print at snort notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at prices that defy competi-tion, Call and learn prices

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES, CIRCULARS,

CARDS, STATEMENTS, LETTER AND

> BILL HEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and intest styles. We make

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

Charges of desertion removed, additional by to officers and their heirs.

I<sup>5</sup>ensions increased, &c. File your claims at once. Delays are dan-GEO. W. F. VERNON. 108/St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Md.

I will represent Col. Vernon, Past Dep't, ommander, G. A. R., the senior member of he firm, at Oakland, office at Court House. Oakland, Md.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts, in said county, to collect and receive taxes, at the time and places following:

No. 9—Johnson's, Aug. 18. No. 11—Gregg's Mill, Aug. 19. No. 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20. No. 12—Bittinger, Aug. 21. No. 5-Accident, Aug. 21. No. 5-Accident, Aug. 22. No. 2-Isaac M, Umbel's, Aug. 22. Friends-ville, Aug. 25. No. 6-Johnstown, Aug. 26, forencon, Me-Henry, Aug. 25, arterncon, No. 1-Bloomington, Aug.

tion on lumber is ruining our coun-Office in Oakland will be closed August 19 to 22.

N. B.—By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at the January session, 1880, being Chap. 566, it is provided that all county taxes shall be due and payable on the 1st day of September succeeding the date of leave and on all county taxes paid on or beave and the server and the server and the server and the server are server. county taxes shall be due and payable on the list day of September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent shall be allowed; and after the list day of January all taxes shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid. The Treasurer shall take the discount and charge interest on the tax bills for county purposes regularly in the manner aforesaid, and shall note the same upon his books and upon the receipt given for taxes so paid; but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year he paid when the same is made.

URIAH M. STANTON, Treasurer.

FERNLEIGH MANOR

Splendid Accommodations.

GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD, Scenery Unsurpassed. JOHN B. DEAKINS,

SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF AND PALINGS.

GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. orders for Lumber and anything in my line official and promptly filled, WM. A. LORAW. 25 1 Fr

A SUMMER MEMORY. ... where the cattle feeding

A maid, whose lips are red as cherries, In tended bushes picking berries, From under her sun-bonnet glancing Bets Cupid's goblins madly dancing.

And while my foctsteps slowly wander To lower sweeps, the hill-side yonder Seems with a brighter glory burning. And woos my eyes to constant turning. A wind gust in the reedy hollow,

Where through the swifts each other follow, And to my new-formed wish replying, A kerchief in the distance flying. I pause beside the lingering river. Where tall flags in the ripples shiver, And hear a blackbird's merry calling, Down from the upland pasture falling. My pathway leads where silver beeches Shimmer along the meadow reaches,

Yet, by some unseen magic holden My heart clings to the hill-side golden. For there in sunlight haze she lingers, The kerchief flutters from her fingers, And swift the upland way retracing, Love's subtle vision I am chasing.

Ah, surely they are evil-minded, Who say that Fortune's eyes are blinded. For brighter glance, or look more speaking, Will never answer any seeking.

And in the radiant August weather, We two walk down the path together And give no heed to all the singing. Along the upland pasture ringing.

-Thomas S. Collier, in Springfield (Mass.) Re-

COURTSHIP IN ENGLAND.

Lovo Marriages Not Rare in the Mother Country.

The Queen Herself an Example-Princess Louise of Wales-Broken Engage-ments-Doing Away of Class Distinctions

Virginia M. Crawford, the sister of Sir Charles Dilke and Mrs. Ashton Dilke, writes as follows to the Philadelphia

ly, with the possession of advanced views on political and social matters, I feel that I ought to confess at the outset that I am almost a conservative in matrimonial questions. I believe in marriage as a fundamental basis of society; I believe in the desirability of love marriages, and I even venture to believe in the happiness of the great majority of much- abused marriage system.

We have no lack in England-by way tions to the marriage de convenance tions to the marriage de convenance a positive mes-alliance, but nowadays are even greater than elsewhere. That it is sensibly accepted as a perfectly Queen Victoria herself married for love | suitable matrimonial arrangement. is an established historical fact, and most of her daughters are supposed to place as to the proper age at which girls need not go further back than last sea- nals requested its readers to state what arm in a sling, and both eyes in deep Louise of Wales to the Duke of Fife age, and of all the answers received that the young Princess had been in the most suitable age, while none menlove with the Earl for years, and for his tioned a figure lower than twenty-one. sake had declined to entertain the pro- As I myself was married within a couple posals of any foreign royal suitor, and of months of leaving the school-room, the detrimental were backed up by a early marriages, but I feel sure that ducal coronet and $350,000 a year he was there is a growing feeling in English none the less a detrimental in the eyes society against allowing girls to make of several members of the royal family, their final choice too early in life. It is who steadily opposed the match. But quite the exception for girls in good the whole sympathies of the Nation were | society to marry before they are eighton the side of the future Princess Royal, een, although the Marchioness of Stafwho has willingly sacrificed a great part | ford and future Duchess of Sutherland of her royal honors for the sake of the entered into the bonds of wedlock on seen shopping in Bond street unattended | parents object to their daughters marryor driving with her husband in happy ing till they are over twenty. For my tete-a-tete, much like any other young whom they please. Even in cases America—who remain curiously girlish where one or other of the contracting and undeveloped until long after their parties being under age they have recourse to a runaway marriage at a registrar's office, and make a false declaration defer the marriage question until tion of age in order to obviate the necessity of producing the father's consent, twenty-four. even then the parents' redress is but a meager one. They can have their rebellious son or daughter condemned to a short term of imprisonment for false swearing, but in no case can the marriage be annulled. On the other hand, a class of titled aristocracy, backed up worldly marriages by creating a limited number of exceptionally good "partis," for whom ambitious mothers angle dexterously on behalf of their daughters, or, angle for themselves.

asks the girl herself to marry him be-fore appealing to her father for his con-smoking, or for tincture of iron and so When once the engagement is an accomplished fact the lovers are allowed | Calisaya for a tonic, or a teaspoonful of ample opportunities for making each other's further acquaintance. The whole family co-operate in giving them a wide | druggists is unknown in England. The berth, and they may spend hours every day alone in each other's company, either in the house or walking or riding together, as the case may be. Such liberty, which would make a French mother's hair stand on end, is perfectly "comme il faut" in England. The young couple even travel and pay visits | plied. in each other's company, the flancee accompanied by her maid, if she should happen to be possessed of that appendage, but oftener still quite without a chaperon.

This freedom of social intercourse outht to be a good safeguard against girls ignorantly linking their fortunes with one whom it is impossible for them little water in it?" to love, were it not that to throw over the man she is engaged to is regarded by soc.ety as so unpardonable a crime. It seems to be only just dawning on people's minds that a small scandal before marriage is preferable to a big on with keen interest, and then said, scandal after marriage. A charming very gravely: novelist, Sir Henry Cunningham, whose delightful sketches of life in India are it is very neat indeed."—Julian Ralph, widely read, has just published a clever in Harper's Weekly. nwel about London society, "The Hesiods." in which he makes the heroine, Guvia, deliberately jilt the rich young man to whom she is betrothed. His heart."-Washington Post.

view is that society ought to help a girl out of the wretched dilemma in which she is placed, when she discovers that her engagement is a mistake, instead of rendering it, as at present, almost impossible to retrieve a false step before it is too fate. I am bound to say that, while strongly deprecating rash and hasty betrothals, I feel great sympathy for Sir Henry's view, which, if generally adopted, might be the means of averting many a domestic tragedy. The time of engagement ought to be a period of mutual probation, and marriage should only ensue if the experi-ment has been so far satisfactory to both Considering how rich a country England is, it is extraordinary how poor most English women are—I mean, in their own right. In France hardly peasant girl marries without a dot; here, even well-to-do fathers seem to expect to marry off their daughters without giving them a penny. This is principally the result of the time-hon ored English custom of making an eldest son the principal heir-a process which is mainly accomplished at the expense of the young man's sisters. From the purely sentimental point of view, it is no doubt gratifying to a girl to be selected entirely for what she is, and not for what she brings, but I fancy that after marriage the gratification soon fades away before the practical necessity of asking her husband for every shilling she requires. To me, as an ardent believer in woman's rights and woman's independence, the idea is quite odious, and it seems to me a little short of monstrous that a rich man who, in dying, bequeaths say £40,000 to each of his sons, should consider his daugh ters amply provided for with £10,000 apiece. Fortunately, in this as in many other things, public opinion is undergoing a change; and I trust that before many years have passed an equal di-vision of property between brothers and sisters alike will become the rule instead of being the rare exception. Another point in recent social de-As I am generally credited, and right- velopment which bears favorably on the marriage question in England is the rapid breaking down of class distinctions and the consequent extension of the field of possible matrimonial choice. The aristocracy and the county families inter-marry freely nowadays with the professional and upper middle classes. Thus, only a few weeks ago, the eldest daughter of the Earl of Carlisle, Lady unfons entered into under the present Mary Howard, bestowed her hand and heart on Prof. Murray, the clever young Greek professor at Glasgow University of example-of love marriages in the Such a union some twenty or thirty highest rank of life, where the tempta- years ago would have been regarded as

Some discussion has recently taken . But we should marry. One of the weekly jour son, when the marriage of Princess in their opinion was the best marrying was celebrated. It is an open secret the vast majority fixed on twenty-five as although in this case the pretensions of I should not like to be too severe on her seventeenth birthday, and many part, it seems to me that it is a question impossible to settle by a fixed rule. The English law, unlike that of There are plenty of girls regarding whom France, is not framed in such a way as it would be very difficult to bring forto encourage mercenary unions. Pa- ward any tangible reason either physirental consent with us is not a sine qua | cal or moral to prevent them marrying non, and although an irate father may | while still in their teens; on the other disinherit his son or daughter he can hand, there are a large number of English not legally prevent them from marrying girls-many more, I fancy, than in school years are passed. Under such to defer the marriage question until their daughters are twenty-three or

> LONDON DRUG SHOPS. They Are Not as Attractive as Our Bright

There is a wide difference between the London drug stores and ours. There and see if you think it has improved. is no such craze for patent medicines by the rights of primogeniture, is un- there as here, and there is nothing like doubtedly a direct incentive towards the American inclination for every man to be his own doctor. An English druggist sells face powder, cologne, soap, tooth-brushes, patent pills and the like, but his main business is putting up preworse still, for whom scheming damsels scriptions. He has no clientele of men who drop in for a little aromatic spirits In England a man almost invariably of ammonia after a night of dissipation, smoking, or for tincture of iron and so many grains of quinine, or a glass of bicarbonate of soda to offset too hearty a meal. All that which so enriches our Americans in London last summer found this out to their cost. One of them told me that he had this queer experience. He asked a druggist for a draught of iron and quinine. "Oh, we carn't give you that without a prescription, you know," the man re-

The American persisted, but the druggist was firm. "Well, can't you give me an ounce of tincture of iron?" "Yes, sir." "And two two-grain quinine pills?" "Yes, sir."

"Will you lend me a tumbler with "Yes, sir." Having all these things, the American dropped a dozen drops of iron in the water, and took that and the pellets down with agulp. The druggist looked Do you know, I call that very neat.

-Chorus of Coquettes-"Let us each be up and doing with a fate for any

A DEADLY HAT-RACK.

How It Caused Trouble In Jackson's Boarding House.

thinking idle thinks and sippingice-water, I was startled by an unusual noise in the house pied by a man named Jackson. who uses it as a boarding-house. By holding my

NE day last week while sit-

in so doing, I could hear dull thuds, kept burning constantly. Going?" interspersed with such remarks as "Take that! Ugh! Leggo my hair! Take your finger out of my eye!" etc. Directly a servant rushed out and returned with by a street car. As I knew Jackson intimately, and as Stittings. I have a large amount of curiosity secreted in my composition, I went over to see him and find out all about the row. The servant at the door who took my card up to him informed me that Mr. Jackson was in bed, and it was doubtful whether he would see me.

I was finally told to come up, and, hanging my hat and coat on a hat-rack

AS I RUSHED IN TO SEPARATE THEM.

stairs, where I found Jackson propped up in bed, his head bandaged up, his loving people and were obliged to make tonishment. "Oh, what tough luck," he moaned.

"You know what a large number of and one very dark night they crossed boarders I had. Well, they're all gone the river into Kentucky and were asnow. Look at that right eye, please, signed to one of the first regiments that and tell me whether you think I will enlisted for the Confederate States of ever be able to use it as an organ of sight America. There was an old gentleman again?"

caused the fuss?" "A measly little hat-rack."

"A hat-rack!" "Yes. About a month ago my wifepour a little arnica on that bandage for me, will you?-about a month ago my hall. O, why did she do it! why did she was a son of this Mr. Cunningham. He do it!" he moaned piteously.

I was about to remark that she probably did it to make the hall look more who served throughout the entire war. hatracktive, but a wee, small voice within me whispered not to-that the man was miserable enough already.

bat-rack, but after a week or two the pegs acquired a downward slant. If a person walked through the hall four or five hats would slide off, and if he tried to put them back three or four overcoats was so malicious. The pegs seemed to be greased."

"But it didn't black your eyes, and lay you up, did it?" I asked impatiently. "Oh, have a little patience, will you?

Just take another look at that right eye, Well, when the boarders came in to din-

JACKSON WAS IN BED. ner they would put their hats and coats on that hat-rack. The racket you heard was caused by that infernal-Jerusalem, how that arm hurts! How long does it take to heal a broken arm?" "O, I don't know. Go on with the story.

"After dinner two of the boarders-Guggen . . mer and Flynn-went to get their coats and hats. Now, there is bad blood between those chumps, all on account of both of them being sweet on my daughter Maria." "At last I will hear the story," I murmuted. "Well, when Guggenheimer reached out for his hat, that flendish hat-rack slid four others to the floor. He replaced them all but Flynn's, and simultaneously the lower row of pegs shed all the coats that were hanging there. " 'Pick that hat oop, dom quick,' said

"'Who pecks it up?' said Gaggenheimer; 'you'd petter call the servant to peek it up.' Guggenheimer was about to walk away, when Flynn hit him a twister in the jaw. In less time than it takes to tell it, fourteen upper outs and twenty-two body blows were delivered, and, as I rushed in to separate them, every blow landed on mo." "Good gracious!"

me for each other, and, as I had tripped over the fallen overcoats, they were is simply developed, a perfect fit and making short work of me, when the suitable decorations, if any, making the next, to mine, servant entered with a policeman."
which is occu- "Too bad." "Too bad."
"Just shift that splint a little, and do under ordi- stalls, with the boarder's name above.

"Before you go, just hand me the bot-tle of medicine. Thanks." When I reached the hall I found my a policeman, who took off two men who hat and coat on the floor, where they

A BIT OF HISTORY.

How the Only Company Furnished by the North for the Confederate Army Was Ralsod.

one company has caused a great deal of pointed. It is closed down the front controversy in this country, because his with small velbet buttons of the shade political adversaries connected the name of the ribbon. A zouave jacket is simuof General John A. Logan with the for lated by heliotrope passementeric that over her head, says she is terrified out mation of that company. The fact of is shaped to fit the figure and sewed the matter is, however, that the com- well to its position. The sleeves are who knows; "but with a man it is differpany was raised in Southern Illinois by slightly full and have deep cuffs of the ent. He says he is not afraid, pushes Captain Thorndyke Brooks, who had passementerie. The high collar is also the clothes down, and lies tremblingly ninety excellent young fellows to share this bold enterprise with him. Of from each side at the waist, is brought his ears at every sound." - Hamburgcourse they were surrounded by Union- forward and knotted just at the point of Nachtrichten. their plans quietly and secretly, for if decorate the front. The bonnet is a husband after his return from a fishing they had been discovered in their work "How did it happen?" I asked, in as- it might have been very bad for them. They succeeded in perfecting their organization and equipping themselves, named Cunningham residing in that "It looks pretty bad, but I guess it county, who had a great deal to do with will come around all right in time. What the raising of that company for the Confederacy. He made Lo concealment of his Southern sympathies and on that account became very obnoxious to his neighbors, who called him copper-head, rebel, and many other disagreeable names. One of the first volunteers in wife bought a hat-rack and put it in the this company which was to go South, went with Captain Brooks and became one of the gallant Confederate soldiers Of course the entire Cunningham famfly was very much affected in its conclusions and judgments upon the merits "At first it was a good, serviceable of the controversy then at issue in this country by the opinions of the old gen-His son was no doubt intleman. fluenced by his father to go into the Confederate army. Well, the old man had a daughter named Mary, and she would glide rapidly in the direction of had a lover. His name was John A. Lothe floor. The rack seemed human, it gan, a young lawyer and Member of Congress. His best friends always denied that John A. Logan ever, even for a moment, contemplated going into the Confederate army; and yet I have always believed that Mary Cunningham did, perhaps, make him contemplate > ican woman possesses, and, in some sense, realizing the influence which she possessed over the young lover, I have always given John A. Logan great credit for patriotism and love of country, in resisting the strong temptation, and giving his strength, influence, valor and heroism to the army of the Union. That lone Illinois company proved its levotion to the Confederacy by splendid service. Fifty of those ninety young men gave their lives to the lost cause and many others of them were wounded and diseased. Captain Brooks, after the war was over, was warned that he would surely be mobbed if he returned to Illinois. However, be did return to his own home and spent a few hours with his friends one night, but left before morning. He went to Baltimore, where he became a successful business Young Cunningham married, man. then died. His sister Mary, wife of Major-General John A. Logan, wife of the great Senator, secured a position in the Post-Office Department for the widow of her Confederate brother, and there that little widow is yet toiling day after day for her daily bread. She very frequently visits the home of her aister-in-law, the widow of General Logan, and they are great friends.

going into the Confederate army.

what a strong nature this typical Amer-

English Teaching in Germany Prof. Goldburgman - Herr Kannstnicht, you will the declensions give in the sentence: "I have a gold mine." Herr Kannstnicht - I have a gold mine; thou hast a gold thine; he has a gold his; we, you, they have a gold ours, yours or theirs, as the case may be, Prof. Goldburgman-You right are; up head proceed. Should I what a time pleasant have, if all Herr Kannstnicht Flynn, pointing to his hat on the floor, like were!-Light.

POPLIN BACK AGAIN.

Well-Known Fabric Coming Inte Fashion Once More. Slowly, but swrely, poplin is regaining its former fashionable position. It is shown in all the quiet shades and none of the extreme ones, which would seem to suggest that it is expected to be worn by people of good taste. In the dainty heliotropes and grays it is specially liked, "As the hall was dark, and it was as it seems to have a silvery look then that is very artistic. Poplin in the lightweight quality shown for summer wear drapings, shirrings or plaits. The woman who feels that she can don't sit on the end of the bed. My not dare the simplicity of a tailor-made ankle is out of joint; Flynn stepped on gown will be wise to select a poplin, in-it when I was down. As soon as I get asmuch as it can be made very simply my arm out of a sling, I am going to and yet have a soft waistcoat, a jabot of Satirical Tourist-"We promise to build ear to the wall chop that measly, dod-gasted hat-rack lace, or some effect with ribbons to take a monument." (which I confess into splinters, and, if I ever get any away from the severity of the bodice. was not the more boarders, I am going to have a Velvet sleeves look very well in conproper thing to hook similar to the ones used in butcher trast with this lustrous material, and if shouldn't. Just keep your eyes wide one wishes to be a little ahead of the open and you'll be sure to find some fashion, a cloth jacket, matching the one clse's."—Harper's Bazar. nais circumstances, but the disturbance I am thinking seriously of having a fashion, a cloth jacket, matching the became so violent that I was warranted gas-jet over each hook, which will be gown material in color, and without sleeves, may form part of the get-up. Then have a cloth toque, draped with breakers, aren't they, pa?" "Yes," velvet and a couple of velvet rosettes just in front. This is not absolutely a summer costume, but one must remember that there are cool summer days looked as though they had been struck had been deposited by that infernal when the spring or autumn gown is hat-rack .- Lewis M. Sweet, in Texas greeted with joy.

In choosing a heliotrope poplin get one of the pure shades; that is, one without a pink tone in it. When the undesirable shade is gotten, and sometimes it is by mistake, it proves tiresome to the eye, and then, too, it is shown in cheap cotton stuffs, the last a special

EVERAL of the reason for avoiding it. Southern States | A poplin costume recently exhibited furnished quite a is made of heliotrope poplin, the pure number of sold- shade that, having in it no tint of pink, liers for the army is suited for all occasions when one of the Union, in wishes to be dressed a little more than some cases send- usual and yet does not care for too ing squads, in elaborate toilet. The foundation skirt other cases send- is quite plain. Over this is the long, ing companies, full skirt that forms the drapery, and while in some which is trimmed with four rows of velsections of the vet ribbon a shade darker than the ma-South whole regi- terial. It is looped in box-plait fashion ments were made on one side, which gives a wrinkled for the Union army. It is a singular effect to the front; but that is the only thing, but it is a fact, that only one or- looping, straight, full lines being formed ganized company was given by the North by the remainder of the skirt. The to the armies of the Confederacy. That covered with it. A velvet ribbon starts | awake for two or three hours, straining basone and then the loops and ends capote of black lace straw; its brim is draped with heliotrope velvet, in front is a cluster of mignonette, and the ties are of heliotrope velvet. Pale heliotrope undressed kid gloves are worn.— Chicago Times.

THE LOVER'S RETURN.

His Calculations Upset by an Event of Some Importance. "1-I-that is, you will excuse me," he stammered as he entered a store on upper Broadway yesterday and was accold but polite rejoinder.

railing-a type-writer and private secre-"Yes, sir."

"She was a handsome girl-very handshowed good blood.'

"Well, I-I fell in love with her."

"Did you? Well?" "She was very coy and shy, but after time I thought I could detect signs that my feelings were reciprocated." "Ah! Indeed! Look at you in a tender way?"

"I thought so. For weeks I made it a practice to pass your store at two o'clock daily, so as to get sight of her. She got so she looked for me at that hour."

"That is, I thought she did. I thought In this view of the case, and knowing troduce me, but-but one hesitates over those things, you know." "Yes, I know." "About a year ago I was suddenly man stood puffing, a broken cane in his called to Chicago. While there I met hand and his hat on the ground, and with a bad accident, and only yesterday finally managed to say: returned to New York. I wanted to write her, but under the circumstances I could not."

"I follow." "But I thought of her daily, aye! a hundred times a day." "That was correct." "And now that I have returned I called to catch sight of her dear, sweet face, once more, but I don't see it. Is she with you yet.?"

"O, yes. "Is she ill?" "O, no." "Absent temporarily?" "Yes; over at the house."

"Your house?" asleep and she is at liberty."

on his pale lips the returned lover walked out of the store in a blind, stagreached the drug store at the corner. self together, entered, sat down on a hoarsely whispered:

"Give me lemon and vanilla, with plenty of froth on it, for I calculated she'd earn enough to support us both!" -N. Y. Sun.

-As far as experiments with car brakes have been carried there is found to be practically no difference between the different metals so far as their power is concerned, although their wear ing qualities differ materially.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-He-"I have about made up my mind to enter the army." She—"But suppose there should be a war!"—N. Y. Sun. -Country Editor-"My uncle has left me $100. What on earth shall I do with it?" His Wife-"Spend it." Country Editor-"I daren't. People will think I stole it."-Good News. -Interviewer-"Are you favorably impressed with this country?" Eminent Lecturer-"Very. I'm raking in a thousand dollars a week."—N. Y. Weekly. -It is said that a Chinaman never gown smart, rather than numerous goes crazy. There is no reason why he hould. The women of that country do not wear bonnets. - Ram's Horn.

> -English Host to American Tourist-"Ah, I say, what do you do in America when one of your great men dies?"

-"I never get mad over the loss of an umbrella." "I do." "Well, you -"O, look at those big waves," said the girl at the seashore. "Those are said the old gentleman as he gazed at the hotel bill, "they are breakers."-Washington Post. -Mrs. Slimdiet (at the dinner-table)

-"Do you notice, Mr. Dashaway, how entirely free from flies we are? I won-der why it is?" Dashaway—"O, I don't know that there is any special reason why they should come here.' -Ex.-Bessie-"One of the horrid papers has sent an artist and a reporter here to write up the bathing scenes. I think they are over there on that sandbank." Jennie-"How scandalous. Let us go over where they are and sit down. The Epoch. -He-"And so your answer is final? You will not be mine?" She-"Yes, absolutely. But pray don't go and blow your brains out." He-"It would be an idle attempt. People say if I had any brains I never would have proposed to you."-Boston Transcript.

-Dr. Limboff. - "Miss Clara, I heard you quoting: 'and sat like Patience on a monument.' Now, what does that mean? I never saw Patience on a monument." "No, doctor, but I fancy you are accustomed to seeing a monument on your patients."-Ex.

-"When a woman gets frightened at night, she just pulls the bed-clothes trip, "you ought to spend an hour with our fisherman and get some points about the different kinds of fish." "Er-what for?" demanded John. "It looks a little inconsistent, that's all, to bring home mackerel when you've been fishing in fresh water."-Boston Herald.

ANNIHILATING A RAT. Every Boy Struck at the Rodent and Hit

Every Thing Eise. Two or three mornings ago a boy orded an interview with the proprietor. brought out a rat in a trap on the "What did you wish, sir?" was the asphalt pavement of Cass avenue. A terrier dog was leaping and dancing "Well, you may think me foolish, but around him, and before he reached the I must run the risk. About a year ago middle of the street a dozen men and you had a girl over there behind the boys and two or three more dogs had stopped to see the fun. The boy looked as if he knew enough to manage a rat, but there is always a boss for every such occasion. In this case it was a short, ome, and her speech and demeanor fat man with a very big cane, and he took the trap from the boy and said:

"These things must be managed right or away goes the rat. Now then, every body get a stick or club or something, and call up them dogs."

Every body armed himself and a circle was formed, while no less than five dogs were inclosed. The man held the trap up, looked around to see if every thing was all right, and said: "Now, then, the rat will turned loose on the community." So he was, and there was a rush of men, boys and dogs. Every body struck at the rat and hit every thing else, her eyes lighted up as she caught sight while the dogs made one grab for him of me. I suppose the proper way would and then bunched together in a fight. have been to come in and ask you to in- Three hats were knocked off, two boys sat down on the pavement to howl, and the rat dodged about and ran under the side walk. When he had gone the fat

"H-ang it! You-you fellows don't know 'nuff to pound sand!' "You are a liar!" yelled four or five voices in chorus, and after every body had spit on his hands and said he could knock every body else's head off the convention broke up and left the empty trap in the middle of the street.-De troit Free Press. Hired a Lawyer to Propose. One of our rising young legal gentlemen has recently started a new kind of practice, the first attempt at which was hardly successful. On a quiet morning a young man of bashful presence called at the office and asked the lawyer to "Yes. Perhaps you'd like to walk write a letter for him. Upon inquiry over? I married her about a year ago, the legal gentleman found that it was a and this is the hour when the baby is proposal of marriage which the young man wished to communicate to his in-The axe fell. With a moan of anguish amorata but hardly felt equal to the emergency himself. The disciple of Blackstone indited the epistle in his gering way, reeled down the street as if best style, but, alas, his persuasive drunk, and uttered no word until he powers were hardly equal to the occasion, for the missive failed to make the Then he made a great effort, pulled him- desired connection. A day or two later a brief, cold note arrived in the poststool before the soda fountain, and office box for the young man, which blasted his fondest hopes. He was rejected. It is rumored that the end is not yet, but that legal complications may arise as to the contents of the leter.-Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

> Both in the Same Fix. "I would suggest ice cream," remarked tiss Bleecker, "but I'm dead broke." "I, too, am in mortal fragments," replied Miss Beacon-Street of Boston."-

V. Y. Sun.

FARM AND GARDEN.

BARN PLAN.

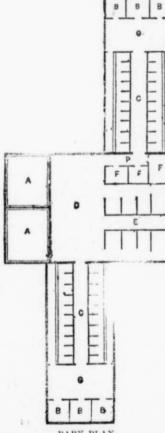

It Should Come Pretty Near Being What the Average Farmer Wants.

As will be seen by the illustration, this plan will give good light and ventilation and enable us to use the barn floor for a feed-room, and will bring the silces convenient to both stables. The two silo pits are each 20 feet square with a depth of 24 feet, and when full will hold over 19,000 cubic feet of ensilage, or enough to feed forty cows one and a half cubic feet each a day for 320 days. I believe it is conceded that it is best to feed some dry food with ensilage, and that one cubic foot a day is enough for a cow, but even if two feet per day was fed to each of forty cows these siloes would hold enough for 240 days' feed. I do not fully show in the drawing the arrangement of doors and windows, as the farmer who builds will know pest where he wants them.

I should locate the barnyards at the right, and they can be covered or protected as desired. If wheat or other grain is grown on the farm it can be stored either in the silo rits-one at least of which would probably not be in use at that season—or over the horse stable where there would be a large space for storage, and the loft above the cow stable at the end of the barn floor can be filled with straw.

It will be seen that this is not a basement barn. The main barn is 40x60 feet, and each wing is 24x60. A A represents the two silo pits, each 20 feet square. BBB and BBB are the box stalls for cows, or three or four calves can be wintered in each of them. C C are the cow stables, each with stalls for 20 cows, and the manure ditch and walk behind the cows and the wide manger between them. The feed boxes for grain are spiked to the partitions between the cows, and are a foot above the floor of the manger and project half their width over the manger and half over the stall floor. D is the barn floor or driveway. which is also used as a feed room. E is the horse stable made like the cow stable with a wide manger for both rows of horses to eat from; it contains six single stalls, each 5 feet wide in the clear, and two box stalls each 7 feet wide inside measure; stables are 11 feet wide from manger back to wall.

I have used a stable of this width for five years, and find it ample. The manger is five feet wide and its floor, as well as that of the cow manger, should be about a foot higher than that on inclosed in a water casing so that the which the stock stands. FFF, are for

BARN PLAN. storing oats and ground feed, the larger bin being eight by twelve feet, and the two smaller ones each six by eight feet: P is a passage six feet wide, to enable us to run a truck from the barn floor into the manger with ensilage or other if they had been burnt with fire, and feed. GG are the driveways, which are used as manure sheds, and which have double doors at each end so the team can be driven through them.

I have not figured on the cost of material for this building, but from experience in building barns I should expect to put this up complete, of first-class material, for about $2,000, with lumber worth on an average $17 per M and shingles $4 per M. I should floor the siloes and stables with concrete, as it would cost little if any more than good two-inch plank, and would be far cheaper in the long run. If any one can show a plan by which the feed can be handled more conveniently than in posts, the work can be done very rapidly this, I hope we shall hear from them .-Waldo F. Brown, in Country Gentleman.

Using Sulphur. The principal value of sulphur is to fumigate. Put some in a pan with some grease, turn out all the poultry, fasten all the windows and doors tight and set fire; let it remain closed three or four hours at least. Not only will this aid materially to rid the quarters of vermin, but also to kill out the germs of disease. It is of little benefit to use as a powder, roosts, or other parts of the building.

The other plan of using is to feed. It good care must be taken or more harm will be done than benefits derived. There is no harm in feeding if kept dry, but if they get wet there is a considerable risk of loss. After feeding keep dry for a few days; two or three doses should be given in order to secure the best results. Generally taking all risks into consideration, ally taking all risks into comething else great benefit to dull, backward, unen-terprising neighborhoods. They infuse terprising neighborhoods. They infuse number of materials that will answer fully as well as sulphur with less risk, unless it is used for fumigating. It is QUICK WORK.

A Machine That Converts Cream Into Butter Instantly. Yet another invention relating to dalrying is about to be introduced to the British public, says the London Agricultural Gazette. It is the work of Dr. De Laval, of Sweden, whose separators are so well known all over the world. The latest outcome of his inventive brain is called the Instantaneous Butter-Maker, and will be ex-hibited in the working dairy at the Plymouth meeting of the Royal Agricultural Society. For some time past rumors have been circulated of this machine, and comments on it have appeared in the agricultural press, but its introduction to the English public has wisely been delayed by the makers and their English agents, the Dairy Supply Company, Limited, Museum street, London, until it could be put to the test. We have been furnished with the following description: Dairymen are acquainted with the

.- known form of the Laval Steam Turbine Separator, which was awarded the gold medals of the British Dairy Farmers' Association and the Royal Manchester and Liverpool Agricultural Society. To this separator the new churn is attached. It consists of a cylinder about twelve inches long and four inches in diameter within which a dasher revolves at about three thousand revolutions per minute, being driven by a rope belt of the same kind as is used to drive a power separator from the separator spindle. cream, on leaving the separator in the usual way, passes over an ingeniously contrived refrigerator of new design which is admirably calculated to reduce the temperature as low as possible with a very small consumption of cold water; it then enters at one end of the cylinder, in the course of its passage through which the cream is churned into butter, and emerges at the other end in a granular form. Dairymen who have had their butter-milk analyzed from time to time know that there is great loss in the present system of churning large quantities of cream, as it is impossible to ensure that every butter globule shall receive the same amout of concussion; and hence the butter-milk often contains a large percentage of butter.

This is avoided with Dr. De Laval's new invention, as the cream must pass equally through the cylinder, receiving a regular and rapid concussion from the revolving dasher. The cylinder is temperature is kept very low and the butter is consequently firm. It is very free from buttermilk, and therefore keeps well. The churn is fixed to the separate frame and can be attached to any of the Laval machines. As shown on the turbine the whole process of separating the milk and churning the butfrom the boiler without the intervention of shafting, belting, or an engine of any kind. The churn has no complex arrangements about it, and nothing could be more simple than the way in which it can be taken to pieces and cleaned. The process is entirely automatic, requiring very little power and attention while in use. Strawberry Leaf-Blight. It is known that this disease usually causes the greatest injury by attacking the new growth which appears directly after the new fruit, is harvested. At this period the old leaves contain innumerable spores, and it is these that infect the young leaves. To prevent this the practice of burning over the plants just after the fruit is gathered has been followed with success, the young plants usually starting up and growing thriftily after the treatment. The complete destruction of the old leaves is usually effected by first mowing the plants, allowing the foliage to dry for a day or two and then burning. Last year an experiment was made by Colonel Pearson, with a view to determine the effect of spraying the foliage with a strong solution of sulphuric acid. Several rows of strawberry plants, badly infested with leaf-blight, were sprayed with a solution made by mixing one pint of sulphuric acid with six gallons of water, the application being made soon after the fruit was harvested. As a result of this spraying the old leaves were as effectually destroyed as two weeks later the plants had started up fresh and green. On the 16th of September the difference between the treated and untreated points was quite striking. The sprayed rows were fresh and green, while adjoining unsprayed plants left for control were badly blighted. Where one has a suitable spraying pump it would doubtless be economy to adopt this method of destroying the old plants rather than the plan of mowing and burning with fire.

-Western Rural. Homely But Handy. When sharpening rails to nail to if a device be made to catch the rail quickly and hold it in place. A very good one is as follows: Secure a crotched

A HANDY TOOL inches through at the butt, and through this thick end bore a two-inch hole. either scattering in the nests or on the Drive into the hole a small crotched stick. Next throw down two blocks upon which to rest the ends of the rail will help if this is done carefully. But to be sharpened. The rail must lie at right angles to the device for holding it. With one hand the holder can be raised and lowered upon the rail, holdtng it until sharpened. A stake may be ariven into the ground on which to catch the holder when putting the new rail on the blocks.

Co - operative creameries are of unless it is used for fumigating. It is more valuable for this purpose than any other in using among the poultry.—
Rural Kansan.

SKILLED WOMEN WORKERS. In the Future They Will Join Combina

tions to Raise the Price of Labor. Combination among skilled women workers is increasing every day, though slowly, for women are naturally conservative, and they do not readily accept the principle of unionism. They have, many of them, suffered sorely from the effect of strikes, and though they realize that prolonged combination, if carried out consistently, must improve their position and in the long run raise their wages, never lose sight of the long period during which their employment must cease till their ultimate demands are conceded. Added to which they do not forget the bitter feel-ings aroused—the breach between employer and servant, and above all, that in a struggle such as a long strike must always be it is only the strong who win; the weak ones go to the wall.

All these things make women shy and slow to join a trade union, while the introduction of foreign labor in England and the increasing demand on account of their cheapness, for foreign goods have made a much deeper impression on their minds than is generally admitted. The skilled woman worker has, however, the security of knowing that she can take up her stand with a greater chance of succes, for with the best women workers, as with the men, the supply is rarely in excess of the desupply is rarely in excess of the demand. And were technical instruction given to women a good deal of the better class work they can not do would be carried out in England, instead of being executed by French women, who are trained for it in many technical schools which exist for women in France.

In Sectland the question has been

In Scotland the question has been warmly espoused by the women who work in Glasgow and Dundee, and the prospect of combining for the unskilled as well as the skilled workers is very much more promising than in England. Scotch women are more independent and self-reliant, added to which, though the pay is bad, their surroundings are less deteriorating than those of the Lon-don women, and their dwellings are better and rents are lower.

The rapid increase of the population and the influx of people from the country to the large towns makes the prob-lem of how to deal with our unskilled female labor every year more difficult. The education hitherto given to women in England is purely intellectual, and when a girl has passed the standard she at once goes into the ranks of the un-skilled. If she can give time she may be apprenticed and learn a trade, but the number of girls who can afford to do that is getting fewer every day. The few shillings a girl can earn at once is too important an addition to the family income to be rejected, and as the major ity of them marry while practically children, neither the necessity of being apprenticed nor of joining a union appeals to them .-- English Illustrated Mag

Figures tell-so do little brothers. grows to be a girl with a piano!—Atchison

People who say sharp things often get the reputation of being blunt—Baltimore American. The little girls who carried incense in olden times were the first myrrh-maids.--Lawrence American.

The bridal trip often saddles a groom with outlay enough to make him a little sulky.—Yonkers Gazette.

A MINISTER is excusable for thinking more of the lambs of his flock than of the doze.—Binghamton Republican.

A good deal more is said of the death struggle, but it is the life struggle that is the hardest to go through.—Hutchinson (Kan.) News. Sickness is Nature's way of saying: "I told you so."-Puck.

An ornithological freak-A double eagle. The most popular woman in the United States is undoubtedly the golden-haired young lady who adorns the double eagle —Puck.

"Hammock dresses" are announced for summer wear. Something a girl can slip out of easily, we presume.—Yonkers States-

LOVERS are slow about proposing this summer. Owing to the high price of the commodity, they hesitate about breaking the

The man of many adjectiver is liable to be taken for the composer of circus advertisements.—Martha's Vineyard Herald. "I am tired of looking at brick and mortar. I want to get out into the country and feast my vision on green fields." "In other words, you want to let your eye-browse."—

Malarial Regions, will find Tutt's Pills the most genial restorative ever offered the suffering invalid.

Try Them Fairly. A vigorous body, pure blood, strong nerves and a cheerful mind will result SOLD EVERYWHERE.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY, BEECHAM'S PILLS For Bilious and Nervous Disorders, Worth a Gninea a Box" but sold for 25 Cents, BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY

Why He Had No Witnesses. Police Magistrate-Have you no wit-

Hard-Looking Customer-None, your You are charged with resisting an officer. Were there no policemen except this one in sight? None, your honor. The arrest took place outside of the saloon.-Chicago Tribune.

PEOPLE do not discover it until too late, that the so-called washing powders not only eat up their clothes, but ruin their skin, and cause rheumatism Use nothing but Dobbin's Electric Soap. Have your grocer keep it. "They're a canny lot." "Who?" "The lobster-factory people in Newfoundland."—

HAVE no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick headache, biliousness, consti-pation, pain in the side, and all liver troub-les. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Try them. Unless she sails under false colors, the brunette should never be as light-headed as the blonde.—Munsey's Weekly.

E. A. Rood, Toledo, O., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured my wife of catarrh fifteen years ago and she has had no return of it. It's a sure cure." Sold by Druggists, 75c. Ir is not always proper to address the roung man behind the soda fountain as acctor, even though he is a fizzician. SEA air roughens the skin. Use Glenn's

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. UNDERHANDED methods are resorted to in order to get the upper hand.—Dallas (Tex.) PAIN in the side nearly always comes from a disordered liver and is promptly relieved by Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

A MAN who can not keep his own knife ten minutes generally can keep a borrowed blade ten years.—Ashland Press. The best cough medicine is Piso's Cure for Consumption. Sold everywhere. 25c.

An after-dinner speech—Waiter, bring me the toothpricks.—Texas Siftings

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading drug-gists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y. MOW ER'S

The Best

THIS IS THE ROLL

826 Broadway, NEW YORK CITY.

on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around.

LOOMIS & NYMAN,
TIFFIN, - OHIO.

SPENANE THIS PAPER every time yes with

It was Ben Johnson, we be- CAUTION W. L. Douglas Shoes are was lieve, who, when asked Mallock's question, "Is life worth living?" replied "That depends on the liver." And Ben Johnson doubtless saw the double point to the pun. The liver active-quicklife rosy, everything bright, mountains of trouble melt like mountains of snow.

The liver sluggish—life dull, everything blue, molehills of worry rise into mountains of anxiety, and as a result-sick headache, dizziness, constipa-

Two ways are open. Cure permanently, or relieve tem-porarily. Take a pill and suffer, or take a pill and get well.

$3.50 Goodyear Well is the standard dress.

Shock the system by an overdose, or coax it by a mild.

$4.00 unequalited for style and durability.

$3.50 Goodyear Well is the standard dress.

$3.50 Policeman's Shoe is especially adapted dose, or coax it by a mild. dose, or coax it by a mild, $3 $2 SHOES LADIES, pleasant way.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the mild means. They work effectively, without pain, and leave the system strong. One, little, sugar-coated pellet is enough, although a whole vial costs but 25 cents.

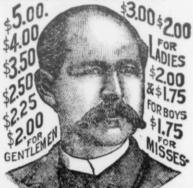

Mild, gentle, soothing and healing is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Only 50 cents.

DENSION JOHNW. MORRIS.
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau
Syrs in last war, badjudicating claims, atty since

EDUCATIONAL.

PALMS' BUSINESS COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa

XION COLLEGE of LAW, Chicago, Fall Term b gins sept, 2s. For circular add, 1f. Booth, Chicag

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE GENTLEMEN

Fine Caif and Laced Waterproof Grain.
$5.00 Genuine Hand-sewed, an elegant and stylish dress Sine which commends itself.
$4.00 Hand-sewed Welt. A fine calf Shoe unequalled for style and durability.

DOCT. BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES

A. N. K.-C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

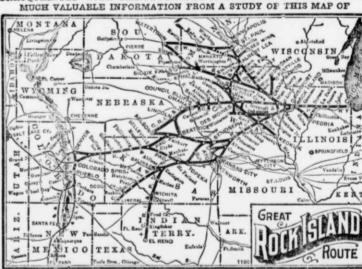

Before you buy anything ask two questions:

Do I really Can I do -want it? Answithout it? Answithout it? Answithout it? Hones questions may make you rich; but they will never prevent you from buying SAPOLIO

Its uses are many and so are its friends; for where it is once used it is always used. To clean house without it is sheer folly, since it does the work twice as fast and twice as well.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Biuffs, in IOWA—Minneapoils and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS, California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickers, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pare E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent called to me from his sanctum, and but guessing the trend of Ann's thoughts I began to school myself to the thought of losing her. A day or two later, however, the girl came back from Owl Rock alone. "He's gone ma'am,"she announced gravely. "Gone!" I cried. "Why. Ann. I thought you were going to marry him ?" Ann shook her head. "No, 'm, I can't, He's too worldly when he's ashore he wants to wearstarched buzzoms," "But what of that, Ann, if you love him ?" I said.

Ann's chin began to quiver. It was a pretty, sensitive chin. "That's just it, ma'am; I loye him too well," I'm afraid he'd be a stumblin' block to me."

There was nothing more to be said. Jason had sailed that afternoon, and years, so that the people of the United you no. - Exchange. there the matter rested.

town in the fall, but John became so net surplus in the treasury. It has way, was a reader and follower of infatuated with this "calm retreat" been the historic fi-cal policy of our Darwin. Wishing to apply his theory that we decided to take the house country to pay off its debt; we pre- of the limit of adaptability of a species for another year, and to our supreme sume it will continue to te. satisfaction Ann agreed to remain inen collar. The improvement ple, which is local taxation, ranging placed, even for bathing. Henrik them evidently under protest, regard those of poverty, certainly. ing them still as "vanities of the world," her love for Helen finally conquered all scruples, and the apron and collar came to be regarded as an indispensable part of her tonet.

o'clock came. This went on for several weeks and then one morning she blushingly informed me that Jason was home

"But you ought not to let him keep on coming to see you. Ann," I said "if you are not going to marry

"But perhaps 1 can do him some good, ma'am," said the girl, gravely. "He hasn't any folks of his own, you know, to help him."

Poor deluded Ann! A week or two barrassment, she succeeded in telling me that she had renewed her promise to Jason.

"And you are really going to marry him, Ann ?" I exclaimed, sorry chiefly on my own account. "Well, you see, ma'am, he's agreed to give up smokin' an'-an'-" "And starched bosoms," I ventured to add. hoping to help her out. "Well, no 'm," said Ann, in a wavering voice. "Maybe I've been his wearin' starched buzzoms."

Consequently a few weeks later we lost our faithful Ann.

Hunting Bee Trees. The outfit of the hunter for wild bees consists of a box of matches, some old honey-comb, and a small box with a draw cover and a little for 48 hours in a dead stupor before comb honey in it. Proceeding on a he came to his senses. He would warm, still, fair day to within a quarter of a mile from the woods he pro- had it not been for his wonderful poses to test, in the open field he constitution. The feat was unanibuilds a fire and heats two flat stones. Placing one of the heated stones on a convenient stump or rock, he puts and endurance ever known on the STATEMENTS. on that a piece of old comb and covers it with the other hot stone, and then draws the lid of the box part way out, first placing it near the burning comb, the scent of which attracts the bees, and they alight on the comb hency. Gorging themselves, death at the hand of a friend. One the air, but as they come thicker and faster, they make a "bee line" from the box to their tree. The hunter notes this line by some large trees in and dropped dead in a Santa Fe the woods. He then closes the lid, shutting in the bees, and proceeds to a spot to seek a line at a right angle bered of Aubrey is his remarkable to the first line. Opening the box, the imprisoned bees depart directly to their trees. Having the "cross line," he follows it up to the point where it intersects the first line and there he finds the "bee tree."

Unless she sails under false colors, the brunette should never be as lightheaded as the blonde.-Munsey's Every hard drinker is a little soft.

Paying the Public Debt.

A statement of the debt extinguishsay $1,000,000,000.

States could, if they choose, enter We had expected to go back to upon the twentieth century with a Henrik Dahl, of Aalesund, Nor.

Meanwhile Cousin Helen had made in all probability, and this will figure He renewed the water daily for some us another visit and Ann, though she a debt at the present time of only $14 time and gradually the quantity, with still grieved that any one so good and per inhatitant, which is small, while so little inconvenience to the herring. Avable as Miss Helen should be the interest charge of $29 417,603 en. that he concluded that the fish might guilty of wearing flounces, became tails a tax of less than 50 cents per in time learn to breathe air undituted again her ardent admirer. In feet, year per inhabitant. Our readers with water, like the cat and the man. so great was Helen's influence over will see from this how slight a bur- It turned out as he expected, and her that she eventually prevailed den the national debt is in compari- the water was finally turned out of upon ber to wear a white apron and son with the real taxation, of the peo- the tub of the herring, never to be remade in her appearance by these all the way from $9 to $19 per 1,000. next removed the fish from its tub simple adjuncts was a delight to the The problems which confront this and placed it on the ground eye, and though at first she wore generation of Americans are not where it flopped about very awk desert.

Aubrey's Famous Ride.

Aubrey gave his wonderful test o' was drowned .- Commercial Adverhuman endurance before which all tiser. other attempts of the kind pale into insignificance. He was a short heavy set man, 38 years of age, in the prime of manhood and strength. His busi- foundland."-Jestet. ness for ten years as a Santa Fe trader had made him perfectly familiar with the trail and all the stopping places. He was a perfect horseman, and although there were great riders in those days none of them cared to later, with much hesitation and em. dispute the palm with Aubrey. On a wager of $1,000 he undertook to .. ride alone from Santa Fe to Independence inside of six days. It was 39 years ago that he undertook the terrible feat. It was to be the supreme effort of his life, and he sent a half dozen of the swiftest horses ahead to be stationed at different points for use in the ride. He left Santa Fe in a sweeping gallop, and that was the pace he kept up during nearly every hour of the time until he fell fainting too yieldin,' but seein' I'ye taken to from his foam covered horse in the wearin' starched collars it don't square at Independence. No man seem more'n fair for me to give in to could keep up with the rider, and he would have killed every horse in the West rather than to have falled in the undertaking. It took him just five days and nineteen hours to per. form the feat, and it cost the lives of several of his best horses. After being carried into a room at the old hotel in Independence Aubrey lay mously regarded by Western men as the greatest exhibition of strength

"What became of Aubrey after ward ?" "After his ride he became the lion of the West and was dined and feted conquering hero. He finally met his day in 1854, in an altercation with Major Richard H. Weightman, the great rider was stabbed to the heart saloon. He was buried in an unknown grave, and all that is rememride, Weightman was tried upon the charge of murder, but was acquitted, and joining the Confederate army was shot at Wilson's Creek while leading his brigade into battle,"

Tanks at stations along the way are not for railroad stock watering. -Texas Siftings,

An Editor's Life. One of the beauties and charms of ment of our country since the 'yar an editor's life is in his dead-heading never ceases to be impressive. It red it on all occasions. No one who has flects not only the growth, but the never feasted on sweets of that bliss Before I could answer her John patriotism and prosperity of our peo- can begin to take in the glory of its ple as no other statistical exhibit happiness. He does $100 worth of the subject did not come up again, does. The mere fact is startling that advertising for a railroad, gets a 25 years ago, less than a generation, "pass" for a year, rides $25 worth. the public debt was $2,756,000,000, and then he is looked upon as a deadentailing an annual interest charge head or a half-blown dead beat. He of $151,000,000, and it is now only "puffs" a troupe $10 worth and gets $921,000,000, and the interest charge $1 in complimentaries, and is thus is but $29,500,000. The face of the passed "free," If the hall is crowded debt has decreased to one-third its he is begruged the room he occupies, maximum size, while the interest for if his complimentaries were paycharge decreased to one-fifth its high- ing tickets the troupe would be so est amount, owing to refunding at much in pocket. He blows and puffs the constantly declining rates of in- a church festival, free to any desired terest. In the past 10 years a large extent and does the poster printing minded. He smokes. An' always proportion of the debt has been ex- at half rates, and rarley gets a thank tinguished. At the time of the 1880 for it. It goes as a part of his duty census the public debt was $1,919, as an editor. He does more work 000,000, and the interest charge was gratutiously for the town and com-$79,500,000, so that in a decade the munity than all the rest of the popdebt has been reduced $998,000,000, or ulation put together, and gets cursed for it all, while in many instances It will thus be seen that if the where a man who donates a few dolshe said brokenly. "I don't dare, country remains prosperous and con- lars to a Fourth of July celebration, tinues to be well governed it will be base hall club, or church, is gratefully entirely possible to extinguish the entire remaining public debt in 10 to be an editor! He passes office, > to its environment, he procured a The present ceusus will show 65,- herring from a neighboring fjord and 000,000 people in the United States, carried it home in a tub of sea water.

wardly at first, but soon learned to move freely and rapidly. In a little while the herring was able to follow "The greatest physical achieve- its master without difficulty, and ment ever accomplished in this coun- then it became his constant compantry," said John F. Graham to a Den- jon about the streets of the city. On Jackson had gone on a ten month's ver News reporter, "was the ride of a certain unfortunate day Henrik cruise, and as the time drew near for F. X. Aubrey from the plaza of had occasion to cross a dilapidated the ship's return Ann grew restless | Santa Fe, N, M., to the public square | bridge which spanned an arm of the and absent minded. She went oftener at Independence, Mo., a distance of harbor. The herring coming graceto Owl Rock, and more than once nearly 800 miles through a country fully along, heedless of danger, now she became so absorbed in watching inhabited by warlike Indians, a large and again springing at the ephemera, the far off sails as to forget when 5 part of which was then a sandy for which it had acquired an especial fondness, missed its tooting, slipped "It was about the year 1851 that through a crack into the water, and

> "They're a canny lot," "Who?" "The lobster-factory people in New-

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough ure. Price 25c.

For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Collo Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgiss DrugStore, and Country Stores.

WEDDING INVITATIONS.

THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invitations, in the latest and most artistic designs, rt prices that defy competition. Call and learn prices before placing your order elsewhere.

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES, CIRCULARS,

CARDS.

LETTER AND

BILL HEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make a specialty of printing and padding note, letter and bill heads.

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

Call and see our speci-mens of all kinds of work if you need anything in our line. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters. Endorsed by every physician as a sur or Pain or Weakness in the Breast, ack or Limbs; also for Liver Complain Teak Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthr

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier, A General Banking business transacted. 63-Prompt attention to collections. 112'89.

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of on Home-Grown Nursery Stock

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT TO ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on huma HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

JOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. JONAS E. GNAGEY. CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scrott Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General

Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING USINESS, and keep on hand an assortion of Contas, and also manufacture the me to order. A time hearse in attendance with be my alm to turn out only first class Thanking all who have favored me in the ast, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to crit their future patronage. All orders left at the mill promptly attend 47 Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1800. 6 21 ly.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers'

Hardware

Association,

(LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We ar It will pay you to call and see us. We ar soic agents and represent the best line o goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAGONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS EMPIRES GRAIN DEBLIS, STEEL KING, (all sicel frame increws,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEBLAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS. Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Yours, respectfully, FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The larm is well watered and nearly all un-der fence. Si uated about 2½ miles from Dear Park.

JOS. G. NESBITT, One of the BEST Tel- a care care the world. Our tacilities are unequaled, and to introduce our e from $3 to $10 a day at least.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about our years, and testing many other popular articles, I find that this brand is an hones article, which can be depended upon to be as

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself.

We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices

H. WEBER, Boz 57, Oakland, Md.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

WANTED, MOST LIBERAL TERMS.
Unequaled facilities. One of the largest in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y.
6761
Established 1846.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home.

FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land in the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

asset and a stream of excellent, quality, ea-chas a stream of water running throug-entitie, and springs of excellent water, no mantity of valuable timber. The Hoc-er road gasses through the lands and to reason of John L. drowning. Frank hkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spike ph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Khod ver and others. These lands will be sold CHLAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth each and the balance in three or four ecual yearly payments, with interest and seem ty to the satisfaction of the owner.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE:

Situated about 214 miles south of Ockland containing 80 neres; 50 acres cleared; orchare of 105 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE.

containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely sainted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily i-med and an abun-lance of time stone is on the place. Two and one-half tens of hay to the acre assurance of this year. 'THOMAS & SINCELL.

Attorneys for owner,

Oakland, Md. J. J. LEWIS. -MANUFACTURER OF-

Lumber. Snimbles and Plas-TERING LATH I

deastro admini

Having had Fourteen years practice an experience as a "HINGLE SAWYER, I so confident that I can sell you a better shing J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va MASSET HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three courses utlined—Academic, Scientific or Commer-

For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

If 296 ANDREW J. HARNE.

AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO.,

Cumberland, Md.

2 15 90 ly

Office 30 Baltimore Street. FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of Wing and Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parior, sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses, and carringe house. There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, connected with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD PINNOS CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY

GUARANTEED! Having decided to make a specialty of sellmaying declared to hake a specimity diser-ing the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining ounties who may be desirous of purchasing really first-class instrument at a moderate men.Z and get prices on same before going elsewhe e. I can assure all of one thing—no setter instruments are made for the money han those I handle. This is no idle boast out a fact which time and observation has bundantly proven. I buy at first hands and io not charge two prices for my goods. A casonable profit on the investment is all I isk. We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegetable Plants in the proper scason.
Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express.

Address SK.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Jusical Merchandlise generally at most reas-mable prices. Give me a call for anything

> #8-Place of business-Rallroad street, next B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. J. M. LITZINGER, 9 21 189 Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN MEW FIRM.

Spedden & Bolden, GONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

OAKLAND, - MD., Vill contract for or superintend the erection familiary in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. &O. R. R., which went in-

o effect May 11th, 1890; GOING EAST 2—Accommodation GOING WEST. 71-Accommendation . -Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excer tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to cents.

> WM. M. CLEMENTS. Manager.

C. K. LORD, General Passenger Agent.

FOR SALE.

VALUABLE

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock rrn, community known as the "Willink arm," situated about four miles from Onk-mo, and containing 465 acres. About 206 cresare cleared and under a good state at uitiv tion. The improvements consist of

LARGE DWELLING MCUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orehard. There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal n the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000

JAS. A. HAYDEN.

Prop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hammers ent on trial. Delivered in your home free of reight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. ave Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FREDAY, AUGUST 29, 1890.

NUMBER 28.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia,

#2-Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland Md. 223 '87, GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY.
OFFICE ON ALDER STREET. Particular attention given to Conveyancing avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY AND SOLICITOR IN CHINAUERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

**Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection

WARING THOMAS. THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia.

J. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND
VEITCH & TOWNSHEND,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

OARLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland, 53° Office in the Court House, July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER, AFTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pertchard Building, first floor, back room, Faird street, Oakland, Md.

Dr. D. O. McKINLEY. Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa.,

Will visit regularly through Garrett county M.t., and o less his services to those wisning Dental Teatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Eik Lick, Ph. 6 22 6m DR. W. M. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. OAKLAND, MD.

#55" Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885,-15. H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

CAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the peop of Oakland and vicinity. 55% as Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas.

PR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, Oakland, Md. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and filling the natural teeth.

All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Dr. I. D. Mewman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

the Helbig bridge Callsday or night promptly attended to, 3 à y FOR SALE,

A VALUADLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak land, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn stable and all other necessary outbuildings; twenty acres underculivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for Owners cy of the Microba Killer in cases of con-Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Philada, Po.

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowle Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down. THEOS. B. HORWITZ.

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS AT

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules EWD. H. SINCELL Suitable for any purpose.

> Mules for Logging -and-

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station,

On W. Va. Cen. R. R., between Gorman and Bayard,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

Alderson & Robinson, Props C. M. RATHBUN, Manager,

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, kets, Monldings, Stair Balasters and Newers, Weatherhourdets and Palings. Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-ng done to order at the lowest rates, Res Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds.

ing Flooring, Ceiling, Pick-

E. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

 $R \gg \text{Repairing neatly and promtly done, } Nov. 11, 85.— y.$

LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m<sup>o</sup> Rochester, N. Y. FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

orized to sell a tarm of 250 acre feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also in abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling souses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also i good orchard, and a young orchard just soming into bearing. oming into bearing.
The larm is we'll watered, and is in every ay a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-flye acres of valuable timber. Call on or address

> JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXARDIR & CO.,

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS

—AND DEALERS IN— MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Betting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Perleys—wood or iron; Shaffing, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice, Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggies, &c., 6 22

JULIUS A. ROEHM.

A PRACTICAL AND

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

EVERY Counting Room
EVERY Carriage Owner
EVERY Thrifty Mechanic
EVERY Body able to hold a brush SHOULD USE ANTIBEZ PAR SUE. TRY IT.

SPONGE AND WATER.

WILL STAIN OLD A NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN YOUR OLD BASKETS inflammation of the bronchial tubes call for more prompt and energetic action.

As neglect or delay may result seriously, effective remedies should always be at hand. Apply at once a mustard poultice to the upper part of the chest, and, for internal treatment, take frequent doses of

Ayer's

Cherry Pectoral C. O. Lepper, Druggist, Pert Wayne, Ind., writes: "My little sister, four years of age, was so ill from bronchnis that we had almost was so ill from bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skilful man and il large experi-ence, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine, saying he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, who mass happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to hreathe ensier, and, within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This indisputable evidence of the great merit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me unbounded certification in the preparation, and I recommend dence in the preparation, and I recommend dence in the preparation, and I recommend it to my custemers, knowing it cannot disap-

PAyer's Cherry Peeteral curid me of a Me cough and my partner of bronelitis. I know of numerous cases in which this preparation has proved very beneficial in families of Young Children, so that the medicine is knewn among them as 'the consoler of the ameted.'"—Jaime Rufus Vidal, San Cristobel, San Domingo, "A short time age, I was taken with a vere attack of bronchils. The remedies dimeily used in such cases Inded to give e relief. Almost in despair of ever finding anything to cure me. I longht a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Poeteral, and was helped from the first dose. I had not finished one bottle before the disease left me, and my threat and lungs were as sound as ever."—

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 365 acres, about 90 cres of which is cleared, and on which are

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbulldings. About 75 scres of the i'or particulars and terms, apply to or address RICHA CO CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of propers, it you short notice and at reas another rates.

Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies, 315 ff

F. A. THAYER.

Shares of the Wimbleton Railwaw.

It stands at fifty-six, a figure much needed articles, and still returned with money enough in his pocket to make him, feel rich. He changed his boarding-house, engaging a hand-stock."

"But Mr. Brooks—"

"It seems to me you are dashing

ROFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT DEFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-ness direct, hence can transact patent busl ness in less time and at LESS COST than hose remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-cription. We advise if patentible or not, ree of charge. Our fee not due till patent is ceured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

SALESWEN First - Class Tailor, To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, WANTED AT ONCE.

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

Ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop agear 'Browning House.'

DAVID LITTLE.

FROM BARTISTORE,

WORKER.

WORKER.

WORKER.

WORKER.

WORKER.

WITHOUT BARRY.

On Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

3 15 90

Mt. Hope Nurseries.

Established 1840.

THE OLD SILVER WATCH.

e of his friend Bowles, editor of Glenville Cour int.

the young man, a little rusfully, way of the world, r I've just received notice of a leg-

Indeed, I congratulate you." Wait till you hear what it is." Well, what is it?" "My Aunt Martha has just died ring fifty thousand dollars."

No; she leaves it to a public in for forty years." "Row is that ?"

ing an artist. She wished me to be with evident complacency on the "Indeed!" aunt's vishes I should doubtless have daughter and himself. tion that anything else." "But you can make your own from my aunt?"

WHY ?" marriage. Now it is hopeless."

legacy may help you."

"Not if you will strictly observe man said: my directions" "What are they ?" "Simply this: Agree for one calen-aunt's legacy. I will manage the thought to any other subject. rest." "I don't know at all what you fee beaming with joy. mean, Bowles," said the young man,

"but I am in your hands," ber to express surprise at nothing sell out for you." but let matters take their course."

"Very well."

Joph: Eames. By the will of an aunt re- very truly. EZEKIEL BROOKS.

have left fifty thousand dottars. 'anybody would naturally suppose must be a dream, he thought. He put on his hat and walked true. down the street. He met Ezekiel "Mr. Eames, how about this mon-Brooks, president of the Glenville ey? Shall I re-invest it for you?" National Bank.

"My dear sir, permit me to congratulate you," he said. "You have read the Courant?" said Eames.

of your good fortune. Can I speak ever before possessed at one time. to you on business a moment?" "Certainty, Mr. Brooks." "You'll excuse my advice, but I The next day he went to the city He moved away, followed by two while I am. My young man, do you clothes at a fashionable tailor's. The slipped off her shoe and stocking, want to make some money ?'

have advices that a speedy rise is al- itor. most sertain. Buy him out and you "You know I've had a legacy," said will make a handsome thing of it."

"But how shall I find the money?" "Of course you haven't received the editor.

the husiness." "Certainly; I shall only want your shiftless artist. signature when the documents are All at once it occurred to him. other engagement.

lege of meeting Mary Brooks. This would make a charming home." was the first time he had been in- One morning with considerable' Charles Eames stepped into the vited to the capitalist's table. The trepidition, young Eames broached fact is, until this morning Mr. Brooks | the subject to Mr. Brooks.

> "I have an engagement, Mr. the marriage took place within a few Eames," said Mr. Brooks, "a meet- weeks, tain you."

turing. She leaves me, only her noon's interview with the young your house, twenty-six thou-and dol-lyer watch, which she has carried lady he admired. But it gained him lars. By the way, have you received more. Every four days he received your aunt's bequest ?" "Se didn't approve of my becom- fail to see that Ezekiel Brooks looked Charles.

been made her sole heir. This small "What will be say?" thought the watch, Occasionally, too, he felt nervous "Yes, sir."

"I can earn a scanty living at press about his hasty assent to the proposi- Ezekiel Brooks whistled in sheer ent. I have to do better by and-by. tion to buy 400 shares of railroad amazement, and his countenance fell. But you know my admiration for stock at 58, when he hadn't $50 For a moment he regretted his Mary Brooks. If I had been Aunt ahead. He reckoned up, one day, daughter's marriage, but then came Martha's tole heir, I could have what his purchase would amount to, the thought that his son-in-law gained her father's consent to our and his breath was atmost taken though a lucky mistake, was really away when he found it amounted to the possessor of quite a comfortable "I am not so sure of that. This twenty-eight thousand dollars! Still, property, which under his manageit had been in a manner forced upon ment might be increased. So he sub-"An old watch? You are jok- him. He asked no questions, but mitted with a good grace, and is on every now and then the old gentle- the best of terms with his daughter's rapidly."

dar month not to mention or convey deed, he was so carried away by love foundation of his prosperity.-Yankee the least id-a of the nature of your of Mary Brooks that he gave little Blade. One day Mr. Brooks came up, his

"Wish you joy, Ermes," he said, "Wimbleton's gone up like a rocket | Jersey City, and a prominent figure "That is all I wish. Now remem- to par. Give me authority, and I'll among them was a real old-fashioned

In the next issue of the Glenville, he received a little note to this effect : feed to read the following para- Your five hundred shares of Wimbleton at 101. So you bought at 55. This gives you a clear profit of forty-We are gratified to record a piece live dollars per share, or twenty-two of good luck which has just betatlen thousand five hundred dollars. You our esteemed fellow-citizen, the had better remyest your surplus. prominent young artist, Charles Call at my offlie at once. Yours contry deceased he comes into possission of a piece of preperty which has been in the family for many years. Miss: Eames is reported to its meaning. Cou'd it be that with. "Lands save you, but I know fifty of 'em!" she replied. "Any women out investing a cent, he had made forks up our way who can't sharpen "Really," thought the young man, over twenty thousand dollars? It from this paragraph that I had in- But when he called at the old genhealted my aunt's entire property." tleman's office he found it was really

"Thank you sir, I wish you would. Mr. Brooks beamed with cordial- I should like a little in hand, however."

> and the old gentleman wrote a check How's that for an edge?" for five hundred dollars and placed it in the young man's hand.

"Yes; and I am delighted to hear It was more money than he had and passed it back. This was convincing proof of the reality of his good fortune.

"Certainly. I should be glad to do threadbare, and his overcoat decid-began operations. She was through edby seedy: "James Parker has five hundred While he was about it be bought a replacing her shoe, she bundled her shares of the Wimbleton Railwaw, new coat and boots, as well as other packages together and loudly re-It stands at fifty-six, a figure much needed articles, and still returned marked:

"I know what you would say. It "It seems to me you are dashing friend, Abraham has failed?" may go down - but it won't. I cut, Eames," said his friend the ed-

Eames, laughing. "I begin to think you have," said your legacy yet. 1 know there are When Eames appeared on the What a genius."-Clothier and Furdelays. No trouble about that, street in his new suit it was a confir- nisher. Give your note on ninety days and mation of the news of his inheritance. I'll endorse it. You'll sell out before His removal to a fashionable board. that time at a handsome advance." ing house was additional confirma-ache?" inquired the artist in iyor-"I will place myself in your hands, tion. It was wonderful how he rose Mr. Brooks, but you must manage in the estimation of people who had before looked upon him before as a made out. By the by, come round "Why shouldn't I propose to Mary and dire with us, or have you an. Brooks? With twenty thousand dollars I could certainly support her Another engagement! If Eames comfortably. There was a very had had fifty engagements he would pretty cottage, and tasteful grounds, have broken them will for the privit for sale at five thousand dollars. This had scarrely vouchsafed him more "No one I should like better for a "How are you, Eames?" asked the than a cool nod on meeting; but he son-in-law, if Mary is willing," was had changed, or appeared to, and his the prompt answer. "I ought to feel happy, I suppose," behavior altered with it. Such is the Mary was willing, and as there seemed no good reason for waiting, ing of the bank directors, but you "Charles," said his father-in-law, afmustn't go away. Mary will enter- ter the young people returned from their wedding journey,"it is time for' The young man did not go away, me to render you an account of your and apparently was satisfied by the money affairs. I have been lucky in To you? I congratulate you heart- entertainment he received. He my investments, and I have thirtyblessed his aunt for her legacy, it one thousand dollars to your credit, only it had procured him this after- or deducting the amount paid for a similar invitation. He could not "I received it yesterday," said a mercant. If I had consulted my good understanding between his "Here it is," said the young man and he produced a battered silver

I gacy is meant more as an aggrava- young man, "when he finds out "Do you mean to say that is all she what sort of a legacy I have received left you?" asked his father-ip-law, stupefied. husband, who is now in Italy with "All going well! Stock advancing his wife, pursuing a course of artistic" study. He treasures | carefully the With that he was content. In- old watch, which he regards as the

It Was Corns.

There were scores of passengers waiting in the Pennsylvania depot. woman wearing a quaint old bounet, The artist did so, hardly realizing and having the traditional number what it meant till three days after, of parcels and band boxes with her, She had eaten a fried cake and draph brushing the crumos away she took from her pocket a whetstone and a pocket knife, and began putting anedge on the latter. There was a general stir of interest around her, and a man who sat near by remarked: "Wetl, you are the first woman I ever > axes and knives are counted no good. This 'ere knife belongs to the old' man, and hain't very good stuff."

> "What's your object in sharpening the knife?" he asked, as she worked! away with much vigor. "Corns. Got two on the bottom of my left foot. Orter pared 'em down afore I left home, but didn't have time, Got fifty-five minutes to wait "Certainly. That will answer," here, and I'll put it on the corns. "Sharp as a razor," he replied, as he received the knife, felt of its edge-

> "Yes, I guess it will do. You'd be ter move now. Hate to bother you, but them corns is dreadful." know you are not a business man, and ordered a handsome suit of or three others, and the old lady fact was his old coat was getting turned her back to the crowd, and in about twenty minutes, and, after

"There! I feel a hundred dollars better, and I'il have half an hour more after I got home to help change the hens into the new coop.'

Mr. Summerheim - "So our old Mr. Sounenheim-"Ya, tree hurdred tousand liapilities." Summerheim-"And how much assets ?"

Sounenhtim-"Nuttings at all." Sommerheim-"Weeping Rachel! Jones was calling on his dentist ..

"So you are troubled with tooth-"Frightfully." "Ah! does it come frequently?"

"Every five minutes,"

"And lasts some time?" "A quarter of an hour at least." ing up. should take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, on, Billousness and Liver Complaint

The Republican.

BENJ, H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

TO AN OLD APPLE-TREE.

Those maimed limbs plead thy story; The wounds upon thy body speak for thee: Thou art a veteran soldier scarred with glory My brave old apple-tree! Oft hast thou borne up under Onset of storming wind and shot of hall; And once a sword-lunge of assailant thunder Slashed down thy barken mail.

Old age, discase and battle Have scathed and crooked and crippled all th form; And thy Briarean bare arms clash and rattle, Tost in the wintry storm. I seem to feel thee shiver,

As on thy nakedness hangs rags of snow: May charitable spring, the gracious giver, O'er thee her mantle throw! She will: and sunshine spilling

From blue skies thou again shalt drink as wine And feel afresh the rush of young blood thrill Through that old heart of thine.

For in the season duly Each year there rises youth's perennial power Within thee, and thou then rejoicest newly In robes of leaf and flower.

Ay, though thy years are many, And sorrows heavy, yet from winter's gloom Thou issuest, with the young trees, glad as any As quick of green and bloom.

The bluebird's warble mellow Returns like memory and calls thy name, And, as first love, the oriole's plumage yellow Burns through thy shade like flame. Thou quiver'st in the sunny June mornings to the welcoming of song, And bees about their business of the honey Whisper thee all day long.

Thus thou art blest and blessest Thy grace of blossoms fruiting into gold; And thus, in touch with nature, thou possesses The art of growing old. —Coates Kinney, in Harper's Magazine.

A COMPOSITE ROMANCE.

A Story Told from Seven Different Stand-Points.

THE LETTER CARRIER'S STORY. There is one family on my route that others put together. Not that they ever complain of me or compel me to walk to the top of a five-story building, but I can't make 'em out. I don't usualwhom I deliver mail: there is somehing so singular about this one family, dowever, that I can't help taking particular notice of them.

They live in an elegant stone hous on Kenyon avenue, and consist of a middle-aged gentleman, John Godfrey, by name, his maiden sister and his daughter, a girl of seventeen.

road man, has a hard, stern look, and his sister doesn't appear to be any too amiable, but the daughter has fairly won my old heart. She is as handsome as a picture, and she always had a smile for me when she came to the door (the maiden aunt answers my ring now), and how her face would light up when I handed her a letter addressed in sound, manly hand to sees Nena God frey, and postmarked C---. At first, when she and the servants stopped coming to the door, I couldn't understand it, but I have arrived at the conclusion that the maiden aunt always takes the mail in order to prevent Miss Nena from getting her letters. During the time Miss Nena came herself brought her a letter postmarked Cnearly every day. Since then I have delivered only two for her, and the maiden aunt's face has worn such a satisfled look as she took them, that I am sure the letters are from some young man Miss Nena is in love with, and her father and aunt are trying to break off

I met her on the street one day a short distance from the house, and she stopped as though to speak to me. She changed her mind, however, and passed on with a pleasant "Good morning." but I noticed that her lips quivered as she spoke. I think she wanted to ask me something about her letters. Poor girl! I wonder how it will end!

II. THE MESSENGER BOY'S STORY. Las' night 'bout seven o'clock I had ter take a message up on Kenyon avenue. It was fer Miss Nena Godfrey, an' wen I rung th' bell a young lady His name is Will Holbrook and comed to th' door. I axed her if ther' he has been very low with brain was a answer an' she tole me to come in fever. He was at one time quite an' she would see. She then went inter well off, but lost every thing by the parlor an' tore open the message, an unlucky speculation, and was forced an' w'en she read it she turned as white to accept a clerkship with one of the as a sheet, an' I thought she was goin' firms with which he had formerly done to faint. Jes' then the boss came inter business. A too steady application to th' room an' he said to her, awful stern: his duties, coupled with great depresgram from?" She didn't answer, an' he said: "Let fatally more than once.

awful mad. Jes' then he seed me an' heavy blow to him, but it was nothing him th' answer. He said ther wasn't with it—the breaking off of his engage-nun an' fer me to clear out. I didn't ment with the woman he loved. daughter after I'd gone.

anythin' like that before. III.

THE TELEGRAPH OPERATOR'S STORY. Something rather out of the common happened at our office last evening. The following message was sent from Miss Nena Godfrey, 193 Kenyon avenue: Come at once, if possible. Will is very low. Dr. Otto Schmidt."

had a copy of the telegram that came gram, and about 11 o'clock in the mornfor his daughter that evening. I told | ing I was informed that she was waithim that I was acquainted with the ing for me in the office. I went to her contents. He then wanted to know if I at once. would tell him what was in it. He! She attempted to rise as I entered the message came; that his daughter had gone out and had left the message for tributed this to perturbation, him, but that the servants had mislaid

As Mr. Godfrey is a well-known citien, I complied with his request. The ontents of the telegram had an entirely different effect upon him from what I expected. Instead of being surorised or shocked, it seemed to make wonder who Will is?

1V. THE CONDUCTOR'S STORY. There was one incident connected with the accident to my train last night that I did not give to the reporters. A young lady boarded the train at whom I recognized as the daughter of John Godfrey, one of the stock-holders of the road. She had a ticket for C-, and I noticed when I stopped at her seat that she was pale and agitated. After the accident she was one of the first to get clear of the wreck, and did not appear to be injured. Luckily, the engine was not disbled, the accident having been caused by the rails spreading just as the baggage-car passed over them, and I determined to send to C-- for assistince. I was consulting with the engineer when Miss Godfrey touched me on the arm and begged earnestly to be allowed to ride on the engine to C-It was a case of life and death, she said. She appeared so distressed at the hought of delay that I told the engineer to take her with him. She was ip in the cab in an instant, and they pulled out" at once, so that one of my passengers at least arrived at Cnearly on time.

THE ENGINEER'S STORY. That's a plucky gal of John Godey's. She rode with me on the engine C - after the wreck last night, and tell you she's true grit.

I didn't want to take her with me at irst, 'cause I was afraid she'd make She never opened her head after she got into the cab, but just clung to the seat. Well, she had to hang on, for the way old Forty-seven rocked was a caution. gives me more trouble than all of the I tell you, we never made them ten he did not show them. niles in the same time before.

After we got started I looked across ly bother my head about the people to goin' half fast enough for her. She mouth and went to him wifnout a word. lse on her mind.

She jumped from the cab the moment | move her father to pity. get to C-- as soon as ever she could.

VI. THE DETECTIVE'S STORY. A dispatch was received at headquarters last evening from R--, reuesting the department to send a man down to the station and arrest a young woman who was on the 10:40 express from the East. I was detailed for the waited around the station until nearly train time, and then heard a umor that there had been a wreck down the road. I investigated and ound that such was the case: in fact, the accident had occurred to the very train I was wating for. I obtained permission to go on the relief train, and when we had arrived at the scene of the wreck I commenced to look around for the young woman. As I could find no one who answered to the description sent, I made inuiries of the conductor and learned that the person I was after had gone up to C- on the engine that brought the news of the accident to the city. was after three a. m. before I got back and made my report, and they decided not to do any thing more about the matter until they heard again from

The accident was a costly one for the railroad company, but a lucky one for the young woman. Had it not occurred she would have spent the night in the

THE DOCTOR'S STORY. For the last three weeks I have been tending an old schoolmate of mine.

"What's the matter! Who's the tele- sion of mind, brought on his illness which has threatened to terminate me see it," but she turned quicker'n a I noticed just before he gave up how flash an' threw it into the grate w'ere a badly he was looking, and one evening fire was burnin', an' it blazed up in a when he called at my office he confided second. when he called at my office he confided every thing to me. The loss of every Th' old gent started for her, lookin' thing he possessed was naturally a he axed what was I waitin' fer. I told in comparison to what it had brought wait fer him to tell me twice. I'll bet, Her name was Nena Godfrey, and though, he talked mighty sharp to his they had been engaged for about a year. As soon as her father heard of the I sees a good many funny things car- change in Will's affairs, he wrote to ryin' round messages, but I never seed him, giving him to understand that he could no longer regard him as a future son-in-law. On learning, however, that Miss Godfrey's heart was unchanged toward him, Will determined not to give her up, and to make every effort in his power to regain his lost fortune as quickly as possible. When he was taken sick I had him brought to my house; and, luring his detirium, he would keep asking for The message was delivered to Miss Nena; then he would imagine that she Godfrey, and about nine o'clock the was with him and would implore her lady's father came into the office. The not to leave him. Late yesterday afterelerk having stepped out for a moment, noon he became so much worse, and begged so piteously for her to come to Mr. Godfrey wanted to know if we him that I sent Miss Godfrey a tele-said that he was not at home when the room but sank back on her chair as though completely exhausted 1 athastened to quiet her fears about Will. She insisted upon seeing him without

Will seemed to be conscious of her doze, still holding her hand. This schedule time. him very angry. He recovered himself lasted until midnight, and then he quickly, however, and, with a curt opened his eyes and I saw that he and he had been doing this for years "Much obliged." he walked cut I would live. He spoke her name in a without once asking the fair Ethalinda would live. He spoke her name in a without once asking the fair Ethalinda whisper, and tried to raise her hand to if she would be his, or if he could be his lips. She made no sound, but gave hers. him a look of love and tenderness that eyes again as though her mere presence himself, Miss Godfrey looked up at me, thing decisive. But it didn't and the expression on my face told her -No succeeding Tuesday n the glad truth. The next instant she the glad truth. The next instant she learned to succeed.

"It isn't right," said Mrs. De Wiggs to > and said, with a faint smile: "I am sorry to make you so much "I am sorry to make you so much trouble, but I think my arm is hurt, and how shall I do it?" that is what made me faint. The train on which I left R— met with an actual that unless he really means to marry though suffering intense pain, the plucky little woman had managed to keep me in ignorance of her injuries until she knew whether her lover world live or die. I did every thing for her that my skill suggested, and then forced her to take some rest. A guch was arranged for her in the roon adjoining Will's, and although she obtained but little sleep-she was upevery hour to look at him and ask how -her condition this merning was much better than I had expected.

Shortly after daylight some one rang the office bell, and when I opesed the door I knew instinctively that he man standing before me was John Godfrey. rouble and delay me, but she didn't. He stepped into the office, tok me his name, and asked if his daughter was in the house. I told him that she was, and he requested me to send her to him. Whatever his feelings toward me were

I went to Miss Godfrey and informed her that her father was waiting to see at the gal. She was starin' straight her. She trembled for an instant, and ahead and it seemed as if we wern't then closed her lips over her firm little was terrible pale and her teeth was set I had placed her arm in a sling, and the like a brake, but it wer'n't because she pain and emotion she had lately underwas frightened. She had somethin' gone had left their marks on her face. I was sure that the sight of her would

What took place during the interview we pulled into the yard at C--, and hurried off across the tracks. I heard I did not learn. It lasted for over an on her lips: her tell the conductor at the wreck hour, and then I was called. I was not some one was dyin' and she wanted to unprepared for the scene that met my | I'll get one to-morrow." gaze. Nena was holding her father's turned to me with a happy smile. "Father has forgiven us," she said. -

THE JAMAICA TICK.

An Unmitigated Nuisance to Human Be-the blades of grass, on the leaves and skin if he has time and opportunity, if not carefully attended to, eventually choke the animal. In some pastures their presence is so marked that cattle are known to refuse to go in willingly though they have been long more or recent times that they have thrust themselves into a bad notoriety. The tion that attracts public attention. direct cause of their increase is the gradual disappearance of their natural enemies, which, if they did not extermiate the tiny parasites, at least kept them within a reasonable limit. The first of these enemies were the bird tribes. To-day one of the first things that strikes a visitor is the remarkable absence of the bird life which forms such a distinctive feature in most tropical countries.-Blackwood's Magazine.

Conclusive. Hiram-Wal, Maria, I got lots of roof that I'm a good-looking man, when I was up in New York. Maria-You don't say so? Hiram-Yas. Even the cab drivers spoke to me as "Handsome sir."-Mun--Clara-(to her father) - "Henry wanted me to ask you if you would help him out of his debts." FatherETHALINDA'S VICTORY.

w the Dear Young Woman Brought Things to a Focus. Theophilus James Hunker had been the "steady company De Wiggs for a long time. "steady company" of Miss Ethalinda

Tuesday night had found him at the more composed, and at last sank into a that Tuesday night comes on strict He arrived at eight and left at 10:30,

These dilatory tactics were regarded he understood at once, and he closed his with disfavor by Ethalinda, while the giri's parents hoped that each succeedwas all he asked. After he had lost ing Tuesday night would report some--No succeeding Tuesday night ever had fainted. I carried her wife. She joining room and called my wife. She her daughter. "The constant attentions at conventions, but are the natural and slow product of the forces gradually and slow pr after we had worked over Miss Godfrey men, who no doubt think you are en- developing social life, and they exhibit for a few moments, she opened her eyes gaged. I really think you ought to bring him to the point."

"You must hint to him in some way eident, and I guess that I have not es- you he had better cease calling on you. On making an examination I found and she was full of that resolve last rules. To the query "Why do nations that her left wrist was sprained and night when Mr. Hunker called. She and people do any thing as a cus> opportunity offered she had resolved to manufacture one to order. Fortune favored her, however, and it was unnecessary for her to go into the opportunity-making industry. Mr. Hunker had been much interested in the operations of the license court, and on previous Tuesday evenings he had dropped opinions which would have been invaluable to the judges could they have had the benefit of them. Last night, after discussing the weather and the base-ball outlook, Mr. Hunker remarked.

"Well, Lindy, the license court is over at last." "Yes, Theophilus James," the girl replied, and a close observer could have detected, without the aid of a chemical analysis, that her tone would assay two thousand pounds of determination to the ton. "Yes, the license court is over, but the marriage license court is still wide open."

There was no mistaking her meaning. and Mr. Hunker did not pretend to. He looked at her for a moment or two hand, and Mr. Godfrey's eyes showed after waiting so long," replied Ethathat he had been shedding tears. Nena linda. "I shall need a little time to prepare. We'll have it the first Thursday of next month."

Edward Weitzel, in Detroit Free Press. | And they will, unless Mr. Hunker dies or absconds.-Pittsburgh Chronicle.

THE PRINTING BUSINESS. Its Growth One of the Most Wonderful

The growth of the printing busines branches of trees, on the most graceful is one of the most wonderful phenomena ferns, and on every green thing. The of the century. The increase in the lady who brushes her skirt against the number, size and circulation of daily verdure on the roadside, the planter and weekly journals, magazines and who is superintending the work on his other periodical publications is startling that no race is good for any thing in estate, equally with the negro laborer even to those who have watched its in the cane pieces or on the stock farm, course for fifey years. The consumption trousers—a useful but recent invention are liable to be practically covered with of printing paper in the United States ticks at any minute. Of course, people amounts to about as many tons in 1890 who are able to do so take every precau- as it did pounds in 1790. The regular tion to keep clear of their attacks, and Sunday issue of a leading metropolitan this may always be managed with more daily requires from sixty to eighty tons or less success; but they are an ever- of white paper. Many trains of freight present source of worry and annoyance, cars would be required to transport the and even if whole battalions can be weekly output of one of the many great avoided, no care can prevent the ocea- publishing houses. Science and invensional inroad of single spies. And a tick, though only the size of a pin's for paper, and the printing industry, as head, is no despicable assailant. He it now exists, exhibits some of the crawls, he bites, he burrows under the greatest triumphs of inventive genius. The newspaper had a slow growth until and if he and his companions have a the steamship and the telegraph annifair chance of working their wicked hilated distance and made all the civwill, the result of the wounds which lilized world one common neighborhood; they inflict may be very disagreeable, then, as if the conditions for which it and, in some cases, almost dangerous in- had waited were come, it entered on a tion gradually declines, unless, indeed, career of development such as the wild-Independently of the nuisance which est enthusiast could not have foreseen they are to human beings, they cause in his most fantastic dreams. It is to- lated through the vital catalysine serious mischief on the stock farms. day the most potential of all influences faculty. The method of human progress Besides pervading and irritating the in molding public opinion and directing is empirical. The good and useful, outer cuticle of each individual of the the course of events. Doubtless the when ascertained by experiment, are herds, the cattle, and especially the calves, take them into their mouths to suit the demands of the reading pubwhile grazing. Then they burrow under lie and, therefore, caters to various or useless are sooner or later rejected .the skin of the tongue, palate and air tastes. It is too often an intermeddler Prof. Garrick Mallery, in American Anpa-sages, forming lumps and sores, in private a airs, too often intensely thropologist. partisan' in politics, intemperately sectional in religion or unwholesomely bigoted in sociology. But, with all its defects, the newspaper is, next to the school, the great educator of our time, to graze, but have to be exceptionally and the amount of good that it accomso much pain and discomfort await plishes should make us tolerant of the It is supposed that ticks first made from legislative halls, from secular and The daily papers gather from the pulpit. their way to the island on cattle imported from the Spanish main, but and sociological bodies, from magazines, books, interviews and all other sources less known, it is only in comparatively of information the freshest thought, the latest views on all sides of every quescream of current thought is found in the editorials, interviews, correspondence and extracts printed in the leading daily papers. The results of the learning of all the ages are condensed in these utterances. When they are classified and collated so as to give a just and adequate view of present opinion on a live issue. who can conceive of a more powerful and useful educational influence than such a collection.-Inventive Age.

-Prisoner-"I don't think there will be any need of your addressing the jury Lawyer-"Why not?" Prisoner-"My ensanity will be instantly plain to them when they see that I have retained you to conduct my case,"-Puck.

-Hostoss-"Mr. Feejee, let me help you to some of the roast beef." Reformed Cannibal (with a wistful, retrospective sigh)-"No. I tank you. Me "Pil give him a lift."-Boston Herald. vegetarian now."-Chicago Tribune.

CUSTOMS OF COURTESY.

Most of Our Ceremonial Forms Are Thousands of Years Old. Few ceremonial customs have originated in recent times. Their forms whether now trivial or still important resence the moment she knelt by his De Wiggs domicile as regularly as Tues- in sociology, are vestiges of the past, bedside and took his hand. He became day night arrived, and every one knows and only by anthropologic studies are traceable to their genesis and early forms. All authorities, unswayed by religious or theorizing bias, agree that in the origin of these ceremonies there was nothing designed or intentional; that is, they were not directly invented with definite purposes. A thing is not now and never has been customarily done because it is intrinsically right, but is considered to be right after and because it has been habitually done, whatever its origin or the circumstances in which it prevailed. The rules of courteous behavior as they now exist are not the immediate affect of deliberate conventions, but are the natural the laws of evolution with as great dis-tinctness as is demonstrated in the physical realm. Men have not fabricated though they have framed, rules for themselves. They have fallen into the customs from which rules were framed, and then by unintended modifications whether, in the nature of things, there the beautiful?" He-"You bet! is an absolute right and an absolute wrong; for customs vary even unto opposition in different parts of the world, and not only in different but in the same periods of history: so that they can not all be absolutely right. In matters large and small, vital and trivial, what is esteemed as virtue and merit at one place and time is condemned at others as vice and crime. Explanation has been attempted on the theory that there being distinct races of men, each of them has its idiosyncrasy; indeed, that by primordial decree each of them had the mission to do certain things and no others. By such theory fatalism is omnipotent, and all men are marionettes. But this explanation depends upon a conceded classification of men Y. World. into races, which has failed. A few years ago school-boys glibly recited the titles of the races of men, with their have devoted long lives to the subject nothing. Wait till the landlord does find such classification to be so difficult that no two writers agree. This does not indicate the proposition that there bosom, and imprinted a three-ply kiss many more races than have ever spend?" "I'm glad you mentioned it, my love. being one of amaigamation. But the does no special plot of the marionette show becomes George."—Harper's Bazar. of a high court lately declared that no race of men was good for any thing have at some time believed in many gods, and have allowed a plurality of but it is an example of bysteron proteron, or "the cart before the horse." If the polygamy were outgrown before the attainment of high culture, it would have been historically true; but, as made, it is as inaccurate as to assert which the men have not always worn of civilization. Instead of seeking an more practical, as well as more scien-

"O, you needn't be in such a hurry. confused when there is no agreement tifle, to look for it in habit and history; i, e., in environment. An apparent exception occurs in the arbitrary edicts of fashion, styled very properly by Bocustom and fashion. Fashion is imitamonly noticed in details of dress or ornason to conceal a defect or display a beauty; sometimes, however, in latter days, by a conspiracy of manufacturers. tailors, or milliners. With the cessation of the special influence, the imitagenuine merits are discerned in the invention, in which case it is assimithroughout the ages, while the nocuous Three Hard Men to Meet. I should say the two Rockefellers, John D. and William, and Henry M. Flagler, are the hardest men now in New York for a stranger to get at. They are the principal men in the great palatial offices in the Standard Oil build- upper. His mouth has a smile which is ing near the foot of Broadway. The at once ironical and kind. It opens visitor to this building is received with wide enough to let pass a hollow voice, the utmost suavity and courtesy and slow and interrupted. One would think every attention will be given to him if it to be the echoof a solemn and distant he goes on business; but, though he can oracle. Prince Bismarck speaks French without difficulty see the secretaries of as easily as German, but his words manthe millionaries named, he may go a lifest careful thought -Chicago Tribune. thousand times without being able to see either of three named. It is a little strange that they should be so very averse to seeing strangers unless they are afraid of being imposed upon, for all three of them are exceptionally liberal men outside of business trans actions. John D. Rockefeller's favorite line of beneficence seems to be giving checks to churches and other religious institutions, while Mr. Flagler has a great fondness for reforming drunkards.

-Augusta Chronicle's New York Letter. Hard to Please. Clara-I don't like Charlie Featherbrayne. Ethel-Why not?

Clara-He's too extravagant. Ethel-Then I suppose you like Jack Harding. He's a regular miser.

PUNGENT PARAGRAGPHS.

-You can't eat enough in a week to last you a year, and you can't advertise on that plan either.

-The man who keeps still when he hasn't any thing to say is a public benefactor. - Somerville Journal.

-The only time the average woman never talks back is when she accepts your seat in a street-car.-Puck.

-If one has a cold and doesn't know what to do for it, all his friends can tell him; but that does not affect the cold. -"I'm going off on my own hook," said Trouty to his mamma. But he found out too late that the hook belonged to the man at the other end of the line.—Harper's Bazar. -"We are all interested in the coming woman," says an exchange. Not. half so much, though, as we are in the woman who has already come.-Boston Gazette.

-That man who hasn't any work to do never seems to be quite happy unless he is bothering somebody else who has. -Somerville Journal. -Sunday-school teacher-"Now, little boys, whatdo you know about Goliath?" Freddy Fangle-"Please, ma'am, he was rocked to sleep."-Figaro. -Winkers-"I haven't seen you at the club for a week. You seem to have become a great horse body lately." Blinkers—"Yes. Wife's away."—N. Y.

Weekly. planting of an effective hint, and if no

why I'm here to-night."-Burlington Free Press. -"Did your husband leave a will?" asked the lawyer of the weeping widowfor-the-second-time. "I don't think he could. I know he never had any as long as I've been married to him."-Philadelphia Times. -Might have been expected.-Blob-son-"Poor Mrs. Tufstake! Do you know how she happened to lose all her money?" Dumpsey-"Yes; she took three lawyers in to board."-Burlington Free Press. -Fannie-"Papa, Mr. Havmuch has asked me to marry him." Papa-"And, my child, do you think you love him?" Fannie (astonished)-"Love him, papa! Why, he's worth a million dollars!"-N.

-First Resorter-"That mosquito just came up and presented its bill to me as cool as could be. I never had anything characteristics, but now students who sting me so." Second Resorter-"That's the same thing."-America.

-"Charles and George have both proposed to me. I don't know which to covering his self-possession, he remarked, as he clasped Ethalinda to his "$1,400." "How much has been recognized, the present condition Charles?" "S10,000 a year." "How much "$12,000,"

-Mabel-"Papa, how do you suppose -"Why, my love, I've had the grounds beautifully laid out for you." which had not believed in only Yes, but there's a high fence around, one God, and allowed only one it. How is any one going to see our tenwife. As all the races of men nis suits in a place like that?"-America. -Irate Patron - "You advertise to cure consumption, don't you?" wives, this dictum would condemn all; Quack-"Yes, sir. I never fail when my instructions are followed." Irate Patron-"My son took your medicine statement had been that polytheism and for a year and died an hour after the last dose." Doctor Quack-"My instructions were not followed. I told him to take it two years."-N. Y. Weekly. Hope for Women's Future. When we find girls whose average weekly wages is $5,25, women whose average age is less than 23, and of whom explanation of customs in race, it is by far the greater number are under 18, banding themselves together to secure through their clubs opportunities for education and improvement that they have missed through the exigencies of their condition; when we find that in rachio as "a deformed thief;" but a dis- addition to and even before such instruction in practical things-dressmaking cooking, first aid to the injured -as would make their work more profitable or life easier to them, they are ment designed by some influential per- eager to develop their intellectual faculties, and to acquire the amenities of life; that most of them care before all things to grow morally and socially, using the fatter word in its best sense, then indeed we are led to be hopeful for the future, even of a social state in which the toil of women and children seems to be more and more a matter of grim necessity. -Illustrated American.

Bismarck at Seventy-Five. The Prince is of giant stature and his proud and aristocratic bearing increases ais height. Although seventy-five years old, the "Man of Iron" carries himself as straight as the centenarian birch trees of his forest, and his corpulence is in exact proportiom with his stature. His forehead is frowning and wrinkled, his nose well formed, with large nostrils, and bends slightly to the right. struck me the most in his imposing physiognomy were his deep eyes of a mountain-like blue, and sheltered by a Standard Oil combination and, when forest of boldly erect hair. The lower they are in the city, are daily at the part of his face harmonizes with the The Ways of Havana Smokers.

Whenever a United States ship comes in from the West Indies naval officers have very large, dark, ugly and fineflavored Havana eigars to give away to their friends. Officers live well within the law on this subject, but the mess cigars are laid in by the thousand, and there is nothing to prevent a man from moking the mess cigars ashore. For the most part these cigars are excellent. but comparatively inexpensive, as they are bought by wholesale at Havana. They are of a kind not made for export, being much less smoothly rolled than such as are imported by tobacconists in this country. The Havana business man on going to his office in the morning slips into a small eigar factory, buys a bunch of twenty-five of these ugly Harding. He's a regular miser.

Clara—No, I don't. He's not rich mough to be extravagant.—Munsey's in the afternoon.—N. Y. Sun.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

HIS FIRST SPREE.

It Taught Him a Wholesome Lesso Which He Never Forgot. Pretty Mary Owens! How sweet she looked that balmy May evening. Fair, modest, innocent, yet as proud and selfreliant in her bearing as a young troubled and perplexed. "Marry me now, Mary;" said the handsome young man at her side. "Time is precious, and is in Great Britain a committee (c. I may lose you, you know. True, the marriage must be kept secret for awhile | ident) whose object is prevention of the for reasons I can not explain. As we demoralization of heathen races by the love one another, what matters it, liquor traffic. Christendom has discovthough?"

sir," said Mary, coloring to the roots of our race which are still under the bondher hair, and flashing an angry glance age of appetite, but also that the easiest from her tender blue eyes! Yet the way to defraud them of their posses trembling lips told too plainly that the sions and destroy their spirit of indeheart was interested.

know; but women are very transparent, Lord Salisbury requesting that it be and men of the world keen-sighted, and presented by the British representaall that. Don't get angry. You know tives to the Brussels anti-slavery con you love me, little Mary, and I simply ference. The memorial urged that, ing, as she did, the fumes of his wine- had come very much to the front, large laden breath.

come here."

where he had left his friend.

you look shaken up," said the latter. "Don't ask me! that ever drew the breath of life, and all for that accursed stuff over there. She saw me in liquor, and she won't

"Cheer up, old fellow," said Sam can unite, and one large enough to re-Howe, who with friends had been cele- quire their united energies. brating his twenty-first birthday. "Good riddance, say I. Think of marry

"Another bottle of wine for liberty, we'll let 'em know what liberty is."

"but we'll go down through the field back of the house and cut across lots.' a fearful din at the back of the house, man to get his breakfast in the field. companiment to: "We won't go home till morning," made him mad with rage, the ground, he made for the intruders. There was a maudlin cry, then a shrick, ing the green grass below! Mrs. Owens saw it all from her chamber window, which was in the back of the house; and going down softly, without waking Mary, bade John, the hired man, after securing the bull, to bring the sufferer into the house.

"It is James Lee, marm. He's pretty badiy hurted, but he knowed me, and begged me not to bring him in here." "Never mind, John; bring him in, with the help of the stable boys; lay him in the spare chamber, and then go for the doctor.' James Lee, being badly gored by the mad bull, lingered a long while in agony, but he did not die.

Mary did not see him until he was out of danger, the doctor fearing the consequences; but one day in the early autumn he asked her the all-important question: "Will you be my wife?" after signing the pledge of total abstinence; and with tears in her tender blue eyes

she consented. "I have had a terrible lesson," he said. "It was my first spree, and it shall be my last. He kept his word .- National Temperance Advocate.

HEATHEN AND LIQUOR. A Work in Which the Good Men of All Nations Can Unite. We copy with satisfaction the following paragraphs, which we find in a late number of the Christian Standard of This evening in question she seemed Cincinnati. They speak weil for the cause of humanity:

It is encouraging to know that there which the Duke of Westminster is presered that it is not only highly profitable "I have never told you I loved you, to sell rum to the thousand millions of pendence, is to make them drunk. The "No, dear, not in so many words, I committee presented a memorial dore you. One kiss, now, before we with reference to all the native territories, the laws and customs of which the manufacture and importation of intoxicating liquors, any Euthing is the matter with you. I per-ceived it the moment you opened your ropean government which assumed the mouth to-night. You have been drink- administration or protectorate of the territory should take all due steps to "Not enough liquor has gone into my maintain and strengthen laws so benemouth, little one, to drown a mouse. ficial, and that in native countries Only a small bottle of wine to cele- where such laws had not obtained, probrate the birthday of a friend; but I | bibition should be introduced as speed tell you, Mary Owens, your cruelty will ily as possible.

drive me to drink two more on my way At the third annual meeting of the home. Your conscience ought to committee in London a few weeks ago trouble you at the thought of that." | the chairman stated that since the con-And James Lee smiled sarcastically, ference at Berlin in 1885 it was satisshowing his handsome white teeth, factory to find that this question of the whose beauty was lost on Mary, smell- supply of alcoholic drink to native races ly owing to the declarations of our own "It would kill your mother, James, if ministers at home and the expression of she knew it. You know what you an adverse public opinion abroad. While promised her when you left home to the liquor for the native races came mainly from Germany and Holland, a "How you can harrow a fellow when quantity was conveyed in British ships you have a mind to, you little mite of from Germany, and hence this country humanity! Why, bring my mother in had not clean hands in this matter. Mr. at this time? Blessed old soul! Never Caine's exposure of the prevalence of mind! Good-bye, petite-you'll feel in drink shops in India had led to inquiry better humor, I hope, when I call to-morrow evening." And James Lee turned on his heel and strode down the path, but not before he heard the tear- unable to protect themselves looked to ful yet determined voice of Mary say: the governments of the civilized coun-"I shall not be at home to you, James | tries of the world to protect them. The Lee, until you prove yourself a man of chairman moved: "That this meeting your word! As I mean never to be the expresses its earnest hope that the Inwife of a drinking man, your coming ternational Anti-Slavery conference now would only be wasted time for us both." James Lee strode on with unsteady steps and a hot pain throbbing at his temples, until he reached the saloon European traders of alcoholic liquors, "What is the matter with you, Jim? which are so detrimental to the progress of civilization, of the Christian re-Yet I might as well ligion and of sound commerce." Cartell you. I am a fool; yes, worse than dinal Manning seconded the resolution, a fool. I have lost the sweetest girl which was supported by Hon. and Rev. Canon Leigh and adopted unanimously

THE TREE OF DEATH.

ing her and losing your blessed lib- A Tropical Plant Which Resembles Our Saloons and Gaming Houses. A tree of death has been sent to a sweet liberty!" and the revel went on. lady in Savannah, Ga., by her brother, Meanwhile Mary, uneasy and heart- who is living in Java. He says that the sick, crept early to her little chamber, natives warned him against handling a excusing herself to her anxious mother certain tree, which grows in the voland two sisters. She read a chapter in canic districts of Java and Sumatra the Bible and prepared to retire, and it and which they called Kali Mujah. was not until she knelt down by the They said its breath would kill birds side of her little white bed that the and even human beings. He paid floodgates of her sorrow opened; and little heed to the story until, chasing a then she wept as if her heart would bird of paradise one day, he saw it drop lifeless to the ground without apparent "Lord bless and save him I love," cause. He found the bird under a tree was the import of her fervent prayer, which gave forth the peculiar odor de before she slept the sleep of innocence. scribed by the natives, and knew that The faint streaks of the golden dawn he had found one of the famous deathdyed the fleecy clouds ere the revellers trees. He examined it closely. It had started for home, after borrowing a tin long, slender stems, armed with thorns horn and two old flags from the land- nearly an inch long, and covered with broad satin-smooth leaves of a heart "I'm twenty-one! I'm twenty-one! shape and of a delicate emerald on one Hurrah for liberty," screamed out side and blood red, streaked with Samuel Howe, staggering along. "Let's cream, on the other. The flowers were go past Widow Owens' cottage, Jim; large, milk-white and cup-like, and gave forth a faint perfume resembling that "No, Sam, I won't do that," said of chloroform. After inhailing it he James, who still had some shame left; became almost insensible, had a violent headache, singing in the ears and twitching of the muscles. It appeared to Widow Owens, who was an early riser, have a baleful influence on other plants; was dressing, when she was startled by for, though the soil was fertile, none were growing near it. It was fatal to as also was "Ben," the old bull, who all insects; and small birds felt its efhad been turned out early by the hired feets at a distance of fully three feet. They dropped to the ground, and, if not Mrs. Owens pitied the young revellers speedily removed, soon died. He pro-(not recognizing them), but Ben did cured this specimen with some difficulty more than that. He was mortally of- and sent it to America. It is the first fended at their encroachment on his living one that has ever been brought domain. The flags were bad enough, here. Unhappily, however, we have but the tooting of the tin horn as an ac- many forms of evil which produce still more disastrous results. Though the "death tree" does not flourish here, ou as with head down and hoofs pawing saloons, gambling houses and haunts of vice do the same deadly work on the souls of the people that the "death then one man was seen running for tree" does on animal life. They attract dear life, having stumbled over the the multitude, while few go the way to fence, while the other lay white and the "tree of life," the leaves of which still on the ground, his life-blood stain- are "for the healing of the nations." (Rev. 22:2.) Nashville (Tenn.) Banner.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

JOSEPH THOMPSON, a well-known British traveler, writes to a London missionary society from Africa: "Gin and brandy are depriving the native Africans of whatever native virtues they possess." DISEASE is the essential consequence of repeated poisoning from alcohol. It may begin at the first poisoning or excessive use of spirits. The brain tissue to take the child to Canada with him to may be injured at that time in some way, and require ever after spirits to relieve the system of organic change .-Journal of Inebriety

THE Federal Grand Jury at Paris, Texas, said in its report last month: 'We believe, from our investigations, that more than one-half of the offenses committed in the Indian country origi- Williams. She refused to give up the nate from the introduction of spirituous liquors, hence we think that a rigid en- though he could not interfere, the last forcement of the liquor law is essential."

MISCELLANEOUS.

-Silk from paper pulp is made smooth and brilliant, with about two-thirds the strength of ordinary silk and about the same elasticity. -One of the Berlin hotels was lately nuns. hended and one of the "women" was This peculiar and unenvied enterprise discovered to be a man.

issued. It is said to save butter and State, where snakes, esp are found in abundance is the writer met by -A Charlestown lady became quite sick the other day and vomited a small sick the other day and vomited a small live fish. She does not know when it minutes for a silver medal.

—"What sort of a restaurant is this, waiter?" he asked the first of that exwarter? Two men in their search for profit in minutes for a silver medal.

mistakes." master is not human."- Fliegende Blat--South Attica. Mich., farmers planted mustard seed. "hey did not expect pineapples or oranges, but they were wild times as hard to eradicate as the Canada thistle. -A valuable find has been made by a farmer at East Cape Girardeau, Mo. A hill on his premises is declared by an expert from St. Louis to be composed chiefly of the finest porcelain clay. It is estimated that there are at least 1,000 car loads, worth $125 per load. -Distanced .- "Yes, sir," began the distinguished looking stranger, "I have delivered that same lecture 200 consecu-tive nights, sir!" "That's nothing!" de lared Peckson. "My wife often delivers 200 same lectures in one consecu 'tive night!"-American Grocer. -A five-year-old child in West Camel is of the following dimensions: Height, 4 feet; weight, 117 pounds; circumference of abdomen, 42% inches; waist 714 inches; chest, 37 inches; neck, 14 inches; head, 2214 inches; thigh, 23 inches; calf, 1514 inches; arm, 1114 inches; forearm, 1014 inches. He is very healthy, eats all he can get and is fairly intelligent. The parents are by no means corpulent, and their other children are of ordinary size. -Samuel Elliott, of Newbury to have devised an apparatus by the adoption of which the smoke nuisance will cease to exist. The process removes from the products of combustion all the black carbonaceous matter of coal smoke, and a remarkable and important thing is the entire absence of sulphur in any form after the delegate from $1.50 to $2 an ounce or from $20 to volumes of smoke generally seen issuing from chimney shafts have been forced Mr. Childs is said to be the only And let all the people say "Amen!" Here is a work in which Catholic and from chimney shafts have been forced Protestant, Agnostic and Nothingarian into the "annihilator."

-At the palace of Bangkok a performing leopard was brought in for the amusement of one of the Siamese princes. In one of the prince's retinue was a younggirl of about fourteen years of age. The leopard jumped on her breast. It was merely in play, said the animal's caretakers, who begged her not to be frightened, but in another moment the leopard had seized the girl by the throat, and she died in sight of the horrifled spectators.

-Boarding-house inmates scon learn eagerly seek the place where it is frequently served. A Chicago man hit ome a pleasure instead of a tiresome, teeth-grinding exercise. He asked a butcher to direct him to the house where heerfully did so, and the man was soon thereafter installed in a boardinghouse where the delicacies of the table are good and plentiful. -It is claimed that the rain which falls in the interior of Queensland does not all run to waste but is stored beneath the surface and that the supply, if it can be utilized, is enough to last through a periodical drought. The local government proposes to devote a large sum to prospecting for water by artesian wells. The artesian well at Barcaldine, 700 feet deep, cost $6,000 and yields 175,-000 gallons of water daily. Another at Brackall, 1,663 feet deep with a six-inch casing, cost $27,000 and yields 300,000 gallons daily.

-- For a year a draughtsman named Hazen, aged forty-two, with his wife and six children, had lived in Paris in great difficulty. Finally they resolved more.—Harrisburg (Ark.) Letter. to commit suicide and take the children with them. They sent the latter out to buy charcoal, and with the windows losed Hazen lighted the stove and the whole family lay down on the floor to die, the mother clasping the youngest child in her arms. They were fountwo days afterward all dead but the mother. Upon her recovery she said that when asphyxiation began the eldest daughter began to cry, but lest she should excite the neighbors her father threw himself over her face, and they were found in that position.

-A year ago Mrs. C. B. Pomerov went from Newark to Canada to live with her second husband, leaving her six-yearold daughter in the custody of Mrs. Julia Williams, of 457 Broad street, who was to receive $3 a week for the child's board, says the New York Sun. On Saturday night a young man, who is the child's uncle, called on Mrs. Williams her mother at the latter's request. He paid the child's board from last May, but she was not given up to him, be cause there was an unpaid board bill of $20 which he knew nothing about, and which was contracted before Mrs. Pomerov left Newark. He appealed to lice Justice Van Ness, who sent for Mrs child, and the justice told her that, al would not uphold her in keeping the shild to offset a debt of the parents.

CHILDS' SNAKE FARM.

A Speculator Who Buys Rattlers by the Pound and Fattens Them. J. E. Childs has a monopoly of snake cultivation and the production of rattlesnake oil in Arkansas, in which State is robbed by two persons in the garb of located what is well known through They were subsequently appre- that country as the Childs' Snake Farm. is situated in the suburbs of this little -A bread-buttering machine for use village, in the northeastern part of the in penal institutions, operating a brush | State, where snakes, especially rattlers,

The writer met by accident Mr. Childs, who willingly gave his snakehunting experience in the swamps of live fish. She does not know when it passed down her throat, but supposes it are caught and handled is enough to did so with a drink of water.

—Mr. Wick, of Chelsea, England. is make cold chills run over persons whe are timid. Twenty-five cents to one dol -Mr. Wick, of Chelsea, England, is the father of a peculiar infant prodigy. the father of a peculiar infant prodigy. lar per pound for rattlesnakes, however His daughter Nelly, four years of age, recently shaved five men inside of thirty who live near a good market, to hunt clusive set that deigned to approach. the snake industry go together. One of Well, sir, I know one man that's been them carries a long forked pole, or cane, coming here steady for a month and he's living yet."—Philadelphia Titoes.

—"Tell your master that he has a mistake of twenty marks attention to count he sent me." "Impossible to the count this pole is used to hold the reptile to the ground, the count he sent me." "Impossible to the count he count h count he sent me." "Impossible" head. The other snake hunter carries "Why impossible? It is human to make a grong cord, which is looped over the "Yes, I know that, but my hear of the poisonous prey and is then uset for carrying the reptile to market (which, however, is done without injury to the snake). Other hunters use the pole in the way described, but instead of briging their captives to market by when the plant came up and proved to means of the string they use a box which has a gliding lid, and which can be operatel with ease and out of reach of the cooled-up rattler. When the snake catchers arrive at the residence of Mr. Childs, the latter, in a careless-ike manner, takes the matter in hand, and if a box of rattlers, for instance, is brought to him, he removes the lid of the box and takes the snake (wild from the woods) out just as one would reach in for and take hold of a rabbit. The rattler, as soon as the top of his cage is taken off, sets up a continuous ratle and hisses fearfully. Mr. Childs, hovever, pays no attention to this little racket, but simply takes the snake to his farm, weighs it, pays the catcher, and is then ready for a repetition of the act. A good big rattlesnake will weigh from six to ten pounds, and if fat will be worth nearly or quite as many dollars.

The size of the snake farm is about half an acre, with a tightly closed pen in its center, which is the abiding place of the snakes. Here the ugly reptiles In a few minutes this exhilaration subare kept and fattened, and when they sides and the mind becomes delightfully are ready to be nut under process for the production of oil, the reptiles' heads a string are tied, head upward, to the side of the pen where the sun is brightest. The heat of the sun, it appears, causes the oil of the snakes to drip out, and it is caught in a receptacle and laid asid aside to be subsequently sold at genuine producer of rattlesnake oil in he formed the friendship of rattlesnakes -a friendship which, he states, has grown, until now he will pick up a his captives. While the writer was viewing (with Mr. Childs was asked if a certain snake could swallow the young rabbit which to appreciate tender meat, and will was near it, whereupon the affable manager of the snake farm induced the snake to try the capacity of its throat, upon an ingenious plan to secure a which it did to the rabbit's misfortune, boarding-house where eating would be- the rattler putting itself on the outside of bunny with apparent ease Mr. Child's favorite time for capturing snakes is in the fall of the year. He sold the best meat. The butcher manages to find some small creek which flows out of the highlands. Here he watches for and follows up the first rattler that leaves the lowlands for winter quarters in the highlands. In this manner the den is easily found. A box trap fifty large snakes. A snake trap is about four feet square. In one end of the box is a hole large enough it admit one large rattlesnake. This opening is covered with a block hung on a leather hinge on the outside of the box. Then the box is buried at the mouth of the den, and in due time the snakes enter and are entrapped and ready to be handled for the production of oil.

The skin of a good-sized rattlesnake will bring in the market from $2 to 85owing, of course, to how well it has been preserved. A den contains all the way from ten to fifty rattlers, and often

An English Captain's Nerve.

Captain ----, of the Royal Artillery, was fishing on the Southwest Miramichi, above Bolestown. In an unlucky moment he was rather hastily and heedlessly swinging around his salmon rod proprietor had decamped in the night, preparatory to casting, his large hook caught in the thin part of an ear of T. P., who was one of the Captain's men, who, as ardent and a better fisherman than his master, was intently watching the motions of a large salmon which the Captain was endeavoring to secure. Seizing the lines with both hands, so as to save his ear as far as possible, T. P. slowly walked up to his master to be re-"Break it off, lieved from the hook. party. "No, no," replied the Captain, "I am going to do no such thing. Would down to his breakfast he never susyou have me destroy my best fly?" so quietly taking a sharp pen-knife out of his pocket and slitting the lobe of his servant's ear, he thus safely redeemed the favorite fly uninjured The story was related to me by the sufferer, who bore on his body confirmatory evidence of the truth of his statement.-Forest and was the duty of the proprietor-the gen Stream. -Worse and more of it.-Irate Politician-"Look here, you pr' tished a lie about me this morning-an infamous lie I won't stand it." Serene Editor the hotel to eat dainty viands that are -"But just think where you would be if we were to publish the truth about lightful ing Sun. you."-Terre Haute Express.

VICTIMS OF MORPHINE.

The Effects of the Drug Explained by a There entered an uptown drug store the other night a tall, slim young man, with clothing hanging in rags all over his body, who ambled up to the counter and asked in a low tone for some drug which was hastily put up by the drug-gist and eargerly snatched and paid for by the customer, who quickly with-drew. As the druggist returned to my side he said:

"There is one or those poor, unfor tunate young men who started in to play with morphine, to find in the end that morphine was playing with him. He has reached that condition now when to be without the drug means hours of the most intense agony. I have dealings with many morphine fiends, and knowing as I do the power of the drug when once it gets the upper hand, I pity the victim. Why do I sell the drug to the fiend? Well, I do not know, unless it is pity that prompts me. I have been in his condition myself, and I know what the intense longing for the drug is, and probably on that acccount more than any other I furnish it when others would probably refuse it. A man who is the victim of the fatal drug soon reaches a condition where he must have subterfuge to obtain it. I have had them come in here, with forged orphysicians, which they have written and signed themselves. "I have tried adulteration but it does o good. If the victim finds that the giving an adulterated article will not years, during which time I have come this class of peculiar beings. I have found that morphine eaters will lie, steal, break up families, their own as ently devoid of all the finer feelings of umanity and have lost all self-respect. "Morphine is a stimulant and narcotic. Taken in small doses it increases the fulness and frequency of the pulse, inthe sense, animates the spirits and gives greatly increased intellectual powers. Its operation, while extending to all parts of the system, acts principally on the brain forces, the functions of which it excites to intoxication and delirium. calm and placid and the individual becomes insensible to all painful impressions, and forgetting all care and annoyance submits himself to a current of undefined, unconnected, but pleasing fancies, and is conscious of no other feeling than a quiet and vague enjoyment. At the end of a short period all consciousness is lost in sleep. their morphine here and most of them scription from a reputable physician. this country. When quite young he Many physicians when they find that herded in Dakota, and here it was that the victim is past redemption give the the victim is past redemption give the prescription, knowing that the victim will procure the drug anyway. The talk of profit leading the druggist to rattler wild from his den with as little sell the drug without a prescription is fright as he gathers the innocent rabbits not true, for the profit in morphine is and toads which he constantly feeds to very small-too small to cause him to take chances-but pity for the victim will often lead a druggist to sell the a feeling of reluctance) the snakery, drug where money would not tempt him. "I had a family, regular customers for years, who were all addicted to the habit. They were very rich when they first commenced to buy morphine, but I believe they have lost most of their money by wild speculations, and others have taken advantage of their condition to get a goodly portion of it. The son, a fine-looking fellow, who was six feet high and weighed one hundred and eighty pounds before he became addicted to the drug, died a few weeks ago weighing less than one hundred pounds. The mother and father find all their comfort now in the morphine habit. I could cite many other cases. In fact, if you is then set in the den capable of holding sit here for an hour at a time you will see the victims come in one after the other, and all after the drug."-N. Y.

come supplied with the necessary pre

RUNNING A HOTEL.

How a Society Woman Was Forced Into a Working Position. There is a well-known society woman in Buffalo-one feels like apologizing for that term, but what else can one say of a woman who really is widely known as one of the most delightful women that has ever graced American society? -who has just taken the housekeeper' charge of a hotel. It happened in this way: One of the best-known hotels in this city belongs to the family estate and, although in the hands of a pro prietor, receives the general oversight of the owners. A few days ago word was sent up to the home of the family, early in the morning, that the and, worse yet, had carried all the provender with him. There were two hundred guests in the house who would have to be fed, and somebody would have to take the helm immediately. Now, this very charming woman had taken the helm of many enterprises before, but never one of just this magnitude. Down to the hotel she marched. however, went into consultation with the steward, gave him an order on the Captain; break it off," said one of the grocery stores for the necessary articles of food, and when the first guest came pected that it had been set before him through the efficiency of one of the ost prominent women in an acceptance of the hosciety. the household management of the hos telry. This woman had the leisure of the unmarried woman, and so she has gone on with the work. What before eral management of affairs—now falls upon her. While she does not expect to take up hotel-keeping as a profession she is still at it, and successfully at it and the Buffalonians are all fleeking to set forth with one of their most de-lightful women as caterer. -- N. Y. EvenSCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Prunes are a very profitable crop in California. One grower expects to get $11,000 for his crop.

—There are 150,000,000,000 feet of uncut lumber in the basin tributary to Gray's Harbor, Wash.

-The owner of a new tire, made of hollow spring steel, circular, oval, or square, thinks that it will succeed rubber tires for wagons or bicycles. It can be fixed on so that it can never come off. -Carleton College Observatory has issued a star catalogue giving the exact places of 644 "companion stars," as determined by original Observations. It represents two and a half years of work, and is a valuable contribution to astronomical science. -Two French biologists have concluded that microbes are not killed directly by the electric currents ordinarily used in medical work, but that the observed destruction of bacteria has been due to the disengagement of acids or of oxygen. -An enthusiastic entomologist is receiving daily from the local lineman the moths which find their way into the arc lamp globe in an adjacent street during the night. Birds are fearlessly building their nests in the hoods of the lamps, and we are told that an electric Then he will stoop to any crime or light superintendent in Nashville received a unique present from a colored workman in the form of a sack full of ders, apparently signed by reputable honey bees. The swarm was found in the hood of an electric lamp, where it had settled the day before. --Some months age Prof. Schiaparelli announced the astonishing conclusion morphine is adulterated he simply takes that the planet Mercury rotates on its more of it. They know just as well as we do the strength of the drug, and a it revolves around the sun, and the druggist who thinks to reclaim them by eminent Italian astronomer has now brought forward evidence tending to a similar conclusion with regard to Venus "My experience with morphine eaters If these views prove correct, both Mercury and Venus must turn one side constantly to the sun, just as our moon alin contact with almost every variety of ways turns the same side toward the earth. -Arkansaw Traveler. -A recent communication to the Academie de Medecine respecting Dr. well as any other, and do and cause all Mesnet's investigations as to stigmata, the mischief possible. They are appar- or clickes, as they are now often called, shows that if pressure on the skin of susceptible subjects is made in the form of letters, such letters are clearly distinguishable when nervous derangement causes the skin to change color. vigorates the muscular system, quickens In one experiment the words "La Naure" were traced out on a patient's neck, and the letters in a few minutes leveloped in color. It is observed that people susceptible to stigmata are hysterical or epileptic, and frequently experience local want of sensation .- English Mechanic. -Great Britain is the center of the small fruit industry of the world. Acdevoted to small fruit culture there, inincluding the cultivation between the trees in orchards, aggregate 48,612 acres. The annual value to the growers averages from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000. The industry has been a veritable boon to English agriculturists. Small fruit-growing is taking the place of unproncable root and grain crops. In the county of Kent alone there are about 50,-000 persons engaged as growers, pickers and packers in the production of jams, and over 150,000 tons of sugar is annually in the industry.-San Francisco Bulletin. -Wood brought to a mirror polish is coming into use for ornamental purposes in Germany, and has this advantage, that, unlike metal, it is not affected by moisture. The stuff is first treated with a bath of caustic alkali for two or three days, at a temperature between 164 degrees and 197 degrees F. Next comes a dip in hydrosulphate of calcium, for from twenty-four to thirtysix hours, after which a concentrated solution of sulphur is added. another soak in an acetate of lead solution, at 95 degrees to 130 degrees F., it is thoroughly dried and polished with lead, tin or zinc, as may be desired, when it resembles shining metal. -- Scientific American.

BOILING LAKES. One in California That Will Cook an Egg

About one hundred miles north of Oroville, at the foot of old Lassen, there is a boiling lake covering several acres. The depth of the lake is unknown, but its entire surface constantly boils like a huge kettle. The degree of heat we do not know, but we were there about ten years ago and remember distinctly that it would scald the skin from the fingers in a very few seconds.

Our party agreed that it would boil an egg in four minutes. The smell of sulphur pervaded the atmosphere about the lake, and around its borders something like sulphur could be scraped up in handfuls. This lake is near Hot Springs valley, at the base of Mount Lassen. Between it and the mountain there are perhaps one thousand boiling, bubbling hot springs, and in tramping about these springs the soles of a person's shoes beome uncomfortably warm. The North Feather river, at the base of Lassen, in its trickling snows and springs, and in a clear, cold and beautiful stream but a few feet wide, flows through this community of hot springs. Some of the springs bubble up boiling water within a span of the river. Standing in the midst of these springs a peculiar sensation is experienced. At a thousand places the earth emits a vapor of smoke, while under the surface there is a jarring, roaring noise as if hundreds of steam engines were in operation, and the ominous trembling of the earth produces a feeling of uncertainty.

A short distance south of the boiling lake and near Willow lake, which is beautiful, cold and clear, there are several geysers that shoot up streams of hot water from five to ten feet in diameter and eighteen to twenty feet high. That is a grand and rugged country about Mount Lassen, presenting every variety of natural beauty and affording unlimited field of study to the geologist. If it is desired to look into the crater of an extinct volcano a trip to the summit of Lassen will gratify the wish.

The high Sierras of Northern California are little known except to prospectors and trappers of a past age their wonders are yet to be described.— Red Bluff (Cal.) People's Canse.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year...... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inter-on. Special contracts for advertising longer

Correspondents must enclose full name and as a private guarantee of good faith. Rej d communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, AUG. 29, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON. LOUIS E. MCCOMAS, of Washington County.

REPUBLICAN from now until after time since the war of 1812, the campaign.

if he is not stready a subscriber, and sive, and the income of the governask him to look it over and note its ment must be reduced. But it was merits as a local family journal. The soon found to be a most expensive low rate of subscription puts it with- mode of reaching that end. in the reach of every one, and no one "The first and most important rewho wants to have the County news sult flowing from the new act was a should be without it.

-Hon, Louis E. McComas was yes- pay the balance which the reduced terday unanimously renominated for shipments of agricultural products Congress by the Republicans of the failed to meet. "In the autumn of sixth district of Maryland. As one 1857, half a year after the passage of of our Representatives in Congress the tariff act, a desestrous financial Mr. McComas has done good service, panic swept over the country, prosshowing marked ability in his general trating for the time all departments course and winning the confidence of business in about the same degree, and esteem of his constituency. -Bal. The agricultural, commercial, and timore Sun of Aug. 22nd.

saying that he would not.

cause he knows that he would be rope. licked.

A Farmer's View of it. To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN .

leaders evidently regard the farmers Moreover an exceptional condition here, according to the distance to the as a goodish sort of dunce who is not of affairs existed in the United States school house from the hote!. Alsufficiently informed to comprehend in consequence and almost immedithough we do not claim to have the the rain. his true interests—as one, in short, ate discovery of gold in California. largest number of students, merely, whose credulity may be played A new and extended field of trade of any school in the county, but we gressing nicely. upon, and who may be duped into was thus opened in which we had do claim to have as large a number. The Accident Literary Society the accepting of any sort of political the monopoly, and an enormous surclap trap provided the effort is per plus of money was speedily created school as the rest., but the people of evening Aug 29. Question for denate; sistent, and the methods adapted to from the products of the rich mines Grantsville are not in the habit of Resolved: That the Mental Capacities The D his, supposed, low standard of reas- on the Pacific Coast. At the same quoting Mr. Blaine as against the tion was materially hindered on a protective policy of the Republican large part of the continent. This party in Congress. Last week it at- disturbance had scarcely subsided tempted to defend the "befo-de-wah" when the leading nations of Europe, policy of the Democracy, and in sup- England, France and Russia, enport of its position quotes Blaine's gaged in the wasteful and expensive "Twenty years of Congress." By war of the Crimea. This struggle the unfair selection of a stray para- began in 1853, and ended in 1856, and graph here and there totally discon- during those years it increased connected with the context, a false ini- sumption and decreased production pression may readily be produced; abroad and totally closed the grainbut let us quote a few of the proceed- fields of Russia from any competiings and subsequent passages in Mr. tion with the United States." famous Compromise Act of March would in large part have saved it." 2d. 1833, in which it was provided After quoting a single paragraph that by a sliding scale, all duties in in Mr. Blaine's book the Democrat excess of twenty per cent, should be in a spirit of exultation exclaims: abolished within a period of ten "This prospering time covered a peryears.

which was really on abandonment of from 1837 to 1842.

"The long-continued depression

the country from a slough of despond tariff of 1846. The farmer pays more | Companies A and C and the drum tariff of 1828."

tation by the Democrat.

years, the Democratic Congress, in much on our ignorance as a class. the closing session of Pierce's administration, enacted what has since been known as the tariff of 1857, By this law the duties were placed Twenty-five cents pays for THE lower than they had been at any

"The one excuse given for the act of 1857 was that under the tariff of Show this paper to your neighbor, 1846 the revenue had become exceslarge increase in importations and a heavy drain in consequence upon the RENOMINATION OF MR. McComas, reserved specie of the country, to manufacturing interests were alike involved.

at a loss to know whom to pit against and wide-spread. The stagnation Deputy Postmaster Lininger is on arrival in Oakland, Mr. McComas. For weeks it has which ensued was discouraging and duty.

he would consent to run he replied Democratic tariff of 1846 Mr. Biaine further says: "White admitting the in in large numbers. Mr. McKaig has the prestige of general correctness of the free traders never having been beaten for any of- statements as to the prosperous confice for which he was a candidate. A dition of the country, they (the proman doesn't like to have a pleasant tectionists) call attention to the fact record like that spoiled by misad-that directly after the enactment of venture, Mr. McComas' friends act the tariff of 1846, the great famine cordingly intimate that Mr. McKaig occurred in Ireland, followed in the doesn't want to run for Congress be- ensuing years by short crops in Eu-

The Democrat has recently been the revolutions of 1848, and produc-

Blaine's book, and see what "Blaine, "The protectionists maintain that the historian," says in reference to from 1846 to 1857 the United States the period in question. I quote: would have enjoyed prosperity under "The quarrel rapidly culminated in any form of tariff, but that the mo-Mr. Calhoun's resignation of the ment the exceptional conditions in Vice Presidential term for which he Europe and America came to an end, of their respective sections. had been chosen. The result was a the country was plunged headlong reduction of duties, first by the Act into a disaster, from which the conof 1832 and secondly by Mr. Clay's servation force of a protective tariff

iod of twenty years, and what better "During the operation of this act, yindication need Democrats ask ?" Where does it get twenty years? Pa.

the protective principle, the financial Does it take in the period immedicrisis of 1837 came upon the country, ately following the panie of 1837 or and a period of distress ensued, al- does it mean to include the panic of most equal to that which preceded 1857? In either case it must embrace the enactment of the tariff of 1824. the four years covered by the Whig Many persons, still in active busi- tariff from 1842 to 1846, by the operaness, recall with something of horror tion of which Mr. Blaine says the the hardships and privations which country was raised from the slough were endured throughout the country of despond to happiness, cheerfulness, confidence.

There were the good times "befo produced the revolution against the de wah" in which the stationary old Democratic party which ended in fogie continues to live. But how was REPUBLICAN from now until after ville Circuit convened at Johns- it got well started. It seems to have Officer of Registrat the overthrow of Mr. Van Buren it with the common people-the la- tho campaign. and the election of General Harrison borer, the mechanic, the larger part of the population? The average "The Whig Congress which came price paid for a day's labor including & C. Felty's.

into power at the same time, pro- board was not over 50 cents a day ceeded to enact the law popularly while now it is double that sum known as the tariff of 1842, which while the things he needs to buy self. The Second Battallon Infantry, M. N. was strongly protective in its charac- to-day for about one half the price C., to Assemble at Oakland Seppaid in the ante bellum days.

of the value of protection. It raised of prosperity under the Democratic lon," to happiness, cheerfulness, confi- for his hired help now but as an off- corps will leave Cumberland on Fridegree of prosperity which they have ket. As a class we farmers are cer- m., and will be joined at Piedmont Mr. Blaine further says: "It was struction of our markets for wool, for shooting will be at ranges of 200, 300 Evening session.—Devotional Ex-

A FARMER.

Grantsville. [Too late for publication last week,] the ground for wheat. bought a horse of M. D. Yoder last log Oakland at 9:28, week for $175. Mr. Charles also bought a horse near Meyersale Pa. Monday ; One of Frank McKenzies horses died last week. Mrs. Keller, of Ohio, is writing her CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 8, 1890) son, Dentist Chas, Keler, and Orders No. 2: daughter Mrs. Dr. Getty, Sne is accompanied by her daughter Mrs. (Band and Drum Corps) is hereby Ludwig, of Ohio.

Joe Buckel, of Bittiger, was in town Saturday night. J. C. Getty and Geo. Slick took a trip to Meyersdale last | riday,

Henry Winterberg commenced to Cyrus Younkin paid Meyersdale a visit last Sunday. farewell sermon Sunday evening. Certain feminine "Normalities" are in the habit of visiting the post been presumed that Mayor McKaig, long continued, making the years | Cornelius Beachy and family, ac | Band will assemble at their Armory | has belief the party over many more of Cumberland, would be the Demo- from 1857 to 1860 extremely dull and companied by Mr. and Mrs. N. E. at an hour to be named in fu-tner or- serious ab-tacks in the past, have REPUBLICAN from now until after of Cumberland, would be the Demos iron 1857 to 1859 extremely accompanied by Mills, Pa., took a cratic nominee. Everybody conceded throughout the Union."

Yoder, of Summit Mills, Pa., took a Cumberland and Pennsylvania road, throughout the Union."

Cumberland and Pennsylvania road, arriving in Predmont at 8 a. in. to which for several days intraished pegs

Commercial travelers are coming

"Oh, for a land of peace," The storekeeper cries, "Where a person can live at ease,

Not worried by drummers and flies, C. S. Beachy bought a three year The Normal School here is delig well. We were in error concerning the number of attendants at the opening of our Normal as there were "The prosperity which came to twenty-five instead of seventeen stu-American agriculturists was there- dents the first day. We were unsurfore from causes beyond the sea and formed and did not commit this error not at home - causes which were intentionally. Board is to be had at The Democratic press and party transient, indeed almost accidental. from two to three dollars per week of prospective teachers attending our will hold its next meeting Friday the tariff bill become a law as soon as in the year 1800, from the hour of 8 o'cloc sending their children to school to of the sexes are Equal. time Europe was in convulsion from learn them to walk, hense our number is not so large.

home in the Backwoods settlement, advertise a "big time." Mrs. Reuben Folk, of Savage, Pa., Sunday night.

last Suturday to consider the build- pleasant day. route past Little Crossing. Those little girl is doing well.

Bowser Ridge

A white frost on Sunday morning We are pleased to see that we are getting a new school house. The wall is built, the timber is about all framell and ready to put together. J. Li. Kamp is the builder. Samuel Messer has sold his timber to some parties from Clearfield Co., J. E. Bowser is going with Wm. Daniels' threshing machine this sea-

Take one gallon of stewed pumpkins, one-half gallon of stewed rhubarb, two cups of sugar and flavor with allspice or cinnamon and it will be almost like apple sauce.

Harrison Brown has a corn stalk in his field that measures twelve leet and five inches in height.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE

If you want a stylish hat go to

SHOOTING AND INSTRUCTION.

On Friday and Saturday, Septem-"The friends of home industry In other words the purchasing ber 5 and 6, the Second Batialion Inhave always referred with satisfac- power of a day's labor is four times fantry, M. N. G., will assemble at tion to the effect of the tariff of 1842 as great to-day as it was in the Oakland for target shooting and inas an explicit and undeniable proof boasted period of the highest degree struction in the "School of the Battal-ent degree of prosperity by the de- marched to the shooting range. The with music. medals for second and third prizes. Ison. There will be a dress parade on Fig. day evening at Oakland and on Sat-

HEADQUARTERS SEC. BAT. INFANTRY, M. N. G.

Par. 1-The Second Battalion, ion, ordered to assemble in Orkland, on Friday, September 5, at 10 o'clock a. m., in full dress uniform, beavy marching order, for target practice instruction in the Sencot of the Battalion.

march to the Baltimore and Ohio ple for their assistance, The Rey. Mr, Welch preached his train for Oaklant, leaving Cumberland at 7:15 a. m.

Par. 111-Company B will assemble at its Armory in Ookand at 9 %, m., on September 5, and win receive THE Democrats in this district are "The distress for a time was severe office very frequently especially when the remainder of the Battahon on its The Republican Senators, governed

But when the Montgomery Democrats wrote to him to find out whether be would consent to run be replied.

In explanation of the prosperous among relatives and friends there, ing Piedmont at 8 a. m. to take Bultimore and Onio train leave, or the Democrats to imag hopes of a shortland. Type Writing and Talegraphy.

Two other meduls will be offered as second and thir i prozes.

ation will be furnished. Par. VII-Tue command will return by express train on Butimore and Onto, leaving Oakland at 9:28 p. m., September 6. By order of GEO. A. PEARRE, Lt. Cot. Commanding. ROBERT MACDONALD.

Captain and Adjulant. Accident. The weather is preasant again after

The Accident Normal is still pro-

On Saturday evening, Aug. 30, the Quite a number of our young folks A meeting of the citizens was held day. They were favored with a into two factions as they had expected

ing of a narrow gauge railroad from On Thursday morning Nellie May. W. Salisbury through this region up four year old adopted daughter of is worrying the Democrats no little. the Castleman river. J. E. Goagey, Joseph Groer, while playing in the The action of the Senators of that Sam'l Baker and S. J. Beachy were | yard fell from a bench, breaking her appointed a committee for the pro- shoulder bone just above the elbow, posed upper route along "Shade and at the same time dislocating the iff bili has aroused the ire of the busi-Run," and Jas. Gnagey, John Mel. elbow joint, Dr. Ravenscroft ren-

> Pa. They will be gone several weeks.

Hoyes.

Callis are on the tick list.

last Monday at the residence of the less the Senate Rules were changed.

needed in Garrett County.

land last week. Three cheers for will include one on reciprocity. Louis E. McComas.

brarian and Geo. E. Bishoff and Js- doing. The committee has adjourned cob S. Myers, secretaries. Commit- to September 1, and no one has the tee on program: Revs. D. H, slightest doubt that its report will Friend, Joseph De Witt and Geo. E. exonerate Gen. Raum. Bishoff. Address of welcome deliv- The Senate gave up Saturday to ered by Rev. H. E. Friend; reply by eulogies upon the late Senator Beck. C. W. Tnatcher. 1st subject, Object | Senators Blackburn, Ingalis, Allison of S. S. Convention, was opened by and Vest were the principal speak. Geo. E. Bishoff and further discussed ers.

Afternoon session .dence. It imparted to all sections a set has the advantage of a home mar- day morning, September 5, at 7:15 a. S. F. Cuppett. 2nd subject, Advan- and Representatives Cannon and Menot known since the repeal of the tainly under a great many obligation by company D and the band. On Sunday School upon Society," distions to our free trade Democratic arrival at Oakland they will be met cussed by Revs. D. H. Friend, Jos- resolution has been reported and Then follows the account of the brethren for their sympathies but we at the station by company B when eph DeWitt and C. W. Thatcher. adopted by the House, setting aside tariff of 1846 in which occurs the quo- beg of them to not destroy our prest the battalion will be formed and The whole service was interspersed Thursday and Saturday of this week

by Rev. B. Ison.

not surprising therefore that with a lumber, for coal, and consequently and 500 yards. A handsome gold ercises, conducted by T. B. Weish. The resolution which has already plethoric condition of the National for our agricultural products, and medat will be presented by Brigadier 34 subject, Past, Present and Future passed the Senate, anent the removal Treasury for two or three consecutive we beg of them not to presume so General Cliaton P. Payne to the best of the Sunday School," disca-sed by of the remains of Gen. Grant from marksman. There will be two other Rev. Joseph DeWitt and Rev. B. New York to Arlington Cemetery > ular desson prepared for Sund y of Pennsylvania, asked unanimous urday evening at Deer Park, im: Schools was taken up at 9 a. m., con- consent for its consideration Satur-Farmers are very basy preparing are deed from the target practice, ducted by the superintendent. Adpattalion will return on Saturday joining schools engaged in this ser- New York, objected. No or Geo. Charles, of Cumber | Tought, September 6, on the train leav vice and when the time amusically preaching, the house was full, and eventually. The following orders were issued many could not get in. The regular The anti-lottery feeling seems to be artist of the school, David O. DeWitt, growing among the people and in had the blackboard lesson well pre- Congress. Representative Hanspared. At 10 a. m., sermon by Rev. brough, of North Dakota, has intro-

> > Meeting, conducted by A. R. Fearer, ance of any lottery or company for Etta DeWitt and Rev. B. Ison. At the distribution of prizes by chance. this session the house would not hold !

Par. 11-Companies A, C and the Messrs, Lawton and Navior, of Oak- all meats intended for exportation work for the pipe fine crew last Drum Corps, will assemble at their Armory in Connectand at 6.30 a.m., week.

Drum Corps, will assemble at their Armory in Connectand at 6.30 a.m., the music. Many thanks to the peopression of the music. Many thanks to the peopression as it becomes

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent,) Par. IV-Company D and the by that good hard, horse sense, which ders to take a special train on the compromised the differences of optn the campaign.

P r. V -A bandsome gold medal An order of business has been agreed will be presented to the best marks-man by B ig. Gen. Clinton P. Payne. every Republican Senator, It pro-Par. VI—The men will carry one of bill, the anti-lottery bill and as Registration Notice. vides for the early passage of the tar emaining subsistence and transport and lands as possible; it also provides SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER and lands as possible; it also provide that the Federal Election bill shall be the first business of the next session of Congress. This action is highly gratifying to the Republicans, for even the staunchest advocates of the Federal Election bill admit that it would not be possible to pass that measure in time to have it go into effect at the coming Congressional elections; so nothing could possibly be gained by prolonging the present session in order to first Monday of October, that is to say, on the could possibly be gained by prolongpass it, while there is a very urgent necessity felt in all branches of bustness throughout the country, to have

The Democrats however are anything else out gratified, they had been confidently figuring on holding Friendsville Band will give an enter. the balance of power in deciding the John Warnick is very itt at his tainment in the school house. They fate of the tar.ff and Federal election bills in the Sanate, and, very naturally, they are very much disgruntled al out seven miles from here, died attended the M. E. Sanday School to see that the majority presents a Convention at John-town last Sun- solid front instead of being divided

There is another thing too, which party in needlessly delaying and obstructing the consideration of the tarlinger and Eli Stanton for the lower dered surgical aid. At present the such plain and unmistakable terms committees are to see to the interests Rev. Spangier and wife are visiting that Senator Gorman, the Democratic friends and relatives in Somerset Co., commander in-chief, has felt called upon to make a public statement to the effect that the Democrats were willing to join the Republicans in yoting for a resolution setting an Nearly the entire family of Wm. early day for the vote upon the tariff bill. A week ago the Democrats David S. Custer was married to were boasting that they would talk Minnie Friend by Rev. Benj. Ison on the tariff bill until December, un-> bride's latner, D. H. Friend, of Sang | The present outlook is that the tariff bill will pass the Senate about Jacob S. Myers has Clinton De- September 10, possibly several days Witt's barn about completed. Mr. earlier, and that Congress will ad-Myers is going to Allegany County, journ about the last week in Septemnext month to teach school. We ber. That is, of course, supposing are sorry to have him go; he is that the House will not make any extraordinary delay in acting upon Officer of Registration 4th Election District. Quite a number of our people were the conference report of the Senate at the R publican meeting at Oak- amendments to the tariff bill, which

The fifth annual Circuit Sunday against Commissioner of Pensions, School Convention of the Friends- Ruum practically fell through before town M. E. Caurch Saturday, Aug. been more an attempt to break down 23, at 10 a. m., with Rev. H. E the credit of Gen. Roum as a private Friend as its Pres; Rev. D. H. business man than to prove that he Officer of Registration 11th Election Friend, vice Pres; John Riey, ii. has been guilty of any official wrong officer of Registration 12th Election District

According to the promise recently made to the representatives of the Devotional exercises, conducted by labor organizations by Speaker Reed tages of Religious Training in the Kinley, the Republican members of for the consideration of bills from the will probably go through the House Sunday morning session.—The reg- this week. Representative O'Neill.

Benj. Ison, of Oakland, whose ad- duced a joint resolution providing dress was well suited for the occas- that neither the United States nor any State shall pass any law author-Afternoon ses-ion. - Children's izing the establishment or mainten-

Senator Rusk, who was largely instromental in getting the bill passed. E. N. Casteel and family, also thinks the bill for the inspection of a law, make large increase in the demand for American meat in foreign countries. He is also very much interested in the bill regulating the sale and manufacture of compound 1 and that taxing dealers in options, both of which are to be disposed of this week.

Twenty five cents pays for THE

SITTINGS, 1890,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the adersigned officers of Relgistration of Votes, and for their respective Election Districts (Garrest County, will sit in their respective

15th, 16th and 17th Days of SEPTEMBER.

6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER. , until 8 o'clock p. m. on each of said days the purpose of ascertaining and registerg in the proper registries of voters the peras qualified to vote in their respective Elecno Districts who shall present themselves registration, and for the further purpose revising and correcting the registries of ders of their said respective Election Disters, and the striking therefrom the names all voters entered therein who shall have ed or become for any reason disqualified, or no for any cause shall have ceased to be enled to remain on said registries of voters.

And on the Monday next successing the

nd on the Monday next succeeding and Monday in October, that is to say, 20TH DAY OF OCTOBER, said year 1800, from the hour of 8 o'clock a in Article 33, Sections I to 39 B, of the code of Public General Laws of Maryland, filte "Elec-tion," sub-title "Registration of Voters," as amended by chapter 573 of the acts of 1890. The places of sitting of each of said Officers of Registration in their respective Election Districts on the days named and hours stated is as follows, to-wit:

Election District No. 1, at Swanton. Bloomington, , at Accident, , at McHenry , at Oakland, September at Elkins, stober at Red House, 9, at Johnsons, 10, at Deer Park, 11, at Gregg's Mill, 12, at Biddinger, All naturalized citizens applying for regis

H. O. HAMILL. Officer of Registi ISAIAH FULLER, of Registration 3d Election District.

ation will be required to produce their ficutes of naturalization to the Officer

HENRY F. LININGER, Officer of Registration 5th Election District. N. C. BROWNING, r of Registration 6th Election District. The investigation of the charges Officer of Registration 7th Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District, SAMUEL JOHNSON, stration 9th Election District.

SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH, Officer of Registration 10th Election District

OUR AGENTS.

The following named gentlemen A Broken Axle Causes a Smash-Up are authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions to The Republi-

Accident-J. E. Gnagev Attamont-J. Z. Browning. Blaine-E. Kitzmiller. Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos, B. Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin. Eikins, W. Va.—John H. Riley. Elder—Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher. Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend, Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm. A. Smith. Huttons-Chas, F. White. Johnsons-Geo, W. Blocher Keyser, Md.—Solomon O. Beachy. McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C, J. Otto. selby sport-Jonas Frazee. Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George, Westernport-Geo, L. Michaels. Wilson's Mills-Geo. W. Wilson.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall lects in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ights a each month.

DDGE, No. 574. K. of H., meets it MEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. icets in same Hall 1st and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hali, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

visitors.

West Liberty Street is being graded.

fine dress shirts-cheap.

LOADED SHELLS-Just received at Offatts, full line of Loaded shells. Any size you want, 27 2:

tionery on Raigroad street.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign.

Work has been commenced on county, Mrs.Sinceli's new cottages on Liberty

For Rent. - The undersigned desires to rent his farm to a reliable person on shares. HENRY FEIG. 27 lui*

Nebraska this fall. Men wanted for the contracting of Cranesyille to the Skipnish R. R. Apply at once to. P. T. BOUCHER.

Glades Hotel, 27 3t Oakland, Md.

Samuel W. Smith residence in East Salie Matthews. storm of Thursday afternoon, eran church at Carmel will be laid munity. ies. The paster will be assisted by companied by her guest, Mrs. Joseph good will that prevailed at the largpublic cordially invited.

A. F. RICHARDSON.

Anction at Shartzer's Tuesday, September 2, 1890, afternoon and of Pittsburg, Pa., are visitors to rela- risk his prestige of victories in the night. 15 mer's suits; 13 boy's lives in town. men's shoes; 11 overcoats, light mont, spent last Sunday with her jockey, and kicks wickedly at his returned to his home in Oakland, weights. The above are fall and cousin, Miss Mary Carney, summer goods and will be sold with- Jim Facenbaker, of Buckhannon, he is already out of the race unless of Kingwood, drove over to Oakland lot of the prettiest fancy sateens ever to relatives in Garrett County. offered to the public at 12½c per yard. John Warnick, of Etk Garden, misuse, age is grown upon him, teeth Hon. Geo. L. Michael, Messrs. bleached muslins. 28 2t

We have now opened our fall bats, tips, fancy feathers and birds, and a full line of new millinery goods. Velvets, plushes.

Velvet ribbon. Satin faced yelvet ribbon. Satin edge velvet ribbon. A full line of new silk ribbons.

Rouchings, and a large variety of kid gloves.

M. L. SCOTT. 27 2 Baltimore store.

Oakland Tuesday afternoon last, of her sister, Mrs. Andrew Mulien. and ready to applaud his easy canter with the following officers: Presi- Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery to victory in November. dent, Mrs. Enos; Vice-President, and Mr. Joseph Dodge, of Davis, W. Mrs. Offutt, Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. Va., and Mr. David Dodge, of Oak-Kerns and Mrs. D. Tasker; Record- land, were entertained by Mr. and ing secretary, Mrs. Hagans; correst Mrs. Michael Montgomery last week. not to trespass upon my lands in mercial courses. Special attention sale ponding secretary, Miss Mattie Por- The famous case of Brydon, vs the Dist. No. 9 of Garrett County, either to collegiate requirements. Number ter; Treasurer, Mrs. Jones. A meet- B. & O. R., R. has been appealed f. om iug will be held next Tuesday at 2 the late decision of Judge Duffy, of in any manner entering upon the library. p. m., in Sturgiss' Hall, when Mr, the Superior court, of Baitimore, same. Any person found trespassing 27 4t. and Mrs. McBride, the sweet singers city, and will probably reach the Ocof Ocean Grove, will be present and tober term of the court of Appeals. render some of their sweetest songs. A final decision is not expected be-A cordist invitation is extended to fore next December or January.

FREIGHT CARS WRECKED.

Near Oakland. The third section of Fast Freight

Train No. 99, west-bound, containing 11 cars loaded with machinery from Waynesboro, Pa., for Mexico, was wrecked on Sunday afternoon at McGowan's Siding, a half mile east of Oakland. Two of the cars and the lover. machinery they contained were broken into fragments, and he in the ditch alongside the tracks. The distance, and west-bound trains were delayed four hours. The wreck was caused by a broken axle the result, as trainmen say, of overloading. W. H. Castle and John F. Dean, wreck and severely injured. Castle's sprained an ankle and was severely cut about his head and face, The injured men had their wounds dressed by Dr. McComas, the company's surgeon at this point, and were then sent to their homes in Keyser, W. Va.

the campaign.

Ciothing, Boots and Shoes. Sateens gait's speech, and get it off as an orworth 20e selling at 12½; black sat- iginal panegyric over the dead body eens worth 25c selling at 163c. Cheap-est stock of boots and shoes ever of-The ticket agents have returned Now for the exodus of summer fered. Come one and all. Make after a most delightful and pleasant

F. & C. Felty have a nice line of Aug. 30, and remain in session to they met. About 500 persons com-Sept. 7th. These meetings will be posed the crowd, 100 of whom were A Howell has closed his confee- very interesting, as distinguished the wives or immediate relatives of come to these meetings. Everything Mayors; smoked eights with Gover-

MARRIED.

neis-the cheapest in town. 28 3t Judge D. H. Friend, both of this Children, saw the impress of a J. H. Wagener and wife, of Key. Bioomington.

Accident, Md. Mr. Sauford Thompson, of Ryan's the happy couple, after the nuptial curses and oaths on account of his Glade, advertises his perconal prop ceremonis, are spending their honey sphinx like attitude and dements. We was in our city Monday and ceremonis, are spending their honey sphinx like attitude and dements. We was in our city Monday and ceremonis, are spending their honey sphinx like attitude and dements. erty for sale. Mr. T. will move to moon here, prior to their departure. The Republisans down this way for Davis, which place they expect to seem well pleased with the result of make their future home.

> count of the serious illness of her share of criticism, but we are happy mother.

The large oak tree in front of the schools of Allegany, are visiting Mrs. est work is expected this fall and visiting in Oakland for some time, lessons in penumanship at this place. Oakland, was blown down by the Misses Clara Docsworth and Mary committees, all over the County, to morning.

formerly of our town, are visiting tee, McComas' majority is going to The corner-stone of the new Luth- their young lady friends in this com surprise the most sanguine. The Aug. 31st with appropriate ceremon- Mrs. H. H. Kight, of Piedmont, te- the unanimity, harmony, peace and > tality of Mrs. E. Kemp on last Fri- of Republicans ever assembled in the home for a short time. He is ac- We trust the commissioners will look day and Saturday.

suits; 32 pairs ladies shoes; 21 pairs Miss Mary Reddington, of Pied-deniy grown vicious, objects to his

W. Va., son of Mr. Con Facenbaker, his managers get him in good train- on Thursday of last week. They visformerly a well known resident of ing before the fall meeting. Waish, ited at Mt. Lake and Deer Park on Garthright has just received a large Dist, No. 9, is on a few weeks' visit with a checkered career of victories Friday and returned to Kingwood

Best prints 16 yards for $1. Now is spent Saturday and Sunday the guest bad and his digestion poor, until the Wm. R. Michael, Benjamin F. Michael, Benjamin the time to get your money back, of his father and mother, Mr. and political oats thrown into his trough ael, Philip P. Michael, Wm. A. Mi-Good bargains in bleached and un- Mrs. Henry Warnick, of this district. by the "bosses" remain untouched, chael and Cleaver A. Michael, all

Irish Republican of Lonaconing, limbed McComas, bridled with the spent Sunday with the Dougherty grand principles of his party, saddled family at W. Va. Junction.

ish in the sun. is visiting ber daughter-in-law, Mrs. surrounded by a crowd of admiring, extent upon such trespassers. A W. C. T. U. was organized in Paillips, of Baltimore, who is a guest constituents, nobly served in the past 27 5*

The pic nic in Bryden's grove on 6c sugar.

chilly. Not even dancing to lively music would keep a fellow warm; but love was just as warm and as ardent as if the thermometer registered M 100 in the shade, and many a shawl not only shielded the fair form of its happy possessor, but also covered to

Saturday evening was decidedly

Mr. and Mrs. Tanzer, of Piedmont, accompanied by Mrs. August, drove to our town on Sunday last and were tracks were torn up for a considerable guests in the afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters, of Lochiel.

the truant arm of an affectionate

Quite a number of our young ladies and gentlemen attended the performance of Gilbert & Sutlivan's comic opera, Mikado, by amatuer talent in the Piedmont Opera house, on last Bru eton, W. Va., this week. two brakemen, were caught in the Friday and Saturday evenings, The left arm was broken and Dean play was admirably gotten up, wonderfully realistic and the receipts, the best thing of all, largely in excess of the expectations of the ananagers. Thomas Burtlett, started on No. 1. on Tuesday evening for St. Albans, on

The intellectual giant of the U.S. wenty-five cents pays for THE Senate, Mr. lugalis, has just gotten. The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the une Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-Senator Beck. We expect to see in Missouri, is visiting friends in Oaka few months, the Cumberland Times land, Garthright's stock of full and wool accuse McComas of plaguarism, as it goods is complete in all departments did two years ago, and then go with Flannels, Kerseys, Biankets, straight way to its sanctum, steal In-

West Va., where he has secured employment at his trade of plasterer.

money by saying money. 28 3t. time in the "wild and wooly" west, brother Will, at Rodamer's, over sequently we expect to report some The Canyocation of Christian They are enthusiastic over the gener- Sunday. Workers of all denominations will osity and hospitality extended to convene at Mt. Lake Park Saturday, them everywhere and by every body speakers will be present. The people the members, and traveled in all guest of his cousin, Miss Jennie of the neighborhood are urged to about 5000 miles. They dided with Johnson, nors; drank ginger soda as it butbled forth in all its natural purity on business. from the Idano springs; had a snow Custer-Friend. — August 25th, ball fight on Pike's Peak; entered the Thomas Russell, Superintendent of by Rey. B. Ison, Mr. David S. Cus- great treasures of nature, where gold the Newburg Orrel Coal and Coke Go to F. & C. Felty's for your flan, ter to Miss Minnie M., daughter of and sover are stored away in vauits Co., is in town. inches wide, in the Garden of the family last week. Gods; was wined and dined, feted Mr. John Ward, Conductor on the and flattered by the entire state of Dayis branch of the W. Va. R. R., Colorado, until the poor ticket agent left Oakland Saturday morning for was married to Miss Eda Fortney, of imagin d he had been transported to their home in Hagerstown. Davis, W. Va., on last Friday morn-fairy land, and forgot his humble cal- Miss Fannie Crim started to Bal-Westernport, Md. Mr. Ward's father answering questions for the inquisi- pects to spend the winter. and relatives live in this yicinity and tive traveler and receiving in return entting and hanling pulp wood from Charfield, Pa., on last Friday on ac- Central committee is receiving its to say that everything is favorable in Mrs. Desde Reed and daughter this direction and the general opin. Fiorence, of Camberland, the former ion is that we could not have made a well known teacher in the public a better selection. Good, hard, earn-Kate Casey, of Eik Garden, W. Va., co-operate with the central Commit-Democrats have already weakened at sixin district; McKaig, the Salvator | companied by J. A. Crouse. Mrs. Ottie Beil and three children, of Allegany Democracy unwilling to congressional race track, has sudgrooming, and it is safe to say that W. B. Parkhurst and Miss Jordan, and defeats has grown stockey from Saturday. with the noble record of a brave and

Notice. 28 3 CATHARINE D. MILLER.

Try Shartzer's 15c coffee and his

PERSONAL POINTERS.

About our People at Home and Abroad. Dayis arrived in the city Marvill, of Deer Park was in uesday. Garrett, of Deer Park, was in y Tuesday.

A. Wortman was in Cumbern Monday. lay on business.

y in Oakland Sunday. chard Sharpes is visiting at as, W. Bolden was in Longconinp Vednesday on business. s Lula Schiller, of Cumberland. is visiting Mrs. S. E. Bolden.

He will return to Uniontown land on Monday on professional bus. cover my forieit and let's get to business. Mrs. McKinney is lying ill at the home of her son-in-law, R v. C. E.

Dr. Henry W. McComas was in Baltimore on professional business having a son since our last writing, Arthur Theyer, of Grafton, is the

E. H. McMillen, of Accident, was tember.

Chicago gire's foot, 3 feet long and 14 ser, were visiting Mr. Wm. White's engage in business at Davis,

Hon. L. E. McComas and family

C. E. Getzendanner, of Louisville, nery.

Jos. Crim has gone on to Marthe two conventions held in your tinsburg and the Shanandoah Val-Mrs, Charles Brown was called to town last week. Of course, the new ley to visit his sister and brothers, Mrs. G. W. W. Amick, of Johns. quite a success, though lively enough town, Pa,, is visiting her mother for some.

and other relatives in and about Oak-with active and industrious district returned to her home Saturday He is a good penman and has an in-

Miss Lola Cross returned to her had been on a protrected visit to

Mrs. King Delawder. Rev. Finkbiner, of Cumberland. The Gibson, of Texas, enjoyed the hospi- est and most enthusiastic gathering & O. fireman on the second division, is

> Will Rayenscraft, who has been teller in the Fairmont bank for some time, has resigned his position and

Just think of it, only a few days his legs are covered with anti-ring good Republicans of District No. 4, more and the month with an "r" in bumps that no amount of doctoring were up to Oakland on business it will put the deficious bivalve.
known as the oyster, in the soup.
Michael Murphy, a prominent will be at Accident, the has already been in spected by the bosses, and he came up limpy and weak. While the clean up limpy and weak up limpy and weak. While the clean up limpy and weak up limpy and weak. While the clean up limpy and weak up limpy and weak up limpy and weak up limpy and weak. year than ne has had there at any Saturday, Sept. 13th. time previous.

Trespass Notice.

The weather of last week had the courageous Republican Congress, I hereby warn all persons not to majaria-chilly in the shade and fever- jockeyed with intelligence, good trespass upon my farm by hunting or judgment and skill, stands in the picking chestnuts or driving through Mrs. Peter Phillips, of Lonaconing, field waiting for the signal bell, my fields with horses or wagons, as accompanied by her daughter, Anna, chewing the bit of an easy conscience, the law will be enforced to the fullest HENRY FEIG.

> Massey Hall Preparatory School. Oakland, Md., 5th year. Advent In the matter of the Estate of Samuel Engle, deceased, vs. Ralph Engle, Executor. Term begins October 13, 1890. Reg. No. 229 Administration. In the Orphans Court for Garrett County. All persons are hereby notified to trespass upon my lands in Dist. No. 9 of Garrett County, either to collegiate requirements. Number to collegiate requirements. Number to same of the real estate of Samuel Engie, do caused, as made by Raiph Engie, Executor, by hunting, flashing, crossing over or ular or elective studies. Thorough by hunting, fishing, crossing over or of pupils strictly limited. Reference REV. J. NEWMAN, 27 41. Principal.

Don't forget Shartzer's auction next Tuesday.

Subscribe for the REPUBLICAN.

A Challenge

ELK GARDEN, W. VA., Aug. 26, To Capt. P. A. Chisholm, or any Member of the Haymaker Rifle Team :

In regard to the gold medal which was to have been contested for at Gorman, Md, on Saturday, Aug. 23. An examination of Applicants for the above named positions will be neld at the office of the Board of School Commissioners, myself. I went on the ground, as agreed, at 10 o'clock a. m., or a very few minutes after, and after waiting for one hour and a half for Capt, at 9 o'clock a. m. 2. Offutt was at Terra Alta Chisholm, who failed to appear, the medal was awarded to me, although Captain Chi-helm came afterward Ed. Kildow was visiting his and offered to shoot for the medal and alse remarked that he would shoot for money.

I do not want any medal without shooting for it. Therefore I make the following proposition:

1 will shoot with Captain Chisholm or any man in the Haymaker Rifle Team for one hundred dollars a in Shartzer was in Parkersburg side and the gold medal. The same hursday and Friday of last week. range and the same rules as were Malette was at home last laid down for the match at Gorman.

I have this day deposited fifty dotlars with A. C. Rawlings, Superintendent of the Elk Garden Coal Works, to prove that I mean busi-

If you Oakland shooters don't want Thos. J. Peddicord was in Cumber- the medal to stay in Eik Garden Respectfully. Intess. M. V. NETHKIN.

> Gorman. Some of our young people seem deeply impressed that married life James Kemphfer was visiting his would be much more congenial, conweddings next time. W. A. Barritt, Jr., can boast of

> He is making preparations to erect a large ware-house at Barritt. We learn that Miss Georgina Savage, dress maker of Elk Garden, will locate in our town the first of Ser. in Oakland Tuesday and Wednesday | Chas. Trotter, of the Signal Service, Washington, D. C., paid us a visit short time since.

> Dr. Bartlett was here last week col lecting taxes. Jas. Smith and son, two of our black-smiths, leave us this week to

S. C. Bakers little girl has been

nite ill with fever. The frost of the 24 inst, though | 1800, for the transaction of whatever public business as may be brought before them: seemingly severe, did but little damage so far as we can hear. Whitmer & Sen's saw mill, oper-here, has been moved above the tan-Sanford Thompson, of Ryan's Glades, will shortly move to Nebraska. He has a good farm here i and will wisely keep it to return to pay to officers and their heirs. If necessary. The pic nic here Saturday was not Sang Run. Prof. Chas. R. Thatcher, of mounds-Mrs. Mollie Getty, who has been ville, W. Va., is giving a series of teresting class. N. C. Browning is bridging Sang Run in front of A. R. Fearer & Co.'s store, A long needed improvement.

undersigned, either in person or by deputy will be in each of the Election Districts, in said County, to collect and receive taxes, at the time and places following: We hear it said that the river bridge and Sang Run's old bridges Bruce Hessen, who has been a B. need repairs badly and that they have become dangerous in the extreme to this matter ere damage is done and expense brought on the county. A. R. F.

List of Letters, List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Garrett county, Md., for week ending August 6, 1890:

Adkins, Mrs. Celia, Collins, Robt, Henry, Randolph, Miss M. J. Colt, Mr., Hartman, Mrs. S., Moore, John L., McTague, Mrs. Annie, Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised. F. A. THAYER, P. M. Dentistry.

Garthright is selling New York Creamery Butter at 25c per lb. Plenty on hand. Ice at 50c per 100 lbs at GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND ice house. He has just received a large lot of Riggs' Flannels to sell at 30e; Riggs' all wool shirts, $1.00; all wool bla kets, 75c. 27 2t.

ORDER NISI.

The report shows the amount of sale to be

J. W. WHITE, Register of Wills, True Copy-Test: J. W. WHITE, Register.

VACANT SCHOLARSHIPS.

Garrett County is entitled to a free scholar ship in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., free for board and tuition. Applicants should be qualified to enter the Freshmen class. Also by Act of the Legisla-ture of 1820, Gurrett County is entitled to one free scholarship in Mavyland Institute.

On Wednesday, the 27th Day of August, 1890.

larships in Maryland State Normal ol. For further information address etary of School Board. WM. HINEBAUGH,

Secretary. Estate of David Michael, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the sub scriber, of Garrett county, hath ob:ained om the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, Maryland, Letters Testimentary on DAVID MICHAEL, n under my hand this 25th day of Au 1890. WILLIAM R. MICHAEL, 11 Executor, Westernport, Md.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

bout one-half mile above the village o , in Garrett County, known and desig

MILITARY LOT NO. 259,

ntaining fifty acres of land more or less, an actual entry upon the premises on the heav of April, 1889; said indicial being No. to May Torm, 1890, in the Circuit Court for erreit County. And I hereby give notice.

WEDNESDAY, the 24th Day of SEPTEMBER, 1890, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day a' in front of the Taggart Hotel, in the town on Oakland, I will offer the atoresaid described for of land at public auction to the highest bidder for each on the day of sale, to satisfy the aforesaid execution and costs.

E. N. CASTEEL,

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING. OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,
OANLAND, MD., August 25th, 1800.

A regular meeting of the County Commis-ioners of Garrett County will be held at their affice in the Court House, Oakand, Md., on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8th, ing at residence of Father Wider, ling of standing at the ticket window timore last Monday where she ex. ated by H. C. Savage, just north of Ward's father answering questions for the inquisi- pects to spend the winter.

ers and Sailors who are inca-a manual labor, lows and minor children under pay for use of private horses in the service of the United States, Pensions increased, &c. File your claims at once. Delays are dan-

GEO. W. F. VERNON, 108 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Md. I will represent Col. Vernon, Past Dep't, Commander, G. A. R., the senior member of the firm, at Oakland,

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

214 PERCY H. VEITCH, Office at Court House, Oakland, Md.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That the No. 9-Johnson's, Aug. 18, No. 11-Greeg's Mill, Aug. 19,

, 3—Grantsville, Aug. 20, 12—Bittinger, Aug. 21, Aug, 25, 6—Johnstown, Aug. 26, forenoon, Me-y, Aug. 26, afternoon, 1. Biography on Aug. 19.

-Bioomington, Aug. 19, -Swanton, Aug. 20, Deer Park, Aug. 21, -Gorman, Aug. 22, Office in Oakland will be closed August 199

N. B.—By an Act of the General Assembly Maryland, passed at the January session, 99, being thap, 598, it is provided that all many taxes shall be due and payable on the

FERNLEIGH MANOR IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS,

URIAH M. STANTON,

Treasurer.

Splendid Accommodations. IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD. Scenery Unsurpassed.

JOHN B. DEAKINS,

Proprietor. SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF

LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. Orders for Lumber and anything in my lines solicited and promptly filled,

ForMalaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

25 1 yr

WM. A. LORAW.

Ambition, like a cankering worm, Eats out the joy of life; In sweet contentment let me live, I do not envy such, I only ask a little wealth,

Two millions is not much.

Enough to buy a house in town; Another by the sea,
With a good steam yacht of my own,
Is quite enough for me;
I don't object to heavy work,

I'm glad to toll and strife, And cut coupons from Government bonds From eight o'clock till five. The yulgar, loud huzzas of fame Are empty noise to me— But I would write a few good books

To cheer posterity.
I'd like to be a Nation's bard, like to be a Nation's songs, And sing a Nation's songs, A if the throngs should shout my name And, if the throngs should sh I can't control the throngs. I want but little here below-

I'd like to be the mayor, And go to Congress after that, Before my hair is grayer. Then if you want a President,
And turn your eyes to me,
I would not cheat your longing gaze, A President I'd be.

And if you build a monument Above my lowly tomb
I think I'd rest in calm content,
And ask no further room.
A humble man I'd live and die, Retired, glad, content, If you'd agree to take my son

MY LUCKY PURCHASE.

And make him President. S. W. Foss, in Yankee Blade.

A Little Midnight Adventure in Canada.

sixth day of Sepember, 1876, I and occasion to visit the town of Barrie, a very pretty little situated on Kempenfeldt bay, Ontario, north of Toronto. Strolling along the main street, I happened to notice that I had no pocketknife with me, and so, on the impulse of the moment, I stepped into a shop and bought one. Why, I hardly knew, as I had half-a-dozen at home, and had no idea that I should want one before my return. The one I now purchased was an ordinary, ivory-handled, three-bladed knife, the largest blade being three inches long. That same knife, after a lanse of more than thirteen years, is in my pocket while I write. I have never once lost it during all that I arrived in Barrie on the five p. m. train, and, after taking tea at a very good hotel, walked out about half a mile from town to call upon a cousin whom I had not seen for a great many years.

This cousin (now dead) was a wealthy lumberer, or rather square-timber man-ufacturer and dealer. He had, and was well_known to have, the habit, very unusual in a business man, of always carrying in his pocket a "wad" of five or six hundred dollars in bank bills; and, although often reasoned with on the subject, nothing could induce him to abandon this curious custom. If the amount of his "wad" ever got below five bundred dollars, he would immediately replenish it. He said he always felt better with money in his pocket. Most anybody would. I spent a very pleasant evening with him, talking over old times, etc., and did not get away until midnight. Now this gentleman's house was on the crest of a hill, with garden and orchard extending down the slope toward the town. Just at the corner of the orchard there was a hollow or depression in the ground, and, while the sidewalks on either side of the road were built on the original surface, the causeway or road itself had been raised to the extent of five feet or so.

As, quietly smoking a cigar, I slowly walked along on one of these sidewalks, some one, apparently half drunk, sitting in the deep shade of a large tree on the other side of the road hailed me in a gruff, unsteady voice:

"S-s-say, mate, will you give a felfel-low a match? Thinking this was probably some intoxicated laborer, who was really suf-fering for a smoke, I replied:

"Yes, come across and I'll give you "No. mate, I can-can-can't git up. You fetch it to me; that's a goo-googood man. To this cool request I answered rather sharply: "If you want a light, come and get it, or go without." Seeing that "Mohammed must co to the mountain," the fellow did get

"I SAY, MATE, GIVE ME A LIGHT." in and came toward me. So soon as he rained the elevated causeway, and was all that bulk of flesh shoots out of thus between me and the star-lit sky, water and then falls with a ponderous I saw that he was a big, burly English crash, dashing the boiling waves pavvy, and not at all drunk. Still, I asunder. Still the agile foes are there. suspected nothing of evil intent; and They leap over his head, high in the was only an unaccountable impulse air, and dive under him. They rush at which led me to take out my knife and bim, here, there, and everywhere. He hold it open in my right hand. When opens his huge mouth to engulf them. the man came down the slope on my They only mock at the danger, and side of the road, and was within three soon, wounded in a hundred places, feet of me. I held out some matches in weakened and powerless, the whale ny left hand, and said: "Here's a succumbs .- John R. Coryell, in St match if you want one."

Even as I spoke, a medium-sized white bull-dog, hitherto unseen, crept noiselessly from behind the fellow, and sprang straight at my throat. In an instant I saw the whole murderous scheme, and realized my own imminent danger. If the four-legged brute, of a breed which never lets go with life, should fasten upon me, the two-legged one could then pound me into the earth, and rob or murder me at his leisure. He had doubtless mistaken me for my cousin, of whose strange habit as to carrying money about with him he had probably heard. However, thanks to a life-long familiarity with dangers of evey kind, I did not feel at all afraid or "rattled," although the thought did cross my mind that it would be a pity if this brute should succeed in trampling out my life, after I had safely passed through so many risky adventures. I met the first spring of the dog by driving the knife into his left cheek and throwing him off; but he came at me again like lightning. and was again foiled in the same way. His third spring was so exceedingly swift that I nearly missed him, the knife-blade merely slitting one of his ears, and he succeeded in getting a hold on my right sleeve, and slightly wounding my arm. Fortunately the loose cloth gave way as I threw him off once more, with a motion so violent that he rolled over and over on touching the ground. But he was evidently pure-bred animal, and "game" to the ackbone. Once again he dashed at ne, always aiming for my face; and this time the knife entered his open outh, and the back of my hand, com ing into contact with his upper tusks, received two deep cuts. This last brust was so severe that he could not close his jaws on my hand, and he dropped off, uttering, for the first time, a low whine of pain.

Since the beginning of the fight, and up to this moment, not a sound had been uttered by the dog, the owner or myself. If the situation had not been so serious, it would have been really comical. The brawny rufflan stood in grim silence, watching the efforts of his less ignoble companion, while I as silently repelled his attacks. I was too busy to speak or call out, and at that hour no one could have heard me had I done so. This man evidently saw the flashing of the bright knife-blade in the dim light, and was afraid to close in or me; but now, seeing his dog wince, he seemed to be moved by pity for the brute, and, stooping down, took him in his arms. Then I said: "Get out of this, you scoundrel, or I will kill you both!" Still the fellow did not sp but turned around and sneaked off, and I saw no more of him that night.

ONCE AGAIN HE DASHED AT ME.

On my way to town, I called at the police station and gave the alarm, al-though I could really swear to nothing against the man, except an assault by his dog. However, on hearing my description, the chief constable said at once that this was a fellow who "was wanted" for several lately committed robberies. He was apprehended next day in an adjacent village, and the constable's surmise proved correct. When the precious pair were brought in, I went to the lock-up to see them: especially the dog, which I found to be a very fine bull-terrier, worthy of a better master. His head was pretty badly cut up by my knife, but he knew and would have attacked me again at sight, if he had not been restrained. I learned afterward that the man was convicted of numerous crimes and sent on a seven-year sentence to the penitentiary. My few wounds had been properly cauterized immediately after the fracas, and I never experienced any ill effect from them .- W. Thomson, in N. Y. Ledger.

WOLVES OF THE SEA.

How the Orca or Grampus Torments and Pursues Its Prey. As if not satisfied with the harm it can do alone, the orca secures the aid of two or three of its fellows, and then the little pack of mensters starts on an expedition. Every thing is game to them. If a school of dolphins come in ight, away go the fierce sea-wolves in ot chase. The frightened dolphins dash madly through the waves, urged to their swiftest speed by terror; but grimly the ravenous pursuers close upon the flying quarry.

as it is-the largest of created beings-it has no terrors for the bloodthirsty pack. They dart about the giant with lightning velocity; now in front, now anderneath, now on the sides; until the bewildered monster, with a lash of his ponderous tail, turns his mighty head downward and seeks the ocean's bed. Vain effort! His termenters follow him apparently with ferocious glee. Up, up again, rage and agony lending added strength, till the surface is reached and Nicholas.

ABOUT CORK TRY

Precious Forests Which Material for Stopper

How a Crop of Cork Is Grown vested - Preparing the Corte Market-Difficulties in th

Manufacture W. Many as are the kinds and for mechanical purposes. one, says the St. Louis Glo D. and it not properly a wood, ues which can be employed for J. of stopping bottles. Its for this purpose dates only familit three hundred years, for beat time wine and other liquors v in easks or jars, from which larg tities were drawn at a time. the invention of glass bottles it the fashion to employ them for of the vinters, and as the p were small the whole tents of a bottle might be consum sitting, and thus the small flas great convenience. At first the were stopped with tow dipped sk then with pieces of wood, anpar with the bark of the cork trees spite of numberless invention vices to supercede it this substant retained its popularity.

The cork tree is a sort of oals growing 20 to 35 feet in height, and with a beauful evergreen foliage. It grows most luxuriantly, and produces the best bark in Portugal, the mountairs of Spain and France, the higher districts of Lombardy, the mountain plateaus of Algeria and the north of Africa, and throughout extensive tricts of Asia Minor and parts of Turkey. It has been introduced into India with success, and is also grown in Ceylon, Siam and some of the Pacific islands. The disposition of the British Government to introduce into the colonies whatever plants may prove of advantage has led to the planting of cork trees on the high lands of South Africa and in Australia, while American enterprise has induced the experiment of its growth in several of the Southern States and in California. Still, however, the tree flourishes best in Spain, Portugal and France, which may be considered its proper home, and from these districts the best qualities of ork are obtained. The cork tree will grow anywhere rom 500 to 3,500 feet above the level of the sea, and requires a moderately dry climate for its best development; not oo dry, for then the growth of the tree s stunted, nor yet too moist, otherwise the foliage will be extremely luxuriant and the bark deficient. These conditions being best met in the countries already alluded to, the result is that is estimated at from $12,000,000 to $14,*

France, Spain and Portugal have almost a monopoly of the cork business. The shavings of cork and the saw-dust from cork tree is not a rank grower, and pro- the material mixed with oil form a comduces edible acorns which in taste resemble chestnuts, and are frequently eaten by the population of the cork districts, but are more useful as food for swine, the peculiar taste imparted to the flesh rendering the pork and bacon of Southern France and Northern Spain a Southern France and Northern Spain a The value of cork was as well known in a wonderful manner. This mime choice dainty in the country markets. The tree may begin bearing at any time between fifteen and twenty-five years; but the first crop is worthless for ommercial purposes, being coarse, knotty and sometimes full of seams and cracks. It is known as "virgin cork," and is extensively employed for roofing, fencing, and the like. The second cro is much better than the first, but is still unavailable for sale, except for the purpose of making the Spanish-black, which is merely the charcoal of cork.

The third and succeeding crops are the true cork of commerce, and the tree will bear ten or twelve consecutive crops. Not, however, in consecutive years, for the bark is of slow growth. and eight to ten years must clapse be fore the second crop can be gathered from the same tree. When the cork-cutter deems that the tree is ready to be shorn of its bark an incision is made round the trunk near the ground and another just beneath the lowest branch Vertical incisions are then made through the bark, care being taken not to cut into the tender, living bark beneath the cork, otherwise the tree would be killed. A peculiar knife, having two handles, or an axe made for the purpose is then employed to remove the slabs of bark from the tree, and if taken off with proper care the plant is not harmed by Perhaps a great Greenland whale may the operation; on the contrary, the recross the path of the marauders. Huge moval is beneficial, for the cork is really a dead bark, and sometimes the cork-cutters prefer, after making the incisions in the tree, to allow the cork slabs to separate themselves, which they do in a few months. After the slabs have been taken from the tree they are naturally concavo-convex, following the shape of the trunk. They are laid in a ditch, or trench of water, and heavy stones placed upon them to make them flat. After the warp has been taken out they are dried in the sun and charred in fire to render the substance or the cork more compact and to conceal superficial defects, and it clever at this, as manufacturers sometimes find to their cost, for cracks and holes in the slabs are filled up with adhesive earth, and thus a beautifully smooth and even piece will sometimes be found commercially worthless. After tharring and again pressing the cork in packed into bales, and is ready eit for manufacture or for export.

Until comparatively recent years, ail These Are Your Friends, Farmers, and orks were made by hand. The corkentter used a knife some six inches long and nearly four in breadth, of the finest steel, very thin and capable of being brought to a razor edge. Holding the piece of cork in his left hand and the ceptions, plant feeders, and so while knife in his right, with a couple of sem!-circular cuts he produced the finished

FACING THE CORK SLABS. sorks, their longth and diameter depending upon the thickness of the slab. The means to breed perhaps hundreds of cork is never cut from the tree until it tiny friends, that will destroy a host of and corks cut from the slab vary we often see the green cabbage butterin length from that to two inches. fly discolored. Instead of the usual inventors in perfecting machinery for and should not be killed. By preservous and little anticipated obstacle-the sites. These will become valuable impossibility of keeping the knives friends. sharp. It is a singular fact that cork, although so porous and yielding a substance, dulls a knife to an incredible ex- and strong, and possess a very powerful tent, so that hand-cutters are accustomed to sharpen their knives after every stroke; tools for cutting metals do not require a tithe of the attention that must be given to the knife used in cork cutting. But with patience and experience the difficulty has been overcome; a method has been devised to sharpen the knives of the machine after every out, and corks are now more extensive ly cut by machinery than by hand.

by no means an easy matter; but ten dark-occasionally yellow-with a long, years ago the importations into Great tapering abdomen. The other (figure Britain from Portugal, Algeria, Spain and France were 7,000 tons of the partially prepared material, valued at the bumble bees. The robber flies pos-$1,000,000, and there were besides 5,638,. sess a courage worthy of their name nually imported into the United States, beetle. Indeed, they do not fear to Pare and quarter the ripe peaches, cover and, as other countries use the substance in proportion, the total product

Cork has many qualities which adapt It to other uses than that of stopping bottles. It is extremely porous, but the pores do not open into one another, and so it is almost impervious to water; while it is elastic in the extreme, and so buoyant that "as light as a cork" has sheen a proverb ever since the article was known. Its many good qualities of stoppers. Cork soles for shoes are ing on the honey bee that has just re impervious to water, and the thick soles turned from the field laden with honey. made of this material. Improvements believe that even in the South their in the machinery for cutting it have enabled slices the 124th part of an inch thick to be cut from the block, and Syrphide, or Syrphus Flies.—The Syrphus flies (Fig. 3) are beautiful, these thin veneerings have been used to often yellow banded flies, that fly and many other articles, while the main poised in the air as tf held by ponent part of several floor coverings. As floats for nets, cork has long been used. While in a dry and powdered condition, it makes the best possible stuffing for mattresses, and these on board about flowers in company with bees to the ancients as to ourselves. Pliny icry, no doubt, often preserves them. speaks of "cork jackets," by which, as It deceives the bird that would swalhe states, those inexperienced in swim- low the fly, except that the fear of matter when feeding on beets than on ming could float on the water as readily a sting restrains it. These flies lay as the most clever expert, while its use their scores of eggs in the midst of corn silage in 1889 and 1890) and in each

A CORK TREE WITH THE PARK ON. more common in ancient times than today, for the lightness of the material enabled it to be worn beneath the feet with little trouble, and a diminutive Roman belle had but to put an inch of cork beneath her sandals to increase her apparent height. In countries where the cork tree is indigenous, the slabs of bark are used in many ways which seem extremely novel to us who are accustomed to regard it as a scarce and high-priced product. In Spain bee-hives are made of it, while Pyrenees, employs it to make cups, buckets and even plates. In Lombardy is used in the ornamental parts of bark thin, can employ it to shingle their and to conceal superficial defects, and it houses; while in other forms it is used must be confessed the cork-growers are in the manufacture of saddles, of boats and in a variety of other ways.

> Not a Serious Objection. "You are welcome to these eggs, Uncle Ben, but I am afraid some of them are bad.'

"Oh, dat don't make no differ'nce, boss, I ain't gwine to eat 'em; dey's fer Cook, in Rural New Yorket. settin'."-Life

BENEFICIAL INSECTS.

You Should Know Them. Moths, Butterflies and Caterpillars .-The beautiful insects with scale-bearing wings, which we call moths and butterflies are, with but very few exthey may not be injurious unless the plants which they despoil are valuable, they are not beneficial. No one need fear, then, that in killing a moth or butterfly or a caterpillar-the larva that will produce either a moth or a butterfly-he is destroying a friend. There is just one exception to this. In case a caterpillar or chrysalis-the pupa of a moth or butterfly-appears dark and discolored, it should be protected. rot destroyed. In this case the insect is being destroyed by parasites, the Ichneumon flies or Chalcher in a previous article. . . To is at least three-quarters of an inch thick, these same enemies in the future. Thus keeping. Great difficulty was experienced by the green color, it is dark. It is parasitised, tity of cracker crumbs; to one pint of the manufacture of corks, from a curi- ing it, we often rear hundreds of para- egg, a little cayenne, a little grated nutsucking beak. There are two types, To ascertain the total yield of cork is One of these ("gure 1) is usually gray or serve, either hot or cold, with sweetened 2) is robust and usually covered with vellow hairs, so that it much resembles 000 pounds of the manufactured product.

Asildae or Robber Flies.—These flies as their name indicates, are fieres

Nearly $1,000,000 worth of cork is and overcome the fierce strong tiger of salt and sufficient water to mix it.

grasp and suck the juices from the have therefore commended it in the honey bee. In the South, both types manufacture of other articles than that are often discovered capturing and dinof Chinese shoes have for ages been | Thus they often do no small harm; yet I

Syrphidae, or Syrphus Flies,-The advantage in the manufacture of hats with exceeding rapidity, and often resome invisible hand; but upon the least disturbance thev dart off like a flash of light to some other position. F16. 4. They are found The value of cork was as well known in a wonderful manner. This mim- milk. in color from drab to brown. It is often seen extending its pointed mouth end about for lice, and when one of them is secured, it is raised up and sucked bloodless to be cast away, when another marvelous. To see them devour the Yet they grow and thrive, and soon the round of useful service is repeated. These Syrphus fly maggots are one of the many important agents in keeping in check the devastating lice, which multiply with such frightful rapidity. The Tachina Flies. - These flies (Fig. 5) are closely related to and much resemble in form, size and color the common house fly. Their habits. however, are very different. They are true para sites. They fasten their eggs on caterpillars often in considerable numbers. Thus we frequently find the army-worm. cut-worms and silk moths bearing about many of their eggs. The maggots which hatch from these eggs eat into their host and destroy it. The present season the cut-worms have been very serious pests the French forester, just north of the in various parts of the country. Indigging them out of the ground, to convey them to my breeding cases, I find that buildings, and even of churches, while the Turks and Algerians, by slicing the The latter pupate in a seed-like cocoon, they are being destroyed in consideraand in digging for cut-worms I have found many of these pupariums, as they are called. These indicate that many of the destructive cut-worms have gone to feed these very serviceable parasitic flies. While these Tachina flies are not 30 common and important as the Hymenopterous or four-winged parasites,

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Corn beef, pressed beef and ham should be eaten cold, and should be dressed with hard boiled eggs, parsley or water-cress. After buttering the tin for a boiled pudding, dust it with pounded bread crumbs; baking pans can be treated with flour in the same way and the cake will

-Custard Pie Without Milk: Wet a heaping tablespoonful of corn starch with cold water, add boiling water till it is as thick as thin cream, beat two eggs. add three tablespoonfuls of sugar, put in the cooked starch, beat well, flavor to taste, and bake as usual.-Boston Bud-

-Oatmeal Cookies: Three quarts flour; two pounds steel-ground oatmeal; four coffee cups sugar; one and three-quarter cups lard; two ounces ginger; one ounce soda dissolved in boiling water; molasses to make a stiff dough. This makes a very large quantity and will keep any length of time. - Housekeeper.

-Boiled Rice: This is a dish very few people understand cooking, but one that is used extensively in the South, and there considered indispensible as a breakfast dish. Wash the rice thoroughly three times, add a the salt, and to one cupful of rice, all simmer slowly, until po when each grain will stand a. ; never stir, or use cold water.-Good House

-Veal Flukes: Chop some cooked veal very fine; to it add half the quanthe meat and cracker crumbs add one meg, one saltspoonful salt, one desertspoonful lemon juice; mix well; take about a tablespoonful and form into long, narrow rolls; roll in beaten egg and cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat: serve on a red napkin; garnish with parsley and sliced lemon.-Old Homestead.

-Blackberry Empress: Two cupfuls milk, one egg, half a cupful of butter, a spoonful of baking-powder, and flour to make a thin batter. Place a layer in a pudding-dish; cover with a quart of blackberries well covered with sugar and a few dabs of butter. Cover with the remaining batter. Bake one hour; cream. This is delicious, and other fruit may be used, if desirable, -Ladies' Home Journal.

-Log-Cabin Peach Cobbler: Make one quart and a half of flour into a smooth paste by working into it three-fourths the bottom of a baking-dish with dough, spread over this a layer of peaches and bits of butter, season with grated nuteach layer two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Cut narrow strips of dough, slightly twist them, and cross until you have another layer; over this place more fruit, and have the top layer of the log-cabin strips; then bake. -Indianapolis Sentinel.

BEETS AS FOOD

For Milch Cows-Interesting Experiments Made at the Ohio Agricultural Experi-ment Station - A Comparison of the Efficiency of Commercial and Green Manures on Wheat.

A bulletin of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, now in press, gives the results of an experiment in feeding sugar beets to milch cows, made during the past winter, together with a summary of two similar experiments, one made by the station in 1889 and one by the farm department of the Ohio State University in 1879. In the last named experiment eight cows were kept under test for eleven weeks; in 1889, twelve cows for eight weeks, and in 1890, twelve cows for nine weeks, the cows in each case being weighed daily, as well as their feed and

In each of the three experiments the cows ate more hav and more total dry other foods (hay, meal and bran in 1879, for the soles of shoes or of sandals was plant lice. From these eggs hatch a case more milk was given from the beets conical maggot (Fig. 4), which varies | than from the other foods, but it is not yet demonstrated that the increase of milk was produced economically.

> For twelve years records have been kept on the farm now occupied by the station, which shows that the average is quickly grasped and destroyed. The yield of beets over this period has been capacity of these maggots for lice is nearly sixteen tons per acre, against an annual yield of about fifty-five bushels liquid contents of louse after louse, one would suppose that they would burst. But a crop of fifty-five bushels of > shelled corn, with its fodder, will conmature, when more eggs are laid, and | tain nearly twice as much dry matter as sixteen tons of beets, and these experiments indicate that, whether fed dry, as corn meal and dry fodder, or as corn ensilage, the dry matter of the corn crop will be found about as effective, pound for pound, as the dry matter of the beet crop It is possible to raise much more than sixteen tons of beets to the acre. One erop of two acres is reported at 371/4 tons per acre, and smaller areas have given still larger yields, but such crops require very rich land and thorough culture. Whether it is possible to produce a pound of dry matter in beets as economically as it can be done in corn is not yet definitely settled, but the probabilities are against it. COMMERCIAL AND GREEN MANURES FOR WHEAT.

In an experiment made by the North Carolina Experiment Station, a series of plots was laid out in such manner that one end of each plot should be on land on which cow peas had been previously plowed under, and the other end on land without peas. The whole was sown to wheat, and kainit, acid phosphate and cotton seed meal were applied to the several plots, singly and in combination. two plots being left without any fertilizer.

The result was that on the land which had had no fertilizer the highest increase of any of the fertilized over the unfertilized plots was four bushels per acre (for 300 pounds cotton seed meal), while on the green manured land the increase from the pea vines was from six bushels at the least to fifteen bushels per acre, averaging ten bushels.

eight hund farro him. shou two look besic Have can soak and up ci pigs soak

An Ohio Farmer Gives His Views About two or three weeks old he will begin to God were carefully struck out. look around for something to eat besides what he gets from the dam. soaked corn to my pigs until this sum- King. mer. It takes some time to shell the soaked oats, and middlings, and I never | bourbon. had pigs to make a more healthy, They had to wait several years, but bread

Wet a · till it eggs.

Bud-uarter op any outh.

salt.

the only one that will keep the pigs stantaneous. from getting the scours.

and the run of a grass lot, pigs of most any of the pure creeds will pay the Kentucky wrote to the foreign secretary breeder well for all the feed and care of the legation asking his aid to show that can be given them. I might say | Corea that their State produced someright here that young pigs should not thing else besides whisky, and the matbe allowed to run in the wet grass in ter was presented to the Minister, the Severe Coughs, and kindred affec-

Its Importance in Farm Economy Should Not Be Forgotten.

If you have not a silo, actual or prospective, do not forget the root crop in gratulated.—Independent. the pressure of spring planting. Rootobject aimed at.

potatoes is suitable for roots; clover sod, plowed last fall, will give the ideal try to waitz get discouraged. They are constantly having reverses.—Yonkers Ga

TRANKLIN COLLEGE, New Athens, O. Boarding, try to waitz get discouraged. They are constantly having reverses.—Yonkers Ga

TRANKLIN COLLEGE, New Athens, O. Boarding, try to waitz get discouraged. They are constantly having reverses.—Yonkers Ga

TRANKLIN COLLEGE, New Athens, O. Boarding, try to waitz get discouraged. They are constantly having reverses.—Yonkers Ga mellow as a garden. As to varieties, there is no need of quarreling. The sugar beets furnish the most concentrated nutriment, and the mangels the largest amount of water; the later variety is satisfactory to many who are ment. For horses carrots are preferred. closely following corn is a good one, though if the land is in the best of condition and the season favorable the planting may follow corn two or three weeks. Have the drills wide enough drill, thinning out gradually during cultivation until the plants stand a foot apart in the row. Destroy weeds by shallow cultivation, often repeated, as soon as the grad large space of the repeated as soon as the grad large space. soon as the seed leaves have formed. green over the field will early be dis-gusted with root-growing. We need not stop at this time to discuss the position roots occupy in the list of food articles or how they should be fed. The time is at hand for planting and he who has a ors.—N. Y. Journal. root cellar well stored the coming winter will have an opportunity to learn how to dispose of the contents to his flock and herd. Roots in the cellar, like money in the bank, represent a most satisfactory condition of affairsboth are wonderfully available.—Breed-

A Flexible Animal Poke. The poke shown in the accompanying engraving is readily made by any farmer handy with tools. It consists of a wooden bow, between the lower ends of which is loosely bolted a square stick of hard wood eighteen inches in length and two by three inches square. Near the lower end of this is inserted a wooden pin half an EASILY-MADE POKE inch in diameter, left projecting about six inches. The flexibility of this poke allows the animal to feed with greater comfort and freedom and less strain upon the neck than when the common ontrivance is used. The inner angles of the bow should be carefully rounded and smoothed, to keep them from the first the rounded and smoothed, and smoothed to keep them from the first the rounded and smoothed. chafing the neck .- American Agricult-

In warm weather whitewash and carbolic acid should be applied freely to Press. nests and roosts. We usually whiten up every thing about the poultry quarters every three weeks the year around. A white building is more attractive than a dingy one. The fowls like it, and this alone is a good reason for keeping it so.

MAN can not fig, but he can utilize the flight of stairs when he wants to go up.— Binghampton Republican.

"Here are some fine specimens of gold-learing quarts," said the milk dealer, as his specially manufactured pint and three-quarter measuring cups arrived.—Washing-ton Post.

KENTUCKY BIBLES.

Three Copies of the Book Are Sent to the Big Men of Corea. There has been from the very beginning of missionary work in the Hermit nation a desire to present a Bible to the King. The time came seemingly. The The old way of keeping hogs until Minister of the Left was given a copy to eighteen months or two years before take to the royal palace. He did so, marketing them, has passed. The told his Majesty what it was and then, sooner a pig can be made to weigh two in the presence of the King, to show his hundred and fifty pounds after he is disapproval and contempt, tore it to farrowed the more money there is in pieces. His act had royal sanction. him. In order to do this, his pigship When the Royal College was opened in should be fed from birth. When only 1886 all references in the text-books to

Prince Ming Yong Ik was the first Corean Ambassador to the United States. Have a pen so situated that the pigs can go in and get some milk and distinguished gentlemen from Kensoaked corn, out of the way of the sow, and give them only what they will eat presented the Prince, as the chief produp clean, increasing the quantity as the uct of that State, a high brand of old pigs grow up. I have been feeding bourbon. Some was also sent to the

The Christians of Kentucky naturally the corn and our season was a very busy felt that whisky was not the only prod-one, on account of the backward spring; uct of their State and resented the unso we had to dispense with all the un- warranted act of the self-appointed repnecessary work that was possible and not neglect the pigs. So we feed ear corn, they had other and better things than vigorous growth. The corn would put on the flesh; the oats and middlings first representative to Washington in give them growth and make bone. Milk, when it can be had, is the best the Minister of any other country, and of feed and should be fed as soon after being also ned or churned as possible, tian civilization. Instead of finding the before too sour. It can be given scum of society believers and attend-are four weeks old, and if some mid-are four weeks old, and if some mid-are four weeks old, and if some mid-found the highest officials devout worllings are mixed it will only add to its shipers. Seeing was believing. The shipers. Seeing was believing. The value. I would not advise the feeding preconceived notions of the Coreans had of much milk to the sow until the pigs to be modified. Christianity was not deto be modified and only fit for coolies, as they are at least three weeks old, as it will have a tendency to scour them, and when they get a bad dose of that it is ennobling and adapted to the wealthy ennobling and adapted to the wealthy and its light as well as to the poor myriad forms, and for all Liver, and for all Liver, myriad forms, and for all Liver, and supplies a want long felt. They remove unhealthy accumulations from the body, without nausea or gripping. Adapted to young and old. Price, 25c. sometimes never. Not overfeeding the sows or pigs is the best preventive and over the embassy was gradual, not incovery" is an unequalled remedy.

With the above feed, properly given, and parcel of our civilization, and not a the morning when the dew is on. I have known this to make them unbealthy and the hair stand the wrong way.—J. L. Van Doren, in Ohio Farmer.

THE ROOT CROP.

ter was presented to the Minister, the proposition was looked upon with favor and he accepted the task of presenting a Bible to his King; Three Bibles, one for the King of Corea, one for the Minister and one for the Foreign Secretary was sont to Washington, whence they was sont to Washington, whence they in due time reached the throne. The presentation was made, accepted, and syrup or sugar to derange dithe friends in Kentucky are to be con-

-The cylindrograth is an instrument grawing is a bugbear with many whose of French invention for taking panobacks ache at the very mention of the subject, but the difficulties and labor military surveying and the like. It is are overestimated. This crop requires very simple in construction. A semizorn or potatoes, it is true, yet there is a 'knack' in managing it as in doing every thing else, and this is not very terial which will bend without breakdifficult to learn. To succeed with the least labor, much time should be spent in careful preparation of the soil. Any land that is in first-class condition for and roller freely, repeatedly cutting up and pulverizing the soil until it is as mellow as a garden. As to varieties, there is no need of quarreling. The els, it cleanses the system effectually, there-by promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Miss Bracon—"This waltz is divine! Do you ever dance the lanciers, doctor?" Dr. Boylston—"No; but I sometimes lance the dancers."—Boston Budget.

As to date for planting the rule of losely following corn is a good one, hough if the land is in the best of conition and the season favorable the "STRUCK the right note at last!" ex-claimed the persistent author, when he re-ceived his first five-dollar bill from the pub-

the soda water apparatus trust has fizzled out.—Philadelphia Ledger. FLANNEL next the skin often produces rash, removable with Glenn's Sulphur Soa Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

"I'm having a 'gallus' time," said the old An angle-worm-the geometrical fiend.

An institution for the blind-marriage .-THE bridge of sighs-a prominent nosa-

ONLY fit for a dog to live in-a kennel. The wisdom of the owl is all in its eye. Have the dumps—the street cleaning men.

N. Y. Mail and Express. One paper for two-the marriage certifi-

"Houses built on the sands"-seaside

OUGUT to have a good licking—envelopes. Have to get their fine work in—watch-makers.—N. Y. Mail and Express. A KICKING gun is rarely discharged cured.

Texas Siftings.

The mosquito is never asked to "call again" when he presents his bill. A HEAD of time—the one that wears the forelock.—Texas Siftings. Some flies go around looking for spiders to catch them.—Atchison Globe.

THE potato digger always endeavors to get at the root of the thing.

HEREDITARY humors—the Children which are the Little Children of the Joke.—Puck. Most men will follow suit, if it is tailorade and on a pretty girl.—Burlington Free

THE peculiarity of Dobbins' Electric Scap Is that it acts right on the dirt and stains in clothes and makes them pure desnow, at the same time it preserves the clothes, and makes them keep clean longer. Have your grocer colorie.

STUDENT medals are all right; but if s student meddles with too many things his studies will be interfered with.—Texaa Siftings.

ARE as small as homopathic pellets, and as easy to take as sugar. Everybody likes them. Carter's Little Liver Pills, Try them. The oyster will remain at the seashore all summer; but the clam will be most in society.—N. O. Picayune.

Best, easiest to use and cheapest. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. By druggists. 25c.

In Texas it is unlucky to find a horseshoe if a horse happens to be attached to it.—Yenowines News.

On the mend the consumptive who's not bereft of judgment and good sense.
He's taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If taken in covery" is an unequalled remedy. It's the only guaranteed one. If Bibles and churches were found a part it doesn't benefit or cure, you get your money back. You only pay for the good you get.

"Discovery" strengthens Weak
Lungs, and cures Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, tains no alcohol to inebriate; no gestion. As peculiar in its curative effects as in its composition.

PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS SETTLED
Soldiers, Wicows, Parents send for BLANK AR

SOLDIER THIS PAPER.

SOLDIER THE PAPER. PATRICK asnington, D.C.

UNION COLLEGE of LAW, Chicago, Fall Term begins sept. 25. For circular add, H. Booth, Chicago. WAT STRONG, ATTORNET

BE UP

TO

THE MARK

THAT CAN BE RELIED ON Not to Split!

BEARS THIS MARK. TRADE

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

-AWAKE TRADESMEN

SA

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

OYMPTOMS: Heartburn, Acidity te INDICESTION DOCT. BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO Painted Post, N. Y.
FF CATALCGUE FREE.

DENSION JOHN W. MORRIS.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF

Not to Discolor!

ADIES HOME Has a circulation of nearly half a million copies each

INDIGESTION AND LIVER CURE "Would not be without your Powders for all possess."-LIBBY 25 POWDERS for 26 CENTS. LT. CO., BOS 2370, NEW YORK

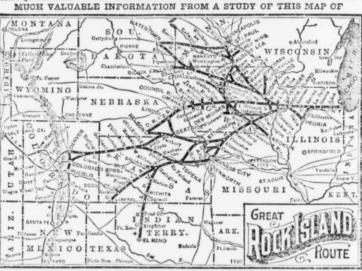

We offer you a ready made medicine for Coughs, Bronchitis and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Like other so-called Patent Medicines, it is well advertised, and having merit it has attained to a wide sale. Call it a "Nostrum" if you will, but believe us when we say that at first it was compounded after a prescription by a regular physician, with no idea that it would ever go on the market as a proprietary medicine.

Why is it not just as good as though costing fifty cents to a dollar for a prescription and an equal sum to have it put up at a drug store?

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph and Kayasa City in Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sicux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Loavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abiiene, Dodgo City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transaceanic Seaports.

southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICA(©) and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING Chair. CARS, California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns cities and scripping in Southern Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Santary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to the state of the st travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Biuffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickers, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent. General Manager.

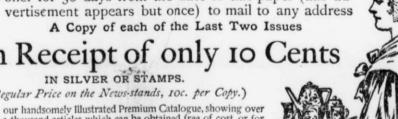

PENSIONS New LAW CLAIMS.

Apply Mad B. Stevers & 60, Attorneys, 1419 F street, Washington, D. C. BRANCH OFFICES—Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago

A. N. K.—C. 1205.

ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma Cure
Stiffees, Will mail trans. CureD newer fails send us your Oldelin's Brottens Brita Co., St. Louis, No. FREE
SynAme Tills Paper every time you wills.

As an inducement to you to send for copies, we offer for 30 days from the date of this paper (this ad-

On Receipt of only 10 Cents IN SILVER OR STAMPS.

(Regular Price on the News-stands, 10c. per Copy.)

Also our handsomely Illustrated Premium Catalogue, showing over a thousand articles which can be obtained free of cost, or for part work and a small part of money. Also including "Hints for Artistic Needlework," by Mrs. A. R. Ramsey—handsomely illustrated; and "Designs for Needlework, from the Kensington Art School," by Jane S. Clarke, of London. ALL of the above mailed for 10 cents if ordered at once. This offer positively withdrawn 30 days from date of this paper.

THE last two issues of the JOURNAL contain some specially strong features, including "My First Sermon," by Dr. T. De Witt Talmage; an interesting article on "Promiscuous Bathing;" Gaities of Newport; "A Country Courtship,"—a full-page, handsomely-illustrated poem. Illustrated stories and articles in these issues by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Rose Terry Cooke, Jenny June,

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, Frances E. Willard,
Mrs. Mary J. Holmes,
Louise Chandler Moulton,
Mrs. Lyman Abbott,
Mrs. Lyman Abbott,
Mrs. Frank Leslie.

CURTIS FUBLISHING COMPANY, PHILADELPHIA, PA

Has a circulation of nearly half a million copies each issue. We want to place it in the hands of a million families, and,

r copies, we per (this adany address issues

Cents

Twenty-eight pages in handsome cover, filled with original matter for the Journa Andrew of the Journa of the with the finest clas, drawn expressly for the Journa of the periodical everls seed for ladies and the family.

Philadelphia, Pa

ESPECIALLY BABES. The American Educational Aid Association

Has provided 1,300 children with homes in families, of which 400 were placed in the year end ng June 1st, 1820, Generally children received under the care of this Association are of SPECIAL PROMISE in intelligence and health, and are in age from one month to twelve years, and are sent FREE to those re eiving them, on ninety days' trial, unless on account of distance a SPECIAL CONTRACT is otherwise made. Address REV. M. V. B. VAN ARSDALE, General Sup't,

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878. W. BAKER & CO.'S Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals

W. BAKER & CO. Dorchester, Mass. Ask Him! Who? JONES OF BINGHAMTON, What? Why on Scales He Pays the Freight.

of the Little Big Horn

fearful odds against blm, believing against our government have been It says: that he would find the village "on pardoned or in some manner restored the run," and that between himself to untrammelled citizenship and le- tool chest. "Well," the Hand and Reno he could "double them up" gal innocence. in short order, Custer had jauntily About seventy men who bore arms superior to you all. As Jul trotted down to his death. It was a against their country in the great once said, 'I came, I saw;' long five mile ride from where he contest are now in the halls of Con. I settle down to work you sighted the northern end of the vi. gress, legislating for the country they something drop." lage to where he struck its centre at one time undertook to destroy by lage to where he struck its centre at one time undertook to destroy by around that bold point of bluff, and military force. We do not find fauit no steadiness in your chimel S from the start to the moment his guidons whirled into view, and his do think it is high time for the exertroopers came galloping "front into cise of clemency, mercy and grati- the nail on the head. He. line" down near the ford, he never tude in the very opposite direction. Nail was seen to furtived a fairly saw the great village--never Among the 2,500,000 and more Union | cranium.) dreamed of its depth and extent, soldiers who suppressed the rebellion Rounding the bluff, he suddenly are some few thousands who are still tound himself face to face with thou- borne on their country's rolls as "de- lost any front teeth lately ?" sands of the boldest and most skillful serters," though nearly a generation warriors of the prairies. He had has passed. Many of these dishonorhoped to charge at once into the able entries are wholly unjust, and associate with such an ugly heart of the village, to hear the cheers others only technically true. Many grained character as you. You of Reno's men from the south. In. of these ostracized soldiers served scrape everyone's acquaintant stead he was greeted with a perfect their country faithfully for considerfury of flame and hissing lead from able terms, in some cases one to two over; and stated he would the dense thicket of will sw and cot- years, incurring all the hardships something to offer before tonwood, a fire that had to be an- and casualties of terrific war, but on adjourned. swered at once. Quickly he dis. account of occurrences uncontrollable mounted his men and threw them for ought we know, received no dis- Whereat the paper of tacks laughed forward on the run, each fourth man charge. They did not desert the flag till it burst its sides. holding, cavalry fashion, the horses of their country and go over to the of the other three. The line seems enemy-as did nearly half the offi "while you can all saw, clop, hammer to have swept in parallel very nearly cers of the old army-but unwisely and destroy, remember, that I am CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, with the general course of the stream went home in many cases in answer the only one who can mend and rebut to no purpose. The fee was ten to wails of wives, children and moth- store. In me are the elements of true to one in their front. Boys and ers. The American heart, though greatness. squaws were shooting from the wil- patriotic, is more prone to these imlows ("Oh, we had pienty guns," said pulses than any other upon earth, our story tellers;) and worse than A case is recalled where a man which the Glue Pot fairly boiled with that, hundreds of young warriors with a family enlisted in the early indignation. had mounted their ponies and months of the war for three years swarmed across the stream behind with no inducement but patroitism "to direct your attention to the even him, hundreds more were following and the small pay in depreciated curdisposition that I ever display. I and circling all about him. And rency. Ho served well for a year make all things straight." then it was that Custer, the hero of a and a hall. The little command to "When you have a drop of alcohol hundred charges, seems to have real. which he belonged was surrounded in," said the File. ized that he must cut his way out.

ford in mad pursuit.

was eastward; then more to the left, as they found their progress barred. Then, as they reached the higher could see, circling, swooping, velling (the ordinary time of a promisory order, ground, all they could see, far as they like demons, and all the time keep- note) will give a liberal pension to a "When do I come in?" asked the ing up their furious fire, were thousands of the mounted Sioux. Hem med in, cut off, dropping fast from their saddles, Custer's men saw that retreat was impossible. They sprang to do so. to the ground, "farned their horses time half their number had failen. closer and gained in numbers; every discharge,

He Was all Right. A man carefully ascended the steps

the door as if he expected to walk right in. It was locked, and he softly rang the bell.

The door was opened a couple of "Selling sewing machines?"

- "No," "Rugs or clocks ?"
- "No." "Pictures or brackets?"
- "No." "Want to insure me?"
- "No." "Collecting for somebody?"
- "No." "Want a contribution for some
- asylum ?" "No."
- "Belong to the tax or water office?" "No." "Want me to take an organ on
- trial ?" "No."
- "You are not a peddler?" "No."
- "Nor a tramp ?" "No."
- "Well what on earth do you want ?"

husband was dying, and that he'd be ately at a faster rate than the United glad to have a spiritual adviser."

so at first, instead of scaring me half creased sixteen. to death for fear you were after the furniture, which isn't quite paid for. For Malaria, Liver Trou-Come in,"-Free Press,

Subscribe for the REPUBLICAN.

National Clemency. EDITOR OF REPUBLICAN: - Our

How He Met His Death on the Shores great civil war closed more than Doyle contributes an article twenty five years ago, and all those issue of Puck, which we the Never realizing, as I believe, the who brought it on by rebelling readers will find amusing by the enemy and bidden to surren- "Your work, gentlemen," contin-"Mount!" rang through the trum- der to a supposed superior force. He ned the Spirit Level, with an em- ed to. pets, and leaving many a poor fellow and a comrade asked their officer for phasis on the "geatleman" which on the ground, the troopers ran for the privilege of escaping. They did was intended to crush the File;" Your their horses. Instantly from ledge escape through hostile lines, with work is never accepted until I have and willow Ogalallas and Brules guns and equipments, and went to examined it, and I say on the -- " sprang to horse and rushed to the their homes. The one on account of "On the dead level," sneered the discouragement or disgust did not File. "Make for the heights!" must return. Years ago he died, leaving The Sand Paper essayed to speak have been the order, for the first rush a poor widow, but under the late but was promptly laid out flat, and pension law his 18 months of faith. advised that no unnecessary friction he, or his widow, cannot snow an however, and was only silenced by The Farmers' "honorable discharge." But 90 days the Mallet, who rapped loudly for soldier or his widow where a dis- Ten-Penny Nail. charge was granted, though he en- "You don't," said the Claw Ham tered near the close of the war with mer, reaching for him, "you come with heavy pecuniary inducements out."

loose," said the Indians, and by that an old soldier in an asylum near clared that he had a point which he A skirmish line was thrown out no discharge, though he served more with loud cries of "shut up!" which down the slope, and there they drop- than a year faithfully. Was at nome he did with a click, after threatening ped at five yards intervals; there sick when his regiment was must to cut the acquaintenance of every their comrades found them two days | tered out at a distant point. No pen- one present. after. Every instant the foe rode sion for him unless he can procure a At this moment the Auger com-

At last, on a mound that stands at the war, receives a number of boun- every one. Lid-of-the-Chest, a slamthe northern edge of a little ridge, ties amounting to a large sum and at bang sort of a fellow, came down with Custer, with Cook, Yates and gallant the close receives a discharge, with- a whack, and said : "Brother Tom," and some dozen out smelling powder or soiling his soldiers, all that were left by this "blue," Others volunteered in the be- And the hush thickened. time, gathered in the last rally, ginning for three years, served half They sold their lives dearly, braye or more of their time, fought battle fellows that they were; but they and incurred deathly diseases, but were as a dozen to the leaves of the have no discharges. Now, which of forest at the end of twenty minutes, the two classes have done most for and in less than twenty five-all was their country? The one is eligible to pension, but the other is flatly barred. Where is the equity in these doings? What has become of American justice and magnamity? of a house on Second avenue a day or Have they all been exhausted and two ago, and turned the handle of expended in behalf of those who offended their government, and none left for those who done sometning at least to defend it?

Treason, murder, arson, rape and inches and a female voice demanded; embezzlement are all pardonable by American clemency, but for the soldier, who loved his home a little more than his tent, there appears to be nothing better than the laws of the Medes and Persians which "alter not." Why don't Congress in some general and just manner take JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT hold of this matter and relax this

Russian severity. This comes not from a soldier at all, but one who feels grateful to all soldiers with or without certificates who did something for the preservawho did something to.
tion of our great country.

JUSTICE.

The population of Canada is estimated at 5,000,000, an increase of nearly 700,000 in ten years. A hundred years ago the population of the United States was 3,929,000, of Canada 156,000. In 1861 British Columbia had 6000 people, in 1881 the population numbered 49,459. These figures show, calculates the Prairie Farmer, "One of the neighbors said your that Canada has grown proportion-States. She has increased thirty-two "Is that ail! Why didn't you say fold, while the United States has in-

> ble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

The Tool Convention Under the above title J ling.

There was some commotication was heard to remark, "I kn

"Mr. Hand Saw," remail File, in a rasping voice, "h "Silence!" cried the Han "It's a shame that gentleme

The Plane tried to smoot "Oh Snavings!" growled the File.

"Gentlemen" said the Glue Pot,

"I say," said the Fie, "ain't you somewhat stuck on yourself?" At Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-

"Permit me," said the Spirit Level ful service counts for nothing because was desired. He had plenty of sand,

The Jack Knife, who was some Another case in point: There is thing of a blade, opened up, and de-Cumberland, hopelessly insane, with | would like to present, but was greeted menced to stagger 'round, and vow instant some poor fellow bit the dust. A soldier enlists near the end of that he would let "daylight" through

"Boys, I'm onto the whole crowd."

If You Have a Triffing Cough

Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgiss' DrugStore, and Country Stores,

WEDDING NVITATIONS

THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invitations, in the latest and most arristic designs, at prices that defy competition. Call and learn prices before placing your order elsewhere,

NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES. CIRCULARS.

STATEMENTS,

LETTER AND BILL HEADS

of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make a specialty of printing and padding note, letter and bill heads.

Call and see our speci-mens of all kinds of work if you need anything in our line. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Mitchell's Kidney Piasters H. S. MILLER & Co's restore them to a healthy condi Old chronic kidney sufferers say they got no relief until they tried MITCHELL'S KIDNEY Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Masso

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted.

FirPrompt attention to collections, 112'89, AGERTS to canvass for the sale of our Home-Grown Nursery Stock WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS.
Unequated facilities. One of the targest, oldest-stablished and best kanen surseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 67.6t

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT rer ard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and B om Horses, Blood Spavins, Curos veeney, Ring bone, Stifles, Spr ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist,

JOHN A. WOLF, CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

JONAS E. GNAGEY.

AND PROPRIETOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General

Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on mand an assort-

JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890

If so call upon or write us.

Association.

Hardware

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN. WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVATORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

sole agents and represent the best ling goods ever offered to the farming communa among which we name the BLOWN W.
ONS, DAVIS BUGGIE-4, WHITELY and M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDER BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOW EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, SPEEL KIN (all steel frame harrows, JANN ARBOR HATELDEERS, DEHAVEN & CO. an IBISSEL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STEICKLE HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWAR and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

FARMERS HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager,

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Si. uated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED

Having used the above Fertilizers for above We will have a car load in a short time of e different grades. Please write for prices

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. A Rare Chance to Secure a Home.

> FOR SALE. Several Tracts of Land and > > miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from

> > > Oakland, Md.

the Hooppole Road, 3

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Me

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE:

Situated about 2% miles south of Oakland mining stacres; at acres cleared; orchar-'We apple trees beginning to benr; 2-stor, PRAME HOUST.

containing five rooms and a cellur, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary ont-buildings, The land is heavily I need and an abun-dance of time stone is on the place. Two and one-ball tons of hay to the acre was produced this year

THOMAS & SINCE LA Attorneys for owner, Onkland, Md J. T. LEWIS,

-MANUFACTURER OF-Lumber. Shingles and Plas-

TERING LATH !

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year--Trinity Term Begins

April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three cours utilined—Academie, Scientific or Comme Special attention to collegiate require-s. Number of Puphs strictly Limited. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to: REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Offers his professional services to the people of oakland and vicinity.

#⊕ Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church

tf 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER: Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO.,

Camberland, Md,
Office 30 Baltimore Street. 2 15 m s 2 15 90 ly FOR RENT--By the Year or for the E. C. TILSON. Proprietor

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD PISIFOS 3 CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY

GUARANTEED!

I buy at h spond 11 c as a prices for muggods. furnish all kinds of Musical

J. M. LITZINGER. 9 21 '89 Oakland, Md.

M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN MEN PARINI.

Spedden & Bolden, CONTRAGTORS AND BUILDERS. OAKLAND, - MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection or buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890; GOING EAST

GOING WEST.

The fast trains, with the excer tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD. General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE

HOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings Tenant House, harn and other out-outlings and a young orehr rd.

There is also a flye-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price-asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md. FAVORITE SINGER

Drop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ring Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Mas-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia, P.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. #3 Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland

GULMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET. Particular attention given to Conveyancing ivestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. 1eli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice it, the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

25 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Calmis, Including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on com--thise. Vy logger building, Main St., above drug store. 6 5 '86 tf.

WARING THOMAS. EWD. H. SINCELL THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Adagray counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia.

J. W. VEITCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, AFTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett Jounty and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Jourt of Appeals of Maryland, 63° Jilee in the Court House.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritcher I Guilding, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county Md., and offers his services to those wishing eulai Frestment. Charges moderale P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6226m

DR. W. H. RAVENSGRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. Ap Residence a Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1833.-154 H. W. M°COMAS, M. D ..

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON CAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the peop of Oakland and vicinity. 5 o '85 63 Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Besidence carner Oak and fitth streets, two

R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and filing the natural teeth.

All work warranted to give satisfaction, Dr. I. ID. Mewrer. OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Office and residence on Milistreet, opposite the Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oukland and vicinity.

***The Residence and office two doors Fast of Catholic Church

***The Catholi ANDREW J. HARNE.

AUCTIONERE: Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY. Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

Nov. 21, 85. - y. JOHN A. WOLF,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER. East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are crected a Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres, is under lence. A young orchard was put out s under lence. A young orchard was put our four years ago, and will soon come into bear For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHAND CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas-nable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. nce Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write po F. A. THAYER,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SPONGE?

WOLFF'S

ACME

BLACKING

ONCE A WEEK!

Other days wash them clean with

EVERY Housewife EVERY Counting Room

SPONGE AND WATER.

WILL STAIN OLD & NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE

WILL STAIN TINWARE

EVERY Counting Room EVERY Carriage Owner EVERY Thrifty Mechanic EVERY Body able to hold a brush BHOULD USB

ARMERITANS DEL TRY IT.

When out of order, involves every organ of the body. Remedies for some other derange-ment are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the liver which is the real

Ayer's Pills.

For less of appetite, bilious troubles, consti-pation, indigestion, and sick headache, these Pills are unsurpassed.

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stemach, liver, and kidney troubles, experiencing much difficulty in digestion, with morary relief, about three months ago an the use of Ayer's Pills, and my health

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceifing, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates, #2-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of nill work. 9, '87.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres w, P, TOWNSHEND

END, S AT LAW

CHANCERY, REETT COUNTY, MD.

ts of Garrett County
les of West Virginia, also of Maryland, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. oming into hearing.
The arm is well watered, and is in every ray a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-live acres of variable timber, Call on address.

> JAS. A. HAYDEN, 1589 Republican office, Oakland, Md. JULIUS A. ROEHM.

A PRACTICAL AND First-Class Tailor,

FROM SALTIMORE, Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stan on tak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 150

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND. Of 1334 neres, situated 7 miles. North of Oakland, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable said all other necessary outpulldings; twenty neres undecentivation. A fine young and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for Owners

UR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT FFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-less direct, hence an transact patent busi-ess in less time and at LESS COST than lose remote from Washington. Send model, drewing, or photo, with de-ription. We advise if patentable or not, ce of charge. Our fee not due till patent is scured. cured. A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with ref rences to actual clients in your State, y, or town, sent free. Address

C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Prient Office, Washington D. C --WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO.,

Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street. JONAS E. GNASEY. CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.

AND PROPRIETOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL, Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material.

so conduct the UNDERTAKING Thanking all who have favored me in the east, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to All orders left at the mill promptly attend-## Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1800 6 21 iy.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all unbarn, wagon shed, young oreha The farm is well watered and ne der fence. Si nated about 2½ Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS, G. NESBITT,

Fairment, W. Va.

The same of the same of shout the fiftieth part of its bulk, scope, as large as is easy to carry, to can make from PACS to # 2 to a de

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Scenes on Pugent Sound in the Hop Picking Season.

TACOMA, WASH., August 18, 1890. By the time this reaches you the by have lived in it for so many gen- whether by digging clams, picking field in which he has every made effect, because it is the ever when is the each source of the trouble, and until that is set right there can be no health, strength, or comfort in any part of the system. Mercury, in some form, is a common specific for a sluggish liver; but a far safer and more effective medicine is severe pains in the lumbar region and other parts of the body. Having tried a variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only is so much improved that I ghally testify to the superior merits of this medicine."— Manoel Jorge Pereira, Porto, Portugal. "For the cure of headache, Ayer's Camar-tic Pills are the most effective medicine I ever used."—R. K. James, Dorchester, Mass. When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take doses, these Pills Act Well on the liver, restoring its natural powers, and aiding it in throwing off malarial poisons."

— C. F. Alston, Quitman, Texas.

"Whenever 1 am troubled with constipation or unfeeting leads to the constipation of the constipation of the constitution of the constitutio tion, or suffer from loss of appetite, Ayer's Pills set me right again."— A. J. Kiser, Jr., Rock House, Va. "In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for bil-iousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since." - H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark. Ayer's Pills, PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, thought of. An Indian has no use Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orcherd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal

The improvements cost more than the price of the infinite considered to be one of the infinite considered to be one of the infinite considered to be one of the infinite confort-best stock farms in the county.

The would be called among the East-infinite confort-best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md. VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 214 miles south of Oakland FHAME HOUSE.

Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

camp. The cance is hauled up on Snohomish, or whatever his tribal shore and covered with matting to name may be. protect it from the sun. The pick- The Siwash, like the Sioux, is raping generally lasts about two weeks, idly disappearing. As a dangerous and during that time the Indian is element in frontier life he is no more; romantic season of this section will on shore for the longest period in the as a picture que figure he remains have begun. The hops will be ripen- whole. The whole family work in- yet for a time but he will soon be ing, and the Coast Indians from far dustriously during that time, unless gone. Ninety-eight, years ago, when and near will be coming to pick too old to leave the teepee or too Vancouver and Puget explored these them. Puget sound will be covered young to stand alone. If the former noble waters, his canoes swarmed in with their carious canoes, and so will they are left to guard camp, a service every nook and inlet as thickly, the the edge of the ocean as far north as in which they are very proficient, season through, as they do now for being generally so ugly as to be a ter- a few brief weeks. "Whulge," as he the Columbia, while at night the ror to anything with life in it; if the called the Sound, was his home; hores will be bright with their latter, they are carried in snawls now it is merly a visiting place to camp-fires and the air will resound swung from their mother's shoul which he returns once a year with ders. The Siwash infant never pleasure and for profit. While the The Siwash Indian and his cance seems to impair its mother's ability Indian is fast disappearing the decrease parable. He and his ancest to contribute to the family support, mand for his services in the only erations that his legs have grown hops or puddling the canoe. For exhimself useful to civilization is inshort and crooked by nature, and ample, you may frequently see a no- creasing. The profits of hop growaway from the water he is practic- ble red man marching into town, ing in late years has greatly stimuably helpless. To understand him followed by his Ktoochman carrying lated production, and taking advanand what he is you must first study an infant Siwash swung over her tage of the increasing demand for the cance. It is fashioned from a shoulder, and a bucket of freshly his services poor Lo is already showsingle log and is singularly light and gathered clams in either hand. These ling signs of an inclination to resort graceful is pattern. People who clams are for sile to whomever will to the methods of the trades unions know all about boats say it is built buy. She carries them to market by organizing strikes, and boycotts. on the most accurate model, both for and he carries the money home, or As he can't be replaced by Chinamen model for many, many generations. tween them.

speed and safety, and there is evi- to the shop where it is spent, and so under our present laws, we may have dence that It has been built on this the burdens of life are divided be to pick our hops ourselves before There is tothing a Siwash is more A few of the Kloochmen, generally hop harvester. abundantis supplied with than time those from the interior, can manage and therefore he can and does devote a pony right craftily. They invarplenty of it to the manufacture of jubly ride astride after the manner of one of these canoes. He never needs their fords, and always behind them to make more than one as they last if in their company. She always Figg had asked his father what was more than a life-time generally, and takes the family on her pony, if too the cause of Desert of Sahara. Finally descend from father to son as the young to manage ponies of their own, the old gentleman laid down his most valued of the family posses- I have seen one with four youngsters paper and answered : "I reckon it sions. When however, a new one is mounted on one cayuse, one at her was formed when the Israelites lost needed a tree is selected with great breast, hungry but comfortably ap- their sand. And if you don't quit care, and ceder is usually preferred peasing his appetite, one in the shawl asking me so many questions I'll see to fir. Among trees from 200 to 300 at her back and the two others seated that your mother puts you to bed befeet high and all as straight as ar- behind, with feet sticking out nearly fore I get home hereafter." "But, pa; rows, with no timbs to speak of ex. at right angles from their bodies, how can you see her put me to bed if copt at the top, a suitable one is hard hanging to her waist for dear life she puts me to bed before you get to find. It is then felled, generally walle the pony contered gaily along home?" And that question was by the aid of fire, then hewed to the as if proud of his burden. The hop Tommy's last for that evening .- Ocmodel of a perfect boat. Then the picking season generally lasts about cident. long and slow process of hollowing two weeks and during that time the out the inside is began. A long Siwash is really industrious. The trench is chopped out of the middle crop is always large in this region when I feel the need of a catharne, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effective than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. E. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va.

"I have found in Ayer's Pills, an invaluation of the middle and this is field with water and builted stones are thrown into it unbertenedy for constitution, billousness, and kindred disorders, peculiar to miasmatic localities. Taken in small and frequent does, these Pills.

Then they are spread and the grower pressing to have it harvested just when it is ripe. The pickers therefore command good wages and this stimulates them to on the shore above Gray's harbor; so the otter is not so nearly extinct. apart by a slow and tedious process constant application. When it is So the otter is not so nearly extinct of bracing and more is bewed out of over they flock to town and spend as some imagine from the small numthe interior, and the process of steam- the proceeds for the reddest fabrics ber of their skin which now find their ing and spreading is repeated. When they can buy, for trinkets, for a little way to market. It is a shy animal, at last it is hewed to an even thick- toddy, if they canget it, then they sit living most of the time in the water, ness, steamed and spread to the around on the sidewalk for a few and often going far from land, but proper width and finished up as weeks Loking at the things they coming ashore to produce. It is a neatly as an accomplished cabinet have not bought but wish they had, stupil, inoffensive animal, much maker could make it. A long fore Then they disappear as they came. like a seal in its nature and habits. peak or prow is cut and a few round For a month or more after the The skull is seldom seen in museums, braces about on inch and a half in dipicking is over the Sound is dotted and the species will probably be exameter are put across near the with swarms of canoes going northtop to keep it spread to proper shape, ward. The homeward trip is made the whole is painted black with some leisurely, the voyagers stopping native paint that seems never to wherever they feel inclined to sleep friend who, on returning from the change color, and the boat is ready for a night, a week or possibly a West, visited the cemetery where his to be launched. The launching process is sometimes difficult because the the morrow apparently. The waters best tree is taken where found, withof the Sound never fail to supply I knew just where it was; or if I did out reference to the water and some- them with food. "When the tide is find it, some one seemed to have times the boat has to be carried a out the table is set," is the saying of jumped the claim; and when I got long distance through tangled wood, but as time is no object, and a perfect boat every object, no pains of this Claus, or shell fish of various sorts there with the name of "Theodosia" kind is avoided. Once the boat is in can be picked up at any season of the on it. "Why, that was the place," the water the owner's life work is acyear, and in a few minutes in quansaid my sister. "But who is Theocomplished. He has in it a home, a tity to make a meat for a family, or dosia?" I asked. "That is mother," I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 bined, since by means of it all his acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of a seat in it was never known or halibut. Fish of some sort is the you see, John, I thought mother for such a convenience. He simply squats tailor-fashion near the stern, ing abundance and its waters are to corner with 'Jennie' on it. You don't while the Kloochman, or squaw, as she would be called among the Eastable position near the prow, and each with a short, sharp paddie furnishes a share of the motive power that drives it through the water with surprising grace and swiftness. If a long journey is to be made, as in the hop-picking season, the entire household effects, teepe, blankets, substance, and it is about the only kettles, papooses and dogs are taken aboard. The boat then becomes the family home for the time being. I have counted thirteen persons in one and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily bried and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was preduced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, family home for the time being, I look on. Sometimes of late years a pair of oars is seen as part of the propelling machinery, and now and again a sail, but usually the Stwash relies on his paddle and it is remark. able what a rate of speed he can maintain with it.

the old settler, and the Indian knows home I asked my sister about it and it even better than the white man. who it was that put a big monument if it is more agreeable a hook dan- said she; "I knew it wasn't her gled over the side of a canoe is almost name, but it is a pretty one, and I sure to catch a salmon, a codfish or a thought she would like it. And, did constant diet of the Siwash tribes. looked lonesome in that big lot and I them a double necessity-they fur- mind, do you?" nish food and means of transportation. The use of water for any other purpose seems to the Indian unknown. The constant inward and outward application of fish therefore preciate without smelling it. It is so that is all !" strong that it réally seems to have hop picker the Indian of the Coast is ing yourself at my expense. picturesque, but keep to windward of him, oh white man, if you value plain."

part of the Coast, from the mouth of did not think you capable of joking the Columbia northward are called about it with your friends." Siwashes. The name is not Indian, "I haven't done anything of the and is not the name of a nation, as kind, Maud!" protested the young Sioux, or Iriquois or Algonquin was. man. It is simply a corruption of the "You have, sir. After you had French word sauvage, used by the -had proposed to me last night and early voyagers and Hudson Bay I-I had said y-yes, and you had Puyallup, Dwamish or Nesqually Company men to designate all sav- gone, I overheard you telling Mr. valleys the family disembark, find ages. The Indian seems to think it Bellchamber out there on the front out where they can get the best pay means something very nice, and he porch what glorious fun it was to go for their services, a matter in which they are becoming very expert in Siwash rather than as Puyallup, catch speckled beauties!"

THE SIWASH AND HIS CANOE. late years, and then set up their Tuialip, Swinomish, Stilagenmish; years, unless some génius invents a

C. A. SNOWDEN.

A Pertinent Question. For the third time little Tommy Sea Otter Not Extinct.

Mr. Chapman states that he saw & tinct in a few years. - Olympic Tribune.

A Boston Post writer tells us of a The Sound supplies them in unfail- had a baby headstone set up near the > Vacation Episode. "Maud, I should like to know the meaning of this reception ?" "Mr. Hazard, you shall!" angives him "an ancient and fish-like swered the proud country girl, freezsmell" that no human being can ap- ingly. "I have found you out, sir,

"What do you mean, dearest?" "Don't come near me, sir! Stay element of strength in the Indian on the other side of the table. I have make up. As a voyager and as a found out that you have been amus-

"For heaven's sake, Maud, ex-"I know I am freckle-faced, sir !" All the numerous tribes on this she said, with flashing eyes, "but I

I LOVE YOU SO.

When the days grow soft and dreamy, And the nights grow sweet and long, And the wild birds in the woodland Lose their joyous souls in song; When the young grass breaks the fetters That have held it 'neath the snow,

All that I can sing is: "Sweetheart, O, I love you—love you—so!" When the sea is blue as sapphires, And the mists are rose and gold, And the wind blows in from ocean, Warm and fragrant, strong and bold; When the forests don their emeralds, And the fruit trees stand like snow, All that I can say is: "Darling,

O, I love you-love you-so! When the pool grows black with shadows, In the fir woods' leafy deeps, And the lily on its bosom Ever rocks, and, rocking, sleeps: When, from out their ice-locked prisons, Forth a thousand streamlets flow, All that I can think is: "Loved one, O, I love you-love you-so!

When the nights are bright with silver, And the days with harvest gold, And the fields don summer's garments, Tint on tint and fold on fold; When the flowers droop from rain drops, And the scorching south winds blow, Sad with waiting, still I murmur: "O, I love you-love you-so!"

When the woods have turned to russet, And the apples turned to red, And the meadow lark that cheered me Has across the blue sea fied: When my heart with doubt is fainting, And my cheek has lost its glow.

Still, with trembling lips, I whisper: "O, Hove you-love you-so When the wild, strong winds of winter Dash the waves against the shore, And a thousand tones seem moaning: "Never-never-nevermore!" When I can not sleep for thinking,

Can not think for crushing woe,

Still I, kneeling, faithful, faiter:
"Keep him, God—I love him so:"
—Ella Higginson, in West Shore. A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

A Fair One's Warning That Was

Read Too Late.

"Walford! Are you 'a wild beast, or a god,' that you delight in such solitude?" I asked, withdrawing my eyes of the san from the far-off haziness of the aerial tude now. infinitude, wherein the balloon held suspended us two waifs of humanity. A peculiar smile broke the immobil ity of my companion's fair, proud face, as he worked the windlass, in order to lower the guide-rope. "Neither, 'mon ami,' but, unhappily, a rational animal, irrationally fluctuating between those self-same extremes What say you? Will it end in my being | my numb fingers. debased into the one, or sublimated into

As he put the question, his eyes met mine with a look that seemed to defy, answered, in his quiet, even tones. while it invited criticism.

"I should prefer to feel your pulse and sound your heart before I answer How high are we now?" I questioned that question." I parried; for while adhuskily, for there was a peculiar mitting to myself that like the fairfavored Paris, he was at least "in form a god," I felt it would have puzzled a keener penetration than mine to have discovered what lay beneath his "soft moving speech, and pleasing outward

Muttering something about the guide rope, he turned from the windlass and 20,000 feet, was reached. looked over the side of the car.

And now I bethought me of the let my hand just as Walford ordered the my surprise that the address-that of broke. my chambers-was in my Annie's handwriting and had the word "immediate" Tearing it open, I withdrew a hastily written scrawl: written scrawl:

"Dear Allen: Why have you not told me what I learnt last night from my brother
Geoff—that you intend ascending with Mr.
Walford this morning? Allen, I implore you, don't go-don't place yourself in the power of Cecil Walford, the man I made your bitterest enemy when I promised to be your wife. I feel very wretched, for, my dearest, I dreamt last night that I saw you two in the car of the Stella, high above the clouds, and he was try-ing to throw you out. He looked so cruel, so merciless. I shrieked and awoke myseif. My heart tells me that this is a warning. Let it, I beseech you, save you from that man's hatred I shall be tortured with fears until I see you.

I shall be tortured with fears until 1 shall be vexation at that hair-brained Geoff move a mountain! having divulged my project. Then came surprise and annoyance. I had strove to regain the use of my limbs, l never before known that I had a would-be rival in Cecil Walford. And then I felt inclined to blame Annie for never my curiosity before starting, and which before having enlightened me that he had said was intended for an experisuch rivalship existed. But I was soon ment should we ascend high enough. moved to tenderness by the thought of Applying his lips to the tube, he fixed her fond alarm, though not a little amused at its exaggerated outcome— looked out of them. He intended to that tragic dream. The idea of such a slightly-built fellow attempting to stored until he had seen me gasp my lete made me tug at my mustache to repress a smile. prised Walford's eyes bent on the envelope that lay at my feet.

"A 'cillet d'amour' in realms celestial-you are fortunate," he remarked, the suavity of his voice ill according doubtless intended. Rage swelled with the dark veins swelling on his

"My own opinion," I replied, consigning the dear little alarmist's dispatch and tried to throw into mine the deto my pocket. She must have been up testation, the abhorrence, I felt towards fine cloth or costly silk at the expense betimes, for it was dated six a. m.

I was glad it did not reach me in time swer that she would have construed into a heartless disregard of her wishes. posed ascent would have been out of the question.

twenty-five hirutes since the Stella ing over himself," I thought, with grim from the Worcester gas works. Doubtless Annie's blue eyes were now see whether his eyes were still fixed on watching for me. I thought of the disport, of how, directly he had delivered failed mo.

her letter, the balloon had shot up into a cloud and was seen no more. That, hough, made me resolve to wire her the barometer.

"Nine thousand, eight hundred and fifty feet, and according to the anemometer this sou'-wester must have already carried us a good score of miles," he answered from where he bent over the instrument-board. Then, opening his log-book, he began jotting down ob-

view to their own fleecy forms. As I doubtless to the heat of the solar beams, resulting in the renewal of the balloon's ascentive force. Soon she rose above the shining white crests of the cloudbillows, and again was revealed that: Illimitable ocean, without bound,

Without dimension, where length, breadth and height. And time and place are lost."

And now I saw that ahead of us there roceeded a towering pillar-like cloud 1 purple somberness "We must get above that thundercloud, or we shall be plunged into its caldron!" exclaimed Walford with a strange hardness of tone. "I have been in the midst of a thunder-cloud once, and have no desire to renew the experience."

"But it is traveling by the same current as we are. Won't it keep ahead?" I asked.

"No; a thunder-cloud is always subected to more or less retardation. I wish, Russell, you would cast out some sand while I watch the barometer." So standing up, I leaned over the side of the car-outside which the bast-bags were ranged-and followed his instructions. Immediately the balloon soared upwards in an oblique direction. Having discharged a dozen handfuls of the sand, I asked him what our alti-

"Barely 14,000 feet. Go on, we will give her another thousand, so as to make sure of topping that confounded Having emptied the bag I paused and looked round inquiringly.

"A few more handfuls." 'It is getting awfully co letting more sand escape slowly through

"Yes, because we are resisting the air. When she resigns herself to the current, we shan't notice the cold," he "Then, by all that's reasonable, let her resign herself. I'm just frozen. huskily, for there was a peculiar feeling in my throat that made speech painful.

"Nearly 15,000 feet." Surely, I thought, he must be mistakng the reading. And forthwith I consulted my own little aneroid, a gold came in contact with a tree. In an incharm given me by Annie soon after we ecame engaged. The limit of the scale,

"Good heavens, Walford, you are wrong in your readings," I gasped, ter that a breathless boy had thrust into swinging round to examine for myself the mercurial barometer; he had it in grimy gasmen "to let go," and which I his hand, and as I turned he let it had since been holding in tight, unwit-ting grasp.

drop. Taking a step forward, as if to pick it uy, he, instead, set his foot on it, Glancing at the envelope, I saw to and there was a snap as the glass tube

"Careless," he muttered, bending over the broken instrumeut.

I felt terribly vexed, for, judging from my sensations, I felt convinced our altthe valve-we shall be asphyxiated," I down on the bench.

He neither answered nor made any movement to pull the valve rope; only turned his eyes on me. There was a gleam in them that reminded me of An- nificent pile that I recognized as Kenilnie's letter. Was it a gleam of insanity? Was murder or suicide his object? As that awful suspicion flashed across my mind I made to rise and pull the valve rope myself. To my horror, I found my My feelings on reading this impetulimbs had lost all power; I could no ons appeal were complex. At first, more move arms or legs than I could

While like one in a dream I vainty sustain his life on the oxygen there throw overboard a great muscular ath- last. This was the "experiment" then -this was the mode of revenge he had devised, and with fiendish ingenuity Glancing up at that moment I sur- had so contrived that I should work my own destruction. While I had been so insuspectingly casting out sand, he had been giving me false readings of the barometer, the breakage of which was admired and coveted. Vulgarity, which within me, but could not find vent even in speech. Powerless to move hand, one or all of these qualities. It is not foot or tongue, I met his watchful eyes him. But as I looked my head fell backwards on the edge of the car. Then I for me to have sent an answer—an an- saw an imminent catastrophe that the laws of etiquette; but it is so to would involve him as well as myselfthe balloon was distended to the exfor of course a withdrawal from the pro- treme, and must inevitably burst unless the valve was soon brought into use. "He is too engrossed watching for my I glanced at the chronometer, 8.55, last gasp to see the destruction impendsatisfaction. I tried to lift my head to nor supercilious; he may speak a provmay that would fill them when shortly she would listen to the messenger's report of how, directly he had delivered, and the next minute my sight fame, but will be neither obsequious and a half miles away.

too conscious, I awaited my doom. Thoughts flashed with lightning rapid- Reichskommissar Herman Wissmann the assurance that I was alive and interest the assurance that I was alive and interest as soon as possible on our return to earth.

"What do you make our altitude?" I asked, seeing the aeronaut consulting coward, while it forestalled in me the countries. In 1873 he entered the Gerfatal climax toward which asphyxis man army, but the life of a soldier aid was slowly but surely stealing? Or not satisfy him, and he still dreamed of would he see and avert the disaster in travels. A few years later he met Dr. time to save his own vile life—though Pogge, and, having heard from that not mine. In such case, with what relebrated explorer about the lands that plausible tale would be return; of how remained to be explored in Central we had been perforce carried into Africa, he offered his services to the regions so high that I had succumbed Afrikanische Gesellschaft in Berlin, his log-book, he began jotting down observations; a proceeding that, to my related any necessity for conversation.

Silently we floated in the midst of silence—silence such as never rested on earth or ocean. I gave myself up to watching the clouds that were now surging in mountainous billows around and above the balloon, confining the view to their own fleecy forms. As I > l was not irrecoverably asphyxiated, he was endeavoring to throw me overhis own chance of escape by lightening the balloon. Then like in incarnation of this devilish purpose, there gleamed and he redoubled his efforts to hoist me out of the car. But, tlank Heavens. my desperate endeavors to break the spell-like bonds that held me resulted in a partial return of the use of my limbs, and I was enabled to resist his tion of the balloon. Some invisible power would send her whirling upwards, then spurn her aside, only to clutch at her as she fell reeling and short, a repetition of gyrations, attended by a strong sulphurous smell and confused howling.

While the Stella struggled with the fell out of the window. struggled together for life. Another minute and the balloon esdownwards. Torn open, and almost exhausted of gas by the buffeting she had | Gazette. undergone, the precipitance of our descent was fearful. Making one more superhuman effort, Walford suddenly seized me by the legs, and all but succeeded in casting me, somersault fashion, from the car. But although too faint and giddy to longer content th him, I instinctively clutched hold of the ropes suspending the car to the hoop. At that critical moment the car stant it was overturned, and my assailant thrown out, and but for my grasp on the ropes I must have followed him. In a succession of jerks the car descended through a mass of green foliage: then came sudden cessation of motion. The hoop had become firmly entangled in the interlaced branches of the trees, from the ground.

Realizing how precarious was my sitnation. I lost no time in scrambling up on a branch close at hand. Looking down, I saw Walford lying prone and motionless on the grass below. Wonitude would exceed by some thousands dering whether he was dead or alive, I the limit of my little aneroid. "Open | managed to possess myself of the guiderope, which I proceeded to secure to the with difficulty articulated, as I sank branch in order to let myself down. While thus engaged I heard shouts, and looking away I saw two men dashing across the green sward. Then there caught my eye in the distance a mag-> worth Castle. In a few minutes the men reached the foot of the tree. While one looked up, with eyes and mouth agape, at the shattered balloon, the other gave his attention to Walford.

As my feet touched the ground the man looked up and said, bluntly: "I'm afraid it's all over with him,

Yes, all plotting and scheming, all hatred and love-all were over for Cecil Walford! There he lay, his neck broken, and in his eyes the blank stare of death.

As I knelt by his side the lighting flashed from the lurid cloud overhead. scene of our desperate struggle-and falling full glare on his face, made still more awful its death-blanched ghastliness.-H. Park Bawden, in N. Y. Tribune.

Natural Gentlemanliness Kindly feelings, quick sympathies and gentle manners, joined with true self-respect, form the basis of that gentlemanliness which is so naturally is so much dreaded and so much misunderstood, consists in the absence of vulgar to wear a coarse coat or a cheap gown; but it is essentially so to dress in of one's creditors or one's peace of mind. It is not vulgar to make a mistake in sneer at the one who makes it, to ridicule ignorance, to be rude to the aged, to scorn honest frugality. A true gentleman may be poor or rich, but will be neither a miser nor a squanderer; he may be slenderly or thoroughly edu-cated, but he will be neither envious incial dialect, but will not use slang; nor contemptuous.-N. Y. Ledger.

EXPLORER WISSMANN.

Blind, dumb, and paralyzed, but all Many Consider His Achievements Second

I must have been in an unconscious Dark Continent. watched they almost imperceptibly subsided, at least so at first it appeared to me; but presently glancing up at the buoyant sphere overhead, I saw a dilation of gas was taking place, owing the same that was chosen to lead an expedition at the my first thought was as an echo of some basin of the river Congo. He returned basin of the river Congo. He returned bill and lit a cigar with it. Without you out." In a moment I was all consciousness as to the meaning of that straining grip, and of my own utter powerlessness to make even an attempt at resistance. I was still blind dumb, but could hear a loud hissill, that told me the surplus of gas had made itself some vent, from which it was now rushing. So I concluded we was now rushing. So I concluded we and had the same interests. After Dr. were fast descending, and that, fearing Pogge's death, Captain Wissmann led the expedition to the Congo and discovered the basin of the river. But he board, thus settling my fate, and aiding broke down in health, and was obliged to go to Madeira, where he spent two months in idleness.

In 1887 he returned to Germany, and upon me a set, white fice-my sight in the following year he was made Comhad returned.

As his eyes met mine, there leapt into them a look of deadlest malignity, army of black soldiers, in order to drive the Arabs away from the German colonies on the east coast of Africa. He arrived in Zanzibar in March, 1889, with a staff of fifty Germans, and from that time till May, 1890, he has been engaged in quieting the coast and in carrying fear violent attempts. As we struggled to- into the hearts of Arab leaders. Before gether, I noticed the extraordinary mo- his arrival the Arabs said that the Gerno importance; but now they seem to think differently.

On the fifth of last December, it will helpless, and again hurl her aloft! In be remembered, Major Wissmann received Stanley and Emin Pasha at Bagamayo, and it was at the dinner which o destroy its redeemable qualities. He prince of the powers of the air, as it The Germans are very proud of Major drawn-we two enraged adversaries Reichskommissar by the Kaiser, and for him. But his health is shattered, caped from the vortex, and sunk heavily and it will probably be some time before he can return to Africa.-Pall Mall

EVOLUTION OF DRESS.

The Present Dress of Woman the Remains of the Old Roman Toga. The desire of dress has led men to look high and low for material. The Hindoos, though far advanced in many of the arts of civilization, on certain religious festivals take to the woods and cool themselves with leaves. Though bark would seem to be a most unpleasant and undesirable mate, ial for clothing, yet it is used by many wild races. In the Polynesian Islands are trees called lace-bark trees. From the inside bark of this tree they make a very serviceable piece of cloth. Matting is a step further on in dress. This is the time when he had progressed so far as to weave fibers together. It is the beginning of weaving, and is far ahead of bark cloth, or skirts. The Fijis have the finest class of matting in the world. which is made from the new seal and flax. Four years of labor are taken by these people in making a single war cloak. There are some races who make fine feather garments. There are two feather mantels now in the countryone in New York, the other in Washington-made in the Sandwich Islands, which are valued at $1,000 each. By means of an assistant he showed the audience how the blanket developed from a girdle, and how our modern dress developed from the blanket. dress. These were driven out by the close-fitting garments of the North. Today the dress of the women is the remains of the old Roman toga, and men's times when men rode horseback a great deal more than now. The tails were grace in riding, and a piece left as a reminder of what was. Two buttons this day.-From Frederick Starr's Chautauqua Lecture.

The Right Man for the Place. The Prince of Wales, Justin McCarthy says in the North American Review, is understood "to be a great stickler for court etiquette. No one knows better the exact way in which every band and order and medal should be worn. He is very particular about good manners in Princes and Princesses, and I have his by marriage who is often lectured severely on the impropriety of losing servants. The Prince is a social umpire of the utmost authority, and no end of torily by a reference to his good-natured and genial, but firm, counsel." McCarthy sums up his subject by saying: "I am not, myself, a great enthusiast about royalty or royal personages, but I must say that, so long as we are to have an heir to the throne, I do not think we could find any one better able to conduct the business of the position than the Prince of Wales has shown himself of late years.

-A luminous buoy has been invented,

A DRUMMER'S TRICK.

How He Manages to Appear Liberal With-out Going to Any Expense. A drummer for a large wholesale elething house has a trick which he says saves him a great deal of money. He has to go around with retailers in small ountry towns a great deal. He finds hat an amount of display and extravarance is necessary in order to convince hem of the standing and generous lealing of his house. This used to cost aim a great deal of money in traveling expenses. He was expected to bear a great part of the expense of entertainng the men to whom he sold goods; he nad to buy them drinks and cigars and take them around. In the course of this he had to drink a good deal himself. He acticed that it was not so much the amount of money that he spent, but the show that he made with it which impressed them, and that it was more important to seem careless and generous than really to spend a great deal of

One night he was with some retail n such a reckless way. The next day, when he sobered up, he found the burned bill in his pocket only one end of which had burned. He thought he and made a fool of himself by throwing tway good money. The idea occurred to him, however, that possibly he could ake the bill around to the sub-treasury and get a new bill for it. So the nex time he was in town he took the burned oill to the sub-treasury, where it was readily exchanged for a new one. The oill had not been destroyed; it was plain what its denomination, number and issue were, and he had no trouble n having it replaced. The idea became strong in his mind that he might do this ostentatious and reckless act without having to pay for t. So the next time he was out with mans were "wadogo dogo," namely, of several of his customers he bought a 'ew rounds of drinks, and then began ir reckless and careless way to burn ut one and two doilar bills. He took pains to put the bills back in his pocket, and not to burn up enough of any one bill he gave in their honor that Emin Pasha also told his customers extravagan' stories about the percentage his house was paying him, how cheap it was sellseemed-literally, the vortex of the Wissmann, and think him only second to ng, and what liberal concessions he was thunder-cloud into which she had been Stanley. He has been made Major and naking to get rid of the stock which his house hand on hand. He found the trick worked excellently. He has been try ing it on ever since to a greater or less extent.

One night he held a card party of some of his customers at his rooms at the hotel and thinking that possibly they might notice that he immediately put the bills out and put them back in his threw them in a cuspidor which he kept by his chair, first putting them out before he threw them in, so that they might not be burned up there. After his customers left he took the top off them all up and redeemed them when he next returned to New York. He has gained the reputation of being one of on the road, without it costing him as much for expenses with his customers as it costs other salesmen who do not burn up their money .- N. Y. Sun.

JUST WHAT MUFTI IS.

Anybody Can Buy It, But Nobody But a Warrior Can Wear It. What does "mufti" mean? Is it an Americanism, an Anglicism, a Gallicism, or pure, unadulterated slang? In the teen years ago, it would have been se-for prizes. Briefly expressed, mufti is a military term largely used in Europe and in a less degree in this country for the use of civil dress or plain clothes by a regular military or naval officer entitled to wear uniforms at all times, as was actu-There was a time when the toga of the ally done by officers in the army or navy Greeks and Romans was the customary of the great nations up to the close of the last century. In the present day there seems to be such a burning desire on the part of officers in the army and navy dress the survival of the garments of United States to get rid of the evidences the North. The dress suit, swallow of their presumably honorable calling tail coat, of to-day is the remains of the that the wearing of mufti, or plain clothes, is an almost universal practice. Whether it is for the good of the councut away in order to facilitate ease and try that the objection to wearing uniforms on the streets, outside of parades or public processions, is extending to and loops were placed on it so it might the non-commissioned officers and pribe hitched up, and these survive until vates of the regular service, is a question that is just now receiving considerable attention from thoughtful citizens.

Turning for a moment to the philological issue involved in the 'mufti," it appears that the term is of Arabic origin, and was adopted into the Hindoostani tongue to express the assumption of plain clothes by the officers in the service of the old East India Company, which was a commercial corporation invested with military powers. heard that there is a near connection of the original Arabic "mufti" indicated a person, not a thing, namely, a doctor or teacher of religions or Mohammedan his temper when giving directions to law, which is its present primary interpretation in Turkey. The French speak of an officer "in mufti" as "en Pekin," personal disputes are settled satisfac- thus again recognizing the Oriental origin of the word. The German army uses "mufti" to express the assumption of civilian clothes after being in form, and the Russians recognize the term in the same sense.—San Francisco Chronicle.

> Selecting a Part. Chicago Actress-I should like to have part in your revival of "Cinderella." Theatrical Manager-Do you think you can play the part of Cinderella? Chicago Actress-N-o, but I'd do beautifully as one of the sisters whom Cinderella's shoes wouldn't fit.-N. Y. Weekly.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Clinton, Ia., claims to have the argest saw-mill in the world. -Professor Putnam, in his report to the Peabody Museum for the current year, says man has existed for 10,000 years in this country. -The art of making matches has been so perfected that 10,000,000 of the tiny sticks can be cut into shape, all ready for dipping, by one machine in a single day.

—The mineral called turfa, or brazolina, recently discovered in Bahia, furnishes an oil akin to petroleum, a paraffine suitable for the manufacture of candles, and a good lubricating oil. -- A new substitute for sulphate of quinine has been found by M. Valude in the bark of the panbotana, a legumin-ous tree of Mexico. Either the alcoholic tincture or a preparation obtained by maceration has remarkable effect in fever cases. -A report comes from the West of the discovery of a process by which iron ore can be so softened by the concentrated rays of an are light as to be worked with a comparatively small amount of labor. If this discovery is confirmed, it may lead to a considerable modification of the present modes of treating ores. -The iron industry is rapidly getting into a more satisfactory condition, and, notwithstanding the fact that the production of both crude and finished iron is far in excess of any previous record, yet consumption has so far kept pacewith it that the market is nowhere burdened with any large accumulation. Prices have eased off somewhat within the past six months, but are gradually becoming firmer, and as the supply is absorbed without difficulty, the outlook is deemed to be most favorable. - Boston

Advertiser. -In five years of observation at Lincoln, New Zealand, Mr. George Gray has found that the amount of impurity washed down from the air by the rain lepends more on the number of showers than on the total rainfall. An acre of land at Lincoln receives annually (in 28.9 inches of rain) about 179 pounds of dissolved matter, including 60.5 pounds of chlorine, fifteen pounds of sulphuric anhydride, and a little more than two pounds of nitrogen. Nearness to the sea explains the high proportion of chlorine. - Arkansaw Traveler. -M. de la Bastie, a French chemist, has, during the past few years, conducted a seriescof experiments which are said to have resulted in a method of rendering glass sufficiently tough for use in molding many articles hithertomade of iron. On the strength of this discovery, the hope is indulged that the huge sub-Atlantic pneumatic tube for the connection of the Old with the New World, the suggestion of which was received with indifference and incredulity to be not so chimerical as at first glance it was judged to be. -The death of Dr. Christian Henry F. Peters, the celebrated astronomer of Litchfield Observatory, Hamilton College, ends one of the most useful scientific careers of our day. Dr. Peters' astronomical work was varied and expocket, he used dollar bills for lighters tensive, including observations on during the whole evening and then asteroids, comets, solar spots, and the mapping of the stellar heavens. He discovered more asteroids other astronomer, the total to his credit, we believe, being forty-seven. He recorded 12,000 sun spots and catalogued the cupsidor, took the bills out, folded 75,000 zodiacal stars. His star charts were among the most elaborate ever published, and contained all the known stars down to the fourteenth magnitude the most careless and extravagant men as far as thirty degrees on each side of the equator, throughout the whole twenty-four hours .- Rochester Herald.

> ADJUSTABLE SUN DIAL. A Cheap and Reasonably Accurate Substitute for a Watch. A very simple, but tolerably accurate, sun dial has been preserved. It is one made in England in the last century, when they were commonly used in cer-tain districts in place of the more exdays of spelling and definition bees, fif- pensive clocks and watches. It depends upon the varying height of the sun lected as a good word to torture aspirants above the horizon during the day, and not upon its distance from the meridian, as with an ordinary dial.

It consists of three rings, the inner one moving freely between the two outer ones. On the outside ring are engraved the initial letters of the months. of the year, and opposite these, on the inside, are the hours of the morning and afternoon. The movable ring is pierced. with a small hole.

It is evident that if the opening in the instrument is turned toward the sun at sunrise, a luminous spot will be thrown upon the inside of the ring, and as the sun mounts higher in the sky the spot will move downward until noon, when it will turn and move up again till sunset, and it is only necessary to mark the hours where the light falls during a single day to obtain a ready means of learning the time, at least approximately; but a correction is necessary for the varying height of the sun at different seasons of the year, so the ring with the opening is made movable, and once a month is moved until the opening comes opposite the initial letter of

The extreme error of this instrument is not more than fifteen minutes, and it. forms a cheap and useful substitute for a watch. -Jeweler's Weekly.

Heard on the Street. First Citizen (who has evidently just een to see "Merchant of Venice. Well, you see the Jew, when he found out how it was going, he backed out. Second Citizen-And lost the money.

First Citizen-O, yes; you see it was in this way; she was in love with the fellow the Jew got the cash for; and when the time came to pay, according to the agreement, it was either pay or cut. Well, the old man, he hadn't the money and the Jew, he was bound to have the pound of flesh; and it looked rough for the old man. Well, she dressed herself n man's clothes and was judge; and says she: "Jew, you are right; I find it so nominated in the bond. But, Jew, mark you, one pound of flesh, not one iota more nor less; and if you shed one drop of blood your goods are forfeit to the State." Well, the Jew, he seen how it was, and he left.

Second Citizen—Pretty deep, eh?
First Citizen—O, there's some very elegant things in Shakespeare. - PuckWhy an Obituary Was Printed Instead of a Salutatory.

It had been the dream of my life to own, edit and publish a newspaper. I in that office which would have done was not particular as to whether it was credit to a first-class camp-meeting. He a daily, weekly or monthly; I simply wanted to run it, and try my hand at molding public sentiment, as my grandfather had done before me. He was a good editor and ran a weekly let him, and when at last he died of his debts the sheriff gave him an obituary of which any editor might be proud.

Well, when I had saved up sixty dollars my opportunity came. A friend of for my watch and the sixty dollars. The watch was an old Waterbury, so it did not take long to wind up the business, and I soon found myself in full charge of a flourishing country newspaper.

With great pride I prepared my saputting the finishing touches to it, and had just penned the usual words: "We are here and here to stay," a prospective subscriber stalked into the sanctum and seating himself calmly upon the editorial desk, said: "That's your salutatory, is it? Now, people want? Well, I'm the man to give 'em to you. Let's see what you've wrote there?

He suited the action to the word and took the editorial from my reluctant

"It won't do," he said, when he had labored through my ponderous sentences. "I see you don't understand this people very well. You know, there's more Baptists in this community than there is Methodists. In fact, we just rule things, and if you don't put in ruined man. By the way," he continued, mistaking one of my red slippers for a spittoon and flooding it with tobacco juice, "what church do you belong to, anyhow?"

I was almost afraid to tell him, but I ventured to hint that I had a leaning toward the Methodists.

"Keep it quiet," he said, almost in a whisper, "for the Methodists ain't nowhere around these diggin's. They only have preachin' once a month, and they ain't got but one man on the town council, while the Baptists is got one mayor, four aldermen, one express agent and two telegraph operators. O, we're in the lead, I tell you; so you'd better keep your weather eye open, and look to your interest. That's all I've got to

And he left me to my sad reflection. But I was not left entirely alone, for ere the footsteps of my Baptist friend had died into an echo, a tall, slim man, wearing a nervous smile and a pair of spectacles entered and tip-toed toward

"I saw old Jenkins coming out just now," he explained, as he sat down on my ink bottle, "and I'll bet I know what he was up to. He was trying to tell you how to run the paper-now, wasn't

I admitted that his language had impressed me in that way. "Don't mind a word he says," said my new adviser. "He's crazy on the subject of religion, and don't know what he is talking about. What you want to do is to praise up the Presbyterians. They're getting stronger and stronger every day -going to build a brick church and a public school next week, and before six months is out they'll be in full control of the town. Take my word for it, if you want your paper to succeed, you will have to give the Presbyterians a showing. And that's all I've got to say." I heaved a deep sigh of relief as he vanished through the door, which I was about to lock after him when an old man, wearing the look of a Methodist preacher, pushed his way in.

WHY, GOD BLESS US. BROTHER.

"How is it with you, brother?" he asked, shaking hands heartily, as he plumped down in the only chair in the I told him it was not as well as it might be, but that I hoped to pull through. "You'll never do it," he said, "by listenin' to them Baptists and Presbyterians. They are tryin' to run this town.

but we're goin' to git up a revival which will sweep 'em from the face of the earth! "Baptist?" "No. sir." "Presbyterian?"

"Not exactly, sir." "Episcopalian?" "Not very much, sir.

"Why, God bless us, brother," he exclaimed, as he jumped up and grasped my hand, "you're a Methodist, ain't I told him no, but that I had once that was the next thing to it.

"Don't worry over it," he said, soothingly, and giving me a slap on the back | would stop at the employment office and which set me to coughing. "You ain't the first man that ever fell from grace. English, French, German, Swedish, Dan-But we are going to throw the props isb, Norwegian, Polish, Russian, Italian around you and keep you up. Now, or colored girl for general house work.-. I'm going to git right down here and Puck.

pray for you-right on this floor, which ain't been swept in ten years-and vant you to git down with me." It was in vain that I told him I was in a big hurry and would rather wait till dark. He would take no denial, and in a second he had started a revival credit to a first-class camp-meeting. He had warned me beforehand that he would remain upon his knees until I was converted, and I mentally decided that my case was hopeless. As the good old man prayed for my salvation he beat the newspaper as long as his creditors would air wildly with his hands, and as I was in the air myself, I came in for a good share of the beating. He followed me all over the room in the agony of his plea, now knocking my head against the composing stone, or jostling my breast mine who owned a hand-press and a with a severe blow in the ribs, just to box of type offered to trade the outfit emphasize his words. Sometimes I emphasize his words. Sometimes I the wall hard, bet he only shouted the louder when this occurred. We were both perspiring freely with the exercise; his paper collar had melted and run down his back, and my cellu-Intatory, but while I was in the act of loid cuffs had caught fire five times. One or the other had to weaken, and I felt that the other was myself. "Brother!" he shouted in desperation, is the work done yet? Do you feel any I was about to tell him that I had spent the last cent I had, and felt no you're a stranger here, and may be change at all, but I knew he wouldn't you'd like a few hints as to what the let me up on that, and so I told him yes, that I was a changed man. "Where do you feel it?" he asked, as he paused for breath. "In my back and side," I answered. "In fact it's all over me!" He gave a shout that shook the build-

brow in the office towel, said to me that he would call on me to lead the meeting that night and went forth rejoicing. Then I sat down to my desk again, weak and helpless, and wrote my own a good word for the Baptists you're a obituary; and when I recovered from the spell of sickness which ensued, I sold my paper to the Baptists for seventyfive dollars and hired out to a heathen as clerk in a grocery store.-F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution. SCIENCE CLIPPINGS. An English fish culturist has found that a six-pound eel contains about 9,-

000,000 eggs. Some remarkable caves have been discovered in West Austria. Two of them will afford accommodations for 200,000 men each.

An invention is set to work in France for indicating the speed of railway trains. Tables are prepared, showing the practical observer the exact relations the readings have to the speed. Cases of lead-poisoning among the Jacquard weavers in a Swiss factory were traced to the dust from leaden weights which are used by the weavers to carry the thread of their warp. A TREE grows round instead of square or any other shape because there is nothing in nature on the square, except the forms of some crystalline minerals.

A circle is the shortest way around, and as trees grow from a common center, a circle becomes a natural sequence in their outward form. It is proposed to use the spectroscope to determine whether cesspools, stables, etc., drain into neighboring wells. A solution of carbonate of chloride of lithium is poured into the suspected sources of pollution in the neighborhood, and after a week or so the well water is ex-amined spectroscopically for lithium, eighteen to twenty per cent. of alcohol toxication are so many and so fearful which can thus be detected even if the water holds in solution less than one pint to a million.

THE average reader is scarcely aware of the changes in the map of Africa made necessary by recent explorations. The great globe of the Paris exposition was twice altered during its construction, to accommodate itself to changes, and it is said that two years ago some Belgian map makers were five times compelled to take from the press a large map of the Congo State for additions and corrections.

NEVADA has what are termed "traveling stones." They are described as being perfectly round, about as large as a walnut and of an ivory nature. When distributed about on the floor, table or other level surface, within two or three feet of each other, they at once begin to move toward each other until they meet in a common center, and there lie huddled in a bunch. They are largely composed of magnetic iron ore. A RUNNING board for the top of cars has been invented, its purpose being to prevent the brakemen from falling off the cars. Railings run from one end of the car to the other in the center, other railings leading from the side ladders. Between these railings a man might walk with safety, the slipping outward ly of the feet being prevented by a skirting rail at the feet of the upright rail posts. The running board extends over the end of each car so as to closely approach a similar extension on the opposing car. A LEADING fire commissioner advances the suggestion that electricity will soon take the place of steam in fire engines, and that the question of getting an engine of the greatest waterthrowing capacity to the fire with the greatest celerity will be solved by electricity. Substitute for the steam power of any modern engine, stored electricity or electric power, conveyed to each hy drant, making of your engine a pump on wheels, and you have lightness itself as regards weight, with almost unlimited power for throwing water. This will be the fire engine of the future as he sees it. Down to Hard Pan.

Mrs. Statesman-Are you going out this evening?

L Mr. Statesman-Yes. I have promised to attend the St. Patrick Club reception and deliver an oration on "The Irish in America. What Would the Country Do fallen from grace, and that I supposed Without Them?" Is there any thing you want down-town, my dear? Mrs. Statesman - Yes; I wish you ask them to send me a good American.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

CALIFORNIA WINES.

Are Very Strong of Alcohol, and Hrane Quite Intoxicating. Passing through Southern California cussing a class dinner: nutual friend to the proprietor of one of the wineries there, a person who had me over from Europe, I learned some things about California wines that may be of general interest and help toward a correct understanding of their nature. The "mission grape" of which the wines are made, probably so named from its both laughed. ntroduction by persons connected with the early Romish missions to California, first speaker. "A fellow has to take his religious duty knew what they were Europe. For this reason it is not suitwould dodge, and his hand would hit able for making "dry wines." By this term the gentleman appeared to undertation we can get only sixteen or seventeen per cent. of alcohol, which statement agrees with those of others, which such a sensible man says.' I have never statement agrees with those of others.

Wine or smoke a cigar.' I answered: 'It also be foolish not to profit by what at Eastburn, London, who had driven four nails into his skull three or four least, not until my return at Eastburn, London, who had driven four nails into his skull three or four least, not until my return at Eastburn, London, who had driven four nails into his skull three or four least, not until my return at Eastburn, London, who had driven four nails into his skull three or four least not until my return at Eastburn at E statement agrees with those of others, the alcohol then becoming strong from decomposition, as it preserves other substances immersed in it.

The grapes are put into a machine which cleans out all the stems, crushed the grapes, and filters out all the pulp, seeds and skins. It has three filters through all of which the first flow of juice, if not the whole of the liquid, runs. Other persons acquainted with the working of the winery spoke of ing, rose to his feet, told me that I was there being three runs of the grapea sinner saved by grace, mopped his juice, the first run being used for making the wine called "angelica," the second for making sherry and port wine, and the third for claret. They stated also that water is sometimes poured on the pulp and skins for the third run, which reminds one of the ancient custom of doing the same thing to make soldier.

The proprietor did not seem inclined to give any information about selling | Horn. the grape-juice as unfermented wine, though others affirmed that he somedown quantities of it, but insisted that decline to issue policies to men who and not wine, although he was referred in the form ofdrams. to the Roman custom of calling such wine defrutum and sapa.

As to the making of the wine called grape-juice mixed with twenty per cent. | the circulation and the nutrition; nor of "the spirit of wine." By this term is any other result possible.—Prof. Youinferior grades of wine. At the time of THE word toxical means poison and my visit he was said to be distilling originally signified the poison in simple smelling of it showed that it saloon. was strong with alcohol. He stated but that there is a sale for it in Amerall will understand to be true who are familiar with the nature of alcohol. The twenty per cent. of alcohol is strong enough to preserve the eighty per cent. of sweet juice from any decomposition by vinous fermentation. He also spoke of making other "sweet wines," as sweet sherry, etc., and said they were fermented wines, but that after fermentation had taken place and give the wine a sweet taste. seven or eight per cent. of alcohol, but | As I LOOKED at the hospital wards tocent. of alcohol.

and hence must be quite intoxicating. forth on a holy crusade, preaching to all be spoken of as an unfermented wine. and to Giadstone. But still, from this we must not imagine that it is an unintoxicating wine. as is generally understood, when we drunkards were gathered in a meeting speak of unfermented wine. And again, by the Breakfast Association, a speaker this wine is manifestly very different in its nature from ordinary wines, so far as its nourishing properties are concerned. Ordinary fermented and yet pure wines contain but a mere trifle of nourishment, but the angelica, if made as described, must be very nourishing, although the be very nourishing, although the nourishment can be obtained only with great accompanying evil and danger from its being mixed with so much alcohol. The best grape-juice is said alcohol. The best grape-juice is said that, between Saturday night and Montana a by chemical authorities to contain as much or more nutriment than an equal quantity of the best milk. And as the quantity of the best milk. And as the tained by the young man, just begintally fine California grapes are exceptionally fine, ning to drink, who, in his new-found if the angelica contains eighty per cent. of the best grape-juice, it must have a friends, and to be in turn treated by large amount of nourishment. And in respect to the other sweet wines which are fermented, if they have any considerable quantity of grape-juice put into them after fermentation has ceased, in There is no more infatuated folly in proportion to the amount of this which the world than the idea that a woman they contain they must be nourishing can reform a man by marrying him. the California wines should be spoken it worked well was one in which a sengarded as of the same nature as ordinary a man of drinking by not marrying him from European grapes, and yet we a lapse. If more women would have the California wines are not very harm- and families. And yet how many peoful intoxicating drinks.—Rev. C. Hart-well, in National Temperance Advo-who won't stay sober in order to win a EVERY dollar spent in the saloon is a That was a sound, if homely, philosoblow at the family, and the family is the defense of our Nation.—Northwester Mail

DECLINING A TREAT.

An interesting Conversation Between a Couple of Collegians. The following conversation was heard

"Of course," said one (with a consepatronage students call "fresh," and guns and pistols of civilization.

which only length of days can cure) "if —The Oxford County Adv a fellow hasn't wit enough to know Bethel correspondent recently saw sevfirst. Some heads are built weak, you kites on the common, among them be is sweeter, however, as it grows in Southern California than it is in Europe. For this record it is recorded by the stand it. Some can not; at least for a warding off an attack of dwarf of the warding off an attack of man. His friend, a bearded senior, the for me?" B .- "With what?" A .- "Take > wine or smoke a cigar.' I answered: 'It tasted wine or touched tobacco, and I -and then, again, I might not."

> What do you say when you are red a 'treat?' " "I say: 'No, thank you, I never take

ITEMIZED FACTS.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, while working as a printer among London beer-drinkers, was known as the "American Aquatic," because he drank only water. IF a man were to drink four quarts of beer daily, so little is the real nutriment in it that he would in the course of one year get the equivalent of a five pound loaf of bread.

THE man with the fattest pocketthe posca or sour drink of the Roman cigars nor wear the finest clothes. It's the man who can least afford the cost who wears the reddest nose.-Ram's

THE best class of life insurance companies prefer not to take risks on drinktimes sold the sweet juice. He boils ing men, and some of them absolutely it should be called "grape molasses," habitually use alcoholic or malt liquors It is evident that, so far from being a conservator of health, alcohol is an active and powerful cause of disease, in-"angelica," he said it was the sweet terfering as it does with the respiration, brandy, as the season for gathering the which arrows had been prepared for grapes and making wine had passed. battle. The poisoned arrow was not He poured out a little of his angelica more certainly an instrument of death for me to test its character, and the than is the poisoned cup of the modern ONE hundred and fifty times as much that no such wine is made in Europe, as is annually paid to the clergymen of the United States, and one hundred and ica, and that it will not ferment, which eighty times as much as is paid every year by the whole world for the cause of missions, is annually expended to

MADNESS, to think use of strongest wines And strongest drinks our chief support of When God, with these forbidden, made choice

His mighty champion, strong above compare, Whose only drink was from the liquid brook." a portion of unfermented grape-juice that it is difficult to enumerate even was then added to give them a sweet the outlines of them; and to pursue them taste. Of course, in this case, as in all their melancholy details would with the angelica, after the wine has require a volume .... The mere pecunito twenty per cent. of alcohol, the fairly estimated at a little short of fifty sweet juice introduced into the wine will be preserved from all change and Report of a select committee appointed by the House of Commons in 1834, and who introduced me afterward said that ment that the teaching about this questhe clarets made in California some- tion was not more direct, more decisive, times contain as much as fifteen per more home-thrusting than ever it had been. . . . It is when I think of all these, Thus it will be seen that the Cali- that I am disposed to give up my profornia wines are very strong of alcohol. fession, give up every thing and go

Recently when two hundred or more saloons .- National Baptist. The Folly of Some Girls. Apparently, therefore, some of The only case we ever heard of where wife will keep sober after he gets her!

Save the Young Men.

MISCEL ANEOUS.

-California peaches will be eaten

this season chiefly -There are thirty-five men in Suffolk between two collegians, who were dis- still employed in making gun flints, or "flint-knapping," as they call it, for the and being introduced by a quential touch of self-complacency and succeeded to the long discarded flint use of the remote savages, who have

-The Oxford County Advertiser's when to stop, he'd better be careful at eral leading citizens of that town flying ing a prominent physician and a justice "Careful in what?" interrupted I, and of the Supreme bench.

-"The ancient lawgivers who went so "Why, drinking, of course," said the far as to make a periodical fast day a term the gentleman appeared to understand wines made from grape-juice, containing only so much grape-sugar as would be entirely changed in its fersulation. He stated that in fermen-strong the stated that in ferminal, stapped that the stated that it is stated that it is stated that it is stated that it is stated that in ferminal stated that it is stated that it -A man was brought to the hospital inches deep. He suffered from severe am glad of it-gladder every day I live. headache and took that means to cure enough to arrest further fermentation I might have been 'built' with a strong it. The nails were extracted with difficulty.

—The leaves of the pawpaw tree are employed by the negroes in washing linen, as a substitute for soap. They it' Generally that settles the matter have also the property of rendering quietly."—Better Day. meat wrapped in them tender, owing to the alkaloid papain which they contain, and which acts as a solvent.

-Teacher (to class in arithmetic)-"John goes marketing. He buys two and a quarter pounds of sugar at eleven cents a pounds, two dozen eggs at sixteen cents a dozen and a gallon and a half of milk at twenty cents a gallon. What does it all make?" Smallest boy (hugging himself ecstatically)-"Custard.

-As the law of Aberdeen required it, book doesn't always smoke the best a cab driver was prosecuted, convicted, and fined five shillings, or three days' imprisonment, for smoking a pipe on his cab, not while driving a fare, but while it for use on porcelain." - Boston Tranhe was standing on the lookout for one. By the municipal laws and regulations of Aberdeen the smoking of a pipe by a cab driver is a criminal offense.

-It appears that there are forty-seven bridges of upwards of 400 feet span in the world. The United States has by far the largest proportion of these, or twenty-nine in all. Of the total, nine are cantilever bridges, seven arch bridges, four stiffened suspension bridges, nineteen are truss bridges, two tubular girder bridges, and six draw-pet dog of the family rushed upon the rabid animal and put him to flight, but not till after a severe fight, in which lacerated. The boy escaped without harm. The dog that so nobly sacrificed itself had to be killed.

tle afraid you would kick, but that ex--An American missionary from India says that there is a chance in Madras is."-Terre Haute Express. and Bombay for a number of bright, skilled American dentists. Madras is a city of 300,000 population, and has not a single American dentist. People sometimes travel from there to Bombay, nearly a thousand miles, in order to have a tooth filled. There is only one manifested in Klisheva, a village in the good dentist in Bombay, and he refuses to fill teeth with gold, using a sort of ning of June two peasants dug up a

$7.50 for pulling a tooth. in the United States the reverse process is under way in Canada. In 1867, at the the laborers of a factory near by. Therebeen fortified so as to contain eighteen ary loss to the Nation may be ion, its debt amounted to $22 per head and children, began flocking around the of the population, and that of the Uni- healing waters. As the spring did not is about $14, and that of the Dominion was erected on the spot. Several peas-Speaking of the California claret, he said that the European clarets contain

Speaking of the California claret, he including Lord Althorp and Sir Robert

State of the will as the bound of the bound of the speaking of the village stand inside the per capital and that the European clarets contain indebtedness of the United States is fence and deal out the water in bothless. the California clarets have eleven or day and saw that seven out of ten owed three years ago, Canada's is more than a coin at the foot of the cross. The Globe-Democrat. DRUG CLERKS' BLUNDERS.

Not Occur More Frequently. the patient receiving medicine different to that which the attending physician but if any serious consequences result he will, unjustly, be charged with some by the villagers and the duped masses of the blame. Then the prescription around the place, and had, therefore, to clerk has not only the mistakes of the be abandoned .-- London Letter. doctors to contend with, but also any that may be made by the wholesale drug house that supplies the store in which he is employed. It is just as possible that the clerk in the wholesaie drug house may wrongly label a package or a bottle as that the prescription clerk may use the wrong liquid or powder in compounding a mixture. This danger of receiving the wrong drug is fully appreciated by some prominent druggists, and it has become their custom to test all supplies as received before permitting them to go into stock. But there are scores of druggists who do not take of with discrimination, and not be re- sible and resolute girl did actually cure this precaution. It is the dangers that surround the filling of prescriptions European wines, even though these —until be had broken off the habit and wines may be pure and manufactured stood a probation of five years without ploy apothecaries of their own and to dispense mediicnes from pharmacies should not ignorantly or foolishly de-lude ourselves with the idea that the there would be fewer drunkards' wives provides triple safeguards against mistakes. The apothecary becomes absolutely familiar with the handwriting of the physician who employs him; he has time to test all drugs received from the wholesale houses and he is never rushed, as is a clerk in a store, when prescription filling is only one branch of his duties."—N. Y. Star.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-The trouble with justice is that she does so little besides holding her scales. -"How can I get rid of superfluous Mr. Druggist?" "Get married, sir."-Boston Courier.

-"Why do you call that group of middle-aged ladies on the piazza anatomists?" "Because they are always cutting up people."-Boston Gazette. "Papa, what is a savage?" "A savage, my son, is a man who occupies two whole seats in a railway car, while some poor woman with a sick baby has to stand up."-Ram's Horn. -The meanest man in Washington is the one who made the minister give him a receipt when he paid him a dollar for officiating at his marriage. - Washington Critic. -Great Publisher-"Very sorry, sir, but your manuscript will not do." Time Novelist-"Eh? What is the matter with it?" Great Publisher-"It seems

-Mrs. Rural (at an art gallery and looking at a Madonna)—"Whose picture is that?" Attendant—"Raphael's, madam." Mrs. Rural-"Why, sakes alive! always thought Raphael was a man." -Yale Record. -Bank President (to cashier in jail) -"Why didn't you go to Canada?"

"Cashier (haughtily)-"Because I've got some pride about me and I didn't want to go up there with only $25,000 and live on a back street in a strange city."—Washington Star.

—"I don't believe papa sent this telegram at all," said Mrs. Snaggs, after carefully scrutinizing one just received. "Why not?" asked her husband. "Don't know my own papa's handwriting?

This doesn't look a bit like it."-Pittsburgh Chronicle. -Lady Shopper-"Doesn't it require onsiderable experience to put the color on?" Clerk-"No, ma'am, not at all; you can put it on yourself." Shopper-"Thank you, sir, but I wanted script -Alas! For a Lass.-Alas! I'm in love and would marry, I'm really quite anxious to wed;

And single no longer I'd tarry,
I long to be double instead.
And the paths through which cupid has led man Have burdened my heart with regret, The girls whom I'd have will not wed me, While I won't have the ones I can get.

-Chicago Post.

-Fogg-"I see that by the new baseball rules a fellow who is at the bat and is hit by a pitched ball can take his base. Now, what is to prevent a man getting hit by the ball on purpose to get his -At Guthriesville, Pa., a mad dog attacked the little son of Mrs. Gibbons, but before the child was bitten the but before the child was bitten the Fielding—"I thought not."—America. -Great Editor-"We shall have to dispense with your services, Mr Jones. A man who knows no more about gramthe family dog was badly bitten and mar than to write about a "female poetess" is hardly fitted for the newspaper business." New Reporter-"I was a lit-

actly describes the kind of poetess she RUSSIAN SUPERSTITION.

An Extraordinary Manifestation of Latters Day Ignorance. An old superstition, with specially Russian characteristics, has of late been government of Moscow. At the begincement that is not lasting. He charges spring of water at that place. An old woman dreamed that the newly--While the public debt is decreasing discovered spring possessed curative time of the establishment of the Domin- upon masses of people, mostly women ted States to 862 per head. To-day the yield enough water to satisfy them all a United States debt, on the same basis, fence was built around it, and a cross only a quarter as great as it was twenty- to the applicants, each of whom deposits twelve per cent. of it. The gentleman their diseases to alcohol, I could but la- twice as large as it was then. -St. Louis money is collected by the elder of the village every evening and kept "for communal purposes." At the foot of the cross there stands a bottle with two It is Really Remarkable That They Do dead frogs in it, who had come to their untimely end in a peculiar manner. "It does not surprise me that mistakes Before the concourse of sick persons by drug clerks sometimes occur," re- around the spring was great, some of And we should be careful not to be decreased by their names. It is evident race."—Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the coived by their names. It is evident race."—Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the coived by their names. It is evident race."—Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the coived by their names. It is evident race."—Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the coived by their names. that the angelica may with propriety physicians to her Majesty, the Queen, remarkable that they do not occur more were dangerously ill, and, pinning them frequently. Physicians do not as a rule to the ground, made them drink the write very legibly, and it is just possible healing waters until they fainted. When that a badly written word may be misconstrued by a man who handles the the ground the two frogs were found in prescription that contains it, and so a their garments, and were declared to be more or less serious error be made. A devils driven out by the virtue of the doctor may write down one mendica- holy water. They are now exhibited in ment when he means to prescribe anoth- the bottle as a sign of the wondrous er. This error, of course, will lead to properties of the spring. The rush of people to that place is so great now that the authorities have great difficulty desired he should take. The drug clerk can not be held accountable for this. the spring was met with loud protests

> From the Portuguese. Mr. Thomas Stingy is precisely what his name would signify. The other day a friend visited him. It was very hot, and after a few words had been interchanged Mr. Stingy asked his caller, 'Would you like to have some refreshment?" "With great pleasure, dear old boy!"

exclaimed the poor fellow, who was awfully thirsty." "All right, I will open the windows. We'll have some, breeze."-Judge. In Sweet Accord.

Mrs. Dontiranto-O, dear! what can we give Milly Nane for her wedding present. I suppose it must be in accord with her wealth and position. Mr. Dontiranto-I suppose so.. let's give her a miniature ice chest, with a piece of real ice in it.—Detroit Free Press. Polite Under Trying Circumstances. Burglar-Now, fork out. Gimme yer watch. Now yer pocketbook. silver match safe. Now yer Now yer small change.

Polite Victim (an ex-merchant)-Any thing else to-day, sir? Shall I send these?-N. Y. Sun. Why an Obituary Was Printed Instead of a Salutatory.

It had been the dream of my life to own, edit and publish a newspaper. I in that office which would have done was not particular as to whether it was a daily, weekly or monthly; I simply wanted to run it, and try my hand at molding public sentiment, as my grandfather had done before me. He was a good editor and ran a weekly newspaper as long as his creditors would let him, and when at last he died of his in the air myself, I came in for a good debts the sheriff gave him an obituary of which any editor might be proud.

Well, when I had saved up sixty dollars my opportunity came. A friend of mine who owned a hand-press and a for my watch and the sixty dollars. The watch was an old Waterbury, so it did not take long to wind up the business, louder when this occurred. and I soon found myself in full charge of a flourishing country newspaper.

Intatory, but while I was in the act of putting the finishing touches to it, and had just penned the usual words: "We felt that the other was myself. are here and here to stay," a prospective subscriber stalked into the sanctum and seating himself calmly upon the editorial desk, said: 'That's your salutatory, is it? Now, you're a stranger here, and may be you'd like a few hints as to what the people want? Well, I'm the man to that I was a changed man. give 'em to you. Let's see what you've wrote there?"

He suited the action to the word and took the editorial from my reluctant hands. "It won't do," he said, when he had labored through my ponderous sentences. "I see you don't understand this people very well. You know, there's more Baptists in this community than there is Methodists. In fact, we just rule things, and if you don't put in a good word for the Baptists you're a ruined man. By the way," he continued, mistaking one of my red slippers for a spittoon and flooding it with tobacco juice, "what church do you belong to, anyhow?" I was almost afraid to tell him, but I ventured to hint that I had a leaning toward the Methodists. "Keep it quiet," he said, almost in a whisper, "for the Methodists ain't nowhere around these diggin's. They only have preachin' once a month, and they ain't got but one man on the town council, while the Baptists is got one mayor, four aldermen, one express agent and two telegraph operators. O, we're in the lead, I tell you; so you'd better keep your weather eye open, and look to your interest. That's all I've got to say.

But I was not left entirely alone, for ere the footsteps of my Baptist friend had died into an echo, a tall, slim man, wearing a nervous smile and a pair of spectacles entered and tip-toed toward

"I saw old Jenkins coming out just now," he explained, as he sat down on my ink bottle, "and I'll bet I know what he was up to. He was trying to tell you how to run the paper-now, wasn't

I admitted that his language had impressed me in that way. "Don't mind a word he says," said my new adviser. "He's crazy on the subject of religion, and don't know what he is talking about. What you want to do is after a week or so the well water is exto praise up the Presbyterians. They're amined spectroscopically for lithium. getting stronger and stronger every day -going to build a brick church and a public school next week, and before six months is out they'll be in full control of the town. Take my word for it, if you want your paper to succeed, you will have to give the Presbyterians a showing. And that's all I've got to say." I heaved a deep sigh of relief as he vanished through the door, which I was about to lock after him when an old man, wearing the look of a Methodist preacher, pushed his way in. "How is it with you, brother?" he asked, shaking hands heartily, as he plumped down in the only chair in the

WHY, GOD BLESS US, BROTHER

I told him it was not as well as it might be, but that I hoped to pull

"You'll never do it," he said, "by listenin' to them Baptists and Presbyterians. They are tryin' to run this town, but we're goin' to git up a revival which will sweep 'em from the face of "Baptist?" "No. sir."

"Presbyterian?"

"Not exactly, sir." "Episcopalian?" "Not very much, sir.

"Why, God bless us, brother," he exclaimed, as he jumped up and grasped my hand, "you're a Methodist, ain't

I told him no, but that I had once fallen from grace, and that I supposed that was the next thing to it.

"Don't worry over it," he said, soothingly, and giving me a slap on the back would stop at the employment office and which set me to coughing. "You ain't ask them to send me a good American, the first man that ever fell from grace. English, French, German, Swedish, Dan-But we are going to throw the props ish, Norwegian, Polish, Russian, Italian around you and keep you up. Now, or colored girl for general house work.-.

pray for you-right on this floor, which ain't been swept in ten years—and I want you to git down with me."

It was in vain that I told him I was in a big hurry and would rather wait till dark. He would take no denial, and in a second he had started a revival credit to a first-class camp-meeting. He had warned me beforehand that he my case was hopeless. As the good old man prayed for my salvation he beat the air wildly with his hands, and as I was omposing stone, or jostling my breast with a severe blow in the ribs, just to

We were both perspiring freely with the exercise; his paper collar had melted With great pride I prepared my sa- and run down his back, and my celluloid cuffs had caught fire five times. One or the other had to weaken, and I

"Brother!" he shouted in desperation, "is the work done yet? Do you feel any change?"

I was about to tell him that I had spent the last cent I had, and felt no change at all, but I knew he wouldn't let me up on that, and so I told him yes, "Where do you feel it?" he asked, as he paused for breath. "In my back and side," I answered. "In fact it's all over me!" He gave a shout that shook the building, rose to his feet, told me that I was a sinner saved by grace, mopped his brow in the office towel, said to me that he would call on me to lead the meeting that night and went forth rejoicing.

Then I sat down to my desk again, weak and helpless, and wrote my own obituary; and when I recovered from the spell of sickness which ensued, I sold my paper to the Baptists for seventyfive dollars and hired out to a heathen as clerk in a grocery store. -F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

SCIENCE CLIPPINGS. An English fish culturist has found that a six-pound eel contains about 9, 000,000 eggs. Some remarkable caves have been discovered in West Austria. Two of them will afford accommodations for 200,000 men each.

An invention is set to work in France for indicating the speed of railway trains. Tables are prepared, showing the practical observer the exact relations the readings have to the speed. Cases of lead-poisoning among the were traced to the dust from leaden weights which are used by the weavers to carry the thread of their warp. A TREE grows round instead of square or any other shape because there is nothing in nature on the square, except the forms of some crystalline minerals. A circle is the shortest way around, and as trees grow from a common center, a circle becomes a natural sequence in their outward form. It is proposed to use the spectroscope to determine whether cesspools, stables, etc., drain into neighboring wells. A solution of carbonate of chloride of lithium is poured into the suspected sources of pollution in the neighborhood, and which can thus be detected even if the water holds in solution less than one pint to a million. THE average reader is scarcely aware of the changes in the map of Africa made necessary by recent explorations. The great globe of the Paris exposition was twice altered during its construction, to accommodate itself to changes, and it is said that two years ago some Belgian map makers were five times compelled to take from the press a large map of the Congo State for additions and corrections. NEVADA has what are termed "traveling stones." They are described as being perfectly round, about as large as a walnut and of an ivory nature. When distributed about on the floor, table or other level surface, within two or three feet of each other, they at once begin to move toward each other until they meet in a common center, and there lie huddled in a bunch. They are largely composed of magnetic iron ore. A RUNNING board for the top of cars has been invented, its purpose being to prevent the brakemen from falling off the cars. Railings run from one end of the car to the other in the center, other railings leading from the side ladders. Between these railings a man might walk with safety, the slipping outwardly of the feet being prevented by a skirting rail at the feet of the upright rail posts. The running board extends over the end of each car so as to closely approach a similar extension on the op posing car. A LEADING fire commissioner advances the suggestion that electricity will soon take the place of steam in fire engines, and that the question of get ting an engine of the greatest waterthrowing capacity to the fire with the greatest celerity will be solved by electricity. Substitute for the steam power of any modern engine, stored electricity or electric power, conveyed to each hydrant, making of your engine a pump on wheels, and you have lightness itself as regards weight, with almost unlimited power for throwing water. This will be the fire engine of the future as he sees it.

Mrs. Statesman-Are you going out this evening? Mr. Statesman-Yes. I have promised to attend the St. Patrick Club reception and deliver an oration on "The Irish in America. What Would the Country Do Without Them?" Is there any thing you want down-town, my dear? Mrs. Statesman - Yes: I wish you

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

CALIFORNIA WINES.

Are Very Strong of Alcohol, an They Passing through Southern California recently, and being introduced by a mutual friend to the proprietor of one of the wineries there, a person who had come over from Europe, I learned some would remain upon his knees until I was things about California wines that may would remain upon his knees until I was things about California wines that may converted, and I mentally decided that be of general interest and help toward first. Some heads are built weak, you kites on the common, among them bea correct understanding of their nature. The "mission grape" of which the wines know." are made, probably so named from its both laughed. introduction by persons connected with share of the beating. He followed me all over the room in the agony of his is not found in France, but is found in plea, now knocking my head against the Spain, Portugal and a part of Italy. is sweeter, however, as it grows in Southern California than it is in box of type offered to trade the outfit emphasize his words. Sometimes I Europe. For this reason it is not suitwould dodge, and his hand would hit the wall hard, but he only shouted the term the gentleman appeared to undergood-humoredly on the shoulder.

man. His friend, a bearded senior, the for me?" B.—"With what?" A.—"Take term the gentleman appeared to undergood-humoredly on the shoulder." stand wines made from grape-juice, conwould be entirely changed in its fer-live over I would never take a glass of mentation. He stated that in fermenstatement agrees with those of others, the alcohol then becoming strong enough to arrest further fermentation by its preserving the remaining sugar by its preserving the remaining sugar by its preserves to the preserves by its pres other substances immersed in it.

The grapes are put into a machine which cleans out all the stems, crushed the grapes, and filters out all the pulp, seeds and skins. It has three filters through all of which the first flow of juice, if not the whole of the liquid, runs. Other persons acquainted with the working of the winery spoke of there being three runs of the grapejuice, the first run being used for making the wine called "angelica," the second for making sherry and port wine, and the third for claret. They stated also that water is sometimes poured on the pulp and skins for the third run, pound loaf ofbread. which reminds one of the ancient custom of doing the same thing to make soldier.

to give any information about selling Horn. the grape-juice as unfermented wine, though others affirmed that he sometimes sold the sweet juice. He boils and not wine, although he was referred in the form ofdrams. to the Roman custom of calling such wine defrutum and sana.

he meant the alcohol he distills from mans. inferior grades of wine. At the time of my visit he was said to be distilling originally signified the poison in Jacquard weavers in a Swiss factory brandy, as the season for gathering the which arrows had been prepared grapes and making wine had passed. simple smelling of it showed that it saloon. was strong with alcohol. He stated all will understand to be true who are familiar with the nature of alcohol. The twenty per cent. of alcohol is strong enough to preserve the eighty per cent. Of MADNESS, to think use of strongest wines of sweet juice from any decomposition

by vinous fermentation He also spoke of making other "sweet wines," as sweet sherry, etc., and said they were fermented wines, but that after fermentation had taken place and they were fortified so as to contain sweet juice introduced into the wine millions of pounds sterling per annum. give the wine a sweet taste.

Speaking of the California claret, he including Lord Althorp and Sir Robert said that the European clarets contain | Peel. the clarets made in California some- tion was not more direct, more decisive, cent, of alcohol.

fornia wines are very strong of alcohol. fession, give up every thing and go and hence must be quite intoxicating. forth on a holy crusade, preaching to all that the angelica may with propriety physicians to her Majesty, the Queen, be spoken of as an unfermented wine. and to Giadstone. But still, from this we must not imagine that it is an unintoxicating wine, as is generally understood, when we drunkards were gathered in a meeting speak of unfermented wine. And again, by the Breakfast Association, a speaker by the Breakfast Association, a speaker this wine is manifestly very different in its nature from ordinary wines, so far as its nourishing properties are concerned. Ordinary fermented and yet pure wines contain but a mere trifle of nourishment, but the antrifle of nourishment, but the an-gelica, if made as described, must drunkards who sustain the sabe very nourishing, although the drunkards who sustain the sa-nourishment can be obtained only the and has nothing to spend. The nourishment can be obtained only with great accompanying evil and danger from its being mixed with so much ger from its being mixed with so much alcohol. The best grape-juice is said by chemical authorities to contain as much or more nutriment than an equal much or more nutriment than an equal much or more nutriment than an equal quantity of the best milk. And as the California grapes are exceptionally fine California grapes are exceptionally fine, ning to drink, who, in his new-found if the angelica contains eighty per cent. of the best grape-juice, it must have a friends, and to be in turn treated by large amount of nourishment. And in them. It is these that sustain the respect to the other sweet wines which are fermented, if they have any considerable quantity of grape-juice put into them after fermentation has ceased, in

DECLINING A TREAT.

cussing a class dinner:

An Interesting Conversation Between a Couple of Collegians. The following conversation was heard

"Of course," said one (with a consequential touch of self-complacency and patronage students call "fresh," and guns and pistols of civilization. which only length of days can cure) "if "Careful in what?" interrupted I, and of the Supreme bench.

stand it. Some can not; at least for a in suggesting fasting as a means of while." He was, as I have intimated, a freshman. His friend, a bearded senior, the for me?" B .- "With what?" A .- "Take good-humoredly on the shoulder.

"When I was your age, old fellow, my wine or smoke a cigar.' I answered: 'It such a sensible man says,' I have never tasted wine or touched tobacco, and I inches deep. He suffered from severe What do you say when you are red a 'treat?' " "I say: 'No, thank you, I never take it' Generally that settles the matter quietly."-Better Day.

ITEMIZED FACTS. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, while working as a printer among London beer-drinkwas known as the "American Aquatic," because he drank only water. IF a man were to drink four quarts of beer daily, so little is the real nutriment in it that he would in the course of one year get the equivalent of a five

THE man with the fattest pocketbook doesn't always smoke the best the posca or sour drink of the Roman cigars nor wear the finest clothes. It's and fined five shillings, or three days the man who can least afford the cost The proprietor did not seem inclined who wears the reddest nose.—Ram's

THE best class of life insurance companies prefer not to take risks on drinking men, and some of them absolutely down quantities of it, but insisted that decline to issue policies to men who it should be called "grape molasses," habitually use alcoholic or malt liquors

It is evident that, so far from being a conservator of health, alcohol is an ac-As to the making of the wine called tive and powerful cause of disease, in-"angelica," he said it was the sweet terfering as it does with the respiration, grape-juice mixed with twenty per cent. the circulation and the nutrition; nor of "the spirit of wine." By this term is any other result possible. - Prof. You-battle. The poisoned arrow was not He poured out a little of his angelica more certainly an instrument of death for me to test its character, and the than is the poisoned cup of the modern One hundred and fifty times as much that no such wine is made in Europe, as is annually paid to the clergymen of but that there is a sale for it in Amer- the United States, and one hundred and ica, and that it will not ferment, which eighty times as much as is paid every year by the whole world for the cause f missions, is annually expended to

And strongest drinks our chief support of When God, with these forbidden, made choice to rear His mighty champion, strong above compare,

Whose only drink was from the liquid brook." -Milton. THE consequences of the vice of ineighteen to twenty per cent. of alcohol toxication are so many and so fearful a portion of unfermented grape-juice that it is difficult to enumerate even was then added to give them a sweet the outlines of them; and to pursue them Of course, in this case, as in all their melancholy details would to twenty per cent. of alcohol, the fairly estimated at a little short of fifty will be preserved from all change and Report of a select committee appointed by the House of Commons in 1834, and seven or eight per cent. of alcohol, but As I LOOKED at the hospital wards tothe California clarets have eleven or day and saw that seven out of ten owed twelve per cent. of it. The gentleman their diseases to alcohol. I could but lawho introduced me afterward said that ment that the teaching about this questimes contain as much as fifteen per more home-thrusting than ever it had been. . . . It is when I think of all these, Thus it will be seen that the Cali- that I am disposed to give up my pro-And we should be careful not to be de-men-"Beware of this enemy of the marked Prof. Wueling, of the College the peasants caught two perfectly ceived by their names. It is evident race."-Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the of Pharmacy. "Indeed, it is somewhat healthy women, told them that they

Save the Young Men. Recently when two hundred or more asked that all who had begun to drink raised. By saving the boys from the saloon we can go far to save the enjoyment, is eager to treat all his saloons .- National Baptist. The Folly of Some Girls. There is no more infatuated folly in proportion to the amount of this which the world than the idea that a woman they contain they must be nourishing can reform a man by marrying him. also. Apparently, therefore, some of The only case we ever heard of where the California wines should be spoken it worked well was one in which a senof with discrimination, and not be re- sible and resolute girl did actually cure garded as of the same nature as ordinary a man of drinking by not marrying him European wines, even though these -until he had broken off the habit and wines may be pure and manufactured stood a probation of five years without from European grapes, and yet we alapse. If more women would have the should not ignorantly or foolishly depluck and patience to take that course, lude ourselves with the idea that the there would be fewer drunkards' wives California wines are not very harm-ful intoxicating drinks.—Rev. C. Hart-ple encourage the notion that a man well, in National Temperance Advo- who won't stay sober in order to win a wife will keep sober after he gets her! EVERY dollar spent in the saloon is a That was a sound, if homely, philosoblow at the family, and the family is the defense of our Nation.—Northwestlars "_N. V. Examiner.

MISCELLANEOUS.

-California peaches will be eaten this season chiefly. -There are thirty-five men in Suffolk etween two collegians, who were dis- still employed in making gun flints, or "flint-knapping," as they call it, for the

-The Oxford County Advertiser's a fellow hasn't wit enough to know Bethel correspondent recently saw seving a prominent physician and a justice

-"The ancient lawgivers who went so "Why, drinking, of course," said the far as to make a periodical fast day a first speaker. "A fellow has to take his religious duty knew what they were asoning sooner or later. Some can about," says the American Rural Home, warding off an attack of dyspepsia. -A.-"Will you measure this picture

(measuring)-"A yard; O, dear! O, dear!" A .- "Well, how long is it?" B .- "I taining only so much grape-sugar as father said to me: 'If I had my life to don't know; the yard-stick isn't long enough."-Detroit Free Press. -A man was brought to the hospital enteen per cent. of alcohol, which would be foolish not to profit by what at Eastburn, London, who had driven four nails into his skull three or four > culty.

>
> —The leaves of the pawpaw tree are employed by the negroes in washing linen, as a substitute for soap. They have also the property of rendering meat wrapped in them tender, owing to the alkaloid papain which they contain, and which acts as a solvent. -Teacher (to class in arithmetic)-"John goes marketing. He buys two and a quarter pounds of sugar at eleven cents a pounds, two dozen eggs at sixteen cents a dozen and a gallon and a half of milk at twenty cents a gallon. What does it all make?" Smallest boy (hugging himself ecstatically)-"Cust--As the law of Aberdeen required it. a cab driver was prosecuted, convicted, imprisonment, for smoking a pipe on his cab, not while driving a fare, but while he was standing on the lookout for one. By the municipal laws and regulations of Aberdeen the smoking of a pipe by a cab driver is a criminal offense. -It appears that there are forty-seven bridges of upwards of 400 feet span in the world. The United States has by far the largest proportion of these, or twenty-nine in all. Of the total, nine are cantilever bridges, seven arch bridges, four stiffened suspension bridges, nineteen are truss bridges, two tubular girder bridges, and six draw-bridges. -At Guthriesville, Pa., a mad dog rabid animal and put him to flight, but dispense with your services, Mr Jones. not till after a severe fight, in which the family dog was badly bitten and lacerated. The boy escaped without harm. The dog that so nobly sacrificed itself had to be killed. -An American missionary from India says that there is a chance in Madras is."—Terre Haute Express. and Bombay for a number of bright skilled American dentists. Madras is a city of 300,000 population, and has not a An Extraordinary Manifestation of Lattersingle American dentist. People some times travel from there to Bombay. nearly a thousand miles, in order to Russian characteristics, has of late been have a tooth filled. There is only one good dentist in Bombay, and he refuses to fill teeth with gold, using a sort of ning of June two peasants dug up a cement that is not lasting. He charges spring of water at that place.

$7.50 for pulling a tooth. in the United States the reverse process properties, and she told her dream to is under way in Canada. In 1867, at the the laborers of a factory near by. Therewith the angelica, after the wine has require a volume....The mere pecunitime of the establishment of the Dominbeen fortified so as to contain eighteen ary loss to the Nation may be ion, its debt amounted to 822 per head and children, began flocking around the of the population, and that of the Uni- healing waters. As the spring did not ted States to 862 per head. To-day the United States debt, on the same basis, fence was built around it, and a cross is about $14, and that of the Dominion was erected on the spot. Several peas-$48. That is to say, while the per capita ants of the village stand inside the indebtedness of the United States is fence and deal out the water in bootles only a quarter as great as it was twenty- to the applicants, each of whom deposits three years ago, Canada's is more than a coin at the foot of the cross. The twice as large as it was then .- St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

> DRUG CLERKS' BLUNDERS. Not Occur More Frequently.

er. This error, of course, will lead to the patient receiving medicine different can not be held accountable for this, but if any serious consequences result he will, unjustly, be charged with some of the blame. Then the prescription clerk has not only the mistakes of the doctors to contend with, but also any that may be made by the wholesale drug house that supplies the store in which he is employed. It is just as possible that the clerk in the wholesaie drug house may wrongly label a package or a bottle as that the prescription clerk may use the wrong liquid or powder in compounding a mixture. This danger of receiving the wrong drug is fully appreciated by some prominent druggists, and it has become their custom to test all supplies as received before permitting them to go into stock. But there are scores of druggists who do not take this precaution. It is the dangers that surround the filling of prescriptions that have led many physicians to employ apothecaries of their own and to dispense mediicnes from pharmacies attached to their offices. This plan provides triple safeguards against mistakes. The apothecary becomes absolutely familiar with the handwriting of the physician who employs him; he has time to test all drugs received from the wholesale houses and he is never rushed, as is a clerk in a store, when prescription filling is only one branch of his duties."—N. Y. Star. PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-The trouble with justice is that she does so little besides holding her scales. -"How can I get rid of superfluous hair, Mr. Druggist?" "Get married, sir."-Boston Courier.

-"Why do you call that group of middle-aged ladies on the piazza anato-mists?" "Because they are always cutting up people."-Boston Gazette. "Papa, what is a savage?" "A savage, my son, is a man who occupies two whole seats in a railway car, while some poor woman with a sick baby has to stand up."-Ram's Horn. -The meanest man in Washington is the one who made the minister give him a receipt when he paid him a dollar for officiating at his marriage. - Washington Critic. -Great Publisher-"Very sorry, sir, but your manuscript will not do." Old Time Novelist-"Eh? What is the matter with it?" Great Publisher—"It seems to have a plot."—N. Y. Weekly.

—He—"O, Ethal, promise you will be my wife." Ethel (who is packed to go away for the summer)—"No, George, I can not; at least, not until my return in October."-Washington Star. -Mrs. Rural (at an art gallery and looking at a Madonna)-"Whose picture is that?" Attendant-"Raphael's, madam." Mrs. Rural-"Why, sakes alive! I always thought Raphael was a man.'

-Yale Record. -Bank President (to cashier in jail) -"Why didn't you go to Canada?"
"Cashier (haughtily)-"Because I'vo got some pride about me and I didn't want to go up there with only $25,000 and live on a back street in a strange city."-Washington Star. -"I don't believe papa sent this telegram at all," said Mrs. Snaggs, after carefully scrutinizing one just received. 'Why not?" asked her husband. "Don't I know my own papa's handwriting? This doesn't look a bit like it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle. -Lady Shopper-"Doesn't it require ensiderable experience to put the color on?" Clerk-"No, ma'am, not at all; you can put it on yourself." Lady Shopper-"Thank you, sir, but I wanted it for use on porcelain." - Boston Transcript -Alas! For a Lass.-Alas: I'm in love and would marry, I'm really quite anxious to wed;

And single no longer I'd tarry,

I long to be double instead. And the paths through which cupid has led mee
Have burdened my heart with regret,
The girls whom I'd have will not wed me, While I won't have the ones I can get.

-Chicago Post.

-Fogg-"I see that by the new baseball rules a fellow who is at the bat and is hit by a pitched ball can take his base. Now, what is to prevent a man getting hit by the ball on purpose to get his base?" Fielding-"Have you ever been attacked the little son of Mrs. Gibbons, hit by a pitched ball?" Fogg - "No." but before the child was bitten the pet dog of the family rushed upon the Great Editor—"We shall have to

A man who knows no more about grammar than to write about a "female poetess" is hardly fitted for the newspaper business." New Reporter—"I was a lit-tle afraid you would kick, but that exactly describes the kind of poetess she

RUSSIAN SUPERSTITION.

An old superstition, with specially manifested in Klisheva, a village in the government of Moscow. At the beginold woman dreamed that the newly--While the public debt is decreasing discovered spring possessed curative upon masses of people, mostly women money is collected by the elder of the village every evening and kept "for communal purposes." At the foot of the cross there stands a bottle with two It is Really Remarkable That They Do dead frogs in it, who had come to their untimely end in a peculiar manner. "It does not surprise me that mistakes Before the concourse of sick persons by drug clerks sometimes occur," re- around the spring was great, some of remarkable that they do not occur more were dangerously ill, and, pinning them frequently. Physicians do not as a rule to the ground, made them drink the write very legibly, and it is just possible healing waters until they fainted. When that a badly written word may be mis- the poor women were picked up from construed by a man who handles the the ground the two frogs were found in prescription that contains it, and so a their garments, and were declared to be more or less serious error be made. A devils driven out by the virtue of the doctor may write down one mendica- holy water. They are now exhibited in ment when he means to prescribe anoth- the bottle as a sign of the wondrous properties of the spring. The rush of people to that place is so great now to that which the attending physician that the authorities have great difficulty desired he should take. The drug clerk keeping them in order. An attempt on the part of the authorities to cover up the spring was met with loud protests by the villagers and the duped masses around the place, and had, therefore, to be abandoned .-- London Letter.

From the Portuguese. Mr. Thomas Stingy is precisely what his name would signify. The other day a friend visited him. It was very hot, and after a few words had been interchanged Mr. Stingy asked his caller, Would you like to have some refreshment? "With great pleasure, dear old boy!" exclaimed the poor fellow, who was awfully thirsty.' "All right, I will open the windows, We'll have some breeze."-Judge. In Sweet Accord. Mrs. Dontiranto-O, dear! what can we give Milly Nane for her wedding present. I suppose it must be in accord with her wealth and position. Mr. Dontiranto—I suppose so... let's give her a miniature ice piece of real ice in it. - Detroit Free Press. Polite Under Trying Circumstances.

Burglar-Now, fork out. Gimme yer watch. Now yer pocketbook. Yer silver match safe. Now yer small change.
Polite Victim (an ex-merchant)—Any thing else to-day, sir? Shall I send these?-N. Y. Sun.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL,

Editor and Proprietor. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy, one year.... six months INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional infertion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith. Rejectel communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 5, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS. HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington County.

Twenty-five cents! pays for THE of business. REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign.

should be without it.

try can the most be laid aside?

THE Republican Publishing Company, of Allegany County, was or- tralia and South America, Canada she stood the storms and was here to morning. It is the general belief ganized this week, for the purpose and Novia Scotia. of publishing a Republican daily paper in Cumberland. The stockhold. that higher prices were obtained for a fine lay out at Selbysport. No end When his body was found it was disers are D. W. Sloan, Dayld Sloan, wool under Democratic low tariff to wagon building and repairs. Wm. R. Perev, R. M. Bovd, Jas, H. than under Republican high tariff. Hose, Albion Coles, Otto Honing, and J. Stottlemeyer.

by the Mail Publishing Co., Hagers. to the manufacturers. town, is on our table. The paper is The Democrat has said on other bright and intersting.

We wish the publishers success in everything but their politics.

means of transportation is passed.

sheep growing. He'says:

auditors of the State that the number of sheep returned for taxation for the year 1890 is 3,593.208. Comparing this with the year 1888 and 1889, I find the loss each year to be rapidly decreasing. The loss in 1889 over that of 1888 was 134,370 head, and that of 1890 over 1889 is but 11,871 making an excess of loss for the year 1889 over that of 1890 of 123,499.

gress and to the Republican idea of men and women. To the intelligent ers.

A Farmer's Views on Wool. Written for THE REPUBLICAN

As a rule, the farmer is content to thinking for him.

exponent of thought on all phases of every possible question, and not in- by recent experience. frequently it happens that the less and forces him to "burn his corn for afraid to do anything until it beca fuel, and to let his crops rot in his fer- certain that the Mills bill could not tile fields."

enough to go in when it rains, knows prices were fairly good, and have rethis sort of argument to be the silliest | mained satisfactory up to this timekind of rot, which would not be in- It is generally conceded by woll flicted on any class of people not be- dealers that with the passage of the on his wool, his coal, his timber.

the wool pulled over their eyes in again come into power.

The only permanent, reliable niar. the coffers of his foreign compe kets the farmers have for the prodif he is not stready a subscriber, and Creek, Elk Garden and Thomas, and have a home market for his wool and ask him to look it over and note its the lumber camps along the West other products, for what good will it merits as a local family journal. The Virginia Central, and at other places do him to produce if there is no one low rate of subscription puts it with- in or near our county borders, and to buy? in the reach of every one, and no one any line of policy that would cripple An eminent Southern statesman who wants to have the County news the mining, the lumbering or the once said he would go out of his road wool industries, would destroy the any time to get to kik a sheep, and home market for whatever the farm- seems as though Calloun had vet a THE average yearly earnings of ers can produce, and the possibilities great many disciples in the Demo- in a coffin by Mr. Shartzer and sent among them are already making American workmen is $345, $1.11 for of a foreign market for our buck- crat party, all anxious to "kick a to his home Sunday night. each working day, while in Free. wheat, our potatoes and cabbage is so sheep." Trade Norway, which takes all its vague and indefinite as to be totally manufactured goods from other na- invisible, except as seen by the Demtions, the average yearly wages is ocratic eye of faith. The Democratic only about $22, or about 7 cents for editor and statesman is sure he can Frazee cut down our old Republican each working day. In which coun- see wherein the farmer is to be bene. flag poie. This pole was raised in a 6-column, 4 pages and is newsy occasions that the placing of wool on the free list will not effect the price one cent.

Not long ago the Democrat asserted Do Democrats believe that a reduc-THE first number of The Daily effect they should want the duty Mail, a new daily paper published higher so as to bring down the price

Our opinion about it is that if any. body out of an insane asylum actual- rail by some of his farm hare Judge Alveyfiled his opinion in ly believes in this sort of hocus pocus the Chesapeake and Onio Canal Com- it is time their friends were looking pany case on Tuesday at Hagers' after them. If the duty on wool does town, decreeing a sale of the Canal not effect the price then there can be bysport. from one terminus to the other. It is no reason for wishing to take it off. to be hoped that no time will be lost But our Democratic guardians are in effecting a sale of the property, very careful to not tell us ignorant and Pensions." and building a railroad on the tow- farmers all of the truth about it. They path, The day of the Canal as a conceal the fact that in Australia and South America, where it does not in the returns of the sheep growers of proportions. Australia is a new Ohio splendid evidence in favor of country nearly as large as the United the Republican policy of Protection, States, which has hardly been exthat country was reported at 168,785. "I find from reports made to this 993 lbs, and so rapid has been the indepartment by the several county crease since then that the number of sheep was reported at over a hundred millions two or three years ago, or to Oakland. more than double the number in the United States. The Democratic idea, as promul- some timber land. gated by Grover Cleveland, was to reduce the cost of wool to the Ameri-Of course our Democratic Free- pete with England in the markets of Traders will claim that Protection to the world. But to do this he would untrue. Why they want McComas tend these meetings their strongest the wool industry has had nothing to not only require cheap wool but also defeated I do not know and they objections must disappear. do with increasing the number of cheap labor as well. To undersell have failed to give any lawful reason sheep in Ohlo, but it is a fact, ever England and drive her away from only that he has been in office long next Sunday. since the defeat of Mr. Cleveland and the markets she already controls, enough and he should give way to Mr. Conner, Mr. Crane, and Mrs. industry in Ohio has been prospering. suit the American idea. It would iors. So much then, for a Republican Con- mean not only cheap wool, but cheap Protection to American wool grow- farmers of this country it would not be a desirable consumation. The farmers of America have too much respect for American labor and American manhood to be content to see them pitted against the degraded make a beast of burden of himself manhood of European countries. The and to allow other people to do his farmers know that when labor is poorly paid there is not much money

The newspaper is regarded as an to pay for what he may have to sell. But let us see what we can learn

In 1883 the duty on wool was mathey know about a thing the more terlally reduced. At that time there they have to say about it. The were over fifty million sheep in the farmer should do his own thinking United States, The price of wool and should not allow himself to be suddenly collapsed and the farmers D. P. Hendrickson was renominated visit to ber friends and relatives at joined his family on Saturday at hoodwinked by designing politicians began killing off their flock. Two or clerk for Grant County, which is Johnstown, Pa., has returned home, who care far less for the farmers' three years later the number of sheep welfare than they do for his vote. had decreased to about forty-five A certain class of newspapers millions, wool sold in Oakland at 20c hannon to attend school, He is a nothroughout the country have virtu- per lb, and the farmers continued to ble young fellow and no doubt will ally taken the farmers under their get rid of their flocks because they make a man of himselfprotection, confiding to them the said it did not pay to raise sheep. intelligence that they are shamefully But the destruction of so many sheep us Saturday to locate at Kanawha imposed on by the laws designed to produced a scarcity of wool, and City, W. Va. They leave many protect American industries from prices railied. But eighteen months competition with the cheap products ago when the Mills bill was under of other countries. They tell him discussion, it will be remembered on a visit, near Paw Paw, W. Va. that protection shuts his products that the feeling in the wool market and from the markets of the world, became panical, and buyers were day on business.

be passed by the Senate, when to Now, every farmer who knows ward the last of the season last year's lieved to be born idiots. And as a McKinley bill the prices of wool will remedy for all these imaginary evils be materially enhanced, but if it which cannot be explained, the far- should fail, and if there should be a mer is invited to relinquish the duty prospect of Democratic ascendency, buyers would hold off in anticipation But are the farmers going to have of low prices when that party should this manner? All farmers in Gar- This country can easily produce a rett County own sheep, nearly all the wool the manufacturers can use. have more or less timber, and a great What is wanted is a duty high enough many have land underlaid with coal, to keep out the cheap wools of other and when we come to think about it, countries, and a guarantee against these three products bring nearly all Democratic opposition, and in a very the money in circulation into the few years the product would be equal county, and any line of policy tend- to the demand and the farmers would ing to cripple these interests would be greatly benefitted. All the wool destroy whatever measures of pros- the manufacturers could use would perity we enjoy, and the farmers be produced in the United States and would be involved in the common would go into the American wool ruin which would prostrate all sorts grower's pockets, and into the merican farmer's pockets, and no

A FARMER.

Selbysport.

On Saturday the 23d Mr. Jasper fitted by having his products brought October, 1884, in tonor of Jas. G into sharp competition with the Blaine and Blackjack Logan and had on the B. & O. raliroad track two "cheap and nasty" products of Aus. to see her hourrs defeated, but still miles West of Oakland on Tuesday honor Benj. Harrison.

ing hay. They do not seem to catch and shoulder, and a deep cut was in tion of duty will increase the price of on that the hay season is over and the back of his head. This was the wool? If they believe it has that there is more hay than ever be- only scar on his person except an the fact should not be forgotton that fore harvested.

among our farmers with his separator, threshing out their grain.

dition to his house. horse injured by being tied to a fence

Hurrah for McComas! Mrs. Adam Frazee, of Pittsburgh, is rusticating among friends at Sel-

The motto of the Republicans of Father Mattingly officiating. this section is "McComas, Protection

cans were in Oakland during the ing. There was present Rey. Memass meeting last week and when Bride and wife, both sweet singers cost anything to raise sheep, the they came home they talked in glow- and have been such a help to the STATE AUDITOR! Hoe, of Ohio sees | wool industry is assuming enormous | ing terms of the good time they had | meeting. and gave it as their opinion that Miss Morehead, Dr. H. L. Bast-McComas would be elected, which ings, Mrs. Beck and a number of and especially to the one particular of plored, In 1871 the wool product of party of this Congressional District I believe profitable meeting. Three and also to the State of Maryland.

Cold nights are here. Mr. Wilson, of Cumberland, was ness, making it a soul saving time. in Selbysport over night on his way | The slur put upon them by calling can manufacturer so he could com, planning a scheme to defeat Mc- essential to salvation.

Gorman. Dr. J. B. Barth has gone to Charleroi, Pa., on a prospective trip G. T. Taylor and Miss Margaret Brake were married last Thursday tions to them. The ceremony was performed by Rey, I. W. Aber-

Miss Georgenia Savage and Miss Elk Garden to engage in the dress- their crop of oats, which is the lightmaking businss. May success attend est for a number of years.

J. C. Bay, of Baltimore, is visiting Va., is visiting friends here. at White Oak Grove. Several of our citizens attended the is visiting friends and relatives here.

equivalent to his re-election. Jno. S. Harvey has gone to Buck-

W. H. Hull, with his family, leaves ing.

Theodore McCool has gone home Robert Poland was in town yester warm friends behind them.

TWO MEN KILLED.

John Lohr on Sunday and Matthew Mackin Tuesday Morning

John Lohr, aged about 44 years, Oakland, was instantly killed Sun- dition of the Congressional Calen- Snowy Creek, about seven miles west day afternoon by train No. 5, which dar, and he has become convinced of Oakland. The wrecked train concould learn, Mr. Lohr, who was en- of the measures of national impor- 24 ladened cattle cars. Seventeen tirely deaf, in company with Simon tance, not to mention those impor- cars were wrecked and the cattle scat-Myers, his brother-in-law, Asa Cod- tant to particular sections of the tered in every direction. dington and another gentleman, country in the time between the Sunday. After staying there a short fourth of March 1891. At the same time, they all started for home. Mr. time, it is believed that he would the roadbed, and there is one of the Lohr, however, stopped to visit Mr. prefer that Congress should adopt heaviest curves on that part of the Ashby, who resides near Huttons, the resolution offered by Senator road. All the trainmen and drovers and ate his supper there and then Edmunds providing for a recess started down the South track toward from September 19, to November 10, fireman, Louis Ford, who was killed, 58 cut. When near the west end of instead of his having to call an exthe cut a freight train came up and he tra session. tractured. The fracture of the skull cannot be acted upon, the back of his head.

child being 7 years old.

Matthew J. Mackin was found dead that he had been struck by an east-A good wagon builder would have | bound freight train about 3:30 a, m. covered that his right arm had been Some of our farmers are still mak- almost severed, between the elbow abrasure of the skin on the forehead A. J. Frazee, of Frazee's Ridge, is caused, very likely, by falling on the stones when the train struck him. His body was taken to his home Kimmell Frazee is building an ad- near-by and prepared for burial by undertaker Shartzer. Deceased was Jonas Frazee had a fine young road aged about 32 years and unmarried.

> Mountain Lake Park. The convention began promptly

Several of our influentiat Republi- at eleven o'clock on Saturday morn-will be a credit to the Republican others made it a very enjoyable and or four have been converted and others are seeking the blessing of Holithem faith healers, has no place in Dr. J. A. Hatch, of Phillipsburg, the minds of these who attend their Pa., was here last week looking at meetings. While they claim, as the scriptures teach, that God can beat It is reported in this neighborhood the body as well as the soul if we that some of the Republicans are ask him for it, but it is by no means Comas, but we believe the report is So if the objectors would but at-

The meetings will continue over homes

Mrs. Mary S. Perrin, who has so faithfully aursed Mother Smith since last fall, left us this morning for Newark, N. J., to care for another sick one amending the eight hour law, which for which she is so well adapted. evening. We extend congaatula-bring a sample of their produce on harvest home day.

Flatwoods.

Duckworth have just arrived from our farmers have succeeded in saving before the House this week.

Robert Fries, of Rowlesburg W. Mrs. Mary Broadwater of Pea Ridge

Maysville convention last Saturday. Miss Sussie Beeghley, after a long in threshing. James E. McGettigan had his leg broken and his ankle dislocated, caused by a horse falling on him, Jacob Mosser is very ill at this writ-

Twenty-five cents pays for THE REPUBLICAN from new until after tho campaign.

If you want a stylish hat go to F. & C. Felty's.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 1st, 1890 .who resided on the John T. Brown- The President has been giving a on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ing farm, about three miles from great deal of attention to the con- a little after noon Friday last at is due here at 5:45. From all we that it will be impossible to dispose sisted of two engines, a caboose and went up to the Snowy Creek wreck first Monday in December and the stepped to the North track to let it go Senator Edmunds says he offered by. Just then No. 5 came around a the resolution without conferring pended. The Chicago express No. 5. sharp curve, running very fast, and with his party colleagues, and bebefore the engineer could stop his cause he thinks the additional time Friday afternoon, was delayed eight trum, the engine struck Mr. Lohr, which will thereby be gained is throwing him down in the ditch be. absolutely necessary to dispose of vided for at the Oakland Hotel. The de the track. The body laid there the immense mass of business -all loss of property is very heavy. until a train from the west came more or less important-with which along and was then sent to Oakland, the calendar of the Senate is loaded ucts of their fields and gardens is to benefit them is to diversify the in-Show this paper to your neighbor, be found at the mines of George's dustries of the country so me may Shartzer's undertaking rooms, where does every one else at all familiar an examination by Dr. Henry W. with the subject, that unless those McComas was made. The doctor three weeks before the regular meetfound that his neck, both arms and ing in December are utilized in this left hip were broken, and his skull manner many important measures extended from above the right eye to The Democrats are bitterly opposed to the Edmunds resolution The body was dressed and encased and some of the most hot-headed wild threats of filibustering against Mr. Lohr was a hard-working man the resolution when it is called up, and had purchased his farm from Mr. which may be this week or later. John Browning last fall. He leaves These gentlemen have apparently a wife and three children, the eldest lorgotten that the constitution of the United States confers the authority upon the President, in case of faiture by the House and Senate to agr. e upon a date for adjournment to dectare Congress adjourned from one date to another, in his discretion, and that this authority will be exercised if the unnority shall persist in endeavoring to defeat the will of the majority by continuous filibustering is not for a moment to be doubted Minorities have their rights; but that in the Senate particularly it has teen extremely lenient in demanding them this year.

Another thing which will probably have a restraining effect upon the filibustering proclivities of the He was a member of the Ancient Democrats is that among the meas-Order of Hibernians and of the Cath- ures which the E imunds resolution olic Benevolent Legion. The inter- or a similar one will give an opporment took place in the Catholic Cem- tunity of becoming laws, which othetery from St. Peter's Church, Oak. erwise they cannot possibly have, land, on yesterday morning, Rev. are a number that the Labor organizations and the Farmers. Alliance are unanimously clamoring for; and for the Democrats to antagonize those organizations so openly—they are always ready to do so secretly-would mean that the Republicans would certainly elect two-thirds, if no more of the next House of Representatives.

It begins to look now as though the reciprocity amendment to the tariff bill would provide for including other countries than those of South and Central America. Senator Aldrich, who in the absence of Senator Morrill is in charge of the tariff bill, has introduced an amend ment to include coffee, tea and hides in the amendment giving the President authority to place a duty upon which refuse to reciprocate by allowing our goods free entry. Of course the question remains as yet an open one, and will so continue until the voting upon the amendments shall begin.

derly days ever seen in the House, tinger, were married at Johnstown and an unprecedented display of personal feeling on the part of the memhis Free-Trade heresy in 1888, this would involve too much cheapness to some one else, probably his infer- Thompson have left us for their bers only 31 votes could be mustered by the opponents of the compound lard bill; but include in those ty one were some of the loudestmouth men in Congress.

The House has passed the bill was asked for by the Labor organiza-

inspection bill, and a strong effort is him. being made to get the bill prohibiting dealing in options, in agricultural products, which was crowded out by After a long spell of wet weather Democratic filibustering last week, bid is almost certain to pass if a vote can be had upon it. Secretary Windom has issued a cail for an additional $20,000,000 of 41, per cent bonds upon the same terms offered in the call of August 21-par and accrued interest to September 1891, when they mature.

Cresson Springs whither they have A. and M. Fresh are busily engaged gone to remain during the present month, but owing to the unusual pressure of important business he was unable to get away from here. He will go this week if possible, night sessions this week in order to expedite the consideration of the tariff bill. Clarkson retired from official life opens.

DISASTROUS WRECK.

A Fireman Killed and Car-Loads of Cattle Strewn Along the Track Another disastrous wreck occurred

At the place where the wreck oc. curred there is barely room between Snowy Creek and the mountain for escaped serious injury, except the

The front engine is a complete wreck. Both tracks were completely blocked and travel was entirely suswhich arrived here at 5.45 o'clock hours and the passengers were pro-

Grantsville. Weather is very changeable with an occasional cold spell. Last night we had a light frost, but to-day (Monday) it is a little warmer again. We had several light frosts preceding this one, without doing much damage, however. Mrs, Sarah Potter, wife of Clarence Potter, and oldest daughter of Frank McKinzie, of this place, was buried at St. Ann's Catholic Church in the McKinzie Settlement last week, aged. 31 years and 9 months. The husband and two small children survive to mourn their loss.

S. D. Yoder took a trip to Williams' Grove, Pa., to attend the Grangers' Seventeenth Annual Picnic Exhibition last week, Hon, Wm. R Getty took a trip to Baltimore last week.

Sheriff Casteel was in our borough last Friday night on official business. A large number of our citizens have been formally and legally inyited to pay a visit to Oakland during court week, but some of them are not highly picased with the honor accorded them. J. L. Kinsinger has set his well boring machine on Hon. W. R. Ge! ty's lot preparatory to boring a well. Chas, Wegman and Geo. Lininger took in the camp meeting at Hyndman, Pa., last Sunday a week. Communion and love-feast services were held by the German Baptists in their meeting-house at Sugar Groye about three and a-half miles south of this place, last Saturday afternoon and evening. A very large number of people were present. H. S. Nicholson, of Meyersdale, was in our town to-day photographing buildings, &c.

Politics are quiet. Republicans and Democrats who are frank enough to acknowledge it. concede that McComas is certain of being elected. Though there are hardly any apples around town, yet they are to be had at the stores thought not in large quantities, which are sent here from Baltimore. The pipes for the Standard Oil Company's pipe line have been hauled and distributed. Nearly a hundred teams were on the road. nearly all from other sections. The farmers here were very anxious to do hauling for the company, but when such articles coming from countries they realized the dangerous condition of the roads along the line it dampened their ardor, hence our teams were not worked.

Bittinger.

C. O. Recknor, of Confluence, Pa., After several of the most disor- and Miss Mintie Brenneman, of Biton August 28th by Rev. Friend. May happiness go with them through this short life. They returned to thir. Mr. Geo. Ruckle's that evening and the boys treated them to an oldfashioned serenade.

Some of our leading Democrats say that McComas will be elected by a larger majority then ever, and it is The President has signed the meat no use to bring anyone out against

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Recknor and Miss Mollie Wegman attended the picnic at Pea Ridge August 16. While on the way they got among a swarm of bees and the horses became frightened and almost unmanageable, but Mr. Reckner succeeded in stopping them, but not before the ladies had found out that bees are not harmless. Mr. Luther Reckner, of Ohio Pyle, Pa., was here attending his brother's wedding.

Peter G. Stark lost a fine horse a few days ago while hauling shingles. Miss Mottie Wegman, of Grantsville, is visiting friends and relatives here. We noticed Geo. Lininger, of Grantsville, here last Sunday. The Senate proposes holding three think some the fair ones knows why. G. W. Engle, one of our best Sunday School teachers, has gone to Ada. Ohio, to attend school. He expects Assistant Postmaster General to remain until the public school

Saturday afternoon. He will now give his whole time until after elec- and we do not know when it will tion to the Congressional Campaign start as they contempla's building a tram road.

Accident-J. E. Gnagey, Altamont-J. Z. Browning. Blaine—E. Kitzmiller. Bloomington—Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos. B. Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Elkins, W. Va.-John H. Riley Elder-Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend. Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm. A. Smith. Huttons-Chas, F. White, Johnsons-Geo, W. Blocher. Keyser, Md.-Sol non O. Beachy. McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C. J. Otto. Selbysport-Jonas Frazee. Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George. Westernport—Geo. L. Michaels. Wilson's Mills—Geo. W. Wilson

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday nights a each month. The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F.,

PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hall 1st and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nosday-evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

The weather is becoming quite cool

John Maroney has removed to the Hessen property.

See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if person on shares. you want a fine knife.

R, S. Jamison's drilling machine is at work at Mrs. Carter's. Two of Mr. Jos. Cogleys children are itt with typhoid fever. Jos. Helbig's house on Quality Hill is nearing completion. F. & C. Felty have a nice line of fine dress shirts-cheap. Go to F. & C. Feity's for your flannels-the cheapest in town. 28 3t

Davis & Son have just received

Why not build some more hotels in Oakland? It will be a paying investment. A. D. Naylor will have the finest looking house in the city when it is finished.

the campaign. Three men have been killed in tess seven miles of Oakland. Several car loads of ice was shipped here from the lakes for use at the Oakland Hotel last week.

A number of Sunday Schools have failed to send in the required report. Please attend to this matter at once, WM. HINEBAUGH.

ment.

Davis & Son have put in a full line of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought direct from the importers. Also a full line of Rogers' silverware,

Every hotel-keeper joins in pronouncing this the best season they have eyer had, and say that they could not accomodate a great many.

Davis & Son have just received a handsome line of lamps from Newark, which they will sell at reasonable prices. Call and see them. 29 3

Mr. C. T. Sweet, of Swanton, desires us to say he has now sufficient of Baltimore, who have been guests nursery stock to warrant hiring a good salesman. He will give a good

Monday, Sept. 23d (D. V.). Address son, and Miss Hattie Bartlett, of Oak. Miss E. B. Swan, Mt. Lake Park, land. The gentlemen were Mr. Sam-Garrett Co., Md. Garthright has a large supply of Christain's Best and Patapsco Superlative Flour on hand. These are the by you.

gentlemen's underwear, gloves, hos. usual grace and dignity. iery, neck wear, overshirts and flan- | No trespassing allowed on the on above named lands. nels, all at bottom prices. We mean grounds of the undersigned. business and defy competition in 29 3t quality and prices. Come and see for yourselves.

29 If S. L. TOWNSHEND & SON.

COURT PEOPLE

tage of this! Having decided to retire from the Jewelry business, 1 offer my entire stock of goods, tools, material, &c., for sale. I propose to reduce my stock as much as possible for the next 60 days. In the meantime I will adin the town. This is no sham. I of pupils strictly limited. Reference mean just what I say. Everything library. will be sold for less than first cost .-"Strike while the iron is hot." I have a splendid stock of everything in the jewelry and musical line and | Dear Friends of Garrett County -everything that appertains to the business.

done, bring it at once,

Terms positively cash. ors you have bestowed upon me, and wishing you prosperity, I remain, Yours, cordially,

F. G. HYDE. will please call and settle at once. hands for collection.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE the campaign.

FOR RENT. - The undersigned desires to rent his farm to a reliable 27 Im*

HENRY FEIG. Accident, Md.

Garthright has just received a large lot of the prettiest fancy sateens ever offered to the public at 121c per yard. in any manner entering upon the Best prints 16 yards for $1. Now is same. Any person found trespassing liv, of piedmont, are visiting rela. the time to get your money back | upon said lands will be prosecuted. Good bargains in bleached and unbleached muslins. 28 2t

One of McCauleys livery deams attached to a T-cart ran away on Thursday afternoon, The horses letter. started from the Oakland Hotel and ran across the bridge, over the railfull line of heating and cooking stoves. road crossing, and down Liberty Miss Edie E., daughter of Mr. James Peddicord left on Tuesday morning of his office. A wreck west of Tunnelton delayed street to Main, up Main street to the Skiles, both of this county. No. 2 about 5 hours Monday morn- X-roads when they came in contact with Mr. Shatzer's grocery wagon, completely demolishing the top of it. No one was injured.

Garthright's stock of fall and wool Bittinger, this county. goods is complete in all departments with Flannels, Kerseys, Blankets, Clothing, Boots and Shoes. Sateens worth 20c selling at 12½; black sat-Twenty five cents pays for THE eens worth 25c selling at 16%c. Cheap-REPUBLICAN from now until after est stock of boots and shoes ever of. aged 59 years, 8 months and 23 days, reached his 85th birthday on Mon- manship at Accident. He also has a money by saying money. 28 3t, than a week on the B. & O. within Among the social events of the past week, was a progressive euchre party, given by Miss Jennie John-The gentlemen's waiting room, B. Was. Johnson and Mr. Yost, while days. Toy was a bright child, al-& O. depot, was calsomined last the boobies fell to Miss Carrie Bart- ways obedient and ever, even amid John W. Stanton, with Hornstein day evening by the Friendsville week. This is quite an improve lett and Mr. Henry Mayers. Refresh- great suffering, unselfish, which en- Bros., printers and publishers, Chi- band was well attended. The enter-

> Men wanted for the contracting of burial of their child. cutting and hauling pulp wood from Cranesville to the Skipnish R. R. Apply at once to.

lett, of Havana, Cuba,

P. T. BOUCHER, Glades Hotel. 27 3t Oakland, Md. Twenty-five cents pays for THE

the campaign. Miss Lou Thayer gave a progressive euchre party last Thursday night in honor of the Misses Procter, at the Oakland Hotel. The ladies present were Mrs, Samuel Procter, Miss Deborah Procter, the Misses Briarbend Seminary (Home and Procter, of Baltimore, Mrs. Yost, Day School for girls) will reopen Mrs. B. Johnson, Miss Jennie Johnuel Procter, Messrs. Fongues and Biddle, of Baltimore, Md., Yost and Thayer, of West Va., E. Z. Tower and B. Johnson, of Oakland, and best grades of flour in the country, The ladies prize, a book of poems, Chas. Bartlett, of Havana, Cuba. was won by Mrs. Johnson and the S. T. Davis has bought out A. gent's prize, a scarf pin, by Arthur Howell's Grocery store on Main and Thayer. The boobies were awarded Railroad street, where he will con- to Miss Nellie Procter and Bowie time keeping groceries, fresh fish, Johnson, Jr. At 11 o'clock all were oysters, etc., Don't forget Sam, invited to the dining-hall, where a friends; he will do the square thing beautifully arranged table, filled with

MRS. E. A. KILBOURNE,

JOHN CLOSE, JOHN THOMPSON AND CHAS. THOMPSON, of L. Trespass Notice.

I hereby warn all persons not to picking chestnuts or driving through my fields with horses or wagons, as the law will be enforced to the fullest extent upon such trespassers.

HENRY FEIG. 27 5 Massey Hall Preparatory School vertise for a jeweler to buy the re- Oakland, Md., 5th year. Adventmainder of stock and rent the room, Term begins October 13, 1890. Reg-If any jeweler should see this and ular or elective stu is. Thorough were in Piedmont Sunday. wants to buy, address or call on me training. Academic, norms; or comone of the best rooms and locations to collegiate requirements. Number

REV. J. NEWMAN,

The Harvest Home.

Ever since we have settled on this was in Oakland on Wednesday, mountain we have felt an interest in Any person wanting repairing every home and citizen of this coun- Camberland Sunday and Monday, ty, and longed to visit each community, but the pressure of work prevents Thanking you all for the kind fav- this, so the next pest thing is to come together at our Harvest Home and have a good, old-fashioned picnic when we can spread the basket cop-tents upon the table and enjoy, break N. B .- All persons indebted to me ing bread together, and hear some helpful greetings from old and young. Accounts unpaid at the expiration After we hear the speakers we want Hart were in piedmont on Tuesday. of 30 days will be put in an officer's the treat of hand-shaking. Docome, dear friends, and fet us get better acquainted. I am praying for this. I do want to meet our own folks. This who are as kin to each other in coun-The summer visitor will soon be ty relationship. Even if it raises a thing of the past, judging from the and is cold, there is room for all. was visiting Dr. I. D. Newman this crowds that left on Monday morning. Come, we will have a good time.

Sincerely yours, Sept. 2, 1890. JENNIE SMITH.

All persons are hereby notified not to trespass upon my lands in Dist. No. 9 of Garrett County, either by hunting, fishing, crossing over or 28 3 CATHARINE D. MILLER.

MARRIED.

TAYLOR-BRAKE, - See Gorman

LEE-SKILES .- Aug. 23, by Rev Henry E. Friend, Mr. Moses Lee to

RECKNOR-BRENNEMAN. -- Aug. 28, by Rev. Henry E, Friend, Mr. in the city Thursday and did not for-Charles O. Recknor, of Somerset Co., get to call on THE REPUBLICAN Pa., to Miss Arminta Brenneman, of office

DEATHS.

POTTER. - See Grantsville letter. JANKEY,-Mrs. Mary Jankey, son Armstad Germany, and came to did heaith. America in 1849.

NOATES .- Toy, eldest child of Osson, in bonor of her cousins, Walter car and Willy Noates, was born day. His mother, who has been vis-Yost and Arthur Thayer, of West April 20, 1881, and died August 28, iting Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sturgiss for Va. The first prizes were won by 1890, aged 9 years, 4 months and 9 wit and humor, also Mr. Louis Bart- dear child wish to express their then go back to Chicago. thanks to all the friends who were kind to them during the sickness and Battlefields of Cedar Creek, (Middle- Offutt's Hali last Saturday night. REPUBLICAN from now until after 1890, affording a rare opportunity to iff. It was the same old speech got-be sold from all ticket stations on and President Harrison. the Ohio River at one fare for the were just eighteen persons present. round trip on Sept. 5 and 16, and Oct. 15 and 16, 1890, valid for retnrn dress Agents B, & O. R. R.

T. W. CASTEEL. 29 3

If you feel weak

and all worn out take Hoye cottage, BROWN'S IRON BITTERS | Mrs. Geo. H. Nock, who has been | Prof. Whitehair, of Terra Alta, is spoken of trespass upon my farm by hunting or Notes About our People at Home Frank B. Ross, of Onio, is in the city.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Hambleton, W. Va. Miss Mattie Adair of Terra Alta, was in Oakland Tuesday. J. B. Murphy and Wm. Newman and I will give you a bargain. I have mercial courses. Special attention ington on Monday on a visit. Miss Kate Stanton went to Wash-Dr. Bartlett spent Sunday in Cumberland, the guest of Dr. Carr. Thos. J. Peddicord is in King- their picnic Saturday. Principal. wood this week attending court.

W. A. Barritt, Jr., of Barritt, Md.,

Will Scott was in Piedmont and more Saturday to spend the winter. Dr. J. Lee McComas was in King. ood Friday on professional business.

anr office a pleasant call on Tuesday. Hon. R. J. Browning and Mayor from the giant hill top near by. Chas. Boyer, of Baltimore, was in Oakland this week, visiting friends.

Rev. Wilson, of Jane Lew, W, Va., week.

ington on piofessional business this was boarding.

Spencer Whitehair, of Terra Alta, made our office a pleasant call Thursday afternoon. Prof. R. G. Richardson and fam tives in town.

for a few hours.

Congressional Convention.

to visit relative in Howord County. John B. Harmon, of Bittinger, was Maurice Thomas returned from on education and penmanship last Richmond on Friday where he had Thursday evening. He is a good elbeen in the faterests of the Oakland ocutionist. Every one present spoke Electric Light Co.

fered. Come one and all. Make died at Deer Park on last Wednes- day. Mr. Thayer is in possession of class in Johnstown and several other day. Mrs. Jankey was born in Has- all his faculties and is enjoying spien- places-Hon. Geo. C. Sturgiss, of Morgantown, was in Oakland on Wednes-ments were served and all voted the deared her to all who knew her, For cago, arrived at his home in Oak- tainment wat good. Mr. Beails was evening a very pleasant one. Mr. several weeks she was a great suf- land at Friday noon. He went to the principal actor, Waring Thomas was present and ad ferer, yet never a murmur passed her Washington on Monday and will re ded to the pleasure of all by his high lips. The bereaved parents of this, turn to Oakland in a few days and very sick. I presume it is mostly That Tariff Reform Meeting.

Just thirteen voters (an unlucky Excursions to Historic Battleffeld Tariff Reform meeting was called to dent, fell from a swing and fractured WEDNESDAY, the 24th Day of town.) Winchester and Harper's G. W. Merrill was chosen chair- is better at present. Ferry, under the auspices of the man and Wm. Hinebaugh, secre-

Grand Army of the Republic are an- tary, Mr. Howard was introduced broken a few days ago. He is getting nounced for Sept. 16, and October 16, and spoke at some length on the tar- along nicely. visit the Historic Ground where the ten off by every Free Trade orator, contending hosts struggled for vie declaring the Tariff a tax and condemning the Republicans in Congress Prof. Lee in the normal school here Tickets for these excursions will and out, especially Mr. McComas We are glad she came. We need her the Baltimore and Onio R. R. east of ... When the meeting adjourned there

Deer Park. journey ten days including day of very pleasant entertainment was For the accommodation of those given at the Girls' Friendly Hall, desiring to visit the Battlefields of consisting of music, readings and adon sale excursion tickets at one fare ings; Miss Sue Lohrfinen, of Baltifor the round trip to these points at more, gave a recitation which thril. gard to this scholarship. Harper's Ferry and Weverton, to be led the whole audience; an address sold Sept. 16 to 24 inclusive good to was delivered by Rev. Geo. H. Nock, return until Sept, 25 inclusive. Oct. giving practical counsel to the young 16 to 24 inclusive good to return un- ladies, and spoke in praise of the lib-Hi Oct. 25th inclusive, for rates eral Christian founder of the instituand time of trains call or on or adwere several choice selections sung by the young ladies of the society, All persons are hereby warned not with Miss Georgia Hoye at the p . Barton, visited friends in this community last fruits, nuts, cake, ices, &c., awaited to trespass on the Hall place, Brant, ano. Rev. C. M. Evers, presiding Tuesday. We have just openeda full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of them and to which all did ample justopened full line of the which all did ample justop men's and boy's clothing, ladies' ands tice. Miss Lou presided with her either for hunting or crossing over present by invitation, made some week, prior to her departure for Cumberland said lands. I will kill all dogs caught pleasant closing remarks. The enter- on Monday night. tainment was directed by Mr. W. D. Hoye.

Mr. J. Q. A. Sand, wife and little boy have have been stopping at the spending the summer at Gormania, is at present at the De Hove cottage, Miss Sue Lohrfinch has returned to Baltimore, leaving a host of friends in Deer Park. Mr. A. B. Crane and family, who S. E. Flowers has removed to have been occupying the Bruday cottage at Mt. Lake Park, have returned to Baltimore,

Rev. A. M. Evers preached in Deer Park Monday night. The cool days are thinning the boarders out. Rev. Geo. H. Nack preached in S., Maryland pays $29,913 interest annually; Deer Park last Sunnay morning in a net State debt of $31,062. The debt of the M. E. Church, and at Steiding's School House at night.

The Steiding Sunday School hold

Mr. Herman Steiding will, according to current report, step off the stage of single cussedness next Wed- Mary's are the only counties in the State free nesday. The prospective bride re. from debt, and West Va. and Nebraska the sides in North Glades. He has the to the proud distinction, hearty good wishes of many friends Miss Nellie Sullivan went to Balti- and the writer thinks of doing like. Michael Eiwood started on the Western wise, but not quite that early,

Prof. Sand and wife took a three Matthew Mackin, who was killed on the rail mile walk on Monday, and were en- road near Oakland Tuesday morning tertained at supper at the residence D. S. Guthrie, of Kingwood, made of Mr. B. Steiding. They had a day morning and is now occupying a house grand yiew of mountain scenery at seldom Seen.

A number of the friends of Mrs. Geo. H. Nock, with Mr. W. D. meeting clothes and came out richly deco-Hoye as manager of the ribbons, se- rated in brilliant colors, Piedmont certainly cured the eiegant turnout of Tanzer's did on last Tuesday, to welcome to its hospi-E. F. Standberry visited relatives livery, and crossed the great back stonal Convention of W. Va. The town was REPUBLICAN from now until after means every man, women and cailed and friends near Moundsville this bone range to Gormania, with the clothed in flags, bunting, smiles and good object of bringing Mrs. Nock to Deer cheer. With 15 counties represented by large Park and at the same time to show delegations and with numerous visitors from her the natural grandeur of our coun rett, the spacious opera house was filled to ty. The party dined very plenti- its ntmost capacity: Most of the day was fully at the Virginia House, across consumed in appointing and hearing the re-Dr. J. Lee McComas was in Wash- the river in Gormania, where she ports of various committees and it was late

The Tasker Mandamus Decision. Tasker vs. J. Thomas Scharf, com. Allegany mountains. Mr. Harman, a wealthy the Circuit Court for Anne Arundel to the answer of the defendent was convention it was generally conceded that Julius K. Monroe, of Kingwood, good, and that the mandamus is-ue Dayton was a sure winner, and his friends was in Oakland Thursday evening as prayed, deciding that the law was the afternoon, when it was found that a quiet Julius Scherr was in Piedmont on tonal, and that Mr. Tasker being the Tuesday attending the Republican accredited agent of Allegany and Garrett counties, commanded the tion. said land commissioner to grant him Mrs. F. A. Thaver and Mrs. J. C. free access to the books and records

ent.

Accident. The weather is delightful at pres-

Farmers are busy sowing wheat. Prof. Thatcher delivered a lecture very highly of the lecture. The Prof. DAVID MICHAEL, The venerable Ralph Thayer organized a class of thirty in pen-

> The Accident Literary Society met on Fridas evening. They had a very interesting session. They meet again Friday evening, Sept. 12. Question for debate, Resolved, That Shakespeare was a greater poet than Milton.

The entertainment held last Satur-Mr. Geo. Deitrich, of the Forks, is old age. He is not expected to re-Miss Anna George, a young lady number) were present when the about 16 years old, living near Acci-

A series of special excursions to the order by G. S. Hamill, E-q., in her skull, Dr. Ravenscroft has been attending her. She was very ill, but James McGettigan had his leg

> Thad and Will Hinebaugh are here visiting friends and hunting. Miss Mattie Porter is assisting help very much. Rev. Wolter is now pastor in the German church at Accident. He was installed last Sunday. The church was crowded. Mrs, Eli McMillen was on the sick list a few days last week. Several of our students applied for a free scholarship in St. John's Col-Antietam and Gettysburg, the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. Co, will place timore, gaye several humorous readeident boys should be favored in re-

Moses R. Hamill, well known in Garrett late a watchman in the sub treasury de partment, Baltimore city. is employed as book-keeper for West & Shipman, Empire. Mrs W. C. Johnson, accompanied by he Louis, spent a portion of last week visiting relatives and friends in town. Mr, Cadten, an enterprising merchant of

Mr. Richard Ware and daughter Carrie, of Mrs, Mort Penington, of Elk Garden, was aguest of Mrs. John Cleory of Garvey's Hotel on last Monday. All trains, freight and passenger, helping engines, &c, are required, according to a late order, to consume one hour dnd eight minutes in coming down the I7-mile grade.

school tals tall. He seted in the same capac ty last winter and gave general satisfa Messrs, Rawlings and Pattison, lesses of the pend operations for a short time on account f the scarcity of cars. They have orders thre weeks ahead, an i quite a large stock mined and ready for snipment, but are unable to obtain transportation facilities James Durst, son of Hanson B. Durst, of Frankville, this county, was severely cut near the knee joint, while at work at Fredlock's will, on last Monday afternoon. Dr.

Kemp readered surgical aid. According to the census bulletin on the nancial condition of the countles of the U. Garrett is a bonded one of $16,000, on which we pay 6 per cent interest, making an annual interest of $960. It is comprised in two issues of bonds-one an issue of $13,000 for funding old debts, and an issue of $3,000 for building our court house. The bonded debt has been reduced $800 since the last census. Worcester, Somerset, Harford, Montgomery and St. only States in the Union which can lay claim

Misses Maggie and Winnie Carney and Mr. bound accommodation train Tuesday even ing, to attend the funeral ceremonies of Mr.

Mr. Joseph Butts and family, of Barnum,

Mr. William Joyce, of Randolph County, is visiting friends in this vicinity. If ever a place put on its Sunday-go-to-the adjoining counties of Allegany and Garin the afternoon before the chair announced nations. Four names were placed in nomi-The mandamus case of Hirman P. was between the East and West side of the missioner of the land office, which farmer of Grant County, represented the forwas argued before Judge Jones in mer, while Mr. Dayton, a young lawyer of Phillipi, Barbour County, represented the sentiments of the West end of the district, Or county, the court ruled that demurrer the evening before and the morning of the were swept clear off their feet by surprise, in out of 201, and he was accordingly, amid great applaase, declared the nominee by acclama-

WOLF'S BUSINESS INSTITUTE. Commercial course, English branches, Shorthand, Type Writing and Telegraphy, Thorough instruction at modern rates, Young men and women trained for positions, D. ELMER WOLF, Estate of David Michael, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the sub-A serieer, of Garrett county, fath obtained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters Testimentary on the personal estate of of Garrett county, Md., dec'd. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 29th day of March next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given mader my hand this 28th day of Angaren was mader my hand this 28th day of Angaren.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for Garrett County at the suit of Lloyd Lowndes, Jr., against the goods and chattels, lands and enements of Hiram P. Tasker, I did seize the levied upon all that lot of ground situated about one-half mile above the village of

MILITARY LOT NO. 259, ontaining fifty acres of land more or less

by an actual entry upon the premises on the The ony of April, 1890; said Judicial being No. 9 to May Term, 1890, in the Circuit Court for Jarrett County. And I hereby give notice, SEPTEMBER, 1890.

at the hour of two o'cleck p.m. of said day, in front of the Taggart Hotel, in the town o Dakland, I will offer the aforesaid described tot of land at public auction to the highest bidder for each on the day of sale, to satisfy the aforesaid execution and costs. E. N. CASTEEL.

Sheriff. COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., August 25th, 1890. A regular meeting of the County Commis-sioners of Garrett County will be held at their office in the Court House, Oakland, Md., on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8th, 1890, for the transaction of whatever public business as may be brought before them: J. B. FAY, Clerk

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINING and Blemishes and Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes on Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, on Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Sprains, all spaney. Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all spaney. Ring bone, Stiffes, Save $50 by ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md. 45 lv*

SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER. SHINGLES. LATH

AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. Orders for Lumber and anything in my line

WM. A. LORAW. 25 1 vr TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

TRAINING A CHILD.

We start at the cradle determined to teach The babe that no rocking will answer it But, when it commences in earnest to yell, We not only rock it, but walk it as well.

As soon as our language it half understands, We spank it with slippers and box it with hands And when it shows temper—from seeing ou

We whollop it harder-or leave it alone.

When able to fly from the home nest in search Of knowledge, we aid it by doses of birch: When older, the rawhide is making it smart, In more ways than one-though it hardens its

We watch it too closely, or else we are blind: One day we're too stern-then, too easy and We send it to Sunday-school so we can shirk Its spiritual training—which should be hom

We punish for little things, best unobserved, And don't when a punishment's justly deserved, We scold it so much it heeds not what we say, And make it, if sensitive, keep from our way

We give it commands that can't be obeyed; We break many promises thoughtlessly made: We bribe it one day and the next we use force— But always we think we're consistent, of To train up a child in the way it should go

Seems not such a difficult problem—although, To judge by the trainers we have to confess It is not in their cases a brilliant success. And yet there's a way, and one only, to train A child so it won't of its parents complain— Don't think that your darling's hopelessly bad Because it inherits the faults of its dad.

Don't scold it nor whip it. Just patiently show Yourself the example of how it should go. Train yourself—not your child—and by doing

The second edition the first must excel. -H. C. Dodge, in Detroit Free Press,

AN OLD MAN'S STORY,

The Reason Why Bob Did Not

are you, Bob?" asked the old glowing fire. early train to-young man answered firmly, and with almost a profound solemnity. "Do you find-have you heard that there is a good opening for a physician out there where you are going?" said reseated himself in his comfortable

leathern chair. "I don't care a continental whether at all events, I went off feeling very there is an opening for a physician or not: I am going West to go to work, said Bob, quickly. "I may end by being a cowboy or something worse, perhaps," he added, with a laugh that it was not pleasant to hear. "And how does the little Alice like the idea of your going?" asked Cousin Tom, carelessly, it seemed, but his half-closed eyes under his shaggy brows were fixed very intently upon the young fellow as he spoke. Bob winced. "I have not considered it necessary to notify Miss Ames of my intentions," he said, stiffly.

"Perhaps I may as well tell you," he continued, after a moment, "that it will be through no voluntary act of mine that she ever hears of me again; so, if you please, we will leave her out of the conversation. But come, Cousin Tom, you have been out West yourself. Tell me something about the country."

The old man puffed away slowly at his pipe. The young fellow's indifference did not deceive him. There were a good many thoughts in his mind. He had been sitting a long while alone with only the dim firelight and his bare, white throat. Somehow a yellow memories for company. The coming of rose always brings back that picture to his young cousin had hardly dispelled the visions he had been recalling, and to take her in my arms and beg her to he waited a long time before replying.

"Yes," he said at length, between the puffs, "I have seen a good deal of the West, and a very different country it is from this, I can assure you. There is hardly a square mile of ground in the whole State of Texas that I have not been over; and Mexico and the Territories, and California, too, I know pretty well. I was a considerably younger man than I am now when I went to the knew of my whereabouts. frontier. I little thought then of becoming the decrepit old bookworm that I am now, with hardly strength enough to light my pipe. It has been a good

*TELL ME SOMETHING ABOUT THE COUN-

as you when I enlisted.

old man suddenly, "how I came to go to every thing and spent so many years of your life in wandering about.'

"Well," said the old man, leaning forward to empty his pipe upon the hearth, and if you get tired you must let me know. After I left school I settled down in the village is practice law. I Oriel, in Philadelphia Times. was never a very wild fellow, only quick and hot-tempered-quick and hot-tempared. Aye, there's where the trouble came," said the old man, musingly.

"Here, boy," he said, as he fumbled in his pocket and produced a little, worn velvet case, "that has been with me everywhere through all that Western wild. Look at it as I talk to you "Why, this is Alice, sir," said Bob, eagerly, as he opened the case.

"Aye, Alice," stick the sid man, "but not your Alice. My Alice I used to call her in the old days. She was Alice Ames' aunt. I can see her now, boy, as I saw her the day she sat listening to me as I told my love to her. She kept her eyes bent down upon the grass at her feet all the time I was talking to her. We had walked down the hill to the rustic seat under the old beech tree, but that, too, is gone now. I forgot. Her hat had slipped off, I remember, and her rough rings of hair seemed to have caught the rays of the sun himself and shone and glinted round her head. She lifted her sweet eyes to mine when had done, and putting her hand in mine said:

"I HAVE OTHER FISH TO FRY."

"'Why, Tom, don't you know I have loved you always?" asked the old man quietly, as all this? You wanted to know why I he added a went West. Well, as I told you, I was fresh stick to a hot-headed, quick-tempered fool, and, the already though it seems to me now that Alice did every thing that a sensible man "Yes; I leave would have been satisfied with, I used for Texas on the then to be very exacting, and was often vexed with her. She was bright, and cheerful, and happy, and used to treat Tom,' the my high and mighty humors with the lightness they deserved. Finally one day—I shall never forget it—I had been to see Alice in the morning, and, with my usual foolhardiness, had been censuring her for dancing so much the night before with Henry Wentworth, the old man, as he lighted his pipe and your banker in town, you know. It seemed to me she had taken my strictures a little more defiantly than usual;

> "But, as is always the case with hotheaded fools, I cooled off very quickly. Alice had always been so ready to for give me that it was with no hesitancy that I went out that afternoon to take her for a drive. I found her with her hat upon her head, standing on the gallery pulling some roses. They were yellow, I remember, and very sweet. Come, Alice,' I said, 'Selim is in excellent trim; let us take a drive out the Greensboro pike.' "'I am very sorry, Tom,' she said, > but I can not go with you this after-

"She stopped breaking the flowers as she spoke and looked at me half shyly from under her lashes. "'Why not, pray?' I asked, firing up in a moment. I fancied there was something teasing in her tone.

"'I have other fish to fry,' she said, simply "I shall never forget how she looked as she stood there twirling the yellow rose in her hand and bending down her head till her little chin rested upon her me. I remember my first impulse was the Senate House-is appropriately forgive me, but ere I moved or spoke I heard the sound of wheels on the gravel | Peter's first conquests. The great Czar without, and, turning, I saw young Wentworth drive up. Without a word I turned and left the house. As I entered the village I met a little band of troops starting for the Mexican war. In a moment I was out and had enlisted. We left that night. I was accountable to no one for my actions, and no one

"What I suffered in the war it matters not. That gash across the little case you have shows how near I came being pricked by a Mexican sword. When my term of enlistment was out I was more than willing to return home, and lost no time in doing so. As I left the train and walked up the village street I saw a funeral procession just urning the brew of the hill. Henry Wentworth and his young wife were getting in the carriage as I passed the He had married, he told me, the week after I left a girl from the South. They both seemed very sad and in a "Whose is the funeral?' I asked, as I turned to go. " 'Alice's,' he answered. "My God! It was my Alice, and I had one and left her." The old man pressed his head upon his hands and the tears trickled down his sunken cheeks. Bob did not speak; his face was hidden too. "After that," the old man said, by and by, "I spent the next twenty-five years Song time since the Mexican war of my life in prowling about the West, though, hasn't it? I was hardly as old and it was only when I because an old man, when I had nothing left but Alice's "Did I ever tell you, Bob," said the grave over there on the hillside, that I came back home to rest. But here am "No," said Bob, "and I have often ing you up listening to my chatter, been curious to know why you threw up when you ought to be in bed, getting ready for your trip to-morrow." The young man sprang to his feet. "Just one o'clock," he said. "I can yet catch the 1:30 train to town. I shall "I may make a pretty long story of it, not go West at all, Cousin Tom, and if my Alice will forgive me you may come to our wedding next month."-Patience

-Collector (to Skimgullet)-"I wish you would settle this account, sir; can't come after the money every day. The fire-light flickered upon his bald Skimgullet-"Well, it would suit me head and sunken checks, and his eyes better, too, if you came at night; I'm were very sad.

THE STUDY OF FACES.

Science Which Is Capable of Being Re duced to Fixed Rules. izen of Zurich, was the first to prove that physiognomy is a science, which can be reduced to a science, which Cicero, which he characterizes as "I minous and intelligent," that of Plattin which he finds "wisdom almost divit," and Brutus, in which he sees "unshak firmness." "Wisdom and probity" to complete and first-class or people will clear to him in Marcus Aurelius, and he discovers the "father of poet" in Homer's countenance. "I have seen a problem does and consequently like the counterpart of t Homer's countenance. "I have seen a boats another does, and consequently criminal with a face like one of Guido's travel falls off. Why, look at that new angels," says one author. To this La- boat of ours-the Indiana. It eclipses vater well replies that "a man born with any thing we ever owned, and yet we happy disposition with delicate and ir- thought our other boats were fair ritable fibers, may plungeinto crime, and steamers. And so they were, but we yet be better than a hundred others, who saw where improvements could be made, pass for good, and who are incapable of where better accommodations could be excess." Poets, in all ages and coun- given to the passengers, and so we built tries, have been believers in physiog- the Indiana. But it won't be long before nomy. Let us take testimony from them. Herder speaks of the eyes as "windows other boats will appear that will be betof the soul." Shakespeare says, "there's ter yet; and so it goes. The great aim no art to find the mind's construction in among steamship companies to-day is the face." Milton and Dryden are of not so much to increase the speed as the same mind, as the former says, have fine boats; and it is remarkable, "cruel his eye," and the latter sees even in this age of progress, to note the 'counsel" in the human countenance. results. Steamers are being made re-"Manly majesty sate in his front, and darted from his eyes, commanding all be little less than floating palaces. And he viewed," we read in Œdipus. Aris- yet they are not for the use of the rich totle, and in modern times our own Emerson, perceived in human countenances traits resembling the brute creation. The boat has to go on a certain time mantelpiece are little ornaments and Coarseness, cruelty, vanity and shallowness betray themselves, while refinement, culture, kindness, the spiritual good; but if not, the expense is not life will transform the most ordinary features. Lavater became so skilled after years of study, that he could dis- and the company is just that much out. tinguish the farmers from one part of There are the same number of men to be bined with poetic sensibility. In Shelthat dwelt within, even as seen in the changed. The beauty of Helen was the cause of the Trojan war. The face of Court.

es. The modern student will find this science a fascinating one.

different shape, says one writer, the for-tunes of the world would have been that Chicago is more of a port than it is Mary of Scotland won for her many friends, and made the ill-favored Queen

JACK'S COSTLY RIDE. An English Tar Mounts the Bronze Steed

of Peter the Great. Among the most famous "sights" of St. Petersburg is a fine equestrian statue in bronze of its renowned creator. Peter the Great. The figure-which stands on the left bank of the Neva, opposite mounted on a huge block of grey granite from East Finland, which was one of is represented as sitting erect on a rearing horse, and pointing with his right hand to the spot on the opposite bank where he built with his own hands in crushed the serpent that typifies the grovelling ignorance and superstition which impeded his grand designs. Now, crabs. Take two from the same colony it happened that one cold autumn night and they won't fight. Pick up one here, an English sailor, who had just landed and go down the ditch a hundred feet from a newly arrived cargo steamer, and pick up a second, and they'll fight was strolling back across the Senate at the drop of the hat. The contests House-square, and, as his ill-luck would take place on the board walk or veranda. have it, stopped to take a passing look at the imperial statue. "Well, if that's bottle, and before being emptied out is the thing they make such a fuss about, shaken up to arouse his dander. The I don't think much of it!" cried Jack, disdainfully. "It's nothing like so big as I they clinch and the fun begins. There is thought it was. Why; I could climb to the no let up until one or the other turns top of it myself; and I will, too." No tail. For many days a man from Buffalo went bold Jack, and, clawing hisaway nimbly up the roughened surface of the right and left-hander, and the way he granite pedestal, he succeeded in clutch- did knock all comers out was a caution. ing first the tail of the serpent and then I saw him win five straight matches in that of the horse, and found himself in a single day and the gate money was $5 a trice astride of the latter, close behind each time. At length a fellow came up the bronze figure of the Czar. So far so from Tom's River to make a match. He good, but just at that critical moment also had a champion crab, and a match the moon clouded over, and poor Jack could not see how on earth to get down again. What was to be done? To stay spectators present, and most of us backed where he was perched on that cold bronze, would be little better than suicide on such a bitter night. To descend dumped out about ten inches apart, and would be to risk breaking his neck ot each squared off at once. They were limbs; and to call for help would deliver him ot once into the hands of the same species, and we looked forward to police. But the question was unexpectedly settled for him. His muttered exclamations of dismay caught the quick when our Beach Haven crab suddenly ears of a passing patrol, who at once turned tail and ran away. The other turned their lanterns upon the monument, whence the sounds appeared to issue, and, discovering Master Jack in his elevated position, promptly sent for about $60 on that brief fight, and two a ladder and hauled him down. A night hours later, when I found him alone on in the tehast (police lock-up) rewarded the sands, I asked him to give it away. out hero's exploit, and the next moraing a stern-faced Prefect of Police sentenced him to a fine which left poor Jack's peckets as empty as his head, silencing the culprit's remonstrances by saying, with a grim smile-"if you will ride with the Czar. my friend, you must the smell scares the other crab out of expect to pay high for a mount."—Cashis boots. Go thou and lay for suckers." sell's Saturday Journal.

LAKE STEAMBOATS.

They Are Models of Neatness, Comfort and Elegance. "There is always room for improve can be reduced to fixed rules. In a to keep up with the times, must be a series of remarkable essays, with many floating palace. The mere fact that it illustrations, he claims the possibility makes fast time is not sufficient. That of a complete system, mental states be- is taken for granted. But the main ing revealed by the occipital muscle, thing now is to cater to the comfort of and the rectus superior of the eye. the passengers in every way. We must Lavater was inspired with a genuine serve a fine table, and have every thing Lavater was inspired with a genuine thereon that the market affords in its love for the science, ranking no study higher, since he says, "What a ray of that department alone is no small featible in the control of the divinity in that countenance! Every ture of our bills. Instead of taking thing declares it to be a copy after a along a stock of provisions, like the Divine Original." Lavater himself is ocean steamers, we buy provisions at large-minded, making many concessions every port, and consequently have every and finding in "some faces, which betting fresh and palatable. The boats long to chameleon-souis, the possibili- are provided with the most approved ties of what men might and ought to style of refrigerators, and meats, etc., be." Zopyrus, detecting brutal quali-ties in the face of Socrates, was con-the shop. The cooks are good ones and firmed in his statement by the philoso- get good pay. They have assistants, of pher himself, we read, as he admitted course, and on a first-class steamer tothat such had indeed been his traits in day you can get a meal as good as at the early life, but that, by effort he eradi- finest hotel or cafe. The traveling peocated them. Lavater instances many ple little know what time, money and well-known faces, among others that of care is spent in keeping up this depart-something else will be thought of, and gardless of expense and with a view to only. Another feature of the case is this: whether there are many or few passenlessened in the least. All the prepara-England from those of another, merely by observation of the differences in their provisions to be paid for, and the cost of were not many of them and the food nning the hoat is not lessened in the profiles of Dante, Savonarola and George ployed on first-class passenger boats, hungry. Eliot resemble each other. In the faces and receive salaries all the way from $20 or $25 a month. It is true that somerecognize the rare and sensitive spirit remember one time last year we had 900 and the coffee the same. Two cans of countenance of our own beloved Haw-thorne. Had Cleopatra's nose been a day occurrence, although I wish it were.

generally credited for? It is said, and I believe statistics will prove my statement, that there are more arrivals and clearances at Chicago in one year at Boston, New York and Philadelphia of England her life-long and vindictive combined. That may sound big, toe.—Anna Olcott Commelin, in Open people have no idea of the number vessels that are arriving and leaving Chicago."-Chicago News.

THE TOM'S RIVER CRAB.

He Was Without Doubt the John Sullivan of His Tribe. One day early in the season I caught a couple of crabs in the inlet as specimens, and having put both in the same bottle I was treated to one of the prettiest fights you ever saw. The hint was too good to be lost, and for the last three weeks crab fighting has been the hobby at this quiet seaside resort. Every man, woman, boy and girl, almost without exception, has had his or her fighting crab, and the matches have been numerous and for blood. You can't 1704 the first house of his new capital, but up a job with a crab. He goes in while beneath his horse's hoofs lies for a knockout, and he stays until the victory is awarded. It's a funny thing about these ditch pair are no sooner dumped out than coner said than done. Over the railings had the John L. of crabs. He was no larger than many others, but he was a for $25 was soon arranged. It took place on the floor of a pavilion, with a hundred our home crab for at least half a dollar. When all were ready they were about of a size, ard seemed to be of the at least fifty rounds. Alas! However, they were yet sparring for an opening pursued him and mauled him all over

> "For how much?" he queried. "Say $5." "Hand it over. Now, then, just be fore you bring your crab to the ring side dampen his claws with turpentine. The smart of it not only gets his mad up, but

SENSIBLE SHOP GIRLS.

How They Manage to Save Money on Five Dollars a Week, The question is asked over and over again, "How do girls, who are employed n stores and shops at small salaries,

It would be surprising to know the umber who manage to exist on $5 a veek, and who have discovered the art of making S1 go as far as $2 would ordinarily. "Save up money on $5 a week?" asks

ome incredulous person. There are not many, it must be adnitted, but four poor girls, each one working from 8 o'clock in the morning intil 6 at night, three as salesgirls and the other in a shop, have for two years een trying the plan of co-operative nousekeeping, which promises to become a perfect system for working women who can not afford to board at the place they prefer, or become dissatisfied when they undertake to try cheaper places.

When the store where three of the friends work has closed for the day they three proceed to the nearest corner, where they are met by the other member of the family, and the four walk home together.

Having heard of the pleasant times which these girls have at their apartments, and being desirous of seeing for herself how the plans are carried out, the writer, by special invitation, recently took an evening meal with them. The house is on a side street within easy walking distance of down town and the room up two flights. The latter is a large apartment and has three winlows, which are prettily draped with dotted muslin tied back with yellow ribbons. The wails are tinted with a pale cream color and the whole interior showed the good taste of the occupants. A folding bed of cabinet shape, in the front of which is a long mirror, and a broad couch which is also a bed, two easy chairs, one rocker, and several other chairs are all the larger pieces of furniture.

In front of the door leading to the ide room, which is used as a kitchen, is a large screen, evidently of home manufacture, but decidedly ornamental. Two sets of shelves adorn the spaces between the windows, and these are filled with books. There are also a few good pictures hung about, and on the pretty things, watched over by a small bust of Dickens on a bracket. While the writer was admiring the neatness of the room and praising the tions for a big load have been made, general appearance, one of the girls had

There was no array of silver, but the

by apologies, and every-The least. There are about sixty men em- thing passed off smoothly, for all were After awhile the cost of the meal was of Shakespeare and Burns the forehead the $2,000 or $2,500 a year paid to the considered, and found to be just 48 cents. and eyes express lofty intelligence comcoffee, the former costing the girls 20 ley's broad brow and feminine beauty we | times we take out extra good lists. I | cents a week, the butter about 50 cents > on one trip on the City of Racine. Such | condensed milk at 13 cents each brings total up to $1.46. At the end of the week the girls make un their cash accounts, and the expenses of the family amount to about $4.80 or an average. They hire the room unfurnished, with the exception of the beds, and consequently are able to hire at the low price of $12 a month. In the side room which has been mentioned is running water, and many shelves have been "built in" to make things more convenient for the house-The gas-stove, bought at a bargain, is set on a little raised platform in the corner, which is covered with a neat oflcloth. Tinware is hung up all about, and every thing looks as orderly as possible. They do not find time for many fancy dishes, but they have plenty of wholesome food and appear to onjoy thoroughly their manner of living. Occasionally they are invited out to spend Sunday or to tea during the week, their cosy room which they have occupied together so long, and think their be much more contented if they tried

A CRUEL INDIGNITY.

How a Seedy-Looking Man Was Insulted by a Stingy Matron. "I beg your pardon, madam, for intruding on you at meal-time," he said, politely, "but may I ask you for a little

The lady brought him a salt-box. He ooked at it meditatively and leaned against one of the pillars of the porch. "It is a foolish habit I have got into, e said, in an apologetic way, "but I dare say you will consider it one of questionable taste, but I always eat salt on my water-melon."

"But you haven't any water-melon," said the lady of the house. "Thank you kindly for suggesting it," answered the seedy-looking tourist, gratefully. "Shall I eat the melon out here?

"I don't see how you can. We have no water-melon to-day.'

"No water-melon at all in the house? "Then, madam," said the caller in the ones of an injured man, "permit me to return the salt. I will not say I am angry, but I am hurt-deeply hurt. You have raised my expectations and cruelly disappointed them. I leave you, madam, o your own reflections." He made a low bow, handed back the salt-box with the air of a King declining a dukedom, and two minutes later he was on the back porch at the next neighbor's asking for a little horseradish. - Chicago Tribune.

-She Objected.-Husband-"I am thinking of moving to Chicago, dear." Wife-"O, George, don't! Let us live together long enough to celebrate our rystal wedding before we get a divorce!" Drake's Magazine.

-Some 200 photographs of lightning flashes are included in the collections of the Royal Meteorological Society.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

- When boiling tough meat, a little rinegar added to the water will make it nuch more tender.

-To Bake Tomatoes: Wash the tomatoes, make a deep hole in the stem end, fill this with a little sugar, salt and pepper. Lay them on buttered tins and bake.—Housekeeper. -How to Fry Croquettes: There should be enough fat to float the croquettes as they are put in: fry at once as many as will float easily; when they are golden brown take them up with a skimmer, lay them on brown paper to free them from grease, dust them with salt, and then serve them hot .- N. Y. Observer.

-Shirred Eggs: Break into a shallow buttered platter, and after dusting with salt and pepper, bake in the oven until the whites are set. Have ready the same number of pieces of toast, around which has been poured a cream sauce; divide the eggs neatly with a knife, and lay one on each piece.

-Feather Cake: One and one-half cups of sugar, two eggs, well beaten, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one cup of sweet milk, two cups of flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, a little salt, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Good in three layers with any filling, chocolate or ccocoanut. - Banner and Herald.

-Cucumber is very digestible when eaten properly. It can not, indeed, be otherwise when it is remembered that it consists mainly of water, and that those parts which are not water are almost exclusively cells of a very rapid growth. In eating cucumber it is well to cut it into thin slices and to masticate them thoroughly. Even the vinegar and the pepper that are so often added to it are of service to the digestion if not taken in excess.-London Hospital.

-The common housefly is an almost inbearable intruder upon domestic comfort, and is said to be sometimes a carrier of disease germs. Yet it has its uses as a household scavenger, pouncing upon every bit of decaying, unwholesome matter and doing its little best to make up for the neglect or oversight of the "household queen." Still, their presence in kitchen and dining room, to say nothing of the sleeping apartments, is so great a discomfort that every effort should be made to drive and bar them out.

-Graham Bread: Sift one quart of graham meal, and preserve the bran to stir in with the wheat flour in the morning. Mix the graham with onehalf cup of yeast or one-third of a cake of compressed yeast in a little over one pint of water or part milk, warm in winter. In the morning add wheat flour, but not enough to allow it to be kneaded. By mixing the bran in with flour in getting too sour. If biscuit is preferred, take a piece of dough, flouring the hands, and work it lightly into little ound biscuit. Fill the pan, crowding the biscuit a little, and raise it all one hour in a moderately warm place. Bake in a hot oven. If you like you can add a piece of butter the size of an English walnut, and three or four teaspoonfuls of sugar.-Boston Globe.

DRESSING AN ART. The Golden Mean Which Must Be At-tained by Women of Taste.

It requires something more than a ong purse and a fashionable milliner to enable one always to be dressed just as one ought to be. The best-dressed woman is by no means always the one who is arrayed with the most splendor and costliness; and to know how to dress according to the occasion is as much an art as to know how to dress at all. In one's own home to out-dress one's guest is a rudeness and an unkindness; the house, the equipage, the retinue, the entourage, the whole establishment is there to speak for one; the personal attire can be of the most modest. One certainly would never revive the singular French custom of receiving in one's night-dress and in bed, an affectation of simplicity which was reafly an but they feel very much at home in extravagance of luxury, since it served the purpose of exhibiting a profusion of rich laces in curtains, coverlet, cap and friends who have such doleful experi- dress, and general equipment, rivaling ences in hunting up boarding places and the spider's work and worth a King's trying to live on small salaries would ransom: for, apart from the indelicacy and impropriety of that fashion, o-operative housekeeping. - Boston it is not wise to assume any simplicity whose subterfuge can be seen through. The dress that is not conspicuous with dazzling nor any object of envy, and yet fine enough to show respect for one's guests, is easily arranged by the woman who knows how to dress at all. But, on the other hand, an attire that is too modest is equally out of place on the guest, for it seems to assume that the entertainment is inferior and the convives of no consequence. It is better for the guest to be overdressed than for the hostess-better for the guest than to be underdressed; she need not feel uncomfortable if she has come in a dress outshining that of every one else present, since the worst that can be said of it is that she thought the occasion worthy of it. But, in fact, the artist in dress will woid either of these extremes, wearing nothing too rich or too poor, too fanciful and esthetic, or too plain and coarse. Conspicuous dressing has been one of the disorders of the age, and if the tailor-made dress had not run into the region of costliness it would have wrought wonders for women of all grades. The perfectly dressed woman causes no one to turn the head and glance at her, unless for her charming ensemble, but if by any accident the glance is arrested and fixed on her toilet, then it is seen to be faultless. Only in the private depths of one's boudoir, where none but intimates have access, can any eccentricities of dress be indulged, and there one can cultivate the picturesque at one's own sweet will if it is really worth while to give the subject so much attention. The chief thing to remember is that a style of dress becomes a part of one's own personality, of one's individualism, and one would always prefer that that should be pleasing.-Harper's Bazar.

-Finger nails grow at an average rate of half an inch in four months.

Prospects of Their Destruction by a Nat-

The Canada thistle is synonymous with all that is evil. It steals its way into the richest soil by having the wind carry the minute seeds, or gains a still better entrance unobserved in the grass seed for the coming meadow. When once established it is with great difficulty that its deep, wide-reaching roots can be extracted or otherwise killed. The spinose forage of the pest is not relished by live stock and is a severe test upon the patience and morals of the person who must needs work among its dry, piercing prickers in the harvest

It is therefore with much delight that an enemy is announced upon the dreaded thistle that may work the downfall of the vegetable arch-fiend in the grass and grain field. While rusts, smuts, blights, mildews and molds have come to bring ruin to the grain crops, spoil the potato field and destroy the fruits of the vineyard and orchard, the triumph ant thistle has reared its unmolested head and spread its prickly foliage to add insult to injury over wide areas of our best farm-land. However, it has not proved itself proof against the whole host of fungi that prey upon higher forms of vegetation. Last year we were pleased to observe that a rust had fallen upon the thistle and did severe damage to a few plants in the vicinity of New Brunswick, N. J. Other observers have occasionally met with the rust upon the Canada thistle in former years, and in the old country it has been known for a long time.

One of the most interesting points in connection with this enemy to the thistle and friend of man is the fact that it spreads with considerable rapidity. Last year in some patches of thistles not more than one out of fifty line, 164 in another, 83 in another and plants was affected, but this season fully half of the shoots in the same patches are badly diseased. The rust lives over the winter in the plant and shows its presence in the thistle shoot as soon as the latter has come above the ground. At the time of writing the rust can be detected several rods from the infested patch. As the shoots arise the dise sed ones are more rapid in their growth; that is, the stems grow faster but fail to put forth as large leaves as those stems not affected by the fungus. The longer, straighter stems with smaller leaves with all parts of a pale color make it easy to distinguish the sick from the healthy plants. As the season advances the leaves become of a rusty brown color upon the under side, and rapidly shrivel and die while the almost leafless, withered stems remain behind with reclining heads, the picture of distress—to those was hoeing in his garden after his supthistle. The brown or rusty coating to looking up from his work he saw fire the under side of the leaves is due to a shining through cracks in his barn. wast multitude of spores. These spores He went into the barn as soon as poswhile very small are designed for the sible and found the fire to be wholly in spread of the disease, and when they fall upon healthy plants induce disease, and in time the unfortunate plant becomes rusted. That the rust spreads light nor fire of any nature around his with ease there is no doubt; that it barn for many weeks, nor is there any hibernates in the underground parts of the host in winter seems beyond quesstanch friend in this rust of the thistle, it becomes us to study its habits and butts of the bundles was a heavy growth favor it in our thistle fields, provided it will not grow upon our crops and spoil

He examined the berries of his wheat them also. There does not seem to be and concluded it was a little too green any reason to fear that it will harm to go into the barn. We had beautiful other plants than the thistles, and harvest weather-hot sun every day and means for its propagation upon the no storm-so that his grain cured fast. thistle are in order. It seems to us that the best way will be to transplant the put in another load. Being busy with diseased roots into fields that are still his haying the fourth day he put in antree from the pest. If, for example, there is a single square rod of rusted he put in the balance, six loads, making thistles in a large field, these plants ten loads of good heavy wheat, filling sould be employed to infect the whole his barn from scaffold floor over his area. The spores go with the wind, horse stable clear to the roof. but it will doubtless facilitate matters to set out the rusted plant. Something that part of the mow where the two may be done in this direction at the experiment stations. Let us extend the and no help present but his wife no warm hand of welcome to this rust could not put out the fire or save his enemy of the cursed Canada thistle.— barn. He had $300 insurance on barn American Agriculturist.

A Good Support for Roofs. A very cheap and strong arrangement flat roofs spreading apart, giving the bailding that most undesirable appearance of a "broken back," is shown in the accompanying engraving. After the rafters are in position, take stiff board stuff, one by four inches, and nail one end to the rafter about one-third of the distance from the top, nailing the other end to the beam, or, in absence of a beam, to the studding or joists. Where these rafter-ties cross each other they are also securely nailed. These ties, placed upon every second or third pair of rafters, make the most solid kind of a roof, that will never sag even when by the wind. This plan is far preferable to the common one of simply nailing a strip from one rafter to the other; this plan, as shown, adds strength to the entire structure, costs but little and would be more used if known.-Amer-Ican Agriculturist.

STRONG RAFTER-TIES.

THE Jersey organ says that it makes a mighty sight of difference—or words will "go to grass" speedily, and ought to that effect—what kind of a good cow to, otherwise it encourages shiftlessyou have. It is altogether useless for our contemporary to waste space in giving its idea of what kind of a good cow a good cow is. We all know what quarter.

THE Kansas City Live Stock Exchange in its resolutions, describing the purity and sweetness of caul fat, strangely periected to tell us what similarity there was between hog's lard and butter fats.

In nine cases out of ten failures are caused by the man-not the hen, mar- and them also, as you can't afford to do FARMS 18,000 Acres selected. Maps, etc., FREE.

A LAND MEASURE.

A Simple and Accurate Device for Measuring Your Fields. Take a flat hoop from the flour bar rel, loosen the tacks which hold the ends together and expand or contract the hoop so it will measure just 51/2 feet around it, and tack it together again. Now nail two pieces of boards across each other inside the hoop and you have a wheel not unlike a barrow wheel with four spokes. Take another piece of board, say 3 feet long and 4 inches wide, and cut a slot out of one end, making it look like a large tuning fork. Pat the hoop in the slot and bore a hole through the center of the spokes of the

Now we have, on a large scale, just such a tool as blackzmiths use for measuring the inside of wagon tires. Let us see what we can do with it. Three turns of the wheel equal one rod. We run it 38 turns in one direction and the same at right angles; 38x38 equals hoop and insert a stout wire or wooden

LAND MEASURE. 1,444 square turns. As 1,440 square turns equal one acre, we find we have a pace 11 feet square more than an acre. Once more we run the wheel 72 turns in a straight line and 60 at a right angle; 60x72 equals 4,320. Divide this number by 9 (as 9 square feet make 1 rod) and we get 480 square rods, or three acres; or divide the number by 1,440, the number of square turns in an acre, and the result is the same. Approximate measures can be taken of irregular tracts thus: I have a field 242 turns in one 131 in another, which brings me back to the place of starting. These lines added make 620 turns. Multiply onefourth of this number (155) by itself and you get 23,025 square turns, or a little over 16 acres. This is not perfectly correct, but near enough for all prac tical purposes. - Farm and Home.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

The Spontaneous Combustion of Wheat In the Bundle. A correspondent of the Breeder's Gazette writes: Several instances of barns being consumed by fire originating from spontaneous combustion of hay or straw in them bave been published in your paper during the past year, and I now send you notice of another which occurred Tuesday evening, July 22, have sympathy with the vile per hour while it was yet light, and on ion.

If, as seems evident, we have a early last week he drew two loads of newly-cut wheat from his field only

The fire when it first broke out was in which cost twice the money; $300 on contents, and it was then jammed full of wheat and hay; $200 on implements and for that he lost all his farm tools, to prevent the weight of either steep or harness, wagon, and a fine carriage, be cause as soon as he opened the front door of the barn to look in the flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be done. His loss is so heavy that it pre cludes any suspicion of his selling it to an insurance company. I have stated the particulars so fully in order to caution others against running any such great risk.

HORTICULTURAL HINTS. CATTLE or horses should not be pas-

FRUIT mulching is too much neglected. A good mulch not only helps the growing crop, but enriches the soil for future ALL fruit trees should be trained low ured in an orchard.

The lower limbs should never be higher than to adapt the orchard to convenient anlture. ENGLISH ivy can be planted with success on the north side of buildings, but where it gets much sun in winter it will not thrive. THE Minnesota experiment station has had excellent results in spraying native plums with London purple to kill the curculio. A PEAR or an apple orchard planted in grass, kept in grass, starved by grass,

It takes an extra good farm and extra good farming to yield six per cent. on the capital invested. Consider this bethe standard of a good cow is in that fore you borrow money to buy more land. Some Pennsylvania fruit growers raise tobacco in their orchards, and do it suc-cessfully. But they don't allow any weeds to grow there except the tobacco As sirps have a fondness for good fruit, especially cherries and strawberries, better raise enough for yourself without birds.

Home Seekers' Excursions.

Take advantage of the cheap excursions offered by the Chilcago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, to points in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Afkansas, Indian Territory, Texas, New Mex co, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Minnesota, Northwestern Iowa, South and North Dakota, Montana and Colorado, at the low rate of ONE FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP. Tickets for these excursions will be sold on Tuesdays, Sept. 9 and 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. They are first-class and good 30 days for return passage.

If you want to see the country, or secure a home in the Great West, don't neglect this opportunity. Be sure that your tickets read via the C., R. I. & P. Ry., which has its own lines to principal points in many of the above-named States.

For rates and full particulars address JNO. Sebastian, G. T. & P. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

A POPULAR fallacy—that the easiest things

A POPULAR fallacy—that the easiest things to do are to tell the truth and to edit a paper.—Light.

Harvest Excursions.

On September 9th and 23d, and October 14th, the Chicago & North-Western Railway will sell excursion tickets from Chicago to principal land points in the Northwest at the low rate of one fare for the round trip, and tickets will be good for return at any time within thirty days from date of sale. This favorable arrangement affords an excellent opportunity for personal inspection of the productive country reached by the Chicago & North-Western Railway and connecting lines. For full information apply to Ticket Agents, or address W. A. Thrall, General Passenger and Ticket Agent C. & N.-W. R'y, Chicago, Ill.

In second with natural that the threads of long yarn.

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Cheago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y. cago, St. Paul & Kansas City Ry.
On Tuesdays, September 9 and 23 and O
tober 14, 1890, agents of the Chicago, St.
Paul and Kansas City Railway will sell Home-Seekers' Excursion Tickets to principal points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest at rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good returning thirty days from date of sale. For full particulars call on or address agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway.

ALWAYS avoid harsh purgative pills. They

A FAIR lady becomes still fairer by using

A man on a Pullman may sell his berth-right for more than a mess of pottage—in case of a crowd.—Washington Star. A ROUSING sound in camp-reveille.

Better than a hen—a ship laying two.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A good pan out—the well-filled dinner-pail.—Judge.

CLAWS in the will-fingers of the lawyers.

Must draw the line somewhere-laun-dresses.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

Where bread is much kneaded—in the bakery.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

The happy medium—the one who has not been exposed.—Beacon.

When the Lord made shade the devil invented loafers.—Atchison Globe.

If you should happen to want your ears pierced, just pinch the baby.

ONE swallow does not make a summer, but every grasshopper makes a spring.

BEAUTY is not a flattering artist. She "draws us with a single hair."—Puck. PREPARED meat manufacturers can all hey make and make all they can.—Texas

Women are not slow to comprehend. They're quick. They're alive, and yet it was a man who discovered the one remedy for their peculiar ail-

The man was Dr. Pierce. The discovery was his "Favorite Prescription"—the boon LOOMIS & NYMAN, to delicate women. Why go round "with one foot in the grave," suffering in silence-misunderstood-when there's a remedy at hand that isn't an experiment, but which is sold under the guarantee that if you are disappointed in any way in it, you can get your money back by applying to its makers. We can hardly imagine a woman's not trying it. Possibly it may be true of one or two-but we doubt it.

Women are ripe for it. They must have it. Think of a prescription and nine out of ten waiting for it. Carry the news to them!

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the Little Regulators.

DENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & CO., Washington, B.O.

The "Mother's Friend" only shortens labor and lessens pain ling it, but greatly diminishes the r to life of both mother and child if ed a few months before confinement. Vrite to The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atanta, Ga., for further particulars. Sold by all druggists. The first week that a man has a telephone in his office he is apt to have the yeller fever badly.—Boston Bulletin.

I. L. CRAGIN & Co., of Phila., the mfrs. of Dobbins Electric Soap, say they would rather close up their immense works than to put one grain of adulteration in their Dobbins' Electric Soap. Would that all were as hon-

A PHOTOGRAPHER'S negative and a pretty girl's affirmative are both developed in a dark room.

ALBERT BURCH, West Toledo, Ohio, says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure saved my life." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c. THERE is nobody or nothing in this world that is so often crossed in love as the front door-mat.—Binghamton Leader. It is no longer necessary to take blue pills to rouse the liver to action. Carter's Little LiverPills are much better. Don't forget this.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when

Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys,

Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities com-

the most popular remedy known.

mend it to all and have made it and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LIVER, DYSPEPSIA, PILES,

MALARIA, COSTIVENESS,

AND ALL BILIOUS DISEASES.

Sold Everywhere.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. E. KY. NEW YORK N.Y.

any substitute.

LOUISVILLE. KY.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c

IT seems quite natural that the threads of conversation should sometimes produce a

SAID the penknife to the pencil: "Since you're so sharp, I think I'd better shut up." —Binghamton Republican.

first make you sick and then leave you con-stipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill. The receiver is as bad as the thief, but neither of them feel as bad as the loser.— Denver Road.

Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

A SMALL affair-the children's party. ALWAYS goes to quarters—Dollar Bill.

Must be drawn at parade—a sword. All up in arms, but harmless—babies.— N. Y. Mail and Express.

Snoos to order-a woman chasing hens

Castles in the cir do not bring in any rent.—Galveston News.

SICK HEADACHE, TORPID

A ROPE gets tight because that's the way it is taut.—Yonkers Statesman.

"Caws and effect," said the farmer, whose cornfield was cleaned out by crows.

ELECTRIC BELT "Look out!" cried the pebble to the clam shell; "there's a cold wave coming."—Har-per's Bazar.

TYEST TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES ON SO DATS TRIAL TRY A PAIR OF ELECTRIC INSOLES AFFRE PAIR AISO AN Electric Truss and Boit Combined. Send 8c. postage for FARR illust'd book, 28 pages, which will be mut you in pain scaled eavelope. Moniton this paper. Address OWEN ELECTRIC BELT & APPLIANCE CO., 306 North Broadway, ST. LOUIS, MO., 826 Broadway, NEW YORK CITY.

MONEY Catalogue

INDIGESTION AND LIVER CURE "Would not be without your Powders for all Indigestion and Liver Cure cure." LIBBY. 35 POWDERS for 25 CENTS. TOO, Bey 3370, NEW YORK.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX. For BILIOUS & NERVOUS DISORDERS

Such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Fullness and Swelling after Meals, Dizziness, and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations. &c. THE FIRST DOSE WILL CIVE RELIEF IN TWENTY MINUTES.
BEECHAM'S PILLS TAKEN AS DIRECTED RESTORE FEMALES TO COMPLETE HEALTH.

For Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Constipation, Disordered Liver, etc., they ACT LIKE MAGIC, Strengthening the muscular System, restoring long-lost Complexion, bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the ROSEBUD OF HEALTH the whole physical energy of the human frame. One of the best quarantees to the Nerrous and Debilitated is that BEECHAM'S PILLS HAVE THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY PROPRIETARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

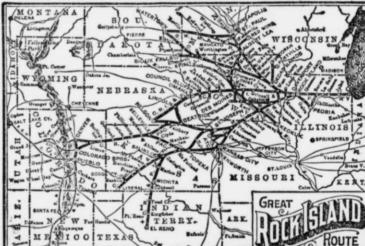

Frequenced only by THUS. BEECHAM St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold by Druggists generally. B. F. ALLEN CO., 365 and 367 Canal St. New York, Sols Agents for the United States, who if your druggist does not keep them) WILL MAIL BEECHAM'S FILLS on RECEIPT of PRIOS, 280ts, A BOX. (MANTON TRIS PAPEL)

Better out of the world than out of the fashion. It is SAPOLIO for house-cleaning. It is a solid cake of scouring soap Try it

Cleanliness is always fashionable and the use of or the neglect to use SAPOLIO marks a wide difference in the social scale. The best classes are always the most scrupulous in matters of cleanliness—and the best classes use SAPOLIO.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kaneas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

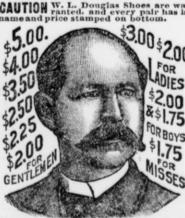

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS. Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS, California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast

Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebrasks, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado. VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Pauls making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gon'l Ticket & Pass Agent. E. ST. JOHN,

General Manager. CAUTION W. L. Douglas Shoes are war-name and price stamped on bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE GENTLEMEN

3 # $2 SHOES LADIES

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass. EDUCATIONAL.

INION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago, Fall Term b

THIS IS THE CLASP GOFF'8 BRAID.

wherever found, That holds the Roll on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around.

FARMING REGIONS WEST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST.

A. N. K.-C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISEES PLEASE

Some Interesting Reminiscence From the Pen of a Member of the Bar. Cumberland News.

ED. NEWS: I have read with refreshpublished in your enterprising jouring in Washington county in 1853. clude the military executions during The publication referred to appearsaw or heard it, are now but few.

in this court, where it progressed nal justice was in the remote past to John Hoy of W. We do not now re- in his unequaled speech in the cele to Washington county, and tried be- ish State trials as wonderful specispecial judge, in August, 1853, just at | yet he avered there was scarcely any the close of our great cholera scour- thing in them of equal interest with age. It appears all the officials in the case be was trying on the part of dead except "Tom Harbine," State's occuring as it did (in 1830) in the been a prominent lawyer and citizen where law and order were supposed of St. Joseph, Mo. Death has not to be supreme. been quite so unsparing with the Any lawyer or lavman wishing to Allegany officials. There remains read the greatest jury argument ever two at least yet in full vigor, man- made in this or any other country hood and usefulness, at any rate, can at once be gratified by referring ington is the cast of a real roc's egg. mentally so-Horace Resley was to volumn 6 of Webster's works. Strange as it may appear, there is a clerk of the court at the time, and for His discription of a guilty conscience foundation for the storled existence of 20 years thereafter, now three score is almost superhuman, yet with him the supposed existence of the supand ten, with a fraction over, but it was but ordinary labor. The in- posed-to-be-fabulous bird. It was erect in body and clear in mind with spiration of the awful picture came the gigantic epiornis of Madagascar, a powerful memory. Any one wish- from the suicide of the bired mur- which stood twelve feet high and laid ing to know more of this trial or any derer in his own cell a short time an egg as big as 148 hea's eggs, and other moment within his 22 years of prior to his approaching trial. But holding two gallons. Arab traders, clerkship can be conveniently grati- the two Knapp brothers, employers such as Sinbad the Sailor, is said to fied from his immense store of recol- of the self-executed murder had to have made their way to Mada lections. Mr. J. J. McHenry was face the great effort. They were not agasear centuries ago, when this then deputy clerk, but for many years since has been a member of our the murder, but the great orator con- and brought back the yarns which bar, and now one of its worthy sen- tended that they were constructively subsequently developed into the laiors, and justly respected as such. present and that would satisfy the bled roc. A begger bird than this, almost insensibly, and must desist.

gested recollections of another mur-der trial ten years earlier, October to prematurely inherit by a hired bulky that a full grown one would 1843-that of Wm. Crise. The crime was a dark and foul one, but did not create much popular excitement as the parties were comparatively unknown. The two Buchanans and Shriver were upon the bench, Sheriff Richard Beall practically; Briscoe Pigman, State's attorney, last night of the way the Pennsylhis son John, clerk, and Hanson Not a survivor of the legal machin- vania physicians get rid of sham paery of that day is left save two jurors, tients. Wm. Brazen, of 3309 Aber-Wm. Hobletzell, for many years a deen street, was arrested for drunkresident of Baltimore, and Owen enness, and when taken to the see McEtfish, of Murley Branch, bright ond district station house he feigned eligable in age as a juror when sum vania Hospital. The doctors exammoned, 25 years being the minimum. ined him thoroughly, but could find And he has his version of the reason nothing wrong with him, and finally of his being a jurer when so young. concluded that he was shamming. The year before he and a number of "Well," said Dr. Hornell, seizing a neighbors made up their minds not big knife, "I think we had better exto vote for their own candidate for amine his liver first." sheriff and yoted for Bruce, the Whig "Yes, and we ought to take his candidate, who was elected by a small heart out and see if it is sound," put majority, just about the size of the in Dr. Downs, as he picked up a long majority, just about the size of the in Dr. Downs, as he picked up a long has devised an apparatus by means who for any cause shall have ceased to be entired to remain on said registries of voters. McElfish contingent. Recognition bright instrument. and gratitude followed. The sheriff "This was enough for the man lythen summoned all jurors upon his ing on the bed. "No you don't" he the water is to be resolved into its own unrestrained motion. The other yelled, as he leaped from the occ. ten jurors were Jacob Reel, Charles and, grabbing his hat and coat he These gases are to be burned by officers of registrative Election Disown unrestrained motion. The other | yelled, as he leaped from the bed, elements, oxygen and hydrogen, in said year 1892, from the hour of 8 o'clock r Norris, Moses Porter, T. D. Dawson, disappeared through the door .- means of an oxy-hydrogen machine for the Martin Rizer, Henry Hammill, Phila leiphia Press. James Twigg, Rubin Hurley and O. S. Crampton.

to the people of Allegany and Washington counties and better remem. over to the service. Her coachman, experiment proves successful a big listric on the days made is as follows, to wit: bered historically than any other was when he considered the sermon stock company will be forested Election District No. 1, at Swarto Cistorical Times. county was by the three Cottrells, ister arguing as hard as ever. Creepconvicted and hung by the same drop turned the old lady in a high state of the law will be enforced to the fullest in 1819. They were all three arrested indignation, for her patience had extent upon such trespassers. in a vessel at Baltimore upon the long since been exhausted, "he's very point of sailing to Liverpool. dune half an hoor since, but he'll not Swearengen was arrested at New Or- stop."-[St. Louis Republic. leans in some kind of a boat, about to depart for a place of safety, but "even handed justice" secured its offenders in both cases.

There were two other murder cases in this county that resulted in execu- said another woman next to her in tion; that of McLaughlin for murder- such a tone that she fell in a heap, ing his wife in the neighborhood of and it was harder to get her out than Rawlings. This took place in 1849. At the October court 1855, Miller was convicted for the double murder of Dr. Hodel and a man by the name of Graff, and was hung in the following to have been inspired by the death of It is hardly to be expected that the Henry Landis, the last survivor of reproduction and recapitulation of the jury which tried the case. Indeed | criminal trials of the past will furthe survivors who in any way par- nish acceptable reading to all classes, ticipated in this exciting case or even vet it is certain a great many inquir ing minds seek such matter, not for The tragedy occurred in this city in | mere past time, but for reflective and 1852; Judge Thomas Perry on the useful purposes. In Boston there is bench, Horace Resley clerk, George published a periodical called the M. Blocher sheriff, and J. H. Gor- "Green Bag." As the name suggests don, Esq., State's Attorney. The it is legal in its character. Each num-Judge being slightly connected with ber contains a selection from the the accused by way of affinity, con- French "Causis Celebres." These are sidered himself disqualified from pre- the reports of French criminal trials, siding in the case, whereupon Hon. are intensely interesting, both in Joseph J. Merick, of Washington matter and the romantic atmosphere county bar, was appointed to hear that seem to give them perenaial life; the case, and did so while it remained showing, too, how nearly akin crimiso far as to obtain the second juror, barbarism itself. Daniel Webster, call just how Judge Merick was re- brated Knapp murder case referred lieved of the case, but it was removed to these quaint reports, and the Britfore John S. Tyson, of Ellicott City, mens of ancient judicial literature, Washington county concerned are the commonwealth of Massachusetts, Attorney. He has for many years very bosom of New England society,

MURDERS IN ALLEGANY COUNTY winter, Dr. John Everett, sheriff. In "A Good Soldier Never Loo la hind." still later years were two other exe cutions; Howard in 1870 for murder; G. L. Layman sheriff, and a c lored man by the name of Craigg for rape in 1872, R. L. Gross sheriff. In Alleing interest the copied article lately gany's history of 100 years, she has had ten executions for crimes comnal in reference to the celebrated Swan mitted within her borders and one in trial, beginning in Allegany and end. Garrett county. This does not in the war.

New England fortune.

JUDICIAL REMINISCENCES. Aug. 23, 1890.

There was an accusing instance

A Scotch Difference.

Another intensely interesting trial considerable distance from the parish pel the vessel. Local capitalists are that of George Swearengen, for wife nearly at an end, would slip out qui- Chicago Times. murder 1828, and tried the next year etly for the purpose of having the and executed 2nd October, 1829. The carriage ready by the time the service last surviving juror in this case was was concluded. One Sunday John -Winter and his immediate pre- returned to the church, and, after decessors in death was Wm. Conrad, hanging about the door for a considerboth died since the war. The first able time, grew impatient and, popmurder committed in Alleghany ping in his head, discovered the minfather and two sons, Englishmen. ing down the aisle toward his mis-Their cases were removed to Wash- tress, he whispered in her ear: "Is picking chestnuts or driving through ington county tried seperately and all he no near dune yet ?" "Dune !" re- my fields with horses or wagons, as

> "I'll have a fit, I know I shall," shrieked a woman who was refusing to be coaxed into the surf at Ocean

"Not in that suit you have on,"

Many Persons are broken Brown's Iron Bitters Rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

hind.' "Almost all these pension paper have a history of public interest," remarked Pension Examiner Craig. 'We have some actual romances, as strange as liction, and, of course, instances of bravery and endurance equal to the brayest of the braye. Now and then a humorous story of the camp and field develops. In examing into a case the other day a physician of this city tells me a good story. The widow of a soldier made application for a pension, her husband having died in 1871, from alleged injuries received during his enlistment. The physician was a member of the same company, but could not recall the occasion of the alleged injury, but he did remember that while the man was a brave soldier he was generally considered yerv lazy. He was particularly averse to blacking his shoes. One day he appeared on dress parade with his shoes as bright as a looking ass, much to the amazement of tain. When, however, the o: dered the men to a left dress seen the man had used the black of and brush only on the front of the shoes, and that the heels were all mud. The Captain, after the parade, ordered the man brought before him and said: 'I see you had your shoes nicely polished in front, and that they were all mul behind. What is your excuse ?? 'Is that so ?' blandly queried the private. 'Yes, that's so,' 'Well, Cap, a good soldier never looks behind,' which rejoinder pressed a sufficient excuse for that # (3 88) occasion at least."--St. Louis Star-

Sayings. A Roc's Egg. One of the most interesting things in the National Museum at Wash actually present and participating in mighty fowl was still in existence, But we are gliding into elaborations law, and it was held, and the two however, taking weight as a critermen convicted and hung for the ion, existed in New Z-aland as late The death of Juror Landis has sugmurder of their aged nacle for a share as the time of Capt. Cook. It tood Registration Notice. murder for which they agreed to have tipped the scales at something pay $1,000, but "dust and ashes" like 1,000 pounds. The egg it had were their inheritance instead of a was a trifle small-r than that of the roc. This was the giant Moan. It was so clumsy that it could not escape of Garrett from the sailors who lauded on the i had and killed it for food. The and in to have been caused by a change in 45th, 16th and 17th Days of known that the enormous fow is gathered in great numbers at the last and for four successive days in the month of obtober, commencing with and including the about certain hot springs and there first Monday of October, that is to say, on the have been found in these springs -Boston Transcript.

A prominent chemist of San Fran-cisco, now in Superior, Wis., is pre-ing in the proper registries of sons angilied to vote in their. paring to make public a discovery which will work wonderful changes of registration; of revising and in the economy of steamship trunsin the economy of steamship transportation. His scheme is to dispense of all vote By means of his chemical machine producing intense heat. The machine stricken off Election Dis is placed adjacent to the boiler and An old Scotch lady who lived at a will thus generate the steam to pro-

"John, you are a fool." "I am, am I? How do you make me a fool ?" "Bless you, I don't maké you a fool. You make a fool of yourself."

Trespass Nôtice. I bereby warn all persons not t trespass upon my farm by hunting or HENRY FEIG.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, urns. Bruises, Collo Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

iTCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on hum

GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. Orders for Lumber and anything in my line WM. A. LORAW.

Secure a Mome. SALE

the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Me-

SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER STATEMENTS,

SEPTEMBER,

and active at 73. He was "barely" illness and was taken to the Pennsyl- perished. Quantities of their bones 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER.

of which water can be utilized as fuel, second Monday in October, that is to say,

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER.

ISAIAH FULLER, stration 3d Election District. JOHN COLLINS, JOHN COLLINS, JOHN Specification District, HENRY F. LININGER, Officer of Registration 5th Election District,
N. C. BROWNING,
Officer of Registration 6th Election District, P. A. CHISHOLM, Officer of Registration 7th Election HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District, SAMUEL JOHNSON, Officer of Registration 9th Election District. SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH Frangipan Curative alm. Indispen- Officer of Registration 10th Election District. Officer of Registration 11th Election District,
JOSEPH BUCKLE,
Officer of Registration 12th Election District,

H. S. MILLER & Co's

INSTANT RELIEF FOR ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS.

SURE cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatic

D. E. OFFUTT, President.

G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden
S. T. JONES, Cashier.
A General Banking business transacted.
Prompt attention to collections, 112'89. ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes al Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and In from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stifles, Spr.

HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md. SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.) ALL KINDS OF LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH AND PALINGS.

A Rare Chance to

Several Tracts of Land on

SITTINGS, 1890,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN. That the

2 at his residence September sitting and in October at store of L. E. Friend, at Friendsville.
3 at Grantsville.
4. Sept. 15 at Franklin Mines, all other days at Bloomington.
5, at Accident,
6, at McHenry.
7, at Oakiand,
8. September at Elkins, October at Red House.
9, at Johnsons,
10, at Deer Park.
11, at Greng's Mill.
12, at Biddinger.

All naturalized citizens applying for regis-ration will be required to produce their cer-ificates of naturalization to the Officers of

H. O. HAMILL, Officer of Regist R. E. FRIEND,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind f vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of he dinerent grades. Please write for prices and terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season.
Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express, Address H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

J. D. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-

lumber, shingles and plas-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SiIINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

NVITATIONS

MOTICE.

CIRCULARS,

LETTER AND BILL HEADS

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

Call and see our speci-mens of all kinds of work if you need anything in our line, Orders by mail

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE. FERNLEIGH MANOR

IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS. Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND.

Scenery Unsurpassed. JOHN B. DEAKINS, Proprietor.

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Prop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers Commissions. Get New Machines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia. Pa NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS..

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of sell-ng the above named Instruments, I desire o inform the citizens of this and adjoining ounties who may be desirous of purchasing really first-class instrument at a moderate a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhee. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I hundle. This is no idle boast but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask. isk.
I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reas-mable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

Eg-Place of business—Railroad street, next o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS

AND BUILDERS. OAKLAND, - MD.,

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890; GOING EAST

GOING WEST.

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to

WM. M. CLEMENTS,

C. K. LORD, General Passenger Agent.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware

> Association, (LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen Manager. The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAGONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEFAVEN & CO. an I BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER, HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of Wing-and-Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necossary except HED CLOTHING. Also stable oom for two horses, and carriage house. There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, connected with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON. Proprietor

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FAIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1890.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. ## Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing uvestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

***Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Chains, including cialina against United states. ** item is the county of Chains, including cialina against United states.** raission.
Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above 6 5 '86 tf.

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery

OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 io 6

Z. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

**P Office in the Court Horse.
July 3-tf. A. B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW

AND
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
Office in Pritcharl Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing bental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O address, Elk Lick, Pa. 622 sm DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT,

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING.

Es Residence a' Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.—1y. H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

OAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the poor Oakhand and vicinity.

60 Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church.

R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD.

Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and lling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction, v3 n48

De. I. D. Wewman, GAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

33 Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church:

tf 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

** Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov, 21, 85.— y.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are erected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B, & O. R. R. About 250 acres s under fence. A young orchard was put out our years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas-mable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Barrett county, authorized to write policies. 315 tf F. A. THAYER. F. A. THAYER.

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-ing done to order at the lowest rates. For Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work. 9. '87

FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY. am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 ac 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oaktand and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coad, one vein being another 3 feet and anomer another 3 feet and anomer 3 means consist of two dwelling and anomer and anomer anomer and anomer anom The improvements consist of two dwelling nouses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also i good orchard, and a young orchard just oming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or addre JAS. A. HAYDEN,

> Republican office, Oakland, Md. JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where hawill be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 15 90

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND,

Of 1334 acres, situated 7 miles North of Oakland, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outbuildings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL.

aveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and THOFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT se remote from Washington.

end model, drawing, or photo, with deiption. We advise if patentable or not, e of charge. Our fee not due tiil patentis secured,
A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with ref-erences to actual ellents in your State, coun-ty, or town, sent free, Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington D. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md.

Office 30 Baltimore Street. JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding,

Stair Building, and General Building Material. conduct the UNDERTAKING Will also conduct the UNDER I and assort ment of Coffins, and also manufacture th same to order. A fine hearse in attendance It will be my aim to turn out only first-clas work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their future patronage, All orders left at the mill promptly attended to. ## Correspondence solicited,

JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park ontaining one hundred acres, fifty acres eared and in grass. The improvements mists of a good 1½-story dwelling house, arn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. he farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Si uated about 2½ miles fro Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT.

Fairment, W. Va.

$ 1.000

"Cores Tiles home and try this, and see if I can't

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is indorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best." - R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass. Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably pre-scribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic dis-eases of the blood." Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it outly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O. certines: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it." "For many years I was afflicted with scrof dons running sores, which, at last be-came so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer trou bled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."-D. A. Robinson,

Don't fail to get Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE. Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings mostly sleeping-rooms.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 21/2 miles south of Oakland ontaining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL.

Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

PATHS. path that leads to a Loaf of Bread ids through the Swamp of Toil, the path leads to a Suit of Clothes rough a flowerless soil. the path that leads to the Loaf of Bread

the Suit of Clothes, are hard to tread. the path that leads to a House of your nbs over the bowldered hills the path that leads to a Bank Account wept by the blast that kills;

e men who start in the paths to-day ie Lazy Hills may go astray. e Lazy Hills are trees of shade the dreamy Brooks of Sleep, he Rollicking River of Pleasure laughs gambols down the steep;

when the blasts of winter con

Who strayed from the path to a Bank Ac-And the path to a House of their Own These paths are hard in the summer heat, But in vinter they lead to a snug retreat.

A WOMAN OF SPIRIT.

BY LILY TYNER. My poor, dear husband had been dead two years and over, and, though with the most becoming of heliotrope, I had begun to feel quite reconciled to my vidowhood. The dear man had been ever generous during would probably not guess it quite indicision of tone. his life time, is well became one right. more than thirts years the senior of his wife, and, tying, had left me well provided for. There was my city house and my rent roll, my var. ious securities and my cottage by the sea. Many a young woman had greater cause for discontent. So I reasoned and forthwith determined to cheer up and take a more active a good deal and was very fond of her are all apt to make mistakes." interest in life. I was down at my singing. cottage for the summer. My chaperone was with me, but I began to long I only know of the awakening. for companions of my own age. It bridesmaids and wrote them. Not long after I received two letters and Boston friend. It read: "Your etc., etc. tissimo is to allegro. It said: "You decrest darling! I will fly to you! I am dyidg to tell you of all my latest triumph. I will talk you to managed to laugh. death. It seems a century since we ast met. Meet me day after to-morrow morning. Your own," etc., etc. Edith was two years Charlotte's senior, but it was not all a difference in age. However, they were both children of fortune and my very dear friends. And how they would brighten up the cottage I could very well imagine, for the cottage was a little sombre, though I pride myself on its general arrangement. The interior was just as I could wish it. A wide passage through the centre; a good-sized room on the right, with polished floor for dancing and a pi- plied. ano; back of this the dining-room; I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oaksland, and containing 465 acres. About 290 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of a doorway draped with a portiere of vice. antique lace, a small library reading-

ten her I should ask Edith. "Yes," I answered ; "she'll arrive later." "Did you know she is engagad ?" "To be married? No; to whom and when ?"

"I don't know him," said Charlie, and weighed 125 pounds. Her eyes self by the handrail. in the sun; her hair was a splendid I must say something. mass of golden chestnut. She was a precious tump of vivacity. Four days after arrived Edith "I was coming down." she replied She was the quintessence of grace, it to her ?" moving deliberately, laughing softly, She handed it to me and crept on and speaking always in a low tone. up. We three were happy enough during the first few days, chatting to- "Shall I send you anything?"

gether about old friends and old "No; I will be better presently," times. Then solicitude came to me. she answered in a weary way, and E Edith, I found, had some peculiar heard her door close with a sharp' notions of her own. Being engaged. sound. she discouraged even the slightest | Luncheon was announced then: attention from gentlemen other than The others must have thought me her betrothed. Of course, there were unusually quiet. I felt as if I were many young men in our circle of ac- the guilty one and dared not look in quaintances, but perceiving Miss their faces. And yet I was not an-Westcott's lack of interest they gry, only sorry. It seemed like miswould naturally all turn to Charlotte fortune. and I feared that Edith would presently find it very stupid in conse- the piazza together.

quence. to come down?" I finally ventured to ask her. Edith colored delicately. "I believe I, will," she said, and Mr. Haskell, whose first name was Howard, in due time presented him- asked. self at the beach. He was a charming blonde of thirty-five or more. I

-S. W. Foss, in Yankee Blade. liked him yery much ; so did Char

"Oh, Edith!" she sighed, "what an elegant fellew! Rich, too, isn't he? You're a lucky giri." Edith's betrothed, in turn, took a great fancy to Charile. She had such I still wore by mourning, tempered buoyancy, such glowing health, He could not keep his eyes from her. There! I might stop at once and

Some things come to pass curi- with Mr. Haskell," ously. It did not trouble u.e. as time accent which was not all assumedpassed, that Mr. Haskell evinced a for it seemed really horrible to hear great liking for little Charlie. Per- the fact announced in cold-blooded haps I did not give it much thought | English-"Edith, your fince-" at the time, though afterward I re- "A few words will alter that," she membered that he danced with her seplied, calmly. "You see, Nora, we'

Nor do I know what E lith thought. rupted. A month had gone and Haskell "You see, it will be all right events occurred to me that I might ask some was still at the beach. One morning unlight for all of us. They love of my girl friends to come and stay five us-including a Mr. Marshall, each other, and I-I never could himself to poor, old. matronly me- that. was overjoyed at their contents. went for a long walk back into the "I shall want a little conversation One was from Elith Westcott, a country, away from the seashore. Returning we took a short cut to demost kind letter received. It will seems a rather steen hill. How it will take the trees were to week. I will let you know by teleit seemed that Charlie made a misbered. Your most loving friend," step, feil and rolled downward for some little distance, until her dress painfully the time dragged! eaught on a shrub or stone and stop-Charlie, as she liked to be called— ped her. It ail transpired in an in-Foster. It was to the first as pres- to lift her in his arms and insist that he should carry her home.

"Put me down quick. I'm a terrible weight!" We all laughed hysterically, but interview. Haskell was still pale with fright. Immediately we had reached the cottage Chartie sank upon a sofa. "I'm awfolly shaken up, you know," she said. "I shall not stir for an hour." luncheon. Charlie called after her: right ?"

"Would you mind tossing down my book, Edith, dear?" "I will bring it down," Edith re-

Neither of the girls had brought on the left a sitting-room, rather maids. Charlie always preferred to luxuriously furnished, for the sea- dispense with hers when she could, rapid pace,

A few minutes later I was in the room. The upper chambers were breakfast room giving some orders about luncheon and talking to Mrs. hind her with one hand to part the I spent the afternoon seeing that Webster, my chaperone. Mrs. Web- curtains. and a young orcherd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 to the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 to the tract. The improvement scost more than the price and next morning went down to best stock farms in the county.

I spent the afternoon seeing that everything was properly arranged and reverything was properly arranged out through a rear passage and I turned to re-enter the library, when best stock farms in the county.

Webster, my chaperone. Mrs. Webster, my chaperone. Mrs. Webster, my chaperone are curtains.

(Charley," she said, smiling faintout through a rear passage and I turned to re-enter the library, when best stock farms in the county. "Is Edith coming?" she asked, al- the sight I saw through the antique have been making a mistake for most the first thing, for I had writ- portiere beyond transfixed me. Har- some time past. I have just been o d Haskell, the betrothed of Edith explaining myself on the subject and to his heart and was kissing her pas- you are interested in knowing about sionately.

"My darling, I love you!" he murmured. I slipped from the breakfast-room ossing her pretty head. "He is a into the main passage, feeling cold you don't care for him !" and rushed Mr. Haskell-of Boston, of course." with horror, when, glancing up, I Charlie was a perfect little beauty. saw Edith, midway on the staircase, She stood about five feet two inches white as death, and supporting her-were hazel and danced like sea water Had she seen and heard? I felt "Are you coming down, dear?" I asked.

lashed serious gray eyes. Her hair me. I will go back and lie down, whence she might pass unobserved was black, without a thread of color. Here is Charlie's book, Will you give -New York Mercury.

"I am so sorry." I said vaguely.

NUMBER 30.

After luncheon they went out on

"Why don't you ask Mr. Haskell I waited a little, then went up to Edith. She was lying down, with her hand held to shade her eyes. The room was darkened and I could hardly see "Are you better now, dear?" I

"Yes, I am much better," she said. ·Where is Chartie?" "Gone out with Mr. Haskell," I answered, almost painfully. Some how I felt as though the fault were Edith spoke abruptly then. "Charlie is in love, I believe,"

I started. "In love! Yeu think so?" "Yes, I am sure of it. It may surprise you when I tell you," let you guess at the sequel; but you "Surprise me?" I repeated with "Yes, because Charlie is in love"

"Edith!" I said with a shocked

"You do not love him?" I inter-Edith forced a laugh.

cort, but who had chosen to attach I sighed with intense relief to hear with Mr. Haskell alone," she went on. "After dinner will do. If you

I promised promptly. That dinner. Shall I ever forget how silent we were-all of us? How

Charlie went out afterwards during the evening, to walk with me, but we had not much to say to each other. It is almost impossible for me to dissemble, Charlie finally But Charlie, though trembling, strayed off, and stood alone, gazing out upon the sea. I n yself turned "I am not hurt," she quavered. back to the house, not intending to enter, nor for a moment supposing I should see or hear aught of that final

But Harold Haskell's words came floating through the open windows:

'I thought-I feared-" Then Edith's voice stopped him. "The woman who persists in loving a man who does not love her has Edith was going to her room before fallen very low indeed. Am I not

> "Yes, you are right," he answered quickly. Edith stepped to the window and called Charlie's name.

Charlie had already turned to come back and continued at the same not I did not go in with her, but stood without, gazing through the window. Edith stood before the door intothe library. She had reached be-

Westcott, had clasped Charlie Foster (returning his ring) I think perhaps

Charlie burst out raughing and cry ing at the same moment: "Oh, you dear Edith! I am so glad to his arms.

Edith moved slowlow backward. I have seen just such motion in plays -the slow motion of one suffering yet concealing anguish.

The lovers looked in each other's eyes, but I-out in the night-looked only at Edith, moving slowly with pale face and piteous smile, backward Westcott. Edith was very tall and in a strained voice, "but I don't feel through the parting draperies, backs slender, exceedingly pale, with black well. I think the sun has affected into the dimness of the library

FOR DYSPEPSIA. digestion, and Stomach disorders, us BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. All dealers keep it, $1 per bottle. Genuine has trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

IN THE MORNING.

"The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire."-Jer. VII. 18. When I git up o' mornin's fer ter light the kitchen fire
An' watch the blaze go creepin' up the chimbly higher an' higher, A-snappin' an' a-cracklin' with exhileratin'

A-sendin' out the warmness clair acrost the puncheon floor,

An' I kneel down to toast my shins an' rub my horny hands
An' see the sparks a-flashin' back from mother's shiny pans, My feelin's goes to warblin' like a bluebird on a

When I git up o' mornin's fer to light the kitchen fire. An' then the room gits good an' warm, the kettle starts to bile,
An' mother potters down the stairs an' stan's an' yawns awhile,

An sez; "Now, pap, you go an' rouse them sleepy boys o' yours, Fer it's snowin' an' the's lots to do besides the An' then she breshes up the hearth with that old turkey-wing,

An' stoops an' pulls her stockin's up an' ties 'em with a string, An' Towser yawns an' stretches out an' acts a little shyer
When I git up o' mornin's fer to light the kitchen fire.

An' when the boys come trompin' in an' scrouge around an' spat An' kick the dog an' poke the fire an' set down on the cat,

The coffee-pot's b'led over an' the biscuit's steamin' hot,

The sassidges jest brown enough, the breakfast-table sot, An' mother sez: "Fetch up the cheers," an' pours the coffee out—
My cup runs over with a joy the rest don't know about;

Fer the blessin's of the Lord to me's a-daily When I git up o' mornin's fer to light the -Edwin S. Hopkins, in Judge.

MME. LUCCA'S BURGLAR.

How a Courageous Berlin Woman

ME. PAULINE sides in the Victoria Strasse. Berlin, Last pring, however, she occupied temporarily at some distance outside the city plenty of them. a country house consisting only rambling story, surrounded by a veranda.

One night about ten o'clock she was sitting there in a bedroom. Her chair was placed before her toilet table, which was lighted by a wax taper on each side of the cient to illuminate the room very brilliantly, and the farther end lay buried in a sort of semi-obscurity. Mme. Lucca was busy reading some letters concerning engagements, when suddenly she imagined she heard a noise. She looked round, but seeing nothing concluded she had made a mistake, and resumed the perusal of the letters. She had forgotten the noise when she heard it again.

This time, instead of looking round, she happened, without moving her head, merely to raise her eyes to the glass. She beheld reflected in it the face of a man peering cautiously from out a cupboard behind her.

At first she fancied she was dreaming. She quietly looked again. No, it was no dream. There was a man, whom she now recognized as having been former ly in her service, whence he had been discharged for general bad behavior. She had also suspected him of purloining several objects which she had missed from time to time, but not being certain on that point she had kept her suspicions to herself. Yes, there he was; there could be no mistake.

Mme. Lucca's first impulse was to start up and give the alarm. But there was not another habitation within a mile or two, and she recollected that the only person besides herself in the house was her maid, who, though a very good girl and extremely attached to mistress, was by no means celebrated for her nerve. The other servants, including the gardener and coachman, had been granted permission to attend a friend's wedding, some few miles off, and were not to return until

It flashed across her mind that the man, who, as she knew, had been loitering about the neighborhood for two or three days, had learned that she would be alone, and meant to rob the house and perhaps murder her if his project of robbery could not be executed without the perpetration of the greater

What was to be done? Again she glanced toward the mirror. The eyes were still there, glaring at her through the gloom. All at once she remembered that a revolver belonging to her hus- ship?" inquired the maid.

band, the Baron von Rhaden, ought to be lying on a shelf in the dining-room, out she was not quite sure. "If it is there, and I could only get t," she thought, "I should not mind." While she was reflecting a knock was neard on the door of the room. She saw the dark man instantly draw back into the cupboard and close it after him She felt relieved that those two horrible eyes were taken off her; they seemed to pierce her like daggers.

"Come in," she said. The maid en-"I thought you had gone to bed." observed Mme. Lucca, in a tone of unconcern. "I was going, please your ladyship; want something.' "I told you I would be my own lady's maid to-night. No, the only thing I The knocking recommenced, but the want is to stretch my limbs a little, door was massive oak and immovable. for they are cramped from long sitting.' Speaking thus, Mme. Lucca arose with an air of admirably acted indifference thought she could hear the man see you try to escape you are a dead breathe in his place. He, on his part, man. might have heard her heart beat, she said, when on looking at the keyhole moved. She was foiled in her plan, which had been to lock him in. Still, her presence of mind did not desert

"Ah, dear me!" she said, yawning, "I feel very sleepy."
"Sleepy, your ladyship! I wish I did," replied the maid. "I don't feel sleepy. I am too frightened." "Frightened! What are you frightened of, you foolish girl? Nonsense!" replied

"Oh! begging your ladyship's pardon, it is not nonsense, and that's just it. How can you be sure that some villain some good-for-nothing fellow, hearing that you and I are alone in the house may not murder us in our beds? But he shan't murder me in mine; for, with your ladyship's permission, I will sit up all night in your ladyship's easy chair. Mme. Pauline Lucca glanced at the lier blood ran cold. She dared not give her maid the lightest hint of the real state of matters; she felt that the girl would go into Lucca usually re- a fit then and there, and thus bring on Scarcely knowing what she was doing

Mme. Lucca replied at random: "Murder us? What for?" "What for, your ladyship? Why, for your money-for your jewels, to be sure; nearly everybody knows that you have

The girl must have been unconsciously sharpening, so to speak, the knife by which she and her mistress were doomed to die "What absurdity!" said Mme. Lucca, with a forced laugh. As she spoke her eyes wandered from the keyhole of the dreaded cupboard to that of the adjoining room. In the latter there was a key. Her face flushed, and a smile, as it were, of proud inspiration lighted up, though only for a

"Jewels?" she replied. "Why, every one with a particle of sense must know that I would not take them about with me as a rule. They, of course, are safe under lock and key at Berlin. It is a strange thing, though, that to-day is an exception. I expected the Countess Von Wartenstein to call, and I brought down all the jewels presented to me at my last visit to St. Petersburg to show "Your ladyship did! Oh, but suppos ing a thief—"

"Well, if a thief did know it he might easily make his fortune," she observed, interrupting her companion. "By murdering us, and running off with the jewels.' Mme. Lucca glanced at the cupboard; then raising her voice, she continued: "Oh! there would be no necessity for nurder. The door which leads from that room to the garden is unlocked; I forgot to lock it. A thief would merely have to walk in from the garden, and take my jewel case from the table near the window. He might make his escape richer by 60,000 or 70,000 thalers, and never be detected. That's better than murdering people, is it not?" "Oh, yes-your ladyship. And he night get over to England or Amer-"Nothing easier," replied Mme. Lucca

However, that reminds me. I may as well lock the door leading into the garden. Run to the dining-room. You'll find the key on the table. Do not be "No your ladyship, I will not. Trust me for that." "Editha! Editha!" cried Mme. Lucca, an instant afterwards. "I have made a mistake. The key is on the baron's study table. Pshaw! she does not hear me," she continued, speaking aloud. "I must go and get it myself." With these words she left the room. No sooner had she done so than the door of the cupboard cautiously opened. A man put his head out, and glanced Perceiving no one he darted into the adjoining chamber. The next instant the door was shut and locked behind him. But not by him. By Mme. Lucca. When she left the room she did not proceed two paces; she stood outside listening. As she was in the darkness, she could, without being visible herself, see all that was passing in her bed-chamber. She beeld the stranger leave his hiding-place and dart into the adjoining room.

of a tigress and the courage of a heroine. The reader knows what follows. "Caught!" she cried, rushing across the room with the key in her hand. "I can't find any-" began Editha, entering the chamber. But Mme. Lucca oushing her to one side, disappeared. Editha looked after her with mute astonishment, and remained as though rooted to the spot till her mistress reentered, revolver in hand. "Oh, your ladyship, what's that?" inquired her maid, with a strong presenti-ment that all was not right. "The baron's revolver, thank goodness!" replied Mme. Lucca. "Why 'thank goodness,' your lady-

Mme. Lucca pointed to the door. Some one on the other side was turning the handle. Editha turned deadly pale, and dropped the lamp she was carrying. Presently there was a knocking, and a voice exclaimed: "Open the door directly, or-" The rest was inaudible. Editha's creams drowned all else. Mme. Lucca breath was exhausted, and her second not yet arrived; she then said, with severity:

"Editha, if you are not quiet, I will egin by shooting you.' Editha thought, apparently, that her mistress was in earnest, for the poor girl immediately rammed a large porbut I-I-thought you might perhaps tion of the nearest towel into her ing to and fro and sobbing violently.

"My friend," cried Mme. Lucca, in a loud voice, "you are caged. The garden door is fastened as tightly as this one, and the window is secured. Do not atand took a turn or two across the room, passing close to the cupboard as she did so. She afterwards declared she into the garden, and the instant that I Flinging open the door which led to the veranda, she went out, followed by she found that the key had been re- Editha, who in her despair had succeeded in pushing more of the towel into her mouth. The noise of a bolt being drawn was heard. "Stand aside, my friend!" said Mme. Lucca, "or you are a dead man." A sharp report followed, accompanied by the sound of crashing wood and

"There! that is one barrel out of six

SIX.

That is merely to show that I am armed. You had better remain quiet." The visitor also was seemingly reading under the verandah before the window. They were rather surprised, however, on perceiving that she nad a six-barrelled revolver in her

A few words explained the whole affair, and in about an hour afterwards the would-be thief, who, as it was proved, would have been ready to turn assassin as well, was safely at the nearest polizeibureau.

"Talk of generalship," said my friend, as he concluded the story, "was not the stratagem of the jewels, by which Mme. Lucca lured the thief into the room

EMPEROR AND MISER.

One thing the Emperor Nicholas held in particular aversion, and that was was once traveling with a rich gentlecourse of the journey the carriage broke where the road was flooded to a considerable depth.

The Emperor called a road laborer and asked if he would carry him through the water.

"Why not?" said the laborer, and forthwith he took the monarch in his arms and conveyed him safely across. The Emperor gave him two gold pieces and whispered: "Now go and fetch the other gentleman, but when you have got half-way through the water, stand still and ask him how nuch he intends to give you." The man did as was told, and in the middle of the water demanded how nuch he was to get for his labor. "You rascal," cried the miser, "the other gentleman paid for us both. I saw him, you impudent swindler! You shall not have another farthing. "What does he offer?" called the Em-

"Says you paid for him, and he won't give a farthing," replied the laborer. "Then drop him into the water," said Nicholas.

The man made a movement to obey, out his intended victim held on tightly, and exclaimed: "I will give you three dollars. The most ordinary card costs a rubles! "Ask three hundred, ' interposed the Emperor, laughing, "he's well able to pay it." The terrified rider clung still more closely to his bearer, while he protested glided after him with the stealthiness against such extortion. The Emperor by gestures encouraged the man to re-"Well," exclaimed the miser at last,

'carry me across. I will ray you when we get there." "Don't you trust him!" shouted the Emperor, convulsed with laughter at the scene; "make him pay at once!"

And so it was done. The anxious traveler, still hanging over the water. took out his pocket-book and handed

-Youth's Companion. his debts to nature." "I wish he had been so considerate to me."—Munsey's cards, and cost 75 cents apiece.—Paper

YOSEMITE TREASURES.

A Landscape Most Divinely Beautiful and The Yosemite Valley, in the heart of the Sierra Nevada, is a noble mark for the traveler, whether tourist, botanist, geologist or lover of wilderness pure and simple. But those who are free waited until the girl's first stock of may find the journey a long one; not because of the miles, for they are not so many-only about two hundred and fifty from San Francisco, and passed lards from Santa Fe (by the Kansas Inover by rail and carriage roads in a day dians,) who had attempted a settlement or two-but the way is so beautiful that | in some portion of what is now the State one is beguiled at every step, and the of Missouri, near the mouth of the Osage probably. Of the three hundred great golden days and weeks and months go by uncounted. How vividly my own mouth, and restricted herself to sway- first journey to Yosemite comes to mind, though made more than a score of years ago. I set out afoot from Oak- mouth of the Osage by the French over all the lowlands and ranges of the their occupation of their new settlement coast; the landscape was fairly drenched with sunshine, the larks were singing, and the hills were so covered with flow ers that they seemed to be painted. Slow indeed was my progress through these glorious gardens, the first of the California flora I had seen. Cattle and yet, and I wandered enchanted in long,

we ag curves, aware now and then that resemite lay to the eastward, and that, sometime, I should find it. still appears as the most divinely beauthirty or forty miles wide, four hunof this lake of gold rose the mighty the correct letter, however. Sierra, miles in height, in massive and so radiant that it seemed not clothed | been given by any historian in any Along the top, and extending a good march, and I am indebted to my friend, snow; then a belt of blue and dark Kan., for the supposed trail as he worked orests; and stretching along the base entered Kansas about the west line of fight clear as crystal and ineffably fine, County; thence down that valley to o me the Sierra should be called, not point through the Cottonwood Valley to the midst of it, rejoicing and wondering, river to near its mouth, where they seeing the glorious floods of light that effected a settlement, built a chapel, ill it-the sunbursts of morning among and were soon massacred by the Indians, the mountain-peaks, the broad, noonday | who were jealous of them. this opinion, for he did not renew the radiance on the crystal rocks, the flush About a year after the French com-When the servants returned next lashing waterfalls with their marvelous ed his little fort of Orleans, he started norning they found Mme. Lucca quiet | abundance of irised spray-it still seems on an expedition from where Atchison to me a range of light. But no terres- is to the headwaters of the Smoky Hill. trial beauty may endure forever. The In a cave on that river in Central glory of wildness has already departed Kansas, not far from my home, are some from the great central plain. Its bloom names carved on its walls, which may hand, and Editha with what appeared is shed, and so in part is the bloom of to be the end of a towel sticking out of the mountains. In Yosemite, even under the protection of the Government, while De Bourgmont was absent from all that is perishable is vanishing apace. Fort Orleans, the whole garrison was -John Muir, in Century.

THE COMING STEAMER.

To Make a Trip in Thirty-six Hours from Here is a clever picture from the Pall Mall Gazette: She will be over a quarte of a mile in length, and will do the pas sage from Sand'y Hook to Liverpool in destined to be his dungeon, a mag-nificent idea? Moltka himself never She will be driven by electricity and in despite storm or fog. Passage can be secured by flash photo -Edison's patent - and the ticket will How an Avaricious Feliow Was Made to include an opera stall or a concert ticket or a seat in a church pew, the opera house, concert hall and church being all in particular aversion, and that was a varice as a trait of wealthy people. He was once traveling with a rich gentleman whom he had often bantered upon track for fast trotters. A base ball his meanness in money matters. In ground and tennis courts will also form a portion of the attractions. For busidown and had to be left behind for repairs. The travelers went forward on operated, the quotations being posted

A spacious conservatory, containing the choicest flowers of all climates, will afford an agreeable lounging place, and is unknown; but he probably hailed bouquets will be provided gratis. As at Monaco and Monte Carlo, a suite of is a northern name for a kind of apartments will be laid out for play, to bridle. It never seems to have been be kept open all night - a sumptuous supper with the costliest wines free English tailors and shoemakers will be obtained, and there are many examples in attendance, and clothes will be made and finished during the passage. The millinery department will contain the French fashions of the previous day, and costumes will be confectioned while the ship is en route and delivered complete on arrival at dock. Accommo dation will be furnished for 10,000 passengers.

A Paradise for Stationers.

Five hundred thousand visiting cards have been engraved in Washington this season. One stationery firm has turned out 300,000 in the last two months and the money spent on pasteboard during a season amounts to tens of thousand of cent a piece after the plate is made, and some of the dinner invitations sent out cost $10 a dozen. A prominent item on the expense account of a Washington belle is her engraving and printing, and society ladies who give dinners spend at times hundreds of dollars upon the stationery for a feast. Mrs. Leland Stanford lately paid $85 for fifty cards to be used as menus for one of her big dinners. The map of the United States was stamped in silver on the cards, and the drawing and engraving were exquisite. At the dinner which Governor Breckenridge gave, the cards cost $1 apiece, and Mrs. Justice Blatchford not long ago gave a luncheon, the cards for the countryman three hundred rubles. $18 a dozen. Some of the cards are in raised silver and gold. They look as -"Poor Dumley is dead. He has paid though the gold and silver had been

THE NAME "KANSAS."

Its Origin to a Proof-Reader. In 1722-23 the commander of the teritory in which was then included what is now Kansas, claimed by France, erected a fort near the mouth of the Osage, in the hope of preventing any further incursions by the Spaniards into the region beyond the Missouri. It was called Fort Orleans, and was built after the annihilation of a colony of Spanthat left Santa Fe with hopeful hearts not one was left to tell the story of the massacre. It was only two years before the establishment of the fort at the land, on the bay of San Francisco, in commander that the Spaniards started April. It was the bloom-time of the year on their mission from Santa Fe, so could have been of only short duration.

They had for their spiritual adviser a Dominican monk, but their guide and real commander was an engineer officer. The territory now called Kansas, or at least that portion of it that borders the Kaw, was occupied by the Kauzas cultivation were making a few scars as Indians; and "Kansas" is a corruption of that primitive name, happily, too, for the original is harsh and lacks the euphony of the modern form. It is well as Germany. It is an apparatus to alleged that the name was diverted from One shining morning, at the head of the original through the mistake of a the Pacheco Pass, a landscape was disproof-reader, who, revising the very played that after all my wanderings early work of some missionary, mistook the "u" for an inverted "n" and so "cortiful and sublime I have ever beheld. rected" it and to that blunder we are There at my feet lay the great central indebted for the name of Kansas. The plain of California, level as a lake, Kansas Indians are called the Kaws, a the largest amount of iron ever made in diminutive of Kansas or Kauzas. I have dred long, one rich furred bed of golden seen the word spelled in old books Compositie. And along the eastern shore Kauza and Kausa; but the z is probably

The exact route of the unfortunate ranquil grandeur, so gloriously colored | Spaniards through Kansas has never with light, but wholly composed of it, work that I have seen; but the Osages like the wall of some celestial city. have a tradition in their tribe of the way down, was a rich pearl-gray belt of Hon. John Madden, of Cottonwood Falls, surple, marking the extension of the it out from the Indian legend: "They of the range a broad belt of rose-purple. Hamilton County, followed the Arkansas where lay the miners' gold and the River to, probably, where Hutchinson open foothill gardens-all the colors is now located; crossed over to the smoothly blending, making a wall of head waters of Doyle Creek, in Harvey yet firm as adamant. Then it seemed where Florence now stands; from that the Nevada or Snowy Range, but the near Emporia; across through Osage and Range of Light. And after ten years in Franklin counties, then down the Osage massacred by the Indians, and not a soul was left to tell the story .- Kansas

City Star. THE GOSSIP'S BRIDLE.

An Instrument Used in Olden Times to Punish Scolding Women In the "Historical Description of the Tower of London, 1774," is the following: "Among the curiosities of the tower is a collar of torment, which, say did any thing to beat that."-Boston such a fashion as to keep railway time your conductors, used formerly to be put about the women's necks that scolded their husbands when they came home late, but that custom is left off nowadays, to prevent quarreling for collars, there not being smiths enough to make them, as most married men are sure to want them at one time or another." But our ancestors are beginning to find out that "A smoky house and a scolding wife, Are two of the greatest plagues in life; The first may be cured; t'other ne'er can, For 'tis past the power of mortal man."

And yet they did not despair. Men's from the tickers every two minds and presently came to a spot the vibration system. The leading ingenuity was produced—the brank, the sheet the road was flooded to a conpapers of all countries will be reprinted immense advantage over the cucking or ducking-stools of compelling the victim to be silent, a punishment almost' flendish in its conception. Its inventor from the "north countree," as "branks" a legal punishment, as the ducking stool was ; but, nevertheless, it in existence. It was in its simplest form, described by Waldron in his "Description of the Isle of Man:" "I know nothing in the many statutes or punishments in particular but this, which is, that if any person be convicted of utter-ing a scandalous report and can not make good the assertion, instead of being fined or imprisoned, they are sentenced to stand in the market-place on a sort of scaffold erected for that purpose, with their tongue in a noose of leather, and having been exposed to the view of the people for some time, on the taking off of this machine they are obliged to say three times, 'Tongue, thou hast lied.'" It was commonly made as a sort of cage of hoop iron, going over and fitting fairly to the head, with a flat piece projecting inward, which was put in the mouth, thus preventing the tongue from moving. was then padlocked, and the scold was either chained up or led through the town. The earliest dated brank is preserved at Walton-on-Thames, and bears the date 1633, with the inscription:

"Chester presents Walton with a bridle To curb women's tongues that talk too idle." There is a very grotesque one at Doodington Park, in Lancashire, which is a mask having eye-holes and a long, funnel-shaped peak projecting from the mouth; and there were some terribly which were carved by hand at a cost of | cruel ones, with fearful gags, but these can scarcely come under scolds' or gos-sips' bridles. There was one at Forfar with a spiked gag which pierced the tongue, and an even more severe one is at Stockport, while those at Ludlow and Worcester are also instruments of tor-ture.—English Magazine. Long Island. -Munsey's Weekly.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-More shoes are manufactured at Iaverhill, Mass., than in any other city of the United States. -Apples ten and twelve inches in cirumference are raised in southern Florida. They are said to be of fine flavor and juicy. -As the result of weighing two hundred and three newly born children, to determine the weight of brain, the male infant's brain weighed 11.9 ounces and the female 11.6 ounces, the weight of the brain being to the body as one to weight or thereabout. -A feature of the international electrical exhibition in Frankfort, Germany, will be the transmission of electric power. A firm in Lauffen, on the Neckar will furnish currents of 500-horse power over copper wires from a station.

140 miles from the exhibition. -The effects of steam in the destruction of bacteria do not depend, according to the researches of Von Esmarch, so much upon the temperature as upon the degree of saturation of the steam. If there is air with it, the power of destroying organic germs is very much diminished. -The erophor is a new invention from Germany of great importance in textile factories, and is being introduced into the factories of England as diffuse moisture necessary for spinning without injury to health or machinery. -The enormous development of our iron industry is shown by the statistics of the Iron Age, in which the production of iron for the first six months of 1890 is placed at 4,610,000 tons, which is any country in the world in that time .-

Boston Journal. -A process for marbleizing silk plush without pressing or embossing it has been discovered. By this process the light and dark effects are reversed when looked at from opposite points. The finish is nicely preserved and does not give the appearance of having been wet as shown in many goods of this charac--Glass-blowing is an art nearly 4,000 years old, and perhaps much older. Yet there never has been any means discovered of dispensing with the human lungs as the instruments of the blowing. An English company is experimenting with a mold and mechanical bellows, which does satisfactory work at bottle-blowing and other coarse work. -The production of steel rails in this country during the first six months of this year is given by a reliable authority as approximating very closely to 800,-000 tons. This is said by the same authority to be 225,000 tons or more in excess of the production for the same period last year. This indicates a very healthy condition of the streel-rail trade for the year so far, and the indications are that this activity will be continued. -American Manufacturer. -- Ten years ago there were only 142 otton mills in the South, of 542,000 spindles, consuming 181,000 bales of cotton. In 1889 there were 346 cotton mills, in highly prosperous condition, using 2,000,000 spindles and consuming 500,000 bales of cotton a year. In this industry the South is just beginning to move; ten years ago they manufactured one-fortieth of the cotton crop of the South,

- In the manufacture of paper thiscountry has been making tremendous strides during the last few years. The industry has been brought to such a high state of developement, and the production reduced so much in cost by improved machinery and the successful use of wood pulp under a special process. that a large export trade has been established, particularly with England. A market has also been found in Australia and elsewhere.

and now they manufacture one-twelfth.

-By submitting different seeds to the ction of the electric current their developement is rendered more rapid. Experiments made in Russia show that when the electrical treatment is applied to vegetables there is a larger crop and the vegetable grows to a larger size. Barley ripened ten days quicker; potatoes were better and not so prone to disease, and vines that have been treated have been cured of the diseases which have attacked them. It is also suggested as a remedy for the evil of the potato bug.

A QUEER MECHANISM.

How the President of the Argentine Republic is Elected

The mechanism of the Presidential election in the Argentine works as follows: The President is elected for six years and is installed on October 12th, the anniversary of the discovery of America. The last year of a presidential term is one of elections. On February 12th are renewed a third part of the Senators and Deputies of the National Congress, which will say the last word in the election of the new President. On the 12th of April takes place in each province the election of electors of the second degree, who, being chosen outside of the members of Congress, and in double their number for each province, meet on June 12th to designate the candidate for the Presidency who has their preference. These delegates accomplish this operation in the capitals of their respective provinces and designate the President and the Vice President by means of signed personal ballots, which are delivered to the legislature of the province, and then sealed and transmitted to the President of the National Congress, who opens and examines them in presence of a quorum composed of at least two-thirds of the members of that assembly. In case a candidate has obtained an absolute majority for either office, he is immediately nominated by Congress; if, on the other hand, no candidate has an absolute majority, Congress selects among those who have received most votes, and in a single session appoints President and Vice President. - Theodore Child, in Harper's Weekly.

Ancestry. He-Have you met the Langstones? See-No, I have no desire to. I understand they have no grandparents. He (practical)-O, but they have, The old man's in the oyster business on

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

OF NO EARTHLY USE. The Action of Alcohol Is That of a Disturber and a Destroyer. True science is the voice of nature. of alcohol to the human body?

of some tissue of the body. The body schools. But it does mean that they is being constantly worn down and should not be satisfied with inferior resupplies all the substances of which the body is composed. The other kind is the relation of the churches to the Temis a type of all the food in nature. The taught as sound Temperance doctrine white, or albumen, is the material for as the secular schools. It means that building; the yelk is the fuel for preachers should all lift their precept warmth. The body has one other and example in the pulpit and parlor to every part of the body. For this pur- desk. It means that the church mem-

two kinds of food for the two great | What is the level? The mandatory

cular fiber or any part which is the seat | level of total abstinence.

in any sense an element, inasmuch as it goes out as it goes in, and does not, so that a school-teacher should bring his killed a two-legged rattlesnake the far as we know, leave any of its substance behind it.

building up the body with alcohol is a be, and every church member. pure delusion. Various parts of the body require starch, sugar, lime or iron, but no part ever requires alcohol. be brought up in the churches to at build a brick house with smoke. A cide for itself. I venture to suggest further revelation of science, the result only that by pulpit hints or by special ment, is the following: The action of that of a disturber and a destroyer.

does not injure. It influences every membrane, it irritates every tissue, and the churches. Mr. Spurgeon was many deadens every nerve. It also affects the chemical composition of the blood and other fluids-a most serious matter. It precipitates the pepsin of the gastric uice, and it injures the corpuscles in the blood. Unlike food, which builds ular schools of the Nation, ought to be up, alcohol always pulls down. It burns in all Sunday-school libraries. Once a and destroys every structure with which month at least, instruction in harmony it comes in contact. It also interferes with these standard books should in with the healthy performance of every some way be effectually given in all function, its presence everywhere in Sunday-schools. Lift the youth, the the body causing excitement, and necessitating extra work in every organ for of our churches to the level of total abits expulsion. It passes out of the sys- stinence, which is now the level, not tem as it went in; but its passage through the system calls for increased the life assurance societies, and imaction of the heart and other organs, and this increased action to expel the poison is fatally mistaken for increased strength.

While it irritates and destroys, alcohol also prevents the creation of new It also retains in the system the waste matter that nature would expel, thus preventing those changes on which the health and life of the body depend In support of every one of these statements the opinions of the highest medical and scientific authorities may be quoted. Let me briefly present the contrast which science establishes between food and alcohol.

Food is changed into blood and used to build up the body: alcohol never is. Foods such as oils and sugars warm the body; alcohol never does. For the circulation by which the prepared food is carried to every part of the system, water is absolutely necessary; alcohol for this purpose is not only injurious but positively fatal. Healthy elimination of effete matter is promoted by exercise; it is retarded by alcohol. And alcohol never restores, like rest or sleep. On entering the stomach it undergoes none of the processes to which food is subjected, but flies immediately to the nervous centers and the brain, and by deadening the nervous sensations induces those delusive feelings of warmth and strength that are really lessened sensations of cold and fatigue.

A STRONG COMBINATION.

Church and School Hand in Hand in the Temperance Cause

It is safe to assert that the churches ought to rise to the Temperance level of the public schools. Mandatory instruction in the schools of twenty-seven What nature says must be right. If al- States and all the Territories of the cohol is really a poison, nature will not American Union has recently set up in alter her laws because we are ignorant the name of science a new, unassailor prejudiced, and regard it as a food. able and alluring standard. Below that What does nature say as to the relation standard the voluntary Temperance inculcations, directly or indirectly given Food is required to supply two great by the precept and example of the wants of the body. The first great want churches, ought not to be allowed to of the body is material for its structure; fall. This does not necessarily mean the second is fuel to maintain its tem- that the churches should devote as perature. The simplest action we can much time as the schools do to scienperform, even a thought passing through | tific Temperance instruction, nor that the mind, occasions the wearing away they should employ the methods of the must be constantly built up. This pro- sults. The standard enforced by volcess can go on only when the body is untary Christian action in the rekept at its natural temperature of about ligious training of the family in the 98 degrees. Nature supplies the two matter of Temperance, ought not to be wants by providing two kinds of food. lower than the standard made manda-The one kind is called nitrogenous, and tory by public law in their secular called non-nitrogenous or respiratory perance cause is as fair and safe as it is foods, which are burnt up in the body comprehensive and radical. It means to maintain its temperature. The egg that the Sunday-schools should be want. It requires a solvent by which the level which secular teachers are the food can be liquefied and carried to now required to attain at the school pose nature supplies but one fluid, and bers everywhere should rise to the Temperance level of compulsory in-Now, nature having supplied these struction in the common schools. wants how can they be made available Temperance instruction now given in for the body's use? The answer is: the public schools requires everywhere "They must all be converted into total abstinence from all narcotics; blood." No food can be used in the that is, from both alcohol and tobacco. body, either for building up its struc- A majority of the future citizens of the ture or maintaining its temperature Nation are now in schools which teach until it has been converted into blood, total abstinence. Such instruction is Bearing this fact in mind, we shall be mandatory in all the schools, naval and prepared to judge whether alcohol military, as well as Territorial, now can be of use in sustaining the human | under the care of our Federal Government. It has been necessary to achieve Carbonate of lime and chloride of a great victory over apathetic corrupt sodium (common salt) are constituent or hostile State Legislatures in order parts of the blood, and become part of to secure this advanced Temperance inthe substance of the body. They are, struction by authority of public law. therefore, foods. Arsenic is not a con- It has been necessary to achieve a stituent of the blood, and can never be-come part of the body. Therefore it is lishers of text-books to induce them to not food. Alcohol is just as truly issue sound Temperance doctrines in as arsenic a foreign substance which volumes on physiology and hygiene. can never be changed into blood nor Both these victories, by the biessing of become part of the body. In support of Heaven on the labors of Mrs. Hunt this the highest medical authorities and her assistants in the Woman's National Christian Temperance Union. Dr. Edward Smith, F. R. S., England: have been achieved, and so a new era "Alcohol is not true food, and it dawns. Great publishing houses, such neither warms nor sustains the body as the Appletons, A. S. Barnes & Co., by the elements of which it is com- Ivison, Blakeman & Co. and Van Ant-Bragg & Co., or such as the Liebig: "Beer, wine, spirits, etc., fur- syndicate of text-book publishers lately which carries its heart in a small sac nish no element capable of entering organized, now issue approved Temper- under the skin of its neck. The calf into the composition of the blood, mus- perance text-books all keyed up to the gambols on the green much as other

Dr. T. K. Chambers: "It is clear text-books are used, nothing less than is justly proud of it. that we must cease to regard alcohol as total abstinence can be taught in the Many such testimonies from high States and Territories of the American six inches below the head. When first driving away. In this path is a breeze, scientific authorities may be quoted to Union every teacher must now bring prove that alcohol is a substance entire- his official precept up to the level of ly foreign to the human body, and can total abstinence. If a teacher should had five rattles. ever become a constituent part of it. be a total abstainer, then, for yet Therefore, the idea of nourishing or stronger reasons, every preacher should

As to the methods by which the Temperance instruction of the young is to To dream of building up the body with least the level it has attained in the The tract rested on the basket hanging alcohol is as irrational as to attempt to schools, each church must of course deof most careful observation and experi- addresses or lectures, by Sabbath-school instruction, by the use of pledges, and alcohol in the human system is invariably by the circulation of sound Temperance literature, and especially by personal There is no part of the body that it example, the standard of total abstinence should be everywhere reached in years a wine-drinker, but now he says: "More men have been killed by grape juice than by grape-shot." The new, approved Temperance textbooks, which are now molding the secadult membership and all the preachers only of the secular schools, but even of mense results must sooner or later follow. The new heights and uplands of scientific Temperance instruction and religious precept and example will form a vast water-shed, down which will flow new rivers of Temperance sentiment blood and the proper assimilation of with resistless currents and unflinching cataracts that will cleanse the land .-Joseph Cook, in Chicago Advance.

> Ruingof a Poor-House. "Eli Perkins," who was lately making observations in Iowa, was "interviewed" as he was passing through Sioux City. He had been at Ackley the day before for the first time in nine years. Nine years ago it had seventeen saloons, and the banks and farmers sent $25,000 to the East annually to pay interest on farm mortgages. Now he found no saloon or sign of a saloon, and interest on farm mortgages. Not a po-The only bankruptcy there has been in Ackley is the bankruptcy of the poorhouse. Poor old poor-house, it had to give up business, and the jail is full of cobwebs! "Yes," declared Eli, "Temperance has hurt the poor-house and jail in Ackley. It has ruined these institutions,"-N. Y. Witness. EXPERIENCE has undermined one main prop of the stimulant delusion: The cold climate argument. The logic The supposed beneficial results of al- of practical experiments, in Siberian cohol are matters of guess-work. That journeys and arctic voyages, has conit is a substance foreign to the human | vinced many Russian travelers that frost body, and always acts as a disturber and | can be fought with better weapons than a destroyer, are matters of scientific brandy-bottles; and that in polar winters demonstration .- S. Brazier, in Golien Temperance may become a primary condition of survival.-Union Signal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ecently in Bartow, Fla. -One of the largest forests in the world stands on ice. It is situated between Ural and the Okhotsk Sea. A well was recently dug in this region, when it was found that at a depth of 116 meters the ground was still frozen.

-One of the biggest lobsters on record was recently caught at Whitby, England. It measures from snout to extremity of tail, 18 in.; circumference of body, 13 in.; full breadth of tail, 8 in.; length of crusher claw, 12 in.; weight, when alive, 9 lbs, 5 oz.

-A big shark caught near Asbury Park had in its belly four bushels of fish and parts of a man's leg and foot. It was 111/4 feet long, and was caught in Jeffrey's fish pond, having followed a school of fish into the inclosure. It was killed with considerable difficulty.

81,308 school children of New York who have sent their votes for a State flower to the Department of Public Instruction. The Rose ran it a close race, coming second, with 79,666. The Daisy was a poor third-33,603. -Claribel-"I should like a copy of -The Golden Rod is the choice of

"Why, it goes 'Tum, tum, tumpty-tum.' " (hums the air). Assistant— thing that lives. "You mean the 'Lost Chord'?" Claribel -"O, yes; that's it."

-Drummer-"See here. I had a room charged me more than your rates for camp equipage piled up and covered, keeper - 'Certainly. The top floor tra charge is for sunshine.'

-"I'm after gitting ther house inyez now, niver a cent will they give when there's no house at all."

-"Mary, I love you deeply. Will you be my wife?" "I don't know, George. Can you support me?" "I think so. "Yes; I have $1,800 a year." Harper's Bazar. -Another famous tree has fallen before the woodmans axe. It was a huge chestnut, nine feet and four inches in diameter, and stood on the old Elder Winsor Farm, near Greenville, Rhode Island. Its trunk was hollow enough in 1842, during the Dorr rebellion, to contain the arms of the rebels, who hid -Mr. Singerly, of the Philadelphia calves do, gives promise of living a If standard and approved Temperance long and useful life, and Mr. Singerly edge of the bare ground, and is dividing -A Coon Rapids telegram says: "Dan personal example up to the level of his other day. It was three feet long, and official precept, but in twenty-seven had two legs, two inches long, about The flame has passed, and the smoke is seen it was walking on the legs, wriggling the lower portion of its body.

-The tract distributer who handed a tract on the sin of dancing to a soldier a fruit peddler who is without hands a New Haven distributer gave a tract bearing warnings against card playing. from the vender's neck, and, by attracting attention, materially increased his

-Josiah Wardell, an Ohio farmer, has the champion egg-laying duck. She began operations some time in February, and by strict attention to business she has made a record that entitles her to a red card. Up to last week she had laid 111 eggs. Just now she is enjoying a well-earned vacation, but there is no elling how soon she will get tired of loafing and settle down to work again.

-A pair of belligerent bulls, says the Portland Oregonian, engaged in a flerce battle on the track of the Astoria and South Coast railroad the other day, and for nearly half an hour the trainmen were unable to drive them away in order to get the train through. Huge clubs were worn out over the heads and backs of the animals, but without avail, until at last they grew weary and sullenly scrambled away.

-Rattan is the product of a climbing vine of the palm species, growing in the Celebes and other Malayan countries. Starting with a trunk as thick as a man's leg, it winds through the forest, now wrapping a tall tree in its folgs, and then descending again to earth and trailing along in snake-like curves until it can find some other stately tree to fasten and climb upon in its pursuit of light and air. Its flow of sap is so intense that the thirsty traveler has at all times a tumblerful of cool, refreshing water at command by cutting off a few feet of the rattan and putting one of the severed ends to his mouth, or holding it over a dish to mutch the water.

An Anglo-Indian Heroine. Anglo-Indian circles in Behar and Bengal are loudly sounding the praises of Miss Morey, whose courageous cona banker told him that they only sent duct has in all probability saved the $2,500 East during the past year to pay life of her father, a well-known planter and sportsman in that district liceman there now, and not a pauper in Morey was out hunting, attended by the poor-house nor criminal in the jail. his daughter on horseback, when a boar suddenly sprang from the jungle, and, making for Mr. Morey, threw over both horse and rider with a severe crash. The brute was on the point of tearing his victims with his formidable tusks when this heroic young lady sprang to the ground and placed herself between the boar and her insensible father. Miss Morey was wholly unarmed, and therefore powerless to protect herself; but fortunately she had with her a large greyhound, who, making straight for the boar, attracted his attention and drew him away. Running thereupon to the nearest pool, Miss Morey filled her topee with water, by the aid of which father round .- London Daily News _

A PRAIRIE WILDFIRE.

Graphic Description of the On-Coming of the Wall of Flame. -An auction sale of coffins took place We all sprung up to see one of the saddle horses—a veteran in years and experience — standing with his head high in the air and pointed due west. While he looks as fixedly as if his eyes had lost their power to turn, his nostrils quiver and dilate with excitement. We watch him a full minute. He was the first to exhibit alarm, but now one horse after another throws up his head and looks to the west

"It's fire, boys!" Had it been night we should have seen the reflection. Had there been a strong wind the odor would have come to us sooner. There is only a gentle breeze-languishing, dying under the flerce sun, but resurrected and given a new lease of life at intervals by an unknown power. But now we can see the smoke driving heavenward and shutting the blue of the west from our visionnow the horses show signs that no man could mistake. A great wall of flame, fifty miles in length, is rolling toward us, fanned and driven by a breeze of its own creation, but coming slowly and grandly. It takes me two or three minutes to climb to the top of one of

We work fast. Blankets are wet at the spring and hung up between the trees to make a bulwark against the sparks way up on the third floor, and you and moke, the horses doubly secured, downstairs rooms." Chicago Hotel- and before we are through we have visitors, len or twelve buffaloes come thunrooms are above the smoke, and the ex- dering-pass the grove-halt and return to its stelter, crowding as close to the horses a they can and showing no fear sured fur $150, Bridget." "Arrah an' at our presence. Next come three or where's ther money, Pat?" "Faix, they four anteopes, their bright eyes bulg-won't pay that till ther house is burnt ing out with fear, and their nostrils "Och, ef they won't give it to blowing out the heavy odor with sharp snorts. One rubs against me and licks my band. and tremble with terror, and a score of You have a little something, haven't serpents race over the open ground to 1?" seek the wet dtch which carries off the "Why, then, it's perfectly easy. I am overflow of the spring. Last to come, sure we could live on $2,000 a year." and only a mile ahead of the wave, which is licking up every thing in its path, is a mustang-a single animal which has somehow been separated north, racing to reach the grove before the fire shall cut him off, and he runs for his life. With his ears laid back, nose pointing, and his eyes fixed on the goal, his pace is that of a thunderbolt. them there after their defeat at Acote's He leaps square over one pile of camp outfit and goes ten rods beyond before he can check himself. Then he comes of our horses with a low whinny.

There is a roar like Niagara. The e drives over us in a pall like midnight. The air seems to be one sheet ity about other people's affairs, you to pass us by. We are in an oven. The horses snort, and cough, and plunge, the smoke become intolerable. five minutes, and then relief comes. every whitf of which is an elixir.

In ten minutes the grove is so clear of smolie that we can see every foot of earth again. A queer sight it is. It has been the haven of refuge for snakes, who had lost both legs has a rival. To lizards, gophers, prairie dogs, rabbits, coyotes, wolves, antelopes, deer, buffaloes, horses, and men-enmity, antipathy, and hunger suppressed for the nonce that all might live-that each might escape the fiend in pursuit.

For half an hour nothing moves. Then the mustang flings up his head, blows the last of the smoke from his nostrils, and starts off with a flourish of his heels. The buffaloes go next, the deer and the antelope follow, minutes we are left alone. follow, and in five For fifty miles to the north, west and south there is nothing but blacknesslandscape of despair. Away to the east the wall of fire is still moving on and on, implacable, relentless, a fiend whose harvest is death, and whose trail is destruction and desolation. - Detroit Free

It is becoming very evident that the cable is falling out of competition with electricity for street car propulsion. The cable, as a factor in rapid transit, has manifest advantages, but the inflexibility of the system, as regards speed, must always prejudice its use in crowded streets. So long as the track is clear cable cars proceed admirably, and without any special danger of accident, but as soon as the pavements are blocked, which so often happens, the danger of the use of the cable becomes apparent. It is very difficult to work through a crowded thorougfare without the ability to back a car or to run it at a greatly reduced speed. It is just have that the electric car is so mani superior, as it can be started, stopped, or reversed with the greatest ease and safety. Again, the cable system is unto make up lost time; a cable car able once delayed must stay delayed, while an electric car can put on speed at any favorable moment. The inconvenience to the public, too, of the frequent breaks in the cable is exasperating, as the cable is then useless throughout its entire length. On the other hand, it is seldom that an electric car is crippled in such a way as to interfere with ordinary traffic.

Ruffanism Dead in Texas. I have often been tempted to write my newspaper reminiscences in Texas. I went there when a young man, in the days when the desperado ruled the plains with the bowie knife and revolver. A meat-axe figured prominently in many of my experiences, but the Texas rufflan has taken a back seat. He has been knocked out by the railroads. There are to-day few interior towns in Texas. The gridiron of roads reaches almost every place, and it is impossible for a man to commit a crime and then board a mustang and be out of sight before even a cry of alarm could be raised. Too many of these fellows have been hanged and sent to the penitentiary, while others have poured out their lives she finally succeeded in bringing her dangling at the end of a rope.-Pittsburgh Dispatch.

MEN NEVER GOSSIP.

But They Take Great Interest in the Affairs of Their Neighbors. "How you women do love to gossip!" exclaimed Jaysmith to his wife, as she came in from a conference with a neigh-

"Oh, we don't gossip much," remarked Mrs. Jaysmith. "Don't, hey! Why, two women can't meet without pouring into each other's ears an assorted lot of tittle-tattle. If men were as fond of gossiping about their neighbors as women are they'd have no time to attend to business, and then you women would be in a nice fix, wouldn't you, with no money coming into the house. I can't imagine such curiosity as women have about other people's affairs."

"I'm sure I don't gossip, Mr. Jaysmith. You never hear me talking about my neighbors."

"Don't, hey!" "No, sir, you don't! Why, when Mrs. McCrackle left town with a married man last week, I saw her go, and I never breathed a word about it to a living What's that!" exclaimed Jaysmith. "Mrs. McCrackle left town with a married man, and her husband in Europe on "The Stolen Rope." Assistant—"I the trees, and from my elevated posidon't know of any such song." Charged tion, I can get a grand view of the wave you said? Who was the man?"

soul."

"I don't see what you want to know for. Men don't like to gossip, you know.

"O, but this is different from ordinary gossiping. Who was the man? Where did they go? Has she come back yet?" "No, she hasn't come back; seems to me you are asking a good many uestions for a man who has no eurios ity about other people's affairs."

"But, really, you must tell me. think it is my duty to cable McCrackle about how his wife is carrying on in his

"No, I shan't tell you any thing more about it, Mr. Jaysmith. The first thing you know you'll be so deeply interested Mr. McCrackle's affairs that you won't Yelp! Yelp! Here are half a dozen have any time to attend to business, wolves, which crowd among the buffaloes and then I'd be in a nice fix, with no money coming into the house, wouldn't

"Jennie-Mrs. Jaysmith-I insist on knowing all the facts about Mrs. Mcer husband's friend, I demand that you can cable to him intelligently. Poor from his herd. He comes from the fellow! What a shock it will be to him! He was so fond of her; and she went away with a married man last week and nasn't come back. I'm afraid the elopenent will drive him crazy. "Elopement! Who said any thing about elopement?" "Why, you did!"

"Indeed, I didn't!"

"Thidn'r run off with a married man?" "No, I didn't, and if you hadn't such a keen scent for gossip and such a curios-wouldn't have misunderstood me.' "Then what in the world did you say?" "I said that Mrs. McCrackle had left town with a married man. And so she did. She went with her brother, who lives in the country, to stay there until her husband comes back from Europe.

But Jaysmith did not wait to hear all of this explanation. He slapped on his hat and went down the street and acted NEW YORK FASHIONS.

What Stylish Women Will Wear in the First Days of Autumn. Gray undressed-kid ties, with gray Suede gloves and silk stockings of similar tint, accompany a great variety of rich summer costumes.

Beautiful toilets of white silk, striped with rose or silver, are made with full skirts, full blouse vests of lace, and open Louis XI. bodices, with large lace collars and frills at the edge of the open and wiry red hair sat on a State street sleeves. The Lady Stanley shoe is perfection in its shape and elegant in style. It is paid full fare for the boy, but the conof black dressed kid, of the finest, most glove-like flexibility. It is lined with for when a lady stopped the car he said pale corn-yellow satin, cut open on the to the mother of the boy: arched instep, and laced with plain black ribbon with a tiny satin edge. Very fine qualities of "faced" cloth in shades of fawn, dragon-green, helio- in a voice that fairly made the spines of trope, biscuit color, doe color and fish- every passenger on the car tingle, ermen's blue will be used for stylish coats for autumn. A few of the "special" models, as they are termed, are much sort! I think I do! I'll let you know longer than the familiar tailor jacket. that I've paid for this boy and I ain't but an opposite extreme is reached in goin' to give up his seat to nobody! the yests, which look like braided bibs, | sir, I just ain't! O, I'll let ye know who and are short to absurdity.

collarettes, and mousquetaire collars are he is, an' I dare ye to try to make him the rage, also capes and antique ruffs, git up! I'll sue this comp'ny if modified replicas of the huge Eliza- ye do, if it takes the last cent bethan ruffs certainly, but still ruffs, I've got on earth and I have these latter decorations, however, ap- to borrow more! I'll do it! Ye needn't pearing only upon grand summer fete look at me like that! I aint afeerd of character. Much narrower ruffs of lace are everywhere worn, finding great fare fer a boy o' mine an' then makin' favor among the hot-weather gowns him stand! Humph! The horse-car conwhere the collar is dispensed with en- ductor never drawed breath that could tirely.

The all-round ruff, however, is not universally becoming. Sloping shoul- I'll see the whole street car system in ders, slender throats, surmounted by Guinea 'fore I'll give up one inch o' my well-shaped heads, and features of a rights to help carry on any such imcertain cast combine to make the ruff a becoming article of dress. Women who do not possess these personal characteristics do well to avoid a fashion that in the backwoods to be skeered by a tends to make a short neck look still shorter, besides producing the effect of unnaturally high shoulders.

Fine lace-straw passementeries are used on Paris-made toilets of black net, lace, and lace-striped grenadine, in the thatguise of girdles, sleeve and collar points. Pretty jaunting costumes are made of French cashmere, made everywhere bias poor conductor so that he rung in fifteen of the goods. The bodice is in close cuirass fashion, with a Highland scarf folded from the right shoulder to the left hip. The scarf ends are long enough | Zenas Dane, in Light. to do duty as a light shoulder wrap in case of a blow on the water or a fall in the temperature on the cars. Some of the new plain wool fabrics have rich Roman borders, others finely colored palms on a black or green ground, and still others have odd Tartan borders, in which the Campbell plaids and colors are prominent.—N. Y. Post.

-"Jobkins went fishing the other day and brought home a big string." "Of fish." "No, lies."—Lawrence American. 10"

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Tom-"Did Thompson really say I was half crazy, Jack?" Jack-"No, he didn't. He isn't so generous 38 that."- -There are thirty-two compositions on the market to prevent submarine growth on iron ships, and none of them does the work

-Elevated Brakeman-"Octywahwah-The Duke-"Bless me soul. What picturesque names these Americans do have for their streets."-N. Y. Sun.

-"Why, Brown doesn't know enough to come in when it rains." "He doesn't need to, he has my best umbrella."-Harper's Bazar. -Young Farmer-"I know I'm a per-fect bear in manners, but--" Mary-yet."-Punch. -Harry -Do you love me, dearest? Dearest-Love you? Of course I do. What other excuse could I possibly have for keeping your company?-Boston

"No, you're not; you haven't hugged me

Transcript. -Employer (warningly)-"I am informed. sir, that you attend horse races and bet on them." Clerk (coolly)—"I won a thousand dollars last week." Employer (excitedly)—"Where d'ye get y'r tips?"-N. Y. Weekly.

-Pat (who is being lowered into a well)—"Stop, will ye, Murphy! Oi want to coom up again." Murphy (still let-ting him down)—"Phat for?" Pat—

"Oi'll show ye. Af ye don't sthop let-tin' me doon Oi'll cut ther rope!" -"Mamma, I know the gentleman's name that called to see Aunt Ellie last night, and noboby told me, either." "Well, then, what is it, Bobby?" "Why, George Dont. I heard her say 'George, don't,' in the parlor four or five times hand-running. That's what his name is."-Philadelphia Times.

-Hostler-"What's the guv'nor so cut up about?" Coachman-"That telephone message about Fairy Bell falling and breaking her neck." Hostler-"Goodness me! It wasn't the horse's neck. It was the man's." Coachman—"Go and tell him quick. What a relief it will be to him!" -Ally Sloper.

-Before and after taking .- When the denic party is starting for the woods the man who is compelled to stay at Crackle's reprehensible behavior. As home wishes he could join it, and when the man who was with the party returns tell me all you know about it, so that I at night he wishes he had been compelled to stay at home.-Chicago Post. -The young man of to-day who claims to know more than Solomon, does not go to the ant with a willing spirit to obtain wisdom, as that wise man enjoined, but goes to the "uncle" with his evercoat to see how much he can raise on it.—Ram's Horn.

—Chestly (of the Yale crew, in a rush on the pier at Coney Island)-"How the dence do the worn on cet through se well? They jammed me against the rails like a crowd of freshmen in a cane rush!" Yardly (his commercial friend) "They have been in training at the bargain counters."-The Epoch. -Sharpwit-"I have a neighbor whom

I want to drive out, so I can get his Phoperty, dogs and payers, but without success. A neighbor of yours, however, tells me you have a pet which he will warrant to clear a neighborhood of inhabitants in less than no time, but I forgot to ask what it was. Have you any particularly noisy parrots or any thing of that kind?" Suburban Woman -"Indeed, I haven't any thing at all except a little kitten. There must be some mistake. Jane! Jane! The baby has waked up. Go to him quick."-Good News.

JIMMY KEPT HIS SEAT. And Just Because His Mother Knew How to Protect the Poor Boy.

A bony, thin-lipped and hatchet-faced little women, with snapping black eyes ear with an overgrown cub of a boy of about six years by her side. She had ductor had perhaps forgotten the fact, "Please let this lady sit where that boy is, madam.'

"What?" screeched out the woman "make my boy give up his seat? I think I see myself a-doin' any thing of that yer talkin' to! Ye can't bulldoze me! Toby ruffles, Josephine fraises, Medici I've paid his fare an' he'll set jest where toilets of most expensive and elaborate | ye! I know what my rights air an' I'll stick up fer 'em too! Ketch me payin' make me do it! You're no bizness takin' on passengers when the car is full, an' position. Ketch me bein' ordered 'round by a sassy car conductor-pooh! Thinks. I'm afeerd of him-pugh! I wasn't raised screech owl! You jest set right where you air, Jimmy, an' if they oust you out it will be over my dead body! I've paid good money for your fare and I'll show em what's what! I'll let 'em know

She rode clear to the end of the line and she talked like that every foot of white and blue plaided camel's hair or the way, abashing and confusing the fares by mistake and had them to pay when his trip was done. And Jimmy kept his seat? Indeed Jimmy did .-

> Mr. Kidlots-Got a terrible slow horse? Stable-keeper-Well, yaas. Mr. Kidlots - Reg'lar old procrasti-Stable-keeper-Yaas.

Deliberate Preparations

Mr. Kidlots-Have him 'round to my hitchin'-post at ten o'clock to-night One of my daughters is goin' to elope, an' I've got to make a show of ketchin' her.-Judge.

BENJ. H. SINCELL. Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy, one year.... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inserntracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith. Rejecter i communications will not be returned.

> FRIDAY, SEPT. 12, 1890. FOR CONGRESS,

HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington!County.

THIS is an off year in Maine-for Democrats.

THE impression prevails that if -Baltimore Herald.

Oh! What a fairy tale!

in the daily papers of Tuesday that this fashion. the sugar clause - Mr. McComas "trick"-in the tariff bill had passed the Senate, Mr. Carlisle moyeu to strike out of the sugar section all paragraphs relating to bounty, which was lost. If this motion had been carried, our farmers and maple sugar his shop into a dining room. Sucproducers would not have had the cess, Edward. benefit of the bounty, but as it is, all honor is due Mr. McComas.

OUR esteemed Democratic contemporaries will find it exceedingly ing houses. They are putting up troublesome dealing with the agri- Mr. John Knapp's building on Morcultural element this year. It won't gartown avenue. This building will do to tell the farmer the Republican be one of the finest houses in this party has hurt him, when for the first place for the contractors are good time in many years his heart is being workmen. gladdened by a positive and what ucts. .The farmer is shrewd enough as a young man of twenty summers. to put two and two together.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—I see the Demtrick again. He continues to becloud the political issue. He says he is re- running at full blast. Messrs. Albert minded of the ostrich which eats Frazee and Joshua Turney are the horse shoes and cobble-stones. Now engineers on this road. a cuttle-fish is not supposed to know whether a diet of log chains and rubber boots is the proper thing for an twenty dozen of wheat and received ostrich or not. He is so encompassed fifteen bushels. If any one can beat by his own inky cloud that he seldom gets a view of his surroundings. them. But the ostrich carries his head high over the plain, aud sees and knows waht is happening, and he does not in which two cars were thrown off bury his head in the sand until ev- the track but not badly injured. erything has been done for his safety. and then he hides his head simply Fogle, both of Somerset County, Pa., because he does not want to see himself die ; just as those American en- ard Oil Company. terprises which the Democratic party are trying to stamp out might do, if some of his intimate friends a visit that party comes into power, when in and about Selbysport and all that at last they shall be hounded to their he paid a visit say that they are godeath. Business men of the country ing to attend court this term. are admonished to avoid the embrace of the Democratic cuttle-fish, for when he gots fastened on with tenticle and sucker, it means strangulation and death to all business in this country.

It is exasperating to a candid mind to undertake to find a grain of real information in the columns of the Democrat for the benefit of its readers, hungry for facts as they must be getting by this time.

A few weeks ago we were told editorially that the people of Garrett | died and the other had to be shot. County did not want a duty on lumber because it made the price higher Park circuit, U. B. Church, resigned to every citizen who wanted to build his charge and will preach his fare- quite a number of Garrettonians, cre- ding, as we learn a new roller and a house, a fence or a pig pen, and well sermon here at 3 p. m. Sunday. now we read in the learned essay of eyer before. The question now is, Glade Saturday and Sunday. The says protection is a bad thing because success of the meeting but the school it makes the price of lumber high, or house was crowded by an interested "H. Y.," who says protection is a audience, who listened with marked bad thing because it makes the price attention to the very able discourse of of lumber low.

that the inter-State commerce law ing are very seldom heard in this has not benefitted the lumber trade. and when he asserts that dollars were made before it went into operatioh, where cents are made now, he one built before long. simply advertises his dense ignorance. Except for a few years imme- the Steiding Sunday School on Saturdiately after the close of the war, day had to be postponed on account when an unnatural demand to repair of the rain until Monday. the waste of stimulated prices, the lumber trade was never so good as it of this clearly demonstrated example to be remembered. Offutt's Hall, ment. Washington, D. C. of the benefits of protection to our Sept, 17.

country, and our people, the Democratic party is found arrayed against

Why don't "H. Y." treat his readers to a few historical facts? Why don't he tell them about this Mills bill which his party tried to pass, which sought to build up the lumber trade in Canada at the expense of the business in the United States? He made light of my description of how the cash for the lumber comes back and circulates among all the people, and says "the same thing happens in England where they have no tariff."

Now, this is precisely the difference: The Republican policy, which I believe in, keeps cut the foreign article, and the money comes here to benefit our own people, while the free trade policy, which he and the Democratic party believe in, admits the foreign article free, and the money will consequently go to Canada or some other country to circulate among and benefit the people of a foreign country instead of our own. We seek to hold on to our own markets, and to keep the money in circulation among our own people; Hunter Boyd, of Cumberland al- they would surrender our markets to lows himself to be nominated by the foreigners which would result in tak-Western Maryland Democracy he ing the money away from us to cirwill make it a hard job for Congress- culate among foreigners, and to build man McComas to secure a majority up enterprise in another country. "H. Y." should explain these things to his readers so they might have a chance to know something about the No DOUBT our Democratic friends | real merits of the controversy, but he were disappointed when they read does not seem to be constructed after Selbysport.

Elwood Frantz, the life-long shoemaker of this place, has retired from his trade and is now in the lumber business. Mr. Frantz has converted Messrs. W. L. Dunham and W. W. Schlossnagle, both of this place, have formed a partnership, and are now prepared to take contracts for build- Hotel.

Mr, Hiram Frazee, the worthy There is a tram road from Beam- his company.

er's to Selbysport, known as the Beomer and Teats road, Beamer being the owner and Teets the contractor. At present the trucks are

Mr. A. J. Frazee had the eclipse wheat crop this year. He threshed this we would like to hear from

There was a wreck on the railroad Sept. 3d, near the Pennsylvania line

Messrs. Daniel Miller and William are here cutting stone for the Stand-

Sheriff Casteel, of Oakland, paid

Richard Selby, our old resident and mail carrier, is erecting a new dwelling house. C. H. Stuck has recently been appointed as lumber inspector by L. L. Thompson, the vice-president of the Yough Railroad Company.

Swanton C. T. West is erecting an ice house near his store, J. Z. Browning has lost two valua-

The Rey. Mr. Taylor, of Deer

The fourth quarterly conference of "H. Y." that lumber is cheaper than the M. E. Church was held at North who knows the most, the editor who weather was very much against the the P. E. Rey. W. J. Sharps. Such "When "H. Y." undertakes to say sermons as the one on Sunday morn-> neighborhood. The people of North Glade need a Church and we think there will be The picnic which was to be neld by

HOOSIER.

The Noss Family's farcical comprices better than before, but in spite enough to make it an evening long tien in the Public Printer's Depart- of Geo. E. Bishoff.

HURRAH FOR REED!

His Plurality Nearly Doubled by His

PORTLAND, MAINE, Sept. 8 .- The election passed off quietly throughout the State, a ,orge vote being polled. The Republicans all day claimed an increased majority. The interest centered in Reed's district, and larger majority than that of two years ago was predicted. Following are the returns as received up to a late hour.

Four Republican legislators are on account of local dissatisfaction. There is great enthusiasm in the city over Reed's election, and a big meeting was held in City Hall, with an address by Reed under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club. REED'S PLURALITY.

Forty out of filty-two towns in the First district give Reed 16,091; did not appear on the po!l books, Frank, 11,339. Reed's plurality, 4,752, against 2,439 in 1885, MANLEY'S MESSAGE.

Chairman Mantey, of the Republinight the following dispatch to President Harrison: "Maine gives the largest Republinine months. ter, Mrs. John Cleary, of Garvey's tween the hours of 8 a. m., and 8 p.

business interest in that locality. delpnia, Pa., one of the stock-holders thereby preventing confusion and in the Empire mine, accompanied by trouble on the day of election. Mr. Hamilton, a prominent coal seems like a permanent advance in proprietor of the Yough Store, drove dealer, of Baltimore City, spent a

Mrs. Corkin and family who have

Saturday afternoon was poorly at- erable distance and cutting his head tended and very little interest taken badly by striking a tree or stone. in the proceedings. It is doubtful if this district would have been represented at all, had it not been that some of the parties were compelled to attend court, in the same day, and by this means could make one visit serve two purposes-politics receiving minor consideration. Some of the Democrats were outspoken and did not hesitate to say that they were tired of losing a day's time and spending car fare to Oakland, simply to sanction the action of certain Oak-"cut and dried" weeks before the in consequence of to much hauling. convention. These are the men that count two on election day, and from the sentiments expressed occasionalwrong and very poor politicians, goes. when they are only able to see occasional dissatisfaction in the Republican ranks and always report harmony in the Democratic wigwam There is more than one old sore in ter, run and smell bad until it is healed at the polls.

It is rumored and stated on pretty extensive mill, located at Barnum, W. Va., on the line of the W. Va. C. railroad, furnishing employment to products for our farmers in that locality, with post office and store con- farmers. veniences, that will be sorely missed, compelled to look elsewhere for a in loye with this place and may remill site. The company has invested rather extensively in small vein coal but thus far have been unable to have jit mined sufficiently clear to create a paying demand. They have vested the lightest wheat and oats recently purchased all the small vein | crop for many years. coal under the farms of Messrs. Jos. Paugh and Wm. Tichinell, deceased. sister Matilda were visiting Miss En- Virginia. but will not operate same until pros- low's parents living near Bruceton. pects are brighter. We understand W. Va.

Mr. James Welch, formerly a mer- garden spot of the world. chant of this place, and who moved

What a bonanza It would be if Garrett County farmers could drive Somerset Co., Pa. into Oaklahoma every Saturday morning with a wagon load of eggs father's farm and has commenced and sell them for 45 cents apiece, the building a house, Umbles, of price they are now bringing in that Friendsville, contracted to do the land of disappointed fortune seekers. stone work, and T. H. Cuppet of bie, of Buckhannon, W. Va., and accompanied by her daughter-in-law year next Sunday. Mrs. Wm. Ware, were guests of week.

At nearly every election persons elected and one Democrat, the latter are found residing in this district, who fail through carelessness or oversight to have their names placed on the registration list, thereby depriving themselves of a vote. On several occasions they have presented themselves at the polling-place and when they have not been allowed to deposit their ballot, because their names have gone away, highly indignant and imagined something was wrong with the judges of election. Due and timely notice is always given of the can State Committee, sent at mid- days of registration, but where some of our people live a long distance from the voting place, when such notices are usually posted, and do not Hastings, H. C. McBride and his escan majority known in an off year take a county paper, this important timable wife, of Ocean Grove, and since 1866, and a larger majority than matter of registration is likely to given in a Presidential contest since escape their memory or possibly be 1868, with the single exception of overlooked entirely, unless their at-1884 and 1888. Governor Burleigh is tention is called to the fact by their elected by a majority exceeding 15,- better informed neighbors. If any 000. Speaker Reed is elected by the Republican in Dist. No. 4 knows of a largest majority he ever received, ex- young man who has become a citizen ceeding 4,500, Representative Din between this and last election day, gley. Boutelle and Milliken are or if you know of any person who elected by majorities ranging from has moved into the county, working 3,000 to 5,000." on a farm, at the mill, in the woods, or shop, or mine, entitled to be reg-Schools opened in Allegany County istered, and wants to yote for Mr. last Monday morning for a term of McComas and protection, don't fail to tell him the Registration office Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Calkins, for- will be opened on Franklin Hill, on mer residents of our town, but now the 15th of this month and on the of Elk Garden, are spending this 16th and 17th the register will be at week the guests of Mrs, Calkins' sis- Garvey's Hotel, Bloomington, be-

m. The registration day now Mr. Charles Brown started for Ro- closes at 8 o'clock in the evening anoke, Va., last week to look up a giving ample time for the voters to have their names properly registered Civil Engineer Osburne, of Phila- after the day's work is done and

Truman Mosser, of Swanton, who has charge of and furnishes the stock the price of all kinds of farm prod- out into the country last week as gay portion of last week in this vicinity, for hauling and stocking West & looking after the business interests of Shipman's saw mill at Laurel Run, met with an accident on Tuesday last that might have been more serious. been summering in this locality, the In trailing logs down a hill to the build. guests of Mra. G. C. Pattison, re- mill, on West & Shipman's trailturned to Baltimore last Thursday, road, the logs ran on the horses and Ryan's Glades.

Weather very warm and showery. Farmers busy cutting buck wheat. Buck wheat crop this season is light owing to dry weather just after the seed was sown in July.

Oats are a very poor crop here. Grass crop very heavy.

Almost every land holder in our some lumbering company, consequently the whistle of saw mills are heard in every direction and our land politicians, who have things loads at times are almost impassible

Sanford Thompson has sold his personal property and contemptates G. Davis. going west. Sant is a good fellow ly, and that quite forcibly, one is led and we are sorry to loose him, and to conclude that the Democrats are hope he may do well wherever he ing some time in Deer Park, left for

> Mr. George Steyer is very ill with Guss Chisholm is just convalesing from a sever spell of fever. Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. Whip are the Democratic corpus that will fes- visiting their friends and childhood home in Ryan's Glades and their visit to Kingwood last week. father, mother, grandmother, sister and friends at Oak Grove. We hope

Their home is in Patterson's Creek. Mrs. Mary Chisholm and Arthur are having their mill renovated adating a market for all kinds of farm huller process for buckwheat, which Miss Mattie D. Davis to Mr. Geo. F. we hope will be a good thing for our will have cut out their timber sup- the public we may call again soon 16th, after which a reception will be ply in the next 4 or 5 months and be and have another little talk as we are held at the home of the bride. main some time yet.

> Hoyes. This section of country has har-

Reuben Enlow and family and his

the firm is negotiating for a tract of Geo. W. Griffith and grandson, timber near Oakland and if pur- Willie Mattingly; spent a few days chased will move their extensive in and around Uniontown Pa. He plant to that portion of our county. says Uniontown is getting to be the

Geo. W. Kemp and his brother Since the defeat of the Mills bill, edy, "A Quick Match," suits every- some years ago to Barton, Md., and Harry, nurserymen from Harnettswhich was a declaration of party pol- body. Has plot enough to make it became quite a prominent Republi- ville Pa., W. S. McClintock, Burns icy striking lumber from the dutiable interesting; comedy enough to make can of his adopted town, has lately Hanna and his brother Harry, of the and vicinity, last week. list, the demand has been steady and it very funny; sentiment and music been appointed to a lucrative posi- same place, spent a week at the home among the leading school teachers o day,

Geo. Custer purchased a part of his Mrs. William Mullen and son Rob. Hoyes, the carpenter work,

Rev. H. E. Friend will deliver his Mrs, Richard Ware, of Westernport, his last sermon for the conference Brison Welsh and B. F. Friend friends and relatives in town last have leased the "Chestnut Lump' coal mine for one year, from the Yough Manor Land Co. Mr. and Mrs. M. Mattingly of this place attended Church at Oakland last Sunday.

Alex. and Martin Fresh have been doing the threshing at this point. Wm. Callis is attending court this week. Thos. Callis has charge of the blacksmith shop in his absence. Herbert Ferguson and Edda Friend were over to Cranesville last Sunday to see their best girls,

The Convention closed last night with the best results of any previous one. The new workers have been quite an addition this year. H. L. Mrs. Beck, of Philadelphia, with several others, added much to the interest of the meeting.

Every vestige of opposition is now removed from many minds concerning the doctrine of Divine healing, You could not heap upon them a greater disgrace than to call them faith healers, as they are in no way connected with or in sympathy with the so-called healers. They look upon the works of the healers as under the control and guidance of the devil.

Dr. Hastings dealt some heavy blows against infidelity in some of his sermons, and two or three, who are trying to persuade themselves to this belief, were present and got a good share of their foolish belief.

Rev. McBride has such a happy, winning way of putting things in connection with their inspiring songs that several sought and found pardon and others the blessing of holiness. These are the main objects in their meetings, but if any want the teaching of the Bible on divine healing they will do all they can to help them understand this doctrine.

Most of the delegates left to-day, but some remained to look over the grounds with a view to buy lots and

Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Cecil, Mr. Crane, Mr. Conner, the promises made by the national The Democratic primary on last struck him, throwing him a conside Major Colter, Hon. G. W. Atkinson and a few others have returned to their winter homes.

Next Friday, Saturday and Sunday we are to have a County Sunday in connection with the convention there will be a Harvest Home picnic. The programme for the Harvest Home will be as follows: Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock, and the exercises will begin promptly at vicinity have sold their timber to 1:30. The exercises will be varied and interesting, > Sept. 8, 1890. J. A. E.

Deer Park. Col. T. B. Davis, of Keyser, spent Sinday with his brother, Hon. H.

Mr. Albert Droege and wife, of Atlanta, Ga., who have been spend-New York last Tuesday. R. E. Fundenberg was in Cumberland Saturday. Capt. James Anderson and wife spent the day with Mrs. Droege Wednesday.

Miss Ida Head returned from a Dr. John Mitchell and wife returned from Europe last week, and tion of parliamentary etiquette for ble horses within two weeks. One good authority that Watson & Co.'s to see their dear faces while with us. are now visiting Mrs. Mitchell's father, Mr. John W. Williams.

> F. S. Landstreet, of Davis, W. Va., spent Sunday in Deer Park. Cards are out for the marriage of Downey, of Salt Lake City, Utah. The ceremony will be performed at If our notes are of any interest to the Hotel Chapel at 8:30 p. m., Sept.

> > W. E. Crook, of Washington, D. C., spent Sunday with friends at Wing-and-Wing.

E. M. Spedden, of Oakland, wa in Deer Park Sunday evening. Miss Brooke, matron of the Children's home, has resigned her position and returned to her home in Miss C. B. Hayes left for Chicago, Ill., on Monday.

Miss Dunnington, of Fairmont, W. Va., is visiting Miss Minnie Lott. Chattanooga, Tenn., Friday where he will spend the winter with his sister, Mrs. Williams.

Rev. A. M. Evers, of Keedysville Md., spent several days in Deer Park

Prof. Chas. D. Phelps, who spent the summer in Deer Park, returned McClintock and Burns Hanna are to his home in Vermont last MonOUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 8th. 1890 .-Speaker Read has returned, and he is proud as he has a right to be, of the ovations given him at Boston as well as in his own district. The Republican party is proud of him and the record he has made as Speaker of the House, Truly he is a worthy successor of the eminent Republicans wno have filled the Speaker's chair in the past. Gen. Raum indignantly denies that he intends to resign, as a rumor, started by some Democrats, said he would. "I never ran," said he, "when under the fire of the emeny during the late war, and I have no idea of so now. I know that I have been guilty of no wrong-doing in the conduct of the business of the Qension Office, and I have nothing to fear from the most rigid investigation of my acts. Before the investigation is ended I expect to prove that every charge against me emanated from parties who bear me personal ill-will." The House without a division, adopted the conference report on the River and Harbor bill, and not the slightest opposition is expected in the Senate, though it may be late in the week before it gets before the Senate. as it is understood that as soon as the tariff bill is disposed of the anti-lottery bill is to be taken up and passed, Everybody is glad that the tariff debate is over, and that voting upon the bill and the amendment hich is to begin tomorrow will wind up the whole business, for it is practically certain that no important changes will be made in the bill by the conference committee to which the House, after disagreeing, as a matter of form, to the Senate amendments, will send it. One of the most important amendments, aside from reciprocity, that the Senate has adopted is that placing binding twine on the free list and Senator Davis, of Minnesota who proposed it, is very naturally feeling proud of his success in getting it adopted. During the absence of the President and his family at Cresson Springs the White House is undergoing extensive repairs and refureishing. The Congressional Campaign committe is getting right down to business now. The fact is fully recognized that in spite of the magnificent record made by the Republicans of the present House in carrying out platform of '88 that there is no "wall " over" before the party in its efforts to retain the House, and if possible increase the present majority; and the committee asks that every mem-School Convention and on Saturday ber of the party will personally interest himself and put his shoulder to the wheel for the next few weeks. If the voters will do their part as well as the committee does its part there need be no fear of the result.

Secretary Proctor was quite ill for several days last week; but he is well enough to be in his office today. Another "tempest in a teapot" was stirred up by Representative Kennedy's speech in the House on the Breckinridge contested election case, and language which that gentleman never used has been put into his mouth by Democratic newspapers. The speech has not yet been published in the Record, Mr Kennedy says he made the speech without consultation with any of his colleagues, and that in criticising Senator Quay for his action in having the Federal election bill posponed he was only expressing his individual opinion, which he thinks he had a perfect right to do. Nevertheless, it has always been considered a violathe members of ether branch of Congress to criticise the acts of the other in a public speech, Of course Mr. Breckinridge of Arkansas, was unseated. No other action was left for the mojority after the report of the committee, which visited that State was made. The several bills relating to labor which were recently passed by the House have been reported to the Senate, and if possible they are to be pushed through. The compound lard bill will, it is thought, be reported to the Senate this week. There is some talk of passing the pure food bill, of Senator Paddock's, as a substitute for the lard bill. The Senators from the cotton States, led by George, of Mississippi, will do their level best to defeat the lard bill.

now calculating that adjourment may be reached by Saturday the 27th Master Wellman Latta left for inst. But there are a great many "ifs" to be considered. Senator Chandler, who has been

The most sanguine members are sick nearly all the snmmer is again in his seat. Twenty-five cents pays for THE REPUBLICAN from now until after

If you want a stylish hat go to F. & C, Felty's, tho campaign.

Accident-J. E. Gnagey. Altamont-J. Z. Browning. Blaine-E. Kitzwiller Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos. b Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Elkins, W. Va.—John H. Riley. Elder—Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher, Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend. Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm, A. Smith, Huttons-Chas. F. White. Johnsons-Geo, W. Blocher Keyser, Md.-Solomon O. Beachy. McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C. J. Otto. Selbysport-Jonas Frazee Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George, Westernport-Geo. L. Michaels, Wilson's Mills-Geo. W. Wilso

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall nects in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in same Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., neets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, neets in same Hall ist and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-ensday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

Noss Family.

The Noss Family is coming!

The Snowy Creek wreck is cleared up.

They're in the soup. What? Oys-

Sunday. We have a complete stock of legal blanks on hand. is the sport now.

The Oakland Hotel closed for the season on Saturday.

Court proceedings will be given in full next week,

Be Sure and see the Noss Family in Musical Comedy.

you want a fine knife.

The Noss Family at Offutt's Hall Wednesday, Sept 17th.

wanted at Stanton's Mills. 30tf One engine on this division of the

B. & O. killed six men last week. Henry M. Stanley will probably lecture in Baltimore in December.

Highest market prices paid for Buckwheat at Stanton's Mills. 30:1 painted. Wednesday.

30 1t.

Communion services in Trinity next Sunday.

is a drug on the market at four dotlars per ton.

The new jail in Somerset County, Pa., is about completed. It will cost about $25,000.

Snowy Creek wreck were shipped east this week.

ing and evening. Julius A. Roehm, the tailor, has a large line of samples on hand suitable for overcoats and suits. Give him a call. Carpenters complain of a scarcity builders have been compelled to stop work on this account. The young ladies of South Point ternoon and night, Sept. 20. 1890 COMMITTEE. All are invited. Frederick Times recovered averaged of $2,500 against Joseph D. Baker, at Ellicott City, for assault. The press says that the Noss Family have become famous throughout the country, as they do just what they advertise, The Noss Family are the leading pioneers of Musical Comedy and the nels-the cheapest in town. 28 3t only company traveling introducing a Quintette of Saxophones. Offutt's Hall, Sept. 17.

The Cumberland Steam Laundry, to introduce their work in Oakland, will laundry gentlemen's collars, handsome line of lamps from New- lative Flour on hand. These are the the law will be enforced to the fullest at compound interest, since 1814, will contract for or superintend the erection cuffs, shirts, and ladies' collars and ark, which they will sell at reason- best grades of flour in the country, extent upon such trespassers. cuffs, free, next week.

Harry Hinebaugh had his finger very seriously mashed on Monday by being caught in a cog-wheel on some machinery in Scherr's factory.

The Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., of day. West Virginia, met in Kingwood last week. J. K. Monroe, of Kingwood, was elected Grand Chief Templar, and Miss Mary Jessop, of Austin, Preston County, was elected Superintendent of Juvenile Templars.

The corporation tax-books for the year of 1889 have been placed in the hands of Jas. A. Hayden and S. Iz. Townshend. All taxes for 1889 must be settled immediately.

JOHN D. TAGGART. 30 - 1Late Collector. Everything at cost at Shatzer's for two weeks, and then the biggest auction ever held in Oakland.

Auction Sept. 25th on four months credit: 5 parlor suits, 2 oak bedroom suites, I walnut bed-room suite 7 poplar bed-room suites, bed-steads mattresses, springs, tables, kitchen Monday and made us a call. safes, over 290 yards of carpets, matting and oil cloths, also about $1000 worth of second hand furniture and 30 - 2

The Democratic County convention met at the court house and organized by the election of Wm. Hinebaugh, president, and W. D. Hove, secretary. The convention named three men from each district to attend and represent Garrett county at the Hagerstown convention.

At the Democratic primary on Saturday the following delegates were selected: J. B. Fav. Geo. Spedden, B. Revnolds, Wm, Hinebaugh and Wm. Browning.

The Noss Family, in their musical comedy, "A Quick Match," were greeted by a large audience at the day. opera house last night, and too much Another hot wave struck us on praise cannot be awarded the performers. It was something out of day. the ordinary course, something that meets the wants of the great mass of the people. It was cultured and re-Pheasant and woodcock shooting fined, yet it did not go up into the was a science of its own, that charms the ear, and pleases the eye, Little us a call. Bertha is a wonder, a prodigy of musical ability. The Noss Family Cumberland, are in attendance at can get music out of scrubbing court this week. brushes, beer bottles, and most de lightfel music at that, and in all See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if their varied entertainment not a word or act is used that could offend the most fastidious. We find great pleasure in endorsing the Noss Fam- Baltimore last week, attending the ily, and hope they will return at no ordination of Rev. Thos. Stanton. Ten thousand bushels Buckwheat distant day .- The Mt. Carroll (III.,) Mirror.

> Twenty-five cents pays for THE dld not forget to call at our office. REPUBLICAN from now until after was ordained priest at the Cathedral in Baltimore on Friday last, Cardinal Chas. Nethkin's residence on "The honor were: Rev Paulinus Disser, Friday, Heights," has been handsomely of St. Mary's Seminary, and Rev. A. S. Fonteeau, of St. Charle's Col-A gentleman from Pittsburgh ship. lege. Among those present in the ped a car-load of old iron from here sanctuary during the impressive ceremony were: Rev. P. P. Dennis president emeritus of St. Charles' FOR SALE CHEAP .- A full-blooded | College; Father Bernard, of St. Jersey male caif. Apply at Oakland Charles : Father Forest of St. Mary's Seminary; Rev. Thomas S. Lee and connected with his establishment-Rev. P. J. Donahue, of the Cathe-Reformed Church, Grantsville, Md., dral; Rev. William E. Starr, of Corpus Christi Church; Rev. Francis Farley, of Wilmington, Del., and Over in Indiana County, Pa., hay Rev. Robert Kennedy, of Milledgeville, Ga.

Father Stanton celebrated his first Mass at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, on Sunday morning last at 10.30. His deacon was Rev. Father Mattingly, of Oakland; sub-deacon, his trip back to Europe on Monday, The cattle that escaped from the Mr. H. A. Proby, of Washington; master of ceremonies, Mr. Michael Ryan, of Lonaconing ; acolytes, Mas-Rev. G. W. W. Amick preached in ter James Coen, of Baltimore, a miah Stanton, brother of the newly ordained priest. Rev. Father Best. of England, occupied a place in the permanent home, sanctuary. Rey. Father Mattingly capacity and among those from a Hart. distance in attendance we noticed wiil hold a festiyal on Saturday af Missses Minnie and Sally Coen, of A. B. Carty, formerly editor of the Daly, of Newburg, and Mr. Michael ginia, resting over night at Grafton. Fleming and Mr. Patrick Coniff of and reaching Parkersburg on the Rowlesburg.

F, & C. Felty have a nice line of fine dress shirts-cheap. 28 3t Davis & Son have just received a full line of heating and cooking stoves.

Go to F. & C. Felty's for your flandirect from the importers. Also a Garrett Co., Md.

full line of Rogers' silverware.

PERSONAL POINTERS

Notes About our People at Home Jos. Rembeid was in our city Mon-us Wednesday. Austin Brown, of Selbysport, called on us Monday.

town attending court.

Jos. E. Harned went to the fair at Wheeling on Monday.

over at Davis' hunting. Thomas W. Frost, of Shade Mills, was in town this week.

Mrs. E. F. Droege, of Deer Park, was in Oakland Tuesday. Samuel A. Teats was in town on

Mrs. Silas Shirer spent Tuesday visiting friends in Huttons.

Newton Brown, of Cumberland, s visiting friends in Oakland. Miss Minnie Smith, of Deer Park, was visiting in town this week. Sylvester Rinard, of Cranesville, was seen on our streets Tuesday.

Prof. Richardson and family returned to Piedmont on Mouday. J. T. Mitchell was in Kingwood on professional business on Saturday.

P. P. McAndrews, of New Germany, was in Oakland on Tuesday Term begins October 13, 1890. Reg-Mids, called to see us on Wednes- training. Academic, normal or com-

John H. Roth, of Dobbin, was a C. A. Stanton, of Stanton's Mills, near Grantsville, was in town on Monday. realm of scientific operatic, still it Kelita Michaels Esq., of Barton 7th day of September, the following was in town Wednesday and made Lawyers Brown and Semmes, of John F. Robeson, the "Wild Irishman," of No. 11, was in Oakland this week attending court. Miss Blanche Browning was in

Mr. Josiah Bittinger, of Bittinger,

Rev. W. H, Spangler of Accident, was in Oakland on Tuesday, He Mr. Thomas Stanton, of this place, was returning home from Frankville. Miss Lula Schiller, of Cumberland, who has been visiting our city for Gibbons officiating. His deacons of some time, returned to her home

> Edward Margroff, of Accident, knowledge a pleasant call from Mr. M. while he was in town.

W. L. Woodruff, proprietor of the Cumberland Steam Laundry, was up to Oakland Monday on business

Mrs. General G, B, Wright, of Frostburg, and Mrs. Col. P. C. Forsyth, of California, spent several days last week at the Commercial Hotel.

Rey. Kenelm Digby Best, a distinguished priest and author, belonging to South Kensington Oratory, ing relatives in this county, left on

Va., where he expects to make his

General Kellev, wife and grand-Baltimore; Misses Maggie and Nel. daughter will leave Monday evening everything that appertains to the lie Donn, of Rowlesburg; Miss for Parkersburg, to attend the re-Maggie Fieming and Miss Sally Union of the Society of West Virexpress Tuesday, 16th.

> Mr. C. T. Sweet, of Swanton, desires us to say he has now sufficient nursery stock to warrant hiring a good salesman. He will give a good salary.

Briarbend Seminary (Home and of 30 days will be put in an officer's Day School for girls) will reopen hands for collection. Dayis & Son have put in a full line Monday, Sept. 23d (D. V.). Address of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought Miss E. B. Swan, Mt. Lake Park, able prices. Call and see them. 29 3 and sold 50c under city prices. 29(2) 27 5*

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. Wm D. Hoye. president of the Garrett County Sunday School Union, says that a very practical suggestion comes from Rev. Geo. H. Nock, State organizer of the Mary-Ren Smith was in Oakland this land Sunday School Union, as follows: That Allegany and Garrett H. C. Shaw of Grantsville, called on Counties unite in the employment of a permanent Sunday School mission. ary, whose duty shall be to visit and encourage the schools of the counties referred to, hold district conventions Jonas Frazee, of Salbysport, is in and institutes, visit homes and interest parents in the work and gather their children into some evangelical school, preach the gospel in isolated localities, look after parts of the Lee McComas spent a few days counties not blessed with pastoral oversight, and labor for fraternity REPUBLICAN from now until after among Christians and a higher stan- the campaign. dard of work, spiritually and intellectually. It is thought a good, live, intelligent, unsectarian man could receive proper support in such a mis. sion. His work would be purely undenominational, yet it would be greatly helpful to all the denomina> tions of the two counties. All persons are hereby notified not to trespass upon my lands in Dist. No. 9 of Garrett County, either by hunting, fishing, crossing over or in any manner entering upon the same. Any person found trespassing grounds of the undersigned. upon said lands will be prosecuted.

283 CATHARINE D. MILLER. Massey Hall Preparatory School Oakland, Ml., 5th year. Advent Rev. Josiah Beeghiey, of Engle's ular or elective studies. Thorough mercial courses. Special attention to collegiate requirements. Number of pupils strictly limited. Reference REV. J. NEWMAN, > 27 4t. Principal. Resolutions.

At the regular meeting of Oakand Council, C. B. L., held on the resolutions were adopted: WHEREAS, It has pleased Al- Henry Fresh, senior member of the mighty God to remove from our firm of Fresh & Bro, and oldest son midst our beloyed comrade, Matthew Mackin, and WHEREAS. We sion to the will of God in this manifestation of his all-wise providence, therefore be it Resolved. That we deeply deplore the death of our comrade and heartily this Council, is his eternal gain. Resolved, That a copy of these res-

Md., was in Oakland Tuesday, and olutions be sent to relations of degains, ceased and given to the Oakland papers for publication, also that they be recorded on the minutes of the meeting, and that our charter be draped in mourning for 30 days. JULIUS A. ROEHM. Secretary.

men's and boy's clothing, ladies' and Herman Stelding.-Swanton Corr. gentlemen's underwear, gloves, hoswas up to court this week. We ac- iery, neck wear, overshirts and flannels, all at bottom prices. We mean business and defy competition in quality and prices. Come and see for yourselves.

> 29 tf S. L. TOWNSHEND & SON. All persons are hereby warned not to trespass on the Hall place, Brant, Merrill, Browning and Home farms, either for hunting or crossing over said lands. I will kill all dogs caught on above named lands.

> > T. W. CASTEEL. COURT PEOPLE business.

Any person wanting repairing done, bring it at once.

Terms positively cash. Thanking you all for the kind favors you have bestowed upon me, and wishing you prosperity, I remain, Yours, cordially, F. G. HYDE.

N. B.-All persons indebted to me

HENRY FEIG.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

To be in Operation in Oakland in a Short Time The Oakland Electric Light and Power Co., of Oakland, held a meeting Tuesday, but nothing definite was done. No officers will be elected until all the stock is subscribed. The contract for the electrical supplies was let to the Edison Co. A committee was appointed to purchase a site for the plant, but we have not learned what the committee has accomplished. Up to the time of going to press 450 shares of stock had been taken and paid for, which leaves 250 shares yet on the market.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE

FOR RENT. - The undersigned desires to rent his farm to a reliable gig, the horse stumbled on the rough road person on shares.

27 1m*

HENRY FEIG. Accident, Md.

Garthright's stock of fall and wool tions. The suggestion will be con- goods is complete in all departments sidered at the approaching conven- with Flannels, Kerseys, Blankets, Clothing, Boots and Shoes. Sateens worth 20c selling at 12½; black sateens worth 25c selling at 163c. Cheapest stock of boots and shoes ever offered. Come one and all. Make money by saying money: 28 3t,

No trespassing allowed on the

29 3t MRS. E. A. KILBOURNE,

JOHN CLOSE, JOHN THOMPSON AND CHAS. THOMPSON, of L.

Show this paper to your neighbor, if he is not already a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The attack was made, as we merely stated the low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news | would have taken the lion's share of hones should be without it.

MARRIED.

FRESH-GUNNETT.-Sept. 3d,1890, at the Queen City Hotel, Cumberland, Md., by Rey. J. M. Eyans, of Commissioner Fresh, and Lillie E. Gunnett, of Frostburg, Md.

Garthright has just received the largest, best, and cheapest lot of boots, shoes and clothing that was ever offered in Garrett County, A sympathize with the bereaved rela- visit to the store and an examinatives whose loss as well as that of tion of goods and prices will convince any one. Lots of other good bar-

30 2t BECKMAN - McFADPEN, - On Tuesday, Sept. 9, by Rev. W. H.

Spangler, Miss Mary McFadden to Mr. John Beckman.-Swanton Corr STEIDING-BECKMAN .- On Wednesday, Sept. 10, by Rev. W. H We have just openeda full line of Spangler, Miss Sue Beckman to Mr.

> BARNARD - WILSON. - On last Sunday, near Bloomington, by the Rev. Mr. Howard, at the residence of Wm. Barnard, Miss Susan E. Wilson to Mr. Archibald Barnard .-Bioomington Corr,

A Royally Paid Substitute. In the year 1814, when the Emperor Napoleon made his last levy of troops to resist the invasion of France by the powers of Europe, one Peter Julian Laurent, a poor knife-grinder, was employed by a rich citizen named Ulysses Gaudin, whose name was more war-like than was his disposition, to go to the war in his London, England, who has been visit- And All Other People take Advan- place. Substitutes were somewhat hard to find in those days, and before Having decided to retire from the Saurent would consent to serve in Will T. Ravenscraft, of this place stock of goods, tools, mater and Guadin's place, he exacted a payhas resigned his position in the first for sale. I propose to reduceums and an agreement that in case he,

National Bank of Fairmont, W. Va., stock as much as possible for the next Laurent, should lose his life in battle Rev. G. W. W. Amick preached in ter James Coen, of Baitimore, a to accept one with L. L. Powell & Laurent, should lose his life in battle the Lutheran Church Sunday morn-cousin of Father Stanton, and Jereto brokers of Range of R Co., real estate brokers, of Roanoke, vertise for a jeweler to buy the reshould be paid to his widow as long mainder of stock and rent the room, as she should live, and after her WEDNESDAY, the 24th Day of If any jeweler should see this and death, three hundred francs a year C. A. Bolden and wife returned to wants to buy, address or call on me during his life to his son, then four preached the sermon, which was a their home in Meyersdale, Pa., Mon- and I will give you a bargain. I have years old. Peter Julian Laurent was very eloquent and impressive one day morning. They were accom- one of the best rooms and locations killed under the walls of Paris within and at the close of the mass Father panied by Miss Annie Slicer, of in the town. This is no sham. I four months after his enfistment. of lumber in Oakland. Several Stanton gave his blessing. The Meyersdale, who has been visiting mean just what I say. Everything His widow received her three hunchurch was crowded to its utmost relatives in Oakland, and Miss Aggie will be sold for less than first cost.- dred and fifty france a year regularly "Strike while the iron is hot." I from Gaudin and his family until have a splendid stock of everything 1832, when she died. The Gaudin in the jewelry and musical line and family then sought to evade the payment of the annual amount of three hundred francs agreed upon for Laurent's son, but the matter was carried into court, Laurent won his case. The Gaudins were ordered to pay him the amount each year as long as he lived. Laurent is still living, in the best of health, and promises to live ten years longer. The Gaudin family remain solvent, will please call and settle at once and have paid him regularly, since Accounts unpaid at the expiration 1832, the amount which his father stipulated to give him. Those who are curious in arithmetical matters can easily ocmpute how much mon-I hereby warn all persons not to ey Ulysses Gaudin's substitute has trespass upon my farm by hunting or cost, all told; also if they like, what Garthright has a large supply of picking chestnuts or driving through the amount, capitalized in 1814, would Davis & Son have just received a Christain's Best and Patapsco Super- my fields with horses or wagons, as have been, and also what the capital, would have amounted to by this time. - Argonant.

Grantsville Weather warm and showery; excellen for the wheat which is sown and most of early all the farmers have finishing sow-

Buckwheat harvesting has commenced with prospects for a fair yield.

Oats is the lightest crop we have had for Wheat sells readily at a dollar per bushel t the Little Crossings Mill.

Potatoes are a fair crop but are rotting Lee Beachy is athome on a visit. Clarence Potter, with his two childaen, are rived at his father-in-law's, Mr. McKenzie's st Sunday. We understand he is undecided as to what course he will pursue since the leath of his wife. Miss Mollie Wegman returned from a visting tour among friends and relatives at Bittinger last week

Timbermen were in town last week A social party and ball was held at P. Dorswy's last Friday night. A very amusing in cident occurred while the party from town was en route to Mr. Dorsey's. Prof. Browning, accompanied by his lady friend, drove a and fell and it was so tark that the animal was inv|sible to the occupants of the gig. The Professor, under the impression that the animal had merely stopped, urged it to go on. The true state of affairs was discovered by : pedestrian, who heiped the Professor out of the dilemma A large number of our citizens started for

Oakland in response to the legal invitation to do some " courting." The Accident correspondent of the Demo erat was evidently agitated somewhat by an allusion of ours in THE REPUBLICAN a short time ago concerning the Normal at this place, if we are to judge from ebullitions of that worthy personage in last week's Demoed. In the first place he (or she) charges us with dubbing the Accident students as "kids and children," which is untrue. If "Polly will take the trouble to examine that issue of THE REPUBLICAN, she will be unable to find the slang term "kids" used in connection with or in this item about the Normal. In regard to the progress of the Accident Nor-mal, no doubt they have as good scholars as any of them, but when it gets to little folks going to the school, we advise you to keep mum about it. After all, it was a very con ceited piece of presumption for "Polly" to immediately assume the defensive when no ondition of our schools, etc., and even if we had charged other schools with doing what we stated our School didn't do, "Polly" for not bestowing any thought on the Oakland school, as though Accident's were the only other school in the county besides this one, but we presume the cloak fit Accident nence their anxiety to claim it as their own property. Twenty-five cents pays for THE REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign. Estate of Lucinda Friend, Deceased, THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the subtained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters of Administration, C. T. A., on the personal estate of LUCINDA FRIEND, late of Garrett county, deceased. All person having claims against the deceased are here by warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated to the subscriber on or before the 20th day of March next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefits of said estated of the country of the

EDWARD H. SINCELL,

30-3 Oakland, Garrett County, Md. WOLF'S BUSINESS INSTITUTE Commercial course, English branches, Shorthand, Type Writing and Telegraphy, Thorough instruction at modern rates, Young men and women trained for positions,

D. ELMER WOLF. Hagerstown, Md. Estate of David Michael, Deceased.

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the sub

A scriber, of Garrett county, hath obsained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters Testimentary on the personal estate of DAVID MICHAEL, of Garrett county, Md., dec'd. All persons having claims against the deceased are here-by warned to exhibit the same, with the vouby warned to exhibit the same, with the vou-chers thereof legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 26th day of March n*xt; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate, G'ven under my hand this 26th day of Aug-ust, 1890. WILLIAM R. MICHAEL, 28-4t Executor, Westernport, Md.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fleri factas issued out of the Circuit Court for Garrett County at the suit of Lloyd Lowndes, Jr., against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Hiram P. Tasker, I did seize and levied upon all that lot of ground situated about one-half mile above the village of Blaine, in Garrett County, known and designated as containing fifty acres of land more or less, by an actual entry upon the premises on the 2th day of April, 1890; said judicial being No. 29 to May Term, 1890, in the Circuit Court for Garrett County. And I hereby give notice, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day, in front of the Taggart Hotel, in the town of Oakland, I will offer the aforesaid described lot of land at public auction to the highest bidder for cash on the day of sale, to satisfy the aforesaid execution and costs.

MILITARY LOT NO. 259,

SEPTEMBER, 1890.

E. N. CASTEEL, Sheriff.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING. OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., August 25th, 1890.

A regular meeting of the County Commis-sioners of Garrett County will be held at thei office in the Court House, Oakland, Md., or MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8th, 1890, for the transaction of whatever public business as may be brought before them:

J. B. FAY,

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden,

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS, OAKLAND, . MD.,

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

ago, and this is how it happened. Having often wondered how it was that Harry Baily should possess a head of hair the color of clean cotton and the stoop of a man of sixty, while still young in years, it was with a feeling of satisfaction that I prepared to listen to the explanation: "It was in Colorado, on one of the wildest and roughest railroads I know of. The scenery was similar to that of the Denver & Rio Grande on Dump mountain.

"At the bottom, the road-bed was forced in against the opposite mountain by a noisy little river, that ran some thirty feet below. There were three tracks on the mountain side, and, standing on any one of the three, the other two could be seen.

"The road was stocked with Baldwin engines, and, to facilitate the climbing of the heavy grades, they had small driving-wheels.

"I was fireman on 67, which was used in the passenger service. She had the largest drivers on the road, and they only measured forty-eight inches in

"Matt Irwin was the engineer. He was a crabbed, cross, little, old man, with a bald head and an iron nerve. He had been on the road ever since it had been constructed, and seemed to think that the officers should respect him-which they did in a way-instead of vice versa.

"Sixty-seven had just been housed after a run. I was filling the oil-cans and Matt was hauling off his overalls, when Mr. Fox, the superintendent, climbed into the cab. "After a few commonplace remarks, he asked, abruptly: " 'Matt, how soon can 67 go out?"

"Just as soon as I can pull on my overalls," was the reply. "Her steam hasn't been blown out yet, and her fire hasn't been drawn." "The superintendent looked at both of us rather hard, as though he was sizing us up, and then he said, awful sol-" 'Matt, you've been with us a long time. You've been tried and not found wanting. To-night we call on you to perform the most dangerous piece of work yet. Will you do it?" "Matt's eyes looked as large as saucers in the dim light of the cab. I confess I was trembling myself. 'What is it?" he asked.

"There's been a big mistake made in the higher offices-but that is not for us to criticise-and there is but one way to rectify it.' Here the superintendent's voice dropped to a whisper. One hun- Matt, and coming four feet to our one. dred and fifty thousand doilars in gold If we can get around the curve there's a has got to be in B -- before midnight, show of her jumping. to connect with the Eastern express, and you're the man selected to take it

'Old Matt showed his astonishment with his eyes, but never opened his mouth. As for me, I was so excited by this time that I had to stop my work, because I poured more oil on the floor than I did in the cans.

"'As I said before,' went on the superintendent, 'it's dangerous business. There are men in town to-night who, if they knew the nature of this run, would ditch you to secure the fortune. Guards would only excite suspicion, and if you left the track anywhere between Haversack grade and the bottom, one man would be as good as fifty, for none could escape. You'll-'

"'I'll go,' said old Matt, straightening up. ... 'And your fireman?' "Til take Harry, here. It's going to forged ahead faster, and our seven care be a dark run to-night, and I don't want strange hands about the engine. We understand each other.'

"That was as fine a compliment as Matt ever gave, and I felt proud. But I was only little potatoes in this deal. The superintendent merely glanced at me, and, turning to Matt, continued:

"'A lone engine might create sus picion, so we'll make up a wild freight. They'll all be empties. Back down to river, and engineers were cautioned not the offices before you couple on, and we'll put the safe under the coal in the tender.

"That was all. He jumped off and disappeared. For some time Mast and I sat staring at each other, then he slid off his seat and said: "'This won't do! Supper, Harry-supper! We haven't much time to lose. back before the quarter.'

"The wind was whistling among the cars, whisking the dust and papers speed of a tornado. about, while in the south a big black cloud was coming up, resplendent with In a moment it would be on us. I inchain lightning. Altogether, the night agained I could see the black mass compromised to be unusually bad. "I was back on time, but Matt was there before me. He had lighted the shaded steam-gauge lamp, and stood scanning a small piece of pasteboard. " 'What do you make of this, Harry?

he asked, as I climbed up beside him. I found it pinned to my cashion." "On it was scrawled, with a lead penvil. the words: anger! Don't pull the wild freight to-

... I make it that some one besides the superintendent and us knows of it,' Maraplied, the cold shivers beginning to

There's danger ahead!" " 'Ave, there is danger, my boy,' and old Matt spoke softer than I had over neard him before. 'If you want to-' " 'I'll go where you lead,' I replied, quickly, knowing what he was going to she wheels out from undert Ring up the wipers! "And, without waiting for the hostler to run the engine out, old Matt backed her on to the turn-table, where the wipers swung her around, and then we backed down to the offices, where four trusty men soon had the square safe but I do not think that either he or I

"A few minutes later we were coupled | F. Bruns, in Golden Days, on to a half-dozen empty freight cars and a caboose. " 'There's your orders!' cried Jimmy O'Connor, the conductor, shoving up the yellow sheets of tissue-paper. "Old Matt looked them over and we began to move out of town. "'We've got a clear track,' he said. looking across at me; and then he drew up the corners of his mouth, and I looked for a quick run.

"Before we reached the outskirts o the town the rain began to come down in a perfect deluge. Great drops, mixed with hail, and in such quantity that the dry drains were soon transformed into raging creeks. "The wind howled and shrieked above the rumble of the train and threatened to lift 67 off the rails. When the telegraph poles began to snap off Matt's face began to lengthen. "'Good night for wash-overs,' he said. 'And wash-overs are as bad as washouts!"

"It was all down grade and all the steam used was to run the air-pump. I had only to keep the fire alive. "Eight miles down we ran past a small station where a freight train was side-tracked. It had perhaps a dozen "Just before we reached it I saw a man dart in between two of the cars to scape the head-light. "I thought him either a trainman or a tramp, but have since changed my mind. "We were half way down the Haversack grade, with a straight stretch of track and a long curve before us, when Matt looked across and said:

"'I'm afraid the little pasteboard was only a scare. If-"There was the flash of a light behind, the rattle of coal, and Bob Duncan, the forward brakeman, stood in the cab. His face was as white as a

"'Shut her down-shut her down, for Heaven's sake!" he shouted. 'A freight's broke loose and is coming down the grade two miles a minute!" "Before you could snap your fingers

my face was as pale as Bob's. "Matt Irwin never lost his head, and, with a coolness that comes to few men in a time of danger, he asked: 'How do

"Seen her by a flash of lightning. O'Connor and Billy have jumped!' "And then he swung out on the step and disappeared. " 'Jump, if you want to, Harry,' called old Matt. 'I'm going to stick to her!' "I gave one look at the Egyptian dark ness and concluded that I would stay with old Matt. " 'Keep your eye peeled for her," he eried, and commenced to let 67 out.

"'There she is!' I shouted.

"And there it was, sure enough. It had just come out of a cut. One of the boxes was on fire, the flame streaming back half a car length and cutting " 'She's four miles behind,' said old

"And then began that terrible ride. "He hooked 67 up to the first notch and opened the throttle.

down the grade of one hundred and se yenty-five feet to the mile. "67 set low in her frame; but every low joint rung her bell for an eighth of mile. She jumped and swayed and

"With seven cars behind we shot threatened to leave the rails. The wind shricked around us like a thousand de mons, and the rain poured against the windows in a perfect stream "There's danger ahead and death be aind,' showted the old engineer. 'If the ain loosens a bowlder and drops it on the track-y "I shuddered. There was the blasted pine that marked the curve: The next second we reached it. For a moment I thought it was all over: Then 67 righted. There was a sharp jerk. We aleared the mad-bed and went down the bluff with a grash that was heard high above the storm, leaving a clean track for the runaway behind, that was coming, as swift and sure as death. "If the runnway got around the curve the probabilities were that we would be knocked from the track into the river. "We were very near to the bottom now, where the road-bed followed the to rup over fifteen miles per hose. "But orders were no truspected that night. We were making thirty miles an bour when a flash of lightning showed me that dark string; of cars coming around the curves The blazing box was on the opposite side visibia. "Old Matt. gave 67 the steam so sud-It only lacks a few minutes of six. Bes denly she seemed to jump from under is; but the manaway was not more than half a mile-behind and coming with the

"There was no getting out of the way ing down on us in the darkness, when a heavy numble was heard, followed by-a tremendous crash. "The rain had lossened the rock and dirt overbanging the track, and it o'aly needed the jar of the passage of 67 to set "Something like a thousand tows of debris rolled on to the track directly behind us, and into this those rumaway cars plunger. "But we did not find this out until afterward. Matt kept 67 up to what was a tremendous speed on that track. She plunged and rolled and rang her bell continually. A dozen times I thought we were going into the river.

"We pulled through all right; but that was my last trip. When I got off the engine my hair was streaked with gray, and now it is as white as snow. "For some time it was thought that the runaway cars had broke loose; but "Then we'll go through if it takes the company became suspicious and had a whoels out from under! Ring up the case looked into with the result of running down some tough characters, who finally confessed to cutting them loose with the intention of ditching us between Haversack grade and the bot tom and securing the treasure.

"Old Matt has retired from the road; shall ever forget 'the run of 67." -- W.

A CONFERENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Discuss Family Matters.

Mr. J. Anthony DeWitt-Well, so you and the girls have got the sea-shore craze again, have you? Do you think I'm made of money, madam? Mrs. J. Anthony DeWitt-Now, it's no use for you to go to losing your temper, and being so very disagreeable. Of course, I know you're not made of money; you talk as though I never tried to economize.

"Humph!" "Oh, you can 'humph' all you please; but if I don't practice economy, I don't know who does. And, as for the girls, the poor dears are positively shabby half the time."

"Shabby! With all the bills that are sent to me for their gowns and their ge w-gaws, and fol-de-rols!" "I guess, if you had some wives and some daughters, and some bills to pay, you'd have something to make a fuss about; that's what I guess. But that's neither here nor there. We simply must go to Newport or Bar Harbor this sum-"What good did it do you to go last

"It was very dull at all the summer resorts last summer, as you very well know, while the coming season promises to be a very gay one. I've the actual names of no less than twenty very eligible young men who are going to the seashore this year, and who did not go last. That makes the dear girls' chances much better."

"Oh, you may well say that; for if you are so close and so stort-sighted as to refuse them money enough to make a decent appearance, it will be 'may be so,' sure enough, for them!"

"What in thunderdo you-" "Anthony!" "Mr. De Witt, have the kindness to remember that you are talking to your "I'm not likely to forget it." "Well, then, iddress me as a gentle-man should address a lady!"

"Pooh! Mighty fine, ain't you? Well, let's get down to business. Let's see-Mag's thirty now, isn't she?" 'Mag!' I do wish, Anthony, that you would "ive up at least a few of your vul-garities, and stopealling our Marguerite Mag!' "You used to call her 'Mag' yourself, when we lived on the farm, before I was Sool enough to sell off and go into spec-alation here in the city. Well, 'Margenerite' is thirty." "She is not. She was twenty-nine last July." 'And this is May." "Well, she's not tiffrty yet" "Well, Jen is-"

"Jeannette, if you please!" "Oh. Jannette! Well, she's twentyseven, and Mollie is-" 'Why can't you say 'Mamie?' "

"I used to call her Mollie, and no fuss www.rrade about it " "You are so trying." "Well, I ain't the only trying person under this roof." "Go on, go on! Inwait me all you wang sof "Oh, for the Lord's sake don't go to aniffling!"

"How can I help crying when you are 80-90-brutal! "Brutal!" Pooh! 'Brutal!" You wimmer-beat time for general tom-foolery, anyhow. Well, now we've got down to Kitty and-" "Kitty will need very little. She is on! stwenty-two, and she will have to be kept in the background! to give Mar-"Kit Win boy that."

"Kit!" You can be sample amade.

"But I'm never so, when I dreadful!" erecks for you-Oh, no." "If you would endy have some regard for our feelings. Why the girls would die, if you were to call them Mag and Jen, and Kit and Moll, before people, And pray never call me Mat, as you did the other day, before the DeCoureys. thought I should sink through the floor!" "I can remember the time when you were glad enough to have me call you Mat and Matrie."

"But Martha sounds much better for a woman of my years, and I ought always to be Mrs. DeWitt to you, before callers, "Oh! Madam De With! How does that suit you?" "Well, it's better than 'Mat.'" "Well, let's go back to business. Now, if you're not going to put Kitty on the market-" "Anthony!" &

"WeH?" "On the market!" To speak so of your own daughters!" "I always call things by their right names, and I always intend to: and if these sea-shore riots ain't regular matrimonial markets, what are they?" "You will be vulgar." "I will tell the truth and shame the devil, and-"Anthony!" "Well, if Kitty isn't to be disposed of this year, and if there's danger of her putting Margurite's nose out of joint, why can't she go up to her grandmother's, in the country?" "She'd be better off with me. Of corse, she gughtn't to stand in the other girls' way, but it'd be better for

"Sell herself, eh?" "I didn't say so." "You mean it, anyhow. You mean that it would be better to get rid of Kitty than to hold all the girls over another ear. Well, may be so. Kitty 'll be get-

'Mr. De Witt!" "It is n't well to hold stock of any cind over, and-" "I shall leave the room if your lanuage does not become less offensive!"

ting shop worn by and by, and-"

"I'm using plain terms, that's all." "Plain terms!" "Well, let's get through with this business. How much will it take for their toggery?" "Well, of course they'll have to be well "To be sure. One has to spend money to make money. How much is the very least you can get along with?"

dressed, and we'll have to live in good

"Well, certainly not less than three hundred a week, and about a thousand for replenishing the girls' wardrobes; "Now, stop right there, Mat! Three hundred a week! A thousand dollars for duds! Jerusalem! Wha-what "Mr. DeWitt, if you swear in my presence again, I shall leave the room. Why can't you be a little reasonable?

Do you expect to go on nothing?' "Nothing! Great Cæsar! I-I-Now, here; you may have three hundred for duds, and a hundred and fifty a week for expenses! Not another cent! Not another cent! And, mind you, no bills! Mind that! If a lot of bills come in after you're gone, by the great horn spoon, I'll-I'll-"

"Oh, you'll pay them, that's all." "I'll be hanged if I will! And another thing; if none of the girls come home engaged, it's the very last time I put up money for a husband hunt of this sort!

Mind that! "He is so trying," says Mrs. DeWitt, with a sigh, after Mr. DeWitt has gone storming out of the room, "But he'll have the bills to pay, just the same.'

SPOILED THE FISHING.

How an Aged Angler Lost a Beautiful Twenty-Pound Bass An old man with a great deal of straw hat and perseverance was fishing from a wharf near the foot of Fourteenth street a day or two ago when a boy came along and asked the usual question

"Nun yer bizness!" growled the old man. "You jest canter right away from here! I never git sot down to fish that somebody don't come along to spile

my Inck!" The boy moved off a few feet and leaned against a timber, to whittle a stick, and it wasn't five minutes becareless action on his part landed him in the water with a great solash. He hung to a pile and velled. and the old man got a long stick and pulled him up, but the lad had only reached the wharf when he was taken by the collar and a foot commenced to play on him, and the old man shouted: 'Take that-and that-and that! There was a bass weighing over twenty pounds just opening his mouth to swallow my hook, and you skeert the life out of him! Take that-and git-and skip-and take that, and now there comes an infernal old steamboat and I'll lick the captain or Bust & lung." Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Wamples-Da's d' mos' fool-look

Mr. Fondley—Doan', do n' he? as the best means of satisfying jealousy as watch 'm. Want yo' inner, Ephus or bate or greed; but the Hangarian

Jones-Why, Brown, what in the world are you doing? Brown-My dear fellow, I'm going into business as an insurance agent, and I am developing my cheek .- Munsey's Wookly.

B FLAVORED VINEGARS.

Mrs. E. R. Parker Pronounces Them a Great Convenience to Housekeepers. Flavored vinegars are a great convennce to the housekeeper, and being easily prepared should always be on hand. Celery Vinegar-Mix a quarter of a Household. pound of celery seed, two teaspoonsful of granulated sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and a quart of vinegar together; put in a porcelain-lined kettle and bring to a boil. When cold put in a large bottle, and shake every day for two weeks; strain, bottle and cork. This is excellent for use in salads and sauces. Chili Vinegar-Take three dozen small ed peppers, put in a jar, pour over a pint of wine vinegar and let stand for two weeks; then pour off, add a tablespoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of Horseradish Vinegar-Scald a quart of strong vinegar, grate a teacup of horseradish, pour the vinegar over add two tablespoonsful of white sugar and a tablespoonful of salt. Let stand two or three days, strain and bottle. Serve with cold meats. Tarragon Vinegar-Gather fresh tarragon leaves, put in a wide-mouthed Y. Observer. glass jar, cover with vinegar, fasten tight and set in the sun for a week; then into pieces and stew them until done, strain, pour in bottles, cork and keep in in as little water as will keep them a cool, dry place. This vinegar is an from burning. Pour all the pulp into onions, mix with half a teacup of white turn it to the stove and let it boil rapidsugar and a teaspoonful of salt, set aside ly until it jellies. This is very nice until the sugar dissolves, add a quart of with roast meat.-Farm, Field and strong vinegar. Put in bottles, cork, Stockman. and shake frequently. Strain, bottle and cork. This is very delicate flavor-

Herb Vinegar-Take two ounces each of thyme, sweet marjoram and parsley. of fruit, boiling such spices as seem de-Dry in a warm oven, pound in a mortar, sirable in the sirup. Or, take fine full add one ounce of celery seed, put in a bottle, pour over a pint of vinegar, let stand twenty-four hours, pour off carefully. One teaspoonful of this vinegar added to a quart of soup will flavor it sufficiently. Roguet Vinegar-Take half an ounce of mustard, half an ounce of black pep-per, half an ounce of dried lemon and orange peel, a quarter of an ounce each of mace, cloves, and ginger, one ounce of salt, four grated nutmegs, and a salt spoonful of cayenne pepper, mix well, cover with strong vinegar. Let stand three days, strain and bottle. Pepper Vinegar-Take two dozen red peppers. Put in a porcelain lined saucepan, cover with salt water and boil tender, drain, add two roots of grated horse radish, two chopped onions, one teaspoonful of salt, tablespoonful each of celery and mustard seed and a teacun of brown sugar, pour over a quart o strong vinegar, let simmer over a slow fire ten minutes, strain and bottle. Aromatic Mustard-Take six tabl spoonsful of ground mustard, one of flour, two of sugar, a teaspoonful each of salt, pepper, cloves and cinnamon. Mix with boiling vinegar and let stand before using .- Louisville Courier-Journal.

SAVED BY A DREAM.

The Life of a Young Man Preserved Through the Agency of a Vision. In an old number of Blackwood's Magazine is a dream story which is vouched for as true. It was told by Lady Clerk, long well-known in Edinburg. It represented her father as attending classes in that city about 1734, and living under the care of an uncle, Major Griffiths. The young man, who was accustomed to take rambles with companions, told his uncle and aunt one night that he was going fishing from Leith early the next morning. No objection being made they separated for the night. During her sleep Mrs. Griffiths screamed: "The boat is sinking; save, oh save them!" The Major awakened her and asked: "Were you uneasy about the fishing party?" "O, no," she said, "I had not once thought about them." She soon fell asleep again, but in about an hour she cried out in great fright: "I see the boat is going down." Her husband again awoke her, and she said: "I" has been owing to the other dream I had, for I feel no uneasiness about it." After some conversation they both fell asleep, but no rest could be obtained for her. the greatest apparent agony she again exclaimed: "They are gone-the boat is gone." When the Major awakened her she declared that Mr. Dacre (father of of Lady Clerk) must not go on the fishing trip, or he would surely be lost. He was accordingly induced to stay at home. but his companions who went outencountered a squall and were drowned. Whether or not the dream was true, it is certain that on August 7, 1724; four men of a station in life corresponding to that of Dacre were drowned in the Frith of Forth while out fishing .- Chipago News

WOMEN POISONERS

A Case Which Makes the Legensis of Locusta Fossible. Modern historians distrust the atories of the Roman naisoner Locustanard of the women who in Braily sold agua tofena unals are trying a case which makes all in legends possible. No less than ten women the town of Marshan charged with charged with Renning their husbands with arsenic obtained from the papers, and they are only a sinh of the women originally arrested or nected. They were all apparently taught single women, Esther Sarac, a lock witch or herbalist, who deliberately instructed at least one disciple, and probably many more. The poisonings, some sixty in number, were done with little precaution, and cover a space of more than ten years, during all of which time a vague suspicion had been floating about. The evidence against the women under trial is said to be over-whelming, and most of them have saved trouble by pleading guilty. They are all peasants, and probably of a low-order of intelligence; but the revelation throws a strange light on the true value of much of modern "progress." In Hungary, at all events, it does not prevent epidemics of crime, though no doubt the improvement of chemical analysis helps the authorities in detecting and punishing the guilty. - SpectaFIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-To make labels adhere to tin use a freshly made solution of gum tragacanth

-Wheat Cakes: One cup of buttermilk, one-half teaspoonful of soda, a little salt, and flour to make a batter .-

-Add a tablespoonful of borax to a pan of hot soaysuds, put the table silver in it, and let it stand two hours. Then rinse it with clear water and polish with a soft cloth or chamois skin. -Baked Bananas: Select large, ripe bananas, and bake them in the oven as you would potatoes. When the skin begins to split at the seams they are done. Take them out and serve one to each person, as a vegetable. They should be pealed, and eaten with butter and a little salt .- Boston Budget. -- Egged Bread: Bread, fresh or stale, is cut in long strips, or in squares or rounds with a cake cutter. Let them soak till soft, but not broken, in one pint of salted milk into which two eggs have been beaten. Bake a nice brown, or fry on a griddle in half suet half but-(May be made with one egg). - N.

-Tomato Jelly: Break ripe tomatoes excellent addition to salads and fish the jelly bag, and when the juice has Onion Vinegar—Grate half a dozen sugar to each pound of the juice. Re-

-Sweet Pickled Grapes: Either ripe or green grapes may be made and put ing and may be used in salads, soups or up in the same way by using a sirup of one quart of the best cider vinegar and three pounds of sugar to seven pounds stems and dip them in the boiling syrup long enough to become thoroughly heated, then place them in jars and pour the syrup over them scattering whole spices among them if liked, -Housekeeper. -Chocolate Marble Cake. -One heaping cup sugar, one-third cup butter, one egg, one small cup milk, two small cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons veast powder. Take one-half of the mixture ut into another dish and mix one cake of melted chocolate with it: flavor the light with vanilla; put one spoonful of the light, then one of the dark, into the pan until used up. Frosting-One cup powdered sugar, one and one-half tablespoons milk, one-half teaspoon strawberry flavoring .- Boston Globe. -Cabbage Salad, with French Dresing: Shave a medium-sized cabbage fine sprinkling with salt and pepper. pour over it the following dressing: Heat one-half cup milk to a boil, beat together one egg, one-half cup sugar, a piece of tter size of a walnut; stir in the boil ing milk; let come to a boil; then add one-half cup vinegar; pour over the cabbage: let cool; stir occasionally. Quick graham bread; one and a-half pints sour milk, one-half cupful molasses, two teaspoonfuls of soda, a little salt, stir thick with graham flour; bake slowly .- Detroit Free Press. -Sweet Corn Soup: One pint of chopped corn, two-thirds of a quart of milk, two teaspoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, two eggs, onehalf teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of sugar, one small onion chopped, onehalf a tablespoonful of pepper; after cutting the corn from the cobs, put them on to boil in water enough to cover, lotthem boil twenty minutes; then remove them; add the corn, after chopping is quite fine, and the onion; cook fifteen minutes; then add the milk and the resta of the seasoning; thicken with the flour, which should be mixed smooth in milk; cook about five minutes after the thickening is in; beat the eggs well, and stirthem in after the soup is removed from .

the fire. - Boston Herald. THE SLEEP OF DEATH.

A Peculiar Disease Which Occurs Only in An interesting account descriptive of the "sleepy disease," peculiar to Africa, is given in the "Journal of so African Cruiser." Persons attacked by this singular malady are those who take little . exercise and live principally em vegetables, particularly cassed and rice. Some observers ascribe it to the cassada, which is strongly narcotic. Not improbably the climate has much influence, the disease being most prevalent in low and .

marshy regions. Irresistible drawsimss continually weighs down the patient, who can beg needful to take a little food. When this lethargy has kasted three or four months, death comes, but only in the form of deeper slumber. The author of the book! mentioned fin the opening tells of a member of the royal family of Luakaka who was aff ected with this curious disceivably a feeting. It was strange to see her so quiet, in a sleep from which it might be supposed she would awake full of we othful vigor, and yet to knew that this' was no refreshing slumber, but a spell in which she was fading forever from the eyes that loved her. This young girl was but fourteen age. With some difficulty she years of was arra sed and woke with a frightened

"I found I the aspect of Queen Man-

mee's hea utiful grand-daughter incomory-sal trange broken murmur-as if looking dimly out in the phanta dream. Her eyes were wild and grant rolled wildly in their sockand gray; rolled wildly in their sockets for a Servad, then immediately sunk into the deep and heavy sleep in which we found her. This poor, doomed girl had been suffering for about three months-no, not suffering, for, except when forcibly aroused, there appears to be no uneasiness until after the end of the third month of this unnatural slumber, when the victim becomes wild and constantly rolls his or her head from side to side-never opening the eyesdeath ensuing within a few days after these symptoms set in. -St. Louis Republic

-The centennial of the discovery of coal in Pennsylvania is to be celebrated in September, 1891,

FARM

An Australi

As we 1 the Victori prize of on fifty dollar gers. In a Ironmonge classes of prize. The which is n from those this will description "The mac rectangula portion of driver's se rear portio The cone. naled in ends of le are pivote the segn chains to which is c ratchet-wl enabling t the frame trolled b

sprocket w

ment beir

coiled up

ment by

seat. Mo cage by a driving a which another In front throws the cage is co ber of or rings, an screw through, only a s shield, made la vents th discharg be gathe thrown rows."

One of

are ofter

what wi can not in a gen gone int compile for the practica

with the of brood their I feeding

plethore its abou

cesses ( with fa posite c old age, ing is e The facts is impove and spin Many : cracy of require and car of the is an al or one come under exercis rest t tually Influer they i period ty corn argoti avoide ter the of the other toohig > of Illi Burril most r to gre mer, s Septe leaves latter cold w more winte had ri future fition ly ten

The

some in the

MENTS.

um tragacanth cup of butter-ful of soda, a ake a batter.-

e to tin use a he table silver hours. Then nd polish with et large, ripe in the oven as n the skin bethey are done one to each They should butter and a fresh or stale, Let them ken, in one hich two eggs a nice brown suet half butone egg).-N ripe tomatoes until done, l keep them he pulp into ound of load e juice. Reit boil rapid-Field and Either ripe ade and put ng a sirup of vinegar and even pounds as seem deke fine full boiling syrup thoroughly jars and pour ked. -House-

-One heapp butter, one o small cups oons veast the mixture nix one cake it: flavor the spoonful of ark, into the e-half table on strawench Drescabbage and pepper, beat together in the boil-I; then add er the cab Hy. Quick lf pints sour s, two tealt, stir thick slowly .- De-one pint of a quart of butter, one eggs, oneeaspoonful opped, onepper: after s, put them to cover, let then remove chopping is ook fifteen and the rests ith the flour. th in milk :.. er the thickell, and stire moved from ours Only in eriptive of ar to Africa. an African by this sintake little em vegetad rice. Some sodia, which improbably at bullow and continually who can be few minutes, When this our months. the form of rof the book! tells of a of Luakaka curious dis-

EATH.

Queen Manghter incomstrange to from which would awake yet to knew slumber, but ding forever but fourteen difficulty she a frightened in the phans were wild n their sockdiately sunk ep in which doomed girl about three for, except appears to er the end of natural stumes wild and r head from! g the eyesw days after Louis Re-

discovery of e celebrated

FARM AND GARDEN.

POTATO DIGGER.

An Australian Device Which Is Said to Do the Work. As we have mentioned before now, the Victoria Government has offered a prize of one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars for improved potato diggers. In a recent is the Australian Ironmonger illustrates the various classes of machines entered for this prize. The Farm Implement News finds only one of these implements which is new or particularly different from those now in use. A picture of this will be found herewith, with the description found in the Ironmonger: rear portion carrying the rotary sifting cone. The driving-wheel axle is journaled in the segmental-shaped front ends of levers, the rear ends of which are pivoted to the inside of the frame, the frame at will.

On the driving axle is a loose at will by a feathered clutch, engagement being effected by a spiral spring coiled upon the axle, and disengagement by a shifting arrangement con-

the segments being connected by chains to pulleys on a shaft in front, ratchet-wheel with a foot catch, thus enabling the driver to raise or depress

AUSTRALIAN POTATO DIGGER. trolled by a crank near the driver's seat. Motion is given to the sifting cage by a chain over the sprocket wheel driving a smaller one on a rear shaft, which has a miter wheel gearing in another miter wheel on the cage shaft. In front of the cage is the share which lifts the potatoes, soil and all, and throws them in a cage. The rear end of the latter is carried by a caster. The cage is conical, and consists of a number of open bars or wires secured to rings, and has internal Archimedean screw blades, two of them running through, and two of them extending only a short distance from the front. The front of the cage has an adjustable shield, by which the opening may be made larger or smaller, and which prevents the contents falling out in front, while the potatoes, or other roots, the throughly separated from all soil, are throws them in a cage. The rear end thoroughly separated from all soil, are discharged in a row at the rear, or may tall stalk and from a short stalk is rebe gathered in a special receptacle. A side shield prevents loose soil being thrown over lifted potatoes or standing rows."

STERILITY IN MARES.

Conditions That Tend to Produce It-Treatment For. One of the very hard questions that are often asked us is what causes and grown for ensilage a different policy in what will cure sterility in mares. We can not answer such questions except in a general way. A writer has recently gone into the subject very fully, and we compile the chief points that he makes for the benefit of our readers. All practical horse-breeders are impressed Worth Trying. with the fact that a proper management of brood mares undoubtedly influences with fatty particles. Likewise the opold age, poverty, over-work or bad feeding is equally as conducive to sterility. facts is to avoid both the obese and the building, one at the bottom impoverished state; keep your brood mares thin in flesh yet in good heart and spirits to ensure regular pregnancy and the production of healthy progeny. Many animals, from peculiar idiosyncracy of constitution, will accumulate fat under a system of starvation; such require to be carefully watched. Debilitated mares require good feeding and careful treatment to regain tonicity of the generative apparatus. Exercise is an absolute necessity to pro-creation. The idle mare, with no range of pasture, or one that is housed, is apt soon to become sterile. Many animals will only breed when regularly worked or placed under such condition as ensures strong exercise. Inferior foods are apt to arrest the breeding function; if not actually preventing conception, by their influence on the generative organs, they intend to abortion at an early period of gestation. Moldy hay, smutavoided. Making brood mares in winter the scavengers of all the rough food of the farm, considered unsuitable for Grapes After a Wet Spring. The year 1887 was quite similar in tome localities to the present season, in the abundant rains through the first half. In the Report of the University of Illinois for that year, Prof. J. J. Burrill states that the results were the most marked on grapes. They ceased to grow early, during the dry midsummer, and then started again after the September rains, this month continuing warm with not enough frost to kill the leaves and stop the growth. But the latter half of October had some quite pold weather, in one instant as low as 16 degrees, and all the young wood of unprotected vines was killed, doing more damage than is usually done in winter. Before this time the grapes had ripened well. Should the vines in future be threatened under similar conditions, especially those which are partly tender, it might be well on the approach of such a cold snap to lay down the vines.—Country Gentleman. SELECTING SEED CORN.

There Is Only One Proper Way to De It and That Is to Select It In the Field. I presume, says a writer in the Breed er's Gazette, that no class of farmers are better prepared to appreciate the important organic life on the farm. | yesterday. They, therefore, in their development capacity. The pounds of beef per acre The machine consists essentially of a as a plant-grower. It follows that our driver's seat and draft attachment, the than upon the animal. Few men poswhat fail to give proper attention to other important factors in life. This obtained $25,000 damages. I had rewhich is controlled by a hand-lever and to the readers of the Gazette nor marshal supporting evidence, for assertion sprocket wheel, which may be engaged of these laws is the equivalent of evidence to a breeder who has familiarized himself with the laws that govern succession of organic life.

Hereditary qualities may be fixed in corn by selection, or may be produced by crossing and fixed by selection. I paid, I found myself in very tightened shall confine my statements to selection as a means of improvement, and mainly be suggestive and of value at the coming harvest.

One right way exists for corn selection, and only one right way; and that way is to select the corn in the field and confess that her charms completely capfrom the plant at a date early enough to determine the character of the whole plant. The Western practice, though crop almost wholly by the ears produced. This demands a plant that gives the maximum amount of ear and the minimum amount of stalk. By selecting the ear from the stalk, and by no other method, can this result be secured. The ratio of seed to stem is as variable for corn as it is for other plants. The seed is but a fraction-a part of the whole life-and the ratio of an ear from a tall stalk reproduces a produced a short stalk, and that ears selected from short stalks produce more corn per acre than do ears selected from Morth Trying.

Mr. James E. Riddle, Greersville, O., sends to Farm and Fireside a plan of a nest-box, which is easily constructed and very convenient for cleaning out and collecting the eggs. In describing it he says: "There is no patent on this nest-box, so I will give it to your readers. It can be attached to any poultry-house by sawing a hole in the side of the building large enough to let the hens go through. The bottom of the nest-box is one foot square. Nail their regularity of breeding. High nest-box, which is easily constructed feeding and the use of stimulating food and very convenient for cleaning out will quickly induce sterility. Fat and plethora of system lead to fatty deposit the says: "There is no patent on its about the ovaries, degenerative pro- this nest-box, so I will give it to your cesses or clogging up the fallopian tubes readers. It can be attached to any posite condition of reduced vitality from side of the building large enough to let the nest-box is one foot square. Nail The lesson to be drawn from these two pieces of lath to the side of your support the nest, marked (A) in the illustration, and one at the top (B) just the thickness of the board

NEST-BOX. ty corn fodder, musty grain or corn, or that the nest-box is made of, to atergotized grasses, must be carefully tach a button (C) for holding the box in position. Nail a board extending up-ward from the bottom, five inches wide, next to the building. The board at the other stock, is a system that can not be top where the hinges (DD) are attached, too highly depreciated. down each side of the box. The lid is 18 inches square, and the box is 12 inches high in front and 16 inches next to building. Having finished the box, all that is necessary is to turn the button at the top, and the box can be lifted from its support and cleaned, fresh nest material put in, and you can walk along the side of your building and gather the eggs from the outside, as these boxes are attached to the build-ing from the outside."

EVERY now and then somebody declaims against the use of ice in the lairy, but there is no one thing in the lairy that we would more emphatically recommend, after recommending good tows and good feeding and care, than

Even if you are tired and dusty the sorses you have been working all day nay be more so. A little rubbing and rushing will be as refreshing to them us a bath to you.

MARRIED THE LAWYER.

He Also Adopted the Client and Escaped a Heavy Verdict. "How did you come to marry?" The question was asked by an acquaintance of a prosperous-looking man of about importance of seed-breeding than are stock-breeders. From seeds spring all dow in the sitting-room at the Girard forty years of age, who sat near a win-

"Well," he replied, after a little hesibecome the measure of the cost of ani-mal growth and in a large degree of its twenty-five my father died. Being his character. However successfully a sole heir, my mother having died prefarmer may breed his steers, he is viously, I found upon my hands a rolldoomed to failure if his crops are of low | ing mill in the center of the State. I took full charge of the works, but is measured not mainly by his skill as hadn't run them six months when a lita stock-breeder, but more by his skill the orphan boy employed there was serias a plant-grower. It follows that our genius of farmers should expend its first or chief force upon the plant rather than upon the animal form of the state of the accident was the result of a gross of the accident was the accident was the rectangular bar-iron frame, the front portion of which carries the gearing, piece of negligence on the part of my > tration in the ranks of stock-breeders, although no class should appreciate potent seed more. Very nearly the appealed; but the Supreme Court put round of the laws of heredity in animal their seal of approval upon the finding life are found with analogous relations of the lower tribunal. One of the parin plant life. I need not review them | ticularly curious things about the matter was that the child was represented by a female lawyer; comparatively young and very attractive and entertaining. "Now the entire plant, mortgaged as when the judgment had been satisfied circumstances. "Now comes the curious part of the to those phases of the question that will story. The female lawyer shortly after the case had been finally settled, adopted the boy. Sharp trick, eh? Well, mine was sharper. Six months after I it was, was worth only about $30,000; so

tured me, and I was not long in discovering that I was in love. Certain circumstances which I need not mention wrong, measures the value of the corn | led me to at least hope that my feelings were reciprocated. I lost no time in proposing, and, to my infinite delight, was accepted. We were married about eighteen months after the trial and you can rest assured that from the first I was very much attached to our little adopted son." And he looked into the incurable case of Catarra, no matfaces of his auditors and smiled know- ter how bad, or of how long standingly.—Philadelphia Press. Harvest Excursions.

"CONFOUND it! Why, that doctor is a regular pelican!" "Pelican! What do you mean!" "Look at the size of his bill!"—Exchange.

Home Seekers Excursions
tall stalks. The yield of stalks is on the reverse order. The total crop is quite as large from the seed of the tall stalks as it is from the seed of the short stalks—really larger. When corn is grown for ensilage a different policy in seed selection should be pursued from that advisable when selection is made for corn grown for its ear alone.

IMPROVED NEST-BOX.

Home Seekers Excursions
Will leave Chicago and Milwaukee via the CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY for points in Northern lowa, Minnesota, South and North Dakota, (including the Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota), Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska, Sept. 9th and 23d and Oct. 14th, 1990. Halfrate Excursion Tickets good for return passage within 30 days from date of sale.
For further information, circulars showing rates of fare, maps, etc., address A. V.
H. CARPENTER. General Passenger Agent,
Milwaukee, Wis. Home Seekers Excursions

Don't put out your furnace fire till the sun is ready to take its place. A ton of coal at $6.50 is cheaper than a doctor's bill of $65.

You may find hens in a hennery, but don't look for bats in a battery.—Terre Haute Ex-

Commendable. All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

DRUGGISTS, however prosperous, always do business on a small scale.—Lawrence

American. DAYS of absence-vacation. A RACKET, but no noise-tennis. Law of gravity-don't smile.

Well done-the finished artesian. THE awe-inspiring month-August. ALWAYS a grave subject—the cemetery.

Nor eggzactly alike-eggs-hits and exits. THE wagon spoke, saying it was tired. A ROUNDABOUT way-the merry-go-round. Sometimes a little hoarsc-the auction-

A RAIN beau—the escort with an umbrella.—N. Y. Mail and Express. Wine is a morgue-er, sometimes .- Texas

A car show ought to be held in a mew ROUGH on the old man-his wrinkles .-

A MINER'S pocket change is always in close quarters.—Texas Siftings.

LIFE in Chicago-money, ceremony, ali-ALL men are created equal-particularly

The sheet of spray is hemmed by the An indiscreet man is an unsealed letter. -Chamfort.

A PAPER containing many fine points-a paper of needles. Dyspersia is merely an aggravated form of injure-gestion.

For every cent a man has he has two cents' worth of desire, -Ex.

THE bootblack's anxious query-"rain or shine,"-Puck. WHEN an Arab fails to make a raise any-

Ir is often impossible to distinguish silence from wisdom because they are frequently the same thing.—Dallas News.

Mone diseases are produced by using brown and perfumed soaps than by any thing else. Why run such terrible risks when you know Dobbins' Electric Soap is pure and perfect. Dobbins' prevents hands from chapping.

WHEN the pedagogue whales the urchins it is but natural that they should blubber .— Richmond Recorder. My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you kno Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her.

why not be fair about it and buy her a box? Is men wore their hair as long as the women do it would not last a week after the wedding.—Dallas (Tex.) News.

PARCHED earth is not good for the growth of parched corn.—N. O. Picayune.

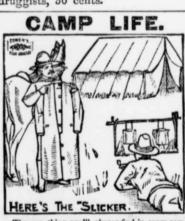

Are unlike all other pills. No purging or pain. Act specially on the liver and bile. Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose. No mouse has ever caught a woman yet. Why all this trepedition?—Dallas News. KEEP the porce open is essential to health. Glenn's Sulphur Soap does this. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. A CRANK is a man who pursues a different

Copyright, 1890.

All on one sidethe offer that's made by the pro-prietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's $500 reward for an ing. They mean what they say; they're responsible, and the offer cured as if by magic. It removes offensive breath, loss or impairment of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, watering or weak eyes, and impaired memory, when caused by the violence of Catarrh, as they all frequently are. Remedy sold by druggists, 50 cents.

The one thing you'll always find in every cowboy's outit when he goes on the spring round-up is a "Fish Brand" Pommel Slicker. They make the only perfect saddle coat, and come either black or yellow. They protect the whole front of the rider's body, being made to fit round the outside of the saddle entire. When used sa walking coat, the extension pieces neatly overlap each other, making a regular overcoat with a double stormproof front. When riding, the saddle is dry as a bone, from pommel to cantle, and the rider is entirely protected in every part of his body. These "Slickers," being of extra width, make fine blankets for camp. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.

A. J. TOWER, . Boston, Mass.

To enjoy health one should have reg-ular evacuations every twen y four hours. The evils, both mental and physical, resulting from HABITUAL CONSTIPATION are many and serious. For the cure of this common trouble, Tutt's Liver Pills have gained a popularity unpar-alleled. Elegantly sugar coated.

SOLD EVERYWHERE. PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS THE THE PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS Soldiers, Wigows, Parents send for BLANK APPLICATIONS AND INFORMATION, PATRICK DY FAR RELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C. SAMETHIS PAPER every time you write.

WAT STRONG, ATTORNEY
250 Main Street, MEMPHIS, TENN.
157 LARGE RODIES OF THEFER LAND FOR SALE. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.
252 MAY THE PAPER very time you wish.

PENSION JOHNW. MORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS. Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau-synth agr war. in adjunctating claims, atty silices of Name Tills Parks everythes yet with. ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO., Palnied Post, N. Y. CATALOGUE FREE.

5 PER DAY Selling Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom, Sleeve, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Holders. Terms free. FERGUSON BROS., CHESTER, CONN. 657ARE THIS PAPER every time yes with.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minnespolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafavette, and Council Bluffs, St. travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St.
Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.
For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address E. ST. JOHN. CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BE UP TO THE MARK

Not to Split! Not to Discolor!

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass. NOTICE
AUTOGRAPH

OF

HAPTSHOE

HAPTSHOE

HAPTSHOE

NOTICE

ASSESSED

HAPTSHOE

HAPTSH HARTSHORN'S SHADEROLLERS

MONEY SAVED. 20%

BINGHAMTON N. Y. THE FREIGHT Beam Box Tare Beam Sond for Tarms

YOUR FEET Can be easily and perma notify reduced in size one package of all the permanents of the perm

FARMS 16,000 Arres selected. Haps, etc., FREE. EDUCATIONAL.

UNION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago. Fall Term be PLACE in America to get a Bus

FARMING REGIONS WEST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST. For particulars call on your Ticket Agent or address P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agt., C. B. & Q. R. R., Chicago.

nach, Duliness, Dislike to Exertion or Head and Palpitation indicate INDICESTION, ursor and Harbinger of DYSPEPSIA. DOCT, BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES women in the U. S. A. over the control of the contr $75.00to$250.00 A MONTH can be made PENSIONS New LAW CLAIMS. Attorneys, 1419 F Street, Washington, D. C. BRANCH OFFICES-Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago. ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma CURE address. Will mail varas CURED never failt, and us your COLLINS BROTHERS DRIG CO., ST. LOUIS, RO. FREE SEPNARE THIS DATES every time you write.

PATENTS FOR INVENTORS, 40-pages ROOK FREE, AddressBONK FREE, AddressW. T. Fluster-sid, Attempts at Law, Washington, D. C.

A. N. K.—C. 1807. THEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

An Adventure With Man-Eaters in the Gulf Stream. Capt. Joe Holland is one of the veterans of Lake Worth, Fia., and here is his latest fishing adventure while on his last trip from the Bermudas a few weeks ago. The Captain's pet boat is a small sloop, and stalwart mulatto and a pet monkey. The latter had been taught to haul ropes and do many other things of avail.

sail, the Captain began practicing on by means of sweeps, &c., to get out the sharks with his rifle, while Em. of this dangerous neighborhood. anuel, the mulatto, tried his skill Several hours later a breeze sprung with an old fish harpoon. The Cap- up and wafted the boat away from tain finally wounded one, and the the crowd of sharks, that kept up began to flow, and a terrible commo- by the Captain. huge ugly creatures, plunged around about the vessel striking at the Louis Globe-Democrat. wounded ones and taking great pieces out of their sides. In all, over forty big sharks were engaged in the scrimmage, and the commotion was terrible. The Captain and Emmanuel were both afraid that this would do them damage, as every once in a while a resounding thud on the boat's bottom would show that the ravenous creatures cared little for such a vessel as theirs. All of a sudden a big fifteen-foot wounded shark rose a short distance off, with another, double his size, in pursuit. He rushed on and in a jiffy had sprung right into the boat. It is hard to say who was the most surprised. chattering with fright, while Emanuel sought safety on the bowsprit. around in the boat, the sides being Just high enough to prevent their getting over again. The boat rocked cabin door.

near the door, he brought it down trical. Up went the flukes with a the ocean, just catching the rudder- jeopardy. Climbing over the coal I suppose ?" and gave the address, post as he fell. Emanuel thought we found the cab full of steam, and which the boy awkwardly scrawled and he halloed outright in his fright. | side of the engine. The Captain's voice, somewhat and the brave fellow ran nimbly down the side of the boat, jumping running wild.' over one of the sharks, and, on reaching the stern, helped the Captain up from his perilous position.

they started for the sharks again. was begun. Blow after blow was landed on the tough hides of the not one would doubt his word. St. plunging monsters, while they Joe was in sight. Would the track thrashed about in the most lively be clear? Only three miles to Garmanner, the little boat creaking in rett, with its network of tracks, every timber from the shock. Final- switches and spurs. The steamly Joco came running down the shrouds to take a hand in the fight. There were no hopes of the engine creeping up to one of the sharks With presence of mind the foreman brought it down with stunning effect dashed off a few words : on the man-eater's head. The huge fish jumped at him with open mouth rett to clear track.' but the nimble monkey jumped out of the way and came back with serious predicament the Captain and his ally could hardly keep from a 'call,' as we learned afterward. men rained blows upon them.

colored for a considerable distance. track was clear. Over a dozen bodies floated to the dharks. big knife that he always had in his ascent and slid up about 100 feet and forward, fortunately carrying him flew around; sparks came from behis astonishment the Captain flung wheel. Gradually the engine slid his crew consists of himself and a forward another rope, which Emandown, the wheels still in the forward back, Emanuel took the rope with a out. We all suffered a severe shock firm grip and jumped for the boat. to our nervous system, but had it not that kind, When out from the is. Several of the monsters plunged at lands on their last trip and in the him as he fell among them, but by Gulf Stream they encountered a some strange good luck they missed school of sharks. The Captain, it him and the Captain hauled him on appears, tried every way to get rid board, one shark just nipping off a of his unwelcome visitors, but of no bit of his heel as he was hauled over the side. This decided the Captain While proceeding along under easy on the shark question, and they tried whole school turned on it as its blood | their fight as far as could be observed

tion began near the yessel. To add | Capt, Holland says this was the to the confusion, Emanuel struck a worst experience he ever had with big one, too, and its frantic struggles, these sea fighters, and he hoped that coupled with the streams of blood it would be the last. The sides of which flowed from its wounds, soon his boat show plainly where great brought up all the man-eaters within pieces were bitten out by the sharks, a mile, as the Captain said. The and the effects of their tail blows on the deck are plainly to be seen .- St.

Saved By An Oiled Track. road man on the Missguri Pacific had suffered. little to do, and made the, railroad and buttoned each carefully. yards my loafing headquaters. At This done he entered one of the that time the 'Billy-O' had an ar- little shops where the poor buy fer all New York freight at Auburn other commodities. east of us. This was done by the old looking lad behind the counter, "do the sharks or the Captain and his switch engine, the 642, which made you sell soap?" crew. The monkey flew up the mart two trips to the Junction daily. Well, one day I climbed aboard a boxcar when the engine left with a few and the Captain jumped into the cars of merchandise to transfer. "This and this, and here's another, cabin. The two big fish floundered There were six of us in the party- said the boy, putting before Bismarck four variance, another follow and a varity of strong-scented cakes. myself. We had a jolly time going down; made the transfer and were diplomatist asked, handling one of to and fro frightfully as the huge to come back 'light,' that is with the cakes; "and how much this?" sharks kicked about, and Capt. Joe nothing but the engine. We had all fumbling with another. A piece says he expected to go to Davy crowded on the tender, the signal was selected, when Bismark, as if sud-Jones's locker at any moment. The was given, and Gent Potder, the en- denly reccollecting himself, plunged sharks both lay with their heads to- gineer threw bimself forward, pulled his hand into a breast pocket and ward the bow and their tails near the at throttle yalve, and the engine drew out an enclosed letter. App arjumped forward as If shot from a cat- ently annoyed at his own forgetful-Venturing forth after a while the apult. We did not think much of ness, he cried, "Do you sell envel-Captain seized an axe, and, standing this at the time, as Gent was a fine opes, boy? bring them out !" engineer, and handled the engine to Envelops-wretched things-were with all his might upon the tail of suit his fancy. We were tearing produced, the letter placed in one, the big fellow. The effect was electover the railroad crossings and frogs and Bismarck began to address it in a manner that was frightful, The But with a thick glove on and tightly tremendous whisk, and, while the ax | tender rocked as if on hinges. Some | buttoned up, this was not easy to dowent out to sea a dozen rods, the thing must be wrong, we thought, So he flung down the pen impatiently

"'Jump, boys,' said they; 'jump,

"To jump would have been death. As one of the boys said afterwards, the telepraph poles looked like fine-After the skipper had recovered tooth comb. The mile posts flew by with unseemly rapidity. The yard gauge registered ninety pounds, tory.

"'Engine wild. Telegraph Gar-

"This he dropped as we passed! St. Joe, and the operator, clear to comanother blow. Notwithstanding their prehend the situation, sent it to the despatchers on the east end, without langhing at the spectacle, But the There was Garrett in sight, with its timore and Ohio R. R. Co, will place most serious part of the fight was tall chimneys belching forth smoke; over, and the vicious-looking sea-tig. there were the yards filled with for the round trip to these points at ers lay gasping out their lives as the frieght cars and engines. As we got closer we could see men running All this while the monsters out- hither and thither. The other yard return until Sept, 25 inclusive. Octside the boat kept up their warfare engine was rushing madly to the 16 to 24 inclusive good to return unon each other, and the sea was blood | west end of the yard, The main | 111 Oct. 25th inclusive, for rates

We passed the depot like a pursued surface, some half eaten and others victim. Pale faces watched us in our with many gaping wounds in their mad flight. We passed the railroad sides. The two on deck were finally | shops, and hundreds came running to killed, and they were thrown over see the cause of the commotion. The board. The deck was slippery from engine was in a quiver, the bell was their blood, and as Emanuel stood ringing wildly with every sway of by the gunwale a sudden lurch threw | the engine, the escaping steam whishim over. A hoarse cry and in he tled as if demented, and fire blazed went, right among the sharks, now from the hot-boxes. Then we saw furious with their bloody feast. The something which made us think we Captain rushed up and threw s rope, were doomed. The switch in the but Erganuel was nowhere to be seen. | coal chute was open, and the long Soon a commotion was observed some ascent could only end in our destructwenty feet away, and his head shot tion. We looked again, saw men suddenly from the water and he shot working on the track, and then we up in sight riding astride one of the knew we were saved. What were they doing? Why, bless my soul, Emanuel was blue with fright, but those fellows were oiling the the he jabbed his queer steed with his track of the chute. We struck the beit, and the victous monster plunged then old 642 stood still and the wheels nearer the boat. Recovering from neath them like from an emery uel caught. Rising up on the shark's motion, and thus the engine died been for the presence of mind of the master mechanic, who ordered the oil poured on the chute track, 1 might not have been here to-day,"

"How fast did you go?" "Well, the first six miles were made in less than five minutes; the last three were made in much slower time, as the steam was exhausting itself rapidly .- St. Louis Globe Dem.

Throwing Off The Scent. When Bismarck represented Prussia in the Diet at Frankfort, says a writer in the New Review, he strongly suspected that his letters and dispatches were tampered with in the interest of Austrian diplomacy. last he discovered a remedy, the in- LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH genuity and perfect detail of which is illustrative of his way of doing things.

On one occasion, after a stormy meeting, he and an officer of the Hanoverian embassy walked away together, and as they walked, spoke "Talk about fast time" said a rail- of this grievance from which they train the other day to his companion, Presently the Hanoverian re-"but I have never heard of a trip marked that Bismarck led the way that would beat one I made myself out of the more fashionable quarter some years ago, nor of any half so of the town into dingy and yet more exciting. I formely lived at Garrett, dingy by-ways. As they entered a Ind., the terminus of the central di- particular dirty street Bismarck drew vision of the Chicago division of the out his gloves, which usually re-Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. I had mained in his pocket, drew them on rangement with the Wabash to trans- cheese, pickles, fish, lamp oil and Junction, nine miles distant, to the "Boy," said Bismarck to a duly

"Yes, sir."

"What soap ? What sorts have you got ?"

"Well how rough is this?" the Coptain was whirled backward into as Gent was placing our lives in and said, "Here boy; you can write that the Captain had gone for good, Gent and the fireman hanging at the upon it. Then Bismarck took the letter and left the shop.

"Now," said he to his friend, when choked with sea-water, reassured him for God's sake! The throttle-valve is they had passed outside, as he put pulled clear out and the engine is the letter to his nose, "what with the soap, the herring, the candles and the cheese, I don't think they'll smell my despath under that!"

Excursions to Historic Battlefield A series of special excursions to the Battlefields of Cedar Creek, (Middle-With an adze and the rifle warfare foreman claimed that a mile was town,) Winchester and Harper's covered in thirty-eight seconds, and Ferry, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic are announced for Sept. 16, and October 16, 1890, affording a rare opportunity to visit the Historic Ground where the contending hosts struggled for vic-

Tickets for these excursions will He picked up a belaying pin, and dying out in five or six minutes. be sold from all ticket stations on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. east of the Ohio River at one fare for the round trip on Sept. 5 and 16, and bistricts on the days Oct. 15 and 16, 1890, valid for reinfu Election District No. 1, at Swanton. ourney ten days including day of

For the accommodation of those desiring to visit the Battlefields of Antietam and Gettysburg, the Balon sale excursion tickets at one fare Harper's Ferry and Weverton, to be sold Sept. 16 to 24 inclusive good to and time of trains call or on or address Agents B, & O. R. R.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion & Debility.

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, urns. Bruises, Colic Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and

Frangipan Curative alm. Indispen-You will find the above at A. G. turgter

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

CURED BY ENSTANT ERLIEF FOR ALL RIEBMATIO PAINS. SURE CURE for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatic Sold by druggista everywhere, or by mail

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier.

A General Banking business transacted. Prompt attention to collections. 112'89.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Biemishes from Horses, Biood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Thronts, Coughs, etc. Save 550 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most won-ITCH. MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on hun or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF

AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. Orders for Lumber and anything in my line solicited and promptly filled. WM. A. LORAW. 25 1 vr

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. SALE.

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

or and others, ese lands will be sold CHEAPand on the T FAVORABLE TELMS: One fourth balance a three or four cual-nts, with interest and security tetion of the owner.

For further information apply to. JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

Registration Notice. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER STATEMENTS. SITTINGS, 1890.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the

15th, 16th and 17th Days of SEPTEMBER.

and for four successive days in the month of October, commencing with and including the first Monday of October, that is to say, on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER.

In the year 1890, from the hour of 8 o'clock a. m., until 8 o'clock p. m. on each of said days for the purpose of ascertaining and registering in the proper registries of voters the persons qualified to vote in their respective Election Districts who shall present themselves for registration, and for the further purpose of revising and correcting the registries of voters of their said respective Election Districts and the striking therefrom the names of all voters entered therein who shall have died or become for any reason disqualified, or who for any cause shall have ceased to be entitled to remain on said registries of voters.

And on the Monday next succeeding the And on the Monday next succeeding the econd Monday in October, that is to say, or

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER, in said year 1890, from the hour of 8 o'clock

2, at his residence September sitting and in October at store of L. E. Friend, at Friendsville. 3, at Grantsville. 4, Sept. 15 at Franklin Mines, all other days at Bloomington. 5, at Accident, 6, at McHenry. 7, at Oakland. 8, September at Elkins. "8, September at Elkins, October at Red House.

9, at Johnsons.

10, at Deer Park.

11, at Gregg's Mill,

12, at Biddinger. All naturalized citizens applying for regis-ration will be required to produce their ec-licates of naturalization to the Officers of

Signed, H. O. HAMILL. Officer of Registr R. E. FRIEND,
Officer of Registration 2d Election District, ISAIAH FULLER, Officer of Registration 3d Election District,

JOHN COLLINS, Officer of Registration 4th Election District, HENRY F. LININGER, Cfficer of Registration 5th Election District, N. C. BROWNING, Officer of Registration 6th Election District, P. A. CHISHOLM, Officer of Registration 7th Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER, SAMUEL JOHNSON, Officer of Registration 9th Election District, SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH, Officer of Registration 10th Election District JOSEPH BUCKLE, Officer of Registration 12th Election Distric

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS. Having used the above Fertilizers for about article, which can be depended upon to be a epresented. represented.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of he different grades. Please write for prices nd terms. nd terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegtable Plants in the proper season.

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express.

Address Box 57, Oakland, Md.

J. F. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

SHIEGLES A SPECIALTY Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a "HINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 1y Cranesville, W. Va

WEDDING INVITATIONS

pre ared to print at snort notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most arristic designs, at prices that dery competi-tion. Call and learn prices before placing your order

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT MOTICE.

PROGRAMMES. CIRCULARS,

CARDS. LETTER AND

BILL NEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make a specifity of printing and padding note, letter and bill heads.

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

Call and see our speci-mens of all kinds of work if you need anything in our line, Orders by mail promptly attended to.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE.

FERNLEIGH MANOR IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS.

Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

Scenery Unsurpassed. JOHN B. DEAKINS,

Proprietor. FAVORITE SINGER Warranted for Five Years. LOW ARM ONLY

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Drep Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ringe, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers

Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PIAMOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going eisewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I bandle. This is no idle boast but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask.

ask.
I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stoois, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reas-onable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line, Place of business-Railroad street, next to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. J. M. LITZINGER,

Oakland, Md.

D. E. BOLDEN M. SPEDDEN. WEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS,

OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. &O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890; GOING EAST

GOING WEST.

The fast trains, with the excer tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD,

General Passenger Agent. ARE YOU IN WANT?

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers'

Hardware

Association, (LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER, HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The west Endor-Wing-and-Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necosary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable oom for two horses, and carriage house. There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, connected with the premises. Apply to

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL AT LAW ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY.
OFFICE ON ALDER STREET,
Particular attention given to Conveyancing
avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeti-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Via.

23-Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Values, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on comonica, Nydegger building, Main St., above

WARING THOMAS. THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. 88 10 6

w. VEITCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals at Maryland.

29 Office in the Court House.
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER, AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Mid., and offers his services to those wishing Md., and offers his services to those wishin Deutal Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. 表表 Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 3, 1833.-19・

H. W. M°COMAS. M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD.,

es his professional services to the peop 45 Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and flith streets, two R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Mr. I. H. MEWINGH, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

**Board Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

ANDREW J. HARRE. AUCTIONEER: Will sell Real or Personal Properly. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY. Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promtly done.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are created a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 230 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas mable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling bouses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies, 3.154f

F. A. THAYER. F. A. THAYER. 3 15 tf

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newels, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates. 43-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY

orized to sell a farm of 250 acre I am authorized to see it a faith atted on the Oakhand and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakhand, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veies of Cont, one vein being 6 feet, sneither 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling the provided in the control of the control barn and other outbuildings. Also orchard, and a young orchard just bearing.

we'l watered, and is in every estrable property. One bundred ive acres of valuable timber.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, 1589 Republican office, Oaklard, Md.

> JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM SALTIMORE,

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAN Of 13314 acres, situated 7 miles North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-

THOMAS & SINCELL. Attachers for Owner

ar fee not due till patent i ik, "How to Obtain Patents," with re

C. A. SNOW & CO.. Opposite Patent Office, Washington D. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md.

Office 39 Ealtimore Street. JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.

AND PROPRIETOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding,

Stair Building, and General Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-

& - Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890 6 21 iy.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

Si uated about 21/4 miles from

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT. Fairment, W. Va.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming baid; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.
"Some time ago my wife's hair began to "Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."— 11. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of train fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists. eyerni articles recommended by druggists and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think l growth of hair in a few weeks. I think used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of

Ayer's Heir Vigor PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists and Perfamers

VALUABLE

FOR SALE. I am authorized to sell the valuable stoel fam authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE. Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings

The will be my aim to turn out only first class work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE:

Situated about 21/2 miles south of Oakland FRAME HOUSE. taining five rooms and a cellar, nicely nted and plastered; a good frame barn lall necessary out-buildings, he land is heavily I med and an abuntruce of time stone is on the place. Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre

For terms &c., appl THOMAS & SINCELL,

THE MUSIC MAN

BY IRENE IRAN.

Aunt Betsy," said Delia Gray, n I go over to the Drew place to ing school to-night?" o, you can't, and there's an end " said Aunt Betsy Blanchford. tting away as if her needles were de of sheet lightning and her el-worked by electricity. elia looked sober enough, She a tail, fresh-complexioned girl of ir 18, with large brown eyes, a ding rings of chestnut hair, and a and she ought to do so." et red mouth, always ready to ak into gracious smiles, ing soft soap, and finished off the family ironing, but her labors had was to come.

It is more than littly that Aunt Betsy knew all this, but she sat there like a determined Fate in a brown calico gown and fluted cap frills. Aunt Betry was the autocrat of Redberry farm. She owned the house and the strrounding acres and the quartz mill by the river, and Delia, although by courtesy called niece, was in reality only a distant relative who, if not taken in and brought up ; by old Mrs. Blachford, would have been turned over to the tender mercies of the town poor house.

the old woman, "and a spry worker, as eyer was. But I don't believe in kitches carpet."

me at half past seven, and he will see me safely home sfterward."

Aunt Betsy.

tears that blurred her vision at these the rain. crael words. dress so neatly, and my laces are all way ?" done up, Oh, Aun't Betsy! I'd work "I've a parlor organ here," said Aunt Betsy wheeled herself round Miss Nugent." n her chair and eyed Deha sharply high silver-bowed spectacles.

"Well, well, go if you want to," said she tartly,"the ugh all this music guilty of next." is nothin' but clear waste o' time. Iu my young days if we could join into the psalm tunes in church it was all Wayte, with his most ingratiatory folks expected of us."

"Everybody plays and sings nowadays," ventured Delia, whose loftiest and brightest aspiration was for a melodeon or a cheap parlor organ of her own.

"Hump !" commented Aunt Betwash board and sing calling nome the cows. That's the sort o' music There was a man came by with one supper laid, for himself, and on the that pays!"

question. Consent to go to singing school was sufficient of a victory for the present time, past seven she was ready, in the stiff ble air and manner of this chance the house dark as a pocket, and very rustling pink dress, the freshly ironed Visitor. "There's the spare bed- little in the way of edibles—everygloves over frilled wristiets that were that you're welcome to."

entirely new. "Aunt Betsy thinks that music is useless and nonsensical, and she won't house-room I should like to play a singing school, she says."

you at Dr. Bartiett's."

"Does she know that people some- young man, you may put it up if it voice. times earn their living by the aid of ain't too much trouble."

music?" persisted Wayte. "She don't believe it." Delia! Nay, more than a taste-a lent doughnuts and drank a glass of uccided talent. Oh! we must not cider, and then cheered both in mind d-d. I've gone on a big drunk.' let the thing drop. You must have and body, he applied bimself to bus- "And the story goes that he told a melodeon-it won't cost much to mess and soon got the melodeon up the truth. Any way he didn't aphire one by the quarter-and go on in the little sitting room.

with your lessons," Delia shook her head,

"I'll see about that," said Marcus ter-hand. Wayte. "My cousin is in the busi- He played "Rock of Ages," ness. I'll send him to see your "Shining Shore,""Bruce's Address."

shoulders. "Ah! you don't know Aun't Betsy," said she. Mr. Ives Wayte listened with the his cousin, the school-master. "Got afreal talent for music, eh?" said he.

"A most decided one," "And poor ?"

head surrounded by naturally only she chose to spend it in this way; mister ?" "Plenty of money and plenty of prejudice, eh ?" head-pondered. had worked hard all day mak "That's it, exactly," said Marcus, smilling.

"Very well. I'll promise to do the the evening at "singing school" that For," added Mr. Ives Wayte, with a genial twinkle of the eye, "I see your heart is in the business."

"It is" frankly confess Marcus, "for if Delia Grey could be qualified to money's my own, I guess, to do as give music lessons we might be mar- I'm a mind to!" half defiantly. ried and take the Weirsell's Acade. "And I will! I say Mr. Musicman, my at once-a day and boarding you leave that melodeon just there school, don't you see? And she is the dearest little thing."

Mr. Iyes Wayte langhed. "It is as good as done, Mark,"

said he. ward the close of that dreariest month | The instrument is here. That counts "Delia's a good girl enough," said of the year,-the sad November- for something." when there came a rap at Mrs. "It's proper sightly," said Mrs. Blanchford's door. She was all alone, Blachford. "Delia has been a good, Thomas Bates, the hired man, had hard workin' girl. Play that last hood the hull time. They're a deal gone to see his brother off on the tune over again, Mr. Musicmanbetter at home sewin' on their quitt steamer for Florida, where he was she's comin up the path now. I patch-work or cutin' rags for a new intending to start an orange orchard. heard the gate latch creak." Detia Gray had been summoned to "Am I dreaming?" she cried the pedside of a sick neighbor, where "Wint is this? How came it here! Aunt Betsy," said poor Delia, her dimpled face falling like the barometer before a storm. "He's to call for one of whom she entertained the beaming eyes. "Come here and kiss > traveler on the threshold. "Is Mrs. Nugent's place near here?" See if we don't!"

"Bless your heart, no!" said Mrs. cus Wayte great joy.
There's to be a dance out in the Blachford. "It's nine good miles to Little M There's to be a dance out in the Blachford. "It's nine good miles to Little Miss Barton welcomed the her place, away on the other road. news of a new scholar with heartfeit add, and I ironed my pink calico However came you to take this thankfulness-and Aunt Betsey went of the week if you would let me go this once to singing school."

the music man, glancing backward at the dim outlines of a wagon in the road, "that I was to deliver to Delia been a good, dutiful colors."

on a new joy every few minutes, "It's something to get ahead of Matildy Nugent," said she, "And the road, "that I was to deliver to Delia been a good, dutiful colors."

"Guess vou'll hardly deliver it tothrough the moon-like glasses of ner night," said Aunt Betsy. "A parlor organ, ch ? For Matilda Nugent? "you ought to have a daplomatic ap-Weil, I wonder what foily she'll be pointment."
"It pays better to be an agent,"

"Would you kindly allow me to put it in here?" asked Mr. Ives

"What! In all the rain?" "On, it's safely packed in rubber wrappings. It won't injure this nice, new carpet," said the bland traveler, was holding revivals down at Farwell "that reminds me of one my mother | Hall, and it's just leaked out. My just finished up in Nantucket."

in plum time with a monkey at the table was this note: Delia sighed and abandoned the end of a long string"-"Oh! this is quite a different af- over at Mr. Brown's I've gone to fair," winced the music man. "If I hear Sam Jones," could sleep to-night in your barn"- "Well, this wasn't very pleasant, laces and a little pair of brown cotton room that opens out of the kitchen thing stone cold. He was naturally "Many thanks, madam," bowed language to himself, but still said "But it's the last time," she sighed. the agent. "As I was about to re-

"Oh, Delia!—and those lessons on "Well," said Aunt Betsy, who friend, it was more than he could euthe melodeon that I have been giving never objected to a treat which she dure. But the climax was capped could get for nothing. "it would be by this note that he found on the "They will all be of no use," said rather a joke for me to hear Matilda dining-room table : Delia, with a little tremot in her Nugent's organ afore she heard it where the children are. I've gone to herself, wouldn't it, now? I guess, hear Sam Jones.'

fore the fire. He refreshed himself tions, and inscribed the following to "And you have such a taste for it, with a plate of Aunt Betsy's excel- his wife:

Blachford, viewing it meditatively. "it will be impossible," said she Mr. Wayte sat down before the instrument and touched it with a mas-

"Killarnev," and a few such song-

Delia shrugged her pink calicoed worn veterans of melody. "Kin you play 'Old Rosin the Bow?' suddenly demanded Aunt "Well," smiled Marcus, "we will Betsy, with something like tears in her eyes.

"I think I can," said Mr. Ives most earnest interest to the tale of Wayte, and he evoked the sadly sweet chords of the old time lay with "erescendo" and "diminuendo," like the wail of a human voice. "Seems' most like was speakin," said Mrs. Blachford, "I never "She is," answered Marcus. "But knowed their wasso much in the par-the old lady has plenty of money, if lor organs. Be they very costly. Mr. Ives Wayte named the price, Aunt Betsey hesitated-shook her

"It seems a good deal o' money," saldshe, "But arter all, what's money? And Delia, she's dreadful fond been cheered by the anticipation of best I can - to oblige you, Mark. o' music. I'm most certain she could learn to play that there instrument. and it sort o' sounds nice to hear them old-fashioned tunes that folks used to sing when I was a gal! My where it stands, and cart up another for Matildy Nugent, I'll take it, and pay you cash down for it," said Mrs, Blachford, "There now!" "Well," said he, "since you desire It was a dreary, rainy night to- it, I think it might be managed.

least fear, so she got up and went to me! And I'll hire Miss Barton to "Well, let him go away again, said the door. There stood a dripping give you music lessons—and we'll take solid comfort out o' this 'ere!

of the knitting needles through the said he, taking off his cap in spite of The music man pocketed a roll of cus Wayte heard, the tidings with

Evening Belis" and wiping the dust off a new joy every few minutes. as done?" said Ives Wayte to his cousin when next they met.

"I think," said Marcus, laughing, observed the music man composedly.

Human Nature. "There's a pretty good story they tell about a friend of mine," remarked one of a coterie of gentlemen

the other day. "It happened while Sam Jones friend's wife became greatly inter-"Yes, said she, "you may fetch it ested in the meetings, and one night sy, "they'd a deal better play on the wash board and sing calling home in. I never seen a parlor organ. when he got home he found a cold

" 'DEAR JOHN: The children are

"You needn't do that," said Aunt but he ate the cold viands and said lage pedagogue, called for her at half Betsy, quite propitiated by the hum- nothing. The next night he found have me fooling away my time at few airs for you on this instrument, third night a dark, cheerless house just to show its tone and compass." and no supper at all greeted my

> "This did settle it. He swore both loud and long, raved, turned the The music man dried himself be- chairs and table in unnatural posi-

> > "'DEAR MARY: Sam Jones be

"'DEAR JOHN: I don't know pear at home for ten days, and by "It ain't bad-lookin'," said Mrs. that time Sam Jones had departed."

Needing a tonic, or children who want build-ing up, should take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, Indi-restion, Biliousness and Liver Complaints.

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE OLD FARM HOME.

if you've been a happy rover
Through the fields of fragrant clover,
Where life is all a simple round of bliss,
When at eve the sun is sinking
And the stars are faintly winking
You can call to mind a picture such as this,

Hark! The cows are homeward roaming Through the woodland pasture's gloaming, I can hear them gently lowing through the And from out the bosky dingle Comes the softly tangled jingle and the oft-repeated echo of the bells,

Strange how memory will fling her Arms about some scenes we bring her, And the fleeting years but make them strong

Though I wander far and sadly From that dear old home, how gladly frecall the cherished scenes of long ago. Hark! The cows are homeward roaming Through the woodland pasture's gloaming t can hear them gently lowing through th

And from out the bosky dingle

THE TWO GHOSTS.

Comes the softly-tangled jingle
And the oft-repeated echo of the bells.

—Chicago Post.

How Fred Got a Home by Means of Two Apparitions.

In the fall of 1866 I was living in Philadelphia, occupying bachelor's quarters; but congratulating myself upon the fact that my boarding-house existence would soon be changed into living in a home. The partner of my joys, who was to occupy that home with me, was a young lady born in the city of Penn, whom it is not necessary to describe, as she is now looking over my shoulder at the lines I am writing. We were to be married the day after Christmas, and the wedding was to be a double one, for my old friend, Fred Doolittle, was to marry the sister of my Ella.

Where was the home to be located? This was the question I was trying to answer at the time of which I am writing. I did not want to rent. I wanted the home to be our home by title as well as by occupancy. I had a few dows. thousands of dollars, but not enough to for Sale," but saw nothing I thought would suit us, until one Friday I read a glowing description of the very place we wanted-only the house was larger ment referred for further particulars to Mr. Smalls, on Walnut street, near Fourth. I at once went to Mr. Smalls' office and learned he had gone out a few minutes before I called. I made my business known to a tall clerk in charge. who seemed to smile when I mentioned the house, and said: "I am very sorry, but Mr. Smalls has gone out to show a house to a customer, and the keys to the house you want to see are in the bunch with the ones he has taken."

"I want to see the house to-day, if possible," I answered. "A train will start in an hour and I would like to go

"If you are very anxious," replied street, almost on your way to the station. I got the owner's name and address, and entering the first passing car rode ing the bell at the proper number, was branches still shone. What was it? house soon entered. When I stated my would like the house?"

"If it is according to the description, I think I will," I answered. "Have you heard any thing about it?" "Nothing but what the paper says."

has the name of being haunted." I didn't like the idea of living in a haunted house, for I wanted to enjoy my wife's society without ghostly inspirits, and accounted for all the socalled manifestations on the theory of that the house was haunted, I at once answered: "I don't believe it." "All right," said the gentleman. "Here are the keys. You may go and sleep a night or two in the house if you the other on the third floor. Take your | bells rang.

I didn't hesitate, and took the keys.

o'clock, but on account of a delay, feet further on, which was perfectly dark. There was nothing suspiciouslooking about the place, and I at once went to the back door and inserted the key, which did not appear to fit the other an upper window, immediately over my head, was opened and a white figure appeared. I stepped back, and drawing a revolver, said: "You needn't play ghost with me. Come down here or I'll fire."

The answer was a scream, unearthly but not ghostly, sounding very much as if it came from the throat of a mortal woman. The scream was followed by the opening of two other windows, and two more white figures appeared. I thought it was a very good night for ghosts; when it occurred to me that I might have made a mistake, particu larly when one of the figures leveled a gun over the window-sill and asked 'What do you want?"

"Isn't this Mr. Pinkney's house?" said. "No, it is not," answered the holder of the gun.

"Then I have made a mistake," I sug-"I think you have," said the third figure, with a male voice.

"Can you direct me to Mr. Pinkney" ouse?" I asked. "It is there to your right," said the one with the gun. "I thought his house was vacant, and I saw a light there as I passed," was my "You will find plenty of things there besides lights," replied the same voice. "Are there ghosts there?" I asked. "Go there and you will find out," said the female voice. "Are you thinking of buying?" asked the one with the gun. "Yes," I said.

"You are welcome to it, for I wouldn't stay in the house an hour for it," was the answer, and down went the win-

I started toward the haunted house buy in the city, in a good neighborhood. The light worried me, for I had surely We-that is, Ella and I-had talked the seen one. But what do ghosts want matter over, and concluded we could be with lights? I asked myself, and convery happy in a modest home with a cluded I must have made a mistake. couple of acres of ground attached, and Before entering I took the precaution to not more than an hour's ride by cars walk entirely around the house, but from the city. Every day for several | could see no light or any thing else susweeks I looked for such a place. I read picious. The key fitted the lock and I of the stepped into the hall and listened. Not Ledger under the head of "Real Estate | a sound was heard or the sign of a ghost to be seen. I lighted a candle and looked about. A feeling of loneliness came over me and I wished for company. There seemed to be a great many than necessary-and I was greatly sur- dark corners, and as I turned my eyes prised at its cheapness. The advertise- up the stairway I appeared to be looking from the bottom of a deep well. I ascended the stairs, trying to make no noise, but there was not a silent board to tread on, and a creak which startled me was given out at each sten. I thought I heard a sound, as of the lighting of a match. Then an irresistible impulse seemed to be hurrying me on though the prospect of dark halls and open doorways was not inviting. I said half aloud: "Don't be a fool," and walked bravely into the first room I came to. I closed the door quickly and turned the key.

I put the candle on a table, and my self in a chair, and took a view of the room. It was furnished with a chair, table, bed, a door and window. the clerk, with a very apparent grin, walked to the window and looked "I think you can get the back door key through the panes. The trees, standfrom the owner, who lives out Arch | ing in their own deep shade, were faintly visible, and the nearer ones dimly lighted by the flame of my lone candle As I glanced upward the light was seen among the leaves high above my winout to Twentieth street, and then dow. I moved so as to intercept the walked three squares to Arch, and ring- light from my candle, but the upper shown into a handsomely furnished raised the sash and looked out. There drawing-room, where the owner of the was a window above my head, and com ing from it I could see a faint light. business, he smiled as the clerk had drew in my head to meditate, and disdone, and asked: "Do you think you tinctly heard the window above me open. I closed mine and went to the door to listen. I heard a muffled foot fall on the stairs, and all the stories I had heard of walking ghosts flashed through my mind. "Then I may as well be frank with Step after step the sound came you," he said, "and tell you the house nearer, and I strained my ears to catch of bells was heard through the house.

Why should I fear ghosts? There were noise from below, which sounded as if uable styptic. In addition to these, a no such things, and I felt I was a match for any one who might attempt to play tire house shook. This was followed by article which will answer all purposes The moment a speaker begins to make In fact, I rather prided myself the sound of hurrying feet in the hall may be made for an emergency by cut- what we call phrases, the audience beon my physical development and con-outside of my door, and again all was ting a V-shaped slit in a cork of the gin to smile disdainfully, and to cease gilered I was as brave as the ordinary quiet. I knew I didn't believe in right dimensions to pass over the As some preparation was necessary, my own comfortable bed. I concluded pressed into place by the teeth of the I abandoned the idea of taking the next | the house would never suit Ella. Dur- other jaw, and as it is applied a pledget | Thiers was in the habit of putting his train, and concluded to wait until six | ing the silence I gathered my senses. of lint or similar dressing may propero'clock in the evening. When that I had come to discover the ghosts, ly be fitted to the cavity, though often for permanent record. Taking the hour came I was on the cars, with some which I surely could not do by locking the compress alone will prove effectual. proofs of the nervous, often incomplete matches, candles, and two revolvers in myself in a room; yet I had no great de- It is useful, also, in such cases, to mainmy pockets, and a heavy cudgel in my sire to wander about the house. Was tain an erect position of the patient, hand. If there was any one about the my courage failing me? I couldn't ad- either sitting or standing. Warm foot them into stately periods. house anxious to play ghost I proposed mit it. I determined on a bold step. I baths are also helpful, with friction of to give him the opportunity of being took up my candle and bravely opened the lower limbs, to divert the blood to give him the opportunity of being took up my candle and bravely opened the lower limbs, to divert the blood one in earnest. I had calculated on be-the door. A gust of wind blew out my from the head as much as practicable. French."—Youth's Companion. ing at the haunted house at seven light, the bells rang, and the cry of These directions and suggestions apply, ter of a mile to walk, and after being utes were consumed in finding it looked suspiciously at the cudgel, I and at the moment I placed my hand on started off at a brisk pace, and in less the candle, the blast of a horn sounded placed it on the table. very well. While I was at work with light on the floor above, and it was move the key in one hand and the knob in ing. I stood motionless. The light are roading in perfection peared to be coming near the edge of the In order to present the completest face to face with Fred Doolittle. "Ben!" "Fred!"

'Is that you?" we both asked. "What does this mean?" I inquired.

vestigate the spirits."

ghost," I said. "I think we are two rather substantial ghosts," answered Free, "but-" He was interrupted by the ringing of the bells and the cry of 'Blood!" We oked at each other

"What's that?" I asked "Ghosts sure enough," inswered Fred. "Come," I said, "let us investigate these noises. If they are made by spirits of the departed, I want to know

Down the stairs we went to the roon I had left, and, as we entered, the cry of "Blood!" sounded again in our ears. "There," said Fred, pointing to the mouth of a speaking tube in the wall, "is where the sound came from. Let us go below and examine the other

When we reached the lower hall we plainly saw the front door close and heard a key turn in the lock. Fred opened it again with his key and we stepped out and listened. We heard voices around the corner of the porch, not twenty feet away, and I at once recognized them as belonging to the men who talked to me from the window of the next house. The one who had aimed the gun said: "John, I don't believe he will buy the house.'

"I think not," answered John; "I guess old Pinkey will soon sell it to you at your own price.

"If he don't," said the other, "he won't square out my ten acres, and am going have it. Come, let us raise nore racket, and then we'll go to bed." They turned the corner and ran into our arms. In a second I had John down while Fred had the other man by the throat.

"Who are you?" asked Fred. "Don't choke me," was the answer.

'Let me up." "Not until you tell who you are, and what you are doing here," said Fred, in a determined voice. "I live next door," hoarsely replied the half-choked man. "My name is

Peter Marks." "What are you doing here?" I asked. "Trying to frighten you, so you could not buy the place," answered

John. We thought the premises were rid of ghosts, and concluded to let the men go, which they were very glad to do. The house was not haunted after that I bought it, and am writing these lines within its walls, with my little family about me. Fred bought the Marks property next door at a bargain, for the owners were glad to get rid of it, and leave the neighborhood after C. Fulton, in Chicago Daily News.

EXTRACTING TEETH.

Under Some Conditions. The extraction of teeth is usually acevery noise. Suddenly the loud ringing which ordinarily ceases before the pa- to-morrow. I will read you some pasand the sound of the steps ceased. All this is not the case, or where the you think about it." was silent for a moment, and I began to hemorrhage breaks out afresh when terference. But I was not a believer in think I was foolish in coming to the medical advice is not at hand, it should mous speech-his great impeachment of house. While listening for outside be borne in mind that the first and Napoleon III. and his policy. noises a cold chill took possession of my most natural check is the clotting of simple mental action on the part of the frame at the sound of a voice in the the blood in the cavity, and this should person affected. Besides, thinking it room, seemingly within a few feet of not be disturbed. If it is necessary to ould be sport to show the owner how me. It was a deep muffled voice, and rinse the mouth, let it be done very foolish and unfounded was the belief in measured accents it said: "Blood! carefully, so as not to dislodge the clot, easy, natural, perfectly simple method blood! blood!" I admit I was unnerved. if one is forming. Where this does not My revolver was in my hand, but there occur, the first recourse should be to an was nothing to shoot at. I was about astringent, and tannin is the best of all. to open the door, when I heard the steps If that is not at hand, fine powdered again. I stooped and looked through alum will answer very well, burnt cork There are two chambers pro- the keyhole. Horrors! Idistinctly saw may be sprinkled over the surface, or a vided with beds, one on the second and an eye looking into mine, and again the little ball of spider's web, lightly ones pressed into the wound, may answer the I started back, and stood in the mid- purpose when other means fail, as this dle of the room. There came a loud pest of every housekeeper is an invalghosts, yet I wished I was at home in wounded gum. This may be lightly "Blood!" sounded through the house. I of course, to such occasions as require caused by a derailed freight train, it jumped into my room and closed the treatment in the absence, or awalting was two hours past that time when I door. I was in darkness. My candle the arrival, of the family physician or reached the station. I had but a quar- had fallen to the floor, and several min- the dentist -Good Housekeeping.

ENGLISH RAILROADS.

directed by the station-master, who While I was groping about the floor, The Cars Used by Them Do Not Compare Favorably with American Coaches. Those Americans who go abroad to than four minutes came to a house in the room and apparently within a discover the shortcomings of Europe and which stood among the trees, three rods few inches of my head. My hand to exaggerate their own satisfaction from the road. As I saw a light in one of the windows thought it could not be the house I wanted, and walked to apparent cause for the sound of the light in the road. As I saw a light in one trembled a little as I lighted the candle with every thing American are always and looked about me. There was no apparent cause for the sound of the lengths, French or German railroad. the adjoining dwelling, a few hundred horn. I lighted a second candle and They are half wrong, as bigots usually are; but then, again, they are half Again I opened the door and stepped right. The truest comparison and fairinto the hall, which appeared lighter est statement of the facts concerning than I knew my candle could make it | English and American railroads is that I looked about and saw there was a if they had our cars and we had their > stairway directly over where I was picture to the American reader, let him Then I saw what looked like a shooting or her imagine a summer horse car with star coming toward me, and a candle the sides boarded up-one of those horse fell at my feet. I picked it up. It was like the ordinary candle. Where did it avenue in, with cross seats facing one come from? I was determined to know.

> With hesitating I walked to the landing above. Nothing was to be seen. I went to the door of the room immedicar into three or four boxes. Then put ately above the one I had left and list a window at each end of each seat, and going into the apartments of the lodgened. The door opened and I stood a door at each end of each passage. The window must be tight and immovable, but there must be a sliding window in every door, to hoist up and down by means of a broad leather strap, worn black and soft by handling. Now mark "That's what I want to know," said "Third Class" on the boxes that red.
> When I told him about my coming to the car, and paint "First Class" on the the house he burst out laughing, and said: "It is too funny. I saw the advertisement, went to get the key and was tisement, went to get the key and was and pad their backs as high as one's told the house was haunted. Like you head: then carpet the third-class seats, I didn't believe it, so out I came to in- and nail carpets on their backs, and you "And here we have been dodging about, each taking the other for a is a narrow board on each side of the horse-car for the conductor to walk upon, and that is there also on the English car; but the English railroad car is boarded up at either end, whereas the American horse-car is glazed. Now let the American think of all the comforts and conveniences there are in our railroad coaches - the toilet stand, the closet, the heating apparatus, the All those things are at the station. there is an ineffectual and timid light, half concealed above a thick convex glass in the roof of each compartment, and there is a rack over each seat. This is the fact whether you ride first class or third class. In some of the cars there is a map of the railroad over one railroad hotels facing it, in each compartment. The map strikes me as a for ten persons. the third-class and second-class compartments; in the first-class ones the seats are divided by padded arms to accomodate three persons each, or six to the compartment. That is a European custom. Even on shipboard on your way to Europe you will notice, cast in the iron door-frame of every room aboard sell it to any one. I want the land to the vessel, a statement of the number of sailors or passengers or stewards of stokers that may inhabit each apartment. — Julian Ralph, in Harper's

NATURAL ELOQUENCE.

Weekly.

Many Orators Replace it by Carefully Elaborated Eloquence. Though natural eloquence is supposed to be a thing of the heart, and of the inspiration of the moment, great orators very often have to depend for their eloquence upon something quite other than inspiration. It is impossible for them to speak from a full heart on every oc occasion, and natural eloquence must be replaced by carefully elaborated eloquence. Edward Everett, the "silver-tongued orator," used to write his addresses and commit them to memory. This method has been followed by many other public men whose "impromptu" eloquence has been a matter for great admiration to down as an accepted rule that great this rule, but it is nevertheless a rule. M. Paul de Remusat relates that vistheir failure at playing ghost.—Harry had not yet become President of the iting once his friend, M. Thiers, who French Republic, but was one of the most noted crators of Europe, he found the great statesman at his desk, busy

Hints That Should Be Borne in Mind with paper and pen. "You come just in time," said Thiers. "I am just finishing the speech that I empanied by a slight flow of blood, am to deliver in the Corps Legislatif tient quits the dentist's office. Where sages, and you may tell me just what

> It was, perhaps, M. Thier's most fayoung man listened with interest, and ventured to say after the reading that, while the address was a remarkably strong one, he missed something of the which was characteristic of M. Thiers. "You are right," said the great orator, "I haven't put in the negligence yet.

Taking his pen, he proceeded to add a touch of negligent ease here and there, changing careful expressions to careless

"Now," he said at last, "it is spontaneous! M. Thiers once wrote to Sainte-Beuve "I have spent my life in public assem-

Notwithstanding his love for the simnle and unconventional in oratory, M. spoken speeches into more formal shape sentences which the stenograper had

"They were all very well in their

-"That was a capital lecture Hick's." Hick's." 'Do you think so? I thought t was horrid. Why, the man didn't know what to do with his hands."—

A 'VERSITY ROMANCE.

An English Girl Who Would Not Give Up Her Lover for Money. "The conservative spirit of English life is nowhere more strongly marked than in the university towns of Oxford and Cambridge," said a man from Cambridge, England, recently. "The regulations surrounding the daily life of men attending Cambridge University are strict, and violators of rules are punished severely. University men may only room at lodging-houses whose keep ers have licenses from the university authorities; each man must have at 'least two rooms; and it is expressly forbidden that a university man shall eat his meals or associate with the family of the lodging-house keeper. Inasmuch as violations of rules are followed by revocations of licenses, these regulations are more strictly observed than would be thought possible by one unacquainted with the ways of Cambridge. "However : rank Brown (not the man's name, by the way) paid scant attention to these string at rules; but by dint of ing-house keeper's family and having a quiet smoke and drink in the evening. he fell head over heels in love with one of the daughters of the family, Fannie Burton, a fine-looking young woman not far from twenty-one years old. Her father, who, besides keeping lodgings for university men, was a porter in one of the colleges, frowned on the growing intimacy between his daughter and Brown, fearing the consequences it Brown's people in Yorkshire heard of the matter. His displeasure did not trouble the young people to any great extent, and matters ran smoothly enough; until one day Brown's mother, coming down in hot haste from Yorkshire, appeared upon the scene, having been informed of the state of affairs. "She had a consultation with Fannie Burton, and offered her £2,000 in cash and £100 a year to break the engage-ment with her son; which offer the girl promptly refused. The mother then went to the university authorities and stated her case, whereupon they promptdrinking-water cylinder. Not one of these is in an English railroad car—not house keeper from him, and shortly afterward he was discharged from the not in the cars. In the English cars place as porter, and was thus left practically without means of livelihood. In the meantime Brown and Fannie had settled their part in the affair by getting married. Brown's supplies from home were cut off, the only thing left him being a little property in his own name. So Burton, with his family, and branch, and an advertisement of the Frank Brown and his wife joined hands and took a little farm some distance from Cambridge, and lived for some most excellent idea. There is also time there. Fannie's sister had married posted in each compartment a statement | a university 'gyp,' or man-servant, and of the number of persons it is designed Brown, who was a thoroughly demoto accomodate. "This compartment is cratic, good-hearted fellow, treated his was always posted in brother-in-law, who, by Cambridge law, was in another caste, as an equal.

"Now, here comes the part of the story which looks suspiciously like a climax in a novel, but is true, just as all the tale but the names is true. Within two years of Frank Brown's marriage, his father died, and, as the estate was entailed, he came in for the property. His mother and sisters came down to some extent from their height of su-periority, and received young Mrs. Brown on something like terms of equality. Brown allowed them to live on the family estate, and he and his wife taking a place elsewhere; and at last accounts the young couple were following the ordinary manner of life among the English gentry, and enjoying themselves in a pleasant, quiet fashion. But Burton never reg his former privileges in bridge; for he who violates a rule of the university is not knowingly given a chance to repeat the offense."—N. Y.

CATERING TO BACHELORS. They Have Their Inning Now, But That of the Old Maids Is Coming.

Tribune.

"Speaking of a new edifice designed for the comfort of bachelors," says a New York paper, "some one was grumbling the other day about the alleged neglect of the interests of old maids, their hearers. Indeed, it may be laid and complaining that no shelter was especially provided for them nor rooms speecpes are made beforehand. There reserved, 'except in Christian homes have been some notable exceptions to and fifth-rate lodging houses.' Never mind! If there is a set of beings whose ship is coming in soon with a great big cargo, it is the old maids. The reason why such care is taken of bacholors, why such palaces are built for them to live in, and all the best things are kept for them, is because they have money and can pay. The bachelor of thirty odd, with a good income, the whole of which he can spend on himself, is a gentleman to be respected. There are very large potentialities of profit in him. It pays to provide comforts and luxuries for him, and they are provided. If there was as much money in coddling old maids as there is in looking after bachelors, there would be nothing that they could wish for that would not be offered. Just as soon as the old maids get the ability to pay, their hearts' desires will be provided for them in increasing quantities at so much a heart. Meanwhile, they are getting richer all the time. For one thing, they inherit more money than they used to, because there is vastly more money to be inherited than there used to be, and here in the United States they get, practically, their full share. For another thing, they earn much more than they used to earn, not only because there are more of them at work, but because a much larger proportion of them can command good pay than formerly. Any one who is old enough to have a formed hand-writing can remember the time when a woman who could earn $500 in a year was looked upon as a marvel. There is no scarcity of such women now, nor any notable dearth of women who earn two, three, five or ten times as much. Moreover, there is no longer any serious sentiment to prevent a woman who has money from buying pretty much any thing there is in the market that a man can buy. She can not buy a bachelor apartment quite as conveniently as a man can yet; and though she can invest caught on the wing, he transformed some of her surplus in clubs, she has not so tempting a range of choice as she will have in the future. But she can buy houses and every thing accessory, from opera boxes to hired men, and run them and enjoy them. She can buy every species of instruction, from chinapainting to anatomy, and she can buy pretty much every known variety of foreign travel.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Queen Cake: Two cups of sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of sweet. milk, four cups of flour, six eggs. -- Yankee Blade.

-Escalloped Tomatoes: Peel tomatoes and cut in slices one-half inch thick, then place them in a baking dish in alternate layers with bread-crumbs, butter, pepper, salt, and a little sugar. Bake from one-half to three-quarters of an hour.-Housekeeper.

-Grape Catsup: Four pounds of grapes, stew until soft; put through a colander, add three pounds of sugar (brown preferred), two tablespoons of cinnamon, two tablespoons of cloves, one coffee cup of vinegar: let it simmer fifteen minutes, and seal up .- Detroit Free Press. -Lunch Cake: One egg, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, one pint of flour, two teaspoonsfuls of baking powder; separate the yelk from the white of the egg, and add the beaten white last, ba'e in a good oven until a straw can be inserted and withdrawn clean .- Boston Herald.

-Dropped Fish Cakes: One cup of salt cod picked very fine, half a cup of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, two teaspoonfuls of flour, one egg, pepper to taste. Make a white sauce of the flour, butter and milk, stir the fish into this, add the egg beaten light, season and drop by the spoonful into boiling lard, as is done with fritters.-Indianapolis Sentinel. -Creamed Apples: Select thinskinned apples, such as the "Fameuse, or Snow, core without paring; fill with sugar and bake. While cooling, whip one and one-half cups cold sweet cream till smooth and firm; add two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar, a little vanilla or lemon. Place apples in sauce dishes, cover with cream, and serve at once .-Ladies' Home Journal.

-Succotash: Two cups of corn cut from the cob to one cup of shelled beans. Parboil the beans, and stew them half an hour before adding the corn, then let all cook half an hour longer, in just enough water to keep from burning. Add a little cream, salt, pepper and butter to taste. - Household. -Bread Omelet: One cup of hard bread, partly softened in hot water and milk, or in cold water (in which case press in a cloth and crumble), add onehalf of a chopped onion; one tablespoor chopped parsley, one egg, salt and pep per. Heat in the frying-pan or square baking pa 1, some suet or beef fat, and pour in the omelet. Cover and bake five minutes, then uncover and brown. Or. it may be cooked slowly on top of the stove. Cut in pieces and serv

the meat or with a gravy .- N. Y. Observer. -French Meringues: Beat the whites of five eggs to a very stiff froth, and stir in one-half pound of powdered sugar. Drop the mixture with a spoon on paper. Heap up each meringue so it is the size and shape of half an egg. Dredge the meringues with powdered sugar, shake off that which is not needed, and put the papers they are on on boards, and set in a cool oven until they become a pale yellow and firm at the top. Turn each one, being careful not to spoil its shape, scrape out some of the inside, and set the meringues back into a very slack oven, or merely into the heating closet of the stove to dry. These meringues may be filled with whipped cream, flavored with coffee or preserved strawberry juice, or any thing the maker fancies. -- Boston Globe.

WIDOW DOLGOROUKI.

State Secrets Revealed by the Morganatic Wife of the Late Czar. Princess Dolgorouki, the morganatic wife of the late Czar, has, according to an Odessa telegram, just published her memoirs in Russia. Every available copy, however, has been pounced upon immediately by the police. In this interesting volume the Princess gives a graphic account of what happened on the very eve of the assassination of the ill-fated Alexander II. During the evening before the tragic event took place she was in a room adjoining that in which the police report for the day was being submitted to the emperor. When Colonel Standen mentioned that soldiers in whom more trust could be reposed had been stationed on guard at the palace, the Czar displayed great irritation, exclaiming, "What! am I surrounded by traitors even in my own house? If such be the case, the most ragged beggar is happier than I. Wel'. I shall appeal to the people, dwell among them, and show them that I have confidence in them and do not fear the cowardly assassins who dare not emerge from their obscurity!" His Majesty then went into the room where the Princess was sitting, and said that he had decided on going to Vienna, although the Russians were hated there since his father died. He would settle some business with the Emperor of Austria which could not be intrusted to a third party. Soon afterward, at midnight, the unhappy Emperor discovered, to his horror, that his favorite dog Tristan had been poisoned, and, flying again into a violent rage, he overwhelmed his valet with abuse and threats.

The Princess had begged Alexander II. not to go out on the morrow, but at nine o'clock in the morning a note was brought to her which betrayed the nervous agitation to which the unfortunate monarch was a prey. He had begun by saying that in conformity with her wishes and his promise he would remain at home, but had scratched out the words, and had written, inst ad, that he needed air and exercise, and would go out soon, adding that he would bring back the Grand Duke Sergius to lunch with her. The Princess was making preparations to accompany or follow the Czar, when looking out of the window she saw the guards passing by in great confusion. Soon afterward she heard of the Emperor's death. She hurried to the Winter Palace and threw herself on the mangled and bleeding corpse. Then Alexander III. told her that his father had uttored her name with his dying breath. It is to be hoped that a translation of these memoirs will soon make its appearance, as the Princess was in a position to throw light on many a political puzzle.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

THE RAILWAY SERVICE. Total Abstinence Required by the Managers of Many Companies. The operatives of our railways form the best drilled army of workmen in the country. It has seemed that it would be very instructive to learn what is expected of these men, as to their use of intoxicating liquors. Not a little of interest might be learned from this Acting on this idea the editor of the New York Independent sent a letter to the managers of seventy railroad companies asking for the desired information. The following, taken at random, are fair examples of the answers received:

MAINE CENTRAL RATEROAD The attached rule is the only one we have bearing particularly on intoxicants: bearing particularly on intoxicants:

"80. The use of intoxicating drink on the road or about the premises of the company, and smoking while on duty, are strictly forbidden. Any employe appearing on duty in a state of intoxication will be forthwith dismissed, and those who do not use intoxicating drinks will receive the preference in promotion and employment. Smoking is also prohibited at all stations and on all trains, except in the smoking-car," is well understood by our men, however, that the use of intoxicating liquors, either when on or off duty, is not countenanced in the slightest degree by the management. PAYSON TUCKER, General Manager. NEW YORK, LAKE ERIE & WESTERN RAILROAD. The rules of this company prohibit em ployes from drinking while on duty. In addition to this, train-masters, division superintendents, yard masters and others having charge of men are expected to watch the men under their charge, and discourage the practice of visiting saloons. A man known to be a regular habitue of saloons is regarded with suspicion, and it works against him for promotion, and in the case where the habit has become chronic, and where remonstrance fails to effect reformation, the employer is light to disor off duty, is dismissal. From this there is no appeal.

The above is, in brief, the practice on this

J. H. BARRETT, Superintendent Trans. DELAWARE & HUDSON CANAL COMPANY.
The following general rule concerning the use of intoxicating liquors by our employes has been in effect a number of years: "No person in the employ of this company will be allowed to use intoxicating liquors as a beverage while on duty."

Practically this rule has a much wider ap plication and significance, as we do not retain in our employe anybody known to use intoxi-cating liquors, whether on or off duty; and em-ployes who are known to visit saloons are closely watched, and if such practice is persistently continued we seek an opportunity to dis pense with their service

H. G. Young, Vice-President, CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY. I beg to quote you Rule No. 13 from our book Rules and Regulations, which reads as fol

ows:

"As the habitual use of intoxicating liquors is incompatible with the duties of railroad employes, those who abstain from their use will be more favorably considered for promotion. The use of such liquors by employes on duty is positively forbidden, and the penalty for discregard of this order is dismissal from the service." In conclusion I desire to say that this rule is rigidly enforced on the Central railroad of New

J. H. OLHAUSET, General Superintendent. ATCHISON, TOPEKA & SANTA FE ROAD I inclose herewith our rule, number 200, rela-

proven a most fruitful source of trouble to rail-roads as well as to individuals. The company will exercise the most rigid scrutiny in refer-ence to the habits of employes in this respect. Drinking when on duty or frequenting saloons will not be telerated, and preference will be given to those who do not drink at all." GEORGE L. SANDS, General Superintendent. PROVIDENCE & SPHINGFIELD RAILROAD. I do not employ any drinking men on the road.

I do not employ any drinking men on the road Have none but temperate, industrious mer that want to lay up what they can of their earnings. Such men are always the cheapest. They are more saving and take better care of the company's property.

WILLIAM TINKHAM, President. TAKE SHORE & MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY.
The following rule is incorporated in our book of rules and regulations for the government of

No person will be retained in the service "2. No person will be retained in the service of this company who is known to frequent salloons or places of low resort, or who is known to make habitual use of intexicating liquors. Every person in charge of employes is hereby directed to dismiss from the service any who are guitty of these practices, and they will themselves be held personally responsible for having such men in their employ, for such are certain sooner or later to cause injury to lives. NEW YORK, CHICAGO & ST. LOUIS RAILROAD, This company does not knowingly employ men who are in the habit of becoming intoxi-cated, and preference is given to those who do not use intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

D. W. CALDWELL, President.

PITTSBURGH & WESTERN RAILWAY. In regard to rules governing employes of this road about drinking intoxicating drinks I would say that our rules are very strict, and we do not hire anybody who is in the habit of using intox icants of any kind, and if they are known to visit saloons either on duty or off duty we at once dismiss them from the service. It is get-ting to be a well-established rule with all railroad companies that no one shall be employed on a railroad in any capacity whatever who

M. A. McDonald, General Manager. BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD,
"On and after this date," May 21, 1890, "this company will not, under any circumstances, employ persons who are in the habit of becom-ing intoxicated. All employes who are known to frequent drinking places must be warned to discontinue such practice if they desire to re main in this company's service, and they will be promptly discharged for intoxication, either wille on or off duty. No person discharged for intoxication will be re-employed."

J. T. ODELL, General Manager, LEHIGH & HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD, We have no special rule governing the matter referred to. It is generally understood, how-ever, that we do not tolerate intemperance among our employes.

GRINNELL BURT, President. WELAWARE, LACKAWANNA & WESTERN RAIL-ROAD. I herewith inclose copy of rule in regard to the matter referred to:

"Rule 47. The use of intoxicating drinks on the road or about the premises of the company is strictly forbidden. No one will be employed nor continued in employment who is known to be in the habit of drinking intoxicating liquor."

W. F. HALSTEAD, General Manager.

FLINT & PERE MARQUETTE BAILROAD.
Inclosed I hand you a clipping from our working time card which will give you the information asked for. Section 5 of Article IV, of the general railroad laws of the State of Michigan, reads as follows:

reads as follows:

"No person shall be employed as an engineer, train dispatcher, fireman, baggage-master, conductor, brakeman, or any other servant upon any railroad, in any of its operating departments, who uses intoxicating drinks as a beverage; and any company in whose service any such person shall knowingly be employed shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars for every such offense, to be sued for in the name of the people of the State of Michigan."

"The use of intoxicating liquors, while on duty, is prohibited. Persons known to be habitual in the use of them will not be retained in the service. Agents and passenger train men are prohibited from smoking while on duty."

Sanford Keeler, Superintendent.

CHICAGO & ALTON RAILROAD.

The following is an extract from the regula-

The following is an extract from the regula-The following is an extract from the regulations of the company:

"Intoxication or habitual or frequent use of intoxicating liquors will be sufficient reason for dismissal. Persons employed in running trains, in any capacity, who are known to practice drinking intoxicating liquors, will be torthwith discharged."

C.H. CHAPPELL, General Manager.

CRICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY.

printed on our time cards and is strictly en-printed on our time cards and is strictly enforced. As far as my experience goes, it has proven to be the most practical rule governing the matter that we could devise.

"The use of intoxicating drinks has proven a most fruitful source of trouble to railways as well as to individuals. The company will exercise the most rigid scrutnly in reference to the habits of employes in this respect, and any employe who has been dismissed on this account will not be re-employed. Drinking when on duty or frequenting saloons will not be tolerated, and preference will be given to those who do not drink at all."

ROSWELL MILLER, President.

OHIO & MISSISSIPPI RAILWAY.

This company has issued no order recently with regard to the use of intoxicants by em-with regard to the use of intoxicants by em-ployes; but in our book of rules governing em-ployes of the transportation department, which took effect in November, 1888, the following ap-The use of intoxicating drinks while on duty

s prohibited. Employes known to use them in xcess at any time will not be retained in the ervice." J. F. BARNARD, President. These answers, remarks the Independent editorially, present a most onesided view of a great question. But it s none the worse for being onesided, for there is only one side to it. The fact that it is so one-sided makes it impressive. We wanted to know what are the ules enforced by the railway companies of the Nation in reference to the use of intoxicating liquors by their employes; and here we have them-a long, monotonous, emphatic repetition of a single rule. No intoxicating liquors allowed; conductors, or brakemen, or switchmen using them dismissed. Sometimes the rule is formulated, and sometimes it is assumed as so evident that it is not worth while to print it, But in every case the man who is not temperate must lose his place. Sometimes reasons are given in printed rules, but most companies assume that the reason is so plain that it need not be effect reformation, the employe is liable to dis given. missal. The penalty of intoxication, either or

There is no kind of business in the country which requires more careful management, more clear-headed intellience, on the part of those engaged in t, than the railroad business. A thickheaded conductor, a boozy switchman or muddled brakeman may, by an act of tupidity or negligence, cost a score of ives to the passengers and hundreds of housands of dollars' loss to the company. The railroads are in the light of lay, everybody sees and criticises them, and their management must be made as afe as possible; and the unanimous testimony is that in order to make them safe the servants of the road must be bstemious men.

After this testimony of the best exerience, absolutely unanimous, what ise is there of raising the question further, whether the saloon is a blessing or a curse. The saloon, by the general voice of the most enterprising business in the country, the business of transportation, is declared to be a menace and a urse. The saloon has its interdict. The saloon is the enemy of life and property. The saloon deserves to be outlawed by the general voice of the State and Nation, as it is already outlawed by the railroads. We are glad to be able to give to our readers such an immessive array of testimony on this subject.

MORRIS AND SAMMIE. They Are Fond of Pudding but Won's

Take Brandy Sauce. Some big folks think it is all non ense to get little boys and girls to make promises, because they will for get, and will soon break them. As you know, we have often told you that a pledge is a promise, and one who signs a pledge makes a solemn promise be ore God. We have something to tell you of two little boys that shows that little folks do understand more than ome folks think. Morris and Sammie are the two boys they are only six and seven years of age. They live in New Jersey; and every Sunday are to be found in their places in Sunday-school. They think they have the best teacher in the world. He loves his scholars as much as they love him, and he teaches them as few others can about God. He tells them how they ought to take care of their bodies, because they belong to God, he has shown them that strong drink is bad, and they know they ought never to drink it. Morris and Sammie are very fond of pudding, as all children are. They like it extra well when it has sauce on it. But fond as they are of it, they won't touch it if it has brandy or wine in the sauce. They can not be coaxed to eat it. Some one told them that they would not be breaking their pledge if they ate it, because they had only promised not drink it. "No," said they, "it is bad, and we promised not to touch it.'

It was a year ago that they signed the pledge, and then the minister said they would not understand. Don't you think they do? They do what some big folks can not, for they will sit at the hotel table, those two brave little men, and see others enjoying the pudding while they deny themselves, and go without, We feel like waving our hat and saying: "Hurrah for Morris and Sammie!" -Temperance Cause.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

"A MAN," says the Commercial Advertiser, "who never knows whether to take beer or whisky is confronted by a dilemma, either horn of which is refreshing." But what if he gets out in a still more refreshing way by taking neither and so taking the bull by the horns?

I MET with a brother minister the other day who said he could not be a teetotaller; his conscience would not allow him. He thought he would be diverging from the Scripture. I did not say any thing at all to him. I thought he was too far gone for me. -Mr.

Spurgeon. I FIND that he who made the human frame made it so wisely that it does not need the stimulus of beverages, which, when taken in excess, blind the reason, inflame the blood, sow the seed of disease and implant an unconquerable eraving for the fatal poison. -Sir Edward Baines.

FIFTY years ago, Sir Edward Baines found himself in a position in which he might be able to save a man addicted to drink if he himself became a total abstainer. He made the sacrifice, and tive kind for grinding corn; and in the many, Italy, Belgium, Sweden and Denfrom that time down to the end of his to the use of intoxicating liquor by employes.
copy of which is inclosed herewith, has been sistent teetotaller.—Leeds Mercury life he continued a staunch and con-

ABOUT MOROCCO.

An Eastern Empire with Three Times Missouri's Area.

Women with Handsome Faces and Fine Figures-Flowing Robes the Dress for Both Sexes - Public Baths a Feature.

The Empire of Morocco is a country larger than Spain. It is known to the inhabitants as Magrit-el-Aksa, or the "extreme West," and has an area of 220,000 square miles. Within these limits are the three former kingdoms of in 1072 of the Christian era, and the Fez, Morocco and Taffiet. The two first were formed by twenty provinces in the northern and middle regions, with Taffiet occupying the southern portion. The whole extent of country, says the St. Louis Globe Democrat, is traversed from the northeast to the southwest by the Atlas Mountains, with numerous rivers and streams between the different mountain chains. There are 550 miles bordering on the Atlantic ocean, and 250 on the Mediterranean sea. The population is estimated at anywhere from 10,000,000 to 15,-000,000, made up of Arabs, Moors and Berbers. The women of the three races have fine figures and handsome faces. They are a good deal secluded and partially cover the face when out; but there is no difficulty in getting a good idea of their looks. The color of the face of the women suggests bronze, with the eyes dark and luminous and the teeth white and even. The negro population of Morocco is large, with remainder and the southern boundary. many slaves. The Sultan's black bodyguard is composed of free negroes, who the sanctuary of Sidi Bel Abbes and enjoy as many privileges as the Moor in many remnants of old walls built of the ordinary walks of life. The Jews "tabia." At a distance the city has a are also well represented. They come solid, compact appearance. The houses from the Israelites expelled from Spain in 1492, and Portugal in 1496. The tral court, surrounded by long, narrow Americans and Europeans in Morocco rooms. One serves for a kitchen, where are few, and they live in the seaports, the cooking is done by charcoal fires.

especially Tangier.

The national color is white, both family use. sexes wearing flowing robes of snowy hue. In its detail the dress of the men consists of a finely-worked skirt (kumja) fastened down the breast by numerous small buttons and loops, and of very loose drawers. Over this is sometimes worn a coat with large sleeves (caftan) buttoned closely in front. For out-door wear the haik is indispensable. This garment is a wide piece of thin cotton, woolen, or occasionally silk material. about six yards in length. It is arranged about the body, as also the head, in a series of artistic folds, which in our own case rendered dressing without assistance an utterly hopeless process. Stockings wearer must be to the manner-born. A red fez cap is worn on the head, and ion as "El Messous," the "place withround this a turban made of a many- out salt." folded length of muslin. In cold or rainy weather a cloak of thick woolen material (jelabeer) is worn instead of the haik. and especially in the north of Mcrocco, the jelabeer is of a dark color. In this boys. part jackets and loose trousers of cher-

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

The dress of the women is much the same as that of the men: but the haik is arranged differently, and is employed in concealing the features when any of the opposite sex are present. The hair is carefully covered by a bandkerchief of black silk, over which another of gay colors is coquettishly arranged. The women wear red slippers, and these are often handsomely embroidered in gold. The ladies are very partial to jewelry. The wealthy wear finger-rings and huge ear-rings of gold set with precious stones, necklaces of amber or coral, and massive bracelets of gold, armlets and anklets of silver inlaid with gold. Diamonds are not much in use; but rubies, emeralds, generally uncut, and pearls of inferior quality are often seen. The Moors consider that the risk of fraud by imitation is lessened by not having precious stones submitted to the art of the lapidary. The Moorish and Jewish ladies are much given to fictitious improvement of their charms by the use of rouge. Both also stain their hands and feet with benna and blacken their eyebrows with kohl. Tattooing ly, those of England, France and Spain;

is alone practiced by the Moors. are a few water mills of a most primi- France, Spain, Portugal, Austria, Gerlarge towns are a considerable number | mark. On Sundays the flags of the difof corn mills, each one turned by a ferent nations give the town a gay aphorse; but the labor of grinding corn | pearance.

and preparing meal fails mainly on the women. A small hand mill is to be Three of a Kind, and One as Good as the found in almost every dwelling. Good bread in the form of flat cakes is made and sold in the towns; but the national dish of Morocco is kuskkussoo. This resembles granulated macaroni, and is palatable as well as highly nutritious. It make the mess unendurable to foreigners, unless under the pressure of hunger. The city of Morocco is called "Marakech" by the Moors. It was founded butter is usually added; but the latter is, generally speaking, so rancid as to WOMEN FROM THE COUNTRY. situation and surroundings are beautiful. The city is on a great plain, fanked at the north and part of the vay on the east and west sides by luxuricas woods of date-palms. Gardens, fields and distant mountains fill in the The northern part of the place contains of the better classes are built with a cen-The other apartments are for general

Near the entrance door a narrow staircase leads to the first floor. This is called the doueria, and here it is that the master of the house receives his friends. Each house has a well which supplies water for the laundry, and for ordinary use, but drinking water is obtained from the public fountains. In some instances the horses of the owner divide with the ladies the occupa ion of the ground floor; in other words, one room is used as a stable. The narrowness of the apartments in the best houses of this country can not fail to attract the attention of strangers. They are, generally speaking, of good height, but are very long in proportion to their breadth. This arises from the difficulty experienced in obtaining native wood of sufficient length for the floors. The width of the room in consequence soldom exceeds ten or twelve feet. The tower of the Katoubia is the

in its vicinity. A feature of Morocco is the public baths, there being over twenty. The of any color. bath is similar to what is known as the Turkish, with men admitted from sunrise up to noon, and women in the afternoon and evening. The price for a bath | are placed close together. is about one cent. There are three prisons, with the prisoners fed by their friends or left without food, none being cut beads. supplied by the Government. All prisners have irons riveted about their legs and connected by chains with an iron band about the neck. The palace of the Sultan is outside the city, surrounded by high walls. It wide. covers a space of 1,500 yards long by 600 attached to which are pavilions. There dine and silk dresses.

are two large courts, mchouar, or places Velvet, either plain apartments for ministers, secretaries guimpes, yoke pieces, half sleeves, and guards. The treasury, containing, it is said, a large amount of specie, adjoins the house inhabited by the Sultan whenever he visits his capital city.

The southern part of the city is occuare not used, and the feet are thrust into pied by the Jews. A section nearly two of shape. a pair of loose-fitting yellow slippers, to miles in circuit is inclosed in high walls. walk in which, without fatigue, the It is called "El Melah," meaning the "salted place," and referred to in deris-

Tangier is next to Morocco in importance, and as having more Christian res a hem, or embroidery done on the skirt, idents than any other town in the Em- or on a flounce sewed upon it. This has a pointed hood, which, placed pire, is perhaps more interesting to Pretty silk blouses will be worn all which nothing is less critical. It may over the head, gives the figure a cone- Americans. There are two Roman Cath- summer at the resorts, even at dances be useful by way of shocking the illitlike appearance. When not in use this olic churches, a large monastery and a in the evening, and a delicate light one erate and inattentive into a comprehenbood hangs down the back. The jelabeer school, the first being allowed the use makes a cool suit of a thick skirt, while sion of your position, but it is not critihas holes for the arms to pass through, of bells. Protestant worship is conduct- black silk blouses, with high full sleeves, cism, because your eye is not on the and descends low enough to cover the ed at the British Embassy. The Jews brier stitched with white or silver gray, object, but on your position, which also, knees. Many of the poorer classes al- are allowed to have public synagogues, will be worn with half-mourning cos- in this case, is hopelessly outside the ways wear the jelabeer. Sometimes, but they are unpretentious buildings. tumes. There are several Moslem schools for a good deal worn, and striped materials among themselves. These consist of is alone practiced by the Moors.

Throughout the provinces of Morocco

England, the United States of America,

AMERICAN FABLES

Other. THE LION AND HIS FRIENDS.

The Lion, having Delivered the Animals inhabiting a certain Forest of a Hunter who had become a Terror to them, the Wolves, Jackals, Hyenas, Foxes, Bears, is often cooked with pieces of meat, and | Leopards and many other Species felt bound to show their Gratitude. many of the Visitors crowded into his Den that he had to take the Outside. What little he had to Eat was speedily Devoured. The pool at which he slaked his Thirst was drained dry, and the din created by such a Gathering nearly lrove him Crazy. He was about to Appeal to their Charity, when the Elephant arrived, and in his Anxiety to show his feelings he trod on the Lion and inflicted grevious Injury.

"Ah! Me!" cried the King of Beasts, but in your desire to be Friendly you have done me more Hurt than the Hunter, who was my sworn Enemy! MORAL: A man's Friends will down him oner than his Enemies.

THE CROW AND THE PEASANT. A Peasant, who had been greatly Annoyed by the Crows digging up his Corn, finally Managed to Capture one of a bushel. them in a Trap, and he was about to kill it when the Bird Innocently inquired what Crime he was charged with. "Why, you have been Digging up my

"I admit that, but I had your Interests at heart." "How so?" "The more Corn I dig up now the less

Saved you a Whole Day's Work." see-I see," mused the Peasant, and he set the Bird at Liberty. MORAL: The more Money a Pickpocket gets from you the less you will have to Pay out for Groceries.

THE FISHERMAN AND THE FISH. A Fisherman who had put in the whole day on a Log without getting a Bite Made shoes required by workers in certain Bitter complaint as he was finally ready trades, but for the wooden sabots such lay on a Log without getting a Bite Made to go Home. An Owl, who sat in a tree as are seen in pictures of life abroad. near by, asked him the cause of his sorrow, and he replied:

"Why, I have wasted the day. I have shoes cost about $1.25 a pair. They are had no Luck." "Ah! yes, but you forget that Luck for you Meant Death to the Fish." MORAL: And the old Chap went up to Smith's Grocery that evening and told there is no perceptible breeze blowing?" the Boys that he hoped never to Draw is thus answered by the Scientific another long Breath if he didn't catch six Black Bass weighing three Pounds lar directions and strengths of wind apiece. - Detroit Free Press.

FASHION'S FANCIES. An Existence of Especial Interest to the Fair Sex. Shoulder capes of silk netting, ending with a deep fringe are much in vogue. low roses and poppies.

White cashmere gowns are trimmed five-horse power motor has been runonly building of stone in the city, there being a great scarcity of this material bon and mother-of-pearl buckles.

with amethyst or stem-green velvet ribbon and mother-of-pearl buckles.

ning the machinery. This is being replaced with three motors of fifteen, ten Black and gold screens, cushion and > Open-work bands of silk and tinsel embroidery are seen in every color. Crotchet buttons are small in size, and The only jet that is fashionable con sists of open passementeries of finely Velvet yokes are scolloped on the lower edge, or finished with a tinsel This indicates that vegetation may have cord, or row of flat gold braid. Girdles, collars and cuffs are made of gold braid about two inches and a half Heavy lace or netting over black silk wide; and this is divided into gardens, is used for sleeves and yokes of grena-

Velvet, either plain or shot, is used to of audience, around which are arranged trim foulards, either as waistcoats, waistbands and bands around the lower part of skirts. Ribbed under-vests of silk or lisle thread are popular for summer wear,

The striped wool-and-cotton flannels are fancied for petticoats, with stripes of color on white, and the edges scalloped with color. Pale blue or pink flannels of solid colors, and fine white flannel skirts, have feather-stitched tucks and

Divided skirts are now shown in most rary strategy. The realistic controverof the stores, made of China silk or sialists are especially slow to perceive The foreign officials at Tangier are surah, in black, white or colored, with this. Not only are they singularly blind ry or some other colored cloth are also numerous enough to form a society insertions of lace, ribbons sewed on to the success of their own party among flatly in rows, or feather-stitched hems. in various textures are favored by the three Ministers Plenipotentiary, name. They are made in two divisions, joined sively human life and character (how at the top of a deep yoke, and each division is about a yard and a half wide, though some are very much wider, and the fullness is held in accordion plaits. | with this material.—Scribner. -N. Y. Weekly.

The Only One in America. James H. Drake possesses a very inique scarfpin. It is nothing more or less than a Knight of the Garter pin, of which there are none in this country with this exception, and but thirty-two in all England. The pattern is a garter of blue enamel, on which there are the well-known words in gilt lettering, surmounted by a cross whose points are set with diamonds. Some years ago Mr. Drake entertained a party of English capitalists in the Northwest, among whom was the Duke of Sutherland. When they took wheir departure, greatly pleased with their visit, the Duke drew the pin from his cravat and placed it in Mr. Drake's. Many times he has been stopped by Englishmen in this country who recognized one of the emblems of the order, and who desired to know how it came into his possession. Mr. Drake might readily pass for a Duke, but he is as proud of his nationality as he is of the pin and the circumstances of its presentation.-St. Paul Pioneer Press.

-"Good morning, Mr. Solomon."
"Goot morning, sir. Vat can I sell you?" "Nothing. I didn't come to you?" "Nothing. I didn't come to you all these years. They haven't.—N. yuy." "Gootday, sir."—Yan'tee Blade. Y. Weekly.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-About 2,000 species of insects, on an. average, have been discovered yearly during the last century. -In some portions of the world at the time of full moon there is said to be a tendency toward a dimunition of clouds. -Beers, an Austrian sculptor, has succeeded in discovering a process for molding marble fluid precisely as bronze is molded -The electric spark has been photographed by means of a special camera, in which the sensitive plate rotated 2,500 times a minute.

-One car building company in Pennsylvania has on hand orders for 29,000 freight cars. The largest order is for 10,000 cars.

-Col. Zilimboff, of Siberia, claims to have discovered in ordinary eggs an of by which he can greatly increase the force of explosives. -Mr. F. A. Swinden, of Brownwood.

Tex., has an orchard of 11,000 pecan trees-the largest orchard of the kind in the world. The average yield of a full-grown tree is about fourteen bushels a year, which sells from $2 to $4 -The camphor tree flourishes at Tampa, Fla., and its cultivation is said to be more profitable than any other business in the State. Camphor can be distilled at any season of the year and the tree is not affected by heat or cold. It grows very rapidiy. The process of distillation is very simple.

-A new gas detector, proposed by Mr. Labor it will be for you to Gather your H. N. Warren, is formed by saturat-Crop in the Fall. I have doubtless ing asbestos yarn with a solution of platinum oxalate, and then igniting in a platinum crucible. When heated to eighty degrees Fahrenheit, this prepared yarn becomes incandescent in an atmosphere containing 0.5 per cent. by volume of coal gas.

-The making of wooden shoes is quite business in New York. Not only is there a big demand for wooden-soled French and German women are the principal buyers of wooden shoes. These mostly worn in the East Side tenement district. -The question, "How is it that telegraph lines make a musical sound when American: "There seems to be particuthat correspond with the natural vibration period of the wires. A strong wind out of accord may have little effect, where a slight wind in accord has a powerful effect." -The economy of small electric motors for industrial purposes is shown in Brown lace hats are trimmed with yel- a shoe factory in Brockton, Mass., where for the last year and a half a twentyand five-horse power respectively, and table-covers are stylish with furniture a saving of six-horse power is looked for from the change. The electric power company that furnishes the current agrees to charge less for the current for the three small motors than it did for the one large one.- N. Y. Sun. -J. W. Fewkes tells in the American Naturalist that vegetation exists in hot springs. The highest temperature on ecord in which it occurs is 200° F. occurred at a much earlier stage of the earth's history than has been generally supposed. The prevailing form of vegetation in these heated waters is algre. Diatoms also occur, but sparingly. They have been found in Nevada at a temper ature at which the vegetation of hot springs is most flourishing, but usually occur in great abundance in the cooled waters of hot springs.

A Certain Critical Fallacy.

The truth is that the current criticism whose shibboleths are romanticism and but those of wool are apt to shrink out realism has got into the polemic stage -which is the same thing as saying that it has ceased to be criticism. Criticism is mainly an affair of analysis and classification. These afford it ample scope, and dealing successfully with them confers abundant dignity. To deery Scott or exalt Mr. Rider Haggard is to be the slave of an abstraction, than circle of operations of true contempothe novelists, whose material is excluelse explain their heat?), but they seem to insist that every one who deals with

A Victim of Overconfidence. "Mr. Billus," demanded his wife, freezingly, "what is the meaning of that long brown hair on your coatcollar?"

"It means, madam," retorted Mr. Billus, "that I'm a chuckle-headed jay of the jayest sort. I'm a chump from Chumptown. That's what it means, Maria."

"Explain yourself, sir?" "One of the boys at the office put that hair on my collar not fifteen minutes ago and said I didn't dare to let it stay there. I said I did dare to. I said you were a woman of too much sense to notice such a little thing. I told him you wouldn't even see it. He offered to bet me five dollars you would, and I took him up, Maria!" snorted Mr Billus, "I took him up!"-Chicago Tribune.

How They Got Rich. She-I could have married either Whipper or Snapper if I'd wanted to, and both of those men whom I refused have since got rich, while you are still as poor as a church mouse.

He-Of course. I've been supporting

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year ..... six months. INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional infer-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and ddress, not necessarily for publication, but sa private guarantee of good faith. Reject-d communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS. of Washington County.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE tho campaign.

THE Mormon vote in Wyoming has all been cast for the Democratic ery, of this District, has secured work ticket. It's a clear case of natural at Fredlock's mill and will make our affinity.

IF You want to get the truth out of any prediction made in a Demo- in Piedmont, and Mrs. James Andercratic paper, all you have to do is to interpret it in exactly the opposite way from which it is written.

CABLE dispatches from London disclose the growing hostility of the English newspapers and financiers to the McKinley bill, and like reports

The Tramp, a handsome sheet, edited and printed by our young attended the Beckman-McFadden friends, G. A. Boiden and P. E. nuptials at Frankville last Tuesday Kimmell, is on our desk. We wish the editors all sorts of good luck, and may their publication wield an influence for good in this broad land.

bill by Congress delivered Iowa from Roe were delighted at its arrival, and of the bowel were approximated and the attendance was large. thousands of "original" package sa- will provide all the comforts his sutured and returned into the peri. Several of our young men went loons. Their presence, however, lordship requires. "It" is a boy and toneal cavity and the artificial open. to Oakland a courting last week, served to intensify prohibibtion senti- was born on Thursday afternoon. ing closed. ment because they were of aademoralizing character. Thanks to the Re- on Monday. The little boy can now attack of typhoid malaria. Yet in Iowal and other States the the saw-dust arena of Forepaugh's trouble, is slowly improving. "third party Prohibitionists," have biggest show on earth. nominated candidates for Congress to no Methodist in Iowa will be guilty of such treachery .- Iowa Methodist.

An Interesting Contrast.

It will be interesting to contrast the records made by the two parties in the presnt Congress. The stump orators will not find it a difficult thing to do, either. Here are the records side by side for convenience:

RECORD OF THE RE-RECORD OF THE DEM-PUBLICAN PARTY IN OCEATIC PARTY IN THE HOUSE,

Pledges made to the The attempt to carry Preuges made to the The attempt to carry people in the National out a previously an platform have been nounced determination to permit any the passage of a Tariff legislation that did bill which does not not have the stamp of sacrifice the principal the Democratic memolographic protection to American industry.

The pursuance of a can industry.

can industry.

The passage of a Nabegun on the first day tional Bankruptey and continued during bill.

The passage of the tering tactics, which dependent pension required hundreds of bill.

The passage of a sill. dependent pension required hundreds or bill.

The passage of a silver bill which has given an impetus to business.

The passage of the original package bill. The passage of an Election bill which guarantees the protection of every cilizen in the right to cast his vote as he pleases and to have it counted as he intends it shall be.

The passage of a cus-

The passage of a cus-oms Administrative

The passage of a kiy-er and Harbor bill.
The passage of the Anti-Lottory bill,
The passage of scores of bils of minor im-portance, all for the general welfare of the people and country; besides the establish-ment of the precedent that a quorum present in the House shall be considered as a quoin the House shall be considered as a quo-rum present for busi-ness; that the major-ity shail control the House and be respons-ible for its acts; that public duty is greater than partisan selfish-ness.

The performance o many acts in the line of the duty of Congress toward the people, including the undoing of the wrongs resulting from the Democratic

Bittinger .-- Delayed.

fliction.

Miss Mollie F. Wegmen has re-Amos Bittinger is building an ad- disqualified.

dition to his house. Mr. Winterberg and family, of Grantsville, paid T. B. Wiley a pleasant visit a few days ago, Our Sunday School is moving along nicely with W. G. Womer as Superintendent. He is the right man in the right place. Mrs. W. G. Womer has returned to her home on a visit. Mrs. Geo. Shark has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Wheit-

F. L. Snider talks of leaving our town. Wade Lohr is going to school in Grantsville. We were glad to see the smiling face of Geo. Lininger, of Grantsville, on last Sunday at Sunday School. Come again George.

Bloomington.

on his way home from court on last ied by her cousin, Mr. Thomas Wied- hope for better results during the man, of Franklin Hill, returned to year to come. her home at Columbus, Ohio, on No. Monday evening.

Mrs. Peter Phillips and family, summer guests at our pleasant little REPUBLICAN from now until after burg, returned to Baltimore on Mon- bright little son in their home,

> W. Va., son of Michael Montgom- provments now contemplated and town his home in the future.

Miss Lucia Hendrickson, of Alexandria, Va., who is visiting relatives son, of Keyser, were guests of friends during the past week.

Mr. Charles Brown, who was noted in our last letter as being on a business trip to Roanoke and Satem, Va., returned a few days ago and is so pleased with the "Sunny South"that as to German sentiment come from | he contemplates moving his family the latter part of this week.

Miss Gertie Warnick, daughter of Mr. Henry Warnick, of this district, afternoon.

of Bayard, became residents of our town a few days ago.

The circus posters arrived in town bask in artificial sunlight. Consternation, indignation and work and returned home last week. times.

while at work on Monday last.

the report comes that the buckwheat her home in Washington, D. C. crop is about to prove a failure. In many localities the long seige of wet took a trip to Pittsburgh. weathet has caused the grain to sprout before it has been cut, and of Joel Brenneman, is quite iil. where it has been moved the farmers, in many instances, have unhas an opponent er not, with tireless ference will send him back again. energy he held aloft our banner A parsonage will be erected at proudly and valiantly, until he shall Bayard in the near future.

Three days of the time allotted to Missouri soon. hoped that every district in Garrett with his family for Indiana. days in October-6th, 7th, 8th, and house completed. J. Moran, of Elk 9th. The registrars have received Garden, is now plastering it. special instructions from Barnes It was quite a surprise to the peo- in our State, and it is of yast impor- and expects to move his family here pie of our vicinity to hear of the tance that every Republican notice soon. death of John Lohr, being an old the lists of disqualified voters, Re- J. G. Hoffman & Sons are now untherefore be particularly careful about town. all names stricken off the registration turned to her home in Grrntsyille. | books. See that they are all truly Coke Company will start up anew 2 months to 2 years old. Price from

IF YOUR BACK ACHES, Or you are all worn out, really good for nothing, it is general debility. Try
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

It will cure you, cleanse your liver, and give a good appetite.

Mountain Lake Park The Harvest Home Picnic was

made a very enjoyable occasion. The display of fruits and vegetables was very good. The auditorium was heautifully decorated with evergreen laden with bags of candy for all the County : little people, The literary part of the entertainment rendered by our Loya Legion was very entertaining. The S. S. Conventtion, from Friday to Sunday night, was a rich treat to all in attendance.

The help so kindly given us by Rev. G. H. Nook, Mr. Frank Woods and Mrs. S. H. Martin, and the very excellent sermon by Rev. Mr. Shofe, Mr. Ross Compton, of Grantsville Subbath morning, were very inspirdistrict, stopped in town on business ing and helpful. Mr, William Hoye FRIDAY, OCT. 3, at 2 p. m. ments, leaving it to the conference president of the county organization gave a splendid report of the work Miss Jennie Hardman accompan- done during the past year, but we FRIDAY, OCT. 3, at 7 p. m.

> Porf. Line is still teaching his enthusiastic class in Photography. Mr. and Mry. F. D. Brooke are very happy because of the arrive of a Soon we expect to hear the want some already contracted for. Accident. Miss Annie Georg, who had been injured sometime ago by a fall from a swing, has been having serious brain trouble, but wethink the worst is over, and she will so n be able to be about again. John Hoffman, of our village, upon whom Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft performed an operation sometime ago, last Saturday to visit his son Charles, regret the time spent. who is living near Salisbury, Somerset County. Mr, Hoffman underwent a rather serious operation. The doctor, having opened the abdomen, found the bowel strangulated and mortified, and feeling confident that LICAN. there would be a disunion, retained Mr. Thos. Matheney and family, the bowel in the abdomust opening. and almost immediately the gangre-

Henry Feigh is suffering with an publican majority in Congress and to feast his eyes on the lithographic cuts Mrs. Jesse Frazze, of the Coye, was not very well represented bea Republican President for this relief. and dream of wonders only found in who had been suffering from heart cause the train did not make its ap-

The Piedmont Electric Light com- day for Cotumbia County, Ptorida, Mason and Dixon line. aid, in defeating the re-election of pany has declared a dividend of 6 where he will be engaged in teaching those Congressmen who voted for the per cent. This should be an addi- school during the coming winter. for Beamer, is back again. "original package"bill. We hope that tional inducement for Oakland to We wish him a safe journey and success in his undertaking.

> mortification are some of the terms the last few weeks that farmers are week. that might fitly express the feelings begining to feel discouraged over it. of our Democratic brethren over the The potato and buckwheat crops are Democratic paralyzing Republican indeed suffering from thei continued election of the brave and honest- wet and warm weather, and farmers hearted Thos. B. Reed, of Maine. have but little chance to work at Mr. W. L. Cresap, nephew of Mr. their buckwheat between showers. Wm. L. Rawlings, who has been em- Be patient. Don't murmur, Ali will ployed as an apprentice in the Junc- come right in the end; those who tion Machine Shops, gave up his have it must expect to lose some-

A yaluable work horse belonging Mrs. Dr. Glotfelty has been visitto Mr. Truman Mosser, of West & ing friends at Ursina, Salisbury, and Shipman's saw mill, dropped dead Listonburg, and also took a trip to Pittsburgh.

From many sections of Dist. No 4 Miss Ella Butler has returned to Dr. R, A. Rayenscroft and wife

Mrs. Arminto Recknor, daughter

Gorman.

but always to the front, whether he Church. We trust the Annual Con-have placed it on the rampart of vie- J. W. King has sold his stock of tory in November, God speed Mc- goods and has engaged in the churn With the setting of the sun Sunday business. He says he will leave for registration have passed and it is Jas. E. Shrout leaves us this week

County has increased its number of R. Cole, of Piedmont, was in town Republican voters. If however some last week. He has sold his property have failed to attend to the impor- here to J. W. Cropp, of this place. tant duty, remember we have four A. Moon will soon have his new Arch Biggs, of Deer Park, is en-Compton, the leader of Democracy gaged with the tannery company, sound. It also reminds the congre- Big Democrats are whispering neighbor and friend. We can say member this is a new scheme of Gor- dertaking to replace the wooden for the deceased that he was a peacea- man's satelites to keep not only Bal- bridge across the river with a more ble and quite man. May the widow timore City Democratic, but to turn substantial one. This is much needed and orphans be sustained in their af- the State in the interest of the "ring," for the safety of the people of our weight from 80 pounds to 125 pounds. of them said "we sent enough money shortly. L. L. McCrum will soon have his large tenant house erected. J. W. Shillingburg is preparing to build a new house aujoining the one he now occupies.

The following is a list of places and

G RMAN.

BLOOMINGTON.

Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7 p. m. to the House until Friday afternoon; OAKLAND

Thursday, Oct 2, at 7 p. m. FRIENDSVILLE

ACCIDENT

GRANTSVILLE Saturday, Oct. 4, at 2 p. m.

Mr. James Montgomery of Davis, of the busy workmen on various im-

The meetings will be addressed by

HON. GEO. A. PEARRE, DAVID W. SLOAN, ESQ., W. P. TOWNSHEND, EDWARD H. SINCELL, AND OTHERS.

Turn out, Republicans, give a few is able to go about again and left on hours to a good cause; you will not E. E. SOLLARS.

> Ch irman. Selbysport. Some fresh news for THE REPUB-

We notice that Kimmell Frazee has cut some corn.

On last Thursday evening at Mernous portion separated and the bowel cy's Chapet there was held a lawn to coerce the administration into Although it was without money, discharged through the artificial open- fete, the proceeds to go to M. E. adopting the Cleveland policy of de-THE passage of Senator Wilson's food or clothing Mr. and Mrs. Joseph ing for at least five weeks. The ends Church. We are glad to note that positing large sums of Government

There was an excursion on the B. & O. R. R last Thursday to the Pittsburgh Exposition, but this place financiering.

Dobbin.

her sister, Mrs. Thomas Gaines. Mrs. Rumbarger and daughter visit to friends in the West.

Rev. Correll preached his last serlast Wednesday evening. John Rembarger spent Sabbath with his family.

and Hambletonians. There is a rumor affoat that we are soon. "Whoop her up," boys.

of last week in Wheeling.

broken limb.

The Jewish New Year.

the Jewish New Year of A. M. 5651 was begun. Rosh Hashana was ushusual salutations for health and happiness. Monday was observed with religious ceremonies, among which tribes were called together by such a live of Democrats,

I have for sale 12 cross-bred Southdown and Oxforddown Ram Lambs, It is rumored that the Coal and bred short-horn Durham bulls, from S. D. YODER, $20 to $35. 2½ miles N. W. of Grantsville, Md. 30 3

& C. Felty's.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 15th, 1890 .-Representative McKintey has long besides two handsome trees well times for holding meetings in Garrett been known as one of the hardest working men in Congress, but he and his Republican colleagues on the 1891. House ways and means committee TUESDAY, SEPT. 30, at 7 p.m. broke all previous records for speedy committee work, in the consideration of the tariff bill. It did not get over it was immediately referred to the committee, and this afternoon it was already to be reported to the House. The committee recomends non-currence in all of the Senate amendcommittee to settle the small differ, ences of opinion which exist. If there is no hitch the bill be in the hands of the conference committee by Wednesday, and it is expected that it will be reported back to the House and Senate within a week. The only amendments upon which there is likely to be a stubborn controversy are the sugar and binding-twine amendments. The latter will hardly be changed, but it would not be surprising if sugar goes as it was in the original House bill. All rumors of any intention on the part of the House to antagonize the reciprocity amendment are simply bosh.

The attempt to get up a financial flurry on account of the passage of the tariff bill with a clause which makes it go into effect O tober 1, has fillen very flat. It was stated that it would require $50,000,000 to enable the importers to get their goods out of the bonded ware houses by that date, but Gen. Nettleton, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury very quietly put an end to that story by showing that not over $10,000,000 would be required, and he stated that between now and the first of October the Treasurer would release more than $32,000,000 in addition to the ordinary current expenditures. An attempt was made in certain quarters money in the National banks to relieve the stringency in the money market, but it did not succeed. Neither the President nor Secretary Saturday was eulogy day in Conpearance. The cause was that a slip J. Randali was the subject and in W. T. McMillen left on last Mor- of earth was across the road near the the House Senator Beck. The cus tom is a beautiful one, and no one Edward McCally, a former driver should have a word to say against it, but in view of the time consumed William Felion, a salesman for thus at this session-nearly a full Arbuthnot, Stephenson & Co., paid month-many Congressmen favor There has been so much rain for Jonas Frazee a pleasant visit this the adoption of a suggestion recently made to hold these services on Sundays.

The committee investigating the Miss Bruin, of Virginia, is visiting Civil Service law held a session Satorday, at which Representative Grosyenor accused the Civil Service Miss Ida, returned last week from a commissioner of deliberate misrepresentation. The committee has adjourned until December. Its memmon, before conference, at this place bers are as tired of the subject as the public, The committee investigating the charges against Gen. Raum has prac-The muster of the Dobbin guards tically completed its work, and a rewhich took place a few evenings ago, port completely exonerating Gen. was witnessed by many Dobbinites Raum on each and every charge made is expected from it this week.

The following bills by agreement going to have a festival at this place of a Republican caucus are to be considered by the Senate in the order W. W. Ferguson spent several days named: The anti-lottery bill; Repeal of the timber culture law; bill The infant child of Mr. Wallace establishing private land claim; ers, in many instances, have unable to garner it safely and it lies rotting in the fields.

Almost incessant rain for two weeks and in consequence of which the roads are getting in bad condition.

Along with the good news from Maine comes the echo over the mountain tops of Allegany and Garrett of a tremendous ovation lately tendered our gallant standard bearer at Sharpsburg, Md. Never in the rear but always to the front, whether he has accepted a position as Secretary to the front, whether he contained in the fields.

Almost incessant rain for two weeks and in consequence of which the roads are getting in bad condition.

Shaffer was taken suddenly ill on last Sunday and died on Monday morning.

L. A. Cross, the proficient young all bear to the contained in the roads are getting in bad condition.

Rev. Correll preached his last sermon here Sunday night for the containt of the Crocusty which self-bear to the contained in the suit of William A. Coddington Monday morning.

L. A. Cross, the proficient young all abovers in Government employ, or engaged in doing Government work; bill to transfer the Revenue Marine service from the Treasury to the Navy diplication as Secretary of another company.

We are glad to note that Mr. J. R.

Unitered the Cicalt Courts bill for relief of U. S. Suprement counts bill for relief of U. S. Suprement counts bill for relief of U. S. Suprement counts bill for adjustment of labor. County with the suit of William A. Coddington Monday in the roads are getting in bad condition.

L. A. Cross, the proficient young laborers in Government employ, or engaged in doing Government work; bill to transfer the Revenue Marine service from the Treasury to the Navy department; bill for relief of U. S. Suprement counts bill for relief of U. S. Suprement coun We are glad to note that Mr. J. R. department; bill for the settlement Hawkins is able to be out again after of claims arising from Indian de- Two Story Dwelling House, predations; Paddock pure food bill this is to be substituted for the compound lard bill which recently passed the House); Torrey bankruptcy bill; bill to place telegraph companies unseveral weeks confinement with a predations; Paddock pure food bill bilt to place telegraph companies under the Interstate Commerce law, and ered in among the Hebrews with the bills relating to the District of Columbia.

Owing to the action of the Demoerats in leaving the House and breakthe most solemn and important is inga quorum a whole week has been the "blowing of the Shofar." or wasted, and it will be no better this sounding of the ram's horn, in re- week unless enough Republicans membrance of the time when the show up to make a quorum exclusgations that Isaac's life was sayed ugly accusations against each other from sacrifice through a ram being It seems that there was an enormous caught by the horns in the bushes. | corruption fund raised to beat Speaker Reed, and the men who contributed the money are accusing somebody of having stolen it. One Price from $8 to 12. Also 8 thorough into that district to buy two Maine's and there is nothing to show for it," The Republicans of the House held a caucus Saturday night and decided that Mr. McKinley's resolution discharging the committee of the whole If you want a stylish hat go to F. of the House from further considera-3t of the tariff bill was the proper way to facilitate things, as it will save considerable valuable time. The caucus did not officially discuss the date set for the tariff bill to go into effect, but from informal expressions of opinion it is thought that there is a strong probability that the date will be extended to about February 1,

County Commissioners' Meeting. The following were among the proceedings of the Board at the September meeting last week. A number of assessments were revised, road accounts filed aud orders passed on next Levy and Contingent

A deed was received from Catharins Enfield and others for right of way for a road from National Road at Bepler's to Pennsylvania line.

Henry Beckman was granted $2,500 to expend on Beckman road. John Harned, J. A. Delawder and Norman Barnard were appointed examiners on road petitioned for by F. S. Cline, Mrs. L. M. Hoff and others. Joseph Bowser was appointed constable, in place of F. C. Browning, in Deer Park district. Amos Recknor was appointed constable in the new Bittinger District,

No. 12. Arguments of counsel, T. J. Peddicord and E. H. Sincell, Esqs. were heard in case of application of Henry Finzell for a private road in Frostburg district, through lands of Catherine D. Miller, and an order was passed overruling objections and granting said road. The examiners' report in the matter of the road petitioned for by George E. White, Johnson King and others was adopted, and road granted to the extent recommended. Treasurer Stanton filed his first report of receipts and disbursements up to September 1, showing entire amount received $31,671.53, disbursements $16,519.76, leaving a balance of $15,151,77 in hands.

The commissioners adjourned on Saturday, tomeet Oct, 22,1890.

As no appropriation was made by the government to gather the Snnday school census of the country, the various State Sunday school associations have yolunteered to do this work Without remuneration desiring this great interest to be represented in the eleventh census. H. K. Caroll, Eeq., special agent of Plainfield, New Jersey, has appointed us to do this for Maryland. Therefore, the co-operation of pastors, superintendents, secretaries of Sunday schools, postmaster and others is asked, If any Sunday school fail to receive blanks, please send the following information at once to the undersigned, Name of Sunday school, name of superintendent with his postoffice address. denomination, (white or colored) in or near what town or yillage located, number of officers and teachers, number of scholars. Please let us know of any new Sanday school in your neighborhood, with name of superintendent and address. It ought to be the pride of every Sunday school worker to have a full census of the Sunday schools of Maryland, Or if any one desires to have a government blank to fill up for their school not yet reported, can have it sent to them by writing to the undersigned. Fraternally.

WM, A. BAKER, State Supt, Md. S. S. Union. 216 N. Charles st., Baltimore.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

the same property which was sold to the said W. S. Friend by William H. Frazee; said levy having been made by an actual cutry upon said premises on the 2d day of September, 1890. And I hereby give notice that

On SATURDAY, the 11 Day of OCTOBER, 1890,

at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day in front of the Taggart Hotel in the town of Oakland, I will offer the aforesaid property at Public Auction to the highest bidder for cash on the day of sale to satisfy the aforesaid exe-cution and cests. TERMS OF SALE-Cash

EDWARD N. CASTEEL, 30-td Sheriff of Garrett Co.

CHANGE OF VOTING PLACE.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD, Sept, 13th, 1890, Jpon petitions of Jonas Yutzy and others District No. 8, the following order was ORDERED, By the County Commissioners of Garrett County, this 13th day of Sep-tember, A. D., 1890, That the voting place in Election District No. Eight, Garrett County, Maryland, be and the same is hereby changed from Davis N. Murphy's back to the house of Mrs. Grimes, on the North Western Pike, the former and more central and convenient loca-[SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNSON

OUR AG NTS.

The following named gentlemen ere authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions to THE REPUBLI-

Accident-J. E. Gnagey, Altamont-J. Z. Browning Blaine-E. Kitzmiller Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos, B. Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Elkins, W. Va.-John H. Riley. Elder-Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher Friendsville-Leslie F Friend Gorman-Geo, W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm. A. Smith. Huttons-Chas, F. White. Johnsons-Geo, W. Blocher Keyser, Md,-Solomon O. Beachy. McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C. J. Otto Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George, Westernport-Geo, L. Michaels, Wilson's Mills-Geo. W. Wilson

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Halects in Sturgiss' Hail 1st and 3d Saturda nights seach month. ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F.

PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hall 1st and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hail, Lake View, every Wed-nesday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

Ten thousand bushels Buckwheat wanted at Stanton's Mills.

See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if you want a fine knife.

Highest market prices paid for

If you want a new dress, wait until Shartzer brings his large assortment from the East.

REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign.

Twenty-fivec ents pays for THE or lots of anything else, see Shartzer before buying elsewhere. Lost-A ladies' jersey jacket, between Clark Deberry's and Oakland, Sept. 5. Finder please leave at this 30-21. office. A stray heifer can be reclaimed by expenses. JOHN W. WILLIAMS. Deer Park, Md.

full line of Rogers' silverware.

Davis & Son have just received a handsome line of lumps from Newark, which they will sell at reason able prices. Call and see them. 293

Garrett Co., Md.

FOR RENT. - The undersigned desires to rent his farm to a reliable person on shares. 27 1m*

HENRY FEIG. Accident, Md.

Mr. C. T. Sweet, of Swanton, desires us to say he has now sufficient nursery stock to warrant hiring a business and defy competition in quality and prices. Come and see for yourselves.

All persons are hereby warned not either for hunting or crossing over on above named lands.

T. W. CASTEEL.

If you need a new coat, Shartzer is bringing the the largest and best assortment ever in Oaklond. Latest styles and at Snartzer's prices which means less than anywhere else. Don't buy before you see his line.

29 tf S. L. TOWNSHEND & SON. No trespussing allowed on the grounds of the undersigned. 29 3t MRS. E. A. KILBOURNE, JOHN CLOSE, JOHN THOMPSON AND CHAS. THOMPSON, of L.

Twenty-five cents pays for THE REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign.

the campaign.

and Mechanical Association will hold its autumn meeting October 7, 8, 9, and 10, 1890.

H. A. Davis, the barber, has permanently located in Oakland, and patrons at Handy Gipson's old stand.

To the energetic efforts of Maurice Thomas, Esq., Oakland is indebted for its electric lights. This shows what young blood and "push" will

A friend asked us the other day if "these 'lectric lights are lit by a match or do they jest burn when the Mr. W. D. Hoye, sun goes down?" He'll see if he comes to town on Oct. 1st. 1890.

Not far from town is a large quantity of what is called "fox-fire." Let the youth of our town go gather it and sell it to pedestrians as a means of lighting their way to and from their homes, Our street lights are about "petered out." - The Tramp.

DEATHS.

Working .- A son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wotring, died on Saturday morning, aged 1 year and 10 months. The funeral took place from the resi-C. E. Clark officiating.

DAVIS .- Joseph B. Davis was born in Dauphin County, Pa., February 224, 1808, and died in Oakland, Md., September 14th, 1890. June 5th, 1830, he was united in marriage to Sarah McMitten, daughter of John McMillen, Esq., of Somerset County, Pa., and locating in that county made it the place of his residence until the spring of 1861 when he removed to Gan's help, to discharge the duties the vicinity of Oakland, where he of the position acceptably to Him Buckwheat at Stanton's Mills. 30 f continued to the close of his life, For many years, besides giving some attention to work on a farm, he was ders. engaged largely as a cattle dealer and he cause of education, and a sunsons and incidents of the past was Garrett County. good salesman. He will give a good fund of interesting information he of which were well attended, and coming year: to trespass on the Hall place, Brant, ions where he lived would have made toward holding a number of other Merrill, Browning and Home farms, an interesting contribution to the conventions before the season passes, history of that period. For about other meetings have been held in the said lands. I will kill all dogs caught two years previous to his decease he interest of Sunday Schools. Several A. F. George; 2d, Hiram Frazee; extent upon such trespassers. Garthright has just received the clear voice related his Christian ex. ports, and we feel assured by faithfullargest, best, and cheapest lot of perience, testifying his abiding trust ness in the past that Brother George boots, shoes and clothing that was in the Savior, and closing, added; E. Bishoff, of Dist. No. 6, is doing a ever offered in Garrett County. A "If you have anything to say to me gran I work, and we have no reason visit to the store and an examina- say it now." He then proposed that to doubt that all the other secretartion of goods and prices will convince they should sing a hymn and pray; les of Nos. 2, 4, 5, 9, 10, and 11 are by John Shartzer. This was followed rett county, Md., for week ending any one. Lots of other good bar and near the end was heard to say doing good work, and as Dist. No .7, ed by interesting and cheering Sun-30 2t "Come, come," When asked what where we are now assembled, we day School experience meeting Ayre, Lizzie, (3) We have just openeda full line of he desired, he said he desired to go to have but to reflect, from our own which was continued until 11

"Where congregations ne'er break up, three died in childhood, the eldest a ous or more efficient in this great, preached a very interesting and souldaughter, Mrs, Ann Harned, March grand work. 4th, 1887, leaving John M. Davis and ies and their aged mother to mourn ber than in any county in the State, Martin, of Baltimere. The address m., in the Oakland Methodist Epis- cause of this is neglect of parents. every relation to moral reform. copal Church, Reys. W. J. Sharpes, But there is also a need of more Sun- Frank Woods opened the question Twenty-five cents pays for THE pastor, C. E. Clark, the present pas. cent to churches schools should be the questions. "Should Sunday lative Flour on hand. These are the REPUBLICAN from now until after tor of the Church, and S. D. Tamb- organized in school houses, and when Schools ever admit unconverted men best grades of flour in the country, yn, of Terra Alta, officiating.

Saturday and Sunday The Garrett County Sunday School lowing Sunday night. Notwith- that every child is within the Sun standing the fact that the weather day School fold, was almost continually inclement, the convention was a success and be felt throughout the county.

FIRST SESSION.

Devotional exercises were con-Rev. Geo. H. Nock.

Report of President W. D. Hoye sympathy. was read and was as follows: MT. LAKE PARK, Sept. 12th, 1890.

Dear Fellow Workers: - Another Convention, through the blessing of Martin, of Baltimore City, Jas. A. tions vital to the Interest of our man and John Shartzer. work, and, I hope, to consecrate ourselves anew to our great mission as instructors and spiritual guides to dence of the parents on Sunday, Rev, the little children, whom Christ loves with all the tenderness of His great heart, and concerning whom he has given to us the commission,

"Feed my Lambs." During the past year I have been honored in being president of the Garrett County S, S. Union. I assumed the duties of the office with a sense of unworthiness and inefficiener, but have made some effort, by and to those who by their votes put the responsibility upon my shoul-

Now, it is proper to give a brief became widely known in parts of review of the work of the year. It is Frank Woods. The question, "what different States where his business pleasant to state that there has been about subordinate teachers," was aninterests called him. His opportun | marked improvement throughout the | swered by Mr. Woods and others. It ities for securing an education were county on all Sunday School lines. was thought advisable to have a nor-If you need a new snit, boots, shoes limited, but he improved them well, The statistics, which, it is believed, mal class always in training from and his general knowledge of affairs are full and correct, show that we which supplies could be taken. in Caurch and State was such as to have in the county, 97 schools, 556 "How to keep Oakland school up command respectful consideration of teachers and officers, 3,592 scholars, during the summer." Complaint his views among all intelligent and and a total of 4,148 members; aver- was made that the greater attractivethoughtful men. He was a friend of age attendance, 2,765, and number ness of Mountain Lake Park drew between 5 and 21 years who are out town teachers and scholars away. porter of the free school system at of Sunday Schools, 2.111. This, per- was suggested that increased attracthe time of its introduction into haps, considering our mountainous tions be given to the Oakland schools. owner proving property and paying Somerset County, and earnestly en- country and obstruction of trayel, is deavored to inspire his children when as good a showing proportionate to school bear to the Church?" Mr. attending school with an ambition to population as any county in the Woods answered that it was a part of excel in study. Though at times State. But there are still, strange the church as the arm is a part of the Davis & Son have put in a full line greatly absorbed in business, he still as it may appear, 2,111 children yet body. of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought held fast his integrity as a devout outside the pale of the Sunday School. direct from the importers. Also a Christian. Converted in early life, Many of these are deprived of the he became at once a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and with his worthy Christian companion, who was also a member of the blessing of Bible instruction to every same Church, gave a hearty welcome child, and to so organize our christian by Mr. Woods, viz.: How many to the itinerant ministers of the forces that every home will be visited schools in the county have teacheas' Briarbend Seminary (Home and Pittsburgh and West Virginia con- and efforts made to impress them meetings? Only three sould be re-Day School for girls) will reopen ferences, who were frequent visitors. with a sense of paternal obligation. ported. Mr. Woods spoke impres-Monday, Sept. 234 (D. V.). Address He was always in his element in the As an association, we mean work. Miss E. B. Swan, Mt. Lake Park, social circle, and had a large appre- Not as much was done the first year ciation of the intelligent and good, as might be desired, but it is hoped many of whom, in various places, that such inspiration will be received during the course of his long life, during the present convention as were his intimate friends. His in- shall send each of us to a more dilitellectual powers continued strong gent service, so that the coming year devotional services were conducted cy winter ginghams, prints, &c., &c. tellectual powers continued strong gent service, so that the coming year devotional services were conducted until near the close of life, and the shall be one of great results for God by Wm. Hinebaugh who read the You cannot fail to find anything you munds, Deer Park, all summer, left facility with which he recalled per- and for the homes and churches of 146 Psalm.

of early Methodist ministers, and the held two district conventions, both the following for officers to serve the want a pair of boots, see Offutt's, 30t possessed respecting the planting of made good impressions on the pubthe Church in early times in the reg- li . Initiatory steps are being taken was in feeble health his affliction be- of the secretaries of the districts have 3d, C. J. Otto; 4th, Geo. L. Michael; ing the result of heart failure, super. been very active, notably Brother A. 5th, Daniel Hinebaugh, 6th, Geo. E. induced by old age, He continued F. George, who is visiting and enactive at times, however, until last couraging all the schools of his dis- stn, Edwin W. Miller: 9tn, Dr. J. June, since which time his strength trict (No. 1). Brother Edwin Miller W. Laughlin; 11th, J. F. Robinson, ily of Joseph B. Davis desire to exfailed rapidly, and he was closely has also been active, and has made and authorized the Prosident to appress their sincere thanks to the minconfined to bed. Three days before sacrifices for the good of his district point one for District No. 12. The i ters and friends for their sympathy his death he called the members of (No. 8). Brother C. J. Otto, of Dist. his family around him, and with No. 3, also sends encouraging remen's and boy's clothing, ladies' and a better world than this. At five personal knowledge, of the work of o'clock when Rev. Schoff, pastor of gentlemen's underwear, gloves, hos- o'clock on Sabbath evening he calm- the past week, that the secretary of Immanuel M. E. Church, S., Baltilery, neck wear, overshirts and flan- ly fell asleep to waken in the blessed this district has done his whole duty more, was introduced. The gentlenels, all at bottom prices. We mean home of which he often used to sing, and on account of his extreme mod- man, after announcing hymn "What esty and presuming he is before me, a Friend we have in Jesus," offered I refrain from mentioning his name prayer and read Matt, 17th chapter. Of the family of seven children but will say none could be more zeal- 14th to 21st verses, from which he

Mrs. Sallie Scott, of Oakland, and that there are over two thousand chil- The second Topic: "The Relation S. W. Davis a minister of the Pitts. dren in this county outside the Sun- of the Sunday School to Moral Reburgh Conference, with their famil- day School fold. This is a less num- forms," was taken up by Mrs. S. H. their loss. An impressive funeral but even no child should be deprived was earnest, able and impressive, service was held on Tuesday at 2 p. of religious instruction. The prime showing that the Sunday School has Presiding Elder, B. Ison, a former dy Schools. In localities not adja- box, and spoke freely upon two of Christain's Best and Patapsco Super-

The Maryland State Agricultural SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION should be utilized. Our district sec- can we get politicians to come to our hoped that in the coming year they remarks were made by Rev. Nock, At Mountain Lake Park on Friday. Union met in annual convention at see that every locality in their re- pastor of the Ev. Lutheran Church Mountain Lake Park on Friday spective districts will be supplied at Accident. will be glad to serve his triends and night, Sept. 12 and closed on the fol- with Sunday School facilities, and > Brethren, sisters, ours is a good made impressions tout cannot fail to ism, character and reai prosperity we child of to-day. May God help us to right led in prayer. The convention was called to order so discharge our duties that at the by the President of the county union, end of another year we may feel that was delivered by Miss Harris, who we have done what we could.

[Signed].

President. our Divine Father, to discuss ques- Enlow, Capt. Hayden, Ada Sher- a rising vote:

> SECOND SESSION. Convention met on Saturday morning, President Hoye in the chair. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. Frank Woods, of Baltimore, prayer was also offered by Mrs. S.H. by the chair as follows: Capt. J. A. Hayden, chairman, Miss M. A. Sherman, Eli McMitten, Miss Jennie Smith, with Rev. George H. Noch as advisory member. On motion an ty and cast his vote against licence. entertainment committee of two was appointed consisting of Messrs. Hayden and Enlow.

The topic, "Childhood-Our Hope for Church and State," was discussed death of his father. by Miss Jennie Smith. The question box was put in the charge of Mr.

"What relation does the Sunday

"Should there be much time de- auction ever held in Oakland. voted to teaching the historical part sively of the fact that there were 2.111 children in the county out of the Sunday School.

THIRD SESSION.

At 7.30 the convention met and President, William D. Hoye. Vice President, J. A. Enlow.

Secretary, Prof. Ephraim Lee. Treasurer, G. S. Hamill. Bishoff; 7th, William Hinebaugh; elected unanimously.

FOURTH SESSION. Sunday morning at 9.30 the convention was called to order and deinspiring sermon.

It will be seen by the figures given | Benediction by Rey. Schoff.

retaries have done well, but it is assistance ?" Further and interesting will be more active, and with the Bro. Shartzer, A letter of greeting was co-operation of other workers, will read from Rev. Wm. M. Spangler, > Benediction by Rev. Geo. H. Nock SUNDAY NIGHT.

This was the last meeting of the Convention, and was a most enthuswork. Whatever of purity, patriot lastic one. The meeting was opened with reading of Scripture by Miss may hope for the future, rests in the Sallie Harris, and Mr. P. T. Garth-

The first address of the evening was followed consecutively by Mr. Asking Heaven's blessing on your Hayden, of West Va., Mrs. Weg ducted by Vice-President J. A. Ea- future proceedings and the work of man, C. M. Miller, Daniel Hinelow. Address of welcome by Miss this convention, I herewith submit baugh, Wm. Hinebaugh, A. R. Sper-Jennie Smith was responded to by this, my first report, with all its im- ry, P. T. Garthright, G. I. Richardperfections and ask your prayers and son, John Shartzer and Rev. Geo. Nock.

A tew moments before adjournment, after resolutions of thanks Then brief addresses were made by were adopted, Rev. Geo. H. Nock year has passed and we are met in Geo, I. Richardson and Mrs. S. H. offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted by

Resolved. That in view of the vital importance of the approaching local option contest, that it be requested by this Sunday School Convention that each pastor, on Sunday, November 24, preach a temperence discourse that a portion of the same Sabbath be devoted by the Sunday Schools it county to temperance exercises and Martin. On motion, a committee of that between the hours of 7 and 8, five were appointed on resolutions every Christian man, woman and child, go to their closets, prestrate hemselves before God in prayer, that his Spirit may incline every father to look to the interest of his children and the welfare of his coun

> There were many expressions of regret that J. M. Davis was prevented from attending the Convention by reason of the illness and

On Monday night next, Sept. 22, Rev. Geo, H. Nock will deliver his popular lecture, "Our Boys," at Firm Rock M. E. Church.

STRAYED .- A red steer, white in face, white hind feet, wide hornes. C. R. SAVAGE, Oakland Md.

Charles Kimmell, who was injured two years ago by a tree falling on the Maryland Hospital, Baltimore, for nearly a year, was brought home on Monday morning. His condition is about the same as when he was taken to Baltimere.

Everything at cost at Shatzer's for two weeks, and then the biggest Auction Sept. 25th on four months credit: 5 parlor suits, 2 oak bedroom suites, 1 walnut bed-room suite days in Kingwood last and this week, poplar bed-room suites, bedsteads visiting relatives. son. Several questions were asked mattresses, springs, tables, kitchen safes, over 290 yards of carpets, mat- gentleman, and an extensive farmer ting and oil cloths, also about $1000 and stock raiser of Grantsville, made worth of second hand furniture and our office a call on Thursday of last-30 - 2

FOUND-The largest, andmost beau tiful assortment of dress goods just received at Offutt's, Cashmere, henrietta cloth, ladies' cioths, tricots, fancy flannels, high novelties in fandesire in dress goods at Offutt's. Big Rev. Geo, H. Nock, chairman of line of neckwear, big line of shoes, quite remarkable. His recollection During the year there have been the nominating committee reported clothing, overcoats. If you want a

> Trespass Notice. I hereby warn all persons not to

Tuesday evening. trespass upon my farm by hunting or picking chestnuts or driving through my fields with horses or wagons, as Executive Committee.—1st Dist., the law will be enforced to the fullest 27 5* HENRY FEIG.

A Card of Thanks. The surviving members of the famreport was adopted and the above and many tokens of kindness during the illness and at the funeral services of the deceased.

List of Letters. List of letters remaining unclaimed

Humoird, Mrs. Wilson Hardman. William, Randolph, Miss Mary Stuart, Mrs. Emma, Thompson, Mrs. Mary, Vance, Miss May B., Vance, Ltzzie (2) Venable, Miss Anna. Best. Rev. K. Digby, Brown, Frederick, Clark, Geo, D., Cohen, Miss Dora, Engle, Mrs. E. M. I. Engle, Mrs. F. W. S

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised. F. A. THAYER, P. M.

If You Have a Trifling Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, urns. Bruises, Colic

Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative alm. Indispen You will find the above at A. G. sturgiss

Garthright has a large supply of these are not available private houses or women as teachers?" and "How and sold 50c under city prices. 29 2 PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About our People at Home and Abroad. Jas. F. Nydegger is in town this week. A. A. Perry, Jr., of Baltimore is in the city.

J. Ed. Kildow spent Sunday in Oakland.

Chas, Newman went to Kingwood

Col. J. E. Wood went to Piedmont on Monday. John Shartzer was in Baltimore this:

Miss Sadie Spedden was up to Huttons on Saturday.

J. D. Benson, of Terra Alta was in the city Tuesday. Mrs. Susan Jacobs has gone home in Brownsville, Md., R. T. Browning went east Monday morning on business.

Jonas Frazee, of Selbysport, was up to see us on Monday.

Col. J. D. Rigg, of Terra Alta, was in our city Wednesday.

Judge Wilson, of Washington spent Sunday with his family.

Miss Cornell, of Huttons was down to Oakland on Tuesday. Chas. Sweeney, Jr., returned to Cincinnati on Monday night. G. A. Bolden spent Sunday in Newburg, visiting friends,

P. J. Bourchier, was in Cranesville

a few days this week on business. Mrs. L. Robinson, returned to Cumberland on Monday evening. Geo. A. Spedden is on a few weeks" visit to relatives in Cambrige, Md.

Judge J. T. Hoke, of Kingwood, was in Oakland a few hours on Monday. Mrs. Leo Walker and daughter are spending a few weeks in Balti-

Wm. J. Wilson, Gormania, was inthe city Friday and made us a very pleasant call. Mrs. Creed Dunnington, of Terra-Alta, was down to our city Tuesday, visiting friends. Geo. D. DeShields, Manager of the B. & O. R. R. Co,'s hotels, was in Oakland a few days this week. E. H. Sincell was in Baltimore this week on business connected with the U. S Internal Revenue Service. Miss Nellie Offutt, who has been-visiting in Cumberland and elsewhere, returned home on Monnay. Mrs. Leah F. Sincell and two daughters, Margaret and Gertrude, spent several days in Piedmont, visiting relatives. Mrs. G. S. Hamili and two sons,

S. D. Yoder, E-q., a very pleasant week.

Messrs. Henry J. Mayers, Waring Thomas and W. H. Scott, are an attractive trio of business men of Oakland, Md., who are registered at the McLure.-Wheeling Register. Miss Mattie Kier, who has been on Wednesday for her home in Sutersville, Pa. Mr. McDonald, of Florida, and Miss Lillian Campbell, of Kingwood, were registered at the Glades this week. They returned to Kingwood

Messers. John and Patrick Stanton returned to Chicago on Sunday evening. They were accompained by Miss Ella Rasche who has been visiting in town for some weeks.

Lewis P. White was in Oakland Wednesday, Mr. White in company with Mr. K. E. Burke left on No. 5 Wednesday afternoon for Chicago and other points west.

FOR SALE.

I have for sale 10 Cotswool ewe lambs, two I nave for sale in Colswool ewe: lambs, two yoke Oxen, well broken, one sorrell Horse, 7 years old, 2 bay mares, 6 and 10 years old, one suckling colt, one Holstein bull, 3 years old, 3 beef cattle, I will also sell my land of one hundred acres lying 4 miles southwest of Oak-land, said land is nearly all under fence. hundred acres lying 4 miles southwest of Oak-iand, said land is nearly all under fence, Orchard, good water. Excellent title, Apply to J. H. SANDERS, 30 tf

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the sub-scriber, of Garrett county, Md., hath ob-tained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters of Admin-istration. C. T. A., on the personal estate of LUCINDA FRIEND,

Estate of Lucinda Friend, Deceased,

late of Garrett county, deceased. All persons-having claims against the deceased are here-by warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated to the subscriber on or before the 20th day of March next; they may otherwise by law be-excluded from all benefits of said estate. Given under my hand this 9th day of. September, 1890.

30-3 EDWARD H. SINCELL, Administrator, C. T. A., Oakland, Garrett County, Md.

New Voting Place.

OFFICE OF THE ARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., Sept. 18th, 1890, a session of the Board held Sept. 13,, the following order was passed, to-wit: ORDERED, By the County Commissioners of Garrett County, this lath day of September A. D., 1899. That the regular voting; place in the new Election District Number Tweive or Garrett County, Md., be and the same is hereby established at Bittinger's Cooper Shop, at Bittinger, in said towarty. [SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNSON,

I. B. FAY, Clerk.

OME people's

She was leaning on the old thing! stone stile in the woods. where the pink around her at every breeze, and the tall I've always supposed they had red noses terns waved softly to and fro, like and dim, bleared eyes. Your nose isn't a miniature army, with banners of emerald grasses. The sultry summer the bridge, but not to signify—and your day had burned itself to a close, the eyes are as bright and clear as mine. fiery ashes of the sun-set were piled But, if I were youup in the glowing west under columns of rose and gold and deepening violet. Alice Adams, the tired, little district school-teacher, on her weary way home from the one-story, red building, where she had ruled her small kingdom all day long, had paused in the cool shadow of the woods to rest and think. She was an orphan, but, ever since she could remember, Uncle Jabez Adams had given her a home and a father's affectionate-though unsympathetic-care. Aunt Abby had scolded her and fondled her, by turns, and she had alter-nately romped in the fields, and dreamed over "Thaddeus of Warsaw," and "Charlotte Temple," until Uncle Jabez pronounced her "old enough to earn her own living," and she was promoted to the full-fledged dignity of a 'school-ma'am.' "I feel like a bird shut into a cage," thought Alice. "I do so want to stretch my wings."

As she stood there, her bright cheeks flushed with exercise, and the evening wind blowing her flaxen hair into : not unpicturesque confusion, a heavy footstep crushed the dead boughs under foot, and a human shadow crossed the wild ferns at her feet.

"I beg your pardon," said a tall, young man, dressed in a rough suit of gray tweed, as he lifted a coarsely braided straw hat from his luxuriant brown locks, "but is this the way to Wild Glen?"

Under his arm he carried a portfolio. in one hand was balanced a light fishing-rod and sachel, and, as she looked at him, Miss Adams decided upon his iden-"You have taken the wrong road," said she. "The foot-path to Wild Glen branches off to the right as you pass by the old wind-mill with both its arms broken. You have taken the path which led to the left-and here you irresolutely. "You are at least six miles distant from it," Alice answered, with quiet authority. "And how far is the nearest house of entertainment?" he questioned, in evident perplexity.

"Oh! we don't have any around here," said Alice, "unless you call old Uncle Aaron Hodges' beer-shop one-and that has been closed for a month. But if you want a night's shelter, I dare say my uncle would let you sleep in the barn-chamber. It's quite comfortable there, if you don't mind the chanting of the whip-poor-wills at night and the horses' stamping in their stalls, underneath.

"I shall be delighted to obtain any sort of a baven of refuge," said the stranger, with great fervency, "for I think, by the looks of the clouds, that we are going to have a storm, and I must confess that I do not relish the idea of camping out in these woods without so much as an umbrella to shelter me!"

"I suppose not," said Miss Adams calmly leading the way. "Gentlemen of your profession seldom are inured to the hardships of an open-air life." He looked quickly at her.

"Of my profession?" he repeated, with something of a puzzled air. "Ah!" said Alice, demurely; "you

STANDING BY THE OLD STONE STILE. think I don't penetrate your disguise.

"I am sure," said the young man. looking somewhat discomfitted, "I had

"I know all about you," pronounced Alice, with an air of calm superiority. "But you're a deal younger than I expected to see!" "Well, who am I?" laughingly de manded the stranger. "You are the book-writer," said Alice. came down to old Owen Hardy's to make inquiries last week, and an artist from . Belhampton is coming to sketch the ruins and make the illustrations for the book. Lulu Hardy saw you, but she declared you were a stuffy, middle-aged old fogy. Now, I should say you were under thirty." And she stopped short, and surveyed him with a critical air, which appeared has a mistress at last.-Cora A. Tufts, to amuse him not a little.

"I am six-and-twenty," said he. "Lulu Hardy never was a judge haracter," said Alice, loftily. Mrs. Hardy said you were quite a dissi pated man.

"Did she?" "Yes," nodded Alice. "You called for lives are so full a bottle of brandy, and drank a glass of color," said it raw—yes, absolutely raw! And there Alice Adams, you smoked three cigars afterward, and sadly. "But mine is all probably the very one you have under your arm—half the night. Now, I must say, you don't look like that sort of

"Don't I?" "I never saw a drunkard," said Alice, still eying her companion in the same leaflets of the wild roses drifted down intent, abstracted sort of way. "But > look.) "I would leave off brandy and cigars. They must affect your nose in time, to say nothing of your nerves. And it's quite ridiculous for a young man like you to fall into such horrid habits as that!" "Thank you," said the stranger. "I'll bear your advice in mind." So they walked on together, Alice catechising her companion on the ways ing that she, too, could not write a novel. "Because my life here is so uneventful," said she, frankly. "I'm nothing on earth but a country school-ma'am. I have no outlook, no opportunities, like other girls. If Mr. Meredith, who owns The Towers-you can just see the turrets of the fine old stone mansion peep-

YOU CAN JUST SEE THE TURRETS.

were to come back from India, or China, or Japan, or wherever else he is buryfall in love with me. Or I might possibly strike out a career for myself, if only I had a chance to get beyond the stone fences and sheep pastures of The Glen. But," with a deep sigh, "it's no use wishing. Here we are. Uncle Jabez!" to a leather-complexioned old individual who sat shelling Lima beans on a wooden bench outside the farmouse door, "this is Mr. Layard, the author. "Sarvant, sir, sarvant!" said the old man, looking with reverent eye upon this embodiment of his idea of the literary world.

"He has lost his way," went on Alice, 'I suppose he can sleep in the barn "And welcome," said Uncle Jabez.

Supper's most ready. Just sit down and make yourself at home, sir. Go in and help your aunt dish up the cold pork and beans, Allie, that's a good girl! Squire Seeley, he's in there, waitin' for a bit of supper before he goes on to Meredith Towers.'

At this moment Squire Seeley himself came out, a bent and wrinkled old man, with gold spectacles and a shining bald head. The instant he saw Alice Adams' young companion his face lighted up with recognition, and he bowed low. "Mr. Meredith!" he exclaimed: "this is indeed an unexpected pleasure, sir. I

"Mr. Meredith!" Alice's dimpled face had turned scaret with surprise and mortification. "Then you-you are not the bookwriter, after all? You have let me believe-"I beg your pardon," said Mr. Mereto hold me responsible for the infer- $832, divided as follows: 990 pounds of nces you yourself chose to deduce? I never told you I was a book-writer."

ooth hands. "And I dared to lecture you on tem-

She was turning to hurry away, when Mr. Meredith gently detained her. "I think," said he, "that you are frank and noble-natured beyond the generality of women; and I beg to assure you that you have spoken no word which you need wish to recall."

But it was long before Alice could recover her mental balance. "What must he think of me?" she kept repeating to herself. "Oh! why couldn't I have held my prating tongue? Well, I've had an adventure at last." In a week or two, however, Mr. Meredith, of The Towers, came back to Jabez Adams' cottage-to sketch some

"The author who is going to write a choice bits of scenery in the neighbor-novel about the old ruined house in hood, he said; and Alice had to go with Wild Glen, where the ghost used to him to show him the way, and, almost walk, and the pretty girl drowned her- before she knew it, all the old awkwardself in the days of the revolution. Oh! ness had disappeared, and she was chatwe've heard all about you," with an ex- ting away as lively as ever; and it hapultant little nod of the head. "You pened that he kept coming until one day he asked her to be his wife.

"You can not mean it," said Alice, "But I do," said he. "I am only a silly little schoolteacher." "You are my ideal of the truest, urest womanhood, dear Alice." And so our little heroine teaches school no longer, and Meredith Towers in N. Y. Ledger.

MISCELLANEOUS.

-Of the one hundred and eight new roses produced during the year just passed, seventy-three are credited to France, and but five to the United States. doesn't harmonize in color with mine." -Domestic servants are so scarce in are said to visit the jail with the view of engaging young women to work for them at the close of their terms of im-

Pettit." Pettit—"What's the matter? Are you sick?" Jockey—"No, I'm not I was overweight."-Judge.

-Lady-"I would like to get a servant-girl. The family consists of my have made $100,000 in legal practice husband, myself and five children." Employment Agent — "Very sorry, madam, but you will have to kill off fingers, and their ordinary income would "Well?" (Still with the same amused some of the children."

> Brighton, Staten Island, suggests drowning as a humane form of capital punishment. He says he came near being that method would be painless.

-Manderville Wiggins, of New

-Old gentleman (at his daughter's wedding)-"My dear, I don't see how I the sixtieth year. Many of them are and customs of literary men, and sigham to get along without you." Bride-"Never mind, pa. Since the ceremony was performed, my husband has confessed that he hasn't enough saved to go to housekeeping, so you may not lose me after all."-N. Y. Weekly.

-Eighteen words have come into the language — probably temporarfly, most of them — to denote the act or state of electric killing. They are as follows: Electromori, .nanelectrize, thanatelectrize, thanatelectrisis, electrophon, electricise, electrotony, electroplony, electroctony, electroctasy, electricide, electropænize, electrothenese, electroed, electrocution, fulmen, voltacuss and they verged close upon forty years of electrostrike.-Garratt.

-"Don't clean your nails in public," said a critic to a Detroit Free Press retoilet should be made in the privacy of one's chamber, or, at any rate, out of the public gaze. If there is anything that would certainly be a generous estito see a ferlow pull out a jackknife in a remains who are the "strugglers." How swer that though both piano agent and carriage needed cleaning, he was not accustomed to such charges in a board accustomed to such charges in a board accustomed. A needed cleaning he was not accustomed to such charges in a board accustomed to such charges in original copy had run thus: "Board, $20 a week, including washing, use of carriage and piano. Agnes Robinson. -The annual product of rooffing slate is given by Superintendent of the Census Porter as 828,990 squares, of a value of $2,775,271, of which Pennsylvania's the farmer to the dairies, which are share is 474,602 squares and $1,636,945. Of slate for other purposes the value is given at $669,582, Pennsylvania's part being $374,831; total value of all slate deal, and establish the fixed prices. produced, 83,444,863; Pennsylvania, $2,- Here the milk is cooled. On reaching 011,776. - Pittsburgh Chronicle-Tele- the factory the milk is warmed for the hatter's was on business. He wanted his old hat. "When did you leave it grade. It is then sweetened by adding here?" "I dunno," was the reply. They the best quality of sugar in the proporhunted over a great pyramid of hats and tion of thirteen to one hundred in found it, labeled July 2. When he went out the hatter said: "That man bought a new hat here and when he went out These vacuum pans are for condensing said that he would call for it in half an the milk, and are similar to those for hour. It has now been four weeks. We throw away seven or eight hundred old hats every year for which the owners in which the steam circulates. The are going to call 'in half an hour.' "-

Lewiston Journal. -The London Hospital tells of a seamstress, who, like Hood's pathetic heroine in the "Song of the Shirt," worked till the stars shone on the roof Her eyesight failed, and the story goes on: "She saw at the same time four hands, four needles and four seams She at first treated them as an illusion. was hoping to meet you at the Towers but at the end of some days, in con sequence of weakness and prolonged mental anxiety, she imagined that she was really sewing four seams at once, and that Gode touched by her misfor tune, had worked a miracle in her favor.

-According to a calculation made by the Economiste Belge, the cost of firing with a quiet smile; "but is it fair a 110-pound gun is, in round numbers, powder, $380; 1,980 pounds projectile, $435; silk for cartridge, $17; total $832. Alice covered her burning face with But this is not all. The 110-pound gun, it appears, can be fired but 95 times, and after that becomes incapable of berance," she cried. "I told you- ing used, and requires repairs. Now, What-what must you think of the cost of the piece being $82,400, it is necessary to estimate the cost of wear at about $868 for each shot, thus raising the cost of each charge to $1,700. -They struck town Tuesday, pictures of rugal health and unsophisticated happiness, says to Sidney (N. Y.) Record. Down our main street they wandored, side by side, hand in hand. They saw not the light of heaven; naught but the light of the gentle flame of love illuminated their path and enabled them to see their way to Justice Pierce's, where their aching, throbbing hearts were soldered into one, blissful and indivisible forever and evermore. Venus and Adonis in this case was represented by Lester D. Newton, of Norwich, and Miss May Hulbert, of Walton, After the nuptial knot was knotted the happy pair went to Hotaling's grocery and invested in two slices of watermelon Unpardonable Offense. Mrs. Gazzam-I'll never speak to Mrs. Jaysmith again. So there! Gazzam-What's up?

Mrs. Gazzam--She offered me a seat the street car, the impertinent thing! Gazzam-I should think that was kind of her. Mrs. Gazzam-Would you! She said: "Take my seat, please; I am younger than you." O, I could eat her!—West INCOMES OF LAWYERS.

A Limited Number Earn Large Sums While the Majority Barely Exist. The much mooted question of the average income of lawyers, as compared with those of other pursuits, can never -Celetine-"Why didn't you take that be determined with accuracy, because seat the gentleman offered you?" Earn- the principle of the success applying Because I would have had to with greater aptness to the legal career sit next to that woman whose dress than to any other, lawyers are the most reluctant of any class to admit the meagerness of their individual incomes Montreal that women in want of help and perhaps the most disposed to exaggerate them. Every body knows that certain lawyers in New York have great a little of every thing in general and incomes. Some are even mentioned as prisonment.

—Jockey — "Can't ride to-day, Mr. making $100,000 a year from their practice. While is is doubtless true that the first three months of his service more than that sum of money has been made in a single year by several of the sick; but I've got a sliver in my finger great legal lights yet it is doubtful and I'm afraid they'd make it out that whether any of them ever continued to average so much from his practice sev- by him. He apologized to the men he eral years in succession. The men who > be from $25,000 to $50,000. In the next class is a much larger number of first-class lawyers, whose income ranges from $10,000 to $25,000. Common report would include 200 to 300 speaking, there will be a general inmen whose names seldom or never appear in the newspapers, and who are comparatively unknown to the public. They are known as "office lawyers"often the best trained legal minds that furnish the law for the use of their partners with the more showy talents of the advocate. Some of them are general counsel for one or more great corporations, to which they devote all their time and energies under a general retainer, which precludes the acceptance of other clientage. The noteworthy point in the present connection is that nearly all of them will admit that until age their incomes were small. But only about 5 per cent. of the 6,000 odd individuals on the New York law porter. "It is unspeakably valgar. The list has been mentioned. How about the other 95 per cent.? Perhaps 30 per cent. make from $4,000 to $10,000; but in the world that disgusts a person it is mate. It is the big majority that still street car and begin paring away at his | melancholy this struggle has become to hands. Don't do it, for it is vulgar to many may be imagined from a glance at the newspaper advertising columns and -A gentleman who wrote concerning a visit to some of the large law offices, the price of board in a country town is where lawyers advanced in life are serv said to have received this telegram in ing in clerical positions on small salreply: "Board, $30 a week, including aries. The following advertisement, cut washing up the carriage and piano from the Law Journal, tells a story Robinson." He wrote in an- which we may hope is not common:

-N. Y. Tribune CONDENSED MILK.

How It is Prepared for Market in the Large French Establishments. Press. Condensed milk is made as follows:

The milk, as soon as drawn, is taken by established in each village or group of villages. The dairies are run by a syndicate with which the manufacturers first time in a water bath, and a second The man who was hurrying into the time in copper vessels, where the temgrade. It is then sweetened by adding weight, the sugar being forced into vaccuum pans by means of a pump. condensing the beet root, having a double bottom and spiral pans, water contained in the milk is removed in the form of vapor by means of a jet, which is connected with the top of the vacuum pan, and which is operated by means of a pneumatic pump. When the milk has been sufficiently condensed, it is removed from the vacuum pans and cooled in vessels placed in reservoirs of running cold water. It is only necessary now to pack the milk into tin boxes cylindrical in shape and hermetically sealed, the box and contents weighing one English pound, and being in condition for shipment to any part of the world. In the preparation of the condensed milk, it may be observed that the milk, as taken directly from the cow, has on the one hand simply been deprived of the water it contained, while on the other hand the only addition consisted of pure sugar, which is designed to preserve the milk better. It contains all the elements of the fresh milk, which has practically undergone no modification, the boiling of the milk under slight pressure having never passed eighty degrees centigrade. It can be affirmed, therefore, that the condensed milk possesses all the nutritive quali-ties of fresh milk.—La Nature.

Railroads Here and Abroad. A comparison has been made between railroad operations in the United States and in Europe, by taking the Prussian system as typical of the one, and the Pennsylvania system as representative of the other. The Prussian system embraces 16,800 miles, and is owned by the State. The Pennsylvania system is 7,884 miles long. The total earnings of the former in 1887-8 were $180,000,000; and of the latter, $123,000,000, so that the Prussian, with more than double the mileage of the Pennsylvania, only earned 50 per cent more money. The earnings per mile of the Prussian were $10,600, of the Pennsylvania, $16,000. The Prussian lines carried 191,600,000 passengers, more than double the number transported by the Pennsylvania namely, 78,000,000; but, on the other hand, the Pennsylvania carried 122,000,-000 tons of freight, against only 99,000,-78,000,000; but, on the other 000 tons carried by the Prussian roads. -Railway Gazette.

-Two friends were looking at Elihu Vedder's picture of "The Sea-Serpent" in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. 'What do you think of it?" asked one. "Woll, there's a greateel in that picture," replied the other. - Harper's Bazar.

A STRANGE FUGITIVE.

What an Amiable Sheriff Did to Escape Tom Maul was the best-natured man of Denver, Col. n the county. He had so many friends they embarrassed him. He had to beome a total abstainer tokeep from beoming a drunkard. It was only in this way he could shield himself from the for three weeks." generosity of his friends. One day he was elected sheriff. This was a compliment spontaneously extended. To be sherifi in that county meant to draw then the average brain has a long time a salary. Tom, whose trade was doing nothing particular, was delighted. He the first three months of his service Maul made four arrests. He had a couple of sales. He was affability itself. It was almost a pleasure to be sold out arrested and made as many excuses for them in court as possible. He spent most of his time in finding homes for stray dogs and keeping decrepit horses off the street.

One day the county was electrified. A murder had been committed within its precincts-hitherto guiltless of blood. Tom Maul arrested the murderer. That night when he sat alone in his room old drowned not long ago himself. He went far enough to discover that death by over forty years old, and, generally temperature, Tom," said he. He had been present when Maul was born. crease in income from the fortieth to hundred and five," he remarked, wiping his thermometer. "Are you going to hang that man if he is found guilty?" Tom shuddered.

The county court was not a busy one. There was plenty of room on the docket for trial of a murderer, who had killed a good citizen. Tom Maul was more sociable in a way. At least he no longer refused drinks, though on the other hand, he had ceased to laugh or tell his funny stories.

The murderer was found guilty. day was set, according to the law of the State, for his execution by hanging. The gallows was built of fresh-smelling pine. Tickets of admission to the hanging were extended to the press and prominent gentlemen of the city. women took satisfaction from the fact that the hanging was to be on Friday. Mrs. Maul awoke in the middle of the night and saw the figure of Tom over by his little son's head. She heard him weeping, but she was very sleepy and her eyes closed in spite of herself.

The morning came with sleet and wind. Maul was not to be found. Mrs. Maul knew nothing. A deputy sheriff was appointed and the execution took place. Maul was heard of by no But in the winter a body one. snow, and in the frozen hand was a bunch of sea pods, as if they had been the result in the result in the start in the result in the start in the st found in the woods, half buried in the the plaything of the man's last moments. On one of these hands was a very glad I met you. I want you to inring with a cameo. Mrs. Maul recog. troduce a bill compelling all brass nized it. It had been worn on the hand bands to join the militia, and in case of of a man who, in a new sense of the word. was a fugitive from justice. He fled, not from execution, but from the admin- come a law! then what?" Villageristration of the law .- St. Paul Pioneer

A USEFUL BURGLAR.

He Happens Along in Time to Make Him-

The Echo de Paris tells an amusing story of an event which, it says, oc curred a day or two ago. Two gentlethe key. It was impossible for the visitors to get out, or for the tenants of the Ram's Horn. house to get in. It was about eleven by. Our two gentlemen, who knew a we hardly know where to go." Susietenant on the ground floor, got out by "Why don't you go where you went last one of his windows, and promised to year?" Bessie-"To Farmer Haycut's? find a locksmith. All the shops were That's where we were intending to go, shut, however, and none of the lock- only we heard that Farmer Haycut smiths in the quarter would take the made so much money out of keeping trouble to answer when the bell was summer boarders that he came to the rung. Never a sergeant de ville could city to live in style."-Yankee Blade. be found. Failing to find an officer, they asked where was the nearest police station. The one in the Ternes had The Countess Sarolta Vay's Marriage to been shut up for a couple of hours, the one at the Batignolies the same, and at the third they were sent about their business. Meanwhile it was one o'clock, Their would-be deliverers were beginsuspicious-looking individual stumbled against them.

don, sir, but you don't happen to have a immy and a set of false keys in your "Is it to crack a crib?" "Alas!" one whom we can rob at present; our friends are all at the seaside;" and then quired of him. "All right. But get I don't want to give free lessons." They returned to the house, and our friends announced that a locksmith had been found, and begged the benighted ones to make way for him. They let him pass, and the burglar opened the door in the twinkling of an eye, amid a perfect wanted to give the honest burglar a couple of francs, but, drawing himself among pals!" And that is how it came to pass that in one of the best quarters into their house, thanks to the admirathe true night guardians of society.

Changed His Mind. Turaccioletti has an awful toothache, ut is at the same time in mortal dread of the operation of "having it out." He knocks at the door of a dentist. "Is the dentist in?"

"Yes, sir." "Oh! At what time does he go out?" "At three o'clock." "Very well, I'll call again at three."- PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-A mountain of alabaster is supposed to have been discovered 150 miles north

-First Cierk-"Business pretty good at your place?" Second Clerk - "O, yes! It has been so rushing that they have not had time to pay the hands

-Prof. Donder, of Utrecht, has discovered that it takes the brain .067 of a second to elaborate a single idea. But to rest afterward. - Exchange. -Proud Mother-"At last, my dear, your education is finished, and you have liplomas from the highest seat of learning in the world." Cultured Daughter (wearily)-"Yes, and now I'm too old to marry."-N. Y. Weekly. -It is customary in Russia for travelers to carry their own bed-linen, pillows, towels, etc. That is better than carrying off the towels, etc., belonging to the hotel, as is frequently done in this country .- Texas Siftings. -A negro drayman while driving a Iray heavily loaded with merchandise at Macon, lost his balance and fell off, and the dray passed directly over his neck. Strange to say, it was not broken, but the negro's injuries were serious. -"That new girl of yours is rather a shrinking, modest creature, Scadley, isn't she?" "Well, I should say she was. I didn't visit her more'n a week before she suggested that I turn down the light in order that she might hide her blushes."-Philadelphia Times. -Larkins-Divorces are not numerous in Japan, I believe." Bunting-"I don't know; but how did you form that opinion?" Larkins-"From the fact that women are not permitted to appear on the stage in that country."-N. Y.

World. -Mamma-"Um-ah-my dear. This young man who is calling on you so con-stantly—do you think he has any inten-Laura-"He doesn't whether he has or not. I am the only one whose intentions are going to cut any figure in this deal."—Terre Haute Ex-

-Pat-"This is a great scheme." Bridget-"Phwat is?" Pat-"I see that a man can get a post-office money order for $100 for 45 cents. I have a dollar left, and I'll git some av thim ordhers this very day and sthart in business again. This is a great country."-New Hampshire Republican. -Bibliomaniae-"What I want now is a suitable motto-please don't touch that book; I paid forty dollars for the binding alone-a suitable motto for this room. What would you suggest?" Cynicus-"Why not adapt Coleridge-

-Villager-"Ah! Congressman Blank, war march to the front. Congressman "Um! Suppose such a bill should be-"Then what? Why, we'd get up a war." -Good News.

-A Clue.-Within a hammock snug they sat But how the two behaved, One could not tell, it was so dark, Had it not been for the remark "O, George, you must get shaved!"

-Philadelphia Press. -A woman may fret and chafe bemen-a journalist and an artist-were cause the pudding is overdone, or get about to leave a small hotel in one of her nerves all into a snarl if her husthe avenues radiating from the Arc de band happens to bring home company to Triomphe, where they had spent the dinner unexpectedly, but when it comes evening. Unfortunately, the concierge's to wrapping up a sore finger she stands cordon was broken, and he could not find at the top of the heap, with a mien free

-Susie-"Going to the country this o'clock, and there were but a few passers- summer, Bessie?" Bessie-"Yes; but a Pretty Young Maiden. Prof. Krafft Ebing, the famous specialist in mental diseases, in a book just published devotes a long chapter to an and a long line of benighted tenants was interesting case which came before an drawn up before the fast-closed door. Austrian court of justice about a year ago, and, without attempting to explain ning to lose courage, when a very its cause, says that it would be well for doctors to take note of it. In November, 1889, the father-in-law of Count Sandor The artist, who had all his wits about Vay accused the latter of having obhim, stopped the man quietly, and tak-ing off his hat said: "I beg your par-pretenses. The trial showed not only that this was quite true but that Count Vay had forged documents and had connocket?" The man looked at them sus- cluded a sham marriage with the prosepiciously for a moment, and then whisp- cutor's daughter, being in reality not a man at all, but the Countess replied the journalist, "we know of no Vay, who had for years pa-sed herself off for a man by wearing men's clothes. The Countess Sarolta's father, a spendthe artist explained to the night wan- thrift, who ran through 1,500,000 florins, derer what was the service they re- brought up his two children as his crazy mind dictated. The girl went as a boy the inquisitive people out of the way. and the boy as a girl. When the boy reached fifteen he became a cadet and the comedy ended for him. Not so with Sarolta, who was known as Sandor. Belore she was eighteen she drank, smoked, fenced cleverly, spent the evenings at cases, and had several love affairs. Everybody in Buda-Pesth took her for choros of thanks. The two gentlemen | man. Three years ago she made the acquaintance of the daughter of a government clerk who had just passed her up with dignity, he exclaimed: "Sir, examination as a school-mistress. After two years of courting they eloped and were married in Hungary, a false priest of Paris citizens in distress, to whom | Miciating and an intimate friend acting the police refused help, were able to get is witness. The pair lived together for vix months, until the father-in-law, ble institution of the corps of burglars, slarmed by the sad state of the "Count's" inances, sued him for fraud. It has not been possible to ascertain whether the wife was really attached to her "husband" or whether the fear of being the object of ridicule kept her quiet. Sarolta Vay was acquitted. She returned to Buda-Pesth and to her male attire and her habits of smoking and drinking.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

She writes for the newspapers, and is not without talent. Her only grief she declares is that she has been robbed of what she calls her lawful wife. - London Daily News.

FARM AND GARDEN.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT.

This Is Good Advice for Any Season, But Should Be Especially Heeded Now. The prospective shortage of feed renders it extremely desirable that no product of the field be this fall allowed to go to waste. In some sections of the farther West where corn and corn-fodder have of late years been so plentiful as to engender the most extravagant systems of management there will doubtless be required the exercise of the highest wisdom and economy to enable the stock-grower to carry his animals properly through the winter The advisability of constructing siles for the better preservation of all the nutritive matter of the drouthstricken corn is being seriously considered in some sections where an appeal to such methods has heretofore not been deemed within the range of possible necessity; and while there will perhaps be much difference of opinion as to the real value of some of these more modern innovations in Western farm management, there can be no doubt that the stern school of adversity through which many farmers are now passing is bound relation to the husbanding of all food products which would be brought home in no other way.

It may almost be said of our Western forage crops we have each year either a feast or a famine. When the fields yield up their riches with a prodigality scarcely known to any other land, and granaries groan beneath their overflowing loads, there is enough nutritive substance lost through sheer indifference to tide us through these oft-recurring seasons of partial or total failure. But people are not apt to profit by such experiences. Now that the shoe has begun to pinch severely many bewail the lack of foresight which led them to rely too implicitly upon what Dame Nature might have in store for 1890, but the extremes of climate to which we are at all times subject should by this time be well enough understood to induce more conservative practices. Those who have not studied how to save when they were blessed feed are not in a very good position to heavy rains may yet result in so generous a growth of autumn vegetation Breeder's Gazette.

ENEMIES OF THE POTATO.

They Are Many and One of the Worst Is

Man Himself. One could almost say that man is one of the worst enemies of the potato, if we may judge from the manner in which he sometimes neglects one of his best of vegetable friends. While it requires a warm, rich soil, he gives it a watersoaked clay bed, and when the feeble plants come to the surface no encouragement is given them to struggle against the weeds that threaten to choke cut the last spark of life.

Many insects prey upon the narcotic herbage of the potato, the most destructive of which is the Colorado beetle. But with this well under subjection by a fully understood plan of applying London purple or Paris green, there re mains now only to develop the methods of overcoming the blights and rots, the worst of which is the so-called wet rot. This is due to the growth of a low form of vegetation closely related to the mil-dew of the grape. It first appears on the leaves as frosty patches, and from there it grows down the stems, and finally its slender threads reach the tubers, causing them to rot.

From the fact that the leaves are first attacked, and the rot works down the stems to the potatoes, it is evident that when the leaves and stems are dying prematurely the tubers should be dug at once. Let the potatoes dry thoroughly in the field after digging, and store only the sound ones in a dry place with a good circulation of air. Avoid a damp, poorly ventilated room. The vines and all decayed tubers left in the field should be burned.

As preventive measures at planting time it may be suggested that a second crop should not be grown where the previous crop failed from the rot. The seed should be free from the trouble, and therefore only sound potatoes are suitable for planting. Early varieties, planted early, are most apt to escape, for the rot does not get started usually until midsummer. Experience has demonstrated that it is best to hill the potatoes somewhat at the last plowing, as many germs of the disease fall from the leaves and are washed down to the tubers with the rains.-American Agriculturist.

Protecting Small Bridges and Culverts. The greatest danger to bridges and culverts occurs at flood or high water time, when driftwood chokes the waterway under the bridge, causing overflow and often great damage and destruction.

The danger may be greatly obviated by following the plan herewith illustrated. It consists simply in setting a stout post from two to four feet from the entrance to the bridge, on the up-stream side. All driftwood and flotsam, instead of floating down against the walls of the bridge, lodge against the post in mid-stream. Even should the space between the post and abutments on both sides be filled with rubbish the mouth of the bridge will remain unobstructed. and the water will flow through, under and over the obstruction with perfect

MOUNDS FOR YOUNG TREES.

Their Importance in Strengthening and Also in Protecting a Young Orchard. An inquirer asks if it is an advisable practice to place mounds about young rees for winter; he has heard it strong y objected to because when the wind whips the trees about, a hole around the tree is formed, which becomes filled with water, and is worked into mortar, to the permanent injury of the tree.

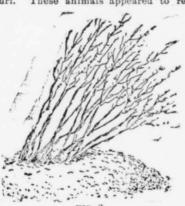

In answer to this inquiry-it is a good practice to make small mounds, for three objects, the chief one for the exclusion of mice, which will never asend a smooth bank of hard earth unler snow. Planters may judge of the langer of the incursions of mice. If the trees were planted in a grass field, the danger would be great without this protection; in clean cultivated ground it would be very small, except near the boundaries, which are more or less grown with weeds and grass. In such case the trees near the outside would be safer with this protection.

The other two objects are, stiffening the trees against the wind, and protecting the roots of half-tender kinds against severe freezing in exposed situa-

The harm spoken of by the above inquirer would take place with trees careplanting, with the roots cut short and the full-sized tops remaining, on which the wind would have a strong purchase. With oots carefully lifted, and with sufficient length to brace the trees firmly, and the tops properly reduced by cutting back and thinning, the wind could do no harm. Mounds of earth might then be placed FIG. 1. about them for the purposes already mentioned. If the trees were small or like whips, these mounds, if beaten smooth and compactly, would render useful assistance, with an embarrassment of grain and which would be still better if a solid round piece of turf capped the mound, manage most judiciously in times of as represented in Fig. 1. Their height need. It is to be hoped, however, that should be about ten inches, and they could be leveled down in spring.

But the mounds may be carelessly or as to provide in every locality an abundance of that which for want of a bet- than good. An acquaintance set out a ter term we call "roughness." This large, young orchard. There being secured, the conceded shortage of corn some grass in the field, he attempted and oats will not entail that degree of to save the trees from the mice by suffering and loss which must inevit- means of earth mounds about the base ably follow, in some localities, if there of the stems. The earth was thrown is a continuance of dry weather - around them with the spade in sods and chunks, between which there were crevices large enough for the mice to enter, or, if not large enough they gnawed their way through the pieces of turf. These animals appeared to regard the mounds as built for their own special protection and benefit, and the young trees were girdled and the intended orchard destroyed. Compact, smoothly-beaten mounds would have saved the trees.

The same treatment may be applied to nursery trees received from a distance and heeled-in for spring setting. As the work is often done, the heelingin places the trees in great danger, and we have sometimes seen them girdled by the dozen and upwards, by not filling in the earth compactly in all the crevices, and in not encircling the place which received them with smooth sloping earth, up which the mice refuse to ascend. Fig. 2 represents such trees properly taken care of and free from the danger of mice; the mound of earth which surrounds the trees should be smooth and compact on all sides.

Young orchards several years old and firmly rooted and stiffened are sometimes in danger of being girdled by mice if standing near grass boundaries, or if grass or weeds have been allowed partial possession. A neighbor has set out a thousand pear trees, and they had already begun a vigorous growth. A three-inch snow in March enabled the mice to girdle the whole of them, which he assured us he sould have prevented by earth mounds. He saved them all, however, by bridging the girdled portions with connecting twigs.

HORTICULTURAL HINTS.

Don't like fruit culture, some may say, because it is too "puttering," as one writer puts it. Look here, friend, some of the brainiest men in the world find that there is enough dignity in the business to engage their attention. CAN boiling water be used as a remedy for the currant worm? asks a correspondent. We have seen it stated that jarring the bushes, thus dislodging the worms, and pouring hot water on them on the ground is a good remedy. We again recommend white hellebore. It has not been long since some of our now most common fruits were regarded as a luxury. The demand for them now is as for a necessity. This is a hopeful sign. It indicates some-thing of prosperity for the fruit-grower and a good deal better health for the consumer. EVERY farmer who is the father of children should consider it a neighborly act to grow fruit for these children, for you may be sure, that if the father does not do that, and his neighbor grows fruit, the children will satisfy their cravings at the expense of their neigh-

-Miss Gadder-"Why is it that Miss Longout is always going to the chiropodist's?" Miss G.ssip-"I don't know, but she has been in society for ten seasons now, and I suspect that these visits you speak of form her only opportunity of having a man at her feet."-America.

Harvest Excursions. On September 9th and 23d, and October 14th, the Chicago & North-Western Railway will sell excursion tickets from Chicago to principal land points in the Northwest at the low rate of one fare for the round trip, and tickets will be good for return at any time within thirty days from date of sale. This fayorable arrangement affords an extime within thirty days from date of sale. This favorable arrangement affords an excellent opportunity for personal inspection of the productive country reached by the Chicago & North-Western Railway and connecting lines. For full information apply to Ticket Agents, or address W. A. Thrall, General Passenger and Ticket Agent C. & N.-W. R'y, Chicago, Ill.

Or one thing nobody can truthfully say it isn't in it." That is the letter i.—Philadelphia Press.

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chi-cago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y. cago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y.

On Tuesdays, September 9 and 23 and October 14, 1890, agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway will sell Home-Seekers' Excursion Tickets to principal points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest at rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good returning thirty days from date of sale. For full particulars call on or address agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway.

It requires courage to acknowledge to gray hairs, and that is why a brave man dyes but once.—Texas Siftings.

Will leave Chicago and Milwaukee via the CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY for points in Northera Iowa, Minnesota, South and North Dakota, (including the Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota), Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska, Sept. 9th and 23d and Oct. 14th, 1890. Halfrate Excursion Tickets good for return passage within 30 days from date of sale.

For further information, circulars showing rates of fare, maps, etc., address A. V. H. CARPENTER, General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis. Home Seekers Excursions

Before you do any thing wicked, remem ber that the papers will probably want to mention it.—Atchison Globe.

For washing flamels, Dobbins' Electric Soap is marcelous. Elankets and woolens washed with it look fike new, and there is absolutely no shrinking. No other soap in the world will do such perfect work. Give

Rev. H. P. Carson, Scotland, Dak., says.
"Two bottles of Hall's Catarrh Cure completely cured my little girl." Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Swellings, rapidly, here

FAMILY trees are often the shadiest. It is an odd man who does not enjoy get FLY time -when a mad dog is after you. Texas Siftings.

IDOL words-prayers addressed to them. Texas Siftings It is easy for a deaf man to miss his calling.—Texas Siftings.

The less head a man has the more fre-The sun must be a suspicious character to be so often spotted.—West Shore, Curs a queer figure—the sculptor when he

Love may be blind, but he skips the girl THE people who yacht to be happy cught o be happy, oughtn't they?

White—"When the boat begins to roll I expect my dinner'll come up." Brown—"Why, I thought you bolted it down." "You are looking pretty hard this morning," said the lettuce to the egg. "Yes," answered the egg; "I am just getting over

The large number of proposals of marriage made at the seashore is accounted for. The beach provides the young men with the necessary sand.—N. Y. Commercial Advo-

It is only the man who doesn't know how to play ball, and who couldn't be hired to go and see a game, who predicts that in a few years the game will die out.—Boston Herald. years the game will die out.—Boston herace.

The gambler lives on our hopes, the lawyer on our quarrels, the doctor on our ills and the clergyman on our fears. The millennium will throw these people all out of

BECAUSE a man has climbed the ladder of fortune from its lowest rung is no reason why his praises should be rung in on us continually. With many unsuccessful men the rungs were all right, but the side supports were defective.—Texas Siftings.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the sys-tem effectually, dispels colds, head-aches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities com-mend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading drug-gists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, M. W.

Don't wait until you are sick before trying Carter's Little Liver Pills, but get a vial at once. You can't take them without benefit.

rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents. Try them. "I CAME and saw a saw," said the face

EVERY trace of salt rheum is obliterated by Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. You can't teach an old dog new tricks, but you can buy a new dog.—Terre Haute Express.

from ordinary methods has long been adopted by the makers of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. They know what it can do-and they guarantee it. Your money is promptly returned, if it fails to benefit or cure in all diseases arising from torpid liver or impure blood. No better terms could be asked for. No better remedy can be had. Nothing else that claims to be a blood-purifier is sold in this waybecause nothing else is like the

"G. M. D." So positively certain is it in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in selling it, as they are doing, through druggists, on trial! It's especially potent in curing WHEN a man is convinced that he owes any thing to himself he is always very anxious to pay it.—Binghamton Republican.

It's especially potent in curing Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Eryipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore sipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands, Tumors and Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign in-PRILADELPHIA has presented a clock to the cruiser bearing her name. No one can deny that this is a timely and striking pres-Buffalo, N. Y.

The Daylight

You are an intelligent person and know a good lamp when you see it. The BEST in the market is the "Daylight," whose light is equal to EIGHTY CANDLES! It is the only lamp to read or sew by, and until you have used one you do not know what a PERFECT light is. Send to the DAYLIGHT LAMP CO., 38 Park Place, New York, and get the full particulars.

Bouyancy of Body to which he was before a stranger. They give appetite, GOOD DIGESTION. regular bowels and solid flesh. Nice-ly sugar coated. Price, 25cts. per box.

Sold Everywhere.

BRAID.

the shops in town,

Looking for Braid to bind your gown, Secure the Clasp, wherever found, That holds the Roll on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around. ELECTRIC BELT OWEN'S ELECTRIC INSOLES & PETCH.

OWEN ELECTRIC BELT & APPLIANCE CO. 306 North Broadway, ST. LOUIS, MQ.

UNION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago, Fall Term be

BEECHAM'S PILLS (THE BREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.) Cure BILIOUS and Nervous ILLS 25cts. a Box.

IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.

BORE WELLS! MONEY

Route FARMING REGIONS WEST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST.

SYMPTOMS: Het Gas Fullness and Distress after Eati Stomach, Dullness, Dislike to Eache and Palpitation indicate in cate INDICESTION DOCT. BRONSON'S COMP. PEPSIN TROCHES

WAT STRONG, ATTORNEY AT LAW, 280 Main Street, MEMPHIS, TENN. 27 LARGE BODIES OF TIMBER LAND FOR SALE. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED, 27-NAME THIS PAPER SHEET time you will.

FARMS 16,000 Acres selected. Maps, etc., FREE JNO. SWEETMAN, Currie, Minn

OF ALL DRUGGISTS. MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

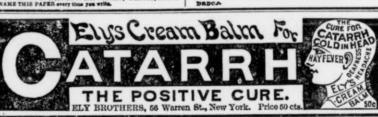

HALF RATES

PENSIONJOHNW.MORRIS,
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS.
Late Princical Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau
syrs in last war, badjudicating claims, atty since. DENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW.
Write immediately for

Wilford Hall's Secret for Sc. stamp. GOOD REALTH

FOR ADJES

A. N. K.-C. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE results from

cleanliness and SAPOLIO:
It is a solid cake of scouring soap Try it in your next house-cleaning and be happy:

CHEAP COMFORT

Can be secured by the small investment in one cake of SAPOLIO when you have a house or kitchen to clean. From the paint to the pots and pans, and including the windows and floors, it is the very best labor-saving soap for scouring and cleaning. All Grocers sell it.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kânsas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the bost facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLJFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake. City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraeka, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado. VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Care to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dako'a.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent E. ST. JOHN,

'The Hon. Deeprock Wellington's Famous Lecture on Health. When the meeting had been opened in due form Brother Gardner announced that the Hon. Deeprock Wellington, of Virginia, was in the ante-room and prepared to address the club. He was celebrated for his talks on hygiene, and probably knows as much about the laws of health as any man in America. He had been in town three days, and during that time had visited many colored fam- quiet for ten minutes. Then he said: good. ilies and given them hints of the greatest value. He was the only orator who had come here during the past year with cash enough in his pocket to pay a day's board, and the only one not compelled to borrow a white shirt and a paper collar from some member of the club.

The Hon. Mr. Wellington was then brought in and introduced. He | journed,-Detroit Free Press. at once created a favorable impression, being built after the style of

BIG RESULTS. speak to you on de subjick of health. a construction train was to be run natur in her simplest form. Man is na, a local pasha came up to the man supposed to be created in a perfeckty | who was dispatching the trasin and healty state. He is a finished piece asked for a passage. The favor was of mechanism. All de wheels an' granted. Then the official wanted levers, an' springs, an' gearin' ar' in the train to wait until his baggage arignerence an' keerlessness. Elder rived with "baggage," The Turk house-a lump o' charcoal 'bout a could not take such a foad, and would y'ar ole, [The Elder blushes.] Dat | not take any part of it. The man in if she war' allowed to. But she ain't ly threatening to complain to the allowed to. Mrs. Toots goes an' puts manager. Two days later the Turk clothes on it, an' she feeds it sweet. was in Varna, inquiring for the supened milk, an' she doses it wid pare. erintendent of the railway. He found goric, an' weakens its spine by his way to the office and was andrawin' it in a baby kerridge, an' it nounced by a servant as "One great is tumbled into a feather bed o' big pasha, he come see you sare." It stituted for the vault, nights to roast between two grown was not until after the injured pasha people. [Agitation.] Dat masheen is had seated bimself that he discovered Grand Jury acknowledges the kind- Mrs. Fangle-"She's so rough that de ole woman she recommends sassy- had come to complain of. The intercome in an recommend dis, dat an' vant, and said, "Eshek (ass) you have ficient Stat 's Attorney, de odder, an' if de baby libs frew it made a mistake!" "Yes, Eff-adt. 1 in' care of himself. You hev seen to me, he said that he wished to him wearin' a fur cap on his head speak in private to the manager of while his shoes let in de snow and the railway. I at once asked my aswater. He wears an obercoat on his sistant to leave the room, but the back an' nuthin' but a thin shirt on Dasha stopped him, and asked: "Who his chist. He's mighty skeart about is the manager here " I said, " freezin' his fingers, while his throat am, and I shall be most happy if I is expozed to blizzards. An' he's can be of service to you." The pasha ailin', ailin'-ailin'-or be thinks he gave a long whistle, and then, beginis, It's herb-teas, root-tonies, pills, ning to grin, said: "True? Then I plasters and cures, until de balance- have made a mistake. I called to wheel in his machinery comes to a complain to you of your conduct the dead stop. [Applause.] Natur' wants day before yesterday and was going to keep goin', but she can't. He to ask for your dismissal. What drinks whiskey, and dat clogs de shall I do now ?" "Have coffee and valyes. He drinks beer, and dat a cigarette, and believe me, it was clogs de wheels. He pours down only the utter impossibility of your lemonade, ginger ale, buttermilk, ice the other day."-Argonaut. water, tea, coffee an' what not, an' den wonders why de fires under his buer won't burn. [Shouts of applause] If you should take an ox an' editors good to ride up town on the put him through the same performance, he'd be dead in a y'ar. "De simplest and plainest laws of health ar' outraged ebery hour in de day by de aiyerage man. Did Adam smoke? Did Eye wear corsets? Did Solomon chew terbacker? Did Ruth chew gum? Did de children of Israel make for a beer saloon after crossin' de Red Sea? Did Rebecca eat gumdrops, an' ice cream an' call for soda water? Adam was de fust man an' was made perfeck from head to heel. How long would he hev remained so arter eatein' a mince pie afore goin' to bed? Suppose he had slept in a bed room 6x8 wid de window down, de doah shet, an' two dogs under de bed? [Yells of applause.] Supposing Eve had laced herself up in a corset, put on tight shoes, sot up all hours of de night, eaten her fill of trash, an' sizzled her hair? When you cum to look into de way man misbehaves himself you can only wonder how he libed to get dar.

"De man who wants to lib to a good ole age an' keep shet of de doctors has got to obsarve certain principles. No dead cats must be albed-room if he must sleep inside de to her mother : house. Bones, fish heads, hens' feather, ole rags an' rats should be forgets?" cleared away from de doah at least twice a y'ar. He must wash his feet the reply. only fruit an' vegetables to eat, but that ?" she exclaimed. Die isn't onhealthy. [Yells of ap- was th reply. - We st Shore.

plause.] Warm biscuits and honey but dey seldom kill. Roast beef an' baked 'taters may or may not cause thicken de blood, but it can be drank | make the following report: in moderation. Watermellyons-"

that thirteen joints of stove pipe felt examining all the witnesses who apwith an awful crash, and such con- peared before us, and have used all fusion resulted that the hall was not diligence, consistent with the public Chantilly. A police inspector, who "My frens, my time is up. Dis has | 2nd. The Grand Jury in the disbin a glorious occasion to me. charge of their duties, also visited carriage nearly full of passengers. I will now bid you good-night."

A Bulgarian Railway Episode. When the railroad was built What am health? I answer dat it is from a country station down to Varplace and all run smoothly. Now rived. After a delay of an hour or what stops de macheen? Man's own so, a string of fifty bullock-carts ar-Toots, fur instance, has a baby at his was promptly informed that the train baby was bo'n in de best of health, charge ordered the train to start, and an' natur' would keep him dat way the pasha was left behind, indignantparilla, an' de ole man he recom- view is reported by the guilty party. mends burdock, an' all de ole women In a rage, the Turk turned to his serluck is wid him! [" 'Hear! hear!"] have-but they said this was the head "My frens, de average man comes man of the read." "Pah. pig, hold tost was our duty to look into, we mighty night to bein' an idiot in tak- your tongue." Then turning coldiy respectfully ask to be disciss g-d.

> The Country Paper in the City. It would do the hearts of country elevated cars in the afternoon of Friday and Saturday on any week in which projected beyond the trees bethe year. On these two days a great hind which Jim took temporary many business mengive only a hasty sheiter. When Jim unloaded his a copy of a paper that is in marked builets had penetrated it. contrast to the city paper, so far as type and general appearance goes. The type is invariably larger and the displays of advertisements and headings to new articles commonly coarser. The ink is not always spread evenly over the page. Nevertheless, the business man opens the paper to the page devoted to village news and reads eyery word there. After that he not infrequently reads the village advertisements and gives a brief look at the editorials. The city man used to live in the village where the paper was printed, and he recogniz's the names of people there as old acquaintances, and commonly old friends. The village paper comes like a letter from home to the city man who was once a villager .- N. Y.

A Forcible Reminder.

A little girl who was with her Twelfth Georgians. lowed to remain under de house more mother on a shopping campaign was A big man of the Twelfth Georgia

Report of the Grand Jury.

a flutterin' of de heart, but I allus of Maryland, for the body of Garrett natt by still behind the body, which risk it. I reckon Java coffee acts to County, respectfully beg leave to stopped fifteen bullets before the

The speaker was here interrupted incumbent upon us as Grand Jurors ways cherish a kindly feeling for the by tremendous applause, so hearty to the best of our ability, by carefully Twelfth Georgia.

Thankin' you for your kin' attenshun the offices, and yaults of the Court After looking inside, he remarked: House, and in accordance with the When he had retired, Brother instructions of the Court, very care-Gardner observed that it was a very fully inspected and examined the "Good gracious!" exclaimed a forcible and logical e-say, and one vanit to the Clerk's office and con- very stylish-looking gentleman, prewhich every brother would do well cerning it would report that it af- paring to get out, 'I haven't the to heed. The meeting then ad- firds greatly insufficient accommodations for the papers and records of tout office; that it is improperly constructed and located; that it is damp opposite corner, then said: modern architecture, and having a through Bulgaria, about twenty and mouldy, and in danger of being about me, and don't wish to run the pleasant and benevolent cast of counyears ago. the whole business of coninjured and probably lost to the risk of loosing it," whereupon he, too structing and running it was in the county if permitted to remain where alighted. hands of the English. The contract-"My dean frend," he began, as he or's habit of looking after everything important and an immediate necesgot settled on his feet, "I ar' happy personally greatly puzzled the Turks. saty that the evils referred to be rento be wid you dis evenin'. As you They could not make out who was edied without delay. We therefore hey doubtless been informed, 1 shall in authority. At one time, when a recommend that the County Commissioners at once take such steps as may be necessary and proper to pro- right track." vide additional vauit room in such > ords of the county. We also visited the jail, and take pleasure in commending the present encumbent upon the cleanly and comfortable manner in which the same is being kept.

> manner as to remove the grounds of by afford ample, safe, dry and convenient accommodations for the rec-

We also examined the surroundings of the jail and in view of the fact that a well is being put down near the stable we would recommend that the water closet attached to said stable be removed to a safe distance and that the dry earth closet be sub-outer order befo' it is a y'ar ole. Den before him the very man whom he ness your Honors have shown us in it would be a still more expensive

We also acknowledge the material sey's Weekly.

Having as far as we know transacted all the business before us or JOHN C. DUNHAM, Forestanti.

T. ue Copy-Test: E Z. TOWER. Clerk.

Told by Two Veterans of Chickamauga.

Of all the reminiscences of Chickemauga's iron hail storm, Jim Brotherton's experience was the incdest strain on creduity. Jim was fighting "the best he knowed how." He was in the thickest of the assault on Snodgrass Hill. As he charged across the road and over the field toward the Dyer farm, Jim caught a grimpse of the house he was born in, But valor did not make Jim forget wish that forced me to leave you discretion. He took advantage of all the pine trees he could when going in and coming out of the fight. On his Orders for Lumber and anything in my line back was strapped his knapsack, and over the knapsack was rolled his blanket. The two made a hump E.M. SPEPDEN. glance at the evening papers and knapsack and blanket the night after then immediately draw from a pocket | the battle he found that thirty seven

"Yes sir," said Jim, looking the listener straight in the eyes. "Thirty-seven bullets had gone into my blanket and knapsack-thirty-seven bullets and two buckshot. If I had that blanket and knapsack now I would'nt take $1,000 for it. After the battle Igave them to mother and told her to keep them for me until I come back from the war. But you know how it is when folks is moving around. Things get lost, I don't know what became of the blanket or knapsack."

of Jim Brotherton in picture-quene-s. He was private Sinnatt, who came ali the way from Virginia to attend the reunion, Private Sinnatt was particularly anxious to meet and renew than a week. He may love his dog, promised some picture cards by the saved his life, Private Sinnatt said. but de dog should be giben de parlor clerk. After awhile she whispered He explained how. When he got into what seemed to him the hottest "Mamma, what will we do if he place he had ever found, Private Sinnait tay down behind a tree which "On, we'll jog his memory," was wasn't more than eight luches through and made himself as small as now an' den, even if it is a little ex- When the purchasing was com- possible. While he lay there wor- THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the subtra trouble. Good, plain water is pleted both the clerk and the mother dering how long it would be before what his system wants, an anything had forgotten, and as the latter he would be hit a strapping fellow else is an injoory. Let de air into turned to go she was surprised to see from the Twelfth Georgia grabbed else is an injoory. Let de air into turned to go she was surprised to see your sleepin' rooms, even if you ar' the little girl strike the clerk on the him by the leg, lifted him from behaving claims against the deceased are her by warred to exhibit the same, with the view of the little girl strike the clerk on the him by the leg, lifted him from behaving claims against the deceased are her by warred to exhibit the same, with the view of the leg of the little girl strike the clerk on the little behind on your rent an' expect a head with her little, red parasol, hind the tree, and lay down where visit from your landlord. Adam had "Why, Minnie, what did you do he had been. Sinnatt says the Georgian was about twice as big as he so fur as I kin diskiver chicken pot- "I was only joggin' his remember," was. He couldn't lick him, so he made the best of a bad situation, ust, 1890 crawled up close behind the Geo . may not do you any partickler good, To the Honorable, the Judges of the gian, and kept quiet. It wasn't but Circuit Court for Garrett County: a few minutes until a bullet struck We, the Grand Inquest of the State the Georgian and killed him. Sh . wave of battle passed on. That is 1st. We have discharged the duties why Private Sinnatt says he will al-

> Folled. The train was about to start for was walking up and down the platform, stopped in front of a first-class "Be careful, gentlemen, you have here a couple of sharpers." slightest inclination to travel in such company."

Another, who was sitting in the "So, gentlemen," the inspecter calmy remarked, "now you can set your minds at rest; they are both gone."-La Liberte.

"How do you manage to do it?" "Oh! by lots of switching,"-Chiobjection above mentioned and there- cago Ledger.

"I always keep my boys on the Fogg-"I don't believe in the benficient results of ocean bathing. I had a friend who was seriously injured by sall water once." Fenderly - "How did it affect

Fogg-"It drowned bim."

Baron-"Have you seen young Brummel in his new tennis suit? He locks like thunder."

Egbert-"As found as that ?"-Youters Statesman. Mrs. Unton-"It's rather an expensive luxury to keep a girl and yet Before closing this report, the have to wash the china yourself,"

OAKLAND, MARYLAND,

G. S. HAMHLL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier, A General Banking business transacted, Eg-Prompt attention to collections, 112'89.

SNOWY CREEK MILLS, Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw. ALL KINDS OF LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH

AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY.

D. E. BOLDEN WHUS FIRM.

25 1 vr WM. A. LORAW.

Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

SHERIFF'S SALE. Luder and by virtue of a writ of fleri facia sued out of the Circuit Court for Garrei ounty at the suit of Lloyd Lowndes, Jr. afast the goods and chattels, lands and nements of Hiram P. Tasker, I did selez d levied upon all that lot of ground situ-sine in Gaschill mile above the village.

MILITARY LOT NO. 259,

asquaintance with some of the WEDNESDAY, the 24th Day of SEPTEMBER, 1890, > at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day, E. N. CASTEEL, Estate of David Michael, Deceased.

aving claims
by warned to exhibit the same chers thereof legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 26th day of March next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate.
Given under my hand this 26th day of August, 1890. WILLIAM 3. MICHAEL, Executor, Westernport, Md.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED

Having used the above Fertilizers for abou , which can be depended upon to be a

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind vegetables, will do well to give this a tria ad it will speak for itself.

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express. Address H, WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md

WEDDING INVITATIONS

Job Printing Done at Short NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES, GIRCULARS,

CARDS.

STATEMENTS. LETTER AND

BILL HEADS

of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNUR

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE. A Rare Chance to

Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

> and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

ess lands are of excellent quality, each thas a stream of water running through attle, and springs of excellent water, and antity of valuable timber. The Hooproad passes through the lands and the Park road quite near them. They adjoin farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. ikin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, in Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhoderer and others. ver and others, lese lands will be sold CHEAP and on the ST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

FAVORITE SINGER Warranted for Five Years. LOW ARM OMLY

Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890;

GOING EAST GOING WEST. 71-Accommodation 47-Express..... 15-Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to

cents. WM. M. CLEMENTS,

Manager. C. K. LORD, General Passenger Agent.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the eason.—The West End of Wing-aud-"at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchhorses, and carriage house, ien lot, with Fruit Trees, con-e premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

Registration Notice. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER SITTINGS, 1890,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN. That the

and including the third Monday of Septem-er, that is to say, on the 15th, 16th and 17th Days of

and for four successive days in the month of October, commencing with and including the first Monday of October, that is to say, on the

SEPTEMBER,

6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER,

n the year 1869, from the hour or 8 o'clock a

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER,

n said year isse, from the hour of 8 o'clock a, n, until 8 o'clock p, m,, on said day, the said filters of registration will sit in their respect-ve Election Districts, for the revision of and

Mines, all other days at Bloomington.

5, at Accident,
6, at McHenry.
7, at Oakland.
8, September at Elkins,
October at Red House.
9, at Johnsons.
10, at Deer Park.
11, at Gregg's Mill.
12, at Biddinger.

All naturalized citizens applying for regis-ration will be required to produce their cer-ficutes of naturalization to the Officers of H. O. HAMILL,

Officer of Regist R. E. FRIEND,
Officer of Registration 2d Election District. ISAIAH FULLER, Officer of Registration 3d Election District. JOHN COLLINS, Officer of Registration 4th Election District, HENRY F. LININGER, Officer of Registration 5th Election District, N. C. BROWNING, Ireation 6th Election District. P. A. CHISHOLM, Officer of Registration 7th Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District,
SAMUEL JOHNSON.
Officer of Registration 9th Election District, SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH, Officer of Registration 10th Election District, JOHN C CHANEY, Officer of Registration 11th Election District,
JOSEPH BUCKLE,
Officer of Registration 12th Election District ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Callonsed Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save 550 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most won-derful Blemish Cure ever known. iTCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never falls, Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, 451ve Oakland, Md.

J. P. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

J. F. LEWIS.

3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Md. Pritchard Building, Oakland

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing questigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. [el4-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

35 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Calms, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., abovering store. 6 5 '86 tf.

WARING THOMAS. EWD, H. SINCELI THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery

OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett an Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals Maryland, and the adjoining counties West Virginia. '88 10 6

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, W. P. TOWNSHEND OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County, Mb and the adjoining Counties of West Virgini and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

A. B. GONDER. ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchart Bullding, first floor, back goom, Taird street, Oakland, Md,

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, M4., and offers his services to those wishing Dental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Eik Lick, Pa. 622 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. ## Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.-1y. M. W. M°COMAS, M. D..

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON CAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the peop of Oakland and vicinity. 55 '88 63" Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Cathode Church. PR. S. TOWNSHEND. RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD.

Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and diling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction. Dr. I. B. Mewman,

OAKLAND, MD. CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Office and residence on Milistreet, opposithe Helbig bridge Calishay or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his protessional services to the people offorkland and vicinity.

**Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church

**Catholic Church

**T 296 ANDREW J. HARNE.

AUCTIONEDE: Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY. Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

Nov. 21, 85,- y.

FARM FOR SALE! For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are crected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B, & O. R. K. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or address RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas mable rates. Special inducements and rafes given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the state, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies, 3 15 tf

F. A. THAYER. F. A. THAYER.

TOHN A. WOLF, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-Fe-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds

FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acre I om authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oak and sand sang Run road, six miles from Oakhand, and near the Youghiogheny river.
This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being steet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a zaod occlard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.

The arm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of variable timber.

Call on or address.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, 1589 Republican office, Oaktand, Md.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3459

FOR SALE. VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outpuildings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young

for terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

FEES, OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE C.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agrucies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. ROFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT ed, ook, "How to Obtain Patents," with re rences to actual clients in your State, coun y, or town, sent free. Address

C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington D.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Bultimore Street.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, AND PROPRIETOR OF

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General

Building Material. conduct the UNDERTAKING Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assortment of Cothos, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, it will be my aim to turn out only first class work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their nature pationage. All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

#6" Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890 🛴 6 21 iy.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all un-der fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT, Fairment, W. Va.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AIN CLO & NEW FURNITURE

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. As a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."-L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo. "My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusive-ly for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely Cured Me.

I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence. I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt. For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decorah, Iowa. Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivition. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE,

The first also a five-foot vein of excellent coal do the best stock farms in the county.

The first also a five-foot vein of excellent coal do the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 do the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 do the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 do the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 do the tract. The farm in front of Richmond, after having taken part in twenty-seven battles.

That stock by wondering what the first so considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county. JAS. A. HAYDEN.

Oakland, Md. VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 214 miles south of Oakland ontaining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchar FRAME HOUSE.

containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily I med and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year

For terms &c., apply to THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner,

HOW BULLETS FEEL. s With Wounded Senators Members of Congress. everest pain I ever exper battle," said Senator Cockwas wounded three times, sed by a builet that did not at all. I was riding at the my regiment when it passed ny chin with a devilish whisa slash like a sabre stroke. It like a red hot iron and I it had cut my throat, but on up my hand it only caught a biskers that had been cut off. as no blood and no harm. I t through the arm and both he same battle, breaking the yones, out none of these clips her much as the bullet that Lit not hit me. In fact, while my r go leg became suddenly benumed, I did not suspect till half an hour afterward that a bullet had gone through my left leg, too. The boys discovered it when they were carrying me off. It had not pained me in the least. I dian't know it was touched."

Senator Manderson was severely wounded several times. "How much it hurts depends on where you are hit," he said. "I was on horseback when I was struck at Lovejoy's Sta tion, and for some minutes it felt as if a charge of red hot coals had been shot into me, for it struck the vital centre, the spine. Presently I began to feel benumned in my extremities. and the men carried me off on their guns. But one of my men had a finger shot off and didn't know it. He was lying in his tent pointing up at something when a comrade said: 'Look at your finger, Joe; what's he matter ?"

"Hello!" suddenly exclaimed the ate owner of that member, "someoody must have shot it off." In reply to a question, Senator Manderson said: in battle were not common. I think the soldier generally feels that he ing."

duel at Meriden, Miss., some years most powerful men in the House.

erate.

solid shot howled close by my side the tree, apparently safe." ball haunted me long."

at Vicsburg, and both came out of rupted its flight.

belte of the ball.

ered the jugular, at Fort Donelson, had passed on its way to his hip.

the second and the second second

"Not very pleasant. When I was ately lost consciousness, and escaped | missioner Lyman was in bot fight, the first severe pains. The second toes and traversed my entire foot. I bullet wrapped up in the tast fold. can describe the sensation only by saying that it seemed as if I had been struck a whack by one of the largest planets, or as if some lunatic comet had strayed out of its orbit and selected me for its particular victim. It was a feeling of such comprehensive collapse and bewilderment that it seemed as if I should never recover from the immediate shock. Then came the sensation of faintness, resalting from loss of blood, and the pain. The only liquor I tasted during the whole war was that given at sea, to me after Corinth. They thought it staved off the lockjaw." "How does it feel to be shot?" was asked of Col. Stone, M. C., of Kentucky, who goes about with one leg in England has to pass as plain and two crutches. "I don't know. I was on Morgan's raid, and in the fight of June 11, at dresses like a young one is usually Cynthians, I got my hit. I didn't silly. feel the stroke, and didn't know 1 That a gentleman in homespon apwas hit, but I knew that my walking machinery was out of gear. All suit. I felt was a slight twitch of the bul-1-t at my trousers leg, such as a cat might make with a playful claw, to versation. remind me she was there. But I could not stand on my leg, and its to create more enthusiasm than ever feeling was suddenly deadened. I before. felt the loss of its support, and tried | That every season of horse races knew I must fall, and I twisted and prison. fell up hill. I lay on the field all day and all night."

"Did you ever dodge, Colonet ?" "Yes, I never failed to dodge; but I suppose it did no good. You can not see any sort of missle, and you "'Manifestations' of extreme fear can not hear the spit of a bullet when it is coming, but only when it is go-personally is in the charmed zone of It isn't the luck of every man who safety-that his body is where bullets has been three times successfully do not come, but that if he were to made a target, and the fourth time move much either way he would get slashed with a sword, to come out into danger. I never could get rid of with his body as sound as the day he entered the service. That's the luck "I-saw the first meeting after the experienced by Hon. James Laird, of war between general Wheeler, M. C., Nebraska, who, besides having the of Alabama, and Mej. Powell, Di- usual number of arms and legs posrector of the United States Geological sessed by other mortals, has for years Survey, who had a noted artillery been counted physically one of the Senator Hawley entered the war "You are not a large man, Gen- for the Union as a private, and came eral,' said Maj, Powell, surveying out as a Major-General in command his former antagonist of five feet six. of Richmond, but he was never hit. "'No, nature was not very gener. "Have come pretty near it," he says. the window. ous in my case,' said the ex-Confed- "Horse shot under me, and clothes toughed here and there, but never "But I have stood opposite to actually scratched. I made up my of apoplexy. you,' said Maj. Powell, 'when I mind it was of no use to dodge, for I thought you must be at least seven- saw one of my men dodge behind a are those who take delight in spreadteen feet high. For just as I got my tree once as we were moving up the ing scandal. batteries wheeled up on the hill that hill toward Richmond, and he fell commanded your position one of your dead in his tracks after he got behind and went through three of my men. Col. Herbert, in the House, from That the only reliable thing in killing them in their tracks. It was Alabama, stopped four bullets, the some of the sensational newspapers is a terrible sight. I ultimately drove last one at short range, rendering his the date line. you off, but the work of that cannon left arm useless. "It felt," he said. "just as if my shoulder had been note will return to town much before" Maj. Powell and Gen. Hooker, M. seared with caustic; in fact I believe November. C., of Mi-sissippi, faced each other the ball was still hot when I inter-

the war minus an arm-Hooker hav. Gen. Wm. C. Oates, M. C., of Ala- represented. ing lost his left and Powell his right. bama, was one of the worst shot men Now they are good friends and for who served on either side and yet adopted the "arrogant calm" of the some years they have exchanged lived to tell the tale. He was se- English tourist. gloves, each, on buying gloves, pre- verely wounded six times, and left That the way to suppress objectenant House, Barn and other out-buildings senting to the other the superfluous his right arm in front of Richmond, ionable books is without any pub> teenth Pennsylvahia District, was of winter will be. Gen, D. B. Henderson, the hand- wounded early in the morning at the some Scotch Represents aive, tost a battle of Antietam, where he was by no means confined to the "vileleg at Corinth, but he handles an ar- acting Lieutenant-Colonel of the lower classes," tificial limb so well that few guess 130th Pennsylvania Velunteers. A his injury. Joe Cannon was the rifle-ball entered his right lung and had her day, with not much record champion Congressional dancer, still remains there, having been enwhen Henderson first came up from cysted. For five years after he had Iowa, and he had everything his been wounded the Colonel told he called the "gastronomic director of own way at the National, Joe had suffered from severe hemorrhages and the stomach," seen him on crutches and was sorry although the wound now doesn't for him, but when David came bow- trouble him much it will indicate the ing into the ball room one night approach of a storm in a rather unwithout any support but his two pleasant manner. The first sharp very agile feet, and selected one of pain was followed by a dull, heavy, Cannon's favorite partners for the depressing sensation, and he didn't mazy labyrinths of the german, the know which was the worst. He got giddy waltzer from Danville leaned another leaden Confederate souvenir against the door-post paralyzed and at Chancellorsville afterward. Col. let his little finger wander helplessly Maish has that bullet now, and treasdown the seam of his pants. The ures it highly. It is flattened out more or less di-jointed David was from having come in contact with the bone, and distinctly shows the Henderson was shot in the head, a imprint of the blouse, even to the nearly fatal wound, for it almost sev- fiber of the cloth, through which it and in the foot at Corinth six months In all his hard fighting Gen. Rosecrans was not seriously wounded, "How does it feel to be wounded?" but death was often at his elbow, pro said the General, repeating my ques. One of his aids, Capt. Gareshe, had his head cut off by a cannon balf while riding at his side at the battle struck in the head I almost immedi- of Stone River, Civil Service comand once thought he was wounded. wound was quite different. The ball but on unrolling his blanket after entered between the second and third the battle of Fredericksburg found a

What Mrs. Grundy Says. That busy days for professional politicians have come again. That these are times when the 'real gentleman" is most appreciated. That in some of the finest houses at Newport there is a deal of misery. That he is an addlepate who needs boast of some chorus girl attachment. That ocean races will only end when there is some fearful disaster

That silly girls are once more exhibiting a fondness for papa's coach-

That the American wife of a count 'Mrs." That the old women who acts and pears better than a shob in a dress

That family quarrels are those that ought never be utilized for con-

Toat the autumn fashions appear to brace myself with a gun. Then I adds to the number of crimmals in That it is the proper thing now to be deeply engaged reading Rudyard Kipling. That if all feshionable people had to pay as they go there would be fewer going.

That there will be a choice lot of tales to discuss in Vanity Fair next winter. That people who presume on a little social recognition invariable come to grief. That she is a conceited authoress who puts her picture on the cover of her novel.

licity to the darkest side of social life in town. That of the building of new flats, like the making of new books, there

That the press gives to much pub-is no end. That there is always some secret reason for every failure in the commercial world.

That when "society people" meet, sincerity makes haste to get out of

That it is a wonder half the fashionable folk at Newport do not die That among women to be avoided

That now is the time when brida? parties rendezvous in crowds at Niagara Falls. That scarcely anybody of social

That some of the fashionable grass widows are not as green as they are

That fashionable people have

That stock brokers are already Col. Maish, M. C., of the Nine- wondering what the developments-That cigarette smoking women are

That the masculine girl has almost

That it is a peculiar celefrity to be That weddings for which no cards are issued are sometimes the most talked about. That the social war against Americans in London will not lead to serious consequences.

come a very monotonous mode of cheating and swindling.

That wrecking railroads has be-

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough! For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Collo-Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative alm. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. turgises' DrugStore, and Country Stores.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

* Tell me your mother's name, my dear, And stooping low I paused to hear. The little maid seemed musing:

Why, mamma's name's like mine, you kn
But just because we love her so We call her Mamna Darling."

"Tell me your papa's name," I cried;
The little maiden's eyes grew wide;
"My papa? Don't you know? Why, ever since the baby died Mamma and I have always tried To cheer him from his sorrowic And my mamma and I love best To call him Papa Darling."

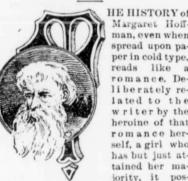

"What did you call the baby, dear?" The answer came quite low but clear:
"The baby—oh, I wonder what They call him now in Heaven; But we had only one name he And that was Baby Darling

Swift years flew by, and once again That little maid so tender Stood by my side, but she had grown, Like lilles, tall and slender; This time 'twas I that called her name, At rosy mist of morning;
I clasped her in my arms and kissed
My tender-hearted Darling.

—Yankee Blade.

TRAPPED BY A WOMAN

Thrilling Experience of an Amateur Lady Detective.

Margaret Hoffman, even when spread upon paper in cold type. romance. Deliberately related to the writer by the romance herself, a girl who has but just attained her majority, it possesses an extraordinary degree of interest, which the modesty of the relator than good. and her apparent unconsciousness of having done any thing remarkable rather enhances than lessens.

two years ago I was a poor girl in an Illinois country town, earning my dail; bread by hard labor. My father had died a year previously. My mother was an incurable invalid. My days were spent in the small dry-goods store where I earned just sufficient to support us The only relatives I had were a distant cousin in New York and an uncle. my mother's brother, with whom my father had quarreled in early life and to whom our branch of the family had never become reconciled. News reached me one day that this uncle, a morose old man, had been suddenly stricken with disease, and had expressed a wish to see his only sister and her child. He was very well-to-do. a prosperous merchant on South Water stree he had accumulated a considerable fortune, and it was with renewed hope that mother and I set out for Chicago.

"Upon our arrival here we at onc went to the store on South Water street, where we met his partner. He the mat. I could hear Mr. Whitney received us with cold politeness, but in- raise himself up in bed. formed us, much to our astonishment, that a visit to my uncle's home on the North side could be provocative of no good-in fact, that my uncle was as much set against my mother as everin fact, that he had long ago disowned his brother's family, root and branch. "The source of the information I had regarding my uncle's wishes was of such a reliable character that this extraordinary statement from his partner set me thinking. I could not reconcile it with the expression which had fallen from the lips of the sick man: 'I would like to see Mary and her little daughter before I

"I determined to act at once. I knew my uncle was very sick-not expected to live, in fact. Something in this man's Why don't you go back into your room face told me that he lied. The reason was hot far to seek. My uncle, as I have said, was a rich man. This fellow did not want near relatives at hand at such a time. I knew that my uncle had made a will years before. Mr. Samuel Whitney probably figured there prom inently, as my uncle was childless. Mr. see what you can do at the house, must go alone. I don't wish Mrs. Whit- doubt of it they were slowly poisoning ney to see me. Never mind why.'

'I was the stronger of the two. My and returned after an hour's absence to for that: but I had had to wash som presence was denied her.

saved a little money. It enabled us to whom I took into my confidence had turned home one day with a large bundle, which I unfolded in the presence of my mother. A display of the ence of my mother. A display of the ''.'Discharge her!' said Mrs. Whitney pale lips a cry of astonishment. Two coarse calico gowns, one pair of heavy cheap shoes, one straw bonnet ornamented with red feathers and blue ribbons, one pair of blue spectacles, one brown wig, two cheek plumpers, a pot rouge, another of powder, a hare's foot such as theatrical people use in their making up and a large red bandana you are. Wait ten iniutes.' handkerchief.

"Then I announced that I was about to make application for a position as that old dotard in the next room. servant in the house of Mr. Whitney, my uncle's partner. how I have had to toady and eringe to "The next morning there issued forth from the little lodging which had seen him to get a small share in the business. the departure day after day of a weary. pale, spiritless, very blonde and quite drop off, I wonder. That last dose refined young lady, an uncouth, rosy, buxom servant girl, whose only defect seemed a somewhat weak eyesight, which necessitated at all times the use of spectacles. For an ignorant country girl, she seemed singularly quick and heart, my knees trembled, I dared smart in the performance of her house-scarcely breathe. To stand alone thus hold duties. In a week Mrs. Whitney had voted me a treasure. In a month I had sized up every member of the household, and come to the conclusion that Samuel Whitney was one of the greatest villains the world had seen in the discovery, and something told is nor-rible death. It was equally impossible long while.

"I had discovered that my uncle was ompletely in the power of Mr. Whitney and his wife. They alone attended to his wants and gave him his mediine. Not another living soul, except the doctor, was permitted to approach him. Once to my great indignation I heard my mother's name mentioned by he sick man. He had evidently been frequently in the habit of asking for his sister.

""Why does not Mary come and see ne?' he was asking. "I have written to them several imes,' replied Whitney. "The liar! Almost I had a mind to ear aside my disguise, rush in, declare myself and comfort him. "And have spoiled every thing. uncle had never seen me. Whitney would have been fluttered at first, he would have soon recovered heroine of that himself, and I should have been igno miniously thrown out of the house. " 'Take some more of this medicine,

I heard Whitney saying. "'No, no! No more of that. Medicine won't save me. I don't like that stuff, Samuel. I think it does me more harm

"A new light broke in upon my brain. I had heard of such things, but I dismissed the idea as too utterly improba-"You find me surrounded now with ble. Whitney could never be re-enactevery luxury," said Miss Hoffman, "but | ing in the nineteenth century the crime peculiar to the age which produced the -he could not be slowly killing this man by poison

"But though I dismissed it the idea eturned to me with tenfold force that ight as I lay in my narrow cot. Alough it was long past midnight, ould not sleep. It was a very close, sultry night. I arose and opened the door f my room to have more air.

"As I did so I caught the sound of " 'What was that?' It was Mrs. Whit ney who was speaking.

"'Nothing,' replied her husband. "But I heard a noise

"'It is nothing, I tell you; rats or mething like that. Go to sleep. "The Whitneys were lying in bed wake, and their door was open. Beyond t was the room of the sick man. An irresistible desire to hear further prompt ed me to steal softly from the room into "'Who's that?' he called out.

"My heart stood still for a moment. 'It's Emma, sir!' I replied. " 'What are you doing out in the pas sage this time of night?' he asked sus-

"'Why, I ain't in the passage,' I replied. 'It was hot and I just got up to open the door.

"'Well, go back into your room,' said Mrs. Whitney, 'and don't let me catch you out of it till morning.' "But I would not go back. Something could not define recalled my suspicions of a previous evening. I felt intuitively that they meditated some evil against my uncle. "'What are you standing there for?

again? called out Mr. Whitney. "It was a trying moment. I knew that if I once shut the door I could not reopen it without making some noise, which might lead to suspicions, which suspicions might lead to an investigation of my trunk and effects which would be only sorely discomforting. Vet as it was I ran an awful risk. stood here my natural self; no rouge no wig, no spectacles, just as I had risen from my bed. Every dictate of pru-dence told me to go back; yet an inner onsciousness whispered: 'Go forward!'

"'Are you going to stand there all night?' came the now exasperated voice of Mr. Whitney. "No, I'm not,' I snapped out: 'but t's hard a poor servant gal can't get a breath of fresh air.' And I banged the loor to with much unnecessary violence as if I had got out of temper.

"Had I retreated into my room? "No. I had resolved to brave every thing. In that brief moment of time there had come a vision to me of my poor helpless uncle in the power of these wretches. I had banged the door to, but I had left myself outside standing in the passage, with beating heart and limbs which trembled, for I knew that the flash of a light might reveal me Whitney did not want the will altered. at any moment, and I had learned by "'Mother,' I said, 'you must go and this time the desperate character of You these people, the Whitneys. Beyond a the man whose wealth they coveted. "It had been impossible to get to the mother never resisted me. She went, sick chamber; it was too well guarded say that admittance to her brother's medicine glasses, and had drained into a little vial the contents of one not en-"How thankful I was now that I had tirely swallowed. A local druggist live in an hunble way for two weeks, told me it was undoubtedly arsenic.

"Well, that hussy's out of the way." on my tours of investigation. I re-turned home one day with a large shut the door. 'Do you know, I don't like the looks of that girl. Discharge

> 'I wouldn't do that. She's the best girl 've ever had, and she's such a fool, too. I'm sure she suits in every way. "'If I thought she suspected any thing,' growled Whitney, 'I'd soon settle her. Do you think sha's asleep yet?"

"'Why, no, give her a little time.' replied Mrs. Whitney. 'How impatient "I am impatient: wouldn't won be? Think of all I have put up with from years of labor, of weary waiting; the indignities to which he has subjected me; should have done it.' "All this time I was standing almost paralyzed with an unspeakable herror. An indefinable dread took possession of me, a deadly terror seized upon at dead of night and listen to those nore speedy death of a helpless man.

Of course, I'm impatient. Will he never wretches plotting how to encompass the

"HUSH." I WHISPERED.

to retreat, for the noise of the opening of my room door would be the signal for instant investigation by the already suspicious Whitney, and I had no time to suddenly assume my crdinary dis-guise. There remained but one course to pursue. It required the exercise of e greatest caution and more courage than I believed I possessed.

"There was a small empty room be ond the apartment of the Whitneys which commanded a full view of the sick man's chamber. Once there I should be comparatively safe. "But to reach it I must pass the door of the room where the Whitneys lay. Carefully poising myself I essayed pass across the intervening space lowly I advanced, moving first one imb and then another, hardly daring to reathe, and feeling forward with my hands outstretched lest I should sugdenly encounter some unexpected ob-

"I had safely passed the open door of the Whitneys' chamber, when I became confused, and in the utter darkness lost my way. Vainly I stretched out my hands. At last to my great joy they fell upon a door handle. I turned it softly and noiselessly and entered. As quickly and as noiselessly I closed it. There was a dull light in the room. I ooked around and by its rays saw that by mistake I had entered the apartment of my sick uncle.

"He was broad awake and sitting up the passage way. My foot caught in in bed staring at me with two glaring, awful eyes. The living image of my mother, as he had known her in her youth, and clad in my white night robe, his diseased and distorted imagination ompleted the illusion. "'Mary,' he gasped, 'do not come to

"'Hush!' I whispered, hastening to the bedside. 'Hush, uncle! Do not make a noise, for God's sake." "He trembled violently. 'I do not understand,' he said, vaguely, as one in a dream. His terror seemed to have departed at the touch of my hand.

"'Listen,' I said. 'I am not Marv. your sister. I am her daughter. heard you were very ill and wished to ee us, so mother and I came to town. We have been here for weeks trying to see you, but they kept us away. Don't be frightened at what I am going to tell The Whitneys are not your friends. They are giving you improper medicine. Don't take it, uncle, for Heaven's sake. It's poison!"

"'Poison! Oh! you don't mean that; and Sam Whitney, too, my old partner. "Yes, uncle, I do mean it, and I'm here at the risk of my life to tell you. Hark, he's coming now to give you your medicine. Pretend to take it, but don't swallow it. It's arsenic.'

"A dreadful expression passed over the face of the old man; but even in that moment he thought of my safety. "Hide, child, hide," he whispered, and he pointed to the closet. "From there I witnessed what confirmed my suspicions. It was Samuel Whitney who poured the draught which my uncle pretended and did not drink. Subsequent analysis has, you know, proved it to be a most deadly poison. Horror stricken at the enormity of this man's crime, with the knowledge that instant death awaited the penetration of my disguise, I awaited only the coming of daylight to pick a quarrel with my mistress, which resulted in my instant dismissal. I left her house to report at police headquarters, but some-thing had alarmed the Whitneys. When the officers reached the house the birds had flown

"My uncle has been dead a year. My mother, sole heir to his considerable estates, lives surrounded, as you see, by every luxury. As I am only twenty-two and am quite wealthy in my own right. presume I am to be envied."-Austin W. Granville, in Chicago Journal,

-Robinson Crusoe-"Well, Friday, what have we for dinner to-day?" Fri day-"Goat soup, goat chops, boiled goat, roast goat-" Robinson Crusoe-"Don't, Friday , I can't go't!"

ARTIFICIAL ICE.

People in India Knew How to Freeze Water Centuries Ago.

The fact that it is now possible to supply artificial ice on a scale and at a is a noteworthy example of the applications of science to the exigencies of lent that noxious microbes were destroyed by congelation, and that no danger was incurred by using ice taken from rivers and ponds known to be contaminated by sewage, has long since been discarded. There is reason to believe that in the United States, where the consumption of ice water is inordinately great, natural ice has been the medium of propagating a notable amount of disease.

To destroy those microbes, which are the germs of typhoid fever and other dangerous maladies, water should be boiled, or, better yet, distilled, before it is subjected to the congealing process. Of course, such precautions are only possible in the case of artificial ice, and if the public were once convinced that were careful to provide such safeguards against disease, the use of natural ice would gradually be abandoned, provided, that is to say, the artificial product could be procured as cheaply. It is an interesting fact that ice was artificially produced in India long before the invention of machines for the purpose. In the upper provinces water was made to freeze by exposing it during cold nights in porous vessels or bottles wrapped in a moistened cloth. In An aniline can be made of any color, Bengal shallow pits were dug and filled but as it will destroy any other dye it were set flat, porous pans containing the the consequent cooling took place with ner that a chromo lithograph is made. flux of heat through the cooled air above the others of aniline. The sponge is Ice made in this way, however, was costly, and when in 1833 natural ice was etc., deftness being required to apply shipped from the United States to Cal- the colors accurately. cutta it was sold for half the price of the manufactured article. On the other Exhibition in 1870 made thirty hundredweight of ice an hour at a cost of twenty-five cents a hundred-weight, and it "now asserted that ice can be manufactured on a large scale for less than 81 a ton.

There has certainly been a wonderful development of the ice trade since the pioneer, William Tudor, of Boston, shipped the first cargo of ice to Martinique in 1805. At one time American ice was sent to England, but Norway monopolizes the ice market of the Old World. It is said that Norwegian ice is superior in staying powers to the manufactured product. - Cleveland Leader.

SPAIN'S QUEEN-REGENT. She Is Extremely Popular Simply Because She Tells No Falsehoods.

A prominent Spanish statesman was asked the other day to what he attrib uted the strange fact that a woman, and a foreigner, held the reins of government successfully in her hands in a ountry so undermined as Spain by political intrigue. "The marvel, if marve there be," was the reply, "can be ex plained in the simplest manner: "The Oueer maintains her position because she is the exact opposite of an intriguing and conspiring woman. tells no falsehoods, has nothing of the hypocrite about her, is as simple and modest as she is honest, and there is nobody in Spain who is not convinced that she tries to do her best for the country. The Queen's popularity -especially with the women of Spain-is a real power which gives her much of the hold which she has over her subjects. Natural tact. intelligence and kindness are also among the weapons by which Queen Christine maintains her position. "Like your own Queen, the Queen Regent of Spain has worn mourning ever since the death of her consort, and only quite lately has she begun to wear jewelry on state occasions. In public the Queen, who is thirty-one years old. appears only with her son, the little King, with whom she takes drives in the neighborhood of Madrid. Queen's two daughters, aged six and seven respectively, talk Spanish, French, German and English fluently, and are both very strong and nealthy looking to look after them." children. Since it has become known that the Queen calls Alphonso XIII. 'Bubi,' in memory of her Austrian home, Spanish ladies have begun to call their children by the name, which-ignorant of its real derivation from bube, boythey trace back to the English term. ingeniously, from 'pupbaby, or more ingeniously, "-Pall Mall Gazette.

The High Sleeve Doomed. It is quite likely that the reign of the excessively high sleeve is about over, at least with the ultra-fashionable, who watch and obey every beck and nod of the "Fickle Dame" who rules fashion's world. Already it has been recorded that at a recent important social gathering the Princess of Wales were a gown the sleeves of which were level with her shoulders. When a royal personage of such power and acknowledged good taste discards a fashion, its death-war rant with the majority is already sealed, as the true English woman follows ever the lead of her Royal Highness, and all good Americans copy closely the styles of their cousins across the water. The very high, very full sleeves are absurd, and in many cases they have proved most unbecoming if not ludicrous. Well cut and not exaggerated, they have been an admirable addition to many gowns, but we believe that the return to sleeves of normal construction will be received with general satisfaction.-N. Y. Even-Wasted Energy. "Ah, ves, his was a wasted life." sighed the bald-headed gentleman. "Was he dissipated? Had he antipathy for work? Was he a gambler, a lover of fast horses, a-worse, far worse! He spent his life en- her good looks. deavoring to raise vegetables which should remotely resemble the gorgeous specimens he had seen in the seedman's catalogue."-Boston Transcript

BUTTON MANUFACTURE.

How Vegetable Ivory Is Transformed Into Vegetable ivory is a nut about the size of a very large buckeye or horseprice suited to the needs of a great city | chestaut, and grows in a similar manner on trees. It is very solid and white throughout, and when polished has all modern life. The notion once preva- the appearance of ivory. The nuts are cut into thin slabs of the thickness of in cracker meal or bread crumbs and the button wished. These slabs are fry in hot lard. then put into a lathe, where they are cut by a die, patterned one-half for the face and one for the back, revolving at a speed of 2,000 revolutions a minute. These halves are so arranged that as egar; pack in a deep dish and slice when one half is brought against the slab the | cold. other retreats. The face of the button is always cut first, then the back die is brought up and, its edge meeting the circular groove made by the face die, the button drops out. The buttons are then thoroughly dyed, and, becoming porous, readily absorb the aniline with which they are dyed.

The dyeing process is done scientifically, but is very simple. If a plain little cream, and fry them slightly in button is desired it is simply plunged fresh butter. When done, place over the manufacturers of that commodity into an aniline bath, but where a variety each cake a layer of strawberry or any of colors are to be applied the process varies. Say it is desired to make a black button with a red design. The design marble by applying a mixture of two is first stamped upon the white button parts washing soda, one part ground with shellac. The button is then plunged into an aniline bath and all first finely powdered and made into a parts exposed are colored. When dry paste with water; rub well over the it is washed in turpentine to clean off the shellac, exposing the design in and water. white. A red dye is then made of fustic, as this has no effect upon aniline. nearly full with dry straw, on which must be used only when all nexts of the button which it is not wished to color water to be congealed. Exposed over are protected by the shellac. Where a night to a cool wind the water evaporated at the expense of its own heat, and applied with sponges, much in the mansufficient rapidity to overbalance the in- The ground color is made of fustic and or the badly conducting straw below. cut into the design wished for a certain color and another sponge for another,

After being dyed the buttons are dried, rolled and polished on spindles. hand, a machine shown at the Vienna As practically no strength is required. and girls are more skillful with their fingers than men, most of the buttons are made by girls. A good hand can make as many as fifty gross a day. When it comes to drilling the eyes, 120 to 150 gross a day can be handled by one girl. The holes are always drilled from the face back. The drill used for this consists of four shafts revolving very rapidly and independently of one another. They are very fine and pass through a guard just before touching the button.

The delicate designs so popular this summer are stamped with a steel die with the desired design engraved upon it. The ivory is soaked before being stamped. The wholesale price of this vegetable is about two cents a pound, so that the buttons do not cost much to the producer.

Most of the buttons used here are from Vienna, and some are worth as much as $10 per gross. When a button goes out of style it is a dead article and can not be forced on the market .- Cincinnati Times-Star ...

HOSPITAL FOR BIRDS.

Diseases of Feathered Pets Cored by a Bird Doctor in London There is a birds' home and hospital on Oxford street, where people can take their pets to be nursed and be cared for. It is kept by Mr. Sumner, and is called the Crystal Palace Bazar. I saw the proprietor, who is an intelligent man. He hadn't very many birds then, but he said:

"I shall have plenty directly, as peo ple will be leaving town; in another month this place will be full." Mr. Sumner takes in any number of birds to nurse.

"A family who left town for eighteen months left me their aquarium and their aviary to take care of, and their bill came to £16." "Do you visit houses?"

"Yes, I have been to four places this morning. One lady in the West End has a large aviary. I have been cutting the corns of some of her birds and the beaks and nails of others. Sometimes I get half a sovereign for attending to her birds, but she also keeps a man solely

"What do birds suffer from princi pally?" "Consumption and asthma-disease brought on by the birds being placed in draughty windows. Consumption is helped on by the birds being indiscriminately fed on all sorts of things that are unsuitable as food. Birds are very fond of luxuries, and the more you give them the more they will eat. When a bird is going off into consumption it is always eating." He pointed to one and said: "He is in a consumption, and he will be like a ball of down to-morrow-all puffed out. Physic will sometimes arrest the disease.

Mr. Sumner showed me a corner where he intended to have a model of Middlesex Hospital built for his sick birds .-Pall Mall Budget.

England's Low-Born Beauties London's low-born beauties are thus alluded to by a letter to the Philadelphia Times: In fact, the far-famed beauty-and it still exists-of England is only to be found in the middle and lower classes. The aristocracy are absolutely ugly in a general sense, and the ugliest of the lot are the maids of honor generally in attendance on her Majesty. On the other hand, the shop girls, the waitresses and bar-maids of London are often absolutely beautiful in both face and figure. The trim black dresses which they wear, free from trimming or adornment of any kind, and their snowy aprons, only enhance their The contrast sometimes of a charms. bevy of waiting women in attendance at one of the great mansions is so strange that one begins to wonder how it is the "Nay, nay," interrupted the bald- lady can not discover the secrets which headed gentleman: "none of these, but enable her maid to possess and preserve

-Some 23,000 persons sleep each night on the Thames in what constitutes the port of London.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Three parts of sand, two of soft soap and one of lime make an excellent scouring mixture for all closets and boards. -Meat Balls: Chop fine the meat taken from a boiled shin of beef; season with salt, pepper and a little powdered sage; mix with a well beaten egg; roll

-Pickled Beef: Cut in very fine pieces the meat from a boiled shin bone; season with spices to taste; add a little well-reduced stock and some good, strong vin-

-For Warts: Here is a new remedy. Make a saturated solution of washing soda. Apply on a bit of cotton. Leave on over night. A few applications are said to soften the wart and cause its disappearance.-Good Health. -Use for Stale Cake: Cut a stale pound cake into slices one and one-half inches in thickness, pour over them a other preserve.-Boston Budget. -Grease may be removed from white pumice stone, and one part chalk, all marble and finally wash off with soap -Apple Custard: Pare and grate two large, tart apples; add four tablespoonfuls melted butter, eight of sugar, juice and grated rind of one lemon, velks and white of six eggs, separately beaten. Line dish with puff paste, fill and bake like custard .- Ladies' Home Journal. -Rice Fritters: Two teacupfuls of cold boiled rice mixed with sweet milk and the yelk of one well-beaten egg. Add a little salt and about four table spoonfuls of sifted flour. Now stir in the white of the egg beaten to a stiff froth. Drop from the spoon the batter into hot lard or drippings, and fry brown.-Boston Globe.

-Rice and Cheese: Take a cupful of cold boiled rice and put it in an earthern dish, with atternate layers of grated cheese. Season generously with salt and butter. Put over the top a small cup of grated bread crumbs, a little more cheese and bits of butter, and cover all with a cup of milk. Bake onehalf hour.-Christian at Work.

-A Fruit Pudding: Line a pudding dish with slices of stale bread, add a a layer of berries or peaches, add sugar according to the acidity of fruit used; strew over bits of butter, then a layer of bread, more fruit, etc., until the dish is full. Cover closely and bake two hours. Sweetened or whipped cream can be served with it.-Orange Judd Farmer.

-- Codfish with Egg Sauce: Chop two or three hard boiled eggs fine. Put a lump of butter as la saucepan on the fire. When melted. add a little lemon juice and the chopped egg. After stirring a little turn this over the fish. Always put fish in cold water when it boils; let a two-pound fish cook two or three minutes; a sixpound six or eight minutes.-House keeper. -ilere is a good way for distinguishing a muskmeion from a canteloupe. Ithas usually nine ridges and these are separated by narrow strips of smooth skin. Look at the latter. If they are green the melon is unripe. If they are greenish vellow and the rough skin on the edges is brownish gray the melon is all right. If it is quite ripe all over it is overripe. If it has no odor it is fit for cattle and you don't want it. The stronger the musk odor the better. Itshould be smelled at the "far end" or on the end opposite the stalk.

THE WOODSMAN'S LIFE

It Grows Monotonous as Soon as Strangeness of It Has Worn Off. Life in the lumbermen's winter camps, deep in the backwoods of New Bruns wick, Maine, or in Quebec, is not so adventurous as might at first appear. It. grows monotonous to the visitor as soon as the strangeness of it has worn off. The noises of the chopping, the shouting, the clanking and trampling of the teams, give sufficient warning to all the wild creatures of the woods, and they generally agree in giving wide birth to a neighborhood which has suddenly become so dangerous. The lumbermen are incessantly occupied, chopping and hauling from dawn to sundown; and at night they have little energy to expend on the hunting of bears or panthers. Their bunks and their blankets acquire an overwhelming attraction for and by the time the camp has concluded its after-supper smoke, and the sound of a few noisy songs has died away, the wild beasts might creep near enough to camp to smell the pork and beans with

At rare intervals, however, the monotony of profound and soundless snows. of endless forests, of felled trees, of devious wood roads, or axe and sled and chain, is sharply broken, and something occurs to remind the heedless woodsman that though in the wilderness he is yet not truly of it. He is suddenly made aware of those shy but savage forceswhich, regarding him as a trespasser on their domains, have been vigilantly keeping him under a keen and angry watch.

The spirit of the violated forest strikes a swift and sometimes effectual blow for revenge. A yoke of oxen are straining at their load: a great branch seems, with conscious purpose to reach down and seize the nearest ox by his hornsand the poor brute falls with his neck broken. A stout sapling is bent to the ground by a weight of ice and snow: the thaw or a passing team releases it, and by the flerce recoil a horse's leg is fractured. A lumberman strays oft into the woods by himself, and is found days afterward, half eaten by bears and foxes. A solitary chopper drops his axe, and leans against a tree to rest or to dream of his sweethart in the distant-settlements, and a panther drops from the branches above and seriously wounds

Yet the forest's vengeance is seldomaccomplished, and on the careless woods-man the threat of it produces no permanent effect. His onward march will notbe stayed. His axe goes everywhere.— Charles G. D. Roberts, in St. Nicholas

LEA [Th's por In the batt And it lie You can be To ask fo There are shun These wi By boys

There are to br Are pris Allured but the co Were th Then choo may The rec

Be wate And when Have co Ople Res

bay Or blotte

Bench rooms o boys. came in celebrate "You" men in John?" "You neber did 12" "No: "One we'll sa er good he wuz. 'munity.

frum al em eas his back gay puss rassel w 'You ka will do groun' gay pu mawnir didn't d ergin.' de no h fall.' "He him 'bo says Ji nebber "De wa'n't time. 'lowed, ergin. said Jir "Den 'peer li keep o you att .. .On You co · · ·T > satisfic 'speck mawni waz erg want? de gay foolish me. jest fu no har has be now ef pussor

in, I wi

widout

"He

"Det him ke like h pusso says J pussor whut sense me o' done f "It gay p you waxed.

> way time you er gwine

NTS.

wo of soft n excellent losets and the meat ef; season rowdered n egg; roll rumbs and y fine pieces. ttle well-restrong vinslice when w remedy. of washing ton. Leave ications are ause its dis-out a stale nd one-half ver them a slightly in place over erry or any

get. from white ture of two art ground chalk, all ade into a over the with soap

d grate two tablespoonsugar, juice yelks and ely beaten. ll and bake Journal. acupfuls of sweet milk eaten egg. four table ow stir in to a stiff the batter , and fry a cupful of in an earthrs of grated top a small bs, a little butter, and Bake onea pudding ead, add a add sugar fruit used: n a layer of the dish is two hours. am can be ld Farmer. Chop two ne. Put a an egg in a en melted. he chopped turn this fish in cold two-pound es. -House listinguisheloupe. It these are of smooth If they are

f they are skin on melon is ill over it lor it is fit. it it. The far end" or

LIFE er camps, ew Brunsnot so adppear. It. or as soon worn off. the shouting of the to all the and they e birth to denly be-Dermen ing and ; and at to expend panthers. acquire for them: concluded sound of away, the enough to ess snows, trees, of sled and omething voodsman he is yet. re forces. passer on and angry ans with est strikes ual blow are strainh seems, ach down hornshis neck snow: the s it, and 's leg is ys oft in is found bears and s his axe, e distant ops from y wounds

s seldom will notwhere. -

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

LEARN TO SAY "NO.19

To ask for advice and take heed;

[Th's poem, which will soon appear in "Pol-In the battle of life you have started, my boy, And it lies with yourself to succeed,
You can be what you will if you only resolve

There are foes to resist; there are tempters to These will meet you wherever you go: But conquests are made, and life's triumphs

By boys who have strength to say: "No." There are billows to breast, there are tempests

There are crosses and burdens to bear; -On highway and byway the unwary feet Are prisoned by pitfall and snare. So many have perished who started aright, .

Allured by earth's glitter and show; But the conquering heroes who stood in their might Were those who could firmly say "No." Then choose at the onset, and write while you may The record no hand can efface: Your name may be wreathed with a garland of bay Or blotted with shame and disgrace. Be warned by the thousands who stumble and

Be watchful, wherever you go. And when you reply to the tempter's low call, Have courage, my boy, to say "No."

THE GAY PERSON.

Ople Read Tells a Story with a Moral Attached to It. Bench Leg John took care of the rooms occupied by a number of college Arkansaw Traveler. boys. One evening when the old man came in the boys were talking about celebrated athletes.

"You've known some pretty strong men in your time, haven't you, Uncle John?" one of the boys asked.
"You better blebe I has, chile. I neber tole you 'bout dat gre't rassler,

"No: tell us about him." "One time dar wuz er man-wall, we'll say his name wuz Jim. He wuz er good size man an' wuz built ter stay, he wuz. He tuck it inter his head dat he could fling anybody in de whole 'munity, an' he done it. Big men come frum all ober de country, but he flung 'em easy ernuff, an' nachully he commenced ter blebe dat nobody could put his back on de groun'. One day a mighty gay pusson come erlong an' wanted ter

"'W'y,' says Jim, sorter laughin', "You kain't do nuthin' wid me." 'I'll try you anyhow.'

"'Very well, an' dat's all de good it will do you.' "Da tuck holt an' Jim laid him on de gay pusson went erway, but de next mawnin' dar he wuz ergin. L"What you want now?' Jim he axed.

"Wants ter rassle wid you." "'Whut's de use'n rasslin'? kain't fling me! "But I kin try."

"'Yas, an' you tried befo', but it didn't do you no good.' 'I know dat, but I wants ter try 'Wall,' sez Jim, 'ez it ain't goin' ter

"He tried him ernuder fall, an' flung him 'bout ez easy ez he did befo'. 'Now,' says Jim. 'I reckon you'll go on an' nebber bodder me no mo."

"De gay pusson went erway, an' dar wa'n't nuthin' seed o' him fur some time, but one day he come back an' lowed, he did, dat he want ter rassle

" 'Dar ain't no use 'n rasslin' widyou, said Jim. 'You kain't fling me. Go off summers an' rassle wid er chile.'

"Den de gay pusson he say: 'It mout 'peer like rasslin' wid er chile, but you keep on errasslin' wid me an' I'll fling you atter while.' "'Oh, dat won't do, weak pusson!

You couldn't fling me in er hunnud "Try me ergin, jest fur fun,' de gay pusson begged. 'Wall, jest fur fun, ter keep my han' in, I will try you ergin.'

"He tried him ergin an' flung him widout no trouble. De gay pusson went erway, 'peerin' like he war puffeckly satisfied, an' de gre't rassler didn't speck eber ter see him ergin, but one mawnin' erbout er munt' later yere he waz ergin. "'Fur greshious sake, whut do you want?' Jim he axed. "'I wants jest whut I allus wanted," de gay pusson 'lowed. 'I wants ter rassle wid you.' "Go on, weak pusson, an' quit vo foolishness. You kain't do nuthin' wid "'Wall, but you won't mine tryin' me jest fur fun, will you? Kain't do you

"'Now, lemme tell you,' says Jim, 'I has been foolin' wid you long ernuff, an' now ef you 'sist on me rasslin' wid you I'll fling you an' fling you hard; yere

"Oh, yas, I yeres you." "'An' still you wants ter rassle?" "Dat's whut I does."

" 'All right, I'll gin you all you want. "Den he seized de gay pusson an' flung 'him kerwhop ergin de groun' an' it 'peer like he dun bust him open, but de gay pusson he git up an' go en erway. 'Dar,' says Jim, 'I bet you neber will bodder me no mo'. I neber seed sich er' bitious pusson. He has yered folks talk erbout whut er great man I is, an' he ain't got me o' my gre'tness. But I reckon he

"It wuz quite er little while befo' de gay pusson come back, but one day yere he come. 'Whut on de yeth kin you want dis time?' de mighty rassler axed.

'I wants ter rassle wid you, sah.' "'Now, look yere, ef you doan go 'way frum yere an' quit bodderin' me I'm gwine hurt you. I ain't got no time ter fool wid you. I rassles wid men. "'I'm a man,' say de gay pusson.

"'Now, look yere, ef I grabs holt o' you ergin you will wish I hadn't, fur I gwine hurt you an' hurt you bad.' "'I wanter rassle,' says de gay pus

"'Den Jim he grab him an' bless yo tife da had quite a tussle 'fo' Jim got is often a valuable stimulant. When him down, but he flung him at las' an' dung him nonst'us hard.'

says Jim, 'an' I lay you don't see him roun' yere no mo' tryin' ter take my honors erway frum me.'

yere come de gay pusson. "'Whut, ain't you got ernuff?' says Jim. "No, ' says de gay pusson. "'Now, yere, ef you 'sist on me rasslin' wid you ergin I'll fling you an' break

"'I wanter rassle," says de gay pus-"Jim grabbed holt o' him an' da went at it. Da rassled an' da rassled an' da rassled, an' sometimes it would 'peer like Jim had him; but de gay pusson allus flounced roun' somehow an covered de 'vantage dat he had los'. Atter while, when ever' body thought kerwhop. De gay pusson hurried er

"But what was the name of the gay pusson?' one of the students asked. "'Chile, de name o' dat man wuz whisky. You is all flingin' him monst'us easy now, but keep on rasslin' wid him an' he gwine grow stronger an' stronger. an' one deze days when somebody go ter help you up da'll find dat de gay pussor has killed you." -- Opie P. Read, ir

KILLING ANIMALCULES.

the Evil. The following item has been going neighboring farm.

the rounds of the papers: "Mr. Thomas Helsop, of Birming vision that he is called the 'living deeply. Occasionally he would pause microscope.' He will not drink water in his employment and would gaze inbecause he can see the animal life ir tently up the track, whose rails glisit, but drinks whisky, etc."

will be able to see "animal life," tling and painful to the eyes. groun' widout no trouble er tall. De gay pusson went erway, but de next so important that we submitted it to lown the track and began to whistle that accomplished scientist, Dr. Felix L. Oswald, and received from him the following reply:

1. Will an admixture of alcoholic in impure water (and, for that, in any water exposed to a moderately warm atmosphere for a couple of hours)? It will. To deny it would be denying the fact that alcohol is a poison. Any strong poison can be used as a disdo no harm I reckon I'll try you ernuder infectant and antiseptic for the destruction of organic life-germs or the prevention of their development. Arsenic is thus used by taxidermists, alcohol by collectors of zoological curiosities. A oad pickled in brandy can be preserved for years; maggots and microbes that would otherwise promptly inaugurate a process of putrefaction know better than o touch viands served in a sauce of vir ulent narcotics.

2. But, can articles of food and drink be improved by such admixtures? "Is it not right, even a duty," to use a lit tle antiseptic alcohol, not only for our selves, but for our wives and children? We might as well undertake to keep off gnats by drenching our night-shirts with vitriol. We might as well recom mend a plan of expurgating flies by filling our parlors with clouds of arsenic fumes. The vender of alcoholic disinfectants proposes to obviate a possible. us to run a serious and almost inevita microscopic disease-germs; our lungs, of-almost omnipresent-microbes in the course of a summer day. Nature against natural perils. Alcohol, on the other hand, even in small doses, inflicts a positive and unavoidable injury, and, oreover, the alcohol habit, like every poison-vice, is progressive; a few drops, administered once a week for "medic inal purposes," will soon beget a craving for daily drams-with beneficial results limited to the pocket of the nostrum vender.

'malt whiskies," 'bitters," etc., pro would liven you up a bit." pose to exorcise comparatively harmtimes seven able-bodied accomplices. There is a better way of dealing with here. infusorial microbes.

The question as to the prophylactic value of alcoholic febrifuges (---'s Bit Champ?" ter's etc., etc.) turns upon an exactly analogous dilemma. The cure is worse than the evil, and (since alcohol, in the long run, tends to weaken the diseaseresisting power of the system, and can too. not be mixed with all articles of food sense ernuff ter know dat he kain't rob and drink nor with the atmospheric air) is, after all, apt to prove no cure at all. Dram-drinkers succumb to numberless disorders that spare total abstainers.-Better Day.

ONE ounce of alcohol raises the pulse three beats per minute, or, in other words, causes the heart to beat while its effects last at the rate of 4,300 beats more than natural in the twenty-four hours. The heart can not be made to do this extra work without suffering. The bad effects of alcohol on the brain and nervous system are equally demonstrable.

You will find plenty of people to throw cold water on any new undertaking at the outset. But Temperance peo ple must not be afraid of cold water. you have made the work succeed, those very people will be the first to applaud 'Now. I reckon be dun sot ernuff.' | your success .- Better Day.

CHAMP HEATON.

"All de folks ergreed wid him but bless yo' I're, de ver' naixt mawnin' Search of Wealth. Search of Wealth.

build, pompous in bearing, loud in voice and self-assertive in manner, dressed in a hickory shirt, which were rolled up above his elbows. brown overalls, no shoes on his feet and a battered old dat Jim had him sho, de gay pusson gir straw hat on his head, sat on a nail keg er suddent flounce an' down went Jim on the back porch of Pap Raper's store way, an' de folks stood waitin' fur Jim ter git up, but he didn't. Da went ter back porch of the store was used as a ernoon of a hot July day; and as the him, an' whut you think da seed? Di landing platform for passengers and seed blood runnin' outen his eyes, an freight by the railroad company, and as da seed his face swellin'. De man wui it was also located at the north end of the store, it was a favorite resort for the sountry-side loafers, who, when they could get a half a day off from their farm work during the "crapping season," delighted to congregate there to whittle, to chat over neighborhood affairs and to watch for the passenger train from the east, which came in at six o'clock. But on this particular occasion Champ was alone; for a wonder, there were no other idlers about. Pap Raper himself was inside the store exchanging dry-goods and groceries for a A Remedy That Is Infinitely Worse That lot of butter and eggs, which a small boy and girl had brought in from a

Champ sat on the nail keg and whittled industriously. While doing this ham, Eng., possesses such keenness of he was also meditating, and that very tened in the bright sunlight and above Probably if he keeps on drinking which the rays of heat shimmered and plenty of whisky and no water he danced in a manner that was both daz-

such as snakes, on dry ground. But On the other side of the track, and substantially the same claim is made in poposite to the store, stood the blackseemingly scientific announcements of smith's shop; through the open door of various "malt whiskies" and other intox this and from where he sat, Champ icants. People are urged to put a little bould see the blazing fire on the blackin every cup of water they drink, and to smith's forge-could see the shower of use it even for their little children, to sparks as they flew like stars from his "destroy the animal life" or the "dis-ease germs." We could give numerout and although he did not realize it, perinstances of this, were it not for help haps, could hear the musical clatter of ing the liquors with free advertising. & mowing machine that was running in The question, especially as entering | 1 meadow not a dozen rods from the

COOLING THINGS OFF A LEETLE MITE. for its mate; a robin sat singing in a big elm near by, and a crow went screaming and cawing towards the woods, which were only a short distance away; but still Champ sat and whistled and thought. He was oblivious to the sights and sounds by which he was surrounded. Neither the beauty of the and mostly trifling trouble, by inviting the musical tink, tink of the blacksmith's hammer had any particular ble risk. He recommends a remedy in | charms for him just then. At this time finitely worse than the evil. The organ old Pap Raper, having gotten through ism of a normal human being will pro with the juvenile customers already tect itself against an infinitude o mentioned, came out of the store with a sprinkling can and began to dampen our digestive organs, eliminate myriads the porch in order, as he said, "to cool things off a leetle mite." With a lavish hand he played the can, and in has provided abundant safeguards so doing gave Champ's bare feet and legs a liberal drenching with the icecold water which he had just pumped from the well.

"Much obliged," said Champ, as he rather hastily arose to his feet, "much obliged, Pap, but you needn't to have put yourself to so much trouble." 'Oh, no trouble er tall, Champ," replied the old fellow; "yer looked sorter het an' worried 'bout suthin' an' I jess

In other words, the advertisers of thought a leetle o'this nice, cool woorter "Well, I do need stirrin' up a bit," he ess microscopic imps with the aid of a answered, "an' that's jess what I've been Beelzebub almost sure to summon seven a-thinkin' about for some time. Pap," he continued, "I'm goin' to git out o' "What!" the old man gasped, "yer hain't goin' ter leave us, are you, "That's what: I'm goin' to start fer the Black Hills ter-morrer mornin'!" "The Black Hills! Why, boy, there's Injuns out there, an' plenty on 'em, "I know it; but there's gold, too."

"Champ, take my advist an' stay here in ole Ingeanny. It's a mighty sight better place than the Black Hills. 'Sides, what'll your pap and mother say, Champ? "Yes, Ingeanny is a purty good place for some folks, an' I'd like to stay here; but I've made up my mind to go to the Black Hills an' I'm ergoin'. I kain't come back enny poorer than I am now an' I may come back richer an' I may never come back at all; but all the same

I'm a-goin'." The old store-keeper made no reply for a moment, but stood looking up the track in the direction from which the evening passenger train would soon be

Then he turned to go back into the store, and as he did so he said: "Champ, I hope you'll have good luck; but let me tell you, you'll find some purty sharp fellers while you're knockin' eround out there, an' ef you don't keep your bring your relatives .- Judge.

eves skinned you' get taken in right

"I reckon I kin hold myown with 'em, pap; I've never traveled much, that's er fact, but I've allus read the papers, an' while they're gittin' a whole meal I'll manage to git enough to keep me from starvin'."

Here a customer called to the old man from the front of the store and he hurried in in answer to the summons. Champ shut up his jackknife, put it into his pocket, and started off at a brisk walk for his home, which, as his course lawacross the fields, was only about a half a mile distant.

"THERE'S SEVERAL OF 'EM 'BOUT HERE." Five years later, almost to a day, as old Pap Raper himself declared, and about the same time in the day, he and some of the neighborhood boys were sitting on the back porch, talking and waiting for the train. Finally it came thundering in, stopped at the station before the little knot of loungers on the platform had had time to see whether dignified looking gentleman, well dressed and carrying a valise, came towards them. "Is this Middleton's?"

He was told that it was.
"Can any of you direct me to the Heaton farm?"

"Wall," said Pap Raper, "which Heaton farm do you mean? there's several of 'em 'bout here." "I think," said the stranger, "that the man I want to see is known as Uncle

"Wall," volunteered the old store-you go round the road it's a little more'n a mile. I guess." "I think I can find the way," said the out to him.

In a day or two it was the all-absorbing topic of the conversation of the neighborhood that Champ Heaton had come back and that he had brought with him "dead loads" of money. * * * * * *

That fall, however, found Champ "plowin' for wheat" as usual on his fathat is, enough to buy a new suit of clothes and a first-class passage home. To-day, if you were to drop off at Middleton's, you more than likely would find him sitting on a nail keg on the little platform at the back of old Pap Raper's store .- Ed. R. Pritchard, in Arkansaw Traveler.

HONESTY IN THE DARK. How Confidence Was Established Between Two Strangers. A Detroiter who was down in Kentucky on business a few days ago put up at a hotel which was very much crowded, and found himself obliged to occupy a room with a stranger, who claimed to be from Wisconsin. The pair sat and landscape, the song of the birds, nor conversed for awhile to size each other up, and then each retired to his own bed. They might have left their money and watches with the landlord, but each seemed to feel that the valuables would be no safer down-stairs than up. After the light was turned out proper disposition was made of personal property, and no doubt each man lay awake for an hour or two to watch the other. Both awoke about the same time in the morning, and as they got up the Wisconsin man observed: "Isn't that your wallet there by the wash-stand?' "Good lands! but it is! It must have worked out from under the mattress! What's that under the foot of your

"Bless me, but it's my $400 watch. ! must have kicked around a good deal. What's that under the head of your

'Hang me if it isn't my watch! It must have worked loose and dropped through. Is that any thing belonging to you there on the floor?"

"I should remark! That's my wallet!" Thus, despite all the precautions taken, the property of each had been exposed to the taking, and next night, when they tumbled into bed, every thing was left to hand with their clothing .- Detroit Free Press.

History All Wrong. Historical Editor (Great Daily)-s reader asked for the names of the Bostonians who participated in the famous "tea party," which dumped the British taxed tea into Boston harbor. I found the list in an old print and sent it to the composing-room; but I am told you ordered it out. Managing Editor-Indade Oi did thot. Sure that lisht was all wrong. There wasn't any Oirish names in it at al' at all-exciptin' one, an' he wor a Scotchman.-Puck.

Angry Farmer-See here! don't you know I can't afford to have my grass trampled down for the sake of a few berries? You'll have to move out of Lady from the City-We are not picking berries: we are gathering a handful of those lovely, charming, goldenhearted, snow-tipped, ox-cyc daisies. Farmer-Oh, I beg pardon. Go right ahead, and come again to-morrow and

MISCELLANEOUS.

-Experiments with brake shoes for he purpose of doing away with the disagreeable noise made when a train is being checked show that gun-metal shoes are the most satisfactory. -The small i was originally written without the dot, but this was added in the fourteenth century, as a means of distinguishing i from e in hasty and indistinct writing.

-The most valuable metal in the world is said to be gallium, which is worth $3,250 an ounce. Calcium brings $1,800 a pound, and cerium $1,920 per pound. Gold is worth $240 a pound. -Tomson-"I generally carry an umbrella when it looks like rain." Samson-"You likewise carry one when it doesn't look like rain. You carried one away from my house the otherday when there wasn't a cloud in the sky."-Yankee Blade. -A watch for blind people has been invented in Switzerland. In the middle of this metal is estimated at 45,000 tons. of every figure is a small peg, which determine the hour. -I. N. Blankinship, of Marion, Mass., has a clock which was made in 1732. The works are of brass, and the clock piano or organ. keeps as good time as it did when it was made, 158 years ago, but the ac- monwealth of Ohio in establishing and ounts vary as to the kind of time it maintaining a free bureau of employ-kept in 1732. else have you got that would be nice?" omists. If a State is successful in main-Grocer-"Well, mum, there's some very taining an employment agency through fine egg-plant." Mrs. Youngbride- which employers and unemployed are "O, yes; do send up an egg plant.

Clarence is so fond of omelette."— brought together, it will be the opening of an entirely new era in the labor America.

-Fully three-fourths of the babies of the world go naked until they get to be of wooden ones seems to be one of the five or six years old. The Canadian In- coming reforms in railroad building in for an instant and was off again almost dians keep their babies naked up to a the country. The Delaware & Hudson certain point, and as for the little Company has decided to lay sections of Coreans, they wear nothing but a short this description, and it is expected that anybody had got off or not. A large and skirt until they are as old as our school- other roads will follow suit. It is said boys.

means is on a tour through the Western | which is now one of the leading causes States of America. When he sat down of railroad accidents. to dinner a day or two ago he met with quite a surprise. The waiter who took his order was his son, who had run away cotton spindles. Of this number Enfrom home to scalp Indians some seven years ago. -A well known lawyer of Toronto who is about to be married ordered his figures were taken the number of spinwedding suit, whereupon it was attached | dles has increased very greatly. Cotton by a lady to whom he owed $41, the pay- is becoming more and more in demand ment of which he had systematically among the nations, and the fields of the keeper, "he lives only bout half er mile from here if you go 'crost the fields; if evaded. His wedding garments are now in the hands of a court official, and will source of its production.—Macon Telebe put up at auction if the matter is not graph. settled.

-Anxious Mother-My dear, it's per- has been calculated by Dr. John Murray stranger, and he at once started off in the direction which had been pointed the way the more had been pointed that seven be a stranger of the more recent explorations show that seven be stranger, and he at once started off in the seven below the more recent explorations show that seven because the more recent explorations are the more recent explorations. that couple coming this way. See how greater ocean depths, according to Dr. respectfully that gentleman treats the H. R. Mill, and a mean lady he is dancing with. He holds her a depth of 1,700 fathoms. almost at arm's length." Pretty Daugh- all the land above the ter-"But, ma, they are married,"-N. 1,700 fathoms beneath the sea Y. Weekly.

- "Can you do any thing with my account to-day, sir?" asked a collector.
"I'd like to pay it," replied Gazzam.

—A correspondent of the but the fact is I haven't any gold coin, Machinist sent to the office of that pubther's farm. He had stayed long enough and the doctors declare that the notes lication a pair of spectacles worn by an carry the microbes about. One can't be too careful, you know, and under the circumstances I wouldn't pay you with notes for all the world."

Stream is about three miles, yet there same to be removed when once imbedded are places where it attains a speed of in the eye. A trifle spent for such glasses fifty-four miles, per hour. Through the would prevent an immense amount of Yucatan Channel, the current is only trouble and pain, besides saving the eyes about one-fourth of a mile per hour. In of the workmen. The pair here referred the Straits of Bemini, however, it has a to were not only cut and ground as if breadth of fifty miles, a depth of about subjected to a sand blast, but particles of 2,000 feet, and a velocity of between emery seemed to have imbedded themselves immovably in the glass.

four and five miles.

-P. Thompson, of Pine Canyon, Cal., cut a bee tree, and in taking out the honey he found several hawk's eggs in corporated in different layers of comb. The comb had been built around the eggs in such a manner as to leave them the center. Evidently there had been a contest as to the right of possession between bird and insect, and the suggest an interesting history. The latter had settled the case without recourse to the courts.

-Years ago Ruskin vented his spleen against all kinds of 'cycles thuswise: "I no bullet inside. The watch is the more not only object, but am quite prepared to spend all my best 'bad language' and interior are finely engraved, but in reprobation of bi-, tri- and only the latter can be seen, as the action tion for superseding human feet on outer engraving. It is a hunting scene God's ground. To walk, to run, toleap, showing an Indian on snowshoes armed and to dance are the virtues of the human | with a knife and a hatchet awaiting the body; and neither to stride on stilts, charge of a moose that has turned at wriggle on wheels, or dangle on ropes, bay. The inside of the outer case bears and nothing in the training of the hu- this inscription: "Presented to Joshua man mind with the body will ever su- Armstrong on his twenty-first birthday

-A game hen died on R. W. Gamble's place, at Cuthbert, Ga. This hen had Bowles, Astrologer to his Majesty, 198 reached the age of fourteen years, lack- Threadneedle street, London." ing only a few weeks. She continued discovery has given rise to many specuto lay eggs until a year before she died. lations; it is possible the place was the For several months she had been totally scene of a tragedy, as it was a famous blind, but was fed and watered regu- stamping-ground of the Indians, and is larly by Miss Mary Gamble. In 1886, when Mr. Gamble moved to Macon, this the squaws cultivated maize. The dates hen was carried there, and brought show that the watch might have been back when he returned to Cuthbort. In on the spet when the Indians held the the spring of 1882, when the cyclone land, and the action of the water upon struck Mr. Gamble's place and tore it indicates that it has laid at the botthings up, this old hen was setting in a tom of the river for many generations. box on the kitchen hearth. The kitchen was blown away, the chimney was missing, but the hearth remained, and there sat the old hen in her box, as composed as if nothing had happened.

Guided Grant and Sheridan. I had as a guide on the battle-field of ton Journal, an old resident of Waterloo, whose father at the date of the batflank of Wellington. Perhaps you lion, determined that the mean density would like to hear this old guide's story: of Waterloo. I also show General was determined to be as 5 is to 1. Other fourths of a mile between the headnow. Bigger field, bigger guns, more water as 62.32 pounds, the weight of the

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Danish chemists claim that the flavor of butter is produced by bacteria. -Volapuk, the "world language," is only eleven years old, and already 5,-000,000 persons are able to use it with greater or less facility.

-The oldest observatory in the world Is that at Pekin, China, which was founded in 1279. Three of the original Instruments are still in use. -It is estimated that $1,192,000 is invested in the Delaware river sturgeon fishery industry. The catch this year is valued at $400,000, and 2,072 men are employed. -Tin is one of the most ancient of metals. As has been recently established by cuneiform manuscript, it was in use five thousand years ago. One of the oldest and richest of tin-mining districts is in the Malay Peninsula. The world's present annual production

-Signor Gaspard Sacco, an inspector drops when the hour hand reaches the of telegraph in Italy, has discovered a figure. The owner feels that the peg is down, and counts back to twelve to piece of music by conventional signs from one end of the line to the other, where it is received on an ingenious mechanism, which reproduces it on a

-The experiment of the great comment will be watched with much inter--Mrs. Youngbride-"And now what est by seciologists and political econ-world. -The adoption of steel ties in place to be more economical and permanent -A retired English army officer of and prevents the spreading of the rails,

-According to English statistics there gland has 42,740,000; the rest of Europe 33,180,000; America 13,500,000, and India 2,430,000. Since the time when these

-The average level of the solid earth would have to be filled into the greater depths in order to give equal height to

-A correspondent of the American operative in a factory, whose task was grinding on an emery wheel. These glasses show the force which particles of emery are apt to strike the eye, and ex--The average velocity of the Gulf plain clearly why it is so difficult for the

INTERESTING RELICS.

An Old Watch and Gun Found at the Bottom of Merrimac River. A rusty musket and an ancient silver watch were found at the bottom of the Merrimac river a few days ago which musket was broken at the grip and otherwise showed marks of damage. The hammer was down and there was interesting relic of the two; its exterior 6- or 7-cycles, and every inven- of the water has worn away most of the persede the appointed God's ways of slow walking and hard working." by his loving mother, Prudence Arm-strong, April 10, 1620." The inscription of the maker is as follows: -Springfield Republican.

How the Earth Was Weighed. In 1772 Prof. Maskelyne, with his assistants, made experiments at Mount Schihallion, Perthshire, Scotland, by which they determined that the attrac tion exerted by that mountain caused Waterloo, says a writer for the Lewis- the plumb line to deviate nearly six seconds from its normal. Profs. Playfair, Cavendish and Hutton, knowing tle lived in yonder cottage on the right the structural composition of Schihalof the mountain was to that of the earth "I guided Sheridan, great cavalry man, as 5 is to 9. From this the mean density big moustache-I show him battle-field of the earth as compared with water Grant. General Grant told me he was more recent experiments make the ratio surprised that there was only three vary from 41/2 to 61/2 to 1. Taking 51/4 as the average result of all experiments, quarters of Napoleon and Wellington.
Grant said to me: 'War is different miles, and the weight of a cubic foot of shot.' Do you see that cottage in the earth would be 5,842 trillions of tons of young apple trees?—that is where Vic 2,240 pounds; that is, in figures, 5,842,beer with Victor Hugo many times." | 1 drant | 0000, 3000, 00000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, 0000, Republic.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy, one year .... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE. TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional insertion. Special contracts for advertising to Correspondents must enclose full name and ddress, not necessarily for publication, but s a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-d communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 26, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington!County.

WHOOP up the Republican meetings next week.

THE Anti-Lottery bill passed the Senate in four minutes.

LET there be a good attendance at the Republican meetings next week. Make the Republican meetings next week the largest ever held in the county.

McKaig fell like a wet blanket upon | country and its industries. the Democrats of Oakland.

Soreness, dissatisfaction, open reyolt-these words characterize the date for Congress in this district progression of scores of Democratic Thursday last at Hagerstown. minds in Garrett over the nomination of Mr. McKaig for Congress, the Cumberland News to the Repub- Mr. McComas is still busily engaged lican Publishing Company. The in Congress with little prospect of first issue under the new management getting away from Washington bemade its appearance Monday morn- fore the 10th of October. In the

ONE of the Simon-pure Democrats nest, so that when our champion enof Oakland met a Republican on the ters the lists he will find a valiant street the other day and said: "I host to cheer him on to victory. think McKaig's in the soup, don't | The record McComas has made you?" Our Republican friend wasn't during his term of service is somelong in assenting to the proposi- thing to be proud of. Through his tion.

an Independent Democratic news- trict known throughout the length among other things the following: miration of his friends, and his devonominated by the Democrats at Hagerstown Thursday for Congress. at home.

But if there is a man in Maryland who can state one valid reason why the great coal interests of this county should support him we would like to hear it.

a community whose welfare is dependent wholly upon protection, and as such is an antagonist directly and immediatly of both operators and the Democratic party were thinking able) be a positive hindrance to the DAVID W. SLOAN, ESQ., about at this critical juncture in Mc-Comas' political career is past com-take. THE Massachusetts Democrats, in the platform adopted by their State Convention Thursday, repeated the old hypocritical formula condemning fraud in elections but opposing the scheme of a national election law. The same idea has been reiterated in precisely the same words in nearly every Democratic platform constructed this year. There was once an old lady who was asked what she thought of the doctrine of total depravity, and her reply was that "the doctrine is all right, but people don't live up to it." The position of the Democratic party in respect to honest elections is precisely similar. It is ready to resolve every day in the year that honesty is the best policy in conducting elec the veil of his pet theory — Free tions, but when it comes to putting the principle into practice at the polls it is nowhere.

If a man with a kit of burglar's tools in his hand and with stolen on-pure Democrat, has recently reocratic party in favor of honest elec-

THE Ohio Wool Growers' Associa-Kinley bill were adopted.

Hon. Geo. D. Converse, the wellknown Democratic Ex-Congressman, of preservation: from the Capital City District, came into the meeting after the resolu- whom the government mainly contions had been adopted, and, being cerns itself do not wear imported Commercial was in town to-day called upon for a speech, created a goods. They cannot afford to pay indorsement of Major McKinley and Senator Sherman. would carry this question to the balthe ballot-box to aid in Major Mc- because he himself is, doubtless, in Kinley's re-election to Congress. In my judgment Major McKinley has worked in season and out of season ity made the most of it during his sofor the wool industry. If I had time journ in Europe. and it was proper. I could name some of the many services he has rendered to the wool growers.

For one 1 desire to express my conhave been presented, and express the belief that the time is not far distant, indeed the time is here now when and wholesome laws, when our own labor will supply the manufacturers. ufacturers, but will supply all articles which can be produced in our soil and climate for our own use." Sherman as a statesman of the widest experience of any man in the United States than anywhere else; world, and said that he had done a THE news of the nomination of Mr. great deal for the welfare of this

> MR. WILLIAM M. McKAIG was nominated as the Democratic candi-

Both parties now have their standard bearers in the field and the fighting at short range will soon begin. CAPT. W. E. GRIFFITH has sold The contest will of necessity be short. meantime, it behooves us as Republicans to be watchful, active and ear-efforts, his energy, his untiring industry he has made for himself a na. THE Frostburg Mining Journal, tional reputation and made our dispaper, on the subject of Mr. McKaig's and breadth of the land. His unnomination and candidacy says swerying Republicanism is the ad-William McMahon McKaig was tion to duty calls forth the praise of his enemies. His position on all im. FRIDAY, OCT. 3, at 7 p. m. Abroad he is thought to be strong portant measures brought to the attention of Congress this session has been in perfect accord with the interests of his constituents. On every question of national concern he has been prominent in debate, and his He is an avowed tariff reformer in matured and statesmanlike views are engrafted upon every such bill which has become a law. Mr. McKaig's limited experience in legislative life would, in case of Whatever the representatives of his election (which is wholly improbwelfare of our people, and his avowed stand as a Tariff Reformer, i, e., a They have made a stunning mis- Free Trader, is inimical to every interest of this District. Mr. McKaig in Congress would be an experiment -Mr. McComas in Congress is a potent factor in the progress of our people. The Sixth District is not in a mood to invest in uncertainties, certainly not in an economic enemy. It regret the time spent. considers a bird in the hand worth in this instance a hundred in the bush. The people will let Mr. Mc-Kaig finish his term as Mayor of Cumberland, and probably in the dim and hazy future, when the coal in our hills, the forests on our mountains, the sands for our glass factories and the ores for our iron furnaces are exhausted and our people need no protection for their labor and their homes, they will call Mr. Mc-Kaig to go down to Washington to represent them and spread over them

> Trade. A Democrat's Conversion. Judge Dennis, of Baltimore, a sim-

goods hanging from his pockets turned from Europe, and frankly should preach against stealing, people states that from his experience he is would laugh at him. If a red-handed free to acknowledge that Protection murderer should deliver a homily on does not necessarily increase the price the sacredness of human life, his of goods and does increase the wages hearers would sneer. And the pub- of the laboring man. He says he lic both laughs and sneers when it has found that all kinds of goods listens to declarations from the Dem- "except outside woolen goods" are cheaper at home than abroad and that better wages are paid here than abroad. This is the testimony, not of a Republican, but of a Democrat tion held a meeting on the grounds at who has heretofore been in line with Columbus Wednesday of last week at his party on the tariff question. Rewhich Hon. David Harpster pre- ferring to Judge Denuis' conversasided. A series of resolutions in- tion through personal observation, dorsing the tariff schedule of the Mc- the Baltimore American indulges in the following comments, which we commend to our readers as worthy

The masses of the people with decided sensation by his unqualified the price for them, and they find the domestic article much cheaper and just as serviceable. Protection is primarily intended to equal ze con Mr. Converse said: Mr. McKin- tition from the other side and enable ley is too good a man and too great a American manufacturers to make a man to be permitted to retire to priwate life, and I think that the woolvate life, and I think that the woolAmerican sense, to their employes; growers of his district ought to see to but home competition has so reduced it that he is not retired, and that the the price of American made goods pledges that were made by the wool | that clothing can be bought cheaper single exception of Australia. Judge lot-box ought now to be carried to Dennis' testimony is disinterested, touch with his party with reference

Thus are the delusive theories nation and furnished to his idolatrous currence in the resolutions which followers swept away like the mists that Mr. Cleveland harped on with greater gusto than this matter of clothing. It was susceptible of easy American labor in nearly all its de-partments will be protected by wise ceived himself and his party or he trusted to the lack of reflection among the masses. The election h 1888 I do not mean simply machine man-blunder. The question of how proould buy clothing cheaper in the engaged in the business would be> to the aboye, their worth can be readily gauged. Protection is the policy which insures the greatest good to the greatest number, with the least injury to the individual few. It is the proper policy of an enlightened and popular ments of the free traders are similar

The following is a list of places and times for holding meetings in Garrett

BLOOMINGTON. TUESDAY, SEPT. 30, at 7 p.m.

GORMAN,

OAHLAND

FRIENDSVILLE FRIDAY, OCT. 3, at 2 p. m. ACCIDENT

GRANTSVILLE Saturday, Oct. 4, at 2 p. m.

The meetings will be addressed by

HON. M. G. URNER. HON. GEO. A. PEARRE, W. P. TOWNSHEND, EDWARD H. SINCELL. AND OTHERS.

Turn out, Republicans, give a few E. E. SOLLARS.

Chairman.

Grantsville. Farmers are very busy cutting and putting away clover for seed. Clover there will be a play entitled "The crop is light and not well filled. Most of the corn is cut and shocked.

of near Somerset, Pa., paid a visit to the boys how to drill and handle the their many friends and relations in musket. Also three other plays one this community recently.

(Monday). It appears to be a very substantial structure. Length eighty will be used for school purpose. feet. The lower timbers are in two pieces of forty feet joined in the midprinciple.

east with Beachy's drove of cattle. with typhoid fever.

Jeff. Broadwater husked the first corn in this section.

A large number of men are blasting not known. screwing the pipes together prepar- again. atory to ditching and laying the pipe. A large gang of Italian work- her trip.

of here yet.

H. S. Nicholson, of the Meyersdale

STRONG FOR M'COMAS

Two Rousing Mass-Meetings at Ha-

HAGERSTOWN, Sept. 20 -- Two of the largest and most enthusiastic political gatherings eyer held here by the Republicans took place this afternoon and evening. Excursion trains were run on the several railroads. and there were a large number of men from year to year that they in this country than in any other on people from the country in attendthe face of the eartn, with, perhaps, the ance. The stage was handsomely and tastefully d corated with flowers, exotics and bunting, and each speaker, as he arose to address the throng, was received with unbounded ington this week, but from present to the tariff. He is a gentleman of keen observation and in all probabil- applause. Mr. Norman B. Scott, Jr., presided during the afternoon. He was flanked on boeh sides by an arevolved by ex-President Cleveland ray of vice-presidents composed of come, and to get it ready that soon exploded one by one, and the argu- some of the most prominent citizens the workmen will have to do some ments that he drew from his imagi- of the county. Mr. Scott, after a neat and forcible speech up n the i-sues of the morning. There was nothing of the campaign, introduced Hon. Louis E. McComas, Mr. McComas, the hospitality of Postmaster Genappearance elicted the greatest enthusiasm. It was some time before he was able to proceed. His speech was short, but during its continuance he was continually interrupted with showed that he had made a great applause. The principal speech was tection affected the price of clothing made by Representative Henderson, proved to be an interesting one to of Iowa. Mr. Henderson is a very people and they made a practical eloquent and forcible speaker. He study of it. They discovered, as discussed at length the relations of Mr. Converse referred to Senator Judge Dennis has done, that they the tariff to the farmer and showed the benefit that he derived from a United States to-day, if not in the in fact, that if other countries were protective system. After discussing to sell clothing any cheaper, those some of the features of the McKinley bill he explained the desperate efcome bankrupt. As all the arguforts resorted to by the Democrats in order to delay business in the present Congress, and the manner in which the Republicans preyented them from accomplishing their purposes.

Mr. McComas, after being repeat edly called upon, closed the meeting with an eloquent appeal to the people upon the issues of the campaign. He said the people ought to pless Tom Reed, and praised the measure passed by the present Congress. He had the courage to march up and endorse the pledges of the Chicago 1891. platform. He wanted the Republicans to roll up a majority greater gress adjourned, he said, he would cheat one without the other. We will not allow them to do so anywhere in this country. Accident. John M. McNair, who has been running the Weller mill near Accident since early in the spring, is going to leave on the last of this month. He is going to Bruceton, West Virginia, to take charge of a mill there. There will be a convention of Sunday School workers in the Forks statesmanship and patriotism may be Lutheran Church on 4th and 5th of displayed by that party, October. The convention will open at 2 p. m., in the afternoon of the 4th. We expect workers and speakers from hours after he received it, and a good abroad as well as from different parts | many people in and out of Congress, of the county. The convention will interested in the various items carclose its sessions on Sabbath eyening. ried by it, are feeling much better We extend an invitation to all work- than they did this time last week. ers of the Sunday School to be present with us. Come one, come ail, and help us in making this convention fruitful for good. examination at Accident will fix the after examination. In addition to Capture of Jeff. Davis." This promises to be an entertaining feature of Buck wheat is nearly all cut and the evening. Prof. C. W. Thatcher, some is threshed. Crop is heavy. of Moundsville, West Virginia, has Mr. and Mrs. Christain Gnagey, charge of this play and is teaching entitled"The Book Agent," the other man was framed and raised to-day Bell Exercises." Ten cents admission will be charged. The money

Conrad Miller, son of John W. Mil- out of danger, ler, living on the Engethardt farm, taking photos, left on Friday.

ness.

new school building. Elder C. G. Lint, of Myersdale, will preach the dedicatory sermon,

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 22, 1890.-The President will return to Washindications, the Waite House will be in no condition to receive him and his family for at least ten days to lively hustling. It has not been fully determined where they will go, but it is probably that they will accept eral Wanamaker, which has been tendered them, until the White House is ready for them.

The conference committee would have reported the tariff bill to-day if no time had been lost through Democratic fillibustering in the House, which compelled the House Republican members of the committee to be in their seats in the House when they might just as well have been at work | Thos. Coddington. upon that measure. The committee has almost completed its work and the bill will probably be reported Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest, unless the lack of a Republican quorum delays it and, as usual, the S. P. Specht. numerous Democratic prophecies of irreconcilable difference among the Republicans failed to materialize; there has been no trouble whatever up to this writing and none is expected. The Republicans of the committee were unanimously in favor of the reciprocity amendment, and they were also unanimous for a new amendment extending the time for removing imported goods from bonded ware-houses to February 1,

Only the other day Democrats in Congress, and editing newspapers, than four years ago. It takes more were heaping abuse upon Secretary than conspiracy of politicians and Windom because he did not place the press to change the hearts of the peo- entire cash surplus of the Government ple of Western Maryland. Until Con- at the disposal of the New York speculators who were velling "panic" as Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7 p. m. leave the canvass in the hands of his loud as they could, and now that friends. The registration law was all danger of a panic has been avoided passed in this State for the purpose by the able manner in which Secre Thursday, Oct 2, at 7 p. m. of cheating the black man out of his tary Windom put a very large sum vote. It cheats both the white and of money legitimately into circulathe black. The Democrats can't tion, these very same Democrats are abusing Mr. Windom for doing it, and accusing him of having exceeded his legal authority in paying out money to relieve the money market; one of them-Senator Cockrell-giving utterance to his criticism on the floor of the Senate. That's a fair specimen of what the Democratic party has been doing for thirty years; it always opposes what the Republican party does, no matter how much

The President signed the River and Harbor bill within twenty four

The bill closing the mails to all matter pertaining to lotteries, including newspapers which publish their advertisements, was signed by the There will be an exhibition in the President at the same time, and the school house at Accident on the last high-priced lottery lobby are now hours to a good cause; you will not day of school in the eyening. The engaged in trying to discover some way to break the force of the new time for the exhibition. The exhibition will be in the eyening, the day advised the Louisiana Lotter Company to employ several prominent the general exercises of the eyening gentlemen, including Mr. Grover Cleyeland, as attornies for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the law in the Courts.

Secretary Noble has returned from his vacation looking much improved and, he says, feeling in tiptop condi-

Supt. Porter of the Census The new bridge across the Castle- two "The Wand drill" and "Dumb bureau who was dangerously ill last week from nervous prostration brought on by worry and overwork, JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT is much better though not yet entirely

To say that the present condition dle. On these rest the whole bridge, now owned by Mr. Margroff, sud- of affairs in the House of Representabeing built on the self supporting dealy made his disappearance on last lives is disgraceful is a very mild Monday for parts unknown. He way of putting it. Another week Chas. Newman is away on a trip was last seen on the platform of the has been entirely wasted by the depot at Friendsyille with a satchel Democratic hide and seek method of Dennis McKenzie is prostrated in his hand ready for departure. He breaking a quorum, and so deterleft a letter in which he says he would , mined were these skulkers to get out not be seen about Accident for some- of the chamber every time an attempt time. Why this sudden departure is was made to do any business that several of them did not hesitate when the stumps rocks &c., and leveling | Miss Lizzie Kahl, who had been ill they found one of the doors locked to the ground along the pipe line and for some time, is able to be about kick it open in order to get out before their names were reached in the Mrs. Glotfelty has returned from roll call, One of these kicking Democrats was Representative Kilgore, of men are digging the ditch. This Mr. Flemming, the photographer, Texas, who several years ago earned gang is about six or seven miles west who had been sojourning in Accident the title of "bully" by his anxiety to fight a man old enough to be his Potatoes would be a good crop but Lemuel Ritter, of Myersdale, had father. His valiant assault on the on account of rot, will not be very been in our town this week on busi- door is worthy of a place beside Don Quixote's charge on the wind miks, Mr. S. H. Ryland, one of the board and Sancho Panza's place was filled of school commissioners, was in town by Amos Cummings an able jour-

on Tuesday. He was on his way nalist, who lately imagines himself a home from McHenry where Secre- politician. There is only one remedy tary Hinebaugh, Mr. Hoye and Mr. for this state of affairs. That is, to Ryland had been to locate a site for a get a quorum of Republicans on the floor of the House and for this the The new Dunkard Church near Ac- Republican managers have been cident will be didicated on Oct. 5th, striving for several weeks without success. If they can get a quorum of Republicans to stay here for a week they could pass all the measures necessary, and if the quorum does not materialise by the time the tariff bill is reported from conference serious. trouble is feared. Every day Republicans expect to see that quorum, but they have been disappointed so often that they are almost losing hope, Judges of Election. The following are the Judgee of Election appointed at the late meeting of the County Commissioners to serve Nov. 4, 1890:

District No. 1-R. M. Fairall, Jno. Ashenfelter, W. M. Junkins. No. 2-Geo. D. Frantz, John M. Miller, Austin Brown.

No. 3-Archibald Warnick, Gilead Broadwater, John Bancord. No. 4--W. H. Barnard, W. L.

Rawlings, A. C. Duckworth. No. 5-Henry Zinkan, Val Kahl, Jos. A. Beeghley. No. 6-Jos. H. Friend, Thos. De-Witt, D. McLean. No. 7-M. L. Scott, E. Jamison.

No. 8-J. McClure Mason, B. F. Shaffer, Arthur Chisholm.

No. 9-Perry Weimer, Jos. Winebrenner, D. B. Layman. No. 10-A. J. Wilson, W. D. Hoye,

No. 11-J. F. Robeson, A. J. Laneaster, Jacob Strickland. No. 12-C. E. Ellithorp, F. L. Snyder, Jonas Bittinger. Mountain Lake Park. The large gatherings are passed for this season, but last Sabbath was full of interest and helpful instruction. Miss Jennie Smith conducted a most excellent morning meeting. At 10:30 Miss Lizzie Boyd gave a very interesting discourse. At 3 o'clock our pastor Rev. C. E. Clark, preached another of his earnest sermons, and at night Miss S. C. Harriss led in prayer and praise meeting. Miss Swan's school began on Monday with several new pupils. Mrs. Mamie Wnite moved into he new home today. We are certainly glad to have her and Mrs, Definbaugh, her mother with us. Mrs. M. E. Hank is having her cottage nicely painted. Mr. Geo. I. Richardson has added two more lots to his handsome lawn. Some others are making preparation to build. The Mountain Lake Park hotel is now closed for the winter after a very successful season. A few guests are still at most of the other hotels and boarding houses :

also a few of the cottagers remain. The school at Briarbend Seminary begins next Monday. Mrs. Bullard has returned from Atlantic City to spend the winter with us. Miss Jennie Smith is erecting a green house in her garden. Judge E. A. Brown, of Weston, W. Va., was here this week and was delighted with our picturesque park, The Vance family returned to-Wheeling Saturday. Mr. Richardson has returned to Baltimore and Mrs. Gilbert to Piedmont.

Mr. A. W. Liller was here during the past week making estimates on two buildings. For Malaria, Liver Trou-

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS NVITATIONS BUUIING

ble, or Indigestion, use

THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at prices that defy competi-tion. Call and learn prices efore placing your order isowhere...

NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES. CIRCULARS,

CARDS. LETTER AND

> BILL HEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the best and latest styles. We make a specialty of printing and padding note, letter and bill heads.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE.

The following named gentlemen are authorized to receive and receipt Jos. Helbig. for subscriptions to THE REPUBLI-

Accident-J. E. Gnagey. l'amont-J. Z. Browning. Blaine-E. Kitzmiller Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp? Bittinger-Thos, B. Wiley. e-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Eikins, W. Va.-John H. Riley. Elder-Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher. Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm. A. Smith. Huttons-Chas. F. White. Johnsons-Gee, W. Bloche Keyser, Md.-Solomon O. Beachy McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C. J. Otto Selbysport-Jonas Frazee, Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George.
Westernport-Geo. L. Michaels. Wilson's Mills-Geo. W. Wilson.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall ceets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday

ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each ay afternoon.
sil EALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F.
cets la Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nessaay evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

cots at Townshend's.

Cline keeps the best selected stock of Candy in the city. Nice line of Dress Plaids and Tri-

See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if you want a fine knife.

A whole box of 12 cakes Jockey Club Toilet Soap for 40c at Cline's

Lost-A ladies' jersey jacket, be tween Clark Deberry's and Oakland, Sept. 5. Finder please leave at this 30-2t.

Davis & Son have put in a full line of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought direct from the importers. Also a full line of Rogers' silverware, Cline's Grocery and get a box of Boraxine. It saves two thirds of the labor of wash day. Try it.

Go and see Townshend's line of floor, stair and table Oil Cloths. They land Tuesday morning. Mr. Thayer white roses. After the wedding a take the lead in quality and prices.

Davis & Son have just received a handsome line of lamps from Newark, which they will sell at reason able prices. Call and see them, 29 8

Shartzer hus just returned from the east with a full line of everything, and is now opening the goods. Will be ready in a few days to show the finest stock eyer brought to Oakland.

We have just openeda full line of $20 to $35. gentlemen's underwear, gloves, hosiery, neck wear, overshirts and flannels, all at bottom prices. We mean for yourselves.

29 If S. L. TOWNSHEND & SON.

FOUND-The largest andmost beau tiful assortment of dress goods just received at Offutt's. Cashmere, henrietta cloth, ladies' cioths, tricots, fancy flannels, high novelties in fancy winter ginghams, prints, &c., &c. You cannot fail to find anything you

Show this paper to your neighbor. if he is not stready a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it with in the reach of every one, and no one who wants to have the County news should be without it.

HEADQUARTERS SEC. BAT. INF., YYLAND NATIONAL GUARD. MBERLAND, MD., Sept. 10th, 1890.

ORDERS No. 5. The thanks of the officers and men of the Second Battallion are hereby cordially extended to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, to the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, to the citizens of Oakland, to Maj. Geo. D. Deshields and Gen. Clinton B. Paine for their generous assistance which enabled the Battalion to assemble at Oakland on September 5th and 6th By order of

GEORGE A. PEARRE. Lt. Col. Commanding.

Official:

ROBERT MACDONALD, Captain and Adjutant.

Why do the citizens of the better class go to Dayis' Barber Snop? Because they find at all times a firstclass, orderly shop; first-class materials; plenty clean linen; polite and first-class artists. 32-tf.

Republican meetings.

The lock up has been painted by

Let everybody attend the Republican meetings.

load of coal oil. Jos. Helbig is repainting the Oak street railroad bridge. Mr. John Cornelius's family have moved into the Pritchard building.

next Sunday morning and evening.

We have for sale a few copies of Cruden's Concordance which will be lery and will take possession in a few our grand county Why not start a tives in Warsaw, N. Y.

suit everbody. No auction goods week of enjoyment and pleasure Notice. - All persons knowing themselves indebted to A. J. Whet-sell are requested to call and settle by October 15th, 1890. 32 td Mrs. M. B. Crook, widow of the late Gen. George Crook, is preparing to build a fine residence on "Harness Hill,"north east of Oakland. Mr. Neddie Weish is making a great many improvements on his property on Water street. The property will be occupied by Mr. W. H'

Butler. Dr. Jas. W. Smith the oldest and one of the most highly respected citizen of Cumberland, died in that city Sunday evening and was buried Tuesday afternoon.

We are in receipt of a copy of chandise. Black Beanty, a book published by The American Humane Education Society, and commend it to all perons having care of stock.

Notice .-- The next regular meeting of Crook Post, No. 30, G. A. R., will be held in Sturgiss' Hall on Saturday, Sept. 27, 1890, at 2 o'clock p. Lidies, read this, then come to m. Let there be a full attendance.

order of Commander, A. G. STURGISS.

H. Low, Adjutant. Wm. M. Thayer, who has been in Among the horses is a blooded stal- American. lion. The cattle are all young and will be used for breeding purposes.

I have for sale 12 cross-bred South down and Oxforddown Ram Lambsweight from 80 pounds to 125 pounds. S. D. YODER. men's and boy's clothing, ladies' and 21 miles N. W. of Grantsville, Md.

List of letters remaining unclaimed business and defy competition in in the Post Office at Oakland, Garquality and prices. Come and see rett county, Md., for week ending Sept. 27, 1890:

ranton, John, Smith, Frank, Cutler, Lieut. W. G., Timmerman, Margara Fisher, I. C., Thompson, Mrs. Laura Green, W. J., Wiri, Mrs. Dr. Wm., Johnson, Mrs. Hunter, Whirl, Samuel, Washington, Eliza, Johnson, Rose, Paul, J.,

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

List of the newly registered voters desire in dress goods at Offutt's. Big in District No. 7, Garrett Co: Josline of neckwear, big line of shoes. eph Butler, C. E. Clark, John P. clothing, overcoats, If you want a Cunninghem, Jas. A. Duniap, W. S. want a pair of boots, see Offutt's. 30t Dunlap, G. W. C. Dunlap, L. H. Karn, Aaron Kerns, Jas. A. Dent, J. H. Leakins, Taylor Lewis, M. R. Maroney, W. H. McCrobie, J. H. McCabe, Jno. A. Peters, A. G. Ross, John Reams, D. T. Thayer, Benj. H. Sincell, Chas. S. May.

supplies was signed by I. H. Silver- over their matrimonial sea. man for the Edison Company, and the contract for the engine and boiler was signed by J. B. Hart, of Hart Baos., Clarksburg. The lot for the plant was purchased of Mrs. D. I. Totten.

William Sowers, a young man from Hambleton, on the West Virginia Central railroad, was committed to jail on Saturday afternoon by Jus. tice Gonder, to await the action of the grand jury. A gentleman from Pennsylvania went to Hambleton last week for the purpose of purchastached to him. He came to Oakland to be designated by the Company. Republican mass meetings next where he spent money freely and among other things purchased from.

F. G. Hyde, a jeweler here, a gold watch and chain. He had over a hundred dollars of the money when arrested.

Milch cows, heifers and calves-some Alderneys, some half Aldernesy, to King Delawder has received a car suit purchaser, will be sold reasonable. Apply or address. H. WEBER.

A Card. Several years ago a lodge of that noble order, the Good Templars, was in operation in our town, but by Preaching in the Lutheran Church degrees the membership dwindled away until only a faithful few re-Correspondents will please send mained. Those few went to the their letters as early in the week as place of meeting regularly and held a session of the lodge until two of three of the members left town and not enough remained to constitute a quorum. White the lodge was in operation a great deal of good was W. C. Shafer, of Terra Alta, has done, and in its hall was originated rented the Pritchard photograph gal. the idea of securing local option for new lodge of Good Templars? There Townshends' have a full line of are a great many persons who would Dress Goods. Quality and prices to join the lodge. One evening in each could be spent very profitably. A GOOD TEMPLAR.

Five Hundred New Cars for the Baltimore and Ohio. In a few days the South Baltimore Car Works will begin the delivery of 500 box cars to the Baltimere and Ohio Railroad. Eight or ten ears will leave the shops daily. The contract was given out the past summer. The new equipment is intended to relieve the demand for cars, caused by the road's increasing traffic. and will be used for fast frieght between New York and the west. The cars are thirty-four feet long and are fitted with automatic couplers and air- Surgery. brakes. They will be painted green and marked with a white shield. which will mean that they are to be uied for transporting general mer-

MARRIED.

BROADWATER- WILT .- On Thursday, Sept. 18, 1890, by Rev. E. J. Meese, at the rest ence of the bride's Monday morning. parents, Rebecca E. Wilt to Stephen F. Broadwater.

BARNES-WAGNER.-Mr. George Wednesday morning. W. Barnes, of Bennings, and Miss Wiley Welling went Mamie Wagner, of Oakland, Md., ton Tuesday morning. He will rewere married last week at St. Paui's main away all winter. Euglish Lutheran Church. The bride wore a pearl-colored henrietta winter boots and shoes. Also their Illinois for a year, returned to Oak- cloth dress, and c rried a bouquet of Oakland all summer, returned to his brought back with him four head of reception was held at Fairview, Deav horses and four head of cattle, nings, their future home. - Baltimore Weber, Jr., were at Columbus O., at-

HARRISON-BROBST.-One of the been the pleasure of the writer to at- on Second street, this week. tend was the marriage of Miss Helen Harrison, sister of Mrs. D. F. Gra-Price from $8 to 12. Also 8 thorough ham, formerly of Deer Park, and bred short-horn Durham bulls, from daughter of Capt. Geo. W. Harrison, 2 months to 2 years old, Price from Gen'l Traffic Ag't of the W. Va. C. & P. R. R., to Mr. Robort Fleming Brobst, of the H. G. Davis Coal Co. The marriage ceremony was according to the beautiful rites of Episcopal service, and took place in St. James will enter the School of Pharmacy. Epi-copal Church, Westernport, which was handsemely decorated with flowers of the richest hue, and amidst the enchanting strains of the wedding march the bridal party entered carriages and were driven to the beautiful home of the bride, on 'quality hid," Piedmont, where a timore and Washington on Wednessumptous banquet awaited the invited guests, and in the spacious parfor was displayed in one profuse glitter the bridat presents which reminded one of a first-class jewelry Baltimore. store, and estimated by competent judges worth at least $5,000. In the midst of the congratulations the bride was surrounded and blindfolded by her troupe of bridesmaids and a white kid slipper placed in her At a meeting of the stock holders which the party took the 10:30 ex- dising. of the Oakland Electric Light and press for the eastern cities and around Power Co., held Thursday afternoon by Niagara and the Northern Lakes of last week, Dr. J. Lee McComas to be gone for some weeks, They was elected president; A. G. Stur- will return by the Southern route, giss, vice president; S. T. Jones, visiting Fiorida and the Gulf States. treasurer, and E. H. Sincell, secre- Space forbids more and we close, by tary. The contract for the electrical wishing them a long and happy life DEATHS.

BROOKE .- an infant son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Brooke died at Mt. Lake Park on Wednesday, Sept.17, and was buried on last Friday, Rev. C. E. Clark officiating.

COGLEY .- An infant child of Mr. Joseph Cogley died Wednesday morning.

peeled chestnut poles, 6 inches in di- Mrs. Sailie Matthews. E. H. SINCELL,

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About our People at Home and Abroad. Will Newman is in Washington.

Waring Thomas spent Sunday in Harry Loar, of Grafton, is home on a visit.

Maurice Thomas was in Keyser on Sunday.

Ed Sharps is clerking in Sturgiss' drug store. Judge Patrick Hamill spent Sunday in Piedmont. W. C. Shafer, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland Monday.

E. M. Spedden was in Fairmont on business Monday. John T. Sincell was in Terra Alta on business Saturday.

Mrs. F. G. Hyde is visiting rela-Mrs. M. B. Ross is visiting rela tives in Cameron, W. Va.

P. T. Boucher made a business trip to Cumberland Monday. Mrs. H. W. McComas went to Baltimore on Monday morning. Dick Sharps is in Charleroi, Pa., working at the carpenter trade. J. W. Roys, of Detroit, Mich., was vantage. in our city on business last week. J. C. Peddicord is in Howard County this week visiting relatives.

H. H. Mansbach, of Cumberland, was in Oakland Monday on business.

Mrs. F. Herrmans, of Kingwood was registered at the Commercial Thursday.

on Saturday. Dr. H. W. McComas went to Washington on professional business berland on professional business

Mr. Chas. Sea, who has been in home in Grafton this week. Henry Weber. Sr., and Henry the body. tending the fair last week.

Mrs. Lloyd Bell, of Frostburg, was most brilliant weldings that it has visiting her sister, Miss Alice Hessen, Miss Della Edwards has returned from Weston where she has been visiting relatives for some weeks.

Corinth, were in our city Monday. Will Sturgiss left on Monday morning for Washington where he who has been in Oakland all summer, returned to her home Tuesday as a barrel of rain water stood handy. morning. Geo, A. Spedden returned from a day morning. Manager Cologne, of the Oakland Hotel, who remained to settle up all deed as both families are quiet and business, left on Sunday morning for | inoffensive citizens.

visit to friends and relatives in Bal-

E. G. Naylor spent a portion of last week in Meyersdale. It is ru- Club on last Friday evening, said mored that Elzie will locate permanently in that place soon.

Samuel Lawton, who has served hand and as they circled around it as deputy clerk of the Circuit Court was thrown, striking her accom- here for several years past, has re- knows how little use is an entirely plished sister, Miss Birdie after signed and will engage in merchan-

Pa., who has been spending the sum- ters of practical importance to his mer with her aunt, Mrs. John Ed- district, &c., &c." This is the Remunds, near Deer Park, has returned publican belief in the Sixth District, to her home.

Mr. William H. Hagans has been fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Lawton.

Bloomington.

to crack. Monday.

on the right side.

ington, Sunday, Oct. 5th.

town, and rent still high.

family took up their residence at Republican party: Shaw, W. Va. Mr. Michael Flynn moved to Frankville, while Mrs. Williams and daughter who have been spending the summer in Pennsylvania and who are now guests of Mrs. Wm. Dasher, shipped their household goods to Haddock, W. Va. C. R. R., her husband having preceded her some months. Miss Camille Hendrickson, of Alexandria, Va., has received the ap- writes "I will try." We want the pointment to the Garrett County brave, undaunted and resolute Mcscholarship to the Art School of Comas who carves it in iron, "I Maryland Institute, Baltimore. We will !" do not know who has the appointing power, but one thing we do know, a Garrett County young lady did not draw this valuable educational ad-

Another pointer for the Garrett County farmer-the culture of bees and a little attention during the long summer evenings to a moderately sized, improved apiary will add a couple of hundred dollars to the farmer's credit every season and help Mahlon Hinebaugh is in Baltimore fill up many a crack and crevice in attending the Maryland School of farm expenses. Mr. Sam Harshbarger, of this place, has given bees considerable attention, and uses a patent hive with numerous cross sections which when filled with honey, each section weighs exactly one pound Gen. B. F. Kelley and family re- and it is remarkable with what preturned from Parkersburg to Oakland cision the industrious insects fill up these sections to the required amount, His stock is imported, all his queens coming from Italy. He ships honey as far West as Youngstown, Ohio, in boxes of his own design, without the W. P. Townshend went to Cum- breaking of a single cell or section. the demand has been good this sea- IN ANY QUANTITY. son and prices ranging high. One firm alone in Ohio advertised for scription for Wedding parties, Funerals, etc., at shortest notice. 25,000 lbs. at 18 cents a pound.

Mr. William Price, of Seldom Seen, was thrown from a loaded truck or telegraph will receive prompt attentiou.

We also on Monday afternoon, while descending West and Shipman's tram road, and sustained painful injuries about

Mr. Wm. Barrick, of Hambleton, W. Va., spent Saturday and Sunday in town with relatives and friends. An outrageous and fiendish attempt was made last Thursday night to fire a double dwelling house, occupied by Mr. M. Fraley, wife and three children on one side and Mr. P. Casey, wife and child living next Mrs. Chas. W. Mayer, of Terra door. Railroad waste, used for clean. Alta, and Mrs. W. O. Posten, of ing engines, &c., was saturated with oil, laid on the window sill and thrust through a broken pane of the back kitchen window. Mrs, Fraley was awakened by the smell of smoke and the reflection of the fire through Mis Clara Berwinkle, of Wheeling, an open doorway leading to her bedroom, she aroused her husband, and the fire was soon extinguished, after burning the sash and window. In a few minutes more, had it not been discovered, the fire would have communicated with the roof and imperiled the lives of both families. No cause can be assigned for the devilish

Congressman Rusk, at the Democratic pow-wow at the Calumet some things that are especially applicable and appropriate to the political condition of affairs in the Sixth District, He said : "No one but the man who has 'been there himself' new member of Congress is at first, and how experience and long service Miss Mattie Kier, of Sautersville, tell in procuring recognition in mat-We think it will take too much yaluable time and money to make a Congressman out of McKaig - two Tower, clerk of the Circuit Court, to years or more of time, at a big salary, before we can put the harness on him and get him down to work, everyone will say, unless believed by party prejudice, is a fearful extrava-The autumnal tint on the chestnut gance. Democrats are particularly tells Young America the buris ready stupid in matters of public concern, anyhow. We haven't forgotten that Mr. W. Scott Pew, a simon-pure it took $132,000 of the State's fund to Republican of Kitzmillersyille, this pay for the schooling of Stevenson county, paid our town a visit on Archer, the Democratic treasurer of our State. It was a big price for his Mrs. Saille Cochran, nee Fuller, of education and part of it came from the Proposals for furnishing 100 straight Cumberland, is visiting her cousin, overburdened tax-payers of Garrett County. Every man who owns his ing a saw mill property near that ameter at small end, 85 feet long, for Mr. Pat. Rowan, fireman on the little piece of land, house or lot, had place, and whilst there lost four fifty the Oakland Electric Light and W. Va. C. R. R., while coming south to pay his part of this tuition for the place, and whilst there lost four fifty the Oakland Electric Light and dollar bills. About the time the money was missed young Sowers until Saturday, Oct. 4, 1890. Poles ternoop, was thrown violently ruinous system of Democratic State by Warned to exhibit the same, with the von-there there the money was missed young Sowers until Saturday, Oct, 4. 1890. Poles ternoon, was thrown violently ruinous system of Democratic State left home and suspicion at ouce at- to be delivered in Oakland at points against the side of the tender and control has cut the eye teeth of every sustained a fracture of several ribs voter in Garrett. We have commenced to think eyer these things. Rev. Howard, of the M. E. Church, It is not national affairs that worry will conclude his all day meetings our brains so much as it is to watch that have been meeting with great the party that guards our funds that success all over his charge, at Bloom- we paid into the treasury for honest purposes. McKaig belongs to the The picnic advertised for Chestnut same party whose chairman robbed Grove on last Saturday did not ma- the State, has the same "boss," beterialize. Counter attractions at Elk lieves in the same principles and Garden and other places took the votes the same ticket. In marked pleasure-loving people away from contrast stands McCemas, with his education complete, believes in Re-Seven yacant houses of all sizes in publican principles, understands the popular tendencies, is brave enough If the exodus of citizens should to do what he believes to be right keep up for a short time at the rate without fear of offense to Southern, it started on last Monday, we could Democracy or Southern aristocracy soon lay claim to the title of a "de- and has aided by his vote and voice serted village." Mr. Schull and the following pledges kept by the Tariff Bill. Federal Election Bill.

Silver Bill. Anti-Trust Bill. Dependent Pension Bill. Administrative Custom Bill.

Territorial Admission Bill. Battleships Bill. Facts talk and work shows for itself. We can't take McKaig, who GIVE one day next week to the # cause of Protection.

ORDERS BY MAIL

EMBALM FLOWERS

and Floral Designs in the very latest manner at moderate prices. FOR SALE. A fine two-year old Alderny bull. Very

EXAMINATIONS AND PUBLIC MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS OAKLAND, MD., Sept. 23rd, 1890. A public examination of Teachers for Garthe interest of public education, at Grants-ville on the 7th of October, 1879, at 7 p. m., and at Accident on the 9th of October at 7 p. m., The public generally are cordially invited to attend these meetings. Parents, guardians and trustees are especially urged to be pres-ent and encourage this important and respon-sible work. Addresses will be delivered by prominent speakers.

WM. HINEBAUGH, Secretary.

WOLF'S BUSINESS INSTITUTE' al course. English branch-Type Writing and Telegraph instruction at modern rate and women trained for position Hagerstown, Md.

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given. That the undersigned, appointed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, to view the lands through which the proposed road shall be located, to-wi: Beginning at a point on the county road leading from Mt. Lake Park to Mrs. Wonderley's, about the centre of military lot No. 917, and running thence by the most direct route practicable to the line of lot 83; thence along the line of the said lot to the dividing line of Lots 23 and 949, along the old roal fence; thence along the division line between lots 231 and 972, and thence by the most direct route to the Ginde Valley School House and church, to connect with the road from Oakland to Gorman, and examine whether the said road should be opened, will meet on the 24th day of October, 1890, for such purpose, and to determine whether the public convenience requires the said opening of said road, and if so, to locate the same, and perform their duty in the premises.

JOHN HARNED. J. A. DELAWDER NORMAN BARNARD.

Estate of Joseph B. Davis, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the suba scriber, of Garrett county, Md., hath obtained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters Testimentary on the personal estate of JOSEPH B. DAVIS. late of Garrett county, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated to the subscriber, on or before the 1st day of April next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate (Given under my hand this 23rd day of Seotember, 1888.

JOHN M. DAVIS Executor

Estate of John O. Layman, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE-That the sub-JOHN O. LAYMAN, by warned to exhibit the same, with the vou-chers thereof legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 1st day of April next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate, G'ven under my hand this 18th day of Sep-tember, 1890. WILLIAMS. LAYMAN, Adm'r, 3Z-3*

A SOCIAL SHOCK.

Why Mrs. Mostyn Fled from London Dress-Maker.

Dinner was announced immediately after Mrs. Washington Mostyn entered the drawing-room, and, indeed, it appeared that the party were only waiting ner arrival to put an end to the classic bad quarter of an hour.
"My dear," whispered Lady Kendal,

"I am going to send you down with a most charming young man, Algie Upham, a cousin of the Duchess of Liverpool; I think he's quite one of the nicest men in London, and so artistic, don't you know."

Mrs. Mcstyn raised her tortoise-shell lorgnette in the direction of the gentleman indicated, and was pleased to make an inspection and give an opinion in not more than two seconds:

"Charmed, I am sure. What a good-looking young man. Ah, I see-race and intelligence."

"Yes, both. But allow me to introduce you," said Lady Kendal. In another minute or so the women were trailing their silken and velvet skirts down-stairs to the dining-room. Mrs. Washington Mestyn belonged to the "four hundred" of New York, if not by birth, at any rate by wealth. Her husband, who was content to pursue operations in Wall street most of the year round, was wont to leave the cultivation of society to his handsome wife Their brown stone mansion on Fifth avenue was as gorgeous as many of their richer neighbors, and no one understood better the art of "booming" an entertainment and getting herself talked about than Mrs. Washington Mostyn, of New York. And then, her "cottage" at Newport, was it not celebrated in every paper throughout the length and breadth of the continent? It was there that she entertained lavishly migratory members of the English aristocracy in quest of amusement, wives or thereby forming connections which she meant to push vigorously now that she had actually arrived in London. Had not Lord Birkenhead, the Duchess of Liverpool's eldest son, been one of these feted and flattered youngsters? And was not the dear Duchess proportionately grateful, and inclined to open the ducal arms in a manner that she was not wont to do with certain dear friends and rivals

But Mrs. Washington Mostyn had still one unsatisfied ambition, and that was to become as much a Londoner as her fair friends and neighbors had contrived to make themselves. To London, of course, like every other self-respecting American, she had been, but it was with the London of hotels, parks and theaters only that she was familiar. Into its society she had never penetrated. And so it came to pass that Mrs. Mostyn, leaving her husband to perform his avocation of "bear" in Wall street, caused several enormous trunks to be packed, and, arming herself with introductions to some of the best people in London, betook herself, her maid and her courier by the next steamer to Liverpool landing on these shores by the beginning of May. Lady Kendal, who loved above all things a new face, had been one of the first host-

from New York and Washington?

esses to make much of her. It was rather an amusing table, though it somewhat shocked Mrs. Mostyn's fastidious sense of the social proprieties. Looking round, she was struck with the familiar look of the faces, and as a matter of fact she could have seen most of the persons present by taking a walk down Bond street and glancing in the photographers' windows as she went Lady Kendal's parties were celebrated in their way, for she was what an irreverent modern journalist had not inaptly called a "mixer." She would send down a famous poet with an Ambassadress, a Cabinet Minister with a pretty actress, or consign a great lady to a fashionable singer. It was a social salad, and people were pleased, once in a way, to meet celebrities of whom they had heard a great deal. Now Mrs. dred," knew little, and approved less, of "mixing." She would as soon have asked Li Sing, her Chinese laundryman, te dinner as some of the actors, journalists and painters whom Lady Kendal liked to see occasionally at her table. To-night, for instance, across the banks of mauve and white orchids, Mrs. Mostyn could eatch the profile of her Grace of Liverpool, smiling on a handsome Polish tenor who had turned the women's heads in half the operahouses in Europe; while opposite her sat the celebrated biologist, Prof. Lyndall, who was apparently delighted with his neighbor, a little Virginian beauty who had written some rather

"Why couldn't Lady Kendal have told me what his line is?" thought Mrs. Mostyn, glancing at her partner as she settled herself in her place. "I hate "Car talking to a man I know nothing about! dear?" Sport-art-the Gaiety? What shall it be? I know-pole! All Englishmen play polo, or if they don't they like you to think they do."

But it was not, after all, of polo that Mr. Algernon Upham conversed. He had a hundred amusing stories to tellstories of the theatrical world in London, of great people in Vienna, of the ateliers in Paris. "You paint, then?" asked Mrs. Mostyn, when the talk turned on the last subject. "I used to," said Upham, modestly. "I have almost given it up now; in fact, I think it gave me up. I spent five delightful years working in the Paris studios, and at the end of that time I came to the conclusion that I knew almost nothing about it.'

"Ah. that is your modesty. I am sure you do know all about it," replied the lady, sweetly; and then there was a little pause, during which the young man smiled and hesitated, as if he were about to say more. Mrs. Mostyn, feeling that she had unwittingly touched on personal matters, adroitly turned the talk into another channel. The Amerlean was charmed with her neighbor. Ho was not only young, handsome and amusing, but he seemed (no slight vir- at her first smart dinner in London .tue in the eyes of Mrs. Mostyn) to be London World.

connected with various smart and imposing English families. With the en-terprise of her sex and nation, she determined to annex Algie. "What a charming young man," she thought, "to take to the play, to squire one in the park, and to hand cups of tea on one's at-home' day!" He had such perfect taste, and such an eye for color, for when the talk, as it sometimes till, turned on chiffons, Mrs. Mostyn was astonished to hear her neighbor give an almost subtly feminine opinion on some

"Why, I believe you know more about it than I do," declared the lady, laugh-

"Well, I ought to, I suppose." Mrs. Mostyn was so mystified that, for a perceptible instant, she found absolutely nothing to say. He evidently imagined that she knew all about him. With the tact of her sex, Mrs. Mostyn promptly turned the talk into generalities again, determining to ask her hostess all about her fascinating neighbor as soon as the ladies reached the draw-

But the Fates were against her. Lady Kendal was monopolized by an elderly matron, who never let go her hostess till the men appeared from the dining-room, and when they did so it was Algie Upham who slipped into the vacant chair by Mrs. Mostyn's side. This was a maneuver that is not in the nature of a woman to withstand.

"Come and dine with me on Friday night," she said, when she at last rose to go; "100 Lowndes square, eight o'clock. Don't say you can't; one or two nice people are coming."

"I shall be more than charmed," replied the young man, bending, in his pretty half-foreign way, over the lady's hand; "but you'll come to my place one day, won't you? Lady Kendal is coming to-morrow."
"Why, yes; I think I could go to-morrow," said Mrs. Mostyn, and so the thing was settled. On the following day Mrs. Washington Mostyn, who had put on her most gorgeous attire-not having been long enough in London to know that here women do not bedeck themselves in the afternoon-tripped down to her little coupe and directed the man to drive to Lady Kendal's, thoroughly pleased with herself and the world in general. She was going to see the charming young man of the night before, and the charming young man was going to dine with her on Friday. Moreover, she had on her most becoming bonnet.

The two ladies chatted cosily as the carriage bowled along. "I'm so glad you could come," said Lady Kendal; "I'm sure you'll think his taste perfect. He has such lovely things.'

"Lovely things?" inquired Mrs. Mostyn, with rising enthusiasm. She was one of those women who like their heroes of the moment to be set, as it were, in a framework of luxury.

"Yes: brocades such as you can't get for love or money. He has them specially manufactured from his own designs.' 'He must be very rich," said the American. "That's the sort of thing our millionaires do at home.

"Well, Algie must make three or four thousand a year, I should think," re-joined Lady Kendal, thoughtfully. You see, he's so well connected. All the smartest women in London go to

If Mrs. Mostyn wondered for an instant how the society of smart women justified such reckless extravagance, she said nothing, having a horror of appearing ignorant of London or the ways

"You got on capitally," continued Lady Kendal; "Algie is so fond of Americans. You see, they don't mind what they spend."

"No?" said Mrs. Mostyn, who was now thoroughly mystified; and just then the carriage drew up at a smartlooking house in a Mayfair street-a house all painted white, with yellow silk curtains and blinds, and daisies and spiraea in the window-boxes.

The door was opened by a manservant in livery, and the ladies were shown upstairs into a large room like a Mostyn, like others of the "four hun- studio. The walls were of golden leather, with draperies and curtains of dull gold silk, and here and there a touch of turquoise-blue or faint pink inwrought with gold added another note to the harmonious picture, in which the white wood mantel-piece, the soft Persian carpet and the exquisite old mezzotints on the walls each played their part. One or two Chippendale cabinets displayed specimens of rare Nankin. the easy-chairs and lounges invited you to chat, and on every table and in every nook stood flowers and palms.

His master was engaged for the moment, the man announced, but would be with the ladies in a few minutes. "What a perfectly charming studio!" cried Mrs. Mostyn, peering round in her pretty, short-sighted way: "only l don't see any canvases or the usual artistic mess. "Canvases-why should there be, my "Well, but isn't Mr. Upham an artist?" "Artist!" cried Lady Kendal, "what an idea! Why, don't you know?-I thought everybody knew-Mr. Upham is the fashionable dress-maker. His profes-sional name is 'Eugene,' but we all call him Algie. Why, I'm going to try on my new Court bodice directly, and the dear boy will tell me exactly what's the matter with it."

For a moment Mrs. Mostyn's head almost reeled. She hardly know if she gave a scream, or if she moved instinctively to the bell. Where was the door? Where was her carriage? Whether her mnrmured excuses conveyed any notion to Lady Kendai it is she had slipped down-stairs. A dressmaker! Her charming young man-a man with whom she had already had almost a flirtation-was a dressmaker. It was preposterous-it was impossible. Why, there were a dozen odius journalists who were capable of telling the whole story in the American papers; and, as Mrs. Mostyn threw herself into her coupe, she fairly groaned as she remembered that she had herself insisted on the presence of this impostor

THE COMING STYLES.

Secrets That Have Crept Out from the Leading Parisian Work-Shops,

As I have said, women and dress makers are tiring of the present mixedup styles of dress, and a change is exected in the fall. In point of fact the edley of bygone styles fashioned to form the present is very incongruous. Models of it give us the empire skirt, the straight up and down sheath with out sign of drapery or trimming; the long bodice, especially the back, recalls those worn by the wasp-waisted women of Louis XV.'s court; the front bodice very ornate, rather flattened down the front, and curving in at the hips, is perhaps the only novelty which deserves the name; the highly puffed sleeve is a reminiscence of the renaissance, so are the Elizabethan ruff and the Medicis collars; the metal belts belong to the middle ages, and the broad hat is a medley of the empire with the flat time which came after; the long handles of umbrellas and parasols remind one of the empire canes, and the shoes include two periods, the pointed toes of the renaissance and the modern walking heel, As you see, we are in the composite period of dress. Reve in his new albums shows his desire to turn back to the rest, and no doubt he will have his way. for couturiers large and small willingly yield to his changes, and adopt what he dictates without much murmuring. Indeed, those at the head of large establishments have not much time to murmur, much less to invent, new dresses and styles.

places is a pompadour crepe de Chine, to which he added the panniers so much regretted by ladies whose hips are insufficient to support the present fashions. Those crapy stuffs strewn with variegated flowers and soft green foliage are always the most effective for promenading in parks or for driving in avenues shaded with trees, whose overtopping branches temper the sun's rays and throw just enough greenish tint to enhance physique and dress. Nothing seems wearable this season unless it has a dash of yellow to touch up other shades and help them to do their duty in brightness. This cream pompadour dress was strewn with large pink and crimson roses and yellow daisies, and the foliage interlacing the folds was so disposed as to run in longitudinal stripes. The straight skirt was gathered just a little at the waist in front, so as to look as if it were just a bit tucked up: then it was disposed into wide panels at the sides, which met at the back wairt and incased the fan-shape plaits of the back. The underskirt was pale pink silk. The front edge of the front panel on the left was trimmed with a row of rosettes made of ellowish green ribbon to match the foliage. From the front gathers small hips, folded and terminating with the joining of the side panels over the black fan skirt. The bodice, as much as modern style will allow, was the Louis XV. pointed in front and back, of pompadour crepe de Chine. The front of the bodice was trimmed with a plastron of cream Venitian guipure, lying in downward laid festoons, growing narrower as they reached the waist; neck band of guipure. Band and plastron were lined with pale pink silk. Down the left side of the crepe de Chine, near the face, five small green rosettes formed the bodice trimming. Cream guipure sleeves, plain and tight to the elbow, then draped and puffed on pale pink silk foundation. Broad brimmed Leghorn hat, of clear fancy straw which was scalloped all pink silk, trimmed with cream ostrich tips, which lay in a large bunch on the front brim, and another at the back, coming forward on the crown. Wide green strings attached to the close-fitting back, brought forward and tied into a large bow under the chin. - Chicago

TWO CLEVER PETS. A Kestrel and Rat Which Are Affection-

ate as Well as Intelligent I see in your book on "British Birds" you state that the kestrel is easily tamed. Our bird was taken from a nest last year and put into a cage out of doors, for a few days only, until fledged. He was then turned out and flew across the park into the woods and was seen no more for some days, when he returned, found his way into the house, and has never voluntarily left it since. We often turn him out and see him a mile or more from the house, but soon after find him searching for an open window by which he may reach the dining-room, where he lives by pref-erence, perching on a picture-frame, but always coming on to my husband's arm when called, even though with thirty people at dinner, and through the glare of lamps and candles. He invariably twitters a sort of soft song when w speak to him. He is a grand bird, in perfect plumage. * * * I have a white rat, who lives as all our pets do, entirely loose in the house or garden, perfectly free to leave us if they chose. The rat was given to me as old and worthless two years ago, then quite wild. He gradually became extremely tame, and, during a severe illness I had last year, he took it into his head to sit on my pillow to guard me. Ever since then he has continued to sleep there; he runs up-stairs with me, and follows me to bed, sleeping always on the bol-ster or pillow by my head. He is very plucky and defended himself during one whole night when he was shut up accidentally in the same room with a large and savage cat. He was found sitting up with teeth and claws ready, and was difficult to say, for in another moment perfectly overjoyed when his human friends took him up. Though six morths have elapsed, nothing will induce him to enter that room again. Our dogs are perfect friends with him. He uses his left paw always when drinking, "ladling" the water up to his mouth, even from the bottom of a tumbler, and is quite "left-handed."—Letter in London Spectator.

-A peach grower of Stone Creek township, New Jersey, going over his orchard the other day, found but half a dozen peaches on 1,700 trees.

JASON WAS LIBERAL

A Bridal Present Which Was Useful Ever If It Wasn't Ornamental. Szy, young feller, hev yer got sum pin' 'at 'uld make a feller's gal er nice present?" asked Jason Gaul to a clerk in general store on Main street one day last week. "Certainly, certainly!" replied the young salesman in his politest way.

"Hev, eh?" "Yes, sir." "Wat be it?" "We have a large assortment of goods here and can easily please you.'

"Can, eh?" "Yes." "Where be ther 'sortment? I never seed one on 'em' "You misunderstand me, perhaps We have a great variety of goods from which you can select a suitable present. "Wal, er variety 'll do, I reckon. How much do ther nicest 'uns come at?"

"It depends." "Does, eh?" "Want something nice, real nice, or ery nice?" Ther vervest nurtvest wat ver got, It's fer the goldarnest beautifulest gal in ther kentry, an' I want ter s'prise 'er Louis XV. style, to copy it more faithfully, to the exclusion of some of the yer measly, close fisted fellers, I'll hever the style of yer ter un'erstan'. I want sumpin' nice, an' I'm goin' ter hev it, ef it takes er mint o' money ter git it. Wat'd ye say ye hed?"

"Is it for a birthday present?" "Na-aw." "What then?"

"Yes.

"Don't know 'at it's enny o' yer biz-Among the elegant toilets invented by Reve for the seaside and watering-"I merely wanted to know that I might aid you in the selection." "That erway?"

> "Wal, it's fer er mounstrous fine gal, I tell ye. "I know that; but why do you wish to make her the present?" "Bekase I like her an' she's sich er fine gal an' likes me, an' I 'anted ter give 'er sumpin' was is sumpin', an' wat she'd 'preshiate.'

"How will a fine dress pattern do?" "She don't need enny dress patterns. She's got 'er hull passel o' dress patterns wat old Dan Skinner's 'oman cut fer her afore she dide. She mout like ter hev er fine dress, though, but not enny patterns.

'Well, here is the finest piece of dress goods ever made. Perhaps-"Thar's nuthin' too fine fer that air gal I tell ye, an' I'm jest bound ter git sumpin' fine, ef it costs--

"This is beautiful for a pretty girl, and I'm sure 'Say, 'uld that make er gal er nice weddin' present?"

"To be sure it would, and it is cheap." "How much?" "A dress off that goods usually sells for $75, but we will make it $50 for "Guess that won't do. She needs sumpin' wat she kin war wen she's cuttin' sprouts, hoein' ther crap, er totin' in wood. Well, here's one for $25."

"Won't do." "How is this one, for $10?"

"Well, here is one for-"Say, wat does that air hoe thar kum

"Twenty-five cents."

"Couldn't take fifteen an' throw in er handle?"

"No, sir." "Wal, I'll take it." "All right. But what about the pres-

"Fer ther gal?" "Yes." "Ther hoe'll do, I reckon, fer she'll around the edge, then lined in pale need it next week ter cut ther weeds outen ther terbacker, an' er noo hoe'll kum mouty handy, enyhow. Say, young feller, that air gal's ter line me termorry nite, an' I 'us ded bent on s'prising her

'ith er fine present of it'd tuck pounds o' my best terbacker to do it."-

Epoch. REVERSES THE RUL

Directions for Dyspeptics Laid Down by an English Specialist. I am told that the most remarkable physician in England at the present time lives in Birmingham. He is not yet forty years of age-I can not recall his name at this moment. What interested me in the talk I had about him was the circumstance that he violates many of the customs of life. For example, he dines at 7:30 every evening, and at nine o'clock he goes to bed. At two o'clock in the morning he rises, reads for two hours and writes for three hours. At seven o'clock he eats a light breakfast, and then goes to bed again, rising at eleven. The hours devoted to the practice of his profession are therefore, with few exceptions, between noon and seven p. m. The amount and the quality of work done by this man are said to be simply wonderful, and in five years he has risen to a foremost place in the medical profession.

I can not forbear giving for the bene fit of your dyspeptic readers a few rules that are laid down by English physicians for the observance of those who suffer from acute indigestion. Do not eat beef; it is too hearty for the average dyspeptic. Eat the lean of mutton (boiled perfectly.) 2. Bacon in small quantities may be eaten; also thin slices of aerated bread fried in bacon fat; also boiled pigs' feet and tripe, and the fish not known as oily fish. 8. Eat no fruit. Of vegetables partake sparingly of baked potato, rice and boiled peas.

4. Bread may be eaten (aerated bread preferred) in thin slices toasted till they are brittle.

5. The brown meat of fowl may be eaten. Avoid all gravies and sauces. 6. Abstain from all liquors, and drink no tea, unless it be fresh made.

7. Eat no eggs, except fresh raw, well whipped. Sugars should be avoided.
8. Drink no iced water; partake freely of hot water and hot milk (not boiled). 9. Lie down for twenty minutes after each meal.—Eugene Field, in Chicago

-His Busy Day .- Constant Reader-"What did the editor say when you gave him my card, sonny?" Office Boy -"Can't tell; sir, we ain't allowed to and they are to be married next week, swear."—New Hampshire Republican. I believe

THE LEATHER BOTTLE.

An American Tourist in the Footsteps of Finding myself in Gravesend, during a recent visit to England. I determined to seek that hostlery where the too amorous Tracy Tupman retired after being jilted by the spinster aunt, and was run to earth by Mr. Pickwick and his friends and discovered eating roast fowl and bacon, and not, as had been expected, looking after the priming of the suicidal pistals.

Somewhere across the fields I knew lay Cobham, where the Leather Bottle stands, and to which thereafter was conveyed, by the great founder of the club, that stone bearing the mystic letters which the caitiff Blotton had the audacity to translate into "Bill Stumps His Mark." Not very regretfully did I leave Gravesend behind; and after an hour's walk, I found myself in the diminutive village of Cobham, where every thing is on a small scale, except the epitaphs on the tombstones. The village has a charming nestling air, with its little gentle-winding street of quaint red brick houses, at the furtherest end of which stands the modest Leather Bottle opposite the church. "And really." added Mr. Pickwick, after half an hour's walking had brought them to the village: "really for a misanthrope's choice this is one of the prettiest and most desirable places of residence I ever met with;" a statement which I can fully corroborate. A pretty, compact, white little tene ment it is, with a sign swinging over the door portraying Mr. Pickwick, his hand under his coat-tails, and the in-scription, "Dickens' Old Pickwick Leather Bottle Hotel." There is an over-hanging, well-tiled roof, with a lamp over the door, little shuttered windows at each side and a general air of cosiness. The coffee-room, where the fugitive Tupman was discovered, is unaltered in a feature. From the chronicle which is with us we learn that: stout country lad opened a door at the end of the passage, and the three friends entered a long, low-roofed room, furnished with a large number of highbacked, leather-cushioned chairs of fantastic shapes, and embellished with a great variety of old partraits and roughly colored prints of some antiquity. the upper end of the room was a table with a white cloth upon it, well covered with a roast fowl, bacon, ale and etceteras." And there it is still; the passage, and the door at the end of the passage, and a charming old room of some size, very low, and with a sort of framed ceiling, its yellow walls grimed with the smoke and steam of a hundred "ordinarys.' It was pleasant, after more than fifty years, to find every thing corresponding so exactly to Dickens' description. There are half a dozen or so of old highback chairs, no doubt bought in Rochester to add "local color" and with the text; the old portrait of the tea-board pattern and the ancient clock, the only addition to the collection of artistic trophies being a colored photograph of Dickens' two pictures of his use at Gad's Hill, and a copy of the "Empty Chair" of Luke Fides. Mine host is a dapper and attentive little man, wearing a white apron. His liter ary leanings, however, are not considerable. Indeed, he admits, with engaging frankness, that he is not well up in Dickens, but as a great many people make inquiries of him, he has ordered a copy of "Pickwick." I envied mine host of the Leather Bottle the treat he had before bim, though I question whether I ever before heard of Dickens being studied as a matter of business. -Once a Week.

A SABINE LOVE-STORY.

prettily!

Illustrating the Effect of Gentle Force on Here is a cute little story from the French of Catulle Mendes. Not a pretty word, perhaps, but then she said it so when she put her hands on her hips, lifted up her saucy little face, and, looking at you with half-shut eyes, emitted this provoking monosyllable, it flew as straight and swiftly to its mark as any shaft in Cupid's quiver. And just be cause the little minx was perfectly conscious of the effect of her "Pshaw!" she uttered it upon all public occasions. She said "Pshaw!" to every body and without any apparent reason, but there was one to whom she said it more frequently than to any body else, and for the very best of reasons. For he loved her and she pretended that she didn't love him, and so for a long time

"Pshaw!" was all the answer the poor fellow got to his prayers and protesta-"Pshaw! "I would give my life for a kiss from your lips.' "Phsaw!" "I will blow my brains out if you re fuse to listen to me!

"Pshaw!" said she, bringing her laughing face still closer to his, so that her tempting red lips fairly touched his

She wasn't a bit afraid of him, yo see, but he poor fellow, was still a little afraid of her, and she drove him almost crazy with her coquetry. At last he lost all patience, and coming upon her unexpectedly one evening he said never a word but took her in his arms and covered her face with kisses. She strug gled and screamed like a captured bird and as uselessly, for the victorious lover paid no attention to her remonstrances, but kissed her hair, brow, cheeks and lips with the concentrated passion of months of desire.

And as he grew bolder, and, drawing her on his knee, kissed her white throat and clasped her yet more passionately, she became alarmed. She gave up struggling and had recourse to tears and 'Let me go, oh! Please let me go!" "Pshaw!" said he. He didn't say it as prettily as she did, and he didn't have such a saucy little face, but then he was a good deal stronger, and— Well, when he did release her there were more tears and more reproachful glances, and then a sweet little kiss of forgiveness, given without the least compulsion. She never said "pshaw" to him again—that is, not when she had on her best frock and wanted to keep her hair in order

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Newspapers are peculiar thingsou found one this year and next year it can't be found. -West Shore. -Cheeky — "I see you are wearing your hair long." Stony — "I hope to wear it as long as I live." — Boston

Herald. -Farmer Slack-"What do you keep such a wretched plow for?" Farmer Smart-"Jest for the accommodation of chronic borrowers. What do you wish the loan of to-day?"—Yankee Blade. -"Hello, Mudd!" cried a countryman, saluting a former neighbor. "Hush, don't speak so loud!" said the other.

"Since coming to town I have changed my name to Myer, in deference to my wife's feelings."—N. Y. World.

—Architect—"Have you any suggestions for the study, Mr. Quickrich?" Quickrich - "Only that it must be brown. Great thinkers, I understand.

are generally found in a brown study." -N. Y. Sun. -Morgan - "What brand of cigars does Maxwell smoke?" Dorgan—"They call them the 'Riot Act.' " Morgan— Morgan-"Why?" Dorgan-"Because they never fail to scatter a crowd."-Cincinnati

Commercial-Gazette. -A man may have wealth, honor and fair health, children that look like him, and a beautiful wife, and still not know the full meaning of seraphic bliss till he.

sees his name in print.—Ram's Horn. -At Nahante: Maude-"How many to-day, Jeanne?" Jeanne (counting)-"Let me see; there's Tom, Sam, Dick, Jack, Harry." Maude-"What in the world are you saying? I asked how many games you have played." Jeanne

-"Oh!"-Bostonian. -Nice Boy-"Give me that copy of 'Silent Shot the Slayer." Clerk-"Here you are. Ten cents, sonny." Nice Boy-"Father made me promise that I would never read dime novels, but if you'll make it eleven cents I'll take it."-America.

-Mrs. Grimm-"Mr. Travelle, who has spent three years in Ashantee, says that there the more wives a man has the greater is his social importance. Isn't that strange?" Mr. Grimm-"I presume the people of that country admire bravery."-N. Y. Weekly. -Forgot himself: Miss Pert-"And how much is that, Mr. Ribbons?" Charley Ribbons (who is posing as a millionaire, abstractedly)--"Thirty-seven and a half cents. Cash! O, er, excuse me. That is forty, love."-Lawrence Ameri-

-Mother-"Well, did you get that situation as office boy?" Little Son—"Nope." "What was the matter?" "Don't know. The gent is a lawyer, and he asked me if I was a good whistler, and I told him I was the best whistler on our street, and he said I wouldn't do. Guess he must want a reg-'lar professional."-Good News.

-Jack Pott (with malice aforethought) I congratulate your partner on her figure, old man. But why does she choose such an unbecoming mask?" Emory Hugh (innocently)-"She hasn't glass again)-"What! is that her face?" Dry Goods Chronicle.

A new use has been thought out for the phonograph which will save the expense of a burglar alarm: A flerce bulldog is made to bark into it. It is then attached to the inside of the door of the house to be protected, and but little machinery is needed to produce the most fearful alarm as soon as the door is meddled with.-Fliegende Blatter.

JOHNNY'S RELATIONS. He Writes an Essay on Ma, Pa, Grandma and Aunt Jerusha.

Ma is my mother; I am her son. Ma's name is Mrs. Shrimp, and Mr. Shrimp is her husband. Pa is my father. My name is John George Washington Shrimp. Therefore pa's name is Shrimp, so is ma's.

My ma has a ma. She is my grandma. She is mother-in-law to pa. My pa says She was a sweet little thing, and mother-in-laws ought to be vetoed. I then she put her hands on her hips. Itke grandma better than pa does. She brings me ten-cent stamps and bolivars. She don't bring any to pa. May be that's why he don't like her.

Aunt Jerusha is my aunt. When pa was a little boy she was his sister. I like little sisters. Dicky Mopps has a little sister. Her name is Rose. I take her out riding on my sled. Aunt Jerusha don't like her. She calls her that Mopps girl. I think Aunt Jerusha ought to be ashamed of herself. Aunt Jerusha lives with us. Sometimes I think ma would rather have her live with somebody else. I asked Aunt Jerusha once why she didn't marry somebody and set up for herself. She said that a man wanted to marry her, but that while poor Susan Jane was in such a state of health she couldn't think of leaving. "Besides," she said, "what would become of your pa?" Aunt Jerusha has a state of health, too. On washing-day she has the headache, and does her head up in brown paper and vinegar; and I have to make toast at the kitchen fire. I make some for myself, too. AuntJerusha says nobody knows what she has done for that boy. That boy's me again. I told pa what she said. Pa said it was just so. Nobody did know. Ma says Aunt Jerusha means well, and that she is pa's dear sister. I don't see why that's any reason she should always scold me when I eat cabbage with a knife. - Chicago Tribune. The Woman Was Right There.

Tramp (smiling) — Good morning, madam. I wanted to ask—but excuse ne, perhaps your husband is at home? Woman-No, he's not Tramp-Or your son? Woman-I have none.

Tramp (smiling a little more)-And I think I met the hired man driving out as I came in. As I was saying, I wanted to ask-(and he leaned somewhat heavily in on the door). Woman (interrupting) - If it's any thing about rifles or revolvers you wanted to ask I'll do as well as the men folks. I traveled eight years with a show as the champion female wing shot and I keep up practice steady. Tramp (getting off the door)-Thanks.

I'm a little pressed for time, and I merely wanted to ask how far it is to the nearest village. Three miles? Thank you. Good morning.-Puck.

FARM AND GARDEN.

KILLING WEEDS.

A Farmer Gives His Views on an Important Subject. There is no labor more universal among cultivators than the attempted destruction of weeds, and there is none which is commonly gone about with more irregularity and want of system. Weeds infest nearly all cultivated grounds, and their destruction is gen-erally attempted after they have grown bought this swamp, all declared that it a foot high, more or less, either by laborous hand labor, or more rapidly but more imperfectly with the work of hillsides constantly emptied into it. I horses. In the garden it is mostly performed, if at all, by the hand; in the land through the middle. I then began targe corn field the plow and cultivator to plow it after turning over a network turn over or tear up the large weeds of roots six feet across and buckwheat and leave many untouched.

The true management should be the commencement of this labor with the off and burn, as a yoke of cattle could planting or sowing of the crop. The young weeds should be destroyed before they reach the light. The soil has been stirred for planting; but within a week it should be stirred again to kill the young sprouting weeds. With small, tender plants, the small harrow or cultivator may be passed between the rows of field crops; with large, strongrooted plants, like corn, the slant-tooth harrow may be passed over the whole broadcast, pulverizing and destroying the small, sprouting weeds, but doing no harm to the strong corn plants, whether before or after they have reached the light. In the gardens the steel rake may do the same work in the narrow bed as the horse harrow performs in the field. The accompanying figures will serve to explain our meaning. Fig. 1 represents a crop of weeds, sprouting, and ready to come up, during the first week after the soil has been stirred. If the weather is warm and the soil moist, they will often sprout an inch in four or five days, and then is the time to pulverize finely an inch or two of the whole surface of the soil. In doing it every weed is broken, crumbled and destroyed. A double benefit results from it, in the breaking of the earth and giving to the coming crop a mellow sur-

Fig. 2, somewhat reduced, shows the young weeds a week later. They have of an inch high, and have sent down

do good work with them.

Fig. 3 represents the weeds still more was at least ten times as great as for attractive. those in Fig. 2, and about twenty times has been tested by actual experiment.

Two given areas of soil were measured down by my own weight, and I had to off for prompt raking, and another equal put boards in the bottom to keep the area assigned for the six-inch weeds, and the time required measured by the watch. Two square yards were hand- above the sluice entirely full of stone to somely and thoroughly dressed with a catch the surface water that came down steel rake in twenty seconds by the from a swamp above and prevent it irmode represented in Fig. 1; and one rigating the surface of my field. square yard in forty seconds according to Fig. 2. The work was repeated every week for a month and a half, making two minutes work for one and four minutes for the other. The tall weeds of Fig. 3 required but once about eight minutes to the square yard, being twice the labor of the square in Fig. 2. But pared with that of a crop of grain. the crop had been nearly choked out by the weeds.

The experiment is worth repeating.

It is too late for the trial on many crop for the season, but there are still some on which the test can be made, such as turnips, Hungarian, corn fodder, etc., in the field, and many second crops in the garden.

Many weeds have very small seeds, and will not germinate if buried more than an inch deep. For these, it is not necessary to rake deep in order to destroy them for the season. Large seeds will come up from a deeper depth, and require a corresponding treatment.-Country Gentleman.

A FARMER raising several hundred chicks each year sets his bens in small coops. During three weeks they are never allowed to leave the nest. He has a tin cup with water and one with corn before them constantly. His success has been very good for years. This shows that eggs need no cooling, as A RECLAIMED SWAMP.

How a Valueless and Unsightly Piece of Ground Was Made Both Beautiful and Profitable.

Near my residence, says a correspondent of Farm and Home, is about four acres of nearly level land, upon which I have raised in succession buckwheat, rorn, potatoes, oats and grass, obtain-ing especially large yields of the latter. When I was a boy this land was covered with brush, bogs and standing water cut the brush and dug ditches around it was planted on what land was dry enough. Some of the bogs I had to cut not pull them out, the buckwheat helping to pay expenses. Each year I had a tussle with the swamp when a dry time came, and put in another crop. My first ditches were partly of stone put in loose and were unsatisfactory, as they stopped the current and gradually filled up with earth and muck. My outlet would draw off the surface water, but was not deep enough to give me a suitable depth at the upper end and any perceptible fall.

I soon found my fifty dollars in ditches was good in a dry time, but a This time I began to ditch in the highway some ten rods below, where there was enough fall, and cut down six or seven feet in the highest ground, but to do this I had to board up the sides to keep it open long enough to put in my drain. This was of stone and made by building a wall on each side about one foot high with a cap stone over it. I put a ditch of this kind across one end, and then the whole length of the west side as close to the line fence as possible, as this side was next to a steep side-hill full of springs. I also cut a ditch through the middle in the same way, digging just deep enough to have the water follow and set back an inch or two after me nearly all the way through. In this way as soon as there was six inches of water in the ditch, I had fall enough for a good current, as I made the lower end of the sluice much wider than the upper. I also put in a few cross ditches emptying into this, covering them all over smoothly. Then I met another difficulty; a heavy rain would soon form such a volume of water to flow into this basin, that it could not filter through the ground, and it became a sheet of water.

The result was it cut holes through went through the ditch as if coming from a squirt gun. To meet this I filled up these holes with small stone to reached the light, are a tenth to a fourth the surface, or stoned up miniature Few would wells with a stone cover. roots two inches or more in length. now suspect to see the field that it was These roots, if numerous, double the once swamp and $300 worth of ditches labor required to destroy them, com- lay underneath. After some fifteen or pared with those shown in Fig. 1. But twenty years there is not a rod of the steel rake and the slant harrow will ground but what a mowing machine or a plow can be run over. I have taken every thing off the land for twenty reduced in size, half a month later, years and seldom put any thing back, when they have reached a height of six and with few exceptions have had good inches or a foot. The crop has already grops. I consider the money well insuffered largely from their crowding and vested, aside from the fact that such shade, and the labor required for them stagmant ponds are unhealthy and un-

I think I might have used drain tile as great as in Fig. 1. This difference in part at much less cost, as the bottom stone from sinking into the soft clay. Across the upper end I filled the ditch

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

THE following swine notes we republish from the columns of the Nebraska Farmer:

JUST what plan the pig-grower shall follow must be determined by his location, the kind of food at command and the distance from market; but it is always a safe plan to get them on the market as soon as possible.

The man who believes the "swill pail" to be the best breed is in error, as well as the man who depends entire!; on the fine quality of blood to make his hogs fine. Better combine the twofine blood and the swill pail.

THE sow that will not thrive well on good grass when not sucking pigs is not a good one, and the farmer who will retain such a one when better ones are so abundant deserves ill success in his efforts at pig-breeding.

THE man who brings fall pigs to grass weighing only about 100 pounds should draw a heavy line across this part of his farm operations and abandon it entirely till he can adopt a more rational and profitable system of feeding. WHEN grass is acknowledged as king and treated as such in our pig growing operations we will have pork produced at a cheaper rate and of a finer quality. The cost of labor in the production of a crop of grass is merely nominal as com-

To Keep Poultry Free from Vermin. To keep your poultry free from ver-min, make a platform two feet from the ground and elevate the roof twelve inches above this. Be sure that it is at least two inches from the side of the building. The legs of the platform must stand in fruit cans, in which is an inch or more of kerosene oil. A good thing for roosts is scantling three and one-half by one and one-half inches. If these directions are carefully followed and the roosts occasionally annointed with kerosene, the birds will be hearty and happy .- Farm and Home.

A VERMIN PROOF ROOST.

PRIVATE TYPEWRITERS. How a Fair One Took Advantage of Her

Peculiar Position. You have no idea to what an extent typewriters in the departments-the perators, I mean, not the machine-are utilized by their superior officers to do private work during office hours. Any number of Government officials who want to be authors have their manuscripts typewritten in the department free of charge. Of course, it is all one to the department typewriter whether the work is for the Government or not, but is is a great injustice to outside typewriters, who thus lose a great deal of work.

connection. Up in our department there is a lady, the daughter of a distinguished General now dead, who does a good deal of writing for the cheaper class of magazines, and always has her manuscripts copied by one of the typewriters in the department. One day she took the manuscript of a short article, written for a well known woman's magazine, to a young woman who had recently been appointed a copyist in the department to have it transcribed. The young woman, it seems, had had some dealing ing with magazines herself, and, not being troubled with conscientions scruples, she made two copies of the article, mailed one to a periodical to which she had before sold some matter, and under some pretext delayed delivering the other one to its author for some time. lake formed in winter in a freshot, and I was not satisfied and tried again. This time I began to ditch in the high. Then the author of the article mailed it to the magazine for which she intended it, and a few days later there was an explosion. It seems that the typewriter, as such would have it, had mailed the stolen matter to the very same editor that its rightful owner had intended it for. The offer of a copy of manuscript which he had already accepted or paid for actually caused the editor to instifor actually caused the editor to insti-tute an inquiry, which in a very short time led to the exposure of the fair type-writer's duplicity. She and the author had an awful row, but the latter couldn't very well lay the matter before the chief and ask for the girl's dismis-sal, for of course she had no right to have the matter copied in the office, and didn't care about having the fact that didn't care about having the fact that she had exposed. She will, however, have her manuscript copied elsewhere in future.—Washington Critic.

Cucumbers Not Noxious. Many people are under the impression that the cucumber is very indigestive, and when they eat it they do so in the results - you'll find a under protest, and with apprehensions of possibly dire consequences. How this delusion can have arisen it is difficult to say, unless it be that cucumber is often eaten with salmon and other indigestible table friends. It is not the cucumber, however, but the salmon that the surface into the ditch, but the pressure was so great that earth and water Sure was so great that earth and water Cucumber, in fact, is very digestible Prescription produces health. when eaten properly. It can not in-deed, be otherwise when it is remem. Wonder is that there's a bered that it consists mainly of water, woman willing to suffer when and that those parts which are not water are almost exclusively cells of a there's a guaranteed remedy rapid growth. In eating cucumber it is well to cut it into thin slices and to masticate them thoroughly. Even the vinegar and the pepper that are so often added to it are of service to the digestion if not taken in excess. The cucumber are sometimes belowed by the state of the ber, as every one knows, belongs to the melon tribe, but in our somewhat cold country it does not grow to any very large size, and, therefore, is firmer and looks less digestible than its congener, the melon.-London Hospital. How's This! How's This:

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Chenky & Co., Props, Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J., Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo. Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

The day of promise is always at hand. It is the time of fulfillment that seems a long way off.—N. O. Picayune.

A Pleasing Sense A Pleasing Sense

A Pleasing Sense

A Pleasing Sense

A Pleasing Sense
and comfort follows the use of Syrup of Figs, as it acts in harmony with nature to effectually cleanse the system when costive or bilous. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

Money has some human characteristics.
It talks and it gets tight.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

HARSH purgative remedies are fast giving way to the gentle action and mild effects of Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you try them, they will certainly please you. Most people eat to fill, but the denta, fills to eat.—Texas Siftings.

In tents enjoyment-camping out. A MAN is the loosest when he is tight .-

The woman who was carried away by her emotions must necessarily have been a per-son of strong feelings.

When a burglar asks you the conundrum: "Where's your money?" it is wiser to give it up.—Binghamton Republican. REASON and Instinst.—How to catchfish is a study. How to lie about it comes natural.

N. O. Picayune.

An up-town man recently left his family and has not since been found, although his nose turned up.—Philadelphia Times. "IT strikes me," said the man who was out collecting bills, "that I get a good many short answers."—Washington Post.

The poet is an idyl fellow, and that's probably why the public stanza verse to being ode by him.—Binghamton Leader. "'Tis hard to part," sadly remarked the man with a bald crown surmounted by three little wisps of hair.—Somerville Jour-

Brss-"Oh, Ned! have you seen the round oak dining-table papa has bought?' Ned"Round! Pshaw! Then we shan't have any more square meals, shall we!"

Women made the most successful census enumerators, according to Superintendent Porter. Let us hear no more about the in-ability of women to pop the question.— —Peoria Transcript.

ONE man in Maine has collected twenty thousand tons of chewing gum which he is holding for a rise. If his speculation turns out all right he is going to buy some store clothes and spruce up.—Boston Transcript.

"John, what is the past tense of see?"
"Seen, sir." "No—it is saw. Recollect that." "Yes, sir. Then if a see-fish swims by me, it becomes a saw-fish when it is past and can't be seen." "John, you may go hows."

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y. On Tuesdays, September 9 and 23 and October 14, 1890, agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway trill sell Home-Seekers' Excursion Tickets to pre-cipal points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest at rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good returning thirty days from date of sale. For full particu-ars call on or address agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway.

A TELEPHONE clerk dismissed for inefficiency found that he had missed his calling —Texas Siftings.

to the department typewriter whether, the work is for the Government or not, but is is a great injustice to outside typewriters, who thus lose a great deal of work.

I can tell you a pretty good story in this I can tell you a pretty good story in there.

The good die young, but the average boy s making strenuous efforts to live a little longer.—Terre Haute Express.

PEOPLE Are Killed by Coughs that Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar would cure. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute. The race isn't always to the swift. Sometimes it is to the pool-sellers.—Rochester Post-Express.

For any case of nervousness, sleeplessness, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, relief is sure in Carter's Little Liver Pills. It is difficult for a lady who paints to keep her countenance when out in the rain.— Texas Siftings.

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toning up the system and correcting irregularities as soon as its use is begun.

Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it-try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure 'll come.

But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your

How many women are there who'd rather have the money

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Mild and effective.

VASELINE. If your druggist does not keep it, FORWARD 10 CENTS IN STAMPS, and we WILL SEND a Full SIZED CAKE BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING CO.

24 State Street, NEW YORK. Intelligent Readers will notice that Vertigo, Headache, Dyspepsia, Fevers, Costiveness, Bilious Colic. Flatulence, etc.

For these they are not warranted in-fallible, but are as nearly so as it is pos-sible to make a remedy. Price, 25ctz, SOLD EVERYWHERE.

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE WESTON ENGINE CO., PAINTED PORTABLE CO., PAINTED PORTABLE CO., FORTABLE PROBLEM FREE.

PENSIONS Circular showing who are sutitled under NEW LAW sent tribled und

PENSIONS Now LAW CLAIMS.

SPENSIONS Apply MILO B. SIEVERS & CO.

Attorneys, 1410 F Street, Washington, D. C.

BERANCH OFFICES—Claveland, Detroit, Chicago.

THE PAPER every time you write.

SPANE TRIS PAPER every time you write.

SPANE TRIS PAPER every time you write.

SPANE TRIS PAPER every time you write.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF

THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BE UP Not to Split! TO Not to Discolor! THE MARK

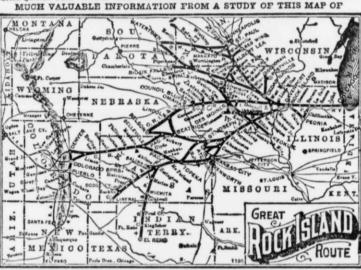

BEARS THIS MARK.

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CEAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address. Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. JOHN SEBASTIAN. CHICAGO, ILL.

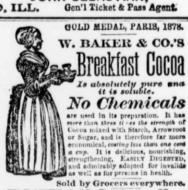

You work in all weather. You want an "all-weather" coat. In fact, the best waterproof coat in the world. No frail rubber affair that will rip before the week is out. Rubber costs more, and lasts but a short time. Four teamsters out of five wear the "Fish Brand" waterproof clothing. They are the only teamsters' waterproof coats that are light, strong, durable, and cheap. They cost strain a long time. They never get sticky or peel off. The buttons are wire-fastened, and never some off. They are absolutely waterproof and wind-proof. Until you own one you will never know the comfort of a rainy day. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with the "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.

A. J. TOWER. - Boston, Mass. DGES THAUSED by CHILD DHEN'S CHILDREN Thousands of young men as women in the U. S. A. ow when in the U. S. A. ow PENSION JOHNW. MORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS. Late Princial Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau Jyrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since, YNAMET THIS PAFER Ferry time provide.

PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & CU., Washington, B. G. SPAME TEIS FAFER every time you write.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass. The Greatest SHOW on Earth To Relieve Heartburn, Acidity, Gastric Pressure, Distress After Eating, Water Brash, Palpitation, and all Stomach Troubles—AND CURE INDIGES TION AND DYSPEPSIA with DR. BRONSON'S

Comp. Pepsin Troches. Your Druggist will order them, if not we will so mail; $2a a box, $boxes $1.00. We supply druggist samples, if not found there, send us $2 c stamp for a $20. BRON-40N FREECLA CO., Providence, ii. L. Brayna Tills PAFRI every time you write. $500 REWARD

5 TON WAGON SCALE, $60 is not equal to any made, and a standard reliable scale. For particulars, address only Jones of Binghamton, Binghamton, N.Y.

ASTHMA - Swodish Asthma CURE
address. Will mail Triat CURED never falls; send us your COLLINS ENOTHERS DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, NO. FREE
ag-Name This PAPER every time you write. Wideawake Boys wanting Nickels, Dimes and Dol-lars add's D.T. & N.Co., Raynham, Mass

UNION COLLEGE of LAW, Chicago, Fall Term begins cept, 2), For circular add, H. Booth, Chicago, A. N. K. -C. 1309. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE sainte that yes saw the Advertisement in this A "Side-Wheeler."

cumstances a man would have eased guage; being only a woman I cried. and ye'll get it."

You see, I had taken such pains to and property seeded and everything, and it had just begun to look promis- food and good grooming. pricking up everywhere through the walked straight across it.

There was one thing peculiar that on him, prit. herself a native, knew all the natives inspection, he announced:

I had rented this pretty little cot- better than that, mum."

sin't Nimesy, its Mr. Grimes. The disgust. set about smoothing out the tracks as his new machine."

of assistance. that my grass needed, that I buried and were married on the spot.

when Hi'm sober, mum."

pen again hagin, mum, said he, 'appier, mum." bowing low as he backed out of the

Now, the Hall girls, my two nieces, ably settled before they came. I had arranged for my pony and phaeton and the cow to be sent from my former home when I should be ready strong arm of a man. Sarah had proposed doing these duties herself, and I do not at all doubt "No, I'll give you a penny," said them well. Indeed, I think she was bright idea occured to him, he added, haven't I?" rather hurt because I insisted upon "But I'll tell you what I will do. niring another person. She could You see that constable yonder? "do all there was to be done on a lit. Well, if you run across the street and run off and left the family as hard up tle place like that, and had done it mop your broom up and down his as a spring coon with a broken ieg ?" many a time," she informed me, but back I'll give you half-a-crown." I was trying to coax her into white "I'll do it, sir," said the boy, and "Knowed you when you growed aprons and caps, and somehow the away he started. Of course the up and married Hanner Taylor?" stable chores did not seem quite com- policeman very properly resented the patiable with the work which I had shocking insult of having a small boy "How is Hanner and the young planned for her and the place I mop a muddy broom up and down 'uns?" wished her to take in our little es- his constabulary uniform. He laid tablishment. Well, the cow and the pony came, but Sarah's brother did not. He de. His conscience pricking him, Sir some money in your bank-not a cided to try his fortunes in the far Charles stepped across the street and great deal, but just 'nuff fur a nest West and set off at a day's notice. So remonstrated with the officer, but. so egg, like." Sarah did the work the first night far from tolerating calm, dispassionand the next day I asked her advice ate argument, the officer took Sir with our patrons," about a man for the place.

She suggested "Old Nimesy" as a you'll get, barrin' an occasional of duty. About this time Mr. Ger- want to find it right here." drunk," was her recommendation. I ald Coxe came up and protested decided to take him, as his sprees against the arrest of his friend. were infrequent and very harmless and I let Sarah make terms with

I was so proyoked! Under the cir- Grimes is yer man. Hi hain't forgot "A serious charge. A most serious and if everything is all right I may the night Hi tromped on yer gardin, charge. Now tell me, sir. what's put in four more when I sell that his mind by using emphatic lan- mum, and Hi owes ye good service your name?"

Well, I did get it; willing and gentleman addressed. have my little lawn as level as a floor, faithful he certainly was, and the Now, even this august and solemn pony and the cow both shone from inspector had a certain sense of hudeal, and teased and pestered him stable should masquerade as the swell rich dirt; and now some vandal had half to death, but he took it all in Mr. Coxe struck the august and solgood part and liked them, I think, emn inspector as a joke, a rare and tracks in opposite directions and, as the lawn was small and the tracks large, you can fancy the result.

In spite of their pranks. They rather mighty joke.

"Oh, ye u're Mr. Gerald Coxe, are you?" said he, sarcastically. "Yes.

They are about it they took it out you look like Mr. Gerald Coxe.

I noticed through my tears-on the Grimes's pride of the cow was real- y u, sir?" right side was the mark of a huge ly touching, and his enthusiasm foot, but on the left, only a deep about her sometimes led. him quite gentleman. round hole. The man evidently had away from the conventional. In fact, This, to the thinking of the august but one leg. I was glad that at least one evening when we were sitting and solemn inspecter, simply deep that calamity had overtaken the cul- on the front piazza with rather dis- ened, ramified and complicated the tinguished callers, Grimes appeared, joke. "Betch yer it's old Nimesy," vol- brimming milk pail in hand; setting "So you're Sir Charles Beresford, unteered Sarah, my servant, who, the pail down on the lower step for eh?" he chuckled, grimly, "Sir and their habits far better than did "Four gallon if there's a gill, mum, splendid-you look like Sir Chark on I, who had recently come to the vil- an' Hi'll leave to hany of yer frens, you do; splendid, splendid! And mum, if ye could hask a cow to do now tell me my boy," said the inspecter, turning to the small boy, tage, which was not in the best of Every one was immensely amused "what's your name?" repair, for the picturesque possibili- and enthusiastic in praise, and The ragged little urchin was in a ties of its lawn and surroundsngs. I Grimes, quite satisfied, and wholly serious quandary. He looked at Sr had ordered the fence torn down the unconscious of provoking mirth, Charles and Mr. Coxe, "Look-a-mower with a handle at one side turning boldly to the inspecter, he Cooper Sh "Well you may tell Mr. Nimesy which had always done excellent said, in a tone full of heroic confi that I cannot have people running work, he denounced as "orkard and dence: "I'm der Dook of Wellingabout my yard," said I, in a digni- haginst natur," and he utterly re- ton,"-Chicago News. fied tone. Sarah replied with a gig- fused to use it; so I brought him one gle, "Land! Miss Brown, his name of his own choosing, much to Sarah's boys calls him Nimesy for short." I That person tossed her capped head failed to see how a name of one syl- and muttered something about "humlable was abbreviated by making it orin' them that was already too back from Chicago and in the car I two, but I did not argue the question freaky to live with," from which rewith Sarah; my brief experience hav- mark I gathered that the course of I was very glad to meet him; so was ing taught me that the last and best true love was not running with the he, I think, to meet me, and anyhow word would evidently be hers, so I oiled ease of which Grimes boasted in we indulged in a host of reminisbest I could, declining Sarah's offers But things smoothed themselves out in time, and after one stormy not remember his name. I did re-I felt "put out," however, and it scene when Grimes got, to quote member that at school we used to was only when, later in the day, I looked out and saw the sidewalk quarrel she had taunted him with his speckled with the great raindown. speckled with the great raindrops huneness, they made it up for good pearance, but I couldn't address a my resentment toward "Ole Nime- You would hardly call it an elopement, they were most too old for Several days later, when the sun that, but it was unexpected. The and rain had sent my grass up so happy couple offered to live with me high that all tracks were hidden by as long as wished them to, but I had the soft, yelvety curpet, Sarah an- decided before that to give up housenounced that Mr. Grimes wished to keeping and chaperone my neices upon a long foreign tour, and so our I found him in the kitchen; as I little household disbanded. To tell entered he rose from his chair and the truth I was not sorry, for if I had bowed low and then said: "Hi 'ave always been a little afraid of Sarah come to hapoligise, mum, fur a trom- before, what would be my awe now pin of yer garden, mum, fur Hi'm that she was, to use her own words, not given to a makin' of mischief "a married woman and as good as the best." I told him that he had caused me Our adieux were most friendly. no little annoyance, and I took ad- and Grimes took the occasion to say vantage of the occasion to read him to me earnestly, "Hi'm only a sidea brief temperance lecture. He wheeler, mum, at the best, but Hi the first one in the history of the seemed quite impressed and very do say that Hi'm that fond of Sarah, town, and one day after it was in do say that Hi'm that fond of Sarah, mum, that Hi could part with the other 'un, if it 'ud make'er hany hitched his horse and wayon in front half of an acre, improved by a "Hi assure ye, mum, hit'll not hap- other 'un, if it 'ud make'er hany hitched his horse and wagon in front

The "other 'un" evidently refered crock of butter and basket of eggs to his remaining lower limb. I were safe, and then entered the buildnaturally doubted if Sarah would be ing. He was well known to all of had promised to spend the summer the happier for such a sacrifice, but the officials, and each had a word for with me, and I wished to be comfort- as I looked into his honest eyes I him as he entered. He tooked knew that he meant what he said, and that his "'art was true to Sarah." Three Genluses in a Scrape. An amusing story is told in club and opened a bank, eh?" for them, and now the barn and sta- circles of Lord Charles Beresford and ble were quite in order, and Sarah's Mr. Gerald Coxe, two of the most brother had been hired to do the conspicuous swells about town. They work about the place requiring the were in Piccadilly one afternoon when a dirty little crossing sweep ac- git the money ?" costed them, asking for tu'pence. hands upon the small boy and pro-"Aha," quoth the officer, "so you want to interfere. do you? Well, I "And if you bust up the bank and straight dealin's and good honest "So you've been interiering wit" . Waal, you hear me, and now here work, sich as Hi can give, mum, the constable, eh?" said he, solemnly, is $4 to begin on. It's to try you,

"Mr. Gerald Coxe," answered the and run away." mor, and the thought that any man ing, with the little green spears The girls laughed at him a good charged with interfering with a con-good-capital-ha, ha! And who are

"Sir Charles Beresford," said that

Charles Beresford, eh? Well, this is first thing—an innovation in the little place—and now someone had evidently taken my little grass plot for public ground.

Charles and Mr. Coxe, "Look-a blook and Mr. Cox

She Astonished Him.

"I was never so flustered and perplexed as I was the other day,"said a lady to me yesterday. I was coming cences. But I was uncomfortable from the very first because I could middle-aged gentleman, a wealthy financier, by such a name. His last name I couldn't remember at all. "I wanted to find out his name ORDERED, By the County Commission -you know how awkward it is to keep on saving Mr. or Sir to a man. How to get it out of the man I tried to think. I suppose my brain got muddled attending to several matters at once, for at last I said: "Let me see-what was your name before you were married?"

"The look of astonishment on that man's face I shall not soon forget. I discovered his name, but it did not make me much more comfortable,"

-Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Farmer's First Deposit. They had opened a bank at Medina. of the building, looked to see if the Two Story Dwelling House, around him in wonder, and then addressed himself to the president. "Well Steve Smith, you've gone

"Yes." "Git a reg'lar charter ?"

"Oh, yes." "Got things so that robbers can't

"Yes." "Waal, now, look-a-here Sieve, that she would have accomplished Sir Charles gruffly, but then as if a I've knowed you a long time, "You have, Mr. Adams.

"Knowed you when your father "Yes."

"Yes,"

"Well, thank you," "That's proper, but what I was ceeded to drag him to the station. goin' to say was that I guess I'il put

"We shall be glad to number you Charles into custody, too, upon the "Yaas, but look-a-here, Steve, I ground that he sought to interfere don' want no foolin' about this biz faithful henchman: "As good as with a constable in the performance ness. When I want my money I "Certainly."

"And I want to find you here." "Of course."

fancy I'll have to run you in, too," run off with the cash, as some of 'em trunk on a wheelbarrow—for he was to have a room in the house. He to the police station.

Later the procession moved to the airth and when the personal estate of the procession moved to the police station.

steer. That's all, onless you bust up

Many Persons are broken Brown's Iron Bitters Rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Rhenmatic Plasters. INSTANT RELIEP FOR ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS.
SURE CURE for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatica
Sold by druggists everywhere, or by mail, 25 cents.

Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass. FOR SALE.

I have for sale 10 Cotswool ewe lambs, to said land is nearly all under lence ard, good water. Excellent title. Apply J. H. SANDERS. 2011

New Voting Place.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., Sept. 13th, 1899. a session of the Board held Sept. the following order was passed, to-wit: [SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNSON, Presiden

Test: J B. FAY, Clerk,

Estate of Lucinda Friend, Deceased THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the sub-seriber, of Garrett county, Md., hath ob-tained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters of Admin-istration, C. T. A., on the personal estate of LUCINDA FRIEND, late of Garrett county, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are here by warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated to the subscriber on or before the 20th day of March next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefits of said estate. Given under my hand this 9th day of September 1830

20-3 EDWARD H. SINCELL, Administrator, C. T. A., Oakland, Garrett County, Md.

OAKLAND, Mb , Sept. 18th, 1890. Upon petitions of Jonas Yutzy and others f District No. 8, the following order was ormer and more central and convenience. [SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNS

Test: J. B. FAY, Clerk.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

and other out-building, said property facing on the road leading from the Morgantow road to Mili Run, and adjoining the proper of Hamilton Frazee on the north-cast, a W. H. Frazee on the cast and facing the

W. H. Frazec of the class property for me owned by John Frantz of Joseph); and bette same property which was sold to the s. W. S. Friend by William H. Frazec; slevy having bee; made by an actual cupon said premises on the 2d day of Septe ber, 1830. And I hereby give notice that On SATURDAY, the 11 Day of OCTOBER, 1890, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day in front of the Targart Hotel in the town o Oakland, I will effer the aforesaid property a Public Anglian to the highest hidder for cist on the day of saic to satisfy the aforesaid exe TERMS OF SALE-Cash.

EDWARD N. CASTEEL. 30-td Sheriff of Garrett Co.

SNOWY CREEK MILLE, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH AND PALINGS.

GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY.

Orders for Lumber and anything in my lin solicited and promptly filled, WM. A. LORAW. 25 1 vr

D. E. BOLDEN E.M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

OAKLAND, . MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

Estate of David Michael, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the sub

to have a room in the house. He wished to close the bargain with me at once.

"Now mum," said he of the timber toes, "Hi'm only a side-wheeler, mum, at the best, but hit ye wants life.

"So you'ye been interiering wit" to the police station.

"The inspector in charge gazed at the three culprits austerely, he was a shrewd and august man—he has dealt with crime in all its phases all his life.

"You need have no fears, Mr. Admiss."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED

We will have a car load in a short time of he different grades. Please write for prices We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-able Plants in the proper season. Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had a short notice, sent by mail or express, Address

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

NVITATIONS. MEDDINA THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at prices that defy competiere placing your order

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROGRAMMES, CIRCULARS,

STATEMENTS,

LETTER AND BILL HEADS We make

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MAN ER

Call and see our speci-mens of all kinds of work if you need anything in our line. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE. A Rare Chance to

Secure a Home. FOR SALE

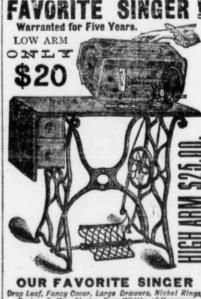

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. Theyadjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhode-heaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHLAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth gash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. These lands are of excellent quality, each

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

Drop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nichel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890;

GOING EAST 6-Accommodation. 2-Accommodation GOING WEST.

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 &

5-Accommodation

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager.

C. K. LORD,

General Passenger Agent. THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK

OAKLAND, MARYLAND, D. E. OFFUTT, President.
G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashler,
A General Banking business transacted, ##-Prompt attention to collections, 112'89.

Registration Notice. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER SITTINGS, 1890,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned officers of Relgistration of Votes in and for their respective Election Districts of Garrett County, will sit in their respective Election Districts in said County, at the places hereinafter named, for three saccessive days in the month of September, commencing with and including the thir! Monday of September, that is to say, on the 15th, 16th and 17th Days of SEPTEMBER, and for four successive days in the month of October, commencing with and including the first Monday of October, that is to say, on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of

OCTOBER, in the year 1899, from the hour of 8 o'clock m., until 8 o'clock p. m. on each of said da

And on the Monday next succeeding the econd Monday in October, that is to say, on 20TH DAY OF OCTOBER, n said year 1890, from the hour of 8 o'clock a. n. until 8 o'clock p. m., on said day, the said flicers of registration will sit in their respect-ve Election Districts, for the revision of and ive Election Districts, for the revision of and for the hearing of applications for re-instatement by persons whose names shall have been stricken off the registric of voters for said Election Districts in said county, as provided in Article 33, Sections I to 38 E, of the code of Public General Laws of Maryland, title "Election," sub-title "Registration of Voters," as amended by chapter 573 of the acts of 1899. The places of sitting of each of said Officers of Registration in their respective Election Districts on the days named and hours stated is as follows, to-wit:

Election District No. 1, at Swanton, 2, at his residence Sep-tember sitting and in October at store of L. E., Friend, at Friendsville, 3, at Grantsville, 4, Sept. 15 at Franklin Mines, all other days at, Bloomington. Bloomington,
5, at Aceident,
6, at McHenry,
7, at Oakiand,
8, September at Elkins,
October at Red House,
9, at Johnsons,
10, at Deer Park,
11, at Gregg's Mill,
12, at Biddinger,

All naturalized citizens applying for regis-ration will be required to produce their cer-ificates of naturalization to the Officers of

tificates or Registration, Signed, H, O, HAMHLL, Offleer of Registration 1st Election District, R. E. FRIEND, stration rd Election District, Officer of Registrat ISAIAH FULLER, Officer of Registration 3d Election District. JOHN COLLINS, Officer of Registration 4th Election District, HENRY F. LININGER, Cffleer of Registration 5th Election District,
N. C. BROWNING,
Officer of Registration 6th Election District. P. A. CHISHOLM, Officer of Registration 7th Election District, HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District,
SAMUEL JOHNSON,
Officer of Registration 9th Election District. SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH, Officer of Registration 10th Election District,
JOHN C CHANEY,
Officer of Registration 11th Election District, JOSEPH BUCKLE, Officer of Registration 12th Election Districa ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all

HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md. J. F. LEWIS, ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's

-MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland,

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing ivestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jelf-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice is the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

3-Sepecial attention given to Investigation of Claims, including claims against United States Real estate bought and sold on commission. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., aboye

WARING THOMAS. THO MAS & SINCELL.

Attornaya-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Whilpractics in the Courts of Garrett and Allogary counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. SS 10 6

J. w. Valron. Validh & Townshend, Aftorneys at Law solicitors in chancery,

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, O lies in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Taird street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Deutist, Satisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, M.t., and offers his services to those wishing bound Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Llek, Pa. 622 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT,

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. Eg- Residence at Commercial Hot.se, Sept. 9, 1885.-19

H. W. M°COMAS. M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his professional services to the peopl of Oakland and vicinity. 55'88 ##-Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two

R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and illing the natural teeth. lling the natural teeth.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
von 18

Dr. I. D. Mewman. OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Officeand residence on Milistreet, opposithe Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 5

DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oak land and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church.

17 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY. Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD.

Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 21, 85.— y.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are erected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bearfor particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas mable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the little and says trouble in case of fire. those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire. The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. F. A. THAYER.

TORN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER. East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

PLANING

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brac-and Newels, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings. Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates.

kets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters

Faithmates cheerfully given on all kinds FARM FOR SALE

COAL& FIRE CLAY. I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acres

I am authorized to sell a min of 25 heres 125 heres of which are cleared, situated on the Oak and and Sang Kan road, sty miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Cont. one vein being 6 feet another 3 feet and another i feet. Also in abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling noises, a barn and other outbuildings. Also i good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, 1589 Republican office, Oaklar d, Md.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

FOR SALE, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 13314 acres, situated 7 miles North of Oak-and, near the Yough River. The Improve> d is on the place, erms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with refrences to actual clients in your State, coun-y, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington D. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md Office 30 Baltimore Street.

JONAS E. GNAGEY. CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

AND PROPRIETOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-

Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material. Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-ment of Coffins, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance. It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices. work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who bave favored me in the past, I nope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

Correspondence solicited. JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890 6 21 1y.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c. &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all unon shed, young ord well watered and Situated about 2 For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT

Fairment, W. Va.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERY Body able to hold a brush should use ON Against Than ON. WILL STAIN GLOS ANEW FURNITURE FURNISH WILL STAIN GLOSS AND CHINAWARE OF THE WILL STAIN THWANGE WILL GTAIN YOUR GLO BASKETS TIME. WHEL STAIN CLAUSE SAME WHEL STAIN YOUR DED BASKEYS time.
WHILE STAIN SAMEYS COACH AND WOLLY & FANDOLPH, Philadelphia.
WOLLY & FANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

By All Odds

The most generally useful melicine is Ayer's Pills. As a remedy for the various diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, these Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be easy and pleasant to take, but preserves their medi-cinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, solders, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies prove effective.

Ayer's Pills

"In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but per-suaded my nurse to get me sime of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I), I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Lieut. 56th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry. "Ayer's Pills are

The Best

I have ever used for headaches, and they act like a charm in relieving any disagreeable sensation in the stomach after eating." - Mrs. M. J. Ferguson, Pullens, Va. "I was a sufferer for years from dys-pepsia and liver troubles, and found no permanent relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. They have effected a com-plete cure." - George W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T.

Ayer's Pills.

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by ail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

VALUABLE

FOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE,

and a young orch rd.
There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 \ \text{yollars}, in easy payments.
The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md. VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE!

FRAM HOUS containing five rooms and a cellur, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms dec., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

FIGHT AT SUMMIT SPRINGS.

of a Battle With Renegade Indians, by Captain King.

[From the Philadelphia Press.] Midnight, and the scouts are not et in. For twelve hours the battaln rode through the hot July day. stly at the front, sending the dust ouds sailing high over the winding rait, and powdering the rearward copers with a thick coating of their nother earth. There were eight impants in the long column when e came filing out of the misty val y just at the gray of dawn, but wagons had to be guarded, and M troop was ordered to remain ith and "fetch along" the train. The rest of us are pushing North Part is feet as our stoods can bear idge, where the coyoles are yelping and sneaking about under the rays of the waning moon, and the broad vatley of the Platte, with its sandy wastes and shallow waters, a big band of renegade Indians, Stoux, Chey-North, and every man in our array knows well that when they left the burning settlement on the Solomon they bore away with them two poor women whose husbands and brothers and children they massacred in cold blood.

"If I kill every horse in the region reach the river. Five hundred care if there's five thousand."

body made.

age warriors and of their rapid re- 'em !" treat, scalp and plunder laden, to statter among the villages of the still distant reservation. It was a war party, unaccompanied by women, usencumbered by lodges, that made the dash along the Solomon valley, but the Pawnees swear that somewhere "over that way" still toward the snow peaked Rockies, these maranders have a big village of their own. If we can only reach the Platte shead of them! All day long, jog, jog, jog, sometimes through deep rayines, some times clambering over grassy bluffs, but all the while taking the shortest possible route that Bill Cody's plainscraft enables him to select, heading for the fords of that river of quickand and shallows. Once there, if we make it ahead of them, we can never played this game before.

turn and bar the way.

A HALT FOR THE NIGHT. bags for a cold lunch, washed it down loved ones.

all there is about it."

All around the silent bivouac-sil- tering gallop.

denly from the northeast comes the ry is in full yiew. sound of rapid hoof-beats-the chal- One hundred and fifty miles have lenge of the sentry, the spirited, cher- we come on this night and day chase ry hail of the coming party, and in sweeping around their right flank, another minute "Buffilo Bili" has and here we are square on their front jeaped from his horse before the Col- -the last quarter on earth from which onel's party, and the Pawnee scouts they look for attack. Mark the eyes who follow at his horse's heels, bend of the foremost men in every troop!

moving, village and all. They have an Indian five miles, and any man in it" for the great rescryation to the Piatte, and if we pull out now we in the fight. can head 'em off."

ment,', said the Colonel, when the stopes, and moving at a steady walk. the adjutant at an enthusiastic cornews was brought to him, "I'll run Some men have not been sufficiently poral riding in the ranks of "G"troop, those scoundrels to earth before they aroused to prevent their dozing off who suddenly unfurls the silken colof 'em, you say, Bill?" he continued ding over their nommels as we reach they should be foremost when the as he looked up from the dispatch he the ridge. For hours we glide over destination. "Down with that flag!" was writing on his knee, "I don't the dew laden sward. The dawn he repeats as he trots back to the ofcomes stealing up the eastern skies. fending soldier, "haven't you sense And that was practically what the The dim figures of the scouts become enough to know that nothing would egiment thought. All the livelong slowly revealed-far to the front, attract their attention quicker than ay, from dawn to 4 o'clock in the The night lamps in the heavens fade that?" sternoon, we had trotted in the slowly away and a rosy blush spreads take of our scouts, hoping vainly like a mantel over the orient. Lighter In front the ground gently raises to that every ridge we neared would and lighter grows the morning, and a line about 1000 yards away. Still prove to be the one from which the along the column the bearded faces we are steadily trotting in parallel fleing foe would be sighted. How look pinched and blue. How wel- columns, for there may be shallow movements of our few Pawnee allies "Confound these Indians, anyway, "Bill" and the Pawnees cover the darting about far in the advance. Why can't they give a fellow a front, the latter wildly excited and How we followed every move that chance for a breakfast?" growls the tearing off any garment they fancy captain of the foremost troop. Five may impede them in the fight. "Keep Was there eyer such a prince o'clock. Six. Seven. And at last well to the right," shouts the Colonel among sconts as "Buffield Bill?" It the Platte valley is in sight. Ten- to the chief of "A" troop. "Dash was he who made the long perilous and we are unsaddled in the shade around the village and capture the ride 'cross country to where we were of the cottonwoods. Eleven, and the herd when we charge." Similar orcamping far to the east; he who scouts are back with stirring news. ders go to the troop on the eastern warned us of Tall Bull and his sav. "By the eternal, boys, we've headed flank. "Pass around and head them

STILL IN THE SADDLE. Noon, and again in the saddle. stir the blood. Over to the southsuers from the south, faithfully springs, and there is wild revelry captains, among his women and children over the reunion with their braves. There plunging into their new places and must be over eighty lodges, say the Pawnee scouts, and no one guards blue, the battalion sweeps southward them from our side. White men to the attack. Every man knows steals away under the shelter of the yards and the ponies heads come into "No water between here and the bluffs and ridges. Gaunt and weary view. And now. Look! We are river," said Bill, as the dusty column as were the steeds at dawn, hungry seen! Riding like mad, swift as a halted on the banks of a tiny rivulet. and tired as was every man, the cry storm, straight as a hawk, an Indian renant House, Barn and other out-buildings "Dismount," rang the trumpet. "Un- "Indians ahead!" has banished ev- lashes his racer down the opposite saddle," came the brief order "Herd ery sluggard thought. If we can only slope, tearing diagonally across our the horses well back along the slope reach, the village before they have front. We can see that he is yelling and don't let 'em near that stream time to mount and meet us. We can wild warning, but the wind-whistill they're perfectly cool," said the rescue those poor women and deal tling down from the mountains to Colonel. We rumaged our saddle yengeance to the murderers of their the west, bears his voice away.

with what "Bill Arp" would call "Trot!" is the word passed down Bill has reached the edge. Heswings "branch water," and those of us not the column, but the Colonel's hand his broad brimmed hat and grasps detailed for guard or picket threw warns the trumpeters to silence, his rifle, Loo! The Colonel spurs to ourselves on the turf to snatch what "Look to your carbines, men, and his side and turns with one joyous sleep we might. The sun went down loosen a few cartridges in the loops!" wave of his hand. The trumpeter unseen by more than half the eyes in are the muttered cautions of the offi- digf spurs to his horse's flanks and our grimy little force, and here it is cers as they move up and down raises his blazen clarion to his lips midnight now, and no report from along the trotting ranks. We are No one waits to hear it. Every man the scouts. There is a little knot of marching by fours now, and heading knows and knows well that it means officers gathered about the Colonei's just a little south of west. Cronching charge, pillow-an old McClellan saddle, for along the ridge line to our left we can there isn't a stitch of canyass nearer see the Pawners, and still further on troop leaders, "Come on, men! than the wagon train somewhere far rides Buffalo Bill, every now and Hurrah !" is the answering yell, and in the rear-and leaning on his el- then peering over the crest, with his in one instant we are bursting after bow that officer explains the situa- brown curls tossing in the rising the chief and the scouts, racing like breeze, and still signaling "straight mad down the long prarie grade, be-"ve pull out at 2 o'clock-wagons ahead, straight ahead !" At last youd the ridge, and there, nestling or no wagons. If they reach us and we must be due north of their posi- all along the shallow dip. sheltered we can give the horses a hatful of tion. The Colonel canters away in among the willows at the springs or grain and the men a cup of coffee, answer to a sign from Cody, and spreading up and down the trickling well and good. If not, we'll push with eager eyes we watch them brook, are scores of smoke-stained ahead on empty stomachs. That's pointing southward over the divide. tepees-the lodges of the Sioux. Then comes the adjutant at a sputent except for snoring troopers-the "Troops! Column left!" is the herds of the different companies are order. And the next thing we know-clustered 'sidelined" upon the rolling half a dozen little columns moving prairies. Most of the horses, worn briskly in parallel rows are popping out, are lying down. Out beyond up over the divide. Away to the them the sentries are crouching, for south stretches a rolling plateau. Beonly three nights ago the Cheyennes | yond that there is a deep imprescharged the camp, hoping to stam, sion, wherein, as every troop leader pede our stock, and very nearly suc. will understand, the hostile village is lying, and beyond that, covering Out beyond the thickets the prairie or dotting the upland prairies for wolves are lifting up to the starry acres and acres, are almost countless skies their querulous yelp, but sud- numbers of Indian ponies. The quarover the neck's of their panting pon-les to listen:

See how they gleam! Look at the Colonel out in front of the centre.

"We struck the big trail about fif- His old gray pricks up his ears and teen miles over to the west. They're sniffs the air. That horse can smell their rear guards out looking for pur- the regiment will tell you so. "Guide" suit along their track and never centre," cautions the adjutant, giance dreaming of our trying this dodge. ing back, for far out on the extreme It's my belief that they are camped right those fellows in "A" troop are goars and Arapahoes, are "streaking to night within a day's march of the bulging ahead, eager to be the first-

Over on the left, too, the men in! "Pali out" it is. No trumpet call, "F" troop are doing the same, deno sound, no excitement. "Tumble spite the threatening frowns and up, men," is the low-toned order of gestures of the captains of the center the sergeants, as they scatter among companies, who are restrained by the sleeping groups. And in twenty discipline from pushing upon the minutes we are away, riding in silent heels of the commander. "Down shadowy column up the northward with that guidon, you idiot!" yells again. A score of troopers are nod- ors of his company, determined that

We are half way across the plateau. we strained our eyes in watching the come would one tin of coffee be! rayines to cross before we get there. off from that side."

READY FOR THE FRAY.

Every bit is foaming now. Every The blue, pinched look is gone from carbine is grasped and advanced. every face-banished by tidings that The officers have drawn their revolvers and now they twirl the cylinders. west, not six miles away, big herds to see that all works well, Now the' of Indian ponies have been espied, ground dips a little and we lose sight grazing quietly along the northward of the distant slopes. Now we are stopes. Hidden from yiew of pur- trotting up the gentle rise ahead. The Colonel looks back and shouts guarded by the vigilant scouts left something that the breeze seems to back along the trail, dreading no at- catch and carry away, but the gesture tack from any other quarter. Tall is enough. "Left front into line-Bull has pitched his tepees at the gallop!" are the prompt orders of the

Up came the rearmost horses, now, in long line of dust covered well that the village cannot now be Look along the column now, as it more than a mile away. A few more

Not an instant to lose now. Look!

"Charge!" "Charge!" shout the

REDSKINS SHOT DOWN. Crash! crash! bang!! Hurrah! (Continued on 8th page.)

GRANDPA'S SOLILOQUY.

I've lived nigh on to ninety years, 'mong things I've had to learn Was that pint of human natur' that has done a deal of harm. "Tis the master fault, few preachers that in fact It's the taking up of evil, and forgetting of the

I heard the vital questions agitated in their day, And five and thirty years ago I sometimes had part.
I note that pint I spoke of had got uncommon

If there's one thing more'n another that makes a man feel queer,
"Tis to have a chronic grumbler too uncomfortably near.

No matter what you talk about he'll meet it city, you know."

with a groan, And tell you of his troubles in a cemetery tone. He's allus blue as whetstones, and he's got a That fits his skinny body closer than the clothes he wears. He is allus mighty sartin that his life is almost gone, Yet I note this whining pessimist will live uncommon long. He is really begging pity, that's the secret of it all, And he seems to be the happiest when curses Blind as a bat to blessings, and color-blind to But he'll see the smallest evil without specks

And there never was an evil so feeble and so Small
That this musty tembstone natur couldn't nuss And if it chanced to get away, or die for want of breath, Then he'd have a double serrow a' mourning

Now, I like the plucky fellow who meets you with a smile, Whose heart may be a' smothering some trouble all the while; He can allus find a blessing where others see a curse, And he'll tell you all your trials might have Life has some heavy burdens-of course that But if you've got a little grit, 'twill help to ease your woe, And the time that's spent bewailing about "the bitter cup"

You had better use a' reckonin' your many blessings up. One thing I've learned for sartin-the pathway will go bright Will go bright

If you keep hope's candle burning; the burdens will grow light
If you don't cry over troubles long afore they But keep busy hunting blessings, you never will

Twe fived nigh on to ninety years, had burdens on the road, 've allus found some carrying a' enough sight heavier load. One gift I'd ask, were I set back-not freedo But a lively 'preciation of the good there is in life.

—Eliza Lamb Martyn, in Boston Globe.

THE STOLEN IDOL.

Searching for a Midnight Prowler in Ohio.

"Its a shame, Mr. Deering, a blessed shame that my aunt should accuse Jessie Darling of theft. How could she do such a thing?"

The young man who stood before me was hot with indignation, and from his words and actions I at once divined the truth that he was very far from indifferent to Miss Darling.

I smiled a little at the young man's enthusiastic defense of his aunt's maid. "Was the jewelry lost by Mrs. Goodale of much value?" I questioned, after the young man had told his story.

"I don't believe it was; but you see, it's an heirloom in the family, and therefore prized very highly." returned Walter Goodale. "It's a hideous Indian idol, made of gold and precious stones, and has adorned my aunt's dresser for years innumerable. Jessie has been with her a year, and now, when the hideous old idol disappears, my aunt flies into a rage and at once accuses poor little Jessie of the theft. Aunt Selina is a terror when she's enraged, and, well-I wouldn't permit myself to stay and hear Jessie traduced, so I fled and came to you, Mr. Deering. You must find the thiefout and thus vindicate the poor girl. I'll reward you handsomely for it,

It was in one of Ohio's smaller cities that I was sojourning now, and for some months I had been in the detective work. I knew the Goodales, and had seen Jessie Darling, whose sweet face and blue eyes were very attractive. I understood well enough that Walter was dead in love with his aunt's maid, and also that the aunt was displeased at the outlook.

The first thought that dawned upon my brain was that the old lady had concocted a little plot to disgrace the girl, and thus break up the match that was but forming. It pleased me to see the young man so confident of Jessie's innocence, and I was rather pleased than otherwise to enter upon the unraveling of the mystery.

I repaired at once to the house of Mrs. Goodale. It was a large, square stone building of ancient construction. Mrs. Goodale was a wealthy widow with no children of her own, and her orphan nephew. Walter, found an abode

When I reached the house I found the maid in the hall, with hat and shawl on, about to leave the place. The girl was pale, and I could see that she had been "I ought to put you in the hands of an officer at once," declared Mrs.

Goodale. "You can find me at my mother's any time," returned the girl, in a shaking voice, and then she turned and hurried from the house, not looking toward me as she passed. I confronted the widow, and she uttered my name in glad sur-

"The very man I wish to see," she declared. "I have been robbed, Mr. Deering, and there goes the thief now." pointing toward the retreating form of

"Of course I am." "Then you will have her arrested at "Well, I ought to, and I shall, unless she returns the stolen property."

"Which is very valuable?" "Yes. Did Walter see you? I am glad of it, although I am sure the girl is the thief. Come in, Mr. Deering, and I will tell you all about it." I entered the parlor, and the widow was soon explaining the situation. It was about as the nephew had stated it, only Mrs. Goodale assured me that she had found a ring that she had lost at the same time as the idol, in her maid's trunk. "She got red enough when I told her my say.

And when the social evil was discussed in every where I found the ring," proceeded Mrs. Goodale, "and tried to screen herself by saying that I was a meddlesome woman to go snooping into her trunk. I squelched her, though, and if you think it best I will have a warrant issued at once. The girl may leave the

> "I have little fear of that," I said. "At any rate, permit me to investigate this affair first, Mrs. Goodale. It may be that you wrong Miss Darling by your suspicions.

"You will undertake to find the crim inal, Mr. Deering?" 'Your nephew has employed me."

"Indeed! He pretends to think that Jessie Darling is innocent, but how he can is more than I understand." The widow then led the way to her room, showed me the dresser on which the Indian idol had rested for these many years, until the previous night, when it had mysteriously disappeared

"This ring I lost three days ago," said she, holding up a diamond circlet for my inspection, "and I found it in the bot tom of Jessie's trunk.' "But you found nothing of the Indian god?"

"You are, of course, sure it is not in the trunk?" "I am. I went through it in a thorough manner.'

"No."

"Then we must look elsewhere for the lost idol. Were you absent from home at any time yesterday?" "Yes; but the idol was in its accustomed place when I returned at night.' "Are you sure?" "I am sure." "How about this window?"

"It is always securely fastened." "And the door?" "I always secure that the last thing before retiring." I regarded her keenly.

Then, how do you account for the maid's entering the room without even interrupting your slumbers, Mrs. Good-"I can't account for that, unless she has a duplicate key." "That is not likely, unless the girl is a professional thief," I said. she's not that I know Mis-Darling has a good mother, and-but, you see, I found my lost ring in her trunk, and that seems conclusive evi-

"What did she say when you told her about the ring? How did she explainits presence in her trunk?"

"Oh, she did not attempt to doit, only that would soften me, but it didn't, nor make me think her an innocent creature. I think she's the thief fast enough, but I hate to lose the idol, and if you can scare her into a confession and a return of the stolen property, I shall be very lenient."

"I will see," was my only reply I was now quite positive that Miss Darling was not the thief. I was, however, undecided as to whether Mrs. Goodale had "put up a job" on the girl, or had really been robbed. I spoke to Walter, and suggested the former theory, at which he scouted, having full confidence in his aunt, no matter how much she may have disliked the thought of his, Walter's, advances toward the maid. "Well," said I, "permit me to carry out a little plan of my own, to do which, I must have free access to the house day and night."

"Of course that is granted," said the "And, mind you, say nothing of this to your aun ..

"As you please." Thus it was settled. Jessie had gone to her home, making no attempt to flee, and her trunk was sent after her.

I was given a room in an unused quarter of the house, which I occupied only at night, quite unknown to Mrs. Good ale. Walter gave me keys to all the rooms, so that I could roam about at will during the slumbers of the inmates. I could not get over the idea that Mrs. Goodale had plotted to disgrace her maid for a purpose, and I meant to trap her if possible. I had not long to wait. Just a week after my arrangement with Walter I slipped from my couch, fully clothed, and haunted the corridors of the old house, as I had done every night of my sojourn under its roof.

To-night my vigils were to meet with reward. A white-robed figure stole from Mrs. Goodale's room, and, hurrying down the hall, pushed open the door to the room lately occupied by Jessie Darling, and entered. Moonlight streamed into the hall, and I recognized the face of the widow. Doubtless she was bent on more mischief.

Quickly and noiselessly I stole to the oor and locked it, thus making Mrs. Goodale a prisoner. I turned about, then, and came nea attering a cry. Passing along the hallway was a white-robed figure, and the sight of a second nocturnal wanderer quite startled

While I stood dumb, almost petrified. the figure disappeared. I breathed more freely now, and soon crept softly in the steps of the last night-prowler. The door of the widow's room stood open. I looked in to see my ghostly walker run maging in a drawer of the old dresser.

"Confound it!" said a voice, "I'm sure it's in here.'

"Are you sure she is the thief?" I Presently the figure stole out through the door, and went swiftly down the hall, till another open door was reached. Of course I followed, quite puzzled

> The night-prowler entered the room, and knelt beside Walter Goodale's bed. murder? I was on the point of springing forward, when the ghostly form lay by two lawyers, who, riding on either flat on the carpet, and seemed to be side of him, began to question him in a a deep glass dish. Make a custard and reaching for something.

"Ah! I have it now." When the form would have risen, I sprang forward, and landed astride its

"Hello! What the deuce!" I scratched a match and held it close to the face of my prisoner. It was Walter Goodale! After a moment 1 got up and lit the gas. The young man looked sheepish single garment. "What the deuce does it mean, Deer-

"Neither," said I. "What have you n your hand, Mr. Goodale?" "Eh? In my hand?" He lifted his right hand, and opened it from a glittering object. "Well, by the powers!" exclaimed the young man; "it's the stolen idol!" "Yes," said I, "and you are the thief, Walter Goodale." A look of blank dismay covered the face of the young man. He admitted was addicted to it. Of this latter fact I was well aware, since she, too, had been out to-night on a walk, and was even now in Jessie's coom, where we found her later in the girl's bed soundly sleeping.

The stolen idol had been tucked inder the carpet beneath Walter's bed. He had stolen the idol, but I believe Mrs. Goodale had secreted her ring in Jessie's trunk while on one of her noc-

Miss Darling never returned as Mrs. Goodale's maid, but, some time later, as the wife of the man who stole the Indian idol.-Yankee Blade.

AN INSECT PRECENTOR.

The Puss-Moth Caterp llar's Place in the Orchestra of the Woods. No orchestra is complete, of course, without its leader. Even the "first fiddle" must observe the baton. And as fiddler and a harpist, as well as other instrumentalists, so too may we find him as they nod their squeaky trio? apon the midstem of an aspen leaf close You have seen him perhaps a hun dred times, and all his pompous pride has been wasted on you, being doubtless mistaken for a part of a withered or curled leaf. Our precentor is about an inch and a quarter long. The forepart ourst out crying. I suppose she thought of his body is arched upward like a sphinx. He wears a green vest and a flat triangular hat, and a white bordered brown mantle decorates his back. And his baton? No wonder our beetle trio were confused, for our precentor wields two batons. He is a law unto himself, has no score to follow, and, what is more, if things don't go exactly to suit him, he whips out from the tips of his batons two long red whip lashes, and makes things lively for a few moments.

It is difficult to understand the many mpetuous antics of our eccentric preentor squirming from side to side, circling his double baton about his head as with a hurrah, snapping his whip on right and left without rhyme or reason. Yes, as a precentor it is difficult to understand his doings. But when we return to reason, and remember that he is only an important pussmoth caterpillar, it is not half so mysterious. If we watch and wait for a moment or two, we shall doubtless witness a return of that buzzing fly-a parasite, perhaps-that has just been tick-

The puss-moth caterpillar is quite upon young aspens, and will be readily recognized from my description. It is an amusing insect, and, so far as I have seen, those peculiar rosy whip-lashes concealed within the forked tail, to be used when occasion demands. are not described in the popular works on natural history. - William Hamilton Gibson, in Harper's Young People.

WORDS OF LOVE.

Why We Can Be Fearlessly Free in Our Pleasant U.ter nees.

A loving word is always a safe word. It may or may not be a helpful word to the one who hears it, but it is sure to be a pleasant memory to the one who speaks it. Many a word spoken by us s afterwards regretted, but no word of affectionate appreciation to which we have given utterance finds a place among our sadly-remembered expres-Looking back over our intercourse with a dead friend or fellowworker, we may, indeed, regret that we were ever betrayed into a harsh, or hasty, or unloving word of censure or criticism in that intercourse, and we may wish vainly that we had now the privilege of saying all the loving words that we might honestly have spoken while yet he was with us. But there will never come into our hearts at such a time a single pang of regret over any word of impulsive or deliberate affection which passed our lips at any time. We have reason to be on our guard in our speech in most directions. but we can be fearlessly free in our loving utterances. Apart from any question of the good we do to others by our words of love, we are personally the gainers, for now and for hereafter, by every such word which we speak out explicitly; and we are sure to be the losers, now and by and by, from every t's in here."

1 started at the sound of that voice. spoken and failed to speak.—S. S. Times. WITH BISHOP ASBURY.

Pioneer Methodist Preachers Who Were Witty as Well as Pious. Among Bishop Asbury's useful preachers was the Rev. Jesse Lee, a pioneer Methodist in New England. As he rode out of a Massachusetts town on a Mon-What was he about to do? Commit a day morning, having preached there extract.—Boston Budget, twice the day before, he was overtaken —Peach Float: Cut and flippant way about his extemporaneous manner of preaching.

One of them said, "As you never write your sermons, but speak off-hand, don't you often make mistakes?"

"Sometimes," said Lee. "What do you do then?" said the sprig of the law. The preacher, shrewdly suspecting the enough as he stared at me, then at his the mistake is an important one, I always correct it: if unimportant I let it pass. For example, if I were quoting water, one quart. Warm gradually. ing?" said he. "Am I dreaming, or did the passage 'The devil is a liar,' and by I fall out of bed?" a slip should say a lawyer, I should not attempt to mend it."

"I wonder if the fellow is a knave or "Judging from appearances," retorted

Lee, I should say I am just between the keeper. They spurred their horses and left Hm to jog on alone. On a Sunday afternoon Mr. Lee was face of the young man. He admitted that he was a somnambulist, that it was a family trait, and that even his aunt of persons remained in the yard entertaining themselves with talk which could be heard through the open windows, while many of those in the congregation were drowsy-some fast asleep. Rapping the book-board with fish picked very fine two pints of raw his fist, the preacher, raising his voice, said, "I will thank the friends in the yard not to speak so loud; their talk may disturb the slumbers of the brethren in the church."

> There was no more conversation outside nor sleeping inside the church that Another of Mr. Asbury's famous preachers was the Rev. James Axley, whose field of labor lay mostly in the Southwest. He was one of the delegates to a general Conference which sat in Baltimore about seventy years ago, and was appointed to preach in a church in the city where the people had the habit, when they rose to sing, of turning their backs to the pulpit, and facing the insect world affords us a veritable the choir in the front gallery. Axley was amazed at tiis breach of good manners, and as he tead the next two lines our precentor close at hand, if our of the hymn (the style in those days) he eyes are only sharp enough. This group turned his back to the congregation and of singing beetles upon the poplar faced the wall. The singers in the galbranch. I wonder if they are watching lery began to laugh, the people on the floor turned to see what was going on, For he is close at hand. Even among and when the peacher knew that they these very leaves we are sure to find had all faced about, he exclaimed: him with a little search. But if they "Well what do you think of it? It's as are indeed observing him, he must be a decidedly confusing leader, for no two

A MUCH-MARRIED MAN.

Ashantoe's King Has Over Three Thou-Polygamy is practiced to on extravagent degree in Ashantee. The more wiges a man has the higher his social importance. The number which a man in private life may have is limited by his ability to purchase and support then, but the number of wives which the King may have is limited by lawlimited to the modest number of 3,333. and it is said that he usually does not exceed this limit.

It any rate, he must have more wives thin any of his subjects, or his respect-ability will suffer. The present King actually has the 3,333 wives and he has 60 children.

All the King has to do to get a wife is to thoose any female he pleases, no mat-ter how young she may be. Girls are often chosen when less than ten years old and in such cases they are left with their mothers until of a mature age, at which time they are taken to join the rest of the 3,333.

No man is ever allowed to see any of the King's wives, and should be even | facturers to move their plants. After a accidentally see one his punishment is fire that burned down a part of a sowing death. These wives during the working season attend to the King's plantations, but the rest of the time they live aspiring cities that wanted to take them at Coomasie, the Ashantee capital, where they occupy two long streets.

When they go out for a walk in a body, as is often the case, they are preceded by a number of eunuchs, who herald their coming, that all men may disappear and avoid looking upon them. When this is impossible they must fall upon their faces to the ground. If a white man happens to be there, and understands not the law, the eunuchs turn his face away from the advancing women. - London News.

In one of his recent lectures in Lonprominent points of resemblance between metals and fluids which are not Placing cold, powdered metals in a press, sometimes thousands of miles away. Prof. Spring, of Liege, caused lead to weld into a solid mass by a pressure of tin, 32 tons; antimony, 38 tons; aluminum, 38 tons; bismuth, 38 tons; copper, tons tin showed signs of the same tend-50 tons to the square inch was given the metals under experiment flowed through the satisfaction of his companions that the crystalline structure of metals may be changed by pressure as by fusion, and that it is even possible to build up alloys by the same agency.-St. Louis Republic.

-In the year 1319 sugar is said to have been sold at 1s 2 %d a pound, and till the eighteenth century.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Gold Feather Cake: One and a half cups sugar beaten to a cream with half a cup of butter, half a cup of cold water, two cups of sifted flour, one and a half teaspoons of baking powder, three eggs. Flavor with one teaspoonful of lemon

-Peach Float: Cut and sugar enough ripe peaches to cover well the bottom of thicken it a lttle with corn starch. Pour it over the peaches at once, so they will not turn. Cover with whipped er am when ready to serve. - Good Housekeeping. -Irish Moss is prepared by soaking one ounce in a little water till soft, then boiling it with one pint of milk, and sweetening it to taste, giving it any occupation of the men who were trying flavor preferred by means of essences to make game of him, answered: "If It is now, we understand, little used, gelatine having superseded it. -Cream Soda: Loaf sugar, one pound Good rich cream, one pint; extract vanilla, one-fifth ounce; tartaric acid, one-fourth ounce. Just bring to a boil. If corked too long it will crystalize. If s fool?" said one of the barristers to the you have no fountain use three or four teaspoonfuls and a little over one-fourth spoonful of soda to a glass .- House-

-Chicken Patties: Crop the chicken meat free from gristle, season with salt pepper and a little celery or sage, place a little of the meat on pieces of puff paste, press the edges together, making small turnovers, place them in a shallow pan and bake a nice brown, serve with drawn butter or a gravy made from the liquor in which the chicken was cooked.—Indianapolis Sentinel. -Salt Fish Cakes: One pint of salt potatoes; cook together in cold water until the potatoes are thoroughly done: drain off all the water; mash with a potato masher until very smooth; add a tablespoonful of Lutter, two well beaten eggs and a little pepper; mix with a wooden spoon; have deep boiling fat in the pan, and drop the mixture in by spoonfuls and fry brown.-Boston Her ald.

-Spanish Stew: Boil one and onehalf pounds steak till tender-boiling gently. Save the liquor. Next day cut the beef into small pieces, put in a saucepan with one teaspoonful of butter, one-half pint highly seasoned strained tomato sauce, and the liquor in which it was boiled, and let it simmer one-half hour. Just before dishing mash fine the yelk of a hard-boiled egg, stir into it one-quarter teaspoonful of curry powder and add to the stew. - Boston Budget -Imperial Cream Nectar: First, to one quart of water add one and onefourth pounds loaf sugar, one and onefourth ounces tartaric acid, one-fourth ounce gum arabic. Second, in another dish, one teaspoonful of flour, the whites of two eggs, beat finely together, then The congregation in that church have add one-fourth cup of water. When the of the bobbing heads are keeping the same time. Ah! here he is! perched burn, in Harper's Magazine.

faced the pulpit ever since.—W. H. Milburn, in Harper's Magazine.

first part is blood-warm, put in the second. Boil three minutes. To prepare the drink, three tablespoonfuls to each two-thirds glass of water, add onethird teaspoonful carbonate of soda. Stir well. Drink at your leisure .-Housekeeper.

-An Omelette for Two; Beat two eggs, yelk and white, together in a bowl until very light. In a cup put one teaspoonful of corn starch and a scant halfteaspoonful of new milk, adding the milk very slowly, beating as you drop the mixture into the eggs also. A little chopped parsley and onion juice to flavor it; a scrape of butter in the fry ing-pan, and, when it "sizzles," pour in the mixture and shake until it forms. Turn the frothing sides of the omelette with a spoon, continually, into the center of the pan. In two minutes it should be done. Fold it over and dish, by covering the pan with a plate, and ther turning the pan upside down.

THE AMERICAN NOMAD No Inducements are Offered a Man

Stay at Home. A curious outgrowth of the rivalries of American cities is the practice that obtains so generally of offering bonuses and pecuniary inducements to manumachine factory the other day the owners received so many proposals from in that they were obliged to publish a notice to the effect that only a small portion of their works had been burned. and that they were not open to proposals for adoption. Any factory or established business employing labor can have its choice nowadays from a long list of cities, new and old, any of which will give it a site for a factory, pay the expenses of moving, and perhaps contribute substantially toward the construction of a new building. People who own land or are engaged in business in cities realize that it pays them to have their cities grow, and they are willing to hire desiradon, Prof. Robert Austin spoke of eight | ble inhabitants to come to them. They rely upon getting their money back in the increased value of land generally known. They are the re-jection of impurities on solidification, The result is that the migratory disposuffusion, flow under pressure, changes sition already so pronounced in these due to compression, absorption of gases, days is intensified, and it has become a absorption of liquids, vaporization and familiar thing not merely for individusurface tension. Of these properties, als to move but for great aggregations perhaps the most astonishing are those of workingmen to shift the scene of exhibited by metals when compressed. | their activities from one city to another.

Time was when where the average man found himself living there he con-13 tons per square inch; zinc by 19 tons; tinued to live, unless circumstances of exceptional urgency impelled him to change his residence. It is different 38 tons. At 33 tons per square inch now. Transportation has become so lead actually began to flow, and at 47 | cheap, and travel so easy, that the ties of locality sit very lightly on the averency. When a pressure of more than age American, and the fact that you find him settled this year in New York or Pennsylvania affords you a very uncerthe fine cracks in the press like so much | tain basis for expecting to find him next water. Prof. Spring has also proven to year in the same place. When you hear of him again, if he hasn't moved to Texas, or Tacoma, or Southern Cali-fornia, or Maine, or North Dakota, you feel that he must have had some exceptionally good reasons for staying at home. Men used to wag their heads and croak about the inability of relling stones to gather moss. We have changed all that. Moss is at a discount and there was considered a very luxurious article is a premium upon rolling.—From "The Point of View," in Scribner.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE. KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

The Daylight

You are an intelligent person and know a good lamp when you see it. The BEST in the market is the "Daylight," whose light is equal to EIGHTY CANDLES! It is the only lamp to read or sew by, and until you have used one you do not know what a PERFECT light 12 Send to the DAYLIGHT LAMP CO., 38 Park Place, New York, and get the full particulars.

Lamp.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE CENTLEMEN. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

If You Have
No appetite, Indigestion, Flatulence, Sick Headache, Sall run down," los ing flesh, you will find

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

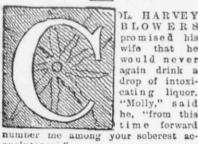

The Braid that is known the world around.

'The Greatest SHOW on Earth' To Relieve Heartburn, Addity, Gastric Pressure, Distress After Eating, Water Brash, Palpitation, and all Stomach Troubles—AND CURE INDIGES-FION AND DYSPEPSIA with DR. BRONSON'S Comp. Pepsin Troches. Your Druggist will order them, if not we mail: 25c a box, 5 lexes $1.06. We supply drugging the supply of the supply of the supply of the supple of the supp

PENSION JOHNW. MORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS. Late Frinciral Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau-syrs in last war, ib adjudicating claims, atty sinos promised his wife that he would never again drink a drop of intoxicating liquor. "Molly," said he, "from this time forward quaintances. "Harvey, you have made me so many promises. "Yes, dear, I know that."

HARVEY

BLOWERS

"And each time you have broken them." "That's very true, precious, but I will never do so again.'

"Oh! never mind that. I have come to the conclusion that unless a man reforms he is gone."

more trial." "Now you are talking. One more trial is all I want.'

The next day, after the above-narrated conversation, the Colonel accidentally met an old friend. Had not the meeting been accidental it would not have occurred. The Colonel owed his friend. After a few moments of pleasant conversation the two men went into a saloon. The Colonel said that he would take seltzer. His friend looked at him in astonishment. "I've stopped drinking," said the Colonel.

"Yes."

"Sinco when?" "Well, I haven't taken a drink for several days." "What's the matter?"

"Nothing, only I promised my wife that I would not drink again." "That's all right, of course, but you are not that foolish, I hope." "It is not foolishness, old boy. I

"When, just as you meet me? Take a little something." "I don't want seltzer, that's a fact. Give me a little ginger alc.' "Oh, now here, Colonel, don't whip must stop.'

the old man around the stump." "Well, confound it, give me a little whisky," said the Colonel. A few moments later the friend said:

"Won't you have something else, Colonel?' "Nothing else, thank you." "You can stand another whisky." "Of course, I can stand another, but I don't want one." "Well, hang it, let's take one any "All right, blamed if I care."

They drank. After about ten minutes had elapsed, the Colonel said: "Suppose we try another one?" "Can we stand it?"

"Stand it!" The Colonel laughed. They took another one and seemed to stand it.

"Well, sir," said the Colonel, "do you know that a few drinks of whisky make a man of me? It's a fact. My memory is better, my mind becomes more acute After I take a few drinks I can recall odd little scraps of poetry and little grabs of sentiment which had long been for gotten. Here, fill 'em up again." They drank.

"I promised my wife that I would not drink again," said the Colonel. "Well, you haven't drunk again," re plied the friend. "You've drunk whis-

"By George, that's a good joke," exclaimed the Colonel. "Haven't drunk again. Haw! haw! haw! Old fellow, you ought to start a humorous paper." "I could run her and don't you for

"Well, I should say so. Say, when I go home my wife will not know that I have taken a drop." "Of course she won't. Suppose we try

It again." "Oh, I'm with you." They drank.

"I don't see how these fellows around town can stand it to drink so much," said the Colonel. "I couldn't, I am aure. In fact I don't see why any man desires to throw himself away. Let's see, what remark was it that the Governor of North Carolina made to the-"Haw! haw! haw!" laughed the friend. "That's a good one. A little more of the same, please. Well," he continued when the drinks had been brought,

"here's a rum go, as the Englishman "A bloody rum go," added the Colonel. Then they leaned on the bar and laughed.

As the Colonel was going to dinner, he mused: "I was never soberer in my life. Blamed if I don't believe that I am

Dinner was not quite ready. The It hart his feelings. He got down on convey its meaning to those on the lookhis knees and went to work. His words out were the words of sobriety-he thought. Pretty soon his wife, in attempting to arise, uttered a shriek. He had tacked her skirts to the floor. Then he began to blubber. It was no use, he said, for a man to try to be anybody. Everybody was working against him. He would go away and never come back again. His wife kissed him and he blubbered afresh. The Colonel, like many another man, is a brute.-Opie Read, in Arkansaw Traveler.

HOOPING A VICTIM.

The Awful Man-Killer Used by a Singular People Who Live in Trees.

One of the most noticeable characteristics of the warriors of New Guinea is their treacherous mode of attack. One may enter a village and be welcomed by a crowd of unarmed men who will show every sign of friendship; but once they see the opportunity-once the party is dispersed, arms laid down or some asleep-then in a second the natives are around and rush to the attack.

"How many times have you made such Extreme vigilance must at all times be observed. Then, again, while marching along the tracks through the bush the country natives will readily mark the approach of the Europeans. They "Well, Colonel, I will give you one will watch their opportunity again, keep some distance ahead of the advancing troops or move along parallel tracks in the scrub and make the most of any opportunity of sudden attack, such as during a halt or when the party has become somewhat dispersed.

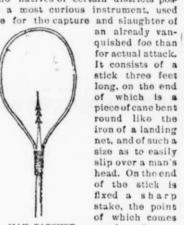

The general method of attack in most parts of New Guinea seems to be that of charging up toward the enemy, and when within, say, twenty to thirty yards, throwing their long spears. Some of them are wonderfully good shots and can send their spears through a dog running away thirty yards from them. But spears are not the only

In the west of British New Guinea bows and arrows are much used, and are, of course, far more formidable than the spears, as their range is much greater and the aim much more accurate; the natives practice by shooting at cocoanuts in the trees. It is probable that neither spears nor arrows are ever poisoned in New Guinea.

Another primitive weapon of offense which is sometimes used, especially at the East End, is the sling. A few stones are carried, often nearly as big as one's fist, and these are hurled with a twist of the arm very similar to the action of ordinary throwing (without twirling the sling round over the head as is done elsewhere). The natives seem to vary a great deal in their ability to sling stones, some being marvelously good, both in accuracy of aim and in great distance, perhaps 200 to 300 yards, while, in gunpowder as fast as received, would load of meal in twelve-pound sacks possible.

on the other hand, many others are very not the other half have to may for the down among the poor tenements, and —A be on the other hand, many others are very feeble in their efforts. The natives of certain districts pos-

more for the capture and slaughter of

A MAN CATCHER. nearly to the center of the cane ring. In chasing a fleeing enemy the warrior holds out his "man catcher" and puts the cane ring over the unfortunate fugitive's head. when a sudden pull back causes the latter to stop short and fall backward upon the sharp stake, which runs into his neck just at the base of the skull, and he is instantly killed.

The of the many curiosities to be met with in New Guinea are the tree houses. They are used as lookout towers, and also for defence. Many villages have a in the village, connected by a ladder with the ground.

TREE HOUSES IN NEW GUINEA. house built in one of the biggest trees

On the approach of an enemy the inhabitants retire to this refuge, and are then not only out of harm's way-being above the range of a spear-but also spears and stones, of which a store is kent, can be hurled down upon their enemies from above. These tree houses are used around the palisades as galleries to protect them.

The natives, as a rule, are wonderfully quick at distributing news. There are many means of signalling and making known various facts. The tom-tom is a *avorite instrument, as in all uncivilthe n:en are assembling for a warliko ments where they live. All that means purpose, but not always. It is occasionally used on other occasions. Trumpet- food and fuel, the shoes and dry-goods, ing on large shells has a more significant meaning. On the approach of danger, the weird sounds of these horns can be heard for miles around as they are taken up from soberer than I was before I took a village to village. Another elaborate system of signalling is by watch fires. Sometimes these are lighted in rows of Colonel's wife was tacking down a car- two or three, and many of the hills pet. The Colonel said that he would belp have their beacons alight at night She looked at him suspicionsly. Even the smoke in daytime is said to

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

FIGURES THAT TALK.

will carry the amount which the aver- same. age drinker wastes up to $169 annually. think what a terrible draft that $100 for his splendid crops.

liquor is upon the subsistance of his I is not evident that the farmer can —The sea serpent has been rather family. So is the expenditure of $1,000,- the liquor. If one-half of the men in to the working-men. Far be it from us power. to say that all their poverty is caused wife and children. Hence his wife must them.

go into the wage-market, to work for The money which is spent for liquor — The what she can get, and bring prices down rest, trial and conviction of drink-crimemployers' expenses, and are sure to vance. cut down the workman's wages.

The tradesmen pay their part, too. We will suppose that at the first fourcorners beyond the drinking-man's home there are four business places. of Baltimore, 15,939 were for drunken-No. 1 is a saloon, No. 2 is a grocery, No. 3 a dry-goods store, No. 4 a boot and

Rent due.

tops in there. He owes a little "score," of this action. which he pays. All the dead-beats who $12. In his purse there are now only keeps up the strength of a tired horse. $7. Somehow that list must be cut down by the amount of $5. He must let | Sanitarium. the children's shoes go and the groceries or the dry-goods, or leave his rent un-paid. The grocer, the dry-goods mer-companions he spent several weeks on an intelligent woman, with no eccenreal-estate owner, among them, must get $5 less than they would have redegrees of frost. Did he use any alcoholic Description of her. coived if the saloon had been out of the drinks? That he did make use of alco-

This, which is true for one man's expenditures, is true proportionately for erage. He says: that these people have not bought the they would have bought, nor paid the rent they would have paid if the money had not been spent for liquor. In other words, the grocer and the butcher, the dry-goods dealer and the shoe dealer, the coal merchant and the owner of real estate have lost what the saloon has What is called "over-production" is simply the witadrawal by the liquor dealers of $1,000,000,000 from the industries of the Nation. The farmers have the privilege of paying their part to the support and en- | good bye to all the world

MISCEL! ANEOUS.

richment of the saloon-keeper. They help in the great enterprise, even i they do not drink. How is that? Well every one knows that the sale of farm Our National Drink Bill and the People products is painfully slow. While Who Pay It women and children in the city are women and children in the city are "Yor can not have your cake and eat starving, the farmers of Illinois, Kan it, too." So reads the immutable law sas and Dakota are lamenting over corn which we all some time mournfully crops that shake like Lebanon and learned in childhood. A nation can not wheat-fields fair as the garden of God. drink its income and have it, too. If you could bring the surplus harvest What people spend for drink they can to the deficient stomach, there would be not spend for food, clothing or dwell- rejoicing at both ends of the line. It is ings, books, schools or churches. If a not a more question of transportation, man spends $100 a year for drink he for you might pile that grain in skycan not spend that $100 for clothes for touching elevators in the cities, and the any of the comforts of life. This is not same. They have not the money to buy ton recently. A minstrel performer rewhich has awful practical demonstra- $1,000,000,000 is wasted for intoxicants.

husband and father drinks up the earn whisky made out of grain? and doesn't varies from 90,000 to 120,000. A single ings which might support them in com-fort. The Nation is only a collection of farmers? What difference does it make and is so elastic that it may be stretched families. According to the latest esti- whether the people buy it in the form to one-third of its entire length and mates, which have passed unchallenged, the criticism of those staunch liquor papers, the Chicago Champion and the Brewers' Journal, the whole Nation is spending more than $1,100,000,000 and the spen nually for intoxicating liquors, and inin the manufacture of intoxicating out a theatrical license for a little theacreasing the amount at the rate of $50,liquors 15,319,863 bushels of corn. The 000,000 a year. By a fair deduction of lotal of all grains so used was 20,990, charging five pins admission. He was all receipts from State and Nations 2012 bushels. If we consider it all as taxation of the traffic, it would easily corn, and divide the total expenditure amount to a clear $1,000,000,000, for for liquor in that year—$1,100,000,000—

The old light-house which stands at the entrance of New Haven harbor has If our population is 60,000,000, that little more than $50 a bushel which the been abandoned by the Government and amounts to $16.66 for every man, drinkers paid for their grain in the orders have already been received for woman and child; at the miliform of liquor. Sold as corn, the tary rate of one able-bodied man bushel of corn brought the Western landmark for many years and was a the knee was covered with ulcers which persons, that farmer something like 25 cents. Sold favorite visiting place for New Haven would give $80 cash loss every year for every able-bodied man in the Nation. a solid $50. But observe, the farmer — Flor

It easily amounts to $100. Few are the for corn in the form of liquor will have The sole produces 1,000,000 eggs, a plaice frinking men who are content with less so much less money to spend for corn hot less than 2,000,000, while a turbot han five glasses of beer a day, making in the shape of corn. If we suppose has been credited with the deposition 25 cents a day and $90 a year; for men the retail price of corn to them would of 11,000,000 or 12,000,000 eggs. glass, and you see how easy it is to they can not buy the other ninety-nine. "Yes, but you know the low rates are overrun $100. Now, for the man who The farmer has all those left on his only offered for a round trip." Mr. Is earning $300, or even $500 a year, hands, and is poor for lack of sale for Smallfry-"Ah -hum -that's differ-

they would have to support the men ily, and see how far you would drive Middletown, Mass., disclosed near the ess a most curious instrument, used and the families of the men whose before you would have an empty wagon! hard white wood core the big letters "J. wages had gone up in smoke. It is just These people woefully need your grain, L." on a densely black background. the same when wages go down in drink. but you can not sell it to them because They were cut forty years ago by John This is the greatest cause of hardship | the saloon has exhausted their buying | Leland, a sailor, and, curiously enough, themselves and their dear ones amid ill-adjusted social conditions. The drink-feely to every needy applicant. You Germany, which may be adopted as a man. When he is sober he can do against imposition, and nevertheless it the faith cure. Its basis is the hardennearly as good work as another man, would be a question whether the whole ing of the human organism, which has is glad to work for hand to mouth enhausted within twenty-four hours, tion. The patients imitate the noble wages. So he brings down the wages The only thing that keeps them in the savage or the gypsy, and the system in of every man who works with him. The stores now is that the people who need cludes going barefoot as one part of the intemperate man does not support his them most have not the money to buy gure. One German parish contains 1,400 factory, for all these things increase the | -Rev. J. C. Fernald, in Chicago Ad-

ITEMIZED FACTS.

STATISTICS for 1888 show that out of 19,789 arrests made that year in the city ness and disorderly conduct.

It is against the law to sell whisky on shoe store. Just beyond lives his land- Sunday in Christiana, Norway, and now lord. The working-man receives $12 in a movement is on foot to have the sale wages Saturday night, and starts out to of beer and wine on that day prohibited also. The official organ of the Norweg-22 00 | ian Total Abstinence Society says that the Lutheran bishop, all the ministers of Christiana, and five professors of But he comes to the saloon first, and theology have signed a petition in favor

THERE is nothing better than plain, hang around pass the word that he has nourishing food, fresh air, sunsaine and money about him. They drop in, crowd rest to maintain strength in an aged around, and on one pretext or another get him to "treat the crowd." But the time it; there is no scientific foundation for he comes out, $5 of his money is gone. the belief that alcohol, strychnine or He has lost that $5. But is he the only anything of the kind is of benefit. one who has lost it? Let us see. When Quinine, beer and whisky are worse he leaves the saloon, he takes out his than useless as props. They serve to memorandum of expenses amounting to keep up the strength just as the whip -J. H. Kellogg, M. D., of Battle Creek holic spirits you can see from the following statement, but never as a bev-"The only spirits we the Nation. You see it in the bare feet, took were as fuel for our stove to melt the fireless rooms, the pinched faces the snow that we might have water to and tattered clothing of the families of drink. I think the use of stimulants is

The Results of a Spree. A "spree" after all doesn't pay. A out the other day for a "good time." making the round of the slums, until down with this letter under his pillow: "To Whovever Finds This: I would say, the exclusion of the other. co not blame any one for what I have done. I have ruined myself with whisky and ca ds. 1 have a father, mother, and wife, also a sister. It is too late. I know, to ask to be forgiven now. Try and forget me, as I have been too mean to be thought of. I would to God that I had never left home Monday, but it is too late now; so good bye to all the world.

C. H. L."

-A Benton Harvy, man has a musket which used to kill Frenchmen 200 years ago, and a powder flask older by a cen-

-It is estimated that the amount of germ, aspergillus fumigatus. gold in the world is about 613 cubic yards, and it would fit in a room twentyfour feet each way, if in a solid cube. -In London, recently, a large collie dog saved a girl's life by seizing her dress and swinging her aside just as she was about being run down by a horse.

-The craze for passing floral tributes over the footlights to stage favorites country. The entire South and Southhimself or family, for food or fuel, or starvation of the poor go on all the seems to have reached its height at Bos- west are supplied with wagons of all a mere abstract argument, but a truth with, and they never will have while ceived a life-size floral image of himself fancy wagons and carriages, St. Louis seated in a chair and playing the banjo. -Some writer has said that the averege number of hairs on the human scalp -Mr. Shelford Bidwell, in speaking tion in every community. We all know 'But, now, see here," says some -Some writer has said that the aver-families utterly wretched because the farming friend, "isn't all the beer and age number of hairs on the human scalp

-Flounders replenish the ocean at a If one-half of these do not drink, that only received his 25 cents just the very rapid rate. In a season one flounder produces many millions of eggs, scatter-Now, the people who have paid $50 ing them broadcast through the water.

who drink every other day, get it some tow on Sunlay. From their point of riew they "must" have it. Add in ocasional "treats" and 'sprees" and of corn in the shape of corn. But be"whiskies" at ten to fiften cents a cause they have paid $50 for one bushel, low now, you know." Mrs. Smallfry ent."-America.

not work alongside of the distiller, the late in appearing this year, but he has 100,000 a terrible draft upon the fami-lies of the Nation. brewer and the saloon-keeper and live? been seen, with back covered with a He can not sell corn for 25 cents and hard shell of a dark brown, with stripes Let no man flatter himself that he have the saloon-keeper sell it for $50 to a few shades lighter, giving it much eight miles farther east than it was suptoes not have to pay part of that thou-the very people who would otherwise the look of the lights and shades on a sand millions because he does not drink buy of him. corrugated iron surface. As usual, as But would they buy the grain if they much as the observers desired to see ferred to the United States. But it the Nation were to fire off their wages did not buy the liquor? Take a wagon the monster, they got away as fast as ire-works? Certainly they would, for offer to give a sack to every needy fam. William Wilkinson, at Shelton, near had stamped themselves all the way The same would be found true of all from the heart of the tree to the bark. by drink. There are thousands sober, other products. Let it be announced Though they had been overgrown by faithful and industrious, toiling with a that on a certain day a suit of clothes, a thirty-seven rings of wood fibre, it is devotion that is sublime to support pair of shoes, a dress-pattern, a suit of easy to read "J. L." on the outside bark. only through a direct action on the sub-ing man is a worse rival than the China- night use military strictness to guard greater novelty than the mind cure or sess to a distinct action on certain porbut being always under the harrow be retail stock of any city would not be been disastrously enfeebled by civiliza-

-The longest parts, male and female, can not be spent for any thing else. In the Shakespearan drama are Hamlet, still lower. The sober working-men The saloon is sucking the blood of every with 1,569 lines, and Rosalind, with 749 must pay for the support of the wives | honest industry. It is keeping us poot | lines. Of course, in acting, they are cut and children of drunkards, for the ar- as a Nation in spite of our splendid re- a great deal, but even then they are, in sources, just as the individual drinker the cdious but expressive phrase of the inals, and for the support of their families while they are imprisoned. They wages. The sober people of the Nation tain extent, for the professional fondmust pay, too, for all the idle time and spoiled goods caused by drink in the drinking man's family suffer with him. "Rosalind." Othello must be rather a thorn in the side of the "stars," for he bas only 888 lines, while Iago has 1,117. -A French military surgeon has been making researches on wind instruments which has been used by phthisical bandsmen, and warns musicians of the importance of disinfection. He recommends that instruments should be filled with a five per cent, solution of carbolic acid, or, in the case of metallic instruments, that they should be dipped into boiling water. These precautions are of the utmost importance when phthisic al persons have used the instruments: for it was found in such cases that liquids used to wash them out presented a virulence similar to that of a pure culture of tuberculosis. -Miss Amanda Anderson, of Georgia is sixty years of age and has never traveled more than a mile and a half from the spot where she was born. Though there is a railroad within three miles of her house she has never seen it. She has never seen a brick house and has seen a painted house only once. Though her nearest neighbor lives within three hundred yards of her she has never seen his house except once in her lifetime. She has never been inside of a church or listened to a sermon Dr. Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, or prayer, and her ideas of religion are chant, the boot and shoe dealer and the floating ice. For forty days they tricity except that indicated in the an intelligent woman, with no eccen--Dr. Francis Dowling, in a paper which he read at a recent meeting of the Cincinnati Academy of Medicine, stated that "between the ages of ten and forty that at least one person in three is subject to partial deafness. The great majority of cases of impaired hearing are hereditary, and are largely owing to a too close consanguinity of the parents. Deafness is more prevalent among males than females, owing to the couple of young men near Chicago went fact that the male is more exposed to the vicissitudes of the climate. There is much more deafness in America than the middle of the afternoon, when one in Europe, and this is due to a more genof them taking a dose of morphine, lay eral use of scientific instruments, such as telephones, where one ear is used to Thirteen Months. "How long has your daughter been practicing on the piano?" "To be exact, she began one month before our neighbor went crazy, and nos icy north. He was seen of men to more, been in the nevlum a year."—The Jury.—Chatter.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Prof. Kohn, a German botanist, has recently discovered that spontaneous combustion of h.y and other wegetable substances, is due to the action of a

-Blackening the nose and cheeks under the eyes has been found an effectual preventive of snow blindness or the injurious effect of the glare from illuminated snow upon eyes unaccustomed to it.

-It is not generally known that there are more wagons manufactured in St. Louis than in any other city of the kinds from that point. In the line of manufacturers beat the world, shipping at the Royal Society's conversazione in London, exhibited an experiment which may possibly explain the intense darkness, often accompanied by a lurid yellow glow, during thunderstorms. After showing on a screen the shadow of a small steam jet, which was of a neutral gray tint, and of feeble intensity, he electrified the jet, and the shadow became dense and of a peculiar orange-

-In aniline dyes Prof. Stilling, of Strasburg, believes he has discovered antiseptics strong enough to kill bacteria in a concentration not injurious to the human body, and at the same time diffusive enough to spread over a wounded surface. In a man of seventy, would not heal, the suppurative microorganisms were all destroyed in a few days, and the ulcers disappeared. - Arkansas Traveler. -In a recent lecture on "Marine and Fresh Water Fishes," a noted scientist said that fish have the power of influencing one another by sounds and action. He had observed a shoal of carp following the lead of a single one, water fish, such as trout, were subservient to a ruler, which might be seen swimming at the head of his tribe. The same was possibly the case with some marine forms, like the herring and bass. -An extraordinary report comes from Fort Chippeweyan that the United. States surveyors have established the 141st meridian, which forms the boundary between Alaska and Canada, twentyposed to be. If this is true, a large area of gold placer ground would be transseems strange that so great an error should have been allowed to pass in a -A beech tree cut on the farm of region which was well known to traders and prospectors .- Engineering and Mining Journal.

-The experiments of Dr. Tatum have done not a little toward clearing up the mystery that has shrouded the physical' mechanism of death by electricity. He has made it more than probable that there is a real difference between the effects of continuous and alternating currents, in that the former seem to kill stance of the heart, while the latter owe whatever added danger they may postions of the nervous system. Dr. Tatum has also shown that the difference in the effects of the two classes of current is far less than some foreign investigators would have us believe.-Electrical

-- A queer and suggestive find is reported to have been made in the sleepy old Moravian town of Salem, N. C. Being surrounded by enterprising neighbors, who are alive to the advantages of electric lights and electric railways, Salem determined to be abreast the times. Not many days ago a workman was fitting electric light wire in the attic of one of the old buildings of the town, when he came upon a quaint group of souvenirs, which showed the different stages of illumination which had succesively come within the experience of the household. There was first a set of oldfashioned 'tin candle moulds; then an oil lamp of antique pattern, and, lastly, a small section of a gas pipe, which he then and there supplanted by the wire through which the electric current was soon to pass.

CATHERINE'S CRUELTY. How a Czarina Punished Prince Veritzin

for a Sm le The Veritzins were nobles of enormous wealth and power. Paul held a nigh office in court. One night, glittering with jewels and orders, the young Prince, who was one of the handsomest men in Russia, danced in a quadrille opposite the Empress.

As she passed him in the dance she fancied that his eyes scanned her gross figure with covert amusement. After the quadrille she beckoned to him, and with a smile handed him her tiny ivory tablets, containing seven pages, one for each day in the week. On the first was written: "The imperial ball-room, St. Peters-

On the last: "The mines, Siberia."

He read it; his face grew gray as that of a corpse; he bowed low, kissed her hand, and withdrew, "taking," savs the old chronicle, "his wife, the beautiful Princess of Novgorod, with him." He was heard to say as he left the ball-room: "My minutes are numbered; let us not

Flight or resistance was impossible. The hold of Catherine on her victim was inexorable as death. Prince Veritzin was forced to remain passive in his palace while each day the power, the wealth and the happiness that life had given him were stripped from him. First he was degraded from all his offices at court; next his estates were confiscated by the crown; his friends were forbidden to hold any communication with him; his very name, one of the noblest in Russia, was taken from him, and he was given that of a serf. Then his wife and children were driven out of the palace to herd with beggars. "The last day," says the record, "Paul Veritzin, in rays and barefoot, chained to a convict, bade an eternal farewell to his home, and departed to the dark and

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year...... six months...

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE. TERMS OF ADVERTISING. 'First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional insertion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and 1 dress, not necessarily for publication, but sa private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington County.

SILVER was worth 91 cents under the Cleveland administration; today it is worth $1.19. These are the sort of things which have given the Republican party the confidence of the business man of the country.

KICKING open a door has given Congressman Kilgore a greater reputation in Texas than the display of the most comprehensive and patriotic statesmanship would have ever earned for him,

THE man who on account of some personal grievance or prejudice votes against the political party which represents every cardinal principle he believes in makes a mistake, and one that never fails to come home to roost at the most inconvenient time.

IT SHOULD bring a blush of shame to the face of those Democrats, who crimes? seeing the failure of the effort of their allies, the New York speculators, to bring on a financial panic frustrated by the prompt actions of Secretary Windom, now criticise that official for having gone too far in increasing the amount of money in circulation.

ness for which that people elected the world? them, and for which they draw course it is perfectly natural that the strength upon the sea and her hold time warfare, if the expression be al-Democratic Representatives should upon the foreign markets of the lowable in a time of profound seace, have found the surroundings more congenial at their headquarters, over be paying it for our own advantage agreed with him, for his request for a bar-room, than upon the floor of the in all of these respects? House; but what think the intelligent veters?

Democratic candidate, Mr. McKsig our word as a nation?

What Protection Does.

The Cincinnati Commercial gives the following comparative lists of articles used by farmers, with their prices in 1880 and 1890, which is calculated to outweigh all the tons of free-trade literature that has been Democrats. Theories will not go cold facts:

Witherfield	ACCOUNT	A CHIPITY
Mowing machine	$85 00	$50 00
Barb wire, per pound	10	94
Fence staples, per pound		05
Iron nails, per keg		2 25
Steel nails, " "		2 80
Horseshoes " "	8 00	4 50
Mattock and handle		85
Wrench		40
Putty, per pound		05
Iron, " "		03
Four tined fork		50
Lantern		73
Common Clevis	20	10
Milk pans, per dozen		7 00
Wire cloth, per foot		1 00
		03
Slop pail		60
Tin cup		05
Zine, per pound		10
Cast butts, with screws		1259
Chains, per pound		12
File		25
Door latch		10
Covered pail		10
Wheelbarrow		1 65
Ple plates, per dozen		35
Mortise lock	90	35
Cistern pump	. 4 25	2 25
The tenescont ment a com-	MR 4303	F3 Ph. 1

Subscribe for THE REPUBLICAN.

THE GRAND OLD PARTY

IT IS TRUE TO THE FLAG.

The history of this country, splendid as it is in the passage of safe, wise and helpful legislation, contains no example in times of peace of a session of Congress so remarkable for good as the present one. Its work has been done quickly, quietly, resolutely, and in the face of an opposition which has been bitter and unscrupulous in an equal degree.

A hundred issues might be presented as a result of the differences between the two parties developed during this session of Congress. These are the paramount ones:

Shall congress be a deliberative assembly wherein public measures may be properly considered, duly debated, and then, without waste of time, actually voted upon; and wherein the American principle of "majority rule" shall be respected, or shall it be a mob, incompetent to act, powerless to carry out the public will, with a majority so overcome by its own rules that it is dependent upon the minority for its authority and power?

Shall we allow the Capitol to be filled up with men who obtain seats address on reciprocity and Secretary taken within the week following in Congress not as the result of a free ballot and a fair count, but by the forcible suppression of franchise rights, by wholesale frauds, by murder, arson, brutality and other

Shall we abandon the policy of Protection after all it has done for us, to enter upon a policy which we have tested many times to our immediate. unfailing and tremendous loss?

from the restoration of silver, and pected nor received any remunera- S. Ution, held at Mountain Lake once more play into the hands of for. | tion for the speech. My reward was that deliberately stays out of the eigners who have been for years buy. the consciousness of having done my House of Representatives in order to ing our silver at low prices and using duty, and it was amply sufficient." prevent the transaction of the busi- it against us in the grain markets of Secretary Tracy considers the re-handsome salaries? That's what the | 000 a year, to build up the merchant of metal armour for naval vessels as Democrats in Congress did. Of marine of England, to increase her the most important event in marine world, when we might as well as not of the age. And Coogress evidently to the loyal men who offered their the steel plates for all of the emisers lives in defense of freedom and union now being built (the test proved that VICTORY is in the air. The weak- and to the protection of whose fami- plates composed of nickel and steel ness and general unfitness of the lies from want and misery we gave were the only ones which could stand grows more and more apparent each These are the chief and the most promptly met by the passage of a day. The trouble is, that with his sharply defined issues upon which the joint resolution carrying an approinexperience is combined the lack of country is asked to cast a deciding priation of that amount for the purprinciple for which his party is noted. ballot this fall. Every effort is be- pose named. It won't do for Mr. McKaig to go ing made to side-track them, to enveldown to Frederick and Montgomery ope them in clouds and to carry the bers of his cabinet are here to perand tell the farmers that Free Trade people away from them here and form their duties in the closing hours -or as he will more likely put it- there on false pretenses. The Demo- of Congress, and that the closing Tariff Reform-is just the thing for crats start off in the next Congress, hours are near at hand would be apthem, and then come up to his home as usual, with thirty-one stolen seats. county and tell the miners that he is They have that number of seats to a believer in the doctrine of protectiheir credit without a campaign. around the capitol particularly in the tion. Such statements diametrically By infamous gerrymander especially opposed to each other cannot be rec- in Ohio, Maryland, Kentucky and onciled by any jugglery with words. Indiana, they expect to steal twenty-Yet his party has placed him in just one other seats. This gives them an such a position by its coquetting with | immense advantage. To the Repub. that "Maid of the Mist," Free Trade. licans it is an awful handicap. But Mr. McComas on the other hand if the intelligent, thoughtful and pawill advocate as he has always done friotic people of the land will do their in every part of the District the prin- duty as citizens, if they will stand ciples of the Republican party, tel. sturdy by their guns, if they will ling the farmers, the mechanics, the vote as they wish and think, the reminers, telling all the people, that in suit will be a glorious Republican Protection lies the secret of their suc- victory and a prompt and happy cess, the well-spring of their pros- completion of the work which President Harrison and this Congress have #### carried forward so wisely and so well. Maryland Synod.

Lutheran Church will meet on Tues day, October 7, at the Lutheran Memoral Church, Luther place, on Fourteenth street and Vermont ave. Washington. There are a number of distributed over the country by the Lutheran Churches in that city. A considerable number of visitors from among the farmers as against these Baltimore and Western Maryland are expected during the session of the synod, which will be attended by nearly one hundred ministers, and will be in session for four or five days. With this convention it is expected the autumnal session will open and Washington's summer siesta be investigation of certain charges entirely over.

Time Table on the T. K. & F	7,
On and after Monday, May 20, 1880, will leave on the T., K. & F. R. R., as f GOING SOUTH.	trains ollows:
LEAVE. No. 1, Kingwood	P. M. No. 3. 5,30. 6,10.
Tunnelton	6,40,
TEAVE No. 2, Tunnelton 11,00 Howsville 11,35	P. M. No. 4 8,25. 9,00,
King wood12.10	9.32.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29, 1890 .-Representative McKinley is the hero of the hour. His tariff bill has been reported from conference practically as he first reported it to the House; the report has been agreed to by the House, and to-day, or to-morrow at the outside it will be agreed to by the Senate. Most of the Republicans, in both House and Senate, have worked like Trojans on this bill, and it would be manifestly inviduous to single out individuals for special praise; but all the same every Republican in the United States who believes in the cardinal principles of his party as laid down by the National platform of '88 and ratified by the vote of the people who elected Harrison and Morton and the Representatives of the Fifty-first Congress, should throw up his hat and give three rousing cheers for Senator Alfor the able manner in which they have discharged the arduous duties and responsibilities which their of the law? Answer, No. party associates placed upon their shoulders by putting them in their law, would not have lost a residence standpoint, eyer passed by the Amer. law? Answer, No. ican Congress. To them it may be truly said "Well done good and faithful servants,"

Delegations of Georgians and Alabamians are here trying to induce the registration? Answer, Yes. President and his cabinet to visit their States. The programe is, to the day for revision and application get Secretary Blaine to deliver an for reisstatement, or must they be Rusk one on farming at the opening | that day ? Answer, Yes, prior. of the Atlanta, Georgia, exposition, October 15, and then to have the Presidential party before returning visit the Alabama State Agricultural Fair which opens at Birmingham on October 20.

Senator Ingalls indignantly denies the report sent out from Washington that he was paid $600 for the speech | To the Sunday School Workers of which he recently made at Pitts-Shall we again rob ourselyes of the burgh. Said Mr. Ingalls: "It is an rewards which have so richly come infamous falshood, I neither ex- convention of the Garrett County S.

cent Government tests at Annapolis of Shall we pay our money, $150,000,- the relative strength of various kinds an appropriation of $1,000,000 to pur-Shall we keep our plighted faith chase pickel to be used in alloying the fire of modern artillery) was

The President and all of the memparent to even a stranger on account of the general hurry and bustie House wing.

Secretary Noble has issued regulations for the guidance of those who may desire to make their own applications for pensions under the new pension law, without the aid of an attorney, and copies will be mailed to all who care to apply for them. He has also issued stringent orders against any preference being shown in the adjudication of these claims, and any attorney attempting to obtain such preference is to be discharged from practice before the de-own present. most people by sending for other wit. | book of sea songs. nesses in order to ascertain who furnished the New York Tribune with about the Pension office. The correspondent will not tell unless the parties who gave him the information shall consent. The Democrats have succeeded in investigation of certain charges against Postmaster Wheat of the House of Representatives adopted by the House. The Republicans had no objection—they knew that investigation of the through which the proposed road shall be located, to-wir. Beginning at a point on the county road leading from Mt. Lake Park to Mrs. Wonderley's, about the centre of military lot No. 217.

to-morrow, but the Senate may ex tend the time a day or two.

Subscr. be for THE REPUBLICAN,

Information for Registrars.

Edward S. Eichelberger, States Attorney for Frederick coun'y, Md .. asked Hon. William Pinkn y Whyte, Attorney General, the fol-General's answers are appended thereto:

1. Can the registrars strike off names on any day of the October sitting other than Friday? Answer,

2. Have persons in government em ploy, who board out of the State, but whose families live in the State, taken an abode or domicile within the meaning of the law? Answer, No.

3. Have single men in government employ or working out of the State for a living and whose parents live in the State, lost their residence in the State? Answer, No.

4. Have persons who board or live out of the State while in pursuit of their business (other than a specific drich and Representative McKinley job) and whose familles live in the State, taken an abode or habitation out of the State within the meaning

5. Are persons who, under the old respective branches of Congress, in in this State and who have returned charge of this, one of the most im to this State before the passage of portant measures, from a business this law, within the scope of this 6. Have persons in State employ > cut of the county of registration, and whose family reside out of the State. forfeited residence in the county of 7. Can appeals be taken prior to

8. Can any names be stricken on Friday other than those to whom notices were sent? Answer, No. 9. When government employes have moved families for economic reasons out of State, do they lose residence? Answer, No.

Garrett County. DEAR BRETHREN:-At the annual Park, Sept. 12th, 13th and 14th, I was selected President for the present year, and I address you this circular letter asking your prayers and co-operation. The sad fact was presented at the convention that within the limits of our county there are 2.111 individuals between the ages of 5 and 21 years, outside the fold of the Sunday School. It is proposed that during the present year that number shall be brought under Sunday School instruction and influence. Therefore, it is urged that each district officer of the Union, with the assistance of the Sunday School workers, see that efforts are made in this direc-they anticipated, besides, the spiritual interests of the schools are greatly advanced.

The association means work, and I shall, with God's blessing and your sympathy and co-operation, make every effort to discharge the duties of my position.

Fraternally yours, WM. D. HOYE, Pres't Garrett Co. S. S. Union.

Miss Alice Longfellow, daughter of the poet, is said to be the best amateur photographer in America, Her The Democrats af the House have favorite field of operations is along been as meek as lambs ever since the the Massachusetts coast, and her snap The Synod of Maryland and of the Republicans had a quorum of their shots there taken in the stormiest weather are attracting the attention The committee investigating the of publishers, and her illustrated charges against Gen. Raum surprised storms will be a feature of a new

It is understood that the Confluence and Oakland Railroad has concluded certain information it published to extend their road from Manor Station, its present terminus, to Oakland .- Comberland News.

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

the House. The Republicans had no objection—they knew that investigations of Democratic charges generally result in the injury of those who bring them, and this is not likely to prove an exception.

The House has adopted a joint resolution providing for adjournment JOHN HARNED,

NORMAN BARNARD.

ELECTION NOTICE.

lowing questions. The attorney 4TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1890, wit:

AN ACT
To enable the qualified voters of Garrett County to determine by ballot whether spirituous or termented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold in said earnty, and to regulate the terms and conditions on which the sale thereof may be made in case the majority of the voters of said county shall petermine said question in the allirmative, and to regulate the sale thereof by drugglists and pharmacists.

dx, Chapter three hundred and ninety re, and

GHEREAS, Numerous petitions have been warded to this Legislature, signed by parawarded to this Legislature, signed by parawho voted for the said law as well as inst it, and it being deemed advisable, account of said uncertainty, to remit the question and to grant another tion, in order that it may be definitely ermined by ballot whether Local Option il exist as it now does in said county, refore,

And be it enacted, That all the tick-sted. That if it shall be tion. Arrangements should be made for a thorough canvass of the districts, every family visited, district conventions, institutes and other union meetings to awaken interest in the work. The district officer is urged the work. The district officer is urged to visit as often as possible—at least once a year—each Sunday School in his district.

Another matter to which I wish to call your attention is the importance of keeping the schools open during the winter. It is hoped every effort will be made to do this. Those who have tried it find it much easier than a pint or less than a pint, or by the drink, that such applicant or applicants shall, in addition to the amount to be paid the State of Maryland, pay to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County the further su a of of wenty-live dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett County, before any such license shall be granted, and if any person or persons, house, corporation, company or association shall open or keep any oyster house, cook shop or victualing house, or larger beer saloon, or any other than an ordinary at or in which spirituous or fermented liquors or larger beer may be sold or bartered in quantities in the drink, that such aprlicant or applicants shall, in addition to the amount to be paid the State of Maryland, shall also pay to

SEC. 6. And be it enacted. That no spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold in any election district of said county except as provided for by section five of this Act, and also upon the following terms: That each and every applicant, person or persons, house, corporation, company or association, shall be recommended to said Cierk by seven respectable free-holders living within three miles of the piace where said liquors or alcoholic bitters are to be sold, as a fit person to traffic in the article, nor until such person or persons applying for such license shall have filed with said Clerk a bond, with at least two sureties to be approved by said Clerk, in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned for the payment of all fines, penalities, costs and damages to which the person or persons obtaining the said license may become liable for any violation of any of the license laws of this State, and the said Clerk is hereby prohibited from approving any bond under this section unless it shall any bond under this section unless it shall any person the formal provided, however, that if any person unless it shall any bond under this section unless it shall any person that the sure.

ense may become ilable for any violation of any of the license laws of this state, and the said Clerk is hereby prohibited from approving any bond under this section unless it shall appear to him by good evidence that the sureties in said bond are worth in real estate doubt the amount of the penalty of said offender for trial or hold him to bail to sureties in said bond are worth in real estate doubt the amount of the penalty of recomposition of this provision such person, natural or artificial, shall be estor four of this Act and the tenacted. That it shall be Section four of this Act as he may be a sureties of the said special to any of this state, a written affidavit to be any of this state, a written affidavit to be any of this state, a written affidavit to be buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in connection therewith, at or in which the said state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the buildings and grounds occupied or used in the connection therewith, and the said the said the said that the said that the situation of the business of the act of the witten affects that the said that the situation of the bound

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by

es. Sec. 11. And be it enacted, That any hus-said judgment shaif be a nen upon such real espate until it is paid. SEC, lo. And be it enacted. That from and after the passage of this Act it shail be the duty of the grand jury in and for Garrett county, at its several sessions, ddigently to enquire into, and present and indict all per-the allegad oftense on the part of the State. It, shall be the duty of said justice to commit said offender for trial or hold him to ball to appear for trial in the Circuit Court for said county, at its then session if it be then in session or at its next session if it be not then in

N. CASTEEL

Accident-J. E. Gnagev. Aliamont-J. Z. Browning. Blaine-E. Kitzmiller, Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos, B. Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Elder-Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher. Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend, Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagev. Hoyes-Wm, A. Smith. Huttons-Chas, F. White, Johnsons-Geo. W. Blocher. Keyser, Md.-Solomon O. Beachy. McHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow. New Germany-C. J. Otto. Selbysport-Jonas Frazee. Sunnyside-John G. Knauer Swanton—A. F. George, Westernport—Geo. L. Michaels, Wilson's Mills—Geo. W. Wilson.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday nights A each month. ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in same Hali 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-

PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. ceets in same HallIst and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K, of P., meets n Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-rasslay evening, at 7:30. G, A, R. meets in Sturgiss Hall second and ourth Saturday nights in each month.

LOCAL NEWS.

October.

Fine Weather.

Oakland-health.

Moonlight nights.

The leaves have begun to turn. There is no place like Oakland for of the Alleganies.

for a quarter. Editors don't eat 'em. Circus will be in Oakland on Thursday, Oct. 16. See adv. next week go to Shartzer's. He sold all of his old styles off at auction. Go to C. C. Michael, Oakland, and buy your boots, shoes, hats, &c., and save money. 33 - 2tWANTED.-I will pay the highest cush price for beef hides, calf skins and sheep pelts.

C. R. SAVAGE, Oakland, Md.

If you want bright, new goods go to Shartzer's. He has no old because he sells all his old goods off at auc-

Mrs. Rose, wife of Editor Frank W. Rose, of the Piedmont "Herald," the opera House while attending a

We note the arrival in town of West Virginia. Both couple had the knot tied in the most substantial manner.

Notice.-All persons trespassing, hunting or fishing on the Cranberry Giade Farm will be prosecuted, and all dogs shot. WM. S. SIMCOX.

at Tunnelton.

Ladies' wraps will arrive in a few of many triends. days. Buckwheat flour and chest-33 2 nuts wanted.

There are hundreds of patent attorneys, but there are none more prompt, trustworthy and reasonable in their charges than Messrs. C. A. Snow & Co., 710 8th., St., N. W. Washington, D. C. We take pleasare in recommending them, and in to go to housekeeping soon. calling attention to their advertisement which will be found in another column of this paper. Why do the majority of the rich, ing a barn this fall. more work and attention for the least ready for Mr. Knapp and family in money than any barber that ever in- a week or two. habited the town of Oakland. For cleanliness his shop cannot be ex- are becoming quite numerous. Wait, celled.

largest, cheapest and best stock of and many a good tuber is being dress goods eyer brought to Garrett spoiled for the market. Various rem-County, consisting of cashmeres, tri- edies are suggested. Some say to cots, serges, and ladies cloths, from leave them in the ground, and let 20c to $1.25 per yard. Black cash- those rot that are going to; others meres with silk warp worth $1.50 for say to dig them and put them in a $1.25 per yard. Best Canton flannel dry place. We think the latter is ever offered, 8 yards for 50c. Buck- the best plan. wheat flour taken on old accounts or Owing to the wet weather some in trade for other goods. 32-2t are late sowing wheat.

Shartzer is buying chestnuts.

We call attention this week to the advertisement of John Shartzer.

FOR SALE-A National safety bicycle. Inquire at this office.

Cline keeps the best selected stock of Candy in the city.

See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if you want a fine knife.

A whole box of 12 cakes Jockey Club Toilet Soap for 40c at Cline's Grocery.

Correspondents will please send possible. We have for sale a few copies of Cruden's Concordance which will be sold very cheap. NOTICE. - All persons knowing themselves indebted to A. J. Whetsell are requested to call and settle by October 15th, 1890. 32 td Townshends' have a full line of Dress Goods. Quality and prices to suit everbody. No auction goods

Milch cows, heifers and calves-some Alderneys, some half Aldernesy, 10 suit purchaser, will be sold reasonaall each to the control of the contr H. WEBER. 32 3t

> Davis & Son have put in a full line of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought direct from the importers. Also a full line of Rogers' silverware, Cline's Grocery and get a box of Boraxine. It sayes two thirds of the labor of wash day. Try it. Go and see Townshend's line of winter boots and shoes. Also their and "Jordan" Bell started for Chifloor, stair and table Oil Cloths. They cago Sunday evening. take the lead in quality and prices.

Davis & Son have just received a handsome line of lamps from Newark, which they will sell at reason Oakland is the "Queen City" on top able prices. Call and see them. 29 3

Three hundred bushels nice large California peaches now sell three potatoes wanted at Garthright's. He has just received a large lot of ladies' to $12.00. Chestnuts and buckwheat | mercial. If you want the latest styled goods, flour in good demand at high prices.

DEATHS.

MESSENGER-See Gorman letter.

GNAGEY .- Emanual Gnagey died at Aurora Thursday morning, aged for his home in Bultimore. Allan 70 years. Mr. Gnagey, at the time spent several weeks here visiting of his death, was on a visit to friends friends. in that section, and was stricken occur at 2 p. m., Saturday.

MARRIED.

SIMPSON-CROSS .- See Bloomington letter.

HOWELL - FITZWILLIAMS. - On dropped dead Saturday morning in Sept. 25, 1890, by Rev. B. Ison, Mr. Harris E. Howell to Nellie B. Fitz-

STEWART-PARKHILL.-On Sept. two runsway wedding couples from 29, 1890, by the Rev. B. Ison, Miss Etta Parkhill, of Fayette County, Pa., to Mr. John L. Stewart, of Brownsville, Pa.

DUVALL-BOETNER .- Mr. Alpheus W. Duvall, a prominent young name of Saylor & Naylor. man of Kitzmillersville, and Miss Elleanor Boetner, one of Kitzmillersyille's fairest young ladies were Nos. 71 and 15 and make connection was bridesmaid and Mr. A. Clide Garthright's stock of boots and played the wedding march. After shoes is the most complete and the ceremony the happy couple recheapest ever offered in Western paired to the residence of the bride's Maryland, also his mammoth stock parents to partake of refreshments of dress goods and everything else. provided, amid the congratulations

> Selbysport. Overcoats were quite fashionable the latter part of last week. Is not this enough to make Austin

> Brown smile? It is a boy. Ami Teets, who was at Lemont, Pa., for some time, returned home and married his intended and expects Scott Matthews who moved here on his father's farm, from Somerset County. Pa., is talking about build-high-toned and sensible men go to The new house that Mesers. Dun-Leakin's Barber Shop? Because he ham & Schlossnagle are building for will not rob them when he has no John Knapp on Morgantown avenue opposition; because he gives you is nearing completion and will be

We notice that chestnut hunters boys, until they get one or two frosts. Garthright has just opened up the The rot has struck the potatoes and

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About our People at Home and Abroad. Chas. F. White was in Baltimore last week.

F. A. Thayer was in Cumberland on Tuesday.

Bailey Hipkins is attending school in Baltimore. Col. John E. Wood was in King-wood on Monday. Ralp Ashby made us a very pleasant call on Monday.

Hon. J. P. Jones, of Terra Alta, their letters as early in the week as was in town Tuesday. Jacob Pysell, of Accident, was up to the city on Wednesday. G. A. and Frank Bolden were up to Dobbin Sunday visiting friends.

burg visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. E. H. Bartlett spent several Run. days in Cumberland visiting friends and relatives.

Col. J. E. Wood was called to Baltimore on Wednesday by the illness of his wife.

Capt. Jas. A. Hayden and family have returned from Mt. Lake Park for the winter.

Mrs. Benoni Jordan, of Kingwood, is in town visiting her daughter Mrs. J. Ed Kildow. Ledies, read this, then come to > iness Tuesday. James Stanton, Andrew Helbig and other points in Virginia.

Charley and Singleton Deffinbaugh returned from Indian Territory one day last week. Charlie is in poor Jackets and New Markets from $2.25 here last week, -Meyersdale Com- charge, is holding a similar service Misses Sallie Jarbon and Annie ville, this county.

A. A. Perry Jr., left on Sunday and friends.

nal, Kingwood.

Gorman.

A Republican meeting here tomorrow night. We expect a good attendance. Every Republican and all who are interested in honest elections and protection to our home in. and Protection. dustries should, and undoubtedly will, take an active part in re-electing Mr. McComas.

H. R. Gilkeson, Democratic candidate for State Senator of West Virginia will speak in Gormania to-

U.S. Messenger lost a child this morning after an illness of about two Isaac N. Shrout returned home yesterday with a bride. May a long life of happiness accompany them, C. H. Jamison has resigned his position as constable.

Chas. N. Beard, of Hagerstown, was in town last week looking up the interests of the Building and Loan Association of this place. About $15,000 worth of stock has been subscribed for. Rev. Mattingly, of Oakland, was in town last week the guest of John Helbig, Jr. Prof. A. L. Wade, of Morgantown. W. Va., is in town.

Sept. 30, 1890.

Bloomington Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Kight, of Westernport, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hol. Barricks. Mrs. Jos. Richardson, of Frost burg, and son, are visiting Mrs. R.'s parents at Empire. M. L. Garvey has secured employ ment with the new coal firm of Black Sheridan & Wilson, at Frostburg. Edward Brady, an old soldier of Westernport, was placed on the original pension list on Friday last. Thomas Moore, lately from Scotland, now a resident of our town. started on a visit last Monday evening to his two sons in Kansas. Mrs. Wm. Mullen and Mrs. H. H. Kight, of Piedmont, paid our town a short visit on last Monday.

has been appointed principal of our school for the next term. Mrs. Jas. W. Leathers is in Clarks-Mrs. Isaac Merrill, of Oakland dis

> Thos. Dougerty, of the Junction, starts for Pittsburg the latter part of cident and vicinity, namely Repubthis week to accept a position in the machine department of the Westinghouse Company. have purchased 200 acres of timber land opposite their mill, on the West Va. side. The tract adjoins Messrs. Fredlock & Co., of Pine Swamp and extends South along the line of the W. Va. C. railroad to the farm of Joseph Warnick. No changes will Messrs. G. S. Ham'll and John T. be made in the present location of Mitchell were in Cumberland on bus- the mill as this above tract can be operated from the Maryland side of river with very little extra expense-Mr. Henry W. Schaidt, editor and proprietor of the Lonaconing Review, will assume the general man-J. Lee Harne is it town. John agement of the Cumberland Daily will leave in a few days for Roanoke News as soon as he returns from a pleasure trip over the Pacific Slope. The Southern Methodists are holding a protracted religious service at Chestnut Grove Church. Last Sunday was children's day and quite a large crowd was present to witness Elzie Naylor, of Cakland, Md., the interesting ceremonies. Rev. wraps, consisting of Jersey Cloth spent a couple of days visiting friends Howard, of the M. E. Church of this at Reid's school house, near Frank-

Spedden spent Sunday at Huttons, Mrs. James Casey, of Elk Garden, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. was here on business a few days ago. Mr. Lloyd Rawlings, agent at W. Va. Junction, is on the sick list. Mrs. Janke is down with the typhoid fever. A wedding and a political meeting Lizzle Dorthy at night. in the same town, at the same hour Our Sabbath school officers were Mrs L. D. Walker and daughter and nearly at the same place with reelected for the ensuing year, Mr.A. with paralysis on Saturday afternoon have returned from Baltimore, where the exception of the width of the R. Sperry was elected superintend of last week. The interment will they had been on a visit to relatives county road between the church and ent. the school house, might be consid- Mrs. W. M. Frysinger has been Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Casteel are on ered opposition attractions for our with us since last week, a visit to Dr. B. T. Keller, in Bloom. people on last Friday night. Politics Mother Smith is so much improved ingburg, O., and their son, Dr. D. T. however gave way to Cupid, and not that she has been out at church and E. Casteel, in Buckhannon, W. Va. until the wedding ceremony had at Grace Cottage lately. been performed, the bride and groom A. W. Dennett was with us last Charles Newman, formerly of THE had been made one, and commenced week and is arranging for more im-REPUBLICAN office has accepted a their journey home amid the glad provments for next year. position on The Preston County Jour- peals of laughter and the shouts of J. A. Hayden moved back to Oakfriends and acquaintances, did the and last Saturday. E. G. Naylor went to Meyersdale, speakers announced for the evening Mrs. Linn has returned to her Pa., Wednesday to go into business. direct the thoughts of our people home in Fairmont. Mr. Naylor has formed a co-partner- from the merry wedding march to Mrs. Thatcher left us this week for ship with a gentleman in that enter- the more solemn subject of free trade | Wheeling, then to Ohio where she prising town and will carry on the and a protective tariff. Immediately expects to make her future home. blacksmith business under the firm after the marriage of our fellow Mr. Cecil is having his grounds townsman, Mr. Cal. Simpson to Miss handsomely graded, The friends of Rev. S. P. Archer. Mollie Cross, by Rev. Howard, in Mr. Sperry is still improving his formerly pastor of the Grantsville the M. E. Church, the crowd ad- already commodious cottage. charge, this county, and Davis, W. journed to the school house, when Mrs, Howe still has the Fallon cot-By reference to the time-table of married Sept. 17th, at 7.30 p. m., in Va., but now of the Central Illinois Sen. George A. Pearre, of Cumber-tage open with a number of guests. the T. K. & F. R. published in the M. E. Church of that place, by Conference of the M. E. Church, who land, had a large and attentive audianother column it will be seen that the Rey. John F. Dayton, of Keyser, has just closed a very successful paspersons can leave all points east on W. Va. Miss N. Grace Browning torate of two years at Baritan, that an intelligent, able and eloquent dis- and sister last Sabbath morning by State, and was unanimously desired cussion of the issues of the campaign, their return home from the Indian Smith best man. Mrs. E. Hamill to return for a third year, will be His audience was composed of min- Territory without giving them any pleased to learn that he was at the ers, lumbermen, mechanics and farm- notice of their return. last session of his Conference ap- ers, just such an assembly as could The frost has not yet bitten the pointed to Elvaston, a station which appreciate, and did appreciate as foliage which is now changing into pays an excellent salary and has the shown by the applause, the strong beautiful variegated colors. finest parsonage in Galesburg Dis- points made by the speaker in comparing the capabilities and the fitness of the two opposing candidates to take care of the interest of the voters in the Sixth District. All in all, the meeting was a great success, full of heard from our quiet little village, I yehemence, earnestness and enthus- think a few lines will not be out of iasm, and showed that the Republi- place, to let your many readers know cans of the 4th district of Garrett paid Selbysport a pleasant visit last chine. Jasper Frazee is talking about building a new dwelling this fall. Miss Lizzie Reeves, of Urisina, Pa., is here visiting friends. Miss Lou Beamer visited in Penn-

County were still true to McComas Selbysport--Delayed.

Monday. Walter Lowdermilk and Brison built at this place. They have not Welsh, both school teachers of this fully determined yet on the location, IN ANY QUANTITY. Welsh, both school teachers of this littly determined as there is a difference of opinion as Made up in Bouquets or designs of any deneighborhood, are going to attend as there is a difference of opinion as Made up in Bouquets or designs of any deneighborhood, are going to attend as there is a difference of opinion as the Accident normal the rest of the to the location among the patrons of at shortest term. Pa., who has been among us for some school house built in the near future, time, returned to the city, well The name of Hon. L. E. McComas pleased with her rustic friends and is not mentioned as among the speak-relatives. much better than people expected it county. Even the Democrats are to be,

Jonas Frazee has added a clothing- show his smiling face and winning room to his store.

No damage done yet by frost this fall. Wet weather delays buck wheat threshing. John Spoerlin and Geo. E. Bishoff each sold five three year old colts a few days since.

Reys. H. E. Friend and J. H. Enow will attend the M. E. Annual Conference at Weston W. Va., this Geo. W. Custer is rushing the work on his new house. He wants to have it ready for occupation in about four weeks.

Geo. E. Bishoff has laid acide his sugar cane pan, and purchase a Cook evaporator, and is now doing good work with it. Capacity from 30 to 40 Prof. Whitehair, of Terra Alta. gallons per day.

The Sunday School temperance lesson was taken up last Sunday, and after being taught by the classes, trict, sister-in-law of Hon. Wm. Mer- pointed remarks were made by Miss James Bell, a former resident of rill, of Garrett County, is visiting her A. C. De Witt, Samual Ferguson, A. Oakland, is in town visiting friends. daughter, Mrs. Hollis, of Laurel C. DeWitt, W. A. Smith and Geo, E. Bishoff.

> The attractions this week are at Ac lican mass meeting, dedication of the Church, and Sunday School convention at the Forks Church. District Messrs. Kane & Co., of Empire, No. 6 will be represented at those places, Miss Ella Ferguson arrived home after an extended visit to her Brotner, W. W. Ferguson, in Debbin, W. Va. The Johnstown writing school under the leadership of Chas. W. Thatcher, of Moundsville W. Va., is progressing nicely.

Mr. Chas. W. Smith, of Keyser, W. Va., Miss Grace Slane, of Grafton, with their cousins, Mrs. Liza Thayer, and Minnie Smith, of Deer Park, were the guests of W. A. Smith and wife on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

John DeWitt, A. C. DeWitt, Oda

DeWitt and D. R. Smith, left for the mountains Monday to spend a few days hunting, as the deeer season has at last come. Success to them. PUBLIC SALE.—The undersigned will offer at public sale at the late The Bill also contains the usual prayer for process and for an order of publication against the said detendants. residence of J. B. Davis on the Promplements, etc. Sale to begin at 10 a.m. J. M. DAVIS. Executor, 33-2t

sed Land farm, on Tuesday, October

14th, a lot of cattle, horses, farm im-

Mountain Lake Park. Miss Lizzie Boyd conducted another very interesting meeting for us last Sabbath morning and Miss

McHenry-Delayed. EDITOR REPUBLICAN:-As it has been quite a while since you have what our people are doing. The farmers are busity engaged garnering their buckwheat.

Dongald McLean and Abel DeWitt John Meltinger, of Grantsville, are out threshing with their new ma The steam thresher owned by Messrs. Shanks has been in operation in this community. Reuben Durst contemplates moving near Hoyes. The school Board met here on the sylvania last Saturday, returning 22d to select a site and let the contract of a new school house to be the school. We trust the location Mrs. Adam Frazee, of Pittsburg, will be determined upon and the ers to address the Lepublican meet-Corn is in general a poor crop, but ings to be held throughout the anxious to know when he is going to ways.

SHow this paper to your neighbor; if he is not stready a subscriber, and ask him to look it over and note its merits as a local family journal. The low rate of subscription puts it within the reach of every one, and no one, who wants to have the County news should be without it.

SOMETHING NEW.

For Cash Only. My stock is complete in all its branches and I am prepared to sell the best goods for THE LEAST MONEY.

Below you will find a few prices All Wool Double Width Tricot, 25c, All Wool Ladies' Cloth, 50 in, wide, 65c, The finest Dress Plaids in town, 50c. Henrietta Cloth, 36 in, wide, 4 shades, 50c The best Henrietta ever brought to tow inches wide 81 95. ns' Sandals, fine quality, 45c. dies' Sandals, 80c.

LADIES SHOES.

Extra Fine Flannels, 55c, per yd. Ham, 12½ cts., per pound. Breakfast Bacon, 10c, Side Meat, 8c. Granulated Sugar, 14 pounds $1. Arbuckles' Coffee, 25c. Split Boots, $1.50. Whole Stock Boots, $2.75. Oil Grain Boots, $3. Thanking you for past favors and hoping to, receive a liberal share of your patronage in the future, I remain Yours, very respectfully, JOHN SHARTZER. Order of Publication.

Thomas R. King vs. Annie R. Turner and J. Edward Turner, her husband.
In the Circuit Court for Garrett County in Equity. No. 598 Equity.

The object of this Bill is to procure a sale of certain real estate belonging to the plaintiff and defendants in Garrett County, Maryland. The Bill alleges that Priscilla E. King, wife of Thomas R. King, died intestate seized and possessed of one-half of Military Lot No. 822, leaving her said husband and the following children and heirs at law surviving her, towit: Ellen T., who intermarried with Dwight A. Norton, William T. King, Singleton L., King, Edmund B. King, Emma V. King and Annie R., who intermarried with J. Edward Turner, That the said Singleton L. King, Ellen T., Norton and Dwight A. Norton, her husband, William T. King and Lillian I. King, in wife, Edmund B. King and Lillian I. King, in wife, Edmund B. King and Emma V. King conveyed all their interest in and to said land to the said Thomas R. King.

The Bill further states that the said land is,

The Bill further states that the said land is not susceptible of division and prays for a sale and distribution of the proceeds. It is thereupon ordered by the Court this, successive weeks before the 31st day of Octo-ber, A. D., 1890, giving notice to the defendants in said Bill, warning them to appear in thi: Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 17th day of November, A. D., 1890, to show, cause if any they have why a decree shall not pass as prayed.

31—it

E. Z. TOWER.

Clerk Circuit Court. True Copy-Test: E. Z. Tower, Clerk.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for Garrett County at the suit of McKone, Fahey & Co., against James Howarth, it being No. 18 Judicials to September Term, 1890, of said Court, and to me, the undersigned Sheriff, directed, I did on the 21st day of August, 1890, by anactual entry upon the land; seize and levy upon all that parcel of land situated in Garrett County about six miles north of Frank-ville, and now occupied by James Howarth, and described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning for the same at the end of 30. Beginning for the same at the end of 30 perches on the 2d line of a parcel of land conveyed by J. R. Anderson to Benjamin F. Myer.

veyed by J. K. Anderson to Benjamin F. Myer and wife, and running with and beyond the and of said line S. 394 degrees. W. 100 perches to a stone pile standing N. 3834 degrees, E. 1 perch and 4 links from a white oak tree marked as a pointer, then N. 3334 degrees, W. 50 perches to a stake and stone pile standing N. 6834 degrees, E. 16 links from a chestnut back tree marked as a pointer, then N. 3844 degrees, E. 100 per hes to a stone pile in an old goad, thence by a straight line to the begin.

ON WEDNESDAY, THE 29TH DAY

OF OCTOBER, 1890, nt of the Taggart Hotel in the town of in iron of the Taggart Hotel in the town of Oakland, at the hour of 2 o'clock p, m., of said day, I will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash on the day of sale all of the right, title and equitable interest of said James Howarth in and to the above described real estate. Said property will be sold subject to a balance of purchase money due to Joseph R. Anderson on said land of about $100,00.

> EDWARD N. CASTEEL. Sheriff of Garrett Co.

TERMS OF SALE,-Cash on the day of ORDERS BY MAIL or telegraph will receive prompt attention.

EMBALM FLOWERS and Floral Designs in the very latest manner

FOR SALE. A fine two-year old Alderny bull. Very cheap. Apply, H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md

Over and over, a little song Sung in my heart, the whole day long; No matter what task to my lot did fall, The song made music, amid it all; I washed the tea-cups, I kneaded the bread— "My love loves me!" in my car was said; "True love is better than wealth or case!" Was whispered to me, as I shelled the pease.

And as I made custard or baked the cake, A voice kept saying: "For love's sweet sake! And, when the table I sat for four, Again I heard it, o'er and o'er: 'True love is better than wealth or ease

The clock on the wall, with its pleasant song, To gather around the board with me. In came two, with a merry shout-The children are in, but the father is out-I wondered if my True Love 'twould please To know my thoughts, as I shelled the pease

A hand is heard on the outer door.

A well-known step comes over the floor, And my Darling is here; though no longe I wondered not that the tune was sung. For love in its loved one true beauty sees, When a stranger eye might see naught to

The merry children make mirth for all While the mother smiles and the father tall Bends low to whisper a loving word, eetheart, what viands could taste like these! That by no ear but her own is heard: With love, I'm sure, you have flavored the pease! So, over and over, the whole day long, Sung, in my heart, the little song: What matters it if the house be small, If Love finds shelter within its wall? ught else I crave but my Love to please, ough humble my task, as I sheil the pease!" —Maud Wyman, in Good Housekeeping.

NEWT BLEDSOE'S WIFE.

How She Got the Drop on a United States Marshal.

at Birmingham, spondent.

a scratch. It is this shooting from a ladder. I was given a bed in the loft, ambush and the pranks the moonshin- and retired about ten o'clock. I heard ers play on a revenue officer when they no alone in the mountains that makes hunting them exciting sport.

"I have often spent a night at the home of an innocent-looking mountaineer and next morning found my saddle and bridle cut to pieces or my horse turned out of the stable and driven away. Up in De Kalb County once I spent the night at the house of a man who was supposed to be a good citizen and not in sympathy with moonshiners. I slept in a shed-room, and there was no lock on the door. The next morning my pants were gone. Every thing had been taken out of the pockets and left in the room, but the pants had been spirited away. My landlord expressed much sympathy for my loss, but charged me five dollars for a second-hand pair of his jeans trousers that were probably worth one dollar when new, and I had to pay him the money before I could get out of bed. "The wives and daughters of moonalmost every man owned a still. In on my face awoke me. The girl Deacon Bledsoe.

Bible, and sich, an' 'e allus takes in am satisfied that she had learned of a strangers,' said the native. I was di- plot to murder me, and saved my life." rected to the deacon's house, two miles down the valley, and arrived there an hour after dark. I did not once associate

"DRAP THAT THAR WEEPIN."

Deacon Bledsoe, who was 'sot on the Bible,' with Moonshiner Newt Bledsoe, "In response to my hellos a tall, innocent-looking old countryman came out to the gate, and by the light of a knew that the ground contained black to be almost fashionable to be an invapine torch which he carried in his hand stones without knowing their use, but lid. The school children are pale and he looked me over. 'Be you uns the he whose discovery led to the use of new Methodist circuit-rider?' he asked. I decided to play preacher for once and answered in the affirmative.

"Light, parson. I'm a hard-shell, agin a man 'cause he don't belong to my church,' and the deacon received me with true mountain hospitality. "At bedtime Bledsoe brought out a schools.-Philadelphia Press.

well-worn family Bible and invited m to lead in prayer. I had not prayed since I was a boy at Sunday-school, but was in for it, and reading a chapter in the Bible we all knelt down, and I delivered some sort of a prayer. In my petition I referred to those sinners who defied the laws of God and man by making spirits, and prayed the Lord to turn them from their wicked ways. To this Bledsoe responded with a loud amen! "I rose early the next morning, and, finding that breakfast was not ready, I started for a short stroll in the woods back of the house. As I left the yard I noticed Bledsoe's wife watching me with evident suspicion. I walked on down to a small branch, which ran through the woods three hundred yards ack of the house. I saw smoke rising among the trees a little ways down the branch, and walking down that way I ound my host, Deacon Bledsoe, building a fire under one of the largest moonshine stills I ever saw. He seemed as much surprised as I was, and in an instant it dawned on me that Deacon Bledsoe and Moonshiner Newt Bledsoe were one and the same person. Before he recovered from his surprise I had him covered with my revolver, and telling him who I was, ordered him to sur-

" 'Drap that thar weepin'. I knowed you warn't no parson,' said a female voice behind me at that moment, and turning I saw Bledsoe's wife. She had the drop on me with a long rifle, and I dropped my pistol. Bledsoe picked up revolver, and I was marched back to the house a prisoner.

"Thar's your critter ready saddled n' here's a bite to eat; now git,' said Mrs. Bledsoe, and she kept me covered with the rifle, while her husband handed me back my pistol when I mounted my horse.

" 'Won't you pray for us agin, parson, fore you go?' said Bledsoe, with a grin, OME days ago as I rode away. A week later I rean old deputy turned with a strong posse, captured United States Bledsoe, and destroyed his still. marshal sat in could have made a case against his a hotel corridor wife, but I wouldn't do it

"The only romantic adventure I ever Ala., and talked met with hunting moonshiners ocabout hunting curred in Marion County five years ago. moonshiners, I was over there hunting some witsays a Chicago nesses and incidentally looking out for Times corre- stills. I was spending the night at the house of a man I had reason to believe "Some of was a moonshiner, and a dangerous one. these moon- I saw he regarded me with suspicion, shiners," said but he asked no questions and I felt "are as safe. The man had a daughter about treacherous as eighteen years old, a very pretty coun-Indians, and will shoot at an officer try girl, who seemed to take no notice from ambush, but they are poor marks- of my presence and did not once speak men and seldom hit a man. I have been to me during the evening. The house shot at a dozen times without receiving was a log cabin, with a loft reached by my host talking in a low tone for some shiners, as a rule, are smarter than the time after I lay down, then I heard him men and much more suspicious of a take his rifle from the rack and leave stranger. I was over in Clay County on the house. I had been asleep probably a raid once and was in a locality where two hours when the touch of a hand such a place it is hard to locate a still standing by my bed with a lighted and almost impossible to obtain evi- candle in her hand. She motioned me dence against the owners unless they to be silent, and in a whisper she said: are caught in the act of making the 'Stranger, you'll have ter git. Your mountain dew.' I introduced myself critter's at the gate. Take ther rightas a land agent prospecting for mineral han' road at the forks, cross the creek, lands, but the natives did not all be- and don't stop this side of Lige Mar lieve my story and I was regarded with com's-that's bout four miles down ther more or less suspicion. I was after a road. Git out thar!' and she pointed to noted moonshiner named Newt Bled- a small window in one end of the loft. soe, who was known to have been oper- Then she blew out the candle and disating a still in that locality for two appeared as silently as a shadow. I put years. I had trouble in finding a place on my clothes, went to the window and where they would let me stay all night, found a ladder on the outside. At the but finally a native suggested that I try gate I found my horse ready saddled, and, mounting, I rode rapidly away. I "Ther deakin's sot on 'ligion, the have never seen that girl since, but I

"GIT OUT THAR!"

DISCOVERY OF COAL.

Who Was the First to Dig Up Pennsylvania's Black Diamond

The proposition to erect a monument o Philip Ginder, who discovered anbracite coal on Summit Hill, Carbon County, in 1791, has given rise to a number of claims for the honor of discovering coal in Pennsylvania. The Wyoming valley people claim that anof the State as early as 1756. There is tradition that hard coal was burned less the Mauch Chunk promoters of the County in 1793, in immediate consewas only then that the possible import- to succumb to any unusual strain. ance of coal as a fuel began to be appreciated. They claim, therefore, Ginder is entitled to a monument, and coal as a fuel. of the honor of being called the discoverer of anthracite coal in Pensylvania but you're welcome. I never lays it up as Fulton is of being called the inventor of a steamboat, or Isaac Newton the dis- their fathers have squandered their coverer of differential calculus, or Robert Raikes the founder of Sunday-

ANECDOTES OF DECATUR

The Gallant Naval Hero's Sympathy for The gallant Decatur was a sailor to the heart's core, and loved to tell anecdotes of the common sailors, one of which follows: In one of the actions before Tripoli, while fighting hand to hand with the captain of a gun-boat, Decatur came near being cut down by a Turk, who attacked him from behind. was already wounded in both hands. seeing the risk of his commander, rushed in and received the blow of the uplifted saber on his own head. Fortunately the honest fellow survived to receive his reward. Some time afterward, when he had recovered from his wounds. Decatur sent for him on deck, expressed his gratitude for his self-devotion, in presence of the crew, and told him to pulled up his waistband and rolled his quid, but seemed utterly at a loss what recompense to claim. His messmates cathered around him, nudging him with their elbows and whispering in his ear: "He has all the world in string and can get what he pleases;" "the old man can deny him nothing," etc. One advised this thing, another, that; 'double pay," "double allowance," swain's berth," "a pocket full of money and a full swing on shore," etc. Jack elbowed them all aside and would have none of their counsel. After mature deliberation, he announced the reward to which he aspired; it was-to be excused from rolling up the hammock-cloths! The whimsical request was, of course, granted; and from that time forward whenever the sailors were piped to stow away their hammocks, Jack was to be seen loitering around and looking on with the most gentleman-like leisure. The devoted fellow always continued in the same ship with Decatur. "I ould always know the state of my bile y Jack," said the commodore. "If I spect, Jack would be sure to heave in sight, to receive a friendly nod; and if I was out of humor, and work, as I sometimes did, a foul-weather physiognomy. Jack kept aloof and skulked among the other sallors." It is proper to add that having been granted him by the Governnent. Or another occasion Decatur had reeived at New York the freedom of the city as a testimonial of respect and gratitude. On the following day he his sailors:

"Jack," said one, "what is the mean-"Why, don't you know? Why, it's the right to frolic about the streets as knock down the men, and kiss the wo-

"That's something worth fighting for!" remarked the other .- N. Y. Ledger.

SELF-MADE CRANKS.

Men Who Feel Their Feebleness in the World of Practical Affairs. One can not help believing that thurs s a variety of this gentry who are selfnade cranks-cranks because they want to be. They seek some social dispreortion whereupon they can posture with effect. The pleasures of conformity are humdrum; nonconformity is juant and startling. Such a man is ot a crank from abundance of virtue, as he would have you believe, but rather because he feels his feebleness in the world of practical affairs and is soured thereby. If he pose as an advance philanthropist, we suspect that his love of mankind has some side glances at personal profit. It facts be against him, he does not hesitate to invent them, and visits with arrogant abuse those who would expose his falsias something ultimately possible, and Chili: "The Chilian capital is approached then humbly inquire what they are to from either Valparaiso or Los Andes by he had never been able to extend his payment of these charges. I have admiration to the speaker whose entire limited and abusive vocabulary. -J. P. Quincy, in Atlantic.

THE TOBACCO HEART.

Many a Child's Heath Is Smoked Away Before It Is Born. The tobacco habit produces physical conditions of a marked variety, particularly as relates to the heart. Men use thracite was known in that section | tobacco all their lives without great apparent damage to themselves sometimes, but their sons will have decided maniin the Valley Forge about the time of festations of the tobacco heart if they bustle and confusion of an American the French and Indian war. Neverthe- try to smoke, and their daughters are nervous and hysterical. Statistics of the Ginder celebration refuse to be the examiners of volunteers for the army turned aside fron their plans. They show that one-third of all the applicants and to regain, by gesticulation and arpoint with pride to the fact that the | who are rejected are ruled out because Lehigh Valley Coal-Mining Company of having a tobacco heart. Many of began practicing mining in Carbon them are to all appearances strong and robust yet suffering from this constituquence of Ginder's discovery, and it tional defect which makes them liable growin r number of young men and women who are good for nothing physithey propose that he shall have one, on cally. Many men and women of sixty the just grounds that the discoverer of and seventy are more hearty and vigoranthracite is not the individual who ous than their children. It is getting puny. There are other causes, but tobacco must be held responsible for a Ginder seems to be as much deserving large share of this. The constitution of many a child is smoked away before it is born, and thou ands and thousands are suffering in various ways because nervous energy and vitality in the use of tobacco.-From a lecture by J. H. Kellogg, M. D.

Everybody knows that there is a

MISTAKES OF A DAY.

A Sensible Lecture for Young Women Delivered by Edith Ash When you laid your head down on your pillow at night you knew that it had been a day of blunders. The tears came into your eyes and you wondered what you had done that made every thing go wrong. My dear girl, you had made little mistakes by thoughtiessness; you had made the music of life less sweet and done your best to make that lit-A seaman, named Reuben James, who | the rift within the lute that after awhile, would make all the beautiful music of life quiet. You began the day by dis-puting at the breakfast table with your brother about nothing; and you ended it by saying very disagreeable things, making him feel uncomfortable and causing him to leave the table muttering; while your mother wondered why he should speak so to his sister. It was his sister's fault, for she expected everyask for some reward. The honest tar body to give in to her ideas and felt wronged when they didn't.

Next, when you went to practice and were in the midst of a beautiful sonata, you were reminded that the dusting of the parlor was your duty; and you grumbled and did it ungraciously, and even now you can remember how hurt your mother looked as you banged things around the room and wondered why you couldn't have the same time to practice that other girls had. Then when one of your girl friends came in, you made her unhappy by telling her some disagreeable things that had been said about her, and which you thought she ought to know. There is no reason in the world why people should tell each other disagreeable things. You sent your friend away hurt, and with a curious feeling in her heart that you couldn't really be so fond of her as she thought, or else you wouldn't have made her so unhappy. At the dinner table you contradicted your father, you complained of your food, and you were as unpleasant as only a bad-mannered girl can be at the table. When somebody started was in good humor, and wore a pleasant to tell a little story you stopped it in the middle by saying that it had been told so ofter before you couldn't stand it again. After this, you dressed to go out, were 11-tempered, broke strings, sent buttons flying and complained of other sailors." It is proper to add that Reuben James received a more solid reto see a girl you knew your mothward for his gallant devotion than the er didn't like you to visit. You privilege above mentioned, a pension stayed them and heard two or three scandalous stories, and came out feeling as if you had eaten something that had left a bad taste in your mouth. You forgot a book you had been told to get; you didn't care to go into a grocery shop and leave an order that would save verheard this colloquy between two of everybody at home a great deal of or read and managed to make things nuch as he pleases, kick up a row, disagreeable for everybody. Now, when your head is resting on the pillow, you are thinking of this and wondering why it all went wrong. My dear girl, you may have a hundred the tens, and your friends by the thou sands, but you will never have but one mother; and when you deliberately go out of your way to hurt or neglect her. you are committing an absolute sin, one that in years to come will rise up before your own little children are about your knees you will wonder and fear if justice is shown if they will not tread on your heart as you did on hers. Try to do better to-morrow. The mistakes of to-day, it is possible, resulted from your getting out the wrong side of the bed; but be wise and see that it don't happen again. - Ladies' Home Journal.

RAILROADS IN CHILL

Operated so as to resoluce a Maximum Degree of Discomfort. The New York Tribune correspondties. He is especially angry with those ent, who is exploring South America, halting disciples who accept his scheme writes as follows of railway traveling in do provisionally as a practical approxi- the Quillota Valley opening between the nation to the distant good. If he be Andes and the maritime range. There rhetorician, he has no scruple in ad- is a railway owned by the Chilian Govninistering the electric shock of para- ernment and operated on the English lox, and seeks the levity of assent that | plan. The cars are square compartment may be caught by the sudden spring of boxes, into which passengers are a false analogy. No doubt this reckless crowded until no seats are reserved for shooter occasionally hits the mark. the late-comers, who are compelled to Pope describes the talking bird who be- sprawl over the baggage littering the rates the passers-by with epithets which floor. There is an extra tariff of a dolwell-conducted periodicals have ceased lar for the transportation of a small to print. But the poet confesses that, trunk in the baggage-car, and consethough sometimes struck with the ex- quently every native travels with his treme felicity of these characterizations, effects in portable form to avoid counted as many as a dozen pieces of stock in trade consisted of this very small baggage belonging to one traveler, and the average certainly is not less than seven. All this baggage is heaped up in the compartment-car, so that it is impracticable to change one's seat or even to gain one's footing when the last belated passenger, with his bundles, sachels and band-boxes, is in and the tickets have been examined by the guard. At the railway junction of Llaillai, three trains are emptied into a large refreshment room, where a breakfast is served with something of the railway station. On returning to the compartment-car, every passenger has to clamber over the baggage mounds gument, the seat which some other traveler, possibly one of the previous latecomers, has seen fit to occupy in his temporary absence. This is the English railway service adapted to this southern latitude, and it is operated so as to produce a maximum degree of personal annoyance and discomfort. At the end of the journey a passenger whose baggage has been carried behind the engine, where it has not been in anybody's way, is compelled to employ and fee a railway porter to hunt it up, and possibly #### another one to put it on a coach. They Could Never Find It. Husband-Say! you'd better take my pocket-book. Wife-You surprise me! I don't un derstand it! Husband-I noticed a sign just now to 'Look out for nickpockets," and I thou htit would be safer in your pocket than in mins .- Lowell Citizen.

REGARDING HYPNOTISM.

cientists Everywhere Are Beginning so Study Its Phenome Mesmerism alias hypnotism, the latest scientific sensation of the hour, was a other scheme."—Harper's Bazar.

few years since denounced by the scien—The Qualification.—First Tradesman tific world in unmeasured terms. No expressions of scornful contempt were strong enough to characterize those fearless torch-bearers of advanced thought, who, after patiently, earnestly and exhaustively investigating the alleged powers of Mesmer, proved beyond here concerning the benefits of advertising, which I—" Editor (eagerly) and exhaustively investigating the althe possibility of a doubt the genuineness of the mesmeric or hypnotic influ-They were charlatans, impostors or mentally unsound in the eyes, not only of the medical profession, but the scien-tifle world, with some few nota le ex-worth $2.000,000."—N. Y. Sun. ceptions. The more charitably disposed among the great conservative societies of scientific thinkers were content to regard those who believed in such "absurdities" as mermerism as "unduly credulous;" liable to be "duped;" and, Weekly. therefore, not "safe" or "critical invest-Camille Flammarion, the illustrious

French astronomer, in his recent re-markable novel "Uranie," tells us that fifteen years ago he communicated to Press. several physicians the magnetic phenomena observed by himself in the course of many experiments. One and all denied most positively and absolutely the possibility of the facts related, but on meeting one of these same physicians at the Institute in Paris recently, he called his attention to his denial of the phenomena. "Oh!" replied the physiian, not without shrewdness, "then it was magnetism, now it is hypnotism, and it is we who study it; that is a very different thing." The astronomer wisey adds by way of impressing the moral: study; let us examine; the explanation will come later."

A true scientist will take cognizance of the smallest fact, and though the light that floats before may appear a mere will-o'-the-wisp, he will follow it until he demonstrates by careful, impartial, and exhaustive investigation whether it rests on the bed-rock of truth or not, remembering that the prejudices of hoary thought and early training may blind him to sensible ap preciation of the true significance of the problem that confronts him. It is not more than five years since a paper read on "Hypnotism" in the medical society of a leading American city was excluded from the report of the society's meeting, on the ground that the subject was unscientific and absurd. Less than a year ago telepathy was as much an outcast in the scientific world trouble, and you carried your temper as mesmerism was after the celebrated back with you, although God Almighty's Bailey commission pronounced it a ing of this 'freedom of the city,' which sunshine rested on you and ought to "fraud." Yet to-day telepathy, or have driven it out of your heart. You sulked all evening; you played the piano thought transference, is as well established by the seaside." N. B.—He ished a scientific fact as hypnotis From present indications we are entering a new field of scientific discovery. or to be more explicit, the great body of scientific thinkers are expressing a willingness to recognize phenomena other than material, and to treat with a admirers; you may count your lovers ly measure of respect the views and discoveries made by the patient heralds of speaking of eating, Maude, I wish you'd psychic truths which have long been taboed as little worthy the attention of the materialistic scientific investigator. whose eyes have been accustomed to rest on the earth, its rocks, plants and you and make you suffer agonies. When animals, as the myths of bygone days. The age of electrical invention has been so marvelous that men have ceased to wonder at the inventive ingenuity of man. The age of physchological discovery upon which we are now entering.

if it be unrestricted and receive the careful and unbiased attention of our best brains, will, we believe, unfold a world of truth, eclipsing in its startling character as well as in its great utility the greatest discoveries since the man child science was born, truths which

grander ideal. - Arena. FUTURE OF WOMEN.

Mr. Gladstone Makes Some Eminently Sensible Remarks. In the course of a brief address at a school for girls, where Mrs. Gladstone distributed the prizes, Mr. Gladstone said: "That future of society is of enormous importance to the world. I think it is not uninteresting to recall, if I may be allowed to do it, a little anecdote, when some words were used to me more than fifty years ago by an eminent physician of that date-Dr. Farr, who lived in Charterhouse square. I went there on account of some affection of the eye, but he entered into general conversation about the political prospects of the country, and he said to me these words, which, I think, were full of sense, right feeling and wisdom; 'You may depend upon it, Mr. Gladstone, it is not the Whigs who will save the country, nor the Tories who will save the country: it is the mothers of England who will save the country. "I think that should be to every young wife the most cheering, the most consoling, and the most stimulating lesson that could be learned. The value and the importance of this thought are such that no new addition we can possibly make to woman's vocation can ever stand for a moment in comparison with their vital bearing upon the formation of character in every one of us. And what is the formation of character but that for which God sent us into the world? It is the sum and substance, the beginning and the ending of the whole matter, and it is the formation of character which is the pride and glory of women as teacher, but infinitely more as mother, to contribute.'

What Could He Have Meant? "Ethel," said a fond mother to her daughter, as the fair young girl sat lown at a late breakfast in her morning gown, "did George leave any package for me last evening?" Ethel blushed and said: falteringly:

"Why, no, mamma! What made you ask? "O. nothing: only I heard him say at the door as he said good-bye: 'Now, here is one more for your mother,' and I didn't know but what it was that the party to save escort, and no patrol pattern for lace-edging that his mother, was likely to pass directly after the paspromised to send me.'

Ethel said nothing .- Rare Bits.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Giles-"What does Brown do with all the money he makes in that scheme?" Merritt-"Loses it in an-

-"Is he a gentleman?" Second Tradesman-"Well, I suppose so. He doesn't pay his debts until you make him do so."—Munsey's Weekly.

-Contributor - "I have an article 'Yes, sir, we'll examine it with pleasure."-Yankee Blade.

-"We have decided that baby looks like Uncle Joseph ' said the happy mamma. "Why, Joseph Harris is as -Particular Citizen-"These new red stamps are not as adhesive as they pught to be." Postal Official—"I guess you never tried carrying a sheet of them in your pocket on a hot day."-N. Y. -She-"George, dear, what do you think our happiness is chiefly dependent upon?" He (as his arm steals about her willowy waist)—"Upon our sur-roundings, sweet." — Burlington Free -"I suppose. Somberlin, that you often entertain your friends by reading your jokes to them." "Friends? Alas. I have none. They all left me when I took to writing jokes."—Yankee Blade. -Mrs. Larkin (reading)-"Mrs. Mo-Gill, of Salt Lake City, found a $5 gold piece in the crop of a chicken she was dressing for dinner." Larkin-"Now look out for an English syndicate to buy up all the chickens in the country."

N. Y. Sun. -We notice that the number of female cashiers in large establishments Let us deny nothing positively; let us is greatly on the increase. We suppose the explanation of this is that they are either more honest than men, or else they can't run so fast.—Ram's Horn.

—New Assistant—"Wot fer ye always give that there woman full weight?" Iceman—"'Cause she ain't respectable." Assistant—"Eh!" Iceman—"She's one o' th' low down kind that 'ud grab up a light weight lump an' run right out inter th' public street, an' make us weigh it over agin."-Good News. -Loiterer (at railway station)-"Why does that boy set up a yell every time a locomotive whistle blows?" Small Boy -"He's tryin' ter see if he's got voice enough to drown th' noise of th' engine." Loiterer-"What for?" Small Boy-"He wants ter find out if he's adapted fer selling papers."-N. Y. Weekly.

-- He-"How have you been enjoying yourself, Miss Esmerelda?" She-"I have never enjoyed myself so much as at this very moment. It is so delightful to friends, and now they call him Perfect Solitude. - Texas Siftings.

-"But, Tom, dear, where is the big rout you said you caught?" "Oh! that Why-yes, of course-well, I took one! that trout, and it looked so good I cooked it and ate it on the spot. And hurry up that dinner. I haven't had a mouthful all day." And then Maude for the first time doubted her husband's veracity .-- Harper's Bazar.

-The following advertisement is taken from the Liverpool Daily Post: WILL THE LADY WEARING SPECTACLES, who, on Thursday evening, the 7th inst., drove a dark pony and four-wheeled phaeten, with groom behind, along Halewood Road, and INJURED A VALUABLE SADDLEHORSE by not taking her side of the road, kindly GET A BETTER PAIR OF GLASSES and TAKE DRIVING LESSONS before she ventures out again.

REVENGE IN BURMAH.

Terrible Vengeance of the Dacoits on the Friends of Their Enemies. A headman informed me one day as I passed through his village of the where will give to life a deeper significance, a abouts of a well-known dacoit a few richer meaning, a nobler impulse, a miles off. On this information the man was tracked and executed an hour or two afterward. Some months later this headman and his brother, both well disposed to our rule, were waylaid and murdered by the gang to which the abovementioned dacoit chief had belonged. In another case a man who had been impressed to serve the dacoits as cook and baggage-carrier escaped and took refuge in a well-defended post, only, however, to hear a few days later that his old mother, who was living in her native village, had the night before been murdered. Some information on which one or two dacoits were captured was given by a man who himself lived in a large town with a military station, and was, therefore, safe. His nearest relatives, however, a mother, sister, wife, two young children, and an infant a few hours old, living in their own village, were very shortly afterward all murdered in one night. They were beheaded and laid out in a row, from the largest at one end to the baby at the Such was the terrible vengeance of the dacoits on the families of those who were themselves out of reach. Hundreds of similar instances might be related, all showing the same system, and only differing one from another in the various methods by which the acts of revenge were carried out.

Whenever the dacoits believed that they were in no danger of interruption from our troops, elaborate tortures were added to simple assassination; if, however, a sudden alarm was raised, a blow of the dah from each of the gang in succession made their vengeance sure. It is astonishing how accurate the in-formation of the dacoits frequently is, and how carefully they watch the move-ments of every post. A district magis-trate, accompanied by the officer commanding the military police and by a district superintendent of civil police, returning from village C. through village B. (where a post was to be established) to village A., received intelligence the day after their arrival of an attack upon B, and the murder of a woman whose husband and brother had both rendered us an important service. The dacoits waited to perform this outrage until the officers had passed back through B. with baggage and personal escort, thus seizing the most fa-vorable opportunity for their purpose, as any convoys would have accompanied sage of a considerable body of troop than plowi thus tinue is ma rows. maki The labor To re run b

As plear furro

each plow; the jointer the s first | of th try to main a thi by his performance branch branch plant sition side

tho | not p mark first with been row groun then roots poin be tubs, sawo celer the s hand after No to dr the r shou as m sever by d throughout Th the ther date

the well free
com that and ther late.
just celer shou

the will Muc
the tem free it es inor
the litte

the end lift water by troughten inch inch do with in that in an adesman Trades doesn't him do article dvertiserly)h pleasby looks happy out he is new red as they "I guess of them do you

ls about

ur surn Free reading Alas, Blade rs. Moshe was "Now uppose ley are always 's one b up a ht out "Why all Boy voice f he's h as at that

ood I And had a ie for n the y as I man ur or l dismurwveged. n imand fuge s old one riven arge was, ives. two lage, murthe at the ance each. ht be er in acts

otion

native

were ig in

FARM AND GARDEN.

CELERY CULTURE.

As soon as the early crops have been pleared from between the celery rows, a furrow should be plowed away from each side of the row with a one-horse plow; the furrows should not go nearer than fifteen inches to each row. After plowing away, turn about and plow back thus filling the furrow up again and con tinue to plow back until a dead furrow is made in the blank space between the rows. This operation will loosen the soil that the roots may expand, thus making a larger growth of top.

The banking of celery is one of the laborious operations of the gardener To render the soil for banking more easily handled, the one-horse plow is run between the rows. Two separate bankings will be required to complete the job. By the first the plants should be covered about half way up, and an interval of six days should pass before the second banking. The object of the first banking will be to run the hearts of the stocks up, which it does, as they try to get to the light and air. Very late in the fall, if the celery is to remain in the ground until Thanksgiving, a third banking will be required to in by hard frosts. Banking can be best performed by employing three men at it. One straddles the row, walking backwards as he gathers together the branches or stocks of each individual plant, thus putting it in an upright position. The other two men, one on each side of the row, shovel the earth around the plants, care being taken that it does not get in to the center of the hearts.

Gathering and preparing celery for market are rather slow operations. The first move is to plow down the bankings with a one-horse plow. This having been done, the plow is run under the deeper, the handles similarly raised at Most of the green leaves are then pulled off the plants, the blanched stocks only being left. The fibrous roots are next trimmed off with a longpointed shoe-knife; great care should of the hard-pan subsoil were loosened be exercised in trimming lest the sprouts should be cut. Two large wash. sprouts should be cut. Two large washsawed in two, are used for washing the celery. As the plants are trimmed, all parallel ditches under way at the same the adhering dirt is washed off with the hands and corn brooms in tub No. 1, after which the plants are rinsed in tub vance. If the subsoil was very hard, the ditching-plow would work more to drain. In boxing, the demands of to drain. In boxing, the demands of the market are that three dozen bunches prove a greater labor-saver if the cutshould fill a barrel box even full; but ting point was kept sharp. When the as many plants will not count for one, several smallerones are pinned together by driving an eight-penny board nail three feet, the cost was only twelve

l, and is finished by the middle of the month. If the operation is performed much earlier, used by P. Du Bois, of Tompkins Counthere is danger that the mild weather it. Previous to that date it keeps much better in the bankings, but these should be well built to prevent a possible hard freeze from destroying the tops. It is common to leave in the bankings all that can be conveniently taken care of and sold at Thanksgiving-time; but there is some risk in leaving it out so late. The ground sometimes closes in was on the same principle as the one just previous to that date, so that the above described, being used for loosen-celery can not be got out.

above described, being used for loosencelery can not be got out.

For late keeping in the winter celery should not be banked long previous to wrought iron half an inch thick and pitting—the greener it is the longer it two and a half inches wide. One end of can be kept. If, therefore, one commences banking about the middle of October he will be about right. The fourths of an inch between for the ground at that time is quite cool and beam. A bolt ten inches from the the celery bleaches slowly, therefore, it point was the place from which will be quite green at pitting-time Much depends upon its keeping well in allowing it to play up and down or to the pit. It should be kept at as low a rise or fall automatically, according to temperature as possible without risk of freezing, but should we want to market by the dotted lines. One of these plows it ear y in the winter the heat can be may be made for ten dollars. increased by putting on the roof of Mr. Du Bois gave us some additional the pit a considerable thickness of litter or covering; otherwise, only a time, eight years ago. The bar of very light covering should be used steel, forming the point, and which until Christmas. After that the covering should be increased to about one foot in thickness. Celery when green will stand a light freeze, but the same freeze would destroy bleached celery.-Rura New Yorker.

AUTOMATIC WATERING.

A Simple Device for a Self-Regulating Watering Trough. E. C. Bennett, Tripoli, Ia., sends Orange Judd Farmer the device illustrated herewith, and writes: It is made by boring a hole in the bottom of a barrel and tacking a valve similar to a pump valve (a) over the hole. This valve is easily made from a piece of leather and a bit of wood. If it floats weight it down or arrange a spring to hold it down. A light spout (b) conveys the water from the barrel to the water trough. This spout is balanced at b so always supplies fresh water as needed,

AUTOMATIC WATERING DEVICE.

It is better to keep the cow healthy could throw it out with shovels. by good feeding than by medicine.

DITCHING PLOWS

An Easier and Cheaper Method Than

Digging by Hand. In answer to inquiry of the owner of moderate farm for some easier ant cheaper way for digging ditches than doing the work by hand, we may, says the Country Gentleman, give the statement of our own experience with the hard as to require the use of the pick for loosening it before shoveling out the loosened earth. Where the soil is except in the arrangement for allowing the point to run to a depth of three or four feet while the beam and handles of the plow remained at the surface. Fig. 1 represents this plow, the dotted lines showing the position of the beam as it gradually rises to allow the cutting point to run correspondingly row of plants, lifting them from the ground. Most of the green leaves are by two horses on opposite sides of the each name the date of the receipt of the ditch, attached to the ends of a whiffletree six or seven feet long. Passing two or three times, three or four inches tubs, such as iron-bound hogsheads seven or eight men vould throw out by hand, and where there were several time, the team could prepare several hours' work for the shovelers in adcost of cutting ditches wholly by hand was thirty cents a rod, at a depth of through the lower stock or base of the root.

cents a rod with the use of this plow, aided by the hand-shovelers.

The pitting of celery is rarely com-general until November 1 and is fin-figured and described in the Country Gentleman in 1883, was invented and ty, N. Y., of which this accompanying figure (Fig. 2) is a copy. Its operation of steel; the rest of the plow of bars of each was welded on the steel which forms the point, with a space of threebeam drew, and serving as a pivot for the depth of the ditch. This is shown particulars of its construction at the was nearly square, weighed about two pounds, on which the side bars were welded at a slant. They were about four feet long, and the wooden handles were bolted to them, making eight feet from the steel point to the ends of the handles. These gave a sufficient lever age for the plowman to hold it steadily at the right depth. The plow was one and three-quarters inches wide, and a good team would draw it through a hard subsoil full of stones. By lengthening the draft-chain, it could go three feet deep. It was used with a long evener the same as Fig. 1, but it was a more powerful and durable implement, and Mr. Du Bois thinks it will last a hundred years. He never had it patented, and sent us the description of it at the time, to prevent any other person obtaining a patent.

Another ditching-plow, working in the same way, is represented in Fig. 3. It was made many years ago at Geneva, N. Y., and was remarkable for its duraas to act a a lever. The float (c), a bility and efficiency. It was invented biece of scantling, is hung to one end of by a man who made ditching his busithe lever by a leather strap; the other ness, but whose name we do not know. end of lever is provided with a peg to lift the valve in the barrel and permit side points, with the main one in the water to flow when the level is lowered | center. These could be made to cut the by the water being drank out of the trough. The trough is about four right width. It was made wholly of inches deep and wide and eighteen iron and steel, and weighed seventy-inches long, including the part containing the float. This device costs com- point was three-fourths of an inch wide, paratively nothing and works as satis-factorily is one costing six dollars. I and a half. The handles and beam use it as a fountain for poultry, and it were fixed, and not rising or falling, the draft-chain regulating the depth. With a good pair of horses, this plow lossened earth as fast as twelve men

BOOKS IN PLENTY.

How a Circulating Library May Be Formed

at Slight Expense. Owen Meridith has remarked upon the possibilities of living without books, but the suggestion is not a pleasant one to contemplate. We do not realize what books do for us until we are deprived of ditching plow, when the subsoil was so them in some way, and then the gapleft In our life shows only too plainly the influence and hold they have upon us. the loosened earth. Where the soil is so soft that it may be freely spaded to a depth of three or four feet, the ditching plow would be of no use; and is seldom that we get all the right kind of the soil is seldom that we get all the right kind of the some day be reduced to ten hours. No new books to read, no new books to ing plow would be of no use; and is seldom that we get all the right kind where the subsoil is entirely free from of books that we want. In a great city stone and the land is quite extensive, there are many ways of procuring sufficient or the large and could be read to the large and the large and could be read to the large and the is seldom that we get all the right kind of books that we want. In a great city there are many ways of procuring sufficient reading matter at a slight cost. Libraries offer great advantages, and the people are quick to avail themselves of their opportunities, as is shown by the growth of such institutions. But in a small town or the country the condition above the expense of hiring all the work done by hand. The line of the ditch was first laid out, and a furrow was run with a common plow and repeated two or three times, as a beginning, and to reduce the whole labor. This was then followed with the ditching plow, which reduce the whole labor. This was then pense, and for those who are unacfollowed with the ditching plow, which quainted with the methods of organizing was similar to a common subsoil plow, such associations this description is given.

The club may be composed of any number from ten persons upward, but the more that join the greater the variety of reading afforded to the members. The sum to be expended may be decided upon by the club, and each member contributes either $1, $2 or $3 or any intermediary sum they agree upon, each one paying the same amount. With the money thus obtained a committee purchases as many volumes as mittee purchases as many volumes as there are members in the club, and a card is printed which is pasted on the inside cover of the books, covering the list of members, with the titles of books. Then the books are distributed to all of the members, each one receiving the each name the date of the receipt of the book is written. It may be the rule to keep each volume two weeks, which gives ample time for all the members of the family to read it, and then it is promptly returned to the treasurer at the expiration of the time set, and the date of the return noted. Then it goes around until every one in tura has received each book, and then lots are drawn, and each member receives ayune. way, for the price of one volume, which they ultimately receive, the members have the use of the entire set of books.

While the books are going the round it. While the books are going the rounds it is very easy to keep track of them, because the names follow in regular order. The books should be covered with brown paper, in order that they may be kept fresh and clean, and it is well to print on the card a slight penalty for keeping the books beyond the prescribed time. There are a number of these clubs in different parts of the country, and they are continually growing. By consulting with each of the members, individual tastes may be considered, and if the majority desire novels, the list may be made up mainly of such books. Allowing each member two weeks' time, a club of ten persons may be kept up for six months, and ten new books placed at their disposal. The expense is trifling, and every one who joins a club will find it a profitable investment.—Harper's Bazar. AN UNIQUE FAN. Covered with Photographs of Poets, Painters and Musicians.

An extremely pretty girl, who is a faithful attendant at the philharmonics in winter and rarely misses a summer concert of any merit, has of late carried a fan that attracts a good deal of attention. It is one of those Japanese affairs with a few slender bamboo sticks, and the paper a rough greenish gray, decorthe owner has transferred a cabinetally mounted, she has neatly pasted it on the fan. Engravings have served SHRINKS from society—the woolen shirt Texas Siftings. Enough to set a man thinking-an idea.

Must have a bang-the cannon. Made to shut up-window blinds.-N. Y Mail and Express. Go to see-transatlantic travelers.

Nor to had in life-a monument. Don't hit back-matches, when struck.-N. Y. Mail and Express.

FANCT work-building castles in the air Ir is good policy to tell the truth, because if you don't you can't expect to be believed when you tell a lie.—Burlington Free Press. Shor-keepens study to please, but there are lots of boys and girls whom it doesn't please to study.—Texas Siftings.

Bill, as he was borrowed for the hundreth time, "to go through life entirely a loan." Some say that a man who would "beat an egg" would be so eruel as to "whip cream," "thrash wheat," or even "lick a postage stamp."

"I THOUGHT many a time when I need to go to see my firl she was sweet enough to eat." "And why didn't you cut her?" "She soured on me."—Philadeiphia Times.

ALMANAC—"You seem to be pretty far gone." Calendar—"Yes. I fear my days are numbered I think I had better turn over a new leaf the first of the month."

Young Mrs. Tocker says she truly be lieves that Charley has gone into the lum ber business without telling her a word about it, because he is constantly talking in his sleep about buying chips.—Washington Post.

Home Seekers Excursions

Will leave Chicago and Milwaukee via the CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & St. PAUL RAILWAL for points in Northern Iowa, Minnesota, South and North Dakota, (including the Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota), Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska, Sept. 9th and 23d and Oct. 14th, 1890. Halfrate Excursion Teckets good for return passage within 30 days from date of sale.

For further information, circulars showing rates of fare, maps, etc., address A. V. H. CARPENTER. General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis.

PEACH COBBLER.—Line a dripping pan with paste; fill with fruit, sugar and flour in correct proportion; make fast the cover and bake one hour.

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chi-cago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y.

Figures can't lie, but lies figure quite extensively in almost all statistical articles —Boston Transcript

A soap that is soft is full of water, half or two-thirds its weight probably, thus you pay seven or eight cents per pound for water. Dobbins' Electric Soap is all soap and no adulteration, therefore the cheapest and best. Try Dobbins'.

There is said to be little doubt in England that Sir Edwin Arnold will be the next laureate. WILL be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this feet. Try them.

It is blow for blow when the backers others in the profession meet with fee-nom

Neven fail to cure sick headache, often the very first dose. This is what is said by all who try Carter's Little Liver Pills. NATURE has wisely arranged matters so that a man can neither put his own back nor kick himself. QUINING does not come from Chili, but seems like it ought to.—Washington Star.

of confidence in it—the manuated in black characters. On each panel facturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's a faith sized photograph of one of the great composers. First removing the picture that means business, too—it's from the card on which it was origin- backed up by money. This is what they offer: $500 rewhen photos were unobtainable, and, using both sides of the fan, she has found space for founteen portraits.

Some deft pen-and-ink work has answered to frame the head, and below each one is a bar of music from the author's greatest work and executed with the project of the specific project of the fan the fan the fact of the fan the thor's greatest work, and executed with medicine. By its mild, soothso much finish that a genuine little treasure is the result. The same young ing, cleansing and healing woman is also as much an enthusiast regarding painters, poets and actors as where the artof music is concerned. She fect and permanent cures of tells of three other fans in her posses-sion treated in like manner. One has photographs of Tennyson, Browning, Longfellow and Bryant, with etchings it every day, where everything Appropriate the fruit season, it may be noted that the down of the peach is different from that of the banana peel.

Revery day, where everything else has failed. No matter how bad your case, or of how Keel over-sloops in a gale.-N. Y. Mail long standing, yo'l can be cured. You're sure of thator of $500. You can't have both, but you'll have one or the other.

IMPORTANT NEW DISCOVERY. THE BEST COAD for the Skin

A perfectly pure and neutral seap combining the EMOLLIENT and HEALING properties of VASELINE. If your druggist does not keep it, FORWARD 10 CENTS IN STAMPS, and we WILL FORWARD 10 CENTS IN STAMPS, SEND a YUL SIZED CAKE BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID. "It's awfully hard," sa'd the Five Dollar CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING CO.,

IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX. For BILIOUS & NERVOUS DISORDERS SUCH

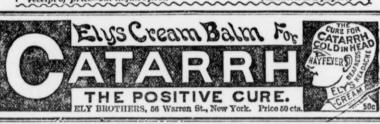

Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Constipation, Disordered Liver, etc., ACTING LIKE MAGIC on the vital organs, strengthening the muscular system, and arousing with the rosebud of health The Whole Physical Energy of the Human Frame, Beecham's Pills, taken as directed, will quickly RESTORE FEMALES to complete health.

SOLD BY ALL DRUCGISTS. Price, 25 cents per Box.

Prepared only by THOS. BEECHAM, St. Helens, Lancashire, England.

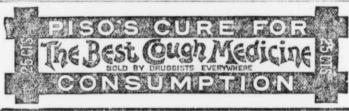

B. F. Allen Co., Sole Agents for United States, 365 & 367 Canal St., New York, who (if your druggist does not keep them) will mail Beecham's Pills or receipt of price—but inquire first.

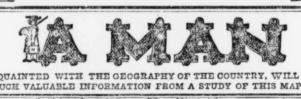

(Mention this paper.)

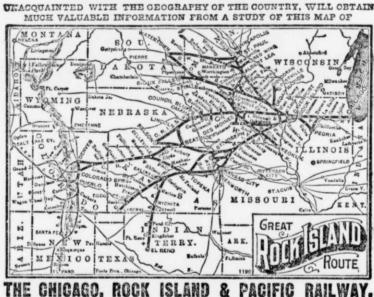

"Say aye"No, and ye'll ne'er be married" to use SAPOLIO: It is a solid cake of scouring soap. used for cleaning purposes

I asked a maid if she would wed, 'And in my home her brightness shed; She faintly smiled and murmured low, "If I can have SAPOLIO."

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Den Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sicux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS. Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLJFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CLAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns cities and sections in Southern Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraelta, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dako's.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to the Standard Chairman Line Chairman Lines and Canada and Caracal Eluffs. Standard Chairman Lines and Canada and Lafavetta and Canada Eluffs. Standard Lines and Canada and Lafavetta and Canada Eluffs. travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tickers, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent. E. ST. JOHN,

BIRCHER ON ENSEMBLY

PATENTED AUG. 16, 1887, IMPROVED JULY 30, 1889,
DR. OWEN'S ELECTROCALVANIC GOD Y BELT AND SUSPENSORY will cure All Rheumatic Compliants. Lumbago, General
ind Kervous Debility,
Cure All Rheumatic Compliants. Lumbago, General
ind Kervous Debility, Diseases, Retwouness, Trem ling, Sexual Exhaustion, Wasting of Youth Ago, For Married or Fingle Life
Cysinst To RESPONSERE PARTIES ON RO DAYS TRIAL
INV A PAIR OF ELECTRIC INSOLES SET FREE PAIR.
Also an Electric Trues and Belt Combined.
Send s. postage for respellations of the Combined of an Electric Truss and Belt Combined.
postage for ram Hust'd book, 224 pages, which will be OWEN ELECTRIC BELT & APPLIANCE CO. 306 North Broadway, ST. LOUIS, MO. 826 Broadway, NEW YORK CITY.

General Managor.

TIFFIN, - OHIO. -OF'THE-WEST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST. PALMS' BUSINESS COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa

MONEY!

A. N. K. -C. UNION COLLEGE of LAW. Chicago, Pall Term be he goes, plowing up the dust, to be few months yet.' tramped by the myriad hoofs that "'And why not?' says I. come thundering after. Right and "Because,' says he, 'I have a more left our horsemen dash, their cheers pressing liability.' and rallying shouts ringing with "More pressing than a board twenty-five dollars right off quick, to their carbines on the breeze. Out to bill?' says I. sarcastically. the south and west their comrades are ''Yes, a good deal,' says he. 'I'm "rounding up" the great herds of buying a pair of shoes on the install- game," startled ponies.

pursued by the troopers of the left says he, tapping his vest pocket. the straggling township fierce hand- give that coin to me on account, or to-hand fights are going on, but most I'll sell you up." of the Indians who are unable to escape throw down their arms and beg for quarter. Squaws and children sweeping my arm in a comprehenare driven together in the center of sive way around the studio. the village, and while the fleeing warmade for the captive women.

tell her dreadful story. But Tall something. Bull and fifty of his braves have paid "'Excuse me,' says he, standing the penalty with their lives, and the back and regarding his picture with richest yillage on the plains is ours.

The Baltimore American says in lations with my trades people.' its usual forcible way, as follows of "I was faint when I got down into the present members of Congress in the street." Maryland:

The congressional nominations of both parties are now before the pub- tells this story to the Chicago Jour- time is over and I let my fail whislic, and it is possible to institute nal: comparisons. The generally accepted opinion has been in the past, and we welfare of their country — that began to look about for diversion. South is to see the look are the first to and advance the general interests of Close by the side of the track, oppointerests of the community represented by them. If this be adopted ing crop. A tall, gaunt boy of about as a criterion by which to judge of their services, we think that the Republican party in this State has no reason to be ashamed of its standard bearers. Taking the record of the present Congress, the State is represented by three Republicans, Messrs. McComas, Stockbridge, and Mudd, who have probably done the best they knew how to further both national and local interests; but what have they accomplished? Mr. McComas' reputation is now national. He is regarded as one of the leaders of the House, and he has been mainly instrumental in securing protection for Maryland induswherever they needed it. No intelligent citizen will question his usefulness, or the assertion that no yellow, isn't it?" member of Congress in recent years has reflected more credit on his native State. Messrs, Stockbridge and Mudd have never been in Congress before this session, and are on the Stockbridge, in a quiet, unobstrusive fashion, appears to have gained the confidence of the House, and through his exertions the steamers sailing from this port have been relieved planted it on the shares." of one of their most oppressive and needless burdens. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to improve the shipping laws, and if the bill classfying the local inspectors of steam vessels is passed at this session, beautifully. On one of the hot days it will be due to his energy and persistency.

The Grounds at Chautauqua. Chautaugua is a village of tents and houses, Swiss chalets and board shanties, "halls," a hotel and an amphitheatre which is a strange looking place when empty and a remarkable spectacle when filled, It is on a side hill, which has been excavated to form a hollow, which is lined with closely set tiers of benches, separated by paths which converge and slope down to the platform below the organ loft. The sides are open. The roof, which rises toward the center, is a perfect sounding board. The amphitheatre will seat about seyen thousand persons. Its acoustics are admirable. When there is any entertainment in prospect people go there hours before the time appointed in order to secure seats. Men take or work to while away the time of for duplicates, sir," said this man books and papers and women read waiting, Those who arrive late and brother. form part of the crowd, sometimes eight or ten deep, standing around outside under the projecting roof, which forms a shelter.-Chautauqua derivation of the work "restaurant" Hungry Boy-"Res, a thing; taurus, a bull-a bully thing."-Philadel phia Society.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS A Tough Customer.

"I struck the hardest game of my braves come slashing their way out landscapes and portraits - and you pened. of the lodges, while others, after one see his name all covered with taffy startled, terrified glance at the com- in the newspapers week in and week

In the very center of the village velvet smoking cap onto the back of to be sold to pay the railroad charges. the warning herder and foremost his head, while he looked lazily at 1'm allus on the lookout for bargains troopers meet face to face and down the bill, 'but I can't pay this for a and went,"

ment plan and the second shoe is to Down a winding ravine to the east be delivered to-day if I can make a scores of Indians are scurrying away, partial payment. The coin's here,' flank company. Here and there in "All right,' says I, 'but you just

> " 'Sell what up?' says he. ". Why, these here pictures, 'says I,

"'These pictures?' says he. 'Al riors are followed and fought by doz right, my boy, go ahead, If you can ens of the soldiery, quick search is sell them I'll be much obliged to you. It's more'n I can co.'

the Indians have striven to revenge went on painting as tranquil as a dusted out of sight like a rabbit a their bitter loss. One poor victim is summer day. I admired him and 'gittin' for home ahead of sixteen shot dead. The other till lives to asked him out to have a drop of car dogs."

> one eye closed, but not even glancing had his head propped up and the at me; 'I never nave any secial re- other was askin' him what sort of a

On the way to Jacksonville our imagine still is among patriotic citi- train stopped for a long time at a litzens sincerely desirous of the tle station hear the woods and we the nation first, and next the public site the station, was a patch of corn, an exceedingly thin and sickly looksixteen years was lazily hoeing and weed ng between the rows.

"Look at that wretched crop!" said a Northerner; "dirty seed, poor soil, baking sun, hoe culture, not even a plow to stir the soil deeply. and tree Democrats, Messrs. Gib. or a cultivator to weed it quickly and son, Rusk and Stump. The entire often. The weeds will have choked six are esteemed as reputable citizens the southern half of the crop before that lazy fellow gets the north end cleared. Boy !" he called. "Young fellow! It seems to me your corn is rather small, isn't it ?"

The boy looked at him for a moment, and then replied: "Yes, mister; pop planted the small kind." "Oh, is that so! But it's rather

"It is, mister," said the boy, "Pop planted the yellow kind."

"Well," said the Northerner, rather testily, as some one tittered, same footing with Mr. Stump. Mr. "it's evident that you won't get more than half a crop."

"You're right, mister," drawled the bov; "just half a crop. Pop

Diplomacy of Waiters.

My waiter knows as much English as I do German, and so we get on when he came for my order, I wearily said: "I will stick to beef." "Stickterbef; vot vas dot? We don't haf some dose stickterbef," said this steady and stolid son of Germany. He knew "rosbef" and "befsteak" but "stickterbef" was too much for him, A negro waiter will never acknowledge that he does not know the thing you ask for, nor that they do not keep the article, but he will always lie out of it in some way. ers, and I gave my order, whereupon ride a bicycle a mile inside of one the doctor ejaculated: "Duplicate hour. Heilborn accomplished the for me," and continued his talk.

the man of color. "Duplicate for me," said the doctor, impatiently.

"We have no duplicate to-day, sir. Wednesday is our regular day

The doctor laughed until I was ashamed of him .- Portland Argus.

In Peoria, Ill., on the very lot where Colonel Ingersoll once lived, and where he wrote some of his infi-Teacher in Etymology-"Give the dal lectures, a Y. M. C. A. building worth $125,000 is going up.

> "Mr. Green Red, my husband done say you had defuncted him from you' political club. He want know what you mean by 'defuncted' " "You tell you' husban' he ain't liable to sible or the ladies' tollet understan', for de word am strictly parliamentary."-Harper's Bazar.

A Sort of Accident.

A man who was in the waiting Heavens! what a wild thrill of ex- life to-day," said the agent of a very rooms of the Erie depot, across the ultation there comes with it all, successful collecting firm to the San river, the other day, came across a Bang, bang, crack, crack, go rifle Francisco Examiner. "I tackled my farmer looking man who was nursand revolver. Thundergo the hoofs. man for twenty dollars that he owes ing two or three skinned knuckles, With shrick and yell squaw and a restaurant. He's an artist-paints and inquired if an accident had hap-

"Sort o' accident," was the reply. "I was sittin' here about half an hour ago when a young fellow came shelter and burrow under robe or "'I'm sorry,' says he, stopping his along and wanted me to go and look work on his picture and pushing his at a trunk full of clothes which was

"Yes." "He rambled me up the street about a block, and we met another feller, who said he had got to have save some machinery from being sold. With that I dropped to the "Confidence." "Exactly. I kinder looked lamb, perform their duty in the prolike, however, and when number one said I could perhaps loan number two the rhino, and take a check for a hundred dollars on the bank. I reached down in my pocket, and 10 get the spondulicks."

"I see." "But I didn't git it. I scraped to gether a handful of fine dry-cut terbacker, shet my fist up tight and when I pulled it out I swung for No. 2's nose and landed like a ton of brick. He went on tumbling into the mud Alas! True to their savage custom "With that he lighted his pipe and and I turned on No. 1. He had slid-

"Lyin right there yit onless the police have taken him away. When I left five minutes ago, one of them wagon run over him and he was sayin' that he wanted to be taken home to his anxious mother. I sort o'calkerlate them two won't bother me CHANGE OF VOTING PLACE. A traveller in the Southern States agin-not until after the plantin' kers grow,"-New York Sun.

> Gwine to the Pos' Offica. One of the oddest sights in the call in the morning and the last to leave at night, and it is by no means rare to have them inquire for mail tion. ten or fifteen times a day. I was in the office at Marrietta, Ga,, when an aged darkey limped in and inquired: "Am dar fo'or five tetters heah, for Junebroke Duke?" "No, sir," replied the postmaster, after taking a look.

"Well, den, I'll take one." "There are no letters for you," "Isn't dar a newspaper ?"

"No." "Hasn't I dun got nutfin' 'tall?" "Not a thing."

"Dat's curus-werry curus," muttered the man as he walked out.

the letter ?" "Deed I did, sah. I 'spected dat letter might hab $20 into it." "Who from ?"

"I dunno, but I 'spected it." He then told me that he could neither read nor write, had no friend to write to him, had never mailed a letter nor received one in his life, and yet he had inquired for mail at least five hundred times a year for the past ten years. In fact it wasn't an hour after I left him before he circled around to the office again and said: "I reckon I mus' hab some mail by dis time." "No-nothing for you." "Well if dat hain't curus-werry curus! Reckon I'd better wait fur dat one o'clock train."

At Lake Pearl, Mass., last Mon. Some years ago the learned Dr. day, A. H. Heitborn and Thomas Thompson and I went into an eating Richards made an attempt to swim house where there were negro wait- a mile, run a mile, walk a mile and feat in 54 minutes 9 3 5 seconds, and "What am dat you say, sir?" asked Richards in 54 minutes 15 seconds.

including a kennell of doge,

"He has pried, but is not proud," said a burglar as his pal failed to oepn a safe with a Jimmy.

If You Have a Trifling Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic Cholera Morbus, &c., use Specific Liniment. Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgiss' DrugStore, and Country Stores.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mitchell's Kidney Piasters Absorb all disease in the Kidneys and restore them to a healthy condition. Old chronic kidney sufferers say they got no relief until they tried

MITCHELL'S KIDNEY PLASTERS.
Sold by Drugglsts everywhere, or sent by mail for 50c Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given. That the undersigned, appointed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, to view the lands through which the proposed road shall be located, for whi: Beginning at a point on the county road leading from Mt. Lake Park to Mrs. Wonderley's, about the centre of military lot No. 917, and running thence by the most direct route practicable to the line of lot 881; thence along the line of the said lot to the dividing line of Lots 95 and 149, along the old road lence; thence along the division line between lots 921 and 972, and thence by the most direct route to the Giade Valley School House and church, to connect with the road from Oakland to Gorman, and examine whether the said road should be opened, will meet on the 21th day of October, 1790, for such burpose, and to determine whether the public convenience requires the said opening of said road, and if so, to locate the same, and perform their duty in the premises. JOHN HARNED,

FOR SALE.

NORMAN BARNARD.

I have for sale 10 Cotswool ewe lambs, two I have for sale 10 Cotswool ewe lambs, two yoke Oxen, well broken, one sorrell Horse, 7 years old, 2 bay mares, 6 and 10 years old, one suckling cold, one Holstela bull, 3 years old, 3beef cattle. I will also sell my land of one hundred acres lying 4 miles southwest of Oak land, said land is nearly all under fence. Olchard, good water. Excellent fille. Apply to J. H. SANDERS. 30 tf

New Voting Place.

OFFICE OF THE
GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD., Sept. Edb. 1800. a session of the Board held Sept, the following order was passed, to-wit: O (DERED. By the County Commissioners of Garactt County, this lith day of September A. B., 1899. That the regular voting place in the new Election District Number Twelve or Garrett County, Md., be und the same is hereby established at Bittinger's Cooper Shop, at Bittinger, in said county. [SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNSON, President

Test: J. B. Fay, Clerk,

GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OARLAND, MD , Sept, 13th, 1890.

ORDERED, By the County Commissio

[SEAL] THOMAS J. JOHNSON, President, Test: J. B. FAY, Clerk.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fleri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for Garrett County at the suit of William A. Coddington against Winteled Scott Friend, it being No. 15 Judicials to the september term, 1880, of said Court, the undersigned Sheriff did seize and levy upon all the right, sittle, interest and estate both at law and in equity of the said defendant in and to all that HOUSE AND PREMISES situated in the village of Selbysport, fairrett County, Maryland, and which is now occupied by said defendant and i-is family and described as follows, it being all that lot of ground containing about one half of an acre, improved by a

I followed after and when I asked Two Story Dwelling House, him if he expected an important letter that day, he replied:

"Sartin I does. Dat's why I'ze walked fo' miles dis mawning."
"Where was the letter coming from ?"
"I dunno."
"Did you expect news or money in

On SATURDAY, the 11 Day of OCTOBER, 1890,

at the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day in front of the Taggart Hotel in the town of Oakland, I will offer the aforesaid property at Public Auction to the highest bidder for cush on the day of sale to satisfy the aforesaid exe-cution and costs. TERMS OF SALE-Cash. EDWARD N. CASTEEL, 30-td Sheriff of Garrett Co. Estate of John O. Layman, Deceased.

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the sub-scriber, of Garrett county, hath obtained from the Orphans' Court of Garrett county, in Maryland, Letters of Administration the personal estate of JOHN O. LAYMAN,

JOHN O. LAYMAN, of Garrett county, Md., dec'd. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warred to exhibit the same with the vouchers thereof legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 1st day of April next; they may otherwise by law
be excluded from all benefit of said estate.
G'ven under my hand this 18th day of September, 1890.

WILLIAM'S, LAYMAN, Adm'r,
32—3*
Gormania, W. Va,

EXAMINATIONS AND PUBLIC MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE
BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD, Sept. 23rd, 1890, Feat in 54 minutes 9 3.5 seconds, and Richards in 54 minutes 15 seconds.

James M. Turner, whom the Republicans of Michigan have nominated for Governor, is several times a millionaire and yet a farmer. He lives on a 2.000 acre farm near Lansing, runs a diary of 3,000 cows and has a large quantity of fancy stock, including a kennell of dogs.

WM. HINEBAUGH, Secretary.

Estate of Joseph B. Davis, Deceased. THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE—That the sub-scriber, of Garrett county, Md., hatt

late of Garrett county, deceased. All person having claims against the deceased are here by warned to exhibit the same, with the von by warned to exhibit the same, with the voice of the subscriber, on or before the 1st day of April next; they may otherwise by larbe excluded from all benefit of said estate Given under my hand this 23rd day of Sectember, 1389.

JOHN M. DAVIS,Executor.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

D. ELMER WOLF. Hagerstown, Md.

> SNOWY CREEK MILLS, (Owned and operated by Wm. A. Loraw.)

ALL KINDS OF

LUMBER, SHINGLES, LATH AND PALINGS. GRIST MILLING A SPECIALTY. Orders for Lumber and anything in my line

WM. A. LORAW. 25 1 vr E.M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN MEW FIRM.

Spedden & Blden, CONTRACTORS

AND BUILDERS, OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the crection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! WEDDING

THE REPUBLICAN is prepared to print at short notice Wedding Invita-tions, in the latest and most artistic designs, at prices that dely competi-tion, Call and learn prices before placing your order elsewhere.

JOB PRINTING DONE AT SHOR MOTICE.

PROGRAMMES,

CIRCULARS, CARDS.

STATEMENTS, LETTER AND

BILL HEADS of all kinds kept con-stantly on hand and printed in the test and latest styles. We make a specialty of printing and padding note, letter and bull beads.

promptly attended to

PRINTED IN AN ATTRCTIVE MANNER

REPUBLICAN JOB OFFICE. A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each pole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.
These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.
For further information apply to. For further information apply to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

Orop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ringe, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia. Pa

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WOLF'S BUSINESS INSTITUTE' B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST 6-Accommodation... 46.... 72—Accommodation ... GOING WEST. ommodation

15—Accommodation

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 to WM. M. CLEMENTS,

Manager. C. K. LORD,

General Passenger Agent. THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier.

FarPrompt attention to collections, 112'89,

Registration Ntice. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

SITTINGS, 1890, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN. That the undersigned officers of Registration of Votes in and for their respective Election Districts of Garrett County, will sit in their respective election Districts in said County, at the places hereinafter named, for three successive days in the month of September, commencing with and including the third Monday of September, that is to say, on the

15th, 16th and 17th Days of

SEPTEMBER. and for four successive days in the month of October, commencing with and including the first Monday of October, that is to say, on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER, in the year 1899, from the hour of 8 o'clock arm, until 8 o'clock p.m. on each of said days for the purpose of ascertaining and registering in the proper registries of voters the persons qualified to vote in their respective Election Districts who shall present themselves for registration, and for the further purpose of revising and correcting the registries of voters of their said respective Election Districts, and the striking therefrom the names of all voters entured therein who shall have died or become for any reason disqualified, or who for any cause shall have ceased to be entitled to remain on said registries of voters.

And on the Monday next succeeding the

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER.

in said year 1890, from the hour of 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p. m., on said day, the said officers of registration will sit in their respective Election Districts, for the revision of and for the hearing of applications for re-instatement by persons whose names shail have been stricken off the registric of voters for said Election Districts in said county, as provided in Article 25, Sections 1 to 29 B, of the code of Public General Laws of Maryland, title "Election," sub-title "Registration of Voters," as amended by chapter 575 of the acts of 1890.

The places of sitting of each of said Officers of Registration in their respective Election Districts on the days named and hours stated is as follows, to wit: n said year 1890, from the hour of 8 o'clock a

Election District No. 1, at Swanton, 2, at his residence Sep-tember sitting and in October at store of L. E., Friend, at Friendsville. 3, at Grantsville. 4. Sept. 15 at Franklin-Mines, all other days at Bloomington. Bloomington.
5, at Accident.
6, at Sang Run.
7, at Oakland.
8, September at Elkins.
October at Red House.

October at Red Ho
9, at Johnsons.
10, at Deer Park.
11, at Gregg's Mill.
12, at Biddinger. All naturalized citizens applying for regis-tration will be required to produce their cer-tificates of naturalization to the Officers of

H. O. HAMILL. Officer of Registration 1st Election District, R. E. FRIEND, Officer of Registration 2d Election District. ISAIAH FULLER, Officer of Registration 3d Election District. JOHN COLLINS, Officer of Registration 4th Election District,

HENRY F. LININGER, N. C. BROWNING,
Officer of Registration 6th Election District. P. A. CHISHOLM, Officer of Registration 7th Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District. SAMUEL JOHNSON, Officer of Registration 9th Election District. SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH, Officer of Registration 10th Election District. Officer of Registration 1th Election District.

JOSEPH BUCKLE.
Officer of Registration 12th Election District ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all LINIMENT FEMOVES All LINIMENT FEMOVES All Liard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known. ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

J. F. LEWIS.

-MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a BHINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the State for the same price. J. F. LEWIS.

3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD.,

II, OCTOBER 10, 1890.

NUMBER 34.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. _220 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. Office on ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing uvestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. 1e14-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACER) Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, A gany and the Court of Appeals Also in Joining counties of West Va.

27 Special attention given to Investigat of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collect of Claims, including claims egainst Instates. Real estate bought.

WARING THOMAS. EWD. H. SINCELI THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryand, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia.

F. W. VELICH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND. SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County, Mb. will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Lat Office in the Court House.
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER. ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md. DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa.,

Will visit regularly through Garrett county Md., and offers his services to those wishing Id., and offers his services to those wishin bental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 622 6m DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEOGER BUILDING. 54" Residence at Commercial House. Sept. 2, 1885.—42

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

OAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity. 5 5 88 AF Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church,

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to creaning and siling the natural teeth.

lling the natural teeth.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
v3 n48 Dr. I. D. Newman. QAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Callsday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Offers his professional services to the people of Oak land and vicinity.

37 Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church.

tf 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

E. F. STANSBERRY. Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promitly done. Nov. 21, 85.— y.

FARM FOR SALE!

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bearing. For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas-mable rates.

Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State and asyst roughle in case of first. State, and save trouble in case of fire.
The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. 3 15 tf F. A. THAYER.

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

PLANING

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in ash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds Window and Door Frames, Bracets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters Mewels, Weatherboard-Flooring, Ceiling, Picks and Palings.

Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acres I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river, This is a very destrable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 tect and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings, Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 15 % FOR SALE.

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, and, near the Yough River. The Improve-hepts counted of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary oatbuilding; wenty acres upder cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place.
For terms and further information, apply

THOMAS & SINCELL, 12 8 5m events, and Trade Marks obtained, and al ttent business conducted for MODERATE OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OUR OFFICE, INDICES, and Dus-iness direct, hence can transact patent busi-ness in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-scription. Wa advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

ecured.
A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with ref-rences to actual clients in your State, coun-y, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO.,

Office 30 Bultimore Street.

JONAS E. GNAGEY,

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material.

Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-ment of Coffins, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance. It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices work at reasonable prices.

Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

43 Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1800. 6 21 iy.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c. &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park. der fence. Situated abou Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT,

NEW ADVERTISEMENT

Wolff SAGM EBlacking not injure your shoes, but make them look unsightly until cleaned. To prevent chase follow directions,

Aid in Drug, Point and House Paratientag Store Pik-Ren, which WILL STAIN OLD A NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN GLACD AND CHINAWARE WILL STAIN THOWARE WILL STAIN YOUR GLO BARKETS WILL STAIN GARY'S COASH AND WESTERN GRAV'S COASH AND WESTERN G WILL STAIN BABY'S COASH AND COMME.

ACCOUNTE TO A COASH AND COMME.

TRY IT.

WOLFF & BANDOLFE, Philadelphia.

DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in prefer-ence to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarname. It is compounded of Honduras sar-saparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingta, mandrake, yellow dock, and the loddes. The process of man-ufacture is original, skifful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a com-pound extract, obtained by a method ex-clusively our own, of the best and most nowerful alteratives, tonies, and digreties known to marmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

has been the standard blood-purifier of the world-no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formulz is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sar. saparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AVER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle-

VALUABLE STOCK FARM FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oakland, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE,

Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings The improvements of the process of t asked. This is considered to b best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE:

Situated about 21/4 miles south of Oakland containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orehan of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-stor FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.

The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys for owner

THE GRAND OLD PARTY.

IT IS TRUE TO THE FLAG. is was among the declarations which the Republican National Convention of 1888 submitted to the people for their approval: We declare our hostility to the introduction into this country of forour shores.

ests of the whole people. Every important piece of legisla- spoils will be his cash and his politition passed by this House has been cal funeral. Next ?-Frederick Ex-"labor bil ." The e'ection law is I amensely a labor bill, for if the will of the poor and lowly voter-he who

ing the social and industrial reforms | right. they have at heart. Democratic Congresses have set year after year, all of the land. Look at the list:

contract labor. 2. An effective eight-hour law, conwork for all government employes.

3. An adjustment law, enabling claimants under the old eight-hour law to submit their cases to judicial arbitratment.

ernmnt in any of its departments.

WE TAKE it all back. We said the others is not given : some weeks ago that Mayor McKiag, of Cumberland, knew a good thing when he saw it, and hence had declined to be slaughthred as a sacrifice to the Democracy of this District. He has changed his mind, and his

His friends claim for him the presso he is. He is destined to be so completly beaten by McComas, that like unto several other rising and ambi-Western Maryland, he will be qui- philosophers quit talking about their ity.

destiny. But he launched his bark ern blizzards out of the kitchens.

upon the sea of Free Trade, and in a November storm it foundered against the rocky coast along the American shore, protecting the American work ingman from the competition with European pauper labor.

General McKiag has set his little ail upon the same sea. Whether his raft is a Police Sloop of the Oyster Navy, or a Pay Boat from the Canal it is destined to have a rough pas-age. It will have to buffet the tide of popular indignation, resulting from a plundered State Treasury, it will have to pass the Scylla and Charybdis of Protection on the one side and an Honest Ballot on the other, and it will after a tempestuous voyage of about sixweeks, be dismally wrecked against that great Gilraltar of hope to American industry, the McKinly Tariff Bill. This craft will be to eign contract labor and of Chinese la-bor, and favor such immediate legis-because the farmers of Western lation as will exclude such labor from | Maryland will furnish no products to ship to a foreign pauper market if It may fairly be said that the only it means to let our, sown mechanics direct assurance of legislation in ac- starve, and miners in the mountains cordance with wnat may be called will furnish no "free coal" to ballast labor's demands" which the Re- a yessel engaged in piracy against publican party has given, which it their daily labor. He is a reckless became the duty of Congress to pass, seaman who faces a storm without related to the prohibition of cheap ballast, and must expect the inevita and degraded labor. But in perform- ble shipwreck. We are sorry for this ance the Grand Old Party has far ex- gallant Captain of the Democracy ceeded its promises. It does not rec- who goes out to sea against his judgognize the existence of sections and ment, at the command of the bosses classes smong the people, each to be of the ship. No underwriters will coddled and wooed for election pur- place an insurance on such a venture, poses. The Republican party regards and upon his political life no policy the people as a mass, itself of that could be placed at any premium. mass, inspired by that mass, and But the wreckers, along the shore of moved by the will of its intelligent disappointed ambition, who have and pitriotic majority. It has not lured so many bright young men to passedlabor bills as class bills, but as destruction, to be rid of their ambi measures vitarry affecting the inter- tions, will have settled the destiny of another good fellow and their aminer, Look Out for Him. constitutes four-fifths of the people- A slick swindler has been "doing" can be thwarted by an arrogant aris. some of the farmers in lower sections World's Fair. Boston, Lynn, and togracy or an unacrupulous company of the State. He calls at the firmer's Seattle, with their big fires, attracted of political bandits, free government house and salutes the lady this way: no little notice; while Louisvine, is on a gallop to its grave! The lare Good morning, madain. I have with her cyclone, caught the attenif bill and the silver bill, the Bank. met your husband and purchased a tion of the civilized world. While ruptcy Act, the Land-grant forfeit- calf from him. He could not change these events were costly, they reures, the Shipping bills-all these, as this $20 bill and told me to call at the sulted in making better cities of we have seen, are moving toward the house and get $15 change," The good them than heretofore. developement of trade with the re- woman supposing it to be all right sistless force of so many Corliss en. gives him the requisite change and gires. They are all "labor Lills." he departs, saying he will call for too little seed. A farmer in planting But it is also true to say that no the calf in a day or two. When the corn puts a number of grains into House of Representatives that has husband comes in and is told of the each hill, and is satisfied if one good assembled in the National Capitol transaction, he concludes these is healthy stalk comes from each plantsince Washington first set the ma- some mistake; but as he has the $20 ing. It's the constant advertiser chinery of government in motion has bill be concludes he is not out much. that is bound to attract attention. It's done so much as this House in re- But when he undertakes to pass the the succession of bright, catchy adsponse to the appeals of labor organ- bill he discovers it to be a rank coun- vertisements that refuse to be ignored. izations for measures directly affect- terfeit, and then knows that it is not

Last week a constable in an adjoinheedless of the cries of the working- number of summons on parties, as ing township had occasion to serve a men, deaf, dumb and blind to any- witnesses for court. He held one for thing else than their pet sophistry— a young man, a carpenter, whom he Free Trade! Their every effort has found at work on the second-story of been to spread mortgages all over an unfinished building, he called to American farming lands and to fas- him and asked him to come down, ten chains upon American factories. as he had a paper to read to him. In one week of this session the Re- At first the young man parleyed, but publican majority-of course against finally commenced to decend, but Democratic objections and obstruc- said the constable should wait till he tions—has passed no less than five got his coat from the house- But he labor bills, pure and simple-meas- never returned from the house, and ures asked for by the labor societies the last heard from him he was still on the retreat through Maryland. 1. An effective prohibition of ailen If he sees this, he is assured that the officer, only held a summons to have him appear in court as a witness, and stituting eight hours a full day's he might as well return unless he knows of a better cause for staying away .- Meyersdale Commercial.

The Longest Word. 4. A law prohibiting the employ- the columns of the New York Sun lished reputation, Much money is ment of convict labor on Government regarding the longest word in the thrown away in advertising, on the English language. The five words theory that all advertising is good, 5. A law prohibiting the use of the below have been unearthed, and though some kinds are better than product of convict labor by the Gov- certainly take the prize for length. Others, and that therefore, a promis-The first one is found in the diction- cuous policy cannot go far wrong. But aries, but the authority for the use of it stands to reason that business prin-

1. Disproportions 2. Honorificabilitudinily. 3. Disestablishmentarlanism.
4. Unpropreantepentitimaticability,

5. Velocipedestrainistrainarianologist

The colored pressman in a newspaper office at Houston, Ga., claims twenty-one years ago Wednesday of fortunes will accordingly be changed to be well posted on Bible subjects. last week was fought one of the "fif-One of its precepts he renders as foi- teen decisive battles of the world," lows: If your brother smote you on the battle of Arbela, wherein Alextige of never having been beaten, and one side of the jaw, turn the other ander the Great conquered Darius, think him a man of destiny." Well side to be smoted, and the third smote is yourn."

tious young Democratic statesmen of is the time of year when the Kansas etly retired to the shades of obscur- plans for keeping the hot winds out ol the State and begin figuring on Groyer Cleveland was a man of specifications for keeping the northADVERTISING POINTERS.

Fresh Facts for Oakland Business Men. THE REPUBLICAN is a reliable advertising medium.

Visionary advertising is a mistake f you have to pay for it in real money.

No surer "tip" can be given than 'printer's ink" to make your business win in the race for trade.

Let those who wish to succedd, not work so hard; take more notice; see what others do, and try and improve on their ways in past years. Art directs good advertising; energy and enterprise keep it up. For the former, seek an experienced and successful agent; the latter must be supplied by yourself. The securing of advertising by a newspaper on false statements of circulation is a crime under the statute law, subject to all the penarties imposed for procuring money under laise pretenses. A publisher who will rob a business parron in this way can make no yand claim to honesty or truthfulness in any re-

It may be laid down as an axiom for intelligent advertisers, that cuts, if used at all, should contain and convey clearly and artistically some live idea pertinent to the business, or of imely, public interest; and that they should be carefully adapted to the character and circulation of the advertising medium for which the advertisement is designed.

Advertising sometimes comes without special effort, and in such cases is quite costly. For instance; the great fire was a big advertisement for Cuicago, and to-day she has the

Too little advertising is like sow-That the proper time must be allowed for the fruit to grow, ripen and be gathered, is as true as that wheat cannot ripen the day after it is sown.

Advertising is the palladium of. the passing show. Take away the circus poster and what is left of the circus? The advertising is the making of it. The pictured performances is what draws the ordinary yokel from his rural haunts to munch peanuts and drink pink lemonade under the waving canvass. If he does not believe the latest museum female has four heads he goes in to see if she has two. The result of the advertisement is the same whether it is believed or not; it draws the dollars.

There is to be in Detroit a convention of the managers of advertising departments of various extensive business houses. They will agree, we believe, that best paying advertising is done in the regular legiti-A discussion has been going on in mate way in publications of estabciples should be applied to advertising as well as to anything else, and that money spent for advertising should be placed where experience has shown it to do the most good.

Two thousand two hundred and Seven years ago Wednesday of last A Kansas exchange says that this lished in the United States. It ought not to; be seven years mors before we have one-cent postage.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion & Debility,

The Republican.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Ed. and Prop'r. OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

The melancholy days have come, The saddest of the year, When I am forced to face the fact That summer time is dear, Alas! I've not a dollar left, And what have I to show For all my six months' savings That I drew a month ago?

My pretty flannel trousers Are besmirched with grassy green, My blue and white-striped blad Is too dirty to be seen. My tennis cap is faded

To a color without name, And the laundress has reduced my shirts To something like the same

Flowers and ices, drives and bon-bons, Any man is sure to find
Will make his substance vanish
Like the chaff before the wind.
What with dancing and with tennis (Though improbable it sounds I weighed myself to day, and found

I'd lost just twenty poun And seated at my desk, I ask If it is worth it all; In spring I always answer "yes," I'm doubtful in the fall. But though I've found this outing, Like all others, short and dear, ce tells me That I'll do the same next year.

—Cornelia Redmond, in Jury.

DOWN IN TEXAS.

How a Party of Soldiers Were Led on to Death.

scout, and riding mostly be tween Forts McKavett, in Texas. That was during the last outbreak of the Texas Indian, and he got such thrashing that there! his power was broken forever. For the first six months, however he had things pretty much his own way, as the troops in garrison were not strong enough to take the field against him, and some of the posts were even besieged now and then. Our lines of communication had to be kept open, and this duty de volved upon the scouts. Sometimes we rode in twos and threes, but generally it was safest to make the trip alone. In such cases we traveled by night, and depended on dodging the Indians.

was over an open country, broken with dry gullies, as the plains always are but I never took that route. I kept to the west to get the cover of the foothills, and, although this lengthened the Draw sabers! Forward-trot-gallopjourney by fifty miles, I had a show for getting safely through. I had made it three times, when the Indians became so troublesome at McKavett that the commandant at Concho was ordered to re-enforce the garrison from his own weak force. It was decided to send ten men, and a scout named Rogers and my self were to pilot them. The day before herders and were so defiant that we knew they must be in force. Notwithstanding this fact, when we got calling from the rear: ready to go the Lieutenant in charge o the party determined to take the most direct route, which covered a distance of about sixty-five miles. He further planned that we were to ride all nigh and finish the rest of the distance by daylight. The name of this officer was If I remember right he had the war, but had seen no service. After the war he had been transferred to the regulars as a Second Lieutnant. I had scarcely noticed him while in and out of the post, and now when I came to size him up I was greatly disappointed. He knew nothing whatever of Indian warfare, but was very conceited and egotistical. His instructions to us were:

"We will head straight for McKavett by the shortest route, and if we meet any Indians we will ride them down." When Rogers and I were alone he

"Bid everybody a long good-bye be fore you start, for you are going to your death. "You don't like him?"

"His ignorance and conceit will be the destruction of the party."

I felt so, too, but it was no use to argue the matter. Like many other said: fresh officers, Walton looked upon the Indians as cowards, who attacked only lone or defenseless settlers, and who would be overawed by the sight of twelve men riding across the country. By Roger's advice we took extra amevening, and the soldiers made noise more than twenty feet across. enough with the carbines and sabers to when we had crossed the stream and could say, but we meant to give them a had not yet been attacked. "We shan't be attacked to-night," "The reds no doubt had spies around the fort who saw us leave, and they know just where we are going. They'll have time after daylight.'

"BID EVERY ONE A LONG GOOD-BYE."

As the hours went by and we were

'Daylight won't be half an hour old

"Well, I only hope so. I'm aching as our horses climbed out of a deep gully. Rogers said to the officer: Lotenant, hev ye got any pertick-ler plan as to how ye'll fight 'em?" "What do you mean?" "Why, daylight is fast coming. Just is soon as you kin see any thing you'll see redskins, and they'll be ten or

"I don't believe we shall see a living Indian. If we do, we can soon put them to flight." The ground was now more broken with frequent outcroppings of rock, with a gully at the bottom of every ridge. The soldiers could only walk their horses over this ground, and the only preparation the officer made was to wheel them into line and give us front of twelve men. Rogers and I were beside the officer. Daylght came lowly but surely, enabling us to see further and further. And at length, as we rose a ridge, Rogers called out: "Just as 1 told you, Lootenant. See

On the plateau, half a mile beyond us. were about seventy-five Indians on horseback. Rogers knew, and so did I, that the gullies on our right and left held other Indians, and that to go ahead was to ride into a trap. The officer was more of a fool than a coward. As soon as he saw the Indians he gave the command to draw sabers, but Rogers cried out: "Don't do it, Lootenant; it's a trap!

If ye charge that crowd ye'll be done fur in two minutes!" "You mind your own ut vou under arrest!"

"But I tell you it's a trap!" "Now, men, we'll drive right through 'em if they'll only stand long enough! charge!" Rogers and I rode beside him, each with a revolver in hand, but when we had covered half the distance there was a volley fired from the ravine to the eft, quickly followed by one from the right, and men and horses went down in a heap. I twitched on a rein and bore sharp to the right, and in crosswe left Concho the Indians drove in our | ing the gully my horse knocked an Indian down. I had gained the level ground beyond when I heard Rogers "Keep more to the right-to the right!

We want to reach that mass o' rock!' The point designated was about half a mile away, and I saw at once that it was a natural defense. It seemed as if a hundred shots were fired at us as we raced for the spot, and we had scarcely reached it when the Indians swarmed been Major in a colored regiment during about and we had to open fire on them. The spot to which we had retreated is still called "Rogers' Grave," although that is a misnomer. Aside from the natural outeroppings, loose bowlders had been rolled together until there was a circular fort covering a space fifty feet eross. I never knew who made it, but have always believed it was used as a defense by a party of trappers many years before. It was a big jump for our orses, but they cleared the parapet, and a minute later we opened such a hot fire on the Indians as to drive them back. There were, as was afterward known, exactly two hundred and thirteen of them, but we killed three and younded two as we beat them off. As they sullenly retired out of range we had time to think of the soldiers, but before I had asked a question Rogers nomted to a spot half a mile away, and "There are three of the horses. The others are dead in that gully, and every man with them." A little later on we saw eight or ten the redskins riding about with soldiers' hats on, and we were forced to believe that the party had been wiped as your partner? out to the last man, and that without paving struck a blow. It was miraculisten to his word of adlous how we had escaped, but neither girls or their brothers? man nor horse had received a scratch. Luckily, the horses had drank their fill half an hour before, and though there shooting or the hunting, when you are was little in the way of food for them, in the same tales from other people? we knew they could hold out for a ouple of days.

Our first move was to get out our amnunition. Each of us had a Winchester as your right? and two revolvers, and each had breakfast, and seemed to take things to make new ones known to him. of our fort. There was no bowlder Are you your brother's keeper? munition and extra rations, and each of which our united strength could not a way; but you do not keep him by us had an extra canteen of water. We handle, and at the end of an hour we fetters formed of ill-temper, untidiness left the fort about nine o'clock of a July had contracted the circle until it was not and lack of courtesy, but by one made at the same time strengthened and in- by a sisterly love. That is the keeper have warned any Indian a mile away of creased the height of the walls, and that will give you your brother's love what was taking place. We headed now no horse could leap them. How and make you worthy the heart of some straight for Little Concho river, every long the siege would last, or to what other girl's brother, too. - Ladies' Home horse on a gallop, and I was amazed straits we would be brought, no one Journal.

good fight. It was about 10 o'clock when they said Rogers, who was an old Indian moves on us. As was expected they first sent a flag of truce, demanding our surrender and promising us good treatment. When this was refused they began circling our defense and firing upon it. They had no idea of its unmolested, the Lieutenant called our strength, or they would not have wasted attention to the fact that the Indians their powder. The circle kept growing were afraid, and later on he claimed to narrower as they rode, and by and by be disappointed that they would not Rogers and I got in two shots apiecs. and each dropped a warrior off his borie "We've had Injuns riding behind us That broke them up, and they retired for and to the right and left of us ever council. While they were holding a since we started," replied Rogers. confab I slipped over the rocks and sebefore we'll have plenty of business on three dead warriors and got safely tack, hand."

three dead warriors and got safely tack, and now we were ready for their sext sendom been known. and."

"Do you believe they'll dare attack seriors and got safely dock, move. They had concluded on a "urround," and four-fifths of their number scribed as a shrub. Its appearance is scattered on foot and formed attack.

and the line was in some places only a commands its high price in the market. know that Rogers got a flesh wound cured. and his horse was killed, and all of a The imports of coffee in the United fifteen to one. How ar' ye going to sudden the redskins retreated. Two fight'em?"

States in 1821 were 19,186,180 pounds; in warriors had fallen dead inside our defense, and when we came to look about 202 pounds; from 1821 to 1837, 970,000, we found three more outside, and were | 000 pounds. The receipts of coffee at ure the Indians had carried off a num- all ports in the United States in 1887 ber of dead and wounded. For an hour | were nearly $550,000,000 pounds; considafter their defeat the redskins were in erably more in one year than one-half

OGERS AND I GOT TWO SHOTS APIECE. would be We were complimented on our bravery, but told that there was no possible help for us. If we would surrender we would be treated like brave men, but if not they would put us to the torture before sun-We sent the fellow back with a deflance, and half an hour later every Indian mounted his horse. The band divided into four parties, so as to take us on all sides, and it now seemed as if the pinch had come. If they had the grit to charge up they could pour a plunging fire down on us from their saddles. We were as ready as we could be and expecting every moment to hear the signal, when the party on the north suddenly withdrew, and in five minutes was followed by all the others. gathered in a mob, held council for a few minutes, and then the entire gang rode off to the west and were soon out cattle to live on. This spring I was of sight. We suspected a trap, but after waiting until four o'clock and seeing hunts for timber and good land claims), nothing more of them we turned out was a losing game.-N. Y. Sun. A GIRL'S OWN BROTHER. Why He Should Be Treated with Courtesy

"But, he's my own brother."

Is that any reason why you should take his courtesies for granted, and never say "thank you?" Is that any reason why you should not try and make an evening at home pleasant for him, instead of forcing him by your selfishness to seek his happiess somewhere else? Is that any reason why you should not think his opinion of your frocks, your bonnets or your looks worth con-ideration? Is that any reason why you should ap pear before him in a clumsy wrapper and with your hair in papers? Is that any reason why, when have a man visitor, he should be made to feel that you endured your brother when there was nobody else, but that when there was-well, then it was different?

Is that any reason why you should not e glad of a dance or a game with him Is that any reason why you should not listen to his word of advice about other

Is that any reason why you should not be interested in his story of the Is that any reason way you should push him to the wall except when you need him, and then claim his attention

Because he is your very own brother at least two hundred cartridges. After you ought to be ten-fold more considthe first rush the Indians drew off in a erate of him than of the brothers of growd half a mile away, leaving a few other girls. Because he is your very entinels to watch us. They robbed the own brother you ought to study his dead, and perhaps tortured some poor tastes and cater to them; read the books wretch who had a spark of life left. that he likes and suggest others to him. They also built fires and cooked study the songs he fancies and be glad as easy as if our capture was a sure this way you will make your brother Seeing them thus employed, we your very own, and to him "sister" will set to work to contract the dimensions be the most delightful among girls, We had of every feminine grace and brightened

THE WOHLD'S COFFEE.

Where It Comes From and What It Is Worth in Cold Cash Of the vast quantity of coffee supplied to the United States something like two-thirds of the whole comes from Brazil, which country, it might be mentioned, produces considerably more than one-half of the world's total supply of that article.

Not long since Ceylon was the third coffee country in the world, and promised to be second, but the crop in that country has fallen off from 988,328 hundred weight in the season of 1874-75 to 150,000 hundred weight in the season of cured the rifles and ammunition of the 1887-88. Such a sudden and almost com-scattered on foot and formed a cirle. graceful and attractive, and under favor-Then they advanced by creeping and able circumstances it will attain a crawling and taking advantage of sach height of from fifteen to twenty feet. All night long, with only an occasional halt of five or ten minutes for the horses to blow or quench their thirst at a pond hole, we rode over the rough and sterile ground, and three different times during the night I was sure that I heard our enemies close at hand. Half an hour before daylight, We were under fire for a full bur, though inferior in size and appearance, pistol-shot away, when the sign was brazilian coffee stands in value much finally given. I never could recall just below even the native Ceylon and East what took place. I know that some of India coffees, because of the fact of them gained the top of the rocks, and I being carelessly grown, gathered and ouncil and out of range. Then another of the imports of the sixteen years between 1821 and 1837.

We give below some interesting figres of the world's production and consumption of coffee.

The world's present production of	COI-fee:
Ti	stat
	duct.
	ms.
Brazil4	on one
Java and Sumatra.	60,000
	9,400
India.
Central America and Mexico	80,000
	50,000
Venezuela, Columbia, Peru, Bolivia and	50,000
	13,000
	35,000
Remainder of West Indes (Jamaica, etc.).	7,500 Arabia, Madagascar, Abyssinia and 35,000
Liberia and west coast of Africa	19,500
Philippines (Manija), Celebras and rest of Eastern Archipelago	11,000
Sandwich and rest of Pacific Isles	1,200
Natal	1:0
***************************************

The value of the world's production of coffee say 17,000,000 hundred weight, about $266,000,000 in the wholesale markets.

The world's consumption of coffee:  Europe	to secure you this privilege, and not make the mistake of working too hard to amuse you, and so absorb every moment of your visit into her idea of what is pleasure for you.  No greater compliment is possible than the quiet acceptance of your presence in the intimacy of family life.—A.  R. Ramsey, in Youth's Companion.
Total	WITH TAIL IN AIR.

A PANTHER FIGHT.

The Fur Often Flies Until One or Both of the Combatants Dies,

I have often wondered what hindered the cougars from being very plentiful. They are monarchs of the woods, and are very shy, with plenty of game and who had followed the business for the and headed for the fort and reached it last twenty years in Oregon and this had withdrawn because they knew it ries only a blanket and a small axe. He related that one night when he was dark he heard a cougar scream on ridge. They kept working toward the head, until finally they came together some three hundred yards above him in some quaking aspen; and such a row and racket as they made he had never heard before. They rolled down within one hundred yards of him; and he says that he was pretty well scared; but he kept up a big fire and stayed behind that. They quieted down in a couple of hours, and the next morning, when it was light enough, he went on to the battle ground. He found one of which is as proud of its caudal append-them lying there dead, all cut and torn age, especially in summer time, as a It was a very large one. to pieces. Four days afterwards, as he was coming back the same way, some five hundred yards from where he had found the first one he had stumbled upon the other one, dead. This, too, was all cut and torn as the first had been. At another time, in Oregon, he heard a big fight going on, but did not go to see the re-He was stopping one night with sults. an old Indian, who had hunted and trapped all his life, and was telling him about the fight, when the Indian said that that was the way when two old males met; one or the other was killed. and very often both; and that whenever the male would find the young ones and the mother absent he would kill the last one of them, but if the mother were with them she would keep him off. That must be the reason that the mother all the cat kind will kill their young. domestic cat .- Forest and Stream.

A Lover's Description.

Miss Mugg-I don't see how it is your sister failed to find me at the station. You said you would describe me to her. Infatuated Lover (who sees a good leal more in Miss Mugg than other folks can)-Yes, I told her to look for a beautiful girl, with the face of a Madonna, and the form of a sylph. It's queer she missed you.-N. Y. Weekly.

Not Even a Plot. "Who is the here in that novel?" "Hero? There is a prig, a dude, minister and a fool, but you don't expect a hero in a modern novel, do you? would not be worth reading."

VISITING MANNERS. Little Points of Ftiquette That Should Be

Many of us who pride ourselves on our good-breeding are singularly blind as to what is due to friends who are visiting people unknown to us, or who are entertaining guests whom we have never met. Nor are we more assured as to some of the points of etiquette toward our own guests and to our own hosts from home. It is useless to decry etiquette by saying that the best manners in all cases are those which hurt no one. This is true as a general law, but there always are some points which leave no room for experiments as to what will hurt another, and which yet may be settled once for all by a few rules. If you have an acquaintance who is entertaining friends whom she wishes you to meet, it is your duty to call promptly, and if possible offer some hospitality to both guests and hosts.

If the position is reversed, and your friend is visiting people unknown to you, never go to see your friend without leaving a card for the hostess. If you give any entertainment for the friend, be very sure to invite her hosts also. It does not follow that your invitation will be accepted, but if it is, the nostess must be treated as the guest of honor and shown every deference. If, for instance, the entertainment is a luncheon for young ladies, she may be asked to take the seat at the end of the table opposite to your own.

If the mutual friend is your guest, you may be sure that, if she is a woman of good-breeding, she, in turn, will accept no invitation which does not include you, although you may think best to decline it and insist upon her going alone. Nor will she receive visitors without asking you to join them in the parlor, should her friends be rude nough to have sent you no cards. Here, too, you may excuse yourself, or at most, join them with such delay as to give them a short interview alone

> These same rules hold good for you when you are the guest. Before you go to make the visit, send word to your riends where and with whom you are o stay, so that there may be no idea hat you are in a boarding-house, and herefore mistress of your time and surroundings. This constant deference to rour hostess should lead you to order all letters and packages to be addressed

As to the disposal of your time, when you are visiting, no etiquette requires you to accept all the plans of your nostess, if you feel unable to do so; but are is needed to show that refusal means lack of strength, not lack of interest and inclination. With a little tact on both sides, you will have many hours for your own. Indeed, a skilful h

WITH TAIL IN AIR. The Main Part of a Tree Is That Which Is Underground.

Yes, a tree is an underground creature, with its tail in the air. All its intelligence is in its roots. Think what sagacity it shows in its search after food and drink! Somehow or other, the rootlets, which are its tentacles, find out that there is a brook at a moderate distance from the trunk of the tree, and talking with an old cruiser (a man who they make for it with all their might. They find every crack in the rocks where there are a few grains of the nourishing substance they care for, and without further adventure. The Indians | State. He never takes a gun, but car- insinuate themselves into its deepest recesses. When spring and summer come, they let their tails grow, and decamping in the head of a ravine about light in whisking them about in the wind, or letting them be whisked about one of the ridges, and this one was by it; for these tails are poor passive answered by another on the opposite things, with very little will of their own, and bend in whatever direction the wind chooses to make them.

The leaves make a deal of noise whis pering. I have sometimes thought I ould understand them as they talked with each other, and that they seemed to think they made the wind as they wagged forward and back. Remember what I say. The next time you see a tree waving in the wind, recollect that it is the tail of a great underground many-armed, polypus-like creature which is as proud of its caudal appendpeacock of his gorgeous expanse of plumage. Do you think there is any thing so very odd about this idea? Once get it into your heads and you will find it render, the landscape wonderfully interesting. There are as many kinds of tree tails as there are of tails to dogs and other quadrupeds. Study them as Daddy Gilpin studied them in his "Forest Scenery," but don't forget that they are only the appendage of the underground vegetable polypus, the true organism to which they belong .-Oliver Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic.

Prof. Newcomb's Bad Break. Prof. Simon Newcomb, of Washington, is known as a man whose scien tific studies have tended to exaggerate a natural disposition to mental abstracgoes with the young until they are nearly two years old. They say that peculiarity, and overlook in him what We know that this is so with the might not be excused in an ordinary person. A Washington lady is very fond of telling this incident: She was at a reception given at Prof. Newcomb's house. The occasion had been made delightful by the professor's wife and daughters, and every thing was very enjoyable. Toward the close of the evening, the lady, who had enjoyed the affair greatly, approached the host and asked him with much enthusiasm: "How often do you have these delightful reunions, professor?" "But once a year, madam—thank goodness!—but once a year." There was no polite prevarication in that reply.-Golden Days.

-Discolored rattan chairs are made pretty by a coating of black or golden Pshaw! if it was not for the villains it brown paint, finished with handsome

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Experiments by an Italian physician indicate that tuberculosis of fowls is different from that of man, and is not transmitted to the latter.

-There are about 60,000,000 parts in a single feather of an eagle. It is stated -2,000 rami, 5,500,000 radii and 54,000,000 chilla and hooklets.

-It is stated on good authority that the factories of England, France, Gerwhen we make an occasional flitting many and Holland produce about 77,-000,000 pins daily. But where do they all go to?

-Seven varieties of fishes examined by naturalists of the Challenger expedition are found totally blind in the deep sea, but have eyes when inhabiting shallow water.

-The State geologist of New Jersey says the coast of that State is sinking at the rate of at least two feet in a century. Other observers hold that the rate is much more rapid.

-More women in proportion to population are employed in industrial occupations in England than in any other European country. Twelve per cent. of the industrial classes are females.

-A large vein of pure white sand, suitable for making glass, has been found near Pittsburgh, Pa. The discovery will save the glass manufacturers of that city thousands of dollars annually, as they have hitherto been obliged to send across the Allegheny Mountains for their sand.

-An engineer of Manchester, England, is introducing a novelty in paper, viz., paper file-hafts and tool-handles, which are said to be practically indestructible and much cheaper than wood or malleable iron hafts. Placed under a steam-hammer, although they can be flattened, they can not be split or

-A sample of oranges plucked from trees grown on the place of Thomas E. Haile, at Kanapha, Fla., are of the early variety, just commenced to ripen, and will weigh about one pound each. Mr. Haile's grove covers several acres, and the trees are so loaded with fruit that it has become necessary to prop them up. The crop is simply wonderful.

-"Sometimes," writes a correspondent of a trade paper, "I have had to make holes in steel that was too hard to cut or file easily. Then I make a mixture that will cut a hole. I mix one ounce of sulphate of copper, quarter of an ounce of alum, half a teaspoonful of powdered salt, a gill of vinegar and twenty drops of nitric acid. This will make a hole."

-Victor Meyer, an eminent German chemist, believes "we may reasonably hope that chemistry will yet teach us to make the fiber of wood a source of human food." This fiber, as well as that of grass and straw, is chemically closely allied to starch, but is not altered like starch, in boiling water, yet both the wood fiber and the starch can be transformed into glucose. In short, we may some day be breakfasting on sawdust porridge.

-For some time past efforts have been made to consolidate, and virtually place under one management, the American glass factories manufacturing tableware. It is announced that arrangements are in progress by which at least thirty-one of the factories engaged in this line will be united. The accredited agents of the movement, while they give but little information, state that the capital does not come from distinctively foreign sources.-American Manufacturer.

-Aluminum and alloys are now produced in considerable quantities by three distinct methods from certain clays, corundum, etc. In one case the metallic sodium retorting process is ememployed, in another the electrical smelting furnace process, and in a third the direct smelting substitution process is resorted to. The last-named method, which has proved very successful, consists in producing a chemical alloy within a water-jacketed furnace and a metal fume condenser - without any metallic sodium or electricity - the product being equaled by only one other, which may be classed as the solidified solution of one metal into another.

-A Belgian chemist is said to have devised a method of rendering fabrics proof against the ravages of decay for an indefinite period. Noting the fact that resin played an important part in the wonderful preservation of Egyptian mummies, he made numerous experiments with substances extracted from birch bark, to which the peculiar aroma of Russian leather is due. He found that the green tar which is left over after the oil used in tanning has been extracted from the white bark of the birch tree yields neither acid nor alkaloid, and that in solution with alcohol it forms a liquid of remarkable fluidity. which has the power of resisting when dry the action of even alcohol. It is claimed that this preservation possesses the property of uniting with the most delicate and brilliant colors and rendering them apparently imperishable.

It is considered a disgrace for a Mexican lady to earn her own living. The men do the cooking and male servants do the housework. If a young lady should learn stenography and typewriting or should try in any manner to earn her own living she would be ostracized socially. There are many heiresses there, and there are many Mexican adventurers who make their living marrying them. They are handsome, indolent spendthrifts, and the ladies fall in love with them. A Mexican woman's beauty fades early, and when a wealthy heiress marries one of these men she never lives long. I don't know why. When she dies her husband invariably marries. another wealthy girl. I call to mind one man in the City of Mexico who married three heiresses in quick succession. He became one of the richest men in that part of the country, but what a spendthrift he was! Once he visited the United States, and at every city he stopped, instead of writing home, he would telegraph long messages. Hundreds of words. At one place his telegraph bill was $900. This is but a sample of his extravagance. He would lose fortunes at the gambling table. He was finally killed in a quarrel.-Cor. N. Y. Telegram.

TEMI

LIQUID f have taste call di But Dead-se that t t sing of in a jug of An old ston

Of falling And darke And s When the flower And you t

Then, as And the m While the

Is the pas And as o And hand

For sky And that As the co And wh

You

To a dra SP A cor writes us I am gr noble stan Rum Powe ment press Here are culation sas and made to whether lieve th are prop questio to the fli are "th ment un Scandin either 1 beer of mass of or health ever wa them. that the of these They are questio produce ssertic by our c are ofter cates o nents w nection. drinkin many. parative > empty Americ glass w ing is n which v As to of Norw quote heroes sober to nations seems i courage ways in are mag tions u and the represer dinavia any oth a rude k things f have be that it c ufactur a per ce liquors. The f

uors; th

wines.

and cof

meals.

on the climate the peo ing on upon th with a Great 1 ern Ger ful resu a dry cl hot cor the back in the quantit the dys

physician and is not parts in is stated 54,000,000

ance, Gerabout 77,examined er expedithe deep inhabiting w Jersey sinking at a century.

the rate is to poputrial occuany other er cent. of ales.

hite sand.

has been The dismanufactof dollars erto been Allegheny ster, Eny in paper,

-handles. ally indeced under ev can be split or eked from homas E. the early ripen, and each. Mr. acres, and uit that it them up. orresponde had to ce a mix-

I mix one quarter of

onful of egar and This will German asonably each us to source of well as emically is not alwater, yet arch can

In short,

asting on have been ally place tableware. ents are thirty-one s line will agents of but lite capital v foreign now pro tities by certain case the ess is emelectrical in a third on process method, ssful, conical alloy ace and a thout any ity - the only one as the etal into

d to have g fabrics decay for part in Egyptian s experited from liar aroma He found left over has been rk of the nor alkaalcohol it fluidity, ing when hol. It is the most d render-or a Mexing. The servants ung lady typewritostracized heiresses xican adg marry indolent in love heiress never marries to mind ico who e richest ntry, but at every writing ng meshis is but He would table. He -Cor. N.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

LIQUID GLORIES UNCONCEALED

f have tasted of the grape's rare juice that poets call divine
But Dead-sea fruit shall quench at last the lips that thirst for wine.
I sing of better vintage—liquid glories unconin a jug of cold spring water on a summer An old stone jug I'm singing of, a correob stop-dipped in dew;

And darkest gleam of emerald among the tasseled corn,

And sunburned faces smiling when they hear the dinner-horn.

When the rain of molten sun-flakes beats on flower, tree and leaf, And you twist a golden girdle round each heavyladen sheaf. Then, as you press along the slope, across the sandy clods, Your lips grow parched with waiting for the nectar of the gods. The shorn, broad field is lying like a yellow And the mid-day sun is streaming from heights far overhead; While the only sound or echo on the hill-side or the giades

Is the passing of the reaper and the rattle of its blades, And as on gallant steed appears a bare-foot country boy And hands you down his burden there, what words can tell your joy
As you press it to your dusty lips, the common,

And cool, clear water rushes out with "gurgle, gurgle, glug!" Ah! then through all your being steals a calm,

For sky and earth and sunshine seem commingled in a kiss;
And that kiss has steeped your senses as with impunity, is no reason that all should some magician's drug, As the cooling eddies greet you, bubbling downward from the jug.

And when you set it down at last, reluctant, You realize what water is-God's greatest palm must yield aught of cold spring water in a summer harvest-field.

—Ernest McGaffey, in Judge.

SPECIOUS ARGUMENTS.

Two Questions Put by the Liquor Crowd Answered in the Right Way. A correspondent at Clermont, Ia.

writes us as follows: I am greatly interested in the brave and noble stand you have taken to "Pulverize the Rum Power:" but, as this Temperance movement presses on towards its final triumph, new obstacles will be continually thrown in its way. Here are two questions which have been propounded, and I would be pleased if you would discuss them through the Blade's columns. They say: "How does it come, if strong drinks are so destructive, that the Germans, who drink more beer and distilled liquors than any other Nation, are the healthiest people? In olden times, when people drank more beer and whisky (this was in Norway and Sweden), the men were giants in strength, and the peo-ple were stouter and heathler than now?"

that they can give no proof of any one of these things. The reason is this: with." They are not true in the specific sense in which they are asserted in these questions. We challenge any one to they swallow very little of the wine; produce the proof of the truth of the and hence the study of the physical assertions in the questions submitted condition of wine-tasters evidently has by our correspondent.

are often lost sight of by both the advo- accumulation of evidence against the cates of Temperance and their oppo- use of alcoholic liquors, either modernents will be found useful in this con- ately or immoderately, has become so nection. First, with regard to the great that it would seem that no ground drinking habits of the people of Ger-The Germans imbibe but comparatively very little of distilled liguors; their drinks are beer and light They use them as we use tea and coffee-drinking them with their meals, and not taking them on an empty stomach. They do not drink as of coal. Americans do-swill down glass after glass within a few minutes. The drinking is moderate compared with that to which we are accustomed in America.

As to the Scandinavians (the people of Norway and Sweden), it is absurd to quote the legendary stories of their heroes of a semi-historic period as sober truths. The early history of all nations shows the idealization that seems inevitable in the process of handing down stories of the prowess and courage of ancestors. Such stories always increase in the telling, and never diminish. The doings of a brave man are magnified in the course of generations until they become impossible to a man of ordinary strength and stature; and then the enlargement goes on by representing the hero as a giant in size and strength. Again, the old Scan-dinavians knew nothing of whisky or any other distilled liquors. They drank a rude kind of beer, of which but two things are certain: One, that it must have been a horrid slop, and the other, that it could not, from its mode of manufacture, have contained nearly as great drunken frenzy attempted suicide by a per cent. of alcohol as modern malt shooting himself. This unhappy man,

The fact must never be lost sight of, on the Temperance question, that the climate of the country, the mode of life, ing on the effect of alcoholic liquors Great Britain, Scandinavia and North- was obliged to leave him, ern Germany, can drink with less harming their children with her. His ful results than can the inhabitants of case, inexpressively sad for his family a dry climate (such as ours) or of any and friends, as well as himself, fur quantity of liquor that would kill a city of ruin, body and soul. It is an added, resident. His example is no rule for emphatic object-lesson for total abstithe dyspeptic clerk whose whole life, nence.-National Temperance Advopractically, is spent in-doors-the day cate.

in store or office, the night in his room -with a lack of fresh air and active ex-

that the use of rum in any form is, sooner or later, harmful to the drinker; that the harm in any liquor is in direct proportion to the quantity of alcohol contained in it, and to the amount drank; and that the steady drinking of any al coholic drink is even worse than period ical drinking; that is, the man who puts alcohol into his system every day by per, too; alcohol into his system every day by Offalling lines of supple grain whose roots are drinking beer, wines or any other form of rum, does more harm to himself each year than the man who goes on periodand America is unanimous on these controversy over them is out of the question. This being the fact, our correspondent, and any one else to whom such silly arguments are advanced, need not waste effort in controverting them. Our this city. He lives with his parents in dry, brilliant climate is against drinking. An Englishman accustomed to drink on coming to this country finds that he must diminish the size and frequency of his potations or he will be drunk continually. This has been frequently shown in New York City among fast young Englishmen. Coming direct from London they are astonished to find that the same amount of rum appears to produce a much greater effect on them. The difference is one of climate. And because some people, living in a different climate, or those whose life is spent drink, nor does it follow that they themselves would not be healthier, stronger and happier if they did not drink at all. So far as America is concerned, non-drinking is the only safe rule. Our friends in the West should not For, all that man can ever brew the victor's allow themselves to be deterred by any such specious arguments as those quoted above from continuing the effort to pul- LESSING'S SKETCH OF THE MANGO TREE. verize the rum power.-Toledo (O.) Blade.

MODERATE DRINKING.

Accumulation of Evidence Against the Use of Alcoholic Liquors.

According to a German medical journal, Drs. Donnet and Marandon have months. While there he ran across a been studying the diseases of wine- college classmate-a young New Yorker, tasters, and find that they frequently George Lessing. Lessing was somewhat suffer from "disturbances similar to al- of an artist and was putting in his time coholism, although the claret-tasters in the American art colony in the do not swallow the wine, but on the French capital. From Paris Lessing contrary, reject it, and even rinse their and Ellmore traveled together. They mouths afterwards. In one case of Dr. "did" Europe and afterwards Egypt, Donnet's, a man thirty-two years old India, Australia, Japan, China-their used to taste, every day, thirty or forty | tour winding up in the United States. samples of wine, occasionally liquors and rum, without ever swallowing any part of them. After two years he became very excitable, lost his appetite, pretty thoroughly, and had spent some oon well and suffered with culation of the statement embodied in disturbances of sensibility, pains in the north, stopping for a short time at these questions throughout Iowa, Kan- breast, a feeling of weakness, difficulty Rajmahal and Dinapur. From the latsas and Nebraska, as they have been in breathing. He improved after abanmade to us before. It is hard to say doning his profession, although a nervwhether those who circulate them be- ous debility still remained, as noticelieve them or not. Those to whom they able by the facility with which he was are propounded should at once pose the set in tears. Another statement made questioner by asking for the proof, as by Dr. Donnet is that there are a to the first question, that the Germans great number of apoplexies in Borare "the healthiest people"—a state-ment untrue in fact; and regarding the and a half litres of wine with each second, by asking for the proof that the meal. This number exceeds the num-Scandinavians of ancient times drank ber of apoplexies in any city in the either whisky or beer similar to the world. Dr. Marandon did not notice beer of the present; for proof that the any symptoms of intoxication in Burmass of that people were either stouter | gundy tasters, although some of them or healthier than now; and that there | would swallow the samples. He remarks ever was a giant in strength among that tea-tasters always swallow some them. You will be surprised to find tea, and this, he says, explains the nervous symptoms they are affected

Wine-tasters must certainly be con sidered as moderate drinkers, although a very important bearing upon the Some general discussion of facts that question of moderate drinking. The whatever is left for those who still attempt to maintain their use upon scientific principles .- Good Health.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

THE money paid in one month for two classes of beer a day, would buy a ton

DR. B. W. RICHARDSON declares that alcohol causes a mortality more enormous than even consumption. SIR MOREL MACKENZIE attributes the reason why men more than women suffer from sore throats, to smoking. Tolstoi's latest crusade is said to be that he has a work nearly ready for the press in which he strongly inveighs against gluttony and drunkenness, and shows in a vivid manner the effect of narcotics and intoxicating drinks on the human system. SHOULD the tobacco-users of the United States abstain from its use for a period of five years, and place the amount so saved in a common fund, dividing equally, it would give the head of each family a sum sufficient to purchase an eighty-acre farm in the Western States or Territories. - Good Health

A Striking Illustration. The doors of Bellevue Hospital swung open recently to admit as a patient a shoeless man, who had in a Colville by name, educated in this city, was at one time a prosperous pastor in estimating the value of facts bearing in the Methodist Episcopal church. Overcome and disgraced by the liquor habit he was obliged to leave the the occupations and surroundings of church. He was supported in his sub the people all have an important bear- sequent idle and drunken career by his wife, as a dress-maker, until finally upon them. The people of a country threatening her life and chasing with a cold, damp climate like that of her with a loaded revolver, she hot country. As regards occupation, nishes another striking illustration the backwoodsman, whose life is passed | that even ministers can not indulge in in the open air, can drink for years a the use of intoxicants without the risk

ONLY HYPNOTISM.

The point is settled beyond debate How Indian Fakirs Deceive Those Who Watch Them.

> A Young Chicagoan Demonstrates the Truth of His Theory-Mango Trees, Babies and Other Objects, Creatpres of the Imagination.

ical "sprees," with intervals in which he being curious to know the explanation drinks nothing. The testimony of the highest medical authorities of Europe have been offered, all of which are more points, and they may be justly considered as so thoroughly established that Tribune, to furnish an explanation that rectness of his idea.

Frederick S. Ellmore is a son of W. S. a pleasant home at No. 7520 Bond avenue, in Windsor Park. Young Mr.

to spend some time in foreign countries. and he started out alone. Being a rather enthusiastic amateur photographer, he carried his beloved camera with him. He first "did" the British Isles and then went to Paris, where he put in several

In talking to a Tribune man of his retime in Calcutta. ter city we went south to Gaya, which we reached in July last. One afternoon Lessing rushed into the room where I was taking a snooze and told me there was a fakir in front about ready to begin his performances. I was as pleased as he was. Neither of us had been able previous to this time to see one of these fellows, but we had arranged a little plan which we were to put into operation when opportunity offered. I had been impressed by a theory that the explanation of all their alleged supernatural performances would be found in hypnotism, but I did not know just how to get at it until Lessing proposed this plan to test my theory: While the fakir was going through his performances Lessing was to make a rapid pencil sketch of what he saw, while I at the same moment would take a snap shot with my camera.

THE CAMERA SHOWS NO TREE TO EXIST.

"Being prepared to put this plan into operation we went out from our abode, and there found the fakir and a crowd of natives and one or two Europeans. against tobacco and alcohol. It is stated The fakir was a queer-looking chap. His hair was long and matted and his beard hung low on his breast. His only decoration was a copper ring or bracelet worn about his right arm between the

He mixed it about with his fingers, apparently to show that it contained no concealed objects. Replacing the sand in the

and covered it with a small shaw!, first placing in the mixture several seeds of the mango fruit. Then he played a weird air on his pipe, swayed back and forth.

two or three minutes. Then he sud-Nearly every traveler who comes back from India brings with him more or less marvelous stories of the performances of Indian fakirs or jugglers. No one ever heard of one of these tales without or less unsatisfactory. It has remained explains and to present what must be accepted as absolute proof of the cor-

Ellmore, a well-known coffee broker of Ellmore, who has just returned from a two years' trip around the world, is a pleasant-faced, light-haired young man of twenty-six. He is an '86 Yale man. After his graduation he spent a year in business with his father. At the end of denly stopped and raised one corner of the shawl. We saw several green shoots two or three inches high. He replaced the shawl, played a little more in his pipe, and I could have sworn I saw the shawl pushed three feet into the air. Again he stopped and removed the shawl. This time there was a perfect tree, two feet or more in height, with long, slender flat leaves. Lessing nudged me, and I took my picture while he made a skeleton sketch. While we were watching this creation of the queer old man, it seemed to vanish before our eyes. When it was gone he removed the bowl and spread the shawl on the ground before him. Then there was more music and more swaying, more looking at the crowd; and, as we watched the dirty square of cloth he had placed on the ground, we saw outlined beneath it some moving object. As we watched he grasped the

WHAT THE CAMERA SHOWED.

LESSING'S SKETCH OF THE CLIMBING BOY. snatched it from the ground. Upon the before there sat the queerest, dimpled Indian baby that I had seen in my travels. Lessing kept his nerve better than I did. I would have forgotten what I was doing if he had not reminded me. I took the picture and he made his sketch. The baby remained but a moment before Mr. Fakir recovered it with the shawl, and, drawing a knife, cut and slashed at the spot where the infant sat. In another in- | plained: stant he threw away the shawl and there was nothing there.

"We had scarce time to recover from our astonishment when the fakir drew from under his knee a ball of gray twine. Taking the loose end between his teeth he, with a quick upward motion, tossed the ball into the air. Instead of coming back to him it kept on going up and up until out of sight and there remained only the long, swaying end. When we looked down after trying to see where the ball had gone, we were all astonished to see standing beside the fakir a boy about six years old. He

THERE WAS NO BOY.

more other negatives, to be developed. knocked down.

The fakir pictures, with a few others, I Another engine of torture is what is received this afternoon. After the fa- known as the urging-up machine. kir's departure Lessing filled in his consists of a pair of handcuffs and a sketches, and these he left with me. rope. The prisoner is taken to the wrist and the elbow. His eyes were re- ing made with the photographs that in form that is situated in one corner of it. markable both for their brilliancy and their intense depth, if I may so term it.

They seemed to be almost jet black and were set unusually deep in his head. When we stepped into the little circle

They seemed to be almost jet black and were set unusually deep in his head. When we stepped into the little circle

They seemed to be almost jet black and the camera record the marvelous features of the performance. For instance, Lessing's sketch shows the tree grown from the bush, while the tree grown from the bush, while the camera shows there was no bush the platform by means of a windlass. long. At his right stood a small earthen bowl and across his knees lay a strange-looking musical instrument.

"Having received the signal that all was ready he took the bowl in his hands and turned the competition and the competition and turned the competition and the competition across this knees lay a strange-looking musical instrument.

"Having received the signal that all absolutely correct—that Mr. Fakir had simply hypnotized the entire crowd, but couldn't hypnotize the camera."

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR

Two Coffee-Colored Gentlemen Fight a Battle on the Sands. bowl he stood it in the center of the car-The other day one of the waiters at pet, several feet in front of his knees, our hotel made a sudden move in the against the ivories of another waiter, and the face of the moon was at once covered with blood. Some of us noticed their belligerent demeanor, and now "The swaying and pipe-playing lasted and then we caught such expressions as:

"Yo' ar' no gem'lan, sah! "An' yo' is only a nigger!" "I sco'n yo', sah-sco'n yo' fur low

"Hu! I'd like to be shet up in a room wid yo' 'bout two minutes!" We were not, therefore, greatly surrised when we were waited on by a hird party, who was a mutual friend, who asked us to arrange a meeting between the hostiles and see the affair through, according to ship-shape rules.

crabbing, sailing, and shooting por-poises, we hailed the new departure with glad relief. "Yo' white folks dun knows all 'bout it, an' yo' go right ahead an' fix it up,'

t wasn't to be a duel, but a set-to, with gloves, and as we were tired of fishing, said the mutual friend. We borrowed gloves, bought rope afraid of the devil himself. One day he enough for a ring, made stakes, and the was out hunting, about where the old site selected was in the sand behind the Baptist church now stands, on the corscrub. The tip was given, and when ner of C and H streets. As he pushed the hour came about seventy-five his way through the heavy canebrake, spectators had assembled. The rivals and almost virginal forest he came face were on hand in good time, but it was to face with a stalwart, half-savage runnoticeable that both were trying hard to away negro, and, as was the custom in look pale, and there was a movement of those days, he arrested him and started the chin which betrayed much mental back to the settlement with his prisanxiety. They were known only as oner. Unfortunately for Findley, he "Jim" and "Tom," and while we were wore a very heavy hunting-knife on his putting the gloves on Jim he arose and blind side, so to speak, and as he and his prize found their way toward clear-

"Does you 'pologize to me, sah?" "I dun 'pologize if youl'pologize, too," was the reply. "Den I dun-

But we stopped him and braced him ip, and two or three minutes later they faced each other in the center of the ring. Each man's teeth were chattering, each one's eyes were all white, and position. there was a wabbling of the knees. "Look out, now, yo' nigger! gwine to bust yo' head off!" I'ze

"Look out, now, yo'self! If I hits yo in de lung yo' won't git over it in two weeks!"

"Why doan' yo' hit?" "Why doan' yo' hit?" "Yo's skeert o' me!"

"So's vo' skeert!" They were walking around each other. pushing at arm's length, and it would have stopped there but for the timekeeper, who shouted to them to go in. "If I hit yo' in de eye look out!" "If I hit dat nose you'll be dead!"

"I'ze comin' fur yo' purty quick!" "I'll be right around dar!"

gloves and grabbed Tom by the ankles never go near the spot at night, for and lifted him off his feet and dumped even in the dark their imagination him on the sand. Tom's gloves fell off | would outline distinctly that horrible as he rolled over, and he had scarcely spot where it had rested but a moment struck when Jim made a break through its horror, has kept down hanging in the ring, running like a rabbit. Tom scrambled up with a "Hu!" and broke have one or two now, for I fear that lesthrough the other side, and while one son has been forgotten." legged it for the hotel the other sought safety behind the sand dunes, and the great match for blood ended in water. residence portions of Brunswick, and As I had acted as Jim's bottle holder, I felt called upon to reproach him that evening at the kitchen door, and he the residence of a prominent citizen. came out into the moonlight and ex- Although the crime and its punishment do it. I meant to stan' right up dar an' one mind in which it still lives, and fight dat nigger one millyon rounds that is the mind of Coroner Lewis. 'Tis 'cordin' to Miss Quee'sberry rules, but a strange, but true story. when I got de gloves on my sand went right away, sah-went right off down de coast a flyin', an' afore I knowed it I was back heah in de hotel a wipin spoons an' a savin' dat if I eber caught dat nig ger out in de dark I'd smash him, sah-I'd smash him 'till his own mudder would'nt dun remember his sad remains!"-N. Y. Sun.

PRISON BRUTALITIES.

Tortures Said to Be Inflicted in the Coloosure of alleged abuses in the Colorado State Penitentiary, describes two attributed to a convict, from whose leter the following is taken:

After supper the un appy victim is led forth from his cell to the vicinity of where there gathered a similar gay comthe stable and compelled to stand with his back to a post erected for such occasions. Two officers are generally or-dered to tie the prisoner's hands behind his back; a strap is then drawn around fashioned and almost shabby. Toil, and him, lashing his body to the post.

An officer attired in waterproof clothes now steps behind the post and holds the prisoner's ears, while another her form. She sat apart from the crowd, had not been there when the ball was stands off about six feet and throws a tossed into the air, but he was there stream of water in the prisoner's face. now, and at a word from the fakir he There is generally a sixty-pound preswalked over to the twine and began sure on the pump, and the water is climbing it a good deal after the thrown with so much force that it tears fashion of a monkey climbing a grape the flesh from the prisoner's face. The vine. As he was starting I got his force of the water compels the prisoner range and made a picture of him, Less- to open his mouth, and the stream is ing at the same time making a sketch. thrown down his throat until he is al-The boy disappeared when he had most strangled. He is then granted a reached a point thirty or forty feet respite till he has thrown up the water from the ground, at least we could not he swallowed and regained his breath. This operation is repeated three or camera films, and it was these Lessing have had sufficient fun, the water is took with him, as well as a thousand or thrown in the victim's face until he is

You'll see by comparing the ones Less- warehouse and obliged to ascend a platwhen we stepped into the little circle about him those eyes took us in from sole to crown. He had spread upon the sole to crown. He had spread upon the sole to crown. He had spread upon the sole to crown. ground a coarse carpet of peculiar text-ure about four feet wide and six feet baby. Lessing's sketch of the boy shows more fortitude than they like to

STRANGE BUT TRUE. Story of the First Execution in Glynn

County, Georgia. Glynn County, Georgia, is soon to have a hanging. The Brunswick Times puberving room which brought his elbow lishes the following bit of history: It has been just seventy-six years since & hanging took place in Glynn County. Yesterday morning I was talking to Coroner Lewis Harris, whom everybody knows by the sobriquet of "Uncle Lewis," and in some way the subject of judicial executions came up. "It has been seventy-six years since the last hanging in this county," said the coroner, "and it happened just four years before I was born."

Although Uncle Lewis is seventy-two years of age there is nothing about him save his snow-white beard and hair to indicate it, for, short in stature, with a clear blue eye and healthy color, he's as jovial and jolly as Santa Claus himself. "Yes, seventy-six years," he continued, in a reminiscent mood, as he ran back over the long stretch "and I can tell you all about it."

I eagerly begged him to do so. "Well, before I was born there used to be a great hunter in these parts named Findley, a one-eved man, who was not ings, the negro, grown desperate with fear, sprang upon the hunter, and, seizing his knife, cut his throat from ear to ear with one strong stroke of the weapon. When, after some days, Findley was still missing, a searching party was organized, and after a day or two the body was found in a state of decom-

"The cut told the story of the crime, and a hunt for his unknown murderer began. The negro was found in the canebrake, and suspicion at once fell on him. He was brought to the settlement and was tried, found guilty and finally executed on a spot between what is now A and B streets, within two hundred yards of where he murdered Find-

ey. "He acknowledged his guilt on the caffold, and so atrocious had been the nurder that after the execution his head was cut off and placed upon a tall pole by means of an iron spike, where it remained for eleven years. . The execution happened four years previous to my birth, but I distinctly remember The referee shouted again, and, moved | that horrible, grinning head on top of o sudden resolution, Jim flung off the the pole. The boys in those days would sight. May be that execution, with all these parts, but we certainly ought to

The scene of the long ago murder and the spot where the pole stood with its grinning, ghastly head, is covered by have also been obliterated by the cease-"Deed, sah, but I didn't dun mean to less wash of the tide of time, there is

A WORKADAY ROMANCE. Toll and Privation Ennobled and Glori-fied by Pure Sentiment.

This story was originally told by Spurgeon: A young clergyman and his bride were invited guests at a large party given by a wealthy parishioner. In all the freshness and elegance of the bridal wardrobe, the young wife shone among the throng, distinguished by her comeliness, vivacity and rich attire; rade State Penitentiary. and when, during the evening, her The Denver News, in an extended ex-young husband drew her aside and whispered to her that she was the most beautiful woman in all the company, methods said to be used to discipline re- and that his heart was bursting with fractory prisoners. The description is pride and love for her, she thought herelf the happiest wife in the world.

Ten years later the same husband and wife were guests at the same house. pany. The wife of ten years ago wore the same dress she had worn on the previous occasion, and, of course, it had been altered and re-made, and was oldcare, and motherhood, and pinched circumstances had taken the roses out of her cheeks and the lithe spring out of careworn and preoccupied. Her small hands, roughened with coarse toil, were ungloved, for the minister's salary was painfully small.

A little apart the ten-year busband stood and looked at his wife, and as he observed her faded dress and weary attitude, a great sense of all her loving faithfulness came over his heart. Look-ing up, she caught his earnest gaze, and noticed that his eyes were filled with tears. She rose and went to him: her questioning eyes mutely asked for "I had no facilities for developing the four times. Finally, when the guards an explanation of his emotion; and when he tenderly took her hand, and placing it on his arm, led her away from the crowd, and told her how he had been thinking of her as she looked ten years before, when she was a bride and how much more precious she was to him now, and how much more beautiful, for all her shabby dress and roughened hands, and how he appreciated all her sacrifice and patient toil for him and their children, a great wave of happiness filled her heart, and light shone in her face so that it gave more than youthful beauty. And in all the com-pany there was not so happy a couple as this husband and wife, their hearts and faces aglow from the flaming up of pure sentiment that transfigured and ennobled and glorified all the toils and privations they had endured, and whose reflected radiance no untoward future could dim .-- Good Health.

-An Atchison, Kan., girl is "keeping company" in a parlor which was furnished with the proceeds of a strawberry patch.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL.

Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year ...... six months... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inser-on. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and dress, not necessarily for publication, but as private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1890.

FOR CONGRESS, HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS, of Washington County.

THE GRAND OLD PARTY.

IT IS TRUE TO THE FLAG.

THE fact that a Republican Congress passed, and a Republican President signed a river and harbor bill which appropriates $6200,000-about one fourth of the entire amount carried by the bill-for the improvement of the Galvesion, Texas, harbor shows how sectional the Rebublican party is.

EVERY voter in the Sixth District | Sharpless, miller. favor of free and fair elections; in Messrs. West and Miller, the law those who would deny the at Baltimore. authority of the government; in favor of ability and statesmanship instead of inexperience and ignorance against McKaig.

IT is just as well for Republicans not to depend too much on rumors that the Democratic Congressional Campaign committee has no money and that it is doing nothing towards capturing the next House. There are reasons for believing that such rumors are being actively circulated their interests; he never gave them ably discussed, showing the importare doing their level best to carry it for the express purpose of throwing the Republicans off their guard and inspiring them with an ever confidence in the result of the November elections. The Democrats have money in plenty, and will leave no stone unturned to wrest the control of the House from the Republicans.

McKaig, Free Trade and Pensions. Under the above caption the Demothe Democrat.

ago, said that he "took no stock in pensions." He did not probably at that time think that he would so soon be called upon to define his position on the pension question to an interested and intelligent constituency.

Whether he did or did not believe that he would be the Democratic

Held at Accident on Friday Night.

A Big Crowd. nominee at the time he made use of the words above quoted, his declaration is an indication of his feelings toward the old soldiers' and it is useless for the Democratic press to attempt to say that McKiag is in favor of pensions. He "takes no stock in pensions."

representatives of the Democracy in the present Congress who voted as one man to defeat a just and liberal pension law, originated, championed and pressed to a righteous conclusion by the soldiers' friend-the Re-interests—Free Trade.

the people of the Sixth District.

Swanton.

Mr. Thomas Rowan, of Bloomingover both of his feet and mashing killed by a helper at Empire mine a pensions. Mr. Sincell was very same timesaye a considerable amount few years ago and about two weeks much applauded by the large audi- of cash. thrown from his engine on the W. Va. Central, and badly burt.

C. T. West has had a well bored. It is 65 feet deep. The grist mill has been repaired in fayor of increasing the purchasing | Miss Hynson is back at her post

Mrs. E. J. West, of Oakland, is visiting friends here this week.

of the Nation's affairs, will yote den, was visiting his father-in-law, to represent his constituents in every J. F. Friend, Esq., Sunday.

friends at and near Deer Park, trouble the Democratic press is tak- ing an inexperienced man to fill his in the face by saying that they would ing to let us know what McComas place, which is impossible. Numerhas and has not done. In a recent ous illustrations were made so that lican because it would increase their issue of the Times we find this: "He all that was said might have its de-chances of carrying the Presidential has promised our miners to care for sired effect. The tariff bill was then election of '92, but all the same they a thought when slack coal was pro- ance of the measure and the benefits themselves. All this talk about the posed to be taken off the tariff list." to be derived from the same. He ex- Democratic campaign committee not Now, Mr. Times, the miners have a plained that the bill is a farmer's having any money is simply bosh. better memory than you seem to bill, a miner's bill, a mechanic's bill It is a part of the "keep-easy" prohave and they know that Mr. Mc. and an American bill. Mr. Urner gramme which Mr. Flower has Comas did give them a thought and closed by referring to Mr. McComas's adopted. They have all the money used his influence, and had slack coal honesty, even from youth up and they want, and it behooves the Restricken from the free list, we re urging all good Republicans and publicans of the close and doubtful member that if you don't, Again : Democrats alike to vote for a man districts to keep their eyes wide open "He promised the G. A. R. men who is able and who will represent to see that none of it is used corruptly. more than they asked, yet we ask the all for their best interest saying that It is because it is intended to use it in crat last week undertook the Hercu- old soldier, what has he done?" had he 10,000 votes to cast they that manner that this cry of "no lean task of sitting the Democratic You know, Mr. Times, if you have should all go for McComas. Mr. money" has been raised. Mr. candidate right before its readers. searched the record, that Mr. Mc. Urner during and at the close of his Flower, the millionaire chairman of The allegation it makes as to Mc- Comas has done more for the old speech was applauded. Kaig's views upon these questions soldier than any congressman Mary- Mr. Sincell then said that Mr. Mc. mittee, started it by complaining, in would be perfectly legitimate and land has ever had. Let us just re- Comas would try to speak to the peo- a newspaper interview, that no one proper, were they facts as stated by mind you of one instance: Romiser, ple of Accident yet before the elec- had contributed to the campaign fund the old soldier that had his pension tion. We hope he will, as all are but himself, and that he had a pur-

I start to the contract of the	manufacture and the
GOING SOUTH.
LEAVE. No. 1, Kingwood. 7,45 Howsville 8,25	P. M No. 8 5.30 6.10
Tunnelton	6,40
A. M. No. 2.   Tunnelton   11,00   Howsville   11.35	P. M No. 4 8.25 9,00
Kingwood12.10	9.32

Subscribe for THE REPUBLICAN.

A GOOD MEETING

ACCIDENT, MD., Oct. 3, 1890. The Republican mass meeting at Bishoff was then made chairman and J. A. Feik, secretary.

He is in touch and accord with the length on Republican principles. Regood and wise ruling in the late Congress. He then discussed the Fed-Mr. McKaig is likewise in touch Georgia were not elected but said to with his party on the tariff question— be and sent to Congress by a less is expected back at the White House hiding under the name of tariff reform, the dispoiler of American the Congressmen of this Sixth Disthe Congressmen of this Sixth Disthe Congressmen of this Sixth Disslipped and fell, the wheels passing jority in Congress, apposed by a jug but a holiday for the employes, smputated. Tom is a fine young closed by referring to a statement custom fornishes a great opportunity who know him. His father was Kaig who said he hid no stock in money box to make fame and at the of the pride we should take in a rep-Robert Brown, Esq., of Elk Gar. to represent capitalists or trusts, but duties for some months to come. respect. He then spoke of the great of mind over the condition of the Miss May Fitzwater is yisiting mistake which many people make Congressional campaign, and already in retiring a man before he has had many of them are discounting the It is certainly amusing to see the a chance of becoming great, and send- defeat which they see staring them a day, and his mind is perfectly clear. Mrs. Arthur Wilson has returned to her home at Moorefield,

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent,) WASHINGTON, Oct. 6, 1890.-The President left on his Western 4TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1890. Accident was called to order this evening by Mr. Wm. Lohr. Mr. Geo. to Galesburg, Ill., where his old brigade will hold a reunion on Wednesday. Thursday he will take part in Mr. E. H. Sincell, of Oakland, was the "Soldiers' Day" exercises at the then introduced and spoke to some Ottumwa, Iowa, Exposition, Friday he will attend the veterans celepublican success and Spegker Reed's bration at Topeka, Kans., going from there to visit his brother at Kansas City. Saturday he will be wit: great lection bill and showed the great need of the passage of that measure by this Congress, In speaking os the Southern election fautis, ing os the Southern election fautis, publican majority, He, like his ing as the Southern election frauds, day. Sunday he will spend at his old brethren in Congress, "takes no stock Mr. Sincell showed very plainly Indianapolis home and Monday how that seven Congressmen in morning he will start on his return, homes, American wages, American trict of Maryland. The great amount the ridiculous and expensive practice of work done by the late Republican of closing a department of the Gov-Mr. McKiag is throughly indenti- Congress in passing many measures ernment on the day of the funeral of fied with his party on both the pension and Free Trade questions, and being so, is the natural opponent of the old soldier, and the economic enemy of present and past Congresses was Thomas, of Maryland, who was for shown with great clearness and force, less than a month in the last days of He then showed that the Republican the Buchanan administration, Secreparty always has been the friend of tary of the Treasury. I have not the the soldiers and proved this by refere exact dates, but am quite sure that it tor, a fireman on the 17-mile grade, ring to the dependent pension bill costs the Government at least $20,000 while attempting to jump on his en- which was vetoed by Grover Cleve- to close that department, one of the gine at Altamont, on Friday last, land but passed by a Republican malargest, for a day, and it means noth-Democratic majority and signed by a who are already liberally provided them so badly that they had to be Republican President. He then for in that respect. This senseless man and he has the sympathy of all made some time ago by Mr. Me- for some "watch dog" of Uncle Sam's ago his brother, Patrick Rowan, was ence which had comein by this time. To-day the McKinley fariff law The Hon. Milton G. Urner, of goes into effect, and Secretary Win-Frederick County, was then intro- dom says there will be no trouble at duced and spoke to a considerable eyen the most remote Custom Houses, length upon the great importance as copies of the new law were mailed of returning our hotored and es- to all of the collectors some days ago, and put in running order; John teemed representative to the Fifty- and full instructions have been pre second Congress. His Congressional pared at the Treasury department in record, which is bright and clean, was regard to its interpretation and adpower of the American dollar; in again, teaching the private school of clearly set forth. His great popular- ministration, and telegraphed to the ity not only in Maryland but more prominent ports. Owing to the favor of subjugating to the law by Mrs. C. M. Miller is visiting friends throughout the U. S., was shown in extraordinary efforts of the importers a very able manner. He then spoke to load up before the new law went resentative who is in Congress, not will be a great decrease in import travel and visit wherever he wishes cisco. It has also contracted for the building of four new ships to cost dollar to be paid by the application; said one more than eleven millions of dollars., in addition to the sum to be paid for said lito go. Can walk three or four miles building of four new ships to cost Our navy is growing, and the addi-tions are the best in the world, SEC. 9. And be it enasted, That whoever, by the sale of intoxicating liquors contrary to

The Democrats are in a woeful state prefer seeing the next House Repubthe Democratic Congressional com-

ELECTION NOTICE.

sons, house, corporation, company or asso-dation may be licensed in Garrett County, by whom or in which spirituous or fermented iquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold, which said Act of Assembly, Chapter 60 of the Laws of 1890 is herein inserted as by it required and is of the tenor and in the words following, to ale thereof may be made in case the crity of the voters of said county shall mine said question in the affirmative, to regulate the sale thereof by druggists ge portion of the voters of Garrett coun-ther the law known as the Local Op-w of said county, passed at the session Logislature in eighteen hundred and silx, Chapter three hundred and ninety me, and

WHEREAS, Numerous petitions have been warded to this Legislature, signed by parson who voted for the said law as well as ainst it, and it being deemed advisable, account of said uncertainty, to resum the question and to grant another re, on 1. Be it enacted by the General oly 0. Maryland. That the question r or not any person or persons, house, tion, company or association may be inserted. And be it enacted, That all the tick-that a majority of all the votes east as prescribed in the preceding sections, in said counity, has been east for the sale of said spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters, then the same shall be soid as allowed under the license haws of this State, subject to the provisions hereinafter mentioned or provided, SEC. 4. And be it emacted. That if any person or persons, house, company, association or body corporate shall sell, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters within the limits of said county, if a majority of all the votes cast shall have been against the sale of liquors or bitters, after the fourth day of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, he, she, they or it shall on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars and costs of prosceution, or instead of such fine, maprisonment in the tounty jail for thirty days, or both in the discretion of the Court.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted. That in addition to the respective amounts to be paid by any person or persons, house, corporation, com pany or association for taking out license under Article fifty-six of the Code of Public General Laws, and the supplimentary Acts thereto, relating to spirituous or fermented dionors by retailing and overe and eatine such license shall be granted, and if any person or persons, house, corporation, company or association shall open or keep any oyster house, cook shop or victualing house, or larger beer saloon, or any other than an ordinary at or in which spirithouse rermented ilquors or larger beer may be sold or bartered in quantities less than a pint at any one time or by the drink, that such applicant or applicants shall in addition to the amount to be paid the State of Maryland, shall also pay to the Clerk of said Circuit Court the sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of said public secols.

where the first content of the personal content of the

in the reef may be made in case the rily of the voters of said county shall mine said question in the affirmative, or regulate the sale thereof by druggists obtainments.

REAS, Much doubt exists in the mind ge portion of the voters of Garretteounter their the inw known as the Local Opton there is no known as the Local Opton the rith in whote or in part of such person, shall be liable severally or jointly, with the person or persons or body corporate selling or giving intoxicating liquors as aforesaid, for all damages sustained, as well as exemplary damages.

And be it enacted. That such no

SEC. 18. And be it enacted, That all prose-cutions for violations of this Act may be eith-er upon presentment, indictment or by trial before a justice of the peace, who shall have jurisdiction original and concurrent with the Circuit Court for said County, and the said justice shall have power to issue all process, and to do all acts which may be necessary to the exercise of his said jurisdiction, and may and to do all acts which may be necessary to the exercise of his said jurisdiction, and may try and determine all cases whereof he may have jurisdiction and may pronounce judgment and sentence to the same extent and manner as the Circuit Court for said county could do in such cases if they were tried before said Court without the intervention of a jury; provided, however, that if any person when brought before any justice shall before trial pray a jury trial or if the State's Attorney for said county shall pray a jury trial for the alleged offense on the part of the State, it, shall be the duty of said justice to commit said offender for trial or hold him to ball to appear for trial in the Circuit Court for said SEC. II. And be it enacted, That any person or persons, corporation, company or association violating any of the provisions of this. Act by selling directly or indirectly bartering or trading any kind of intoxicating liquors in said county, upon conviction in a court of justice, shall in the discretion of the Court, pay a tine of not more than three hundred dollars nor less than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the County Jali for not less than thirty days nor more than three months or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court,

SEC. 20. And se it enacted, That if a majority of the votes cast at said election are in favor of granning license, then the Clerk of the

E. N. CASTEEL, Sheriff of Garrett Count

OUR AGENTS.

The following named gentlemen are authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions to The Republi-

Accident-J. E. Gnagey, Altamont-J. Z. Browning, Blaine-E. Kitzmiller, Bloomington-Dr. H. M. Kemp Bittinger-Thos. B. Wiley. Cranesville-E. J. Fringer. Deer Park-Dr. J. W. Laughlin Elkins, W. Va.-John H. Riley. Elder-Mell Coddington. Engle's Mills-Austin Speicher Friendsville-Leslie E. Friend. Gorman-Geo. W. Moon. Grantsville-A. L. Gnagey. Hoyes-Wm, A. Smith. Huttons-Chas. F. White. ohnsons-Geo. W. Blocher Keyser, Md.-Solomon O, Beachy leHenry-D. W. Fraker. Mt. Lake Park-Jas. A. Enlow New Germany-C. J. Otto. Selbysport-Jonas Frazee, Sunnyside-John G. Knauer. Swanton-A. F. George. Westernport—Geo. L. Michaels, Wilson's Mills—Geo. W. Wilson.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall needs in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in same Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the same Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., neets in Legge's Hall every Monday night, PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hail, Lake View, every Wed-nosday evening, at 7:30. G. A. R. meets in Sturgiss Hall second and fourth Saturday nights in each month.

LOCAL NEWS.

Circus!

La Grippe.

Buck wheat.

The coal famine is at an end. Closed for repairs-Hotel de Cas-teel. A. D. Naytor's handsome house is completed.

La grippe is again abroad in the land in a different form.

Wm, Humbertson, of Grantsville, has been granted a pension. Jos. Helbig's house on Quality

Hill is ready for occupancy.

Will Scott has been confined to his bed for two weeks with la grippe.

Chestnuts are being shipped by thousands of pounds from Oakland.

It would be a good scheme to have some of the pavements repaired in

Mrs. Sincell's two cottages on West Liberty Street are nearly completed.

"The Rest."

Scherr's Woolen Mill was compelled to suspend work last week on account of the scarcity of coal.

G. E. Messerley is erecting a two-story addition to his carriage and and upholstering departments.

Samuel Lawton has bought out the confectionery of N. J. Whetseil. Sam has a fine stock of everything in the confectionery and cigar ine.

Ground was broken for the ejectrie light building on Mond y, by the contractor, A. C. Brooke, E-q. The building will be 30x50 feet, iron sides and roof. E. G. Rathbone, E-q., lost a thousand dollar diamond shirt stud on Sunday afternoon. His coachman found it, however, among the hay in the stable.

1892, for the regular yearly subscription-$1.50 per year. A. C. Whetsell has been confined to his bed for a week with a tumor on his side. He is now a little better an operation having been performed on him Saturday. Ohio, 'preached a very interesting sermon on last Sunday night to a large and appreciative audience in the Presbyterian Church. Dr. J. Lee McComas received a telegram from Cincinnati Sunday announcing that his son Lee had fallen and broken three ribs. The Doctor left on No. 1 Sunday night for that city to attend Lee in his illness.

Peter Dongas, who desired to get to Oakland Saturday afternoon, had ous herd of performing elephants is a narrow escape from being killed at the Queen City Hotel. He attempted the world. Among others they have to board a moving frieght train while the elephantine wonder, "The Umintoxicated, and was thrown to the brella-eared Elephant" which posiground, receiving a painful cut on the tively possesses the largest ears under left eye. Friends took him in charge the sun. This enormous institution and later in the day he proceeded on will exhibit at Oakland on Thursday, his journey.-Cumberland News.

managers of Ringling Bros.' Colossal

R. R. Shows, wish to announce to the people of Garrett County and the surrounding country that on Thursday, Oct. 16, the date of their great moral shows at Oakland, gambling, etc., will positively be prohibited-The press in the towns where they have appeared speak highly in their at Huttons. praise and there is no doubt that they will fulfill their promises, as they to Oakland on Monday. have done in the past.

See Davis & Son's pocket cutlery if you want a fine knife.

Go to S. T. Dayis's for fresh bread, cakes and jelly rolls. 34-3t.

FOR SALE-A National safety bicycle. Inquire at this office. Correspondents will please send their letters as early in the week as possible.

Go to C. C. Michael, Oakland, and buy your boots, shoes, hats, &c., and 33-2t save money.

We have for sale a few copies of Cruden's Concordance which will be sold very cheap.

guaranteed. Try it.

NOTICE. - All persons knowing theroselves indebted to A. J. Whetsell are requested to call and settle

Dress Goods. Quality and prices to Shactzer. suit eyerbody. No auction goods by October 15th, 1890.

S. T. Davis has the largest and Virginia. best oysters in the city at 30 cents per quart. Try them.

Notice.-All persons trespassing, urday night. hunting or fishing on the Cranberry all dogs shot.

V. M. S. SIMCOX. 33 - 3t*Milch cows, heifers and calves-some Alderneys, some half Aldernesy, to land Friday morning. suit purchaser, will be sold reasonable. Apply or address. H. WEBER. Dayis & Son have put in a full line of Westenholm pocket cutlery bought direct from the importers. Also a full line of Rogers' silverware, Go and see Townshend's line of floor, stair and table Oil Cloths. They take the lead in quality and prices.

When you come to the show be sure and stop at S. T. Davis's Enterprise Store for anything in the goods. grocery line, fruits, confectioneries, tobaccos, etc. .

NOTICE.-All persons are warned not to trespass in any manner whatever upon my faria near Mt. Lake 34 - 3tW. T. JAME-SON.

Garthright's stock of boots and shoes is the most complete and townsman, Michael Maroney, Esq., P. E. Kimmell, foreman of the Maryland, also his mammeth stock Chicago, where he will make his fu-Democrat, cut his left thumb very of dress goods and everything else, ture home, seriously Wednesday and is unable Lodies' wraps will arrive in a few We are glad to learn that Alexan-indeed beautiful with the bright ticket stations on the Baltimore and charge the leaves yet the Park tooks. nuts wanted.

wagon shop, to be used for painting neys, but there are none more again, giving hope of complete re- both left us, but they expect to re- ney ten days including day of sale. prompt, trustworthy and reasonable covery. Snow & Co., 710 8th., St., N. W. Rey, W. M. Spangler, of Accident ure in recommending them, and in for Washington, where they will atcalling attention to their advertise- tend the Maryland Synod of the this place, died at his home on Main more and Ohio R. R. Co. will place ment which will be found in another Lutheran Church. column of this paper.

largest, cheapest and best stock of Peddicord and Mrs. F. A. Thayer, dress goods ever brought to Garrett who had been on a visit of some County, consisting of cashmeres, tri- weeks to relatives in Howard Co. H. Y. Houck, assistant Supt. of Pub. dress Agents B. & O. R. R. cots, serges, and ladies cloths, from Mr. Peddicord was confined to his 20c to $1.25 per yard. Black cash- bed with la grippe from the time of meres with silk warp worth $1.50 for his return until Monday of this week. $1.25 per yard. Best Canton flannel To all new subscribers, paying in ever offered, 8 yards for 50c. Buckadvance, we will send THE REPUB- wheat flour taken on old accounts or LIDAN from this date until Jan. 1, in trade for other goods. 32-2t large line of confections, tobaccos, ci- the date, Thursday, October 16. gars, stationery etc., and hope to re-The Rev. Mr. Barnes, of Alliance, ceive a share of your patronage. SAMUEL LAWTON.

will offer at public sale at the late residence of J. B. Davis on the Promised Land farm, on Tuesday, October 14th, a lot of cattle, horses, farm im plements, etc. Sale to begin at 10 a.m. J. M. DAVIS. Executor.

Babylon Still Stands. Heading Ringling Bros.' ponder-

"Babylon" the largest elephant in say they are advertised. October 16th. Be on hand early and see the magnificent free street parade. Ringling Bros., proprietors and

Subscribe for THE REPUBLICAN. deed.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Notes About our People at Home Frank Nethkin is at home on a

C. M. Miller, of Swanton, was up W. P. Townshend is on visit to was a great sufferer.

relatives in West Virginia. was in Oakland on Saturday.

John B. Fay returned from his trip in Virginia on Monday morning. Hon, Geo. C. Sturgiss, of Morgantown, was in Oakland on Tuesday.

spent Tuesday in Mt. Lake Park. Sam'l Specht, of McHenry was up to Oakland on business Wednesday.

grippe relatives. Geo. D. DeSheilds, manager of the B. & O. R. R. hotels was in Oakland Tuesday.

F. S. Cline and little granddaughter are on a visit to relatives in West

Dr. Henry W. McComes and fam-

Lloyd Bell, of Frostburg, was up Glade Farm will be prosecuted, and to Oakland last week, visiting relatives and friends. Mr. John Bradley was in Cincin> nati last week. He returned to Oak-Lawson Loar, of Grafton, was on a nie Fazenbaker, both of this county. visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

D. H. Loar, this week. James L. Paugh, of Deer Park, was up to the city Saturday and made us a pleasant call.

winter boots and shoes. Also their is in the city this week, the guest of satisfactory experience in the things his uncle, W. M. Codington.

> Lestie E. Friend, the enterprising merchant of Friendsville went to New York yesterday to purchase Mesers, John Shartzer and Wm.

> Hinebaugh were in Grantsville last week attending the Sunday School

Jas O. Cleveland is preparing to Park. Have instructed my tenant to Roanoke, Va., for some weeks spent get a suitable person to stay with her and Harper's Ferry, under the ausbuild a house on Quality Hill near shoot all dogs found on my premises. Saturday and Sunday in Oakland, Peter Maroney, son of our fellow cheapest ever offered in Western left on No. 5 Sanday evening for main for the winter) who are greatly contending hosts struggled for vic-

33 2 | Ill for several months, is so far re-There are hundreds of patent after- covered as to be able to walk out Mrs. List and Mrs. Wayman have 15 and 16, 1890, valid for return jourin their charges than Messrs. C. A. John Shartzer, accompained, by

Washington, D. C. We take pleas- left Oakland Wednesday morning We neglected, last week, to men-Garthright has just opened up the tion the return of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. A Big Show Coming.

public that I have just received a cent free street parade. Don't forget have ever done before.

will preach in Corunna Chapel next Sunday, October 12th, at 10:30 a. m. PUBLIC SALE.—The undersigned Sturgis will preach at the same hour. make friends and succeed any where, come in from the election in No-

> List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Garrett county, Md., for week ending Oct. 11, 1890:

, Natheron, Strawser, Lagan, Mrs. S. V., nigan, M. V., Sehon, Maurice J., es, Miss Kate, Saunders, Mrs. S., nson, Mrs. Hunter, Slabach, Anna L., ty, Miss Lucy, Schinze, H., lebeayer, Parish Graty, Miss Lu-Redeheave aty, Miss Lucy, Schinze, H., deheaver, Patrick, Skipper, Thomas oan, Miss Mame, Tatty, Miss Mary. Persons calling for them will please

A Rare Pair of Twins. Those who visit Ringling Bros.

Enormous R. R. Shows, which is to exhibit here on Thursday, October county, Ga., was driving the other O. R. R. would be completed, as it is

FOULK .- The Rev. John S. Foulk, aged about 70 years, who was the Presbyterian minister here for a number of years, died in Northumber-Miss Sallie Jarboe spent Tuesday fand, Pa., on Sunday morning, at 12:30 o'ctock. His remains were buried in Greenmont Cemetery, Baltimore, on Monday, Oct. 7. Mr. Foulk was paralyzed a few months ago and

BOYER .- On the 3d of October, W. A. Barritt, Esq., of Barritt, 1890, Mrs. Mary Boyer died at the house of her son Solomon Boyer near Hoyes, and her remains were laid to rest in the English Lutheran cemetery at Accident on the aftetnoon of the 5th. She was born in Berlin, Somerset County on the 4th of July, Miss Mamie and Maggie Miller 1803, and was consequently 87 years, o'clock when Turnkey Coddington 2 months and 29 days old when she went in the jail to lock the prisoners died. In the year 1840, she and her in their cells, he found an empty husband moved to Accident on the house. All the inmates had escaped property now owned by Leonard through a hole cut in the wall Miss Mobile Peddicord has been Shartzer, known as the James Harlover the sinks. quite ill for several weeks with a den property. She was the mother mained a faithful member up to her of about 17. demise. She was a faithful wife, a John T. Sincell was in Grafton last kind mother, a good neighbor, and Casteel was out of town and did not Townshends' have a full line of week, buying chestnuts for John an earnest Christain. She died as know of the facts until he returned she lived, in the Christain faith and home on Tuesday morning. He has in the full hope of a glorious immortaiity.

W. M. S.

MARRIED. LEE-FIKE .- On Sunday, Oct.5th, ily returned from Bultimore on Sat- 1890, by the Rev. Joseph De Witt, at the residence of Thomas Fike, near Frierdsvill, Savanna Fike, of Preston County, W. Va., to Thomas Lee, of Garrett County, Md. Wednesday, Oct. 8, 1890, at the Com-

Mountain Lake Park. Yesterday was another of all the week the best, the power of the Spirit was upon our meetings throughout the day, which made it so refreshing Walter S. Wolf, of Davis, W. Va., and uplifting into a deeper and more of God.

Miss Jennie Smith and Miss M. A. Sherman have begun their eyangelistic work already and will not likely be with us again but very little until spring.

Miss Sarah Harriss and Miss Lizzle Darty are helping to hold Gospel meetings in various places near here. Miss Lizzie thinks of spending the Will Ravenscraft, who has been in winter at Hotel Dennett if she can Creek (Middletown,) Winchester that would want to engage in evan- pices of the Grand Army of the Regelistic work in this community.

enjoying the beautiful autumn. As there has been no frosts to der Kittsmiller, who has been very green grass and the beautifully var- Ohio R. R. east of the Ohio River at iagated foliage.

turn early in the spring.

Oct. 6, 1890.

drug business on Main St.

lic instruction of the State of Pennsylvania is to have charge of the Garrett County Teachers institute this fall. If this is so there is a treat in Ringling Bros. United Monster store for the teachers of Garrett, as Rail Road Shows, Great Triple Cir- he is the ablest instructor, and one of cus. Museum, Menagerie, Roman the most entertaining gentleman I Hippodrome and Universal World's have ever met. Come out, teachers, Having purchased the confection- Exposition is billed to appear at and hear him, and then you will be ery and cigar store of Mrs. N. J. Oakland on Thursday, Oct. 16. Be able to go into your school rooms and Whetzell, I desire to announce to the in town early and see the magnifi- do better work this winter than you Mr. J. S. Meyer, of Garrett County, is teaching the Borden school, He Rev. S. R. Baily, of Baltimore, is well liked by the patrons and of course that means he is doing good The Frostburg Water Board have vember.

increased their present working force by about 200 men. The new recruit sick last week with what the doctor are Negroes and Italians, D. W. A horse belonging to Mr. W.

Staurt, of Ballaghadereen. England, jumped through an open window three feet three inches by two feet two inches and three feet from the ground. The horse is about sixteeu hands high. He came through safe week. except a little scratch on the hips-

As William Turner, of Morgan 16th, will see a pair of playful little day, lightning struck the harness on baby lions. The little ones are now his horse, and running up the reins only take a couple of hours for us to very little larger than a full grown to his hands benumed them and gave | be at our destination, and our people cat and are an interesting pair in- him a slight shock, which he did not would be in Oakland much oftener get entirely over during the day.

Highest of all in Leavening Power .- U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889

BROKE JAIL.

All the Prisoners Escape on Sunday Night. On last Sunday night about 7:30

The prisoners names are Franklin of live children, as far as the writer Caton, serving a sentence of one year Chas, B. Cropp, of Bayard, was fw knows, of which number four are for having stolen property in his roller process flour. Every sack the city Sunday visiting friends and still living. She was received into possession; Wm. Sowers, the young the Lutheran Church at Berlin, Som | man who was committed by Justice erset County, by Rev. Jacob Crigler, Gonder a few weeks ago for stealing about 65 years ago of which she re $200, and John H. Johnson, a youth

At the time of their escape Sheriff offered a reward of $50 for their re-arrest. The Great Hagerstown and Frederick

Fairs. The Fairs at Hagerstown and Frederick will open their gates to the public October 14th, and close October 17th. Elaborate preparations are being made for the success of each. Special features are announced FRIEND - FAZENBAKER. - On daily during the fair and the large premiums offered will bring out the mercial Hotel, by Rev. J. M. Davis, best stock in this section as well as Mr. Asa B. Broadwater to Miss Jen. from more distant points. The races will be exceptionally fine, a number of noted stables have entered for the various eyents, and a good time may be looked for. The B. & O. R. R. Co. with its usual liberality has arranged to sell excursion tickets including admission to the fairs, from Baltimore, Washington, Grafton, Lexington and all intermediate ticket stations, for all trains October 13th to 17th inclusive, good until the 18th inclusive, at greatly reduced rates.

For time of special trains and rates see hand bills or write B. & O. agents.

Excursions to Historic Battlefields. The last of the series of special excursions to the Battlefields of Cedar public is announced for October 16, There are seven families still lin- 1890, affording a rare opportunity to gering with us (besides those who re- visit the Historic Ground where the

Tickets for these excursions will be change the leaves yet the Park looks sold to Middletown, Va., from all one fare for the round trip on October Good to stop off at Winchester or Harper's Ferry.

For the accommodation of those desiring to visit the Battlefields of Levi B. Porter, an old resident of Antietam and Gettysburg, the Balti-St. last week. At one time he kept on sale excursion tickets at one fare a grocery on Broadway. At the time for the round trip to these points at of his death, which was caused by Harper's Ferry and Weverton, to be eatarrh of the stomach, he was in the sold Oct. 16 to 24 inclusive good to return until Oct. 25th inclusive, for We have been informed that Prof. rates and time of trains call on or ad-

> Owen Sheeky, of Rankins, Pa., paid Selbysport a short visit Sunday, the 29th.

Messrs. A. G. Meese and George Beamer, who have been here for nearly a year saw milling, have returned to their homes in Ohio, to visit friends and relatives.

The hunting season is here and the sportsmen are busy. The Republican meeting at Friendsville last week awoke some of our cold politicians and we hear considerable talk about the candidates. We think we can show a Re-On Sunday, October 19th, Russell work. He is a good fellow and will publican increase when the returns

> Six of John Kissler's family were called nervous fever, which is said to follow influenza. Rosa and Anna Frazee will start > on Monday to yisit the Pittsburgh Exposition, and to visit relatives. They expect to be away for a few weeks.

L. C. Thompson was in town last

It would be a great advantage for the people of this section if the C. & nearly a day's ride from here to the than they are.

ABSOLUTELY PURE Registration Notice: SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

SITTINGS, 1890. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the in and for their respective Election Districts of Garrett County, will sit in their respective Election Districts in said County, at the places hereinafter named, for three successive days in the month of September, commencing with in the month of September, commencing with and including the third Monday of Septem-ber, that is to say, on the 15th, 16th and 17th Days of

SEPTEMBER. and for four successive days in the month of October, commencing with and including the first Monday of October, that is to say, on the

6th, 7th, 8th and 9th Days of OCTOBER.

in the year 1800, from the hour of 8 o'clock a.m., until 8 o'clock p. m. on each of said days for the purpose of ascertaining and registering in the proper registries of voters the persons qualified to vote is their respective Election Districts who shall present themselves for registration, and for the further purpose of revising and correcting the registries of voters of their said respective Election Districts, and the striking therefrom the names of all voters entered therein who shall have died or become for any reason disqualified, or, who for any cause shall have ceased to be entitled to remain on said registries of voters.

And on the Monday next succeeding the

And on the Monday next succeeding the cond Monday in October, that is to say, on

20TH DAY OF OCTOBER. n said year 1890, from the hour of S o'clock a. 1. until S o'clock p. m., on said day, the said fficers of registration will sit in their respect-ce Election Districts, for the revision of and or the hearing of applications for re-instatethe hearing of applications for re-instate-ent by persons whose names shall have been decten off the registries of voters for said dection Districts in said county, as provided Article 33, Sections 1 to 39 B, of the code of blic General Laws of Maryland, title "Elec-m," sub-title "Registration of Voters," as aended by chapter 573 of the acts of 1890, The places of sitting of each of said Officers Registration in their respective Election

Election District No. 1, at Swanton 2, at his residence Sep-tember sitting and in October at store of L. E. Friend, at Friendsville. 3, at Grantsville. 4, Sept. 15 at Franklin Mines, all other days at

All naturalized citizens applying for regis on will be required to produce their cer-tes of naturalization to the Officers of

H. O. HAMILL, Officer of Registration 1st Election District, Officer of Registration 1st Election District, R. E. FRIEND, Officer of Registration 2d Election District. ISAIAH FULLER, stration 3d Election District. Officer of Registra JOHN COLLINS, Officer of Registration 4th Election District. Officer of Registration 5th Election Distri Officer of Registration 6th Election District.
P. A. CHISHOLM.
Officer of Registration 7th Election District. HENRY A. SHAFFER, Officer of Registration 8th Election District.

SAMUEL JOHNSON,
Officer of Registration 9th Election District. SEBASTIAN HINEBAUGH. Officer of Registration 10th Election District.

JOHN C. CHANEY,
Officer of Registration 11th Election District, JOSEPH BUCKLE, Officer of Registration 12th Election District

Order of Publication.

Peter Donius vs.
Catharine Donius.

In the Circuit Court for Garrett County in Equty.
No. 511 Equity. The object of this Bill is to procure a di-The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonito the Plaintiff from the Defendant, Catharine Donius,

1. The bill alleges that plaintiff and defendant were married in the city of Cumberland, Maryland, on the 10th day of June, A. D., 1889.

2. That three weeks after the marriage the said Catharine left the plaintiff and was brought back by her uncle.

3. That, after that she went away with one Charles Blum and remained three weeks, during which time she committed and was guilty of adultery frequently.

4. That she remained away all last winter and was brought to your orator's house by her father sometime in March 1890 and gave birth to a child the same night, that the plaintiff provided medical attention, a nurse and all other necessaries for the said Catharine during her long siekness and after her recovery eft and has remained away permanently 5. That during her absence from your ora-tor's house the said Catharine was guilty of and committed numerous acts of adultery with a number of different persons, and that she is now living a life of shame in Pennsyl-narriage without property or means,

7. The bill prays for a divorce a vinculo mat-imonii, for general relief and for an order of It is thereupon ordered by the Court this sthick and of October, 1890. That the plaintiff cause a copy of this order together with the object and substance of the bill to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County once a week for four successive weeks before the stih day of November, 1890, glying notice to the defendant in said bill and warning her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 25th day of November, 1890, to show cause, If any she has why a decree shall not pass as prayed. why a decree shall not pass as prayed, 34-4t E. Z. TOWER, Clerk Circuit Couri ania.

7. That said Catharine was at the time of the True Copy-Teet: E. Z. Tower, Clerk.

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, That the under-igned, appointed by the County Commis-ioners of Garrett County, to view the lands brough which the proposed road shall be lo-

NORMAN BARNARD

JOHN HARNED,

A TRAGEDY.

Walking up the village street Came a maiden young and fair, Tripping on with fairy feet, Clad in gown of texture ware.

Walking down the village street Came a gallant debonair; And he could not help but meet With the fily maid so fair

And he whispered, as they passed, Something in the maiden's ear; She an instant stood aghast, Then she screamed aloud with fear.

Seemed the maid as one distraught, Helpless in her sudden fright— name upon the wretch who brought Her to such a piteous plight! Ere you heap upon his head

Scorn unbounded, can you guess What unlucky words he said? "There's a spider on your dress!"

-R. H. Titherington, in West Shore.

THE NEW DEPARTMENT. She Edited the Column on Love and Matrimony.

Before the non-committal door leading into the editorial department of a city daily stood a woman whose face plainly indicated painful hesitation and reluc tance. Her thoughts cried out almost audibly: "Where is all the courage with which I left home? They will hear my heart beat and think I am knocking, anyway, so I might as well do it. If he is a perfect bear, as they tell me, when at work, he can't do more than eat me."

Then she gathered strength enough to call the attention of a scribbler within, who called out: "Come in," to her feminine rap, as he followed his voice in a dazed fashion from out the heaps of papers, books and dust in which he had been immersed.

To her intimidated request for Mr. Barrows, the editor, he replied: "Oh; you want to see the chief! First door to the right," and sank into oblivion of her presence.

Thus encouraged the intruder acceded to the request to "please knock" on the first door to the right, and was told to 'come in" by a business-like voice. Now that the first awful moment of admittance had passed her spirits rose, giving strength to her purpose and "Is this Mr. Barrows?" she asked, as the sole occupant of the room rose to his feet at sight of the unexpected and altogether "taking" individual approaching his desk. "Yes, miss," he replied, "can I do any thing for you?" Looking straight up at him, with her whole stock of courage to the front, she said: "Yes, sir, you can. I want Have you any to give me?"

could not have been more surprised, as spicuous characteristic of a man. he looked at the brown-eyed girl whose lied her words. At last he recovered us talk about it."

"Yes, thank you I might as well sit Mr. Jameson, the architect. He knew I wanted something to do on a newspaper, as many as one. I am still in my salad surmised, never having been in an office. published over my first name-Jeanthe last name is Elford-Jean Elford, I wrote only for amusement until my father | nature's beauty spots. died two years ago, when I was twentyone. Since then my mother and I have not found life such smooth sailing. Now, I want some regular employment the bottom and work up."

Now Edward Barrows was an editor hardened in the ways of feminine applicants for assistance; besides being a bachelor on the wrong side of forty, with the reputation of being what has truly never existed, a woman hater. But the way in which this girl "struck from the shoulder," as he told her afterwards, overthrew his defense at one blow.

"Well, Miss Elford, I shall be glad to do any thing in my power for you, if only for the sake of Jameson. I am 'Yes, surprised at his sending any one to me, considering my reputation for growling when in my den," he added, with a quizzical look.

She laughed and dared to reply: "I must confess you are a surprise to me, for I was assured that it would be taking my life in my hands, this interviewing you about newspaper work."

The veteran glanced at himself in an advertising mirror hanging on the wall, wondering if he had reached his dotage to like such impudence from a stranger. In a few words he explained to her the hardships of such a life; the army of volunteers enlisting in the war of words for bread every day; and finally that he had no vacancies on his paper; moreover, he knew nothing of her capabilities as he had never happened to come across articles signed "Jean." "But because I know nothing of you is no sign you can't write," he put in as a sugar plum after a bitter pill. "Although I can do nothing for you permanently, if you will send me something you have done perhaps I could publish an article now and then or help you to a place in some other office." After which she could do no more than be grateful for crumbs and rush home to get up something fine in her very best style for the bear that did not growl. In their small apartments up-town Jean found her mother, who had been left in the dark in regard to this venture for fear of discouraging opposition. The mother conjectured that events were in the air from the cyclonic entrance of Jean, ordinarily as dignified as a boyish face and exuberance of life would permit.

"Mother, mother, here I am!" "Have you gone through the flery furnace without a singe?" Mrs. Elford's amazement increased as Jean described the whole scene. She indulged in a laugh, which atoned for many things, when, after asserting that Mr. Barrows was good-looking and distinguished if he did wear glasses and had a storn mouth, in a tone of comical resignation Jean sighed out But I suppose he is married, as are most of the nice men one meets

"Remember, daughter, that these particularly nice married men have, in the majority of cases, been made so by the companionship of good wives. You will have to turn some ugly duckling into a swan some day."

"Never! Momsey; I'd rather be a spinster all my days than take some callow youth to raise," was the energetic response.

So Jean sent the editor a sample copy of her "wares," which he deemed worthy of publication. Some correspondence, ostensibly on business, ensued and along toward Christmas time se secured her work on another paper. which proved good practice if not very emunerative.

One snowy night mother and daughter were settled in their cheery little parlor for a quiet evening of pen-scratching and reading. The door-hell announced a caller. Jean, on opening the flat door, saw a man covered with snow, carrying a bundle of books. Following out her first thought that it must be a belated book-agent, she was about to refuse him admittance when a more comprehensive glance revealed Mr. Barrows, who somewhat nervously said: "Good evening, Miss Elford; I have brought you some books which need reviewing. How are you at that kind of work?"

Overcoming her surprise, she asked him in, said something about his kindness in coming such a bad night, and, efore they quite realized it, he was presented to her mother and drying off before the open fire. Arrangements were made about the book reviewing, followed by a few moments of general onversation, after which he took leave as suddenly as he had appeared, rearking that he was on his way to a bachelor dinner given monthly by a lozen friends of that order of misan-

"Your new friend seems to partake mewhat of the nature of a whirlwind Jean," said Mrs. Elford after the door closed upon the departing surprise. "Yes, mother; but what is more astonishing I verily believe he is an old bachelor after what he said about the dinner. It is fortunate I did not know that when I went to see him, for the halo of a supposititious wife and family around him softened my horror of asking a favor of a strange man."

Between the time of the first call and the summer Mr. Barrows found considerable business attracting him to a certain quiet up-town flat. Occasionally the ladies found themselves at the theater or opera, followed by a dainty supper with the acquaintance whose entrance into their lives had been as If she had asked for bread the editor abrupt in every particular as the con-

During the winter Mr. Barrows talked distinctively feminine and protected ap- of going abroad in June. Whenever arance and generally well-kent air be- the subject was mentioned Jean exsufficiently to say: "What kind of anticipated regret, for, notwithstand-work do you want? Have a seat and let ing the disparity in years, they seemed to be wonderfully congenial.

One fine May day our young "literary down and come to the point immediate- lady," as her mother dubbed her, was ly. You and I have a mutual friend in standing rapturously gazing into the windows of a florist on Broadway where "Jacque" roses and violets were piled in and mentioned you as the only editor of masses of fragrant beauty. A voice his acquaintance. I did not know even over her shoulder asked: "Which will you take?" She turned and saw Eddays of journalism, as you have probably ward Barrows looking down at her through glasses which failed to hide the but a good many of my things have been glow of admiration in his keen, gray eves of something-she supposed the flowers, as she knew his passion for He insisted upon getting her a handful of roses, and then walked on down the street enjoying the blue sky, salt breeze, and the bright faces of the mulon a paper, and am willing to begin at titude en promenade in their new spring

Jean asked her companion how soon he expected to sail.

He replied: "I am not sure enough yet to engage my passage. Then in his abridged fashlon, sug gestive of the blue pencil, he almost jerked out: "Miss Jean, I wish to enlarge my staff."

"Do you?" she innocently asked, thinking perhaps a place would be made

"Yes," he replied, "You came to me lastfall for a position, but I had nothing to give you. Since then I have begun a new column called 'Love and Matrimonial Affairs.' Will you edit this new

He enjoyed her puzzled look for a oment then continued in a low, earnest tone: "This is no place to tell you, Jean, that when you struck out from the shoulder that day in my office yo broke down the door of my heart which had been bolted for years; but I have to do things when the spirit moves in order to succeed, and success I must have or give over the greatest happiness of my life. What do you say,

Jean?" She had not known herself before, but the last few moments had taught her much. She looked at him with a smile and replied: "I thought editors employed old and experienced hands for regular employment."

"That means that you will undertake the work, dearest?" he asked in a whisper, as they mounted the stairs to the elevated road.

"I'll consider and send you a telegram or postal as to my conclusion; or, perhaps you will come out to-night for a verbal reply," she flashed back as she stepped aboard the train.

Well, Mr. Barrows' trip abroad was deferred until Octobor, when his new staff assistant, the editor of the column on Love and Matrimony, bore him company. - Anna Farquhar, in Detroit Free

Following the Precept. Peace-Maker-Why did you give that oy such a thrashing? Belligerent-He hit me wid a brick Peace-Maker-But don't you know you should return good for evil? Belligerent-Well, if that thrashin' I give him warn't good, I don't know what is. -The Jury.

-Young Wife (to her husband, who is starting for the autumn encampment) -"But you will be careful, dear Carl, won't you, and march very slowly."-Fliegende Blatter.

MISCELLANEOUS.

-The national life boat institution last year saved 627 lives from shipwreck. -There are over 40,000 children attending the schools in London who are insufficiently fed.

-Probably with the intention of elephant, two camels and five horses. -When a steamer passes over the

Port Huron tunnel the noise of the wheel can readily be heard in the hole. water. -A tramp in Birmingham, Ala., while suffering with delirium tremens, saw -Michael Fitzgerald, Jr., while berrying up Bates Run, near Tunesta, feet and seven inches. This is, no loubt, the largest blacksnake that has been killed in the country this year. -While fishing off Fortune's Rocks at Biddeford a young lady lost a valuable ring. Having occasion a few days later to visit the place she was more than in the sand near the water. -A Tuscarora (Nev.) newspaper prepares the young mind for the coming of a new school principal by the remark that "the official's teaching weight is bout two hundred and twenty-five bounds avoirdupois, which under certain conditions might be made to approximate a ton.' -Hearing a tremendous noise in the engine-room an Auburn, Me., engineer rushed below to find the governor belt off, the engine running wild and the room filled with steam. He immediately appreciated the situation and did what few men would-groped about till he found the stop-valve and slowed the

-A remarkable incident occurred in Hartford recently. A mink trotted fessed to be my admirers.' right into the heart of the city, among to capture him alive, but he fought so their hair, possibly at your request?" desperately that they had to kill him.

abundant in Northern houses that you offered her special attention. She never can so waste it? Pray tell your people means really to marry them." that only a 'phule' will put any more than on one destined for the United to kiss her?" States-else why the postal treaty? Onehalf my correspondents thus foolishly be any harm in it."

-Some jokers at Schenley Park, he said, gravely. He left her and never top. -Boston Budget. argh, had a little fun with a Hun- returned garian, who asked for work. They gravely gave him a position as hostler worth mentioning.

-George W. Keene, of South Boston, nocent purity. deserves to live until he is ninety-nine gard of nines. His father died in 1859 Companion. t the age of sixty-nine, and was buried on January 29. Mr. Keene himself was married May 29, enlisted in the civil what Would Happen If All the Eggs of war July 19, 1863; was mustered out war July 19, 1863; was mustered out June 29, 1865, and was discharged July 9. His son was married October 29. On which necessitated his removal to the the 19th. He is fifty-nine years old.

rays, by picking the fruit while green eggs of the improvident species. and exposing it to the fumes of burning matter, affecting only the consumer," is daceous fish; thousands more of the salve applied to the conscience.

AN OPTIMIST'S BLOW.

Was Bowed Down.

This is about a young man who lives put up with. in the Pine Tree State. This is a young intense natures that can brook no opporides and to parties. These were so uniformly and firmly refused that he at asking the young lady, point blank, why she refused his attentions.

to another man, and do not think it sources. would be right to go about with you." The young man sat stupefied for a moment, too absolutely stunned for words. Then his former bright nature forsook him, as he looked, shuddering, down the long black vista of the years that confronted him. Not one ray of light gleamed athwart the sad vista. Not a glim. The clouds all seemed to be lined with black alapaca. Turning his mournfu-gaze upon the object of his soul's worship, this one-time light-hearted but now desolate man brought a groan from his inmost being, and said in a voice that tremblingly told of his deep feeling in the matter: "Abigail, I would rather have given five dollars than have had this thus."-

Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

SECOND-HAND LOVE.

A Pernicious Code That Rules the Relations of Many Young Men and Women. May Russell, after two or three winters of bellehood in her native town went to visit her cousins in Blankville She was not twenty-one years old, and starting a menagerie of his own, an au- was a pretty, sweet-tempered vivacious dacious thief in St. Joseph, Mo., stole an | girl. Her friends soon saw that Doctor Holmes, the physician of the village, meant to win May for his wife, and that May was ready to be won. For the first time in her life she had found a man which is at least forty feet under the who appealed to her highest nature, and in whom she could find her own better self. Doctor Holmes was an honorable man his big toe protruding from his well- of great depth and tenderness of feelworn boot. Imagining it to be a snake ing, who had been a faithful son and about to bite him, he smashed it with a loyal friend, and who would give his whole heart to his wife.

"He is too good for May," said her cousin, Mrs. Russell, to her husband. "The girl began her flirtations at school, killed a black snake that measured ten when she was ten years old. The doctor has never before wished to marry any woman. She is skilled in the conduct of sham love affairs." "The fooling is real with her now," renlied Mr. Russell. Doctor Holmes was a grave, quiet surprised to find the identical ringlying was for life; he would not allow himself his heart and home forever? At last he resolved to hesitate no onger, and one evening went to the chicken was cooked .- Boston Herald. house determined to ask her to be his wife. A young girl, one of May's comboth were looking amusedly at a large card, on which were fastened six locks of hair, each labelled with a name and

"What have you there?" asked Doc tor Holmes.

May laughed saucily. "I call them be as good as new. my scalps-tokens of my victories," she said. "They are locks of the hair of men who-shall I confess it-have pro-

Doctor Holmes was silent. Her friend throngs of people on the streets, and soon afterward left the room. Then he and finally made his way into the back that these men have been so much inyard of a big store on Asylum street. terested in you and have professed such In the yard men cornered him and ried regard for you as to give you locks of

"Yes, indeed," she said laughing. -Says a business man, writing from my part of the country a girl would feel the City of Mexico: "Why do you Amer- neglected if she had not received some cans put five cents on a letter to Mex- such tokens of personal regards, perco when two are enough? Is cash so haps of love, from gentlemen who had

"But she allows each man to look upon ostage on a Mexican letter or paper her as possibly his future wife, probably sugar, three tablespoonsful of milk and contribute to Uncle Sam's exchequer." "I think I can not agree with you,"

May Russell's code rules the social relations of many young men and women. to a bear, and supplied him with a curry- They hold familiar intercourse or form The bear enjoyed be- engagements which they know are not until the meat will fall from the bones, ing scratched with the curry-comb, and founded upon love or esteem, and which and the liquor is reduced to less than showed it by rolling on the ground as they never intend to fulfill. No young half; while boiling the liquor should be fast as he was cleaned. He also evinced | girl can pass through one of these "exhis appreciation by playfully clawing periences," as they are called, without his valet, and by the time the latter had degredation and taint. She goes to her completed his job he had no clothes on husband a battered, second-hand thing, which no art can restore to its first in-

We speak plainly, because the evil

FECUNDITY OF FISH.

Fish that take much care of their offspring naturally don't need to prothe 9th of August he received an injury duce eggs in the same reckless abundance as those dissipated kinds that city hospital, but he was discharged on leave their spawn exposed on the bare sandy bottom at the mercy of every -The English Industries states that comer who chooses to take a bite at it. a novel industry, resting strictly on They can afford to lay a maller number, but a little capital and a dash of dis- larger and richer in proportion than honesty to develop it, is said to be prac- their rivals. This plan, of course, enadiced in Florida. It consists in avoid- bles the young to begin life far better try, fourteen miles from the court house perfect ripening of lemons by the sun's tiny little fry which come out of the

For example, the codfish lays 9,000,000 sulphur, whereby its color is changed odd eggs; but anybody who has ever to a rich golden yellow, infinitely more eaten fried cod's roe must needs have attractive than the natural hue. "It is true that the interior of the lemon is so very small as to be almost indistinpractically free from juice, a fact which guishable to the naked eye. Thousands he hypercritical might reckon a slight of these infinitesimal specks are dedrawback; but this is, after all, a trivial voured before they hatch out by preyoung fry are swallowed alive during their helpless infancy by the enemies of their species. Imagine the very The Yearful Extent to Which His Heart fractional amount of parental affection which each of the 9,000,000 must needs

On the other hand there is a paterman of very deep feelings. When he nally-minded group of cat-fish known as gets his mind set on a thing it takes a the genus Arius, of Ceylon, Australia strong hold on him. His is one of those and other tropical parts, the males of which carry about the ova loose in their pelican's pouch; and the spouses of one of your real bright optimists, who these very devoted sires lay accordingly consider that every cloud has at least a only very few ova, all told, but each al-German-silver lining. Well, this young most as big as a hedge-sparrow's egg-a man had centered his affections upon a wonderful contrast to the tiny mites of young lady in the village, and on nu- the codfish. To put it briefly, the greater erous occasions offered his escort on the amount of protection afforded the eggs, the smaller the number and the larger the size. And conversely, the length brought matters to a head by larger the size of the egg to start with, the better fitted to begin the battle of life is the young fish when first turned "Because," said she, "I am engaged out on a cold world upon his own re-

This is a general law, indeed, that runs through all nature, from London slums to the deep sea. Wasteful species produce many young, and take but little care of them when once produced. Economical species produce very few young, but start each individual wellequipped for its place in life, and look existence. And on the average, however many or however few the offspring their parents in the next generation. Were it otherwise, the sea would soon become one solid mass of herring, cod and mackerel.-Cornhill Magazine.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Apple Jelly: Use fair, sour apples tice them, skins, seeds and all, and nmer with one-half a cup of water ill well cooked and soft. Then strain hrough a cloth, add a pound of sugar to pint of juice, boil a few moments. kimming till clear; then pour into glasses, and cover when cold.-Indianapolis Sentinel.

-Half-pint jelly-glasses are the best. They should be rinsed in scalding water and dried, then stood up side by side in some large pan, and filled with the jelly to the brim. Allow them to stand a day or two in some sunny window, cover them, if possible, with bits of glass, and as the moisture gathers on the underside wipe it carefully away.

-White Cake: One pint of butter, well creamed, to this add two pints of sugar, one pint of corn starch dissolved in one pint of sweet milk (can use flour instead of starch); three pints of flour. measured after being sifted three times: two heaping teaspoons of baking powder, well mashed, mixed in the flour; whites of twelve eggs, well beaten .-

Detroit Free Press. -Chicken Patties: Chop the chicker meat, free from gristle, season with man. The step he was going to take salt, pepper and a little celery or sage, place a little of the meat on pieces of to be rash. Yet surely he could make puff paste, press the edges together, nemistake in taking this apparently in- making small turnovers, place them in ascent, artless, sweet-natured girl into a shallow pan, and bake a nice brown, serve with drawn butter or a gravy made from the liquor in which the

-Lamp-burners, to give good light, should be cleaned at least once a month panions, was in the room with her, and To clean them, take a piece of soda the size of a walnut, put it into a quart of soft water, place the lamp-burner in it -an old tomato-can is good enoughand set it on the stove; after boiling for five minutes, remove the burner and, when put back on the lamp, it will

-Fish for an Invalid: One small fish, a small sprig of parsely, one tablespoon of milk. Get a nice fresh, white fish: clean it well, put it into a small jelly jar with the milk and parsely well washed, cover very closely with paper, passed all kinds of dogs with impusity, said, "Are you serious? Do you mean and set it in a saucepan of boiling water at the side of the fire for half an hour. This is a very light way of cooking fish for an invalid. It can be skinned and boned, if preferred .- N. Y. Observer.

-Checolate-Cocoanut Cake: For the cake, one cup of sugar, one tablespoon ful of butter, one-half a cup of milk two eggs, one and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in jelly-tins. This will make two thick layers. For the filling, melt one-third of a cake of chocolate, add half a cup of a half-teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix these "Yes. There does not to me seem to ingredients until smooth, then add onehalf a grated cocoanut to the chocolate, and spread between the layers and on Pressed Chicken: Use plump, young hickens; allow one and a half pints of cold, salted water for each chicken, le come to a boil gradually, then boil fast skimmed several times. Chop the meat fine, first removing the bones and skin; strain the liquor through a cloth; season the meat liquor well with salt and pepper (chopped celery or celery salt may be used if the flavor is liked) and press firmly into an earthen mold; set years old in order to complete his re- exists, and the danger is great. -Youth's away to cool with a heavy plate over it -Housekeeper.

BEES AND ANTS.

Their Traveling Instinct One of the Marvels of Natural History. How insects, especially bees and ants, find their way back home is one of the marvels of natural history. "My wife keeps bees," says a Missouri farmer, "and my little boy has a taste for entomology, and is always making experiments of one kind or another with them and other insects. He has been tiot avenue station the other day themical principles and needing nothing and to make each individual egg much trying to find out how far away a bee can be taken and not get lost, but has not yet succeeded. I live in the counng dependence upon the slow and im- provided with muscles and fins than the and during the summer that boy has been in town with me a dozen times and on each occasion he brought some bees along in a little tin box. He colored their wings with violet ink, so that he would know the insects again, and let them go in the heart of the city. The first time he did it he released six bees at the Biddle Street Market, and I believe they got home before we did, because they were all on hand attending to business the next morning, just as though they took a fourteen-mile journey every day. Occasionally a bee fails to come back, but in nearly every instance they return in a few hours. Once he let five, whose wings had been colored red, out of their box at six o'clock in the morning, on the corner of Fourth and Biddle, while his little sister watched the hive at home. One arrived, tired almost to death, and dropped at the door of the hive a little before Yet up to the time of which I mouths, or rather in an enlargement of two, and three came before five in the write he had always been noted for the pharynx, somewhat resembling the looking upon the bright side of things— palican's nough; and the spouses of black ants have been equally satisfac tory, for some marked ants have found their way home after being released more than a mile distant from the hollow tree in which they lived. How they do it is a question, but they generally do, and so it is likely the travels of both ants and bees are much wider than

Suits for Little Boys.

Democrat.

The first colored dress which is put on little boys after they are a year old is of gingham, and is made with a pleated waist with rows of insertion between it was called, he drank so heavily at the pleats and a skirtlaid in side pleats. dinner that when they took him out into When the boy is about three or four years old, according to his size, he is to speak, the Governor of the State said considered large enough to put in a suit he was afraid for him. Just before his with the kilt separated from the waist. These suits are made of Scotch plaid after them closely till they can take and plain wools of light weight, white care of themselves in the struggle for pique and white flannel. The skirt is Webster roused himself, drew his maslaid in flat, broad kilts, and if of wool sive hand up and through his hair, and is ornamented with a decoration of smoothed his face, and it seemed as if to start with, just enough to attain squares of braid, The jacket is square he had wiped away all signs of intoxicaand short, to show the blouse vest of white linen or white or yellow chims silk entirely around. Short white socks, which display the bare legs, are worn with dark tan-colored boots.—

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-What the farmer wants-the earth. -Will - "And wouldn't the dealer trust Buston; such a well known man, too?" Bill-"That's the trouble -- he's too well known."—Yankee Blade. -"Dem close ob yohn looks putty new, how dye git 'em?" "By de yahd, same's an' one else." "Humph! Sposes Washington Post. -"I've made my will, Joseph, and it is so well drawn it can't be broken." rejoice to hear that, uncle." "I don't know whether you do or not, Joseph. I haven't left you a cent."-Harper's you means de back yahd, doan yer?"-

Bazar. - "Don't you think it extravagant, Henry, to pay ten guineas for a diamond ring for your wife?" "Not at all; you seem to forget how much I shall save on her glove bill."-Spare Moments. -Doctor-"This is a terrible fracture.

I shall have to cut off the arm close to the shoulder." Tramp-"Whoopla! Let her go! I can't saw any wood then, can I. doctor?"-Boston Herald. -Teacher-"I hope you don't waste any of your spare moments, Tommy.' Tommy-"No, ma'am, I don't. During my spare time this week. I have read three novels in the Bloody Bill Series.' Yankee Blade. -When a man wants to believe in ghosts, and is ashamed to, he believes in hypnotism. Many a man who can not control his own mind talks gravely of controlling the minds of others .-

Atchison Globe. -In the Janitor's Room .- "So the landlord has gone mad, you say?" "O, yes, they took him to Bloomingdale to-day." "But did he show it plainly?" "Certainly, he had lowered the rent of every flat."—Courier des Etats-Unis.

-Grinand Barrett-"I went into the barber shop just now to get combed, and they charged me fifty cents. What do you think of that?" Saysit Anyhowe-'I think the fool and his money are parted."- Van Dorn's Marazine.

-"It Was Worth Looking At .- "You dashed this off in an idle moment, I suppose," remarked the editor as he looked at the manuscript. "No, sir; I worked at that for a month." "Indeed! I'll give it careful consideration."-Smith, Gray & Co.'s Monthly.
—Country Editor—"Jim, I understand that old stone building at the crossroads is to be torn down." The Printer -"Yep, they begin to-morrow." Country Editor-"Well, just slip around and put a live toad in the wall. We must have something to fill up with this week."-N. Y. Weekly. -"I called to see your father this afternoon," remarked Charlie, as he took a seat in the parlor. Hester fluttered visibly. Recovering herself with an apparent effort, she said, simply; "Did you?" "Yes," replied Charlie. "He has been owing our firm a little bill for some time."-Washington Post. -It is stated that a man in Calife has two pairs of ears. A wise provision of Providence, no doubt, to enable him to get the worth of high-priced opera. If this peculiarity should multiply in his descendants it may be possible after awhile for somebody to come out even with the telephone company. - Ram's Horn.

--Caller-"Is there any thing more I can do for your comfort, Mrs. Muggers?" Mrs. Muggers (very deaf and nearly blind)-"Only one thing. Wouldn't you introduce me to some of the society roung ladies?" Caller-"With pleasure. No doubt they will be glad to be of as-Mrs. Muggers-"Yes, you sistance." see I get tired staying at home and I'm very sure if they knew how I am afflicted they'd be glad to take me on all their little excursions, as chaperon." - Good News.

WITHIN THE LAW. A Colored Lady Asks for Information on

Serious Sublect. "I want to be posted in de law," said a colored woman who called at the Gra-"Well?" replied the sergeant. "I've got a gal."

"An' she's got a beau." "Very likely."
"I can't abear him, an' I doan' want him 'round de house. What co'se shall

I take?" "Have you ever given him a hint?" "Lands, sah! but I jess tole him to d'ar out or I'd bust him to smash! I reckon dat's a bint.'

"But he didn't go?" "No, sah. Now, den, I want to know how fur I kin go an' keep widin the law. I've talked to him, frowed water on him, hit him wid a club, called him names, made de dog bite him, an' p'inted a pistil at him, but he won't stay away. How much furder kin I go an' not break de law? Could I dun' stan' in de vard an' mow him across de legs wid an old scythe when he cum up in de da'k? Could de pistil go off accidentally?"

When advised to try peaceful measures she indignantly responded: "Dat's what I did do on the very go off. I took him by the collar an' frowed him ober de gate!"—Detroit Free Press. Daniel Webster's Habits.

There has been a good deal of controversy about Mr. Webster's habits. When he went to England he acquired what I do not think was his habit before, he became convivial; and on his return he showed an evident liking for is generally supposed."—St. Louis Globe | the brandy bottle. He was never an inebriate, but sometimes he made his most powerful speeches while under the influence of strong drink, and on more than one occasion he was sadly the worse for it. When he made his speech at Richmond, under the October sun, as the State-house grounds, where he was turn to speak came the Governor leaned over and said to him: "Mr. Webster, we will be ready for you presently.

FARM AND GARDEN.

HAY-MAKING.

A Discussion of the Subject Containing Suggestions for Next Year's Work. While it is a little late, says a writer in the Ohio Farmer, to give advice for making hay, a discussion of the subject lated, are taken from record, or founded may result in benefit, from the fact that on observation, in the Northwest Provit is fresh in the minds of farmers. Inces. The adjective Indian is, how-Making hay does not consume the time ever, not inappropriate, because as far or take the hard labor it did some years as the writer is aware, the particular of through my county, during the having was forcibly reminded that some of the more recent time and labor saving conveniences are not generally

Of the more recent improved implements, the hay loader and hay fork take precedence. For using the hay fork in stacking some kind of a derrick is necessary, on which to run the fork. The cheapest and most convenient is a tripod of poles six or eight inches thick at the butt, three or four inches at top, and thirty feet long. Have a bolt twelve inches long made of three-fourth Norway iron, so as not to break.

Bolt the poles together like an oldfashioned beef rack. Bore the hole with a seven-eighth or one-inch auger so the bolt will go through easily. Also bore a two-inch auger hole three or four feet from the butt of each pole, so as to run a fork handle or something else through, to turn and lift the poles by. Lay two outside poles across the rick bottom, the butts on the side you wish to stack from; the butts about twenty feet apart, and about eight feet from side of rick. Dig a slanting hole just poles to catch when you raise them. itself by placing necklaces round their Lift up the poles when bolted together throats, charms and horoscopes cased in board or piece of rail under to hold them | their wrists.—Gentleman's Magazine. Fasten your fork rope to butt of middle pole, taking the rope across the rick bottom between the other two poles. Hitch your horses to the rope, a ject of Caterpillars. poles. Hitch your horses to the rope, a man standing with the butt of each of The caterpillar is a craling thing and the two poles to keep them from slip- hears all over his back and fannie found ping, and your team will raise the der- one down her back and it made me crall

rick easily. comes within eight or ten feet of the rick bottom, unhitch your horses, and are such horrid things, they look so two men can take hold of the poles and offly, and I feel I don't know how. Catput them any place desired. For the terpillars climb trees, the other day I heavier of the two poles dig a hole saw a big, big caterpillar, and he was so about a foot deep; for the other poles a horrid that I took a stick and killed mere notch in the ground to keep them | him with it and threw it away to let the from slipping will suffice. The butts swill man take it home period caterpilof the two poles should be about twen-lars have 1,000 or more legs, he may not ty inches from the rick; the butt of have so many, and he may have more middle pole at such a distance as to bring your fork over the center of the zess that but don't know. middle pole, and one to the bottom of the largest pole; attach the fork and like that. Also they eat leaves, plum horse, and you are ready for work.

fall in the middle, but the ricker can take his fork while the hay is suspended lars drink water, and in short every in the air and shove the hay any place thing they can get. Caterpillars, I can where the right kind of a desired. We build ricks 36 feet long, not say much more about caterpillars, and our ricker says that if the man who but one good rool is never to throw a runs the fork will pull the trip rope at caterpillar at a man or anybody for it 18 feet long (c, d, in Fig. 1); eight scant-ling 2x4, and 12 feet long; four scant-most of things that we can do they can ling 2x4, and 8 feet long; a piece of 2 not. - Buffalo Express.

inch plank, 1 foot long, and some short pieces 2x4 inches. In Fig. 1 a b is 4x4, 14 feet long; b is where rope is attached to the arm of hog-stacker; e the pulley. Fig. 2 shows one side of the derrick, K K (up and down) are 2x4 pieces, 12 feet long; H G, 2x4 and 8 feet long, the lower one enough longer to make M N 2 feet long. H G and M N are placed between K K and secured with halfinch bolts. The other side of the dercick is made the same. Fasten the two sides together with the cross-piece, as shown in Fig 1. Have the blacksmith to make the collar for the masts to turn In at O, the rings to fasten ropes at C, and the iron pin for the bottom of mast at D. The parts should all be bolted together, so as to be taken apart and put under cover from season to season. The blacksmithing and bolts will cost. here, one dollar, and a handy man will put the derrick together in two hours and a half. To raise the derrick let the end (D) of mast rest on the ground and drive stakes at bottom of derrick; raise with ropes, and when raised fasten ropes and bottom of derrick with stake; lift up the mast and place an iron pin in the hole in 2-inch plank at D. The pulley at bottom of derrick is changed from side to side as you wish to change the turn of your mast.

AN INDIAN CRIME.

Young Children Are Often Murdered for The crime it is proposed to briefly describe certainly exists in Calcutta and in Bengal generally, and it is not unknown, report says, in the south of India. But the fense is unknown elsewhere, and, indeed, is suggested and led up to chiefly by habits and associations existing in that part of the East. A social outrage so striking very forcibly impressed itself on the writer's mind when he was commencing magisterial work in a district near Agra, many years ago. And an account of it was written, entitled "Foul Play in the Jungle," whichpublished in an ephemeral magazine and long forgotten by its author as well as by everybody else-is only mentioned because some of the factshere put down were doubtless put down there also. It may be safely affirmed, however, that not a letter of that account has ever reached England.

The crime is that of the murder of children for their ornaments. And three strange points have been noticed about this terrible outrage. First, that it is generally committed without due provision for its concealment, and often with circumstances of extreme folly. Second, that the crime appears to be almost always discovered and punished. The writer has never heard of missing children supposed to have come to vio lent ends, about whom nothing further was known, for the people are with the authorities in this matter, and will do their utmost to bring the suspected to justice. The third point is that this especial offense does not seem to materially diminish. And here it may be just said that murders, if found out, do not necessarily reflect discredit on the police. Many women are put to death in India, as in other parts of the East, from motives of jealousy. If a man wishes to destroy his wife, and does not fear dying for the act, Vidocq himself could not prevent him. And so with this destruction of children. A law could be passed prohibiting their wearing ornaments, but if they do wear ornaments no law can prevent and no vigilance hinder persons who will risk being hanged for murdering them.

It will be remembered that among Hindoos the son has the duty of performing the religious rites to his dead father and male children are on this account, among others, much valued and sufficiently deep for the butts of the indulged. And affection often displays as high as a man's head, and place a silver upon their arms and bangles on like every thing birds eat caterpillars When the butt of the middle pole and give them to their children to eat.

"A CRALING THING."

Attach a pulley to the top of the Caterpillars eats flies and other in- out." They've the will, but sects such as ants, miscatos and others Some may think the hay would all flowers, too. Some have baby caterpillars, in short all of them. Caterpilthe right time, he can throw a bunch of hay clear off the rick.

Forests are rapidly disappearing and every farmer has not poles on hand.

For a mast take a 4x4-inch tough piece can, I can't but most of the things that the control of the rick.

We put in our claim for can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can, I can't but most of the things that can be can, I can't but most of the things that can be can prove the can be can

-He-"I'm tired. I've had to play tennis all afternoon." She-"I'm tired, too. I've had to listen to your tennis iokes all afternoon."—Mursey's Weekly.

A FAIRY tale—the comet's.

A WEEK ending-Saturday. A ROLLING stone-that in the mill. Goes for all time-the pendulum. As good as a mile-eight furlongs. ALWAYS slow travelers-chess men. A REGULAR shake up-a milk punch. The yellow fever-avarice for gold. KEEP their eyes open-Chinese idols. A good buy-law-collect on delivery.

A FARE question-"Did I get your ticket?" THE lightning express-thunder.-Drake's Come into port with a bow-ocean steamers.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A PRO-JECT on foot-a corn.-Drake's

A STATE controlled by a ring-marriage.-Boston Herald. Even a dead duck can claim that he died game.—Texas Siftings. Tmngs said softly behind a fan may raise a great breeze.—N. O. Picayune.

BREAKING it gently-collections on the in-THERE is no sense in weeping over spilt milk when it is two-thirds water.

An appropriate helm for a mud scow would be a tiller of the soil.—Texas Siftngs.

A нолг in the pocket will outlast all the rest of a suit of clothes.—Great Barrington

Love is blind, but lovers often make a pair of spectacles of themselves.—Great Barrington News. The glass filled to the brim at night will fill the but to the brim in the morning.—
Yonke's Statesman.

-A man sixty years old was married recently in a small German town to a woman ten years his senior. The bride insisted on having a great wedding with the addition of a "special" marriage sermon from her pastor. His feelings can be imagined more easily than described when the pastor began his sermon with the text: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Beware of Cintments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the muccus surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and muccus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure and get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F.
J. Cheney & Co. Contain Mercury,

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. LABOR is honorable; always excepting, possibly, the laboring jaw of the demagogue or ignoramus.—Olathe (Kan.) Mirror.

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y. cago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'7.
On Tuesdays, September 9 and 23 and October 14, 1890, agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway will sall Home-Seekers' Excursion Tickets to pracipal points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest at rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good returning thirty days from date of sale. For full partice are call on or address agents of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway.

"I'm not in it," was the proud remark of the Lemon, with a scornful glance at the circus lemonade. Lowell Citizen.

Entitled to the Best. All are entitled to the best that their and are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or bilious. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

THE reason most poets think to no pur pose is that their thoughts are idyl thoughts.—Philadelphia Press.

The very best way to know whether or not Dobbins' Electric Soap is as good as it is said to be, is to try it yourself. It can't deceive you. Be sure to get no imitation. There are lots of them. Ask your grocer for just one bar.

An umbrella is a remarkable paradox from the fact that it is at its best when used up.—Philadelphia Press. ALL disorders caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or dis-comfort attending their use. Try them.

How sad it makes a man feel to observe a five-dollar straw hat on a seven-cent head. Kearney Enterprise.

CURE your cough with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute. THERE is thunder all around the Skye, when the little terrier runs mad.—Texas Siftings.

the world. Don't forget this. One pill a dose. HUSBANDS and letter-paper should always be well ruled.—Ram's Horn.

BRONCHITIS is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption. The golden stair appears to be the only re liable fire-escape.—Binghamton Leader.

There are some patent medicines that are more marvellous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure everything.

Everybody, now and then, "run down," "played feels no power to generate vitality. leaves and in short all kinds and some They're not sick enough to call a doctor, but just too sick to be well. That's patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what

> Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

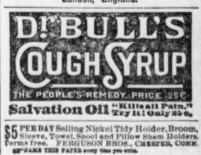

> We claim it to be an unequaled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the liver. We claim it to be lasting in its effects, creating an appetite, purifying the blood, and preventing Bilious, Typhoid and Malarial fevers if taken in time. The time to take it is when you first feel the signs of weariness and weakness. The time to take it, on general principles, is

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine trition, and by a careful application of the fine trition, and by a careful application of the fine trition, and by a careful application of the fine trition, and by a careful application of the fine trition of t

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homogoathic Chemists, London, England.

TEN POUNDS TWO WEEKS

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Of Lime and Soda is without a rival. Many have gained a pound a day by the use of it. It cures CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA. BRONCHITIS, COUGHS AND COLDS, AND ALL FORMS OF WASTING DISEASES. AS PALATABLE AS MILK. Be sure you get the genuine as there are poor imitations.

IMPORTANT NEW DISCOVERY.

A perfectly pure and neutral scap the EMOLLIENT and HEALING pr VASELINE. If your druggist does n VASELINE. If your druggest does not keep it, FORWARD 10 CENTS IN STAMPS, and we WILL
SIZED CAKE BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID. CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING CO. 24 State Street, NEW YORK.

LIFE'S HISTORY Its Smiles and Tears. Such is the co life, made up of sunshine and gloom mes and sorrow, riches and groom, guar-ness and sorrow, riches and poverty, health and disease. We may dispel the gloom, ban-ish the sorrow and gain riches; but sickness will overtake us, sooner or later. Yet, hap-pily, that enemy can be vanquished; pains and aches can be relieved; there is a balm and aches can be relieved; there is a baim for every wound, and science has placed it within the reach of all. There is no discovery that has proven so great a blessing as Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. In malarial regions, where Fever and Ague, Bilious Discases and aliments incident to a deranged liver prevail, they have proven an inestimable boon, as a hundred thousand living witnesses testify.

Tutt's Liver Pills SURE ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA. Price, 25c. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y.

that he is as comfortable on the box as his passenger in the cab, and that for his business this coat is invaluable. When you get once inside a "Fish Brand Slicker," there's no such thing as weather for you. It deem't make the smallest difference whether it rains, hails, sleets, snows, or blows. You are absolutely and solidly comfortable. Get one at once. No danger of your not liking it afterwards. It is a waste of money to buy any other waterproof coat. They are worthless after a few weeks of hard usage. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with the "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accert any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free. A. J. TOWER, - Boston, Mass.

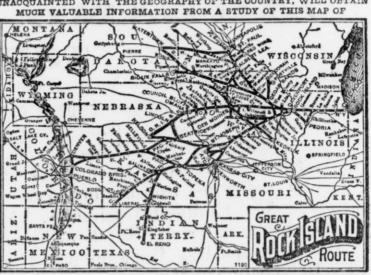

W. BAKER & CO. Dorchester, Mass. PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS SETTLED
Soldiers, W. Ows, Parents send for BLANK APLICATIONS AND INFORMATION. PATRICK
OFFARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.
PANETHIS PAPER STAY time you with

ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma GURE other falls, and us your collans majoriests Date Co., St. Lotts, No. FREE

UNACOUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peorla, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS, California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Piko's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati Incienancia Lefavorte and Council Bluffs.

travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. For Tiokers, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent CHICAGO, ILL. General Manager.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BE UP Not to Split! TO THE MARK

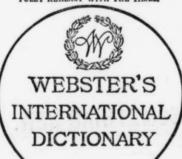

Not to Discolor! BEARS THIS MARK.

TRADE

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

A NEW BOOK FROM COVER TO COVER.

The Authentic "Unabridged," comprising the issues of 1804, "9 and '84, copyrighted property of the undersigned, is now Thoroughly Revised and Enlarged, and bears the name of

wised and Enlarged, and bears the name of Webster's International Dictionary.
Editorial work upon this revision has been in progress for over 10 Years.
Not less than One Hundred paid editorial laborers have been engaged upon it.
Over $.300,000 expended in its preparation before the first copy was printed.
Critical comparison with any other Dictionary is invited. GET THE BISST.
G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Publishers,
Springfield, Mass. U. S. A.
Sold by all Booksellers. Illustrated pamphlet free.

$75,00to$250.00 A MONTH can be mad

PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & CO., Washington, B. C. PARIS THE PAPES only 1200 pm units.

'The Greatest SHOW on Earth' To Relieve Heartburn, Acidity, Gastric Pressure, Distress After Eating, Water Brash, Palpitation, and all Stomach Troubles—AND CURE INDIGES-TION AND DYSPEPSIA with DR. BRONSON'S Comp. Pepsin Troches.

Your Drungist will order them, if not we will somall 25c a box, 5 boxes $1.00. We supply drungists assumples, if not found there, send us 25 stamp for a ago. BRONOS CHEMICAL CO., Problemes, R. L. Box 63-78 AME THIS FARM core; une you write. A ROBBER OR THIEF Jones' $60. 5 Ton Wagon Scale

Jones of Binghamton, Binghamton, N.Y. ARTECUTURE COUNTY AS there is in the entire West, the county was a superior of farms $12 to $25 periors. Improved farms $12 to $25 periors. Why spend all proved farms $12 to $25 periors. Why spend all Falls to an arented farm? Book and map send Falls to are all proved for the county of the falls of the

AUTOGRAPH LA LABEL STHARTSHORN)

PENSION JOHNW. MORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS, Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau Syrs in last war, had judicating claims, atty since.

ALL KINDS AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE WESTON ENGINE CO.,
Painted Post, N. Y.
EF CATALOGUE FREE. A. N. K.-C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

FARM AND GARDEN.

HAY-MAKING.

A Discussion of the Subject Containing Suggestions for Next Year's Work. While it is a little late, says a writer in the Ohio Farmer, to give advice for making hay, a discussion of the subject lated, are taken from record, or founded may result in benefit, from the fact that on observation in the Northwest Prove-Making hay does not consume the time ever, not inappropriate, because as far or take the hard labor it did some years as the writer is aware, the particular of ago, yet in a ride of some ten miles fense is unknown elsewhere, and, through my county, during the haying season, I was forcibly reminded that some of the more recent time and labor

Of the more recent improved implements, the hay loader and hay fork take trict near Agra, many years ago. And precedence. For using the hay fork in an account of it was written, entitled stacking some kind of a derrick is necessary, on which to run the fork. The essary, on which to run the fork. The cheapest and most convenient is a and long forgotten by its author as well and long forgotten by its author as well tripod of poles six or eight inches thick at the butt, three or four inches at top, and thirty feet long. Have a bolt twelve inches long made of three-fourth Norway iron, so as not to break.

Bolt the poles together like an oldfashioned beef rack. Bore the hole with a seven-eighth or one-inch auger so the bolt will go through easily. Also bore a two-inch auger hole three or four feet from the butt of each pole, so as to run a fork handle or something else through, to turn and lift the poles by. Lay two outside poles across the rick bottom, the butts on the side you wish to stack from; the butts about twenty feet apart, and about eight feet from side of rick. Dig a slanting hole just sufficiently deep for the butts of the indulged. And affection often displays poles to catch when you raise them. itself by placing necklaces round their Lift up the poles when bolted together throats, charms and horoscopes cased in as high as a man's head, and place a silver upon their arms and bangles on board or piece of rail under to hold them | their wrists.-Gentleman's Magazine. Fasten your fork rope to butt of middle pole, taking the rope across the rick bottom between the other two poles. Hitch your horses to the rope, a Ject of Caterpillars. poles. Hitch your horses to the rope, a man standing with the butt of each of the two poles to keep them from slip-bears all over his back and fannie found doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption. ping, and your team will raise the der- one down her back and it made me crall

When the butt of the middle pole comes within eight or ten feet of the I don't see how they can eat them, they rick bottom, unhitch your horses, and are such horrid things, they look so two men can take hold of the poles and offly, and I feel I don't know how. Cat-put them any place desired. For the terpillars climb trees, the other day I heavier of the two poles dig a hole saw a big, big caterpillar, and he was so about a foot deep; for the other poles a mere notch in the ground to keep them from slipping will suffice. The butts swill man take it home period caterpilof the two poles should be about twen-ty inches from the rick; the butt of have so many, and he may have more middle pole at such a distance as to the big ones have more than the little I bring your fork over the center of the zess that but don't know. rick. Attach a pulley to the top of the middle pole, and one to the bottom of sects such as ants, miscatos and other and our ricker says that if the man who runs the fork will pull the trip rope at the right time, he can throw a ounch of a caterpillar can do we can not, and most of things that we can do they can not. Buffalo Express.

inch plank, 1 foot long, and some short pieces 2x4 inches. In Fig. 1 a b is 4x4, 14 feet long; b is where rope is attached to the arm of hog-stacker; e the pulley.

Fig. 2 shows one side of the derrick. K K (up and down) are 2x4 pieces, 12 feet long; H G, 2x4 and 8 feet long, the lower one enough longer to make M N 2 feet long. H G and M N are placed between K K and secured with half-inch bolts. The other side of the dercick is made the same. Fasten the two in at O, the rings to fasten ropes at C, and the iron pin for the bottom of mast at D. The parts should all be bolted together, so as to be taken apart. sides together with the cross-piece, as shown in Fig 1. Have the blacksmith to make the collar for the masts to turn put under cover from season to season. The blacksmithing and bolts will cost, here, one dollar, and a handy man will put the derrick together in two hours and a half. To raise the derrick let the end (D) of mast rest on the ground and drive stakes at bottom of derrick; raise with ropes, and when raised fasten ropes and bottom of derrick with stake; lift up the mast and place an iron pin in the hole in 2-inch plank at D. The pullev at bottom of derrick is changed from side to side as you wish to change the

AN INDIAN CRIME. Young Children Are Often Murdered for

Their Ornaments. The crime it is proposed to briefly describe certainly exists in Calcutta and in Bengal generally, and it is not unknown, report says, in the south of India. But the circumstances attending it, as here rey result in benefit, from the fact that on observation, in the Northwest Provinces. The adjective Indian is, howindeed, is suggested and led up to chiefly by habits and associations existing in saving conveniences are not generally so striking very forcibly impressed itthat part of the East. A social outrage self on the writer's mind when he was "Foul Play in the Jungle," whichas by everybody else—is only mentioned because some of the facts here put down were doubtless put down there also. It may be safely affirmed, however, that not a letter of that account has ever reached England. The crime is that of the murder of children for their ornaments. And three strange points have been noticed about this terrible outrage. First, that it is generally committed without due provision for its concealment, and often with circumstances of extreme folly. Second, that the crime appears to be almost always discovered and punished. The writer has never heard of missing children supposed to have come to vio-lent ends, about whom nothing further was known, for the people are with the authorities in this matter, and will do their utmost to bring the suspected to justice. The third point is that this especial offense does not seem to materially diminish. And here it may be just said that murders, if found out, do not necessarily reflect discredit on the police. Many women are put to death in India, as in other parts of the East, from motives of jealousy. If a man wishes to destroy his wife, and does not fear dying for the act, Vidocq himself could not prevent him. And so with this destruction of children. A law could be passed prohibiting their wearing ornaments, but if they do wear ornaments no law can prevent and no vigilance hinder persons who will risk being hanged for murdering them.

It will be remembered that among Hindoos the son has the duty of per-forming the religious rites to his dead father and male children are on this account, among others, much valued and

"A CRALING THING."

The caterpillar is a craling thing and like every thing birds eat caterpillars hay clear off the rick.

Forests are rapidly disappearing and every farmer has not poles on hand.

For a mast take a 4x4-inch tough piece can, I can't but most of the things that

-He-"I'm tired. I've had to play tennis all afternoon." She-"I'm tired, too. I've had to listen to your tennis iokes all afternoon."—Mursey's Weekly.

A PAIRY tale—the comet's.

A WEER ending—Saturday.

A ROLLING stone—that in the mill. Goes for all time-the pendulum. As GOOD as a mile-eight furlongs. ALWAYS slow travelers-chess men. A REGULAR shake up-a milk punch. The yellow fever-avarice for gold. KEEP their eyes open-Chinese idols. A good buy-law-collect on delivery.

A FARE question-"Did I get your ticket?" THE lightning express—thunder.—Drake's

Come into port with a bow—ocean steamers.—N. Y. Mail and Express. A PRO-JECT on foot-a corn.-Drake's

A STATE controlled by a ring-marriage. Boston Herald. Even a dead duck can claim that he died

THERE is no sense in weeping over spilt milk when it is two-thirds water.

As appropriate helm for a mud seew would be a tiller of the soil.—Texas Sift-

A HOLE in the pocket will outlast all the rest of a suit of clothes.—Great Barrington News.

Love is blind, but lovers often make Barrington News.

The glass filled to the brim at night will fill the but to the brim in the morning.—
Verlore Statesman.

-A man sixty years old was married recently in a small German town to a voman ten years his senior. The bride nsisted on having a great wedding with the addition of a "special" marriage sermon from her pastor. His feelings can be imagined more easily than described when the pastor began his sermon with the text: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.

Beware of Cintments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the muccus surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and muccus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure and get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Beware of Cintments for Catarrh That Labor is honorable; always excepting, possibly, the laboring jaw of the demagogue or ignoramus.—Olathe (Kan.) Mirror.

Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chi-Home-Seekers' Excursions via the Chlcago, St. Paul & Kansas City R'y.

On Tuesdays, September 9 and 23 and October 14, 1890, agents of the Chicago, St.
Paul and Kansas City Railway will sall Home-Seekers' Excursion Tickets to pracipal points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest at rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good returning thirty days from date of sale. For full particip ars call on or address agents of the Chicago,
St. Paul and Kansas City Railway.

"I'm not in it," was the proud remark of the Lemon, with a scornful glance at the circus lemonade. Lowell Citizen.

Entitled to the Best. All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or bilious. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

The reason most poets think to no pose is that their thoughts are thoughts.—Philadelphia Press.

The very best way to know whether or not Dobbins' Electric Scap is as good as it is said to be, is to try it yourself. It can't deceive you. Be sure to get no imitation. There are lots of them. Ask your grocer for just one bar.

An umbrella is a remarkable paradox from the fact that it is at its best when used up.—Philadelphia Press. ALL disorders caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or dis-comfort attending their use. Try them.

How san it makes a man feel to observe a five-dellar straw hat on a seven-cent head. -Kearney Enterprise.

CURE your cough with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute. There is thunder all around the Skye, when the little terrier runs mad.—Texas Siftings.

For twenty-five cents you can get Carter's the world. Don't forget this. One pill a dose. HUSBANDS and letter-paper should always be well ruled.—Ram's Horn.

The golden stair appears to be the only re liable fire-escape.—Binghamton Leader.

There are some patent medicines that are more marvellous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure

Everybody, now and then, feels "run down," "played out." They've the will, but the largest pole; attach the fork and like that. Also they eat leaves, plum horse, and you are ready for work. Some may think the hay would all flowers, too. Some have baby caterpillars, in short all of them. Caterpillars drink water, and in short every thing they can get. Caterpillars, I can desired. We build ricks 36 feet long.

I leaves and in short all kinds and some flowers, too. Some have baby caterpillars, in short all of them. Caterpillars drink water, and in short every thing they can get. Caterpillars, I can not say much more about caterpillars, patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten. We put in our claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

We claim it to be an unequaled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the liver. We claim it to be lasting in its effects, creating an appetite, purifying the blood, and preventing Bilious, Typhoid and Malarial fevers if taken in time. The time to take it is when you first feel the signs of weariness and weakness. The time to take it, on general principles, is

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA

lames EPPS & CO., Homospathic Chemists,

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Of Lime and Soda is without a rival. Many have gained a pound a day by the use of it. It cures CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS AND COLDS, AND ALL FORMS OF WASTING DISEASES. AS PALATABLE AS MILK. Be sure you get the genuine as there are poor imitations.

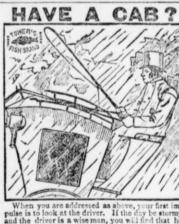

IMPORTANT NEW DISCOVERY.

FORWARD 10 CENTS IN STAMPS.

SIZED CAKE BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID. CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING CO., 24 State Street, NEW YORK.

LIFE'S HISTORY Its Smiles and Tears. Such is the course of life, made up of sunshine and gloom, gladness and sorrow, riches and poverty, health and disease. We may dispet the gloom, ban-ish the sorrow and gain riches; but sickness will overtake us, sooner or later. Yet, happily, that enemy can be vanquished; pains and aches can be relieved; there is a baim for every wound, and science has placed it for every wound, and science has placed it within the reach of all. There is no discovery that has proven so great a blessing as Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. In malarial regions, where Fever and Ague, Billious Discases and ailments incident to a deranged liver prevail, they have proven an inestimable boon, as a hundred thousand living witnesses testify.

Tutt's Liver Pills SURE ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA. Price, 25c. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y.

Brand Slicker," there's no such thing as wearner for you. It doesn't make the smallest difference whether it rains, halls, sleets, snows, or blows. You are absolutely and solidly comfortable. Get one at once. No danger of your not liking it afterwards. It is a waste of money to buy any other waterproof cout. They are worthless after a few weeks of hard usage. Bewere of worthless intailons, every garment stamped with the "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accent any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.

W. BAKER & CO. Dorchester, Mass. PENSIONS OLD CLAIMS
Soldiers, W.; ows, Parents send for BLANK APPLICATIONS AND INFORMATION. PATRICK
PARENTILL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.
NAME THIS PAPER FACT line year! ASTHMA-Swedish Asthma CURE of the state of t

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Councis Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St Joseph, and Kanasa City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

outhwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUBBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Piko's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN. E. ST. JOHN.

CHICAGO. ILL.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

Not to Split!

BE UP

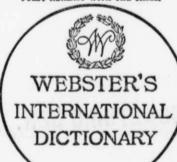

Not to Discolor! BEARS THIS MARK. TRADE

Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATABERL.—Best. Easiest to use. Cheapest. Relief is immediate. A cure is certain. For Cold in the Head it has no equal.

A NEW BOOK FROM COVER TO COVER.

The Authentic "Unabridged," comprising the Issues of 1864, 79 and '84, copyrighted property of the undersigned, is now Thoroughly Revised and Enlarged, and bears the name of Webster's International Dictionary. Editorial work upon this revision has been in progress for over 10 Years.

Not less than One Hundred paid editorial laborers have been engaged upon it.

Over $300,000 expended in its preparation before the first copy was printed.

Critical comparison with any other Dictionary is invited. GET THE BISST.

G. & C. MEKRIMAM & CO. Publishers. G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass. U. S. A. Sold by all Booksellers. Illustrated pamphletfres.

$75.00to$250.00 A MONTH can be made

PENSIONS Thousands ENTITLED under the NEW LAW. Write immediately for tion. J. B. CRALLE & Ce., Washington, B. G.

'The Greatest SHOW on Earth' To Relieve Heartburn, Acidity, Gastric Pressure, Distress After Eating, Water Brash, Palpitation, and all Stomach Troubles—AND CURE INDIGES-TION AND DYSPEPSIA with DR. BRONSON'S

Comp. Pepsin Troches.

A ROBBER OR THIEF Jones' $60. 5 Ton Wagon Scale

Jones of Binghamton, Binghamton, N.Y. Agricultural Country as there is in the entire West, Choic unimproved land $10 to $15 peracre, Improved farms $12 to $25 peracre. Why spendall your life on a rented farm? Book and map sent FRFE to any address. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED. C. K. BERG, CORESCO, IOWA, 57 NAME THIS PAYER every time you with PASION JOHNW. JIORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS.

Late Frincinal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau. Syre in last war, Badlyulleather claims, atty slices. Praker link Parker user go. with.

ALL KINDS AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE WESTON ENGINE CO., Painted Post, N. Y. CF CATALOGUE FREE. A. N. K.—C. 1311.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE